

Pearl Is Picked Third In Community Contest

Pearl Community finished high in the District 8 Community Improvements Contest with a third place behind Crawford and Armstrong.

The annual A&M Extension Service contest featured eight communities this year. Competition is always keen in the District 8 contest as Crawford has won the State Improvement Contest for two years in a row.

Don Callahan, county agent, termed the Pearl contest ranking as a "very good performance...they had good planning, organization and the presentation was excellent." Participation by the entire Pearl Community is a big part of the Pearl success in the annual contest.

MINI BIKES MAKE MAXI TROUBLE

Mini Bikes are Maxi Trouble. Police Chief Gene Goins has warned that mini-bikes are unlawful to be driven on public streets. Violators will be fined for driving an unregistered vehicle.

Goins noted that the mini-bikes can not be registered and can not pass all the requirements of the state safety inspection.

He noted that in any event 10-12 year old kids can not get a license to operate a motor vehicle.

"If they don't stop riding these small bikes on public streets we will start fining the adult owners of the vehicles," said Goins.

"I think Pearl is going to start now and work even harder for another year," noted Callahan.

Pearl leaders have gained from the experience of this years tour and new ideas will be added to the Pearl tour next year.

The complete district 8 results are as follows. Crawford, McLennan County, first; Armstrong Bell County, second; Pearl, Coryell County, third; Nemord, Eastland County, fourth; Trimmier, Bell County, seventh; Willow Grove, McLennan County, eighth.

Coryell Census Completed

Coryell County Census '70 was completed Friday May 1, according to Mrs. Homer Davis.

All seventeen enumerators have completed their contacts in their prescribed areas of Coryell County in exactly one month time. Mrs. Davis noted that over the state some areas are still completing work.

Robert C. Ford, district census manager for the 21 county central Texas area, estimated that his vast area would be complete within two weeks. Of the 568 census districts in Ford's area all but 20 of them were reported complete on Friday the last day of official enumeration.

Mrs. Davis took charge of the Hamilton County census in mid April. She noted that some of Coryell County was counted by Hamilton enumerators.

An estimate of County and City population was almost impossible to calculate, Mrs. Davis noted. She was able to note that Gatesville contained a large number of two persons "home units."

She noted that Copperas Cove was surprisingly large and probably averaged between 3 and 4 persons for "home unit."

Mrs. Davis expects preliminary population figures will be made available to Cities and Counties in the area within two weeks to a month.

Friday was the last day of official enumerations but District Manager, Ford said, that this does not mean the census is over. There still will be two weeks of clean up operations. Census takers will be contacting residents who have responded to the "Were You Counted" forms.

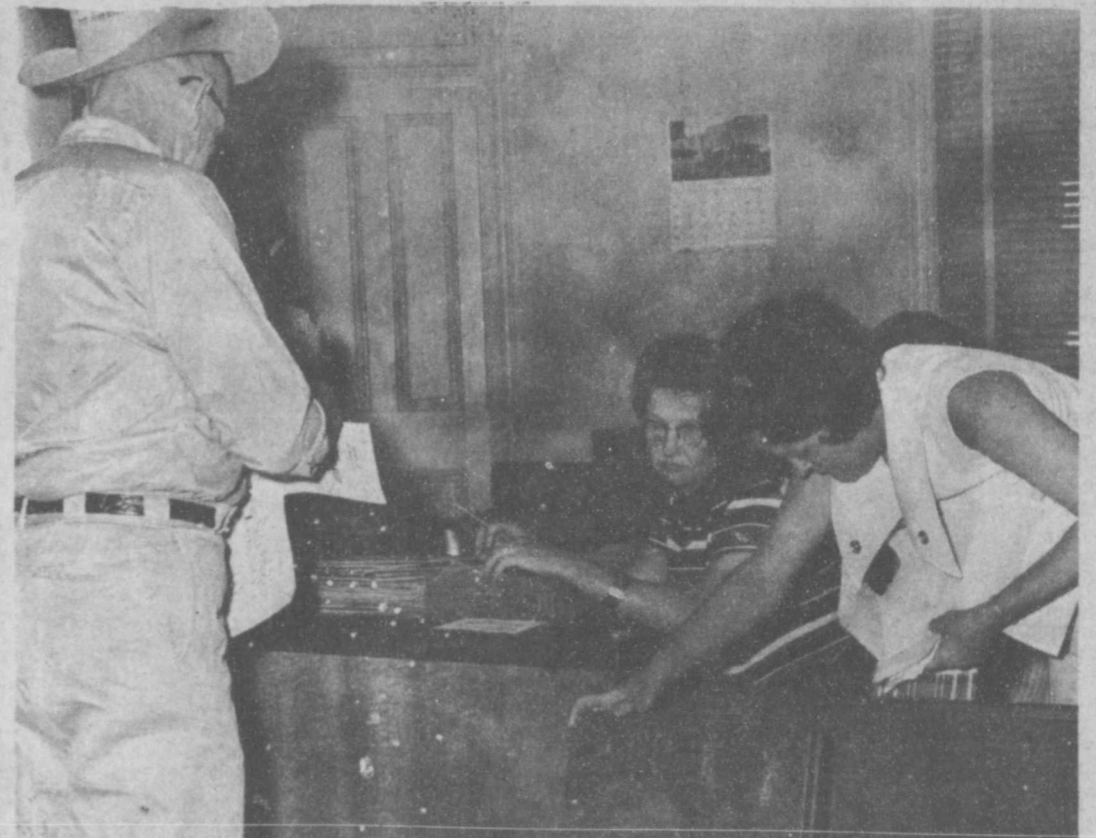

"Although the main course of the census is over, we still have to make sure that no districts have been missed and that as many as possible of the missing persons are contacted," said Ford.

SOMMERFELD, MEIS, DYER TO TAKE PART IN ALL STAR

Dale Sommerfeld and Mike Meis were named to be Six-Man and Class B All Star Football and Basketball teams respectively.

The two Jonesboro athletes are scheduled to participate in the East-West All Star game at Levelland the second week in August.

Named to coach the East All Star Basketball team was Coach Bill Dyer also of Jonesboro.

Voters Voice Heard

Voting in Gatesville reached over 600 votes by 11:00 a.m. Saturday in the Democratic Primary.

The cool temperatures seemed to have little or no effect at the polls. At the Courthouse Precinct 2 voters totaled 267 at the Fire Station Precinct 4 voters turned out to poll 300 votes, and at the High School Precinct 3 totaled 135 votes.

The final total was expected to reach 4,000 votes over Coryell County. Many business men and citizens had not voted at the early 11:00 a.m. hour.

Over the state estimates of 2 million voters was expected at the polls.

KAFER TUNES UP FOR STATE WITH 6'4 3/4" JUMP

Gary Kafer is still unbeaten in high jump competition as he won first place at the State Qualifiers Meet in Pasadena, Texas Friday night.

In the rain and cool temperatures Kafer jumped 6'4 3/4" to jump ahead of his next competitor by 2 1/4 inches at the Meet. Kafer stopped at the 6' 4 3/4" height due to the weather.

In warm ups Kafer attempted 6'8" and slipped falling flat on his back. He was uninjured but Coach James Christopher decided at that time to just jump to win.

Kafer will be in the State Meet in Austin's Memorial Stadium May 8 and 9. This is Kafer's second trip to the State Meet in the High Jump event. Larry Moore, the Hornets top sprinter, was also at the Pasadena meet at the invitation of meet directors. Moore placed fifth in the 220 yard dash with a rain soaked 23 second time.

In the 100 yard dash Moore was hampered by the steady rain.

TURNERSVILLE SINGING SET

The Turnersville singing will be on the first Thursday night of the month, and not the second Thursday night as has been previously announced.

"The public is invited to come, and let's have a good singing," a spokesman said.

The A.V. Freeman home at Pearl was one of the attractions the A&M Extension Service judges and a Gatesville delegation toured during last weeks Community Improvement Contest in Pearl.

Pictured here are some of the members of the Gatesville group that toured the community with the judges.

PEACH PROBLEMS CAUSED BY COOL WET SPRING

What is causing my peaches to become red and swollen? This is the question that is being asked many times daily at the County Agents Office, said Don Callahan, County Agriculture Agent. Due to the cool wet spring that caused peach leaf curl.

Peach leaf curl is a fungal disease which attacks the young developing leaves as they emerge from the bud scales. As a result of this infection growth hormones are produced which induce the leaf to become puckered and distorted. There is an absence of chlorophyll or it is masked by the red anthocyanin pigments.

Control measures are a fall or winter spray of fixed copper at the rate of 2 pounds per 100 gallons of water or 2 tablespoon per 1 gallon of water. Fix Copper should only be applied in the fall when the leaves begin to fall (approximately October 15 to 20th).

Ferban can be applied in the spring at the pink bud stage for prevention of this disease. The fungicide must be applied prior to the leaves emerging

COACH DYER

Dyer coached his cage team at Jonesboro to a Bi-District title this season.

Sommerfeld was selected to play on the East all star football squad and will be in Levelland August 9 to 15 to practice for the annual game. The game will be played on August 15 at the Junior College Stadium.

Meis is the Eagles hot handed forward and stands 6'3" tall. Meis will be in Levelland August 9 to 13 with the big basketball contest set for August 13.

Coach Dyer will have the honor of coaching the Class B "dream team" against the West Texas best.

FEDERAL LAND BANK REDUCES INTEREST RATE

Jack Roach, Manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Waco, received word today that The Federal Land Bank of Houston has reduced the interest billing rate on variable rate loans to 8 1/2%.

The variable rate loan plan, which was introduced by the Houston Bank last July, lets the interest rate "float" over the variations in the money market. In large measure, therefore, the rate in any specific year will reflect the changes in the price which the Bank must pay for the money it makes available for farm mortgage loans.

"Recent improvements in the money market have made this reduction possible," Mr. Roach said.

The Federal Land Bank of Houston makes long term real estate loans on farm and ranch lands throughout Texas. On January 1 of this year, the Bank had slightly over one-half billion dollars in volume of loans outstanding. The local association makes and services loans in Bosque, Coryell and McLennan Counties. Members of the local board of directors are: Dave Simons, Chairman, Ed Koonsman, Vice Chairman, and Hubert Miller, J.W. Weaver and Guy Lockhart Members.

SECOND A.C.P. SIGN UP NOW UNDERWAY

The second Agricultural Conservation Practices ACP sign-up for 1970 got under way May 1 at the ASCS Office with over 46 farmers signing up by 10:30 a.m. Friday.

The big sign-up centers around summer programs under the ACP Programs, noted Clois Stone, ASCS Office Manager.

In past years the ACP Programs were signed up under one annual sign-up in January with "first come, first served" the basis of the program. This year ASCS Offices have been requested to hold three sign up sessions.

Stone said, "The new procedure allows more people the chance to be served under the programs."

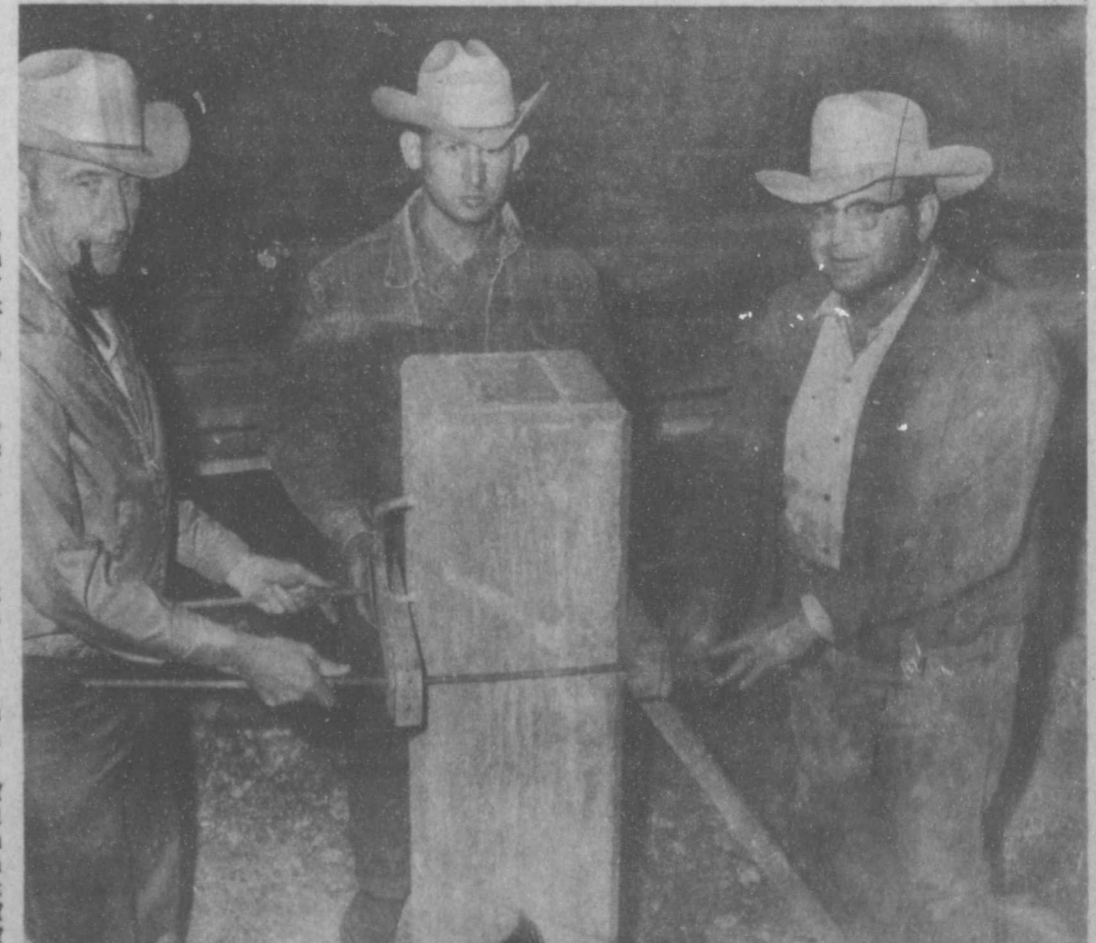

Stone noted that permanent vegetable cover, controlling competitive shrubs, brush control, prickly pear control, construction of dams, cross fencing and construction of waterways are popular programs at this time of the year.

The applications filed during the present sign up are designed to be carried out in the next four months.

In a recent newsletter Stone noted that "All applications that have been disapproved because of insufficient funds will no longer be kept in line. New applications must be made."

Friday farmers began signing up for the Agriculture Conservation Practices at the ASCS Office in Gatesville. Office Manager, Clois Stone said his office handled 46 applications in less than three hours during the morning. Pictured signing up are Eurlie Dyson of Pearl, Billy D. Loden of Pearl, Edwin Ballard of Mountain Community and Mrs. Gene Clarke of Pidcoke.

JAYCEES IMPROVE ARENA. The Gatesville Jaycees have continued an improvement program at the Fireman's Rodeo Arena with the installation of 1,000 new bleacher seats on the west side. The Jaycees were donated the stadium seats of the old Homes Stadium and with help from contractors have moved the seats to the arena. With exactly one month left before opening night of the Jaycee Rodeo the Jaycees have begun working on the new seating arrangements every night. Pictured left to right are Jaycees Horace Baker, Charles Allen, and Jack Poston. Poston is the chief engineer on the massive project.

Highlights and Sidelights

Vern Sanford

State Board of Mental Health Mental Retardation accepted the resignation of State MH-MR Commissioner John Kinross-Wright and appointed a committee to look for a new commissioner.

Committee consists of MH-MR Chairman Ward Burke of Lufkin; Dr. Charles H. Brown, a Wichita Falls psychiatrist; Dr. Robert S. Tate Jr., pastor of the First Methodist Church of Austin, and Edwin R. Van Zandt, Beaumont newspaper executive.

First three appointees were among the six board members who had requested Kinross-Wright's resignation. Van Zandt was one of the three board members who wanted the commissioner to continue heading the massive (27,000 patients 13,000 employees) state MH-MR care and treatment system.

Finding a new commissioner will not be an easy task. When the old Texas Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools was converted into the Board for Mental Health-Mental Retardation in 1963, and the new law charged that a commissioner should dictate everything but basic policy--it took many months to find a commissioner. Law also says the commissioner must be a physician.

Finally, Dr. Shervert Frazier of Baylor University Medical College was persuaded to take the job on a part-time basis. That didn't work out well for Frazier, or the system, and Kinross-Wright was lured from the Texas Research Institute for Mental Sciences in Houston three years ago.

His tenure was ridden with strife, as a segment of board members led by Dr. Tate charged that the commissioner neglected the community mental health center program. Controversy flared into a firing when Kinross-Wright asked for the resignation of Deputy MH Commissioner Dr. Gary Miller and Kinross-Wright ultimately bowed out.

Miller literally was waiting in the wings this week (having refused to accept his firing) as a hopeful for the vacancy. Gov. Preston Smith's comprehensive health planning director, Dr. David Wade of Austin a psychiatrist who formerly headed the Texas Medical Association, was being mentioned as a possibility. But Wade insists he is committed to his present health planning pursuit. Whatever the committee does will be subject to criticism by some segments of state mental health and state mental retardation organizations.

AG OPINIONS- Atty. General Crawford Martin ruled that Hidalgo County voters who signed a petition to nominate Raza Unida Party candidates for county and precinct offices signed a valid document, but could invalidate it if they participated in any other party primary. So, the candidates may not have a clear path until the primary lists are checked against the petition signatures.

Martin also held that: An independent school district may deduct union dues from the wages of its custodial and maintenance employees with their authorization.

New Texas Commission for Rehabilitation is the legal successor to all functions of the Texas Education Agency's divisions of vocational rehabilitation and vocational determination.

In Harris County, probate instruments must be filed under the direction of the county clerk. Funds subject to escheat and held in trust by a district or county clerk are subject to being reported to the state as abandoned personal property.

PARKS & WILDLIFE.- State Director of Wildlife Services, E.A. Walker informed the Parks and Wildlife Commission that LBJ State Park will be completed by June 15. Only the National Park Service's exhibits and amphitheater in the state park remain to be completed. Walker said the federal service is making exhibits and taping former Pres. and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson for "accents" for exhibits.

Commission approved construction of a $3 million Corpus Christi water exchange pass across Mustang Island, and estimated that construction will begin in August.

'TALKING LICENSE'- Texas Public Safety Commission is considering possible future use of a "talking driver's license." Project is under development by DEK Processes Division, the firm that makes pictorial licenses for the state. Proposed "talking" license would resemble a credit card, and provide DPS officers with an instantaneous method of checking on drivers. Card would have a magnetic number on the back (in a computer code) which could be fed to a computer center over police radio.

Computer would send a print back to the apprehending officer within 30 seconds, indicating whether a person is wanted the number of previous traffic violations, and so forth.

NATURAL FIBER STUDY- Chairman Charles Scruggs of the Interim Committee on Natural Fibers appointed subcommittees to assault the problems of the state's natural fiber industry. "Our goal is to add a billion dollars to Texas' farm income in five years," Scruggs said. "That's why we don't just want to write a report. We hope this will be an action committee."

Scruggs named the following to the subcommittee on cotton wool and mohair export development: Rep. Hilary Doran of Del Rio, Sen. Wayne Connolly of Floresville, Hillsboro Cotton Farmer Dan Pustejovsky and Natural Wool Growers Pres. James Powell of Fort McKavett.

To study textile industry development he appointed Sens. J.P. Word of Meridian and W.E. (Pete) Snelson of Midland, Rep. Charles Finnell of Holliday and Scruggs. To study producing and marketing systems development, he appointed Rep. Delwin Jones of Lubbock, Sen. Snelson, Powell, and Pustejovsky.

JUDGES' VIEWS ON MARIJUANA SOUGHT- While other politicians and state officials argue about what penalties should be applied to persons possessing marijuana, Gov. Smith decided to ask the men who mete out the punishment.

So, he had Harold K. Dudley, director of the Governor's State Program on Narcotics and Drug Abuse, send a six-part questionnaire to every district judge in Texas. Query asks if the penalty for possession should remain a felony or be changed to a misdemeanor. And--if a change is advocated--should it be changed on the first offense, or the second and subsequent offenses.

H.O.T. Webelos Day-May 16th.

Heart O' Texas Webelos Day is Set for May 16th. Hundreds of 10 year old Webelos Cub Scouts are expected to converge on Camp Tahuaya, the 16th of May for the yearly Webelos Day. This one day affair for boys and their dads will kick off at 2 p.m. on Saturday with competitive events Scoutcraft demonstrations and outdoor projects.

Mr. M.W. Kasmiroski, Scoutmaster of Troop 429 is the General Chairman of the event. Kasmiroski has planned a full program to include an evening campfire featuring Indian Dancers from the Huaco Lodge of the Arrow. The Webelos will also have a chance to participate in the campfire as each patrol will perform a short skit or a song.

Awards will be given for the best patrol flag, best spirit, and to the winners of the Charlot Race.

Each Dad and Webelos will cook his own dinner.

Probably nothing in the Scouting Program appeals to the boy more than the opportunity for adventure in the great outdoors. The Webelos day program capitalizes on this interest as it introduces dads and sons to the Council Camp and the program of the Boy Scout Troop.

All Webelos Scouts and 10 year old boys with their Dads are invited to attend.

Cancer: Early Detection Saves Lives

Three out of four deaths from lung cancer are linked to cigarettes.

To the adolescent, a clandestine smoke in the school washroom seems a risk worth taking — despite the proven link between cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

True, it could be the example of their elders that dared the youngsters to steal these puffs, or even that of a peer group, unfortunately, already wise in the ways of lighting up.

More than likely, however, it is tobacco advertising — of the kind that equates smoking with adulthood, or with the social graces, or even with virility and glamor, all qualities desired by the young. And as youngsters are potentially lifelong customers, advertising takes dead aim at them.

Such is the case generally in both developed and developing countries. Yet, to cite U. S. statistics alone over the last 15 years, chances of dying from lung cancer have been on the rise.

Mortality rates jumped from 18.4 per 100,000 population in 1951 to 39.1 in 1966 — an increase of 113 per cent. Significantly, upward of 75 per cent of the most widespread lung form — epidermoid cancer — has been linked to smoking.

Moreover, according to the American Cancer Society, of all the cancers, lung cancer takes the highest toll in male lives, with about 50,000 men perishing from it yearly.

But that some 10,000 women also die from it each year, and that the disease, more and more, is snuffing out women's lives are facts that the junior misses shown here could do well to ponder upon. For them, in particular, the risk of lung cancer is lessened easiest — simply by not smoking.

Concern for them was one reason why Western Hemisphere health officials last October urged nations to closely scrutinize "measures which have been taken to control the advertising of cigarettes, by restriction . . . or by promotional material of appropriate warnings."

That is also why the World Health Organization, and in the Americas its regional office, the Pan American Sanitary Bureau, this year launched a program to increase public understanding of cancer.

Cancer is not a single disease, but rather a family of diseases. Some forms are difficult to diagnose, and consequently to treat. Others however, more easily detected, are more easily treated and cured. Through chemotherapy, for instance, almost all skin cancers are curable, as are breast cancers, through surgery. And the Pap test makes possible an almost 100 per cent cure.

ROSES ARE RED, SWEET AS A YAM, SUGAR IS SWEET, LET'S MAKE ROSE JAM!...In case this fractured poetry awkwardly penned by non-literary ME on a Saturday morn fit for no poetry at all has confused you, I'll explain.

While traveling around our "spring-dressed" city, I found several lovely displays of roses, the spring-blooming colorama currently beautifying Gatesville homes. Roses of all varieties, bushes climbing roses, rose hedges and miniature roses, bloomed in the rich reds, sunny golds, and "peachy" pink colors so characteristic of the romantic rose.

The American College Dictionary defines the rose as "any of the wild or cultivated, usually prickly-stemmed, showy flowered shrubs constituting the genus Rosa, having in the wild state a corolla and five petals. The flower of any such shrub of a red, pink, white or yellow color and often fragrant."

The rose has given its name to the large family, Rosaceae, of which it is a member. The 3,000 species of roses, members of the family's hundred plus genera, include some herbs, shrubs, vines and a few trees.

This fragrant, colorful flower is scattered over the North American Continent in different forms but belongs to the same Rosaceae family.

The west coast has desert sweet and creambush, the deserts have another creambush and the beautiful Arizona rose-wood. Also western growing are Mountain mahogany, chamise-brush, blackbrush and antelope bush. Those varieties are similar to blackberries and strawberries. Wild cherries, wild plums and chokecherries are trees or shrubs belonging to this large family and are widely distributed over the continent. Crabapples, shadberrys, serviceberries and hawthorns belong to still another group. The list of Rosaceae could go on and on, but let's change to some facts about a particular rose, the climbing variety.

The climbing rose varies widely in growth and flowering habits, but one common element is their beauty and the ease with which they grow. Rambler roses are vigorous climbers. Rambler are limited to red, pink, and white and their blooming season is mainly in June. The everblooming variety is popular because of its "everblooming" qualities. Of course this rose variety does not bloom indefinitely but it does bloom throughout the summer months. This rose begins its blooming with a burst of blooms in the spring and follows with a scattering of blooms during the summer. Then in the fall, the everblooming rose bursts forth with a final blooming.

Enough about climbing how about the "cooking" roses? Yes, you read it right—"cooking" roses. While searching for information about the rose, I came across a fascinating book entitled The Art of Cooking With Roses, by Jean Gordon.

The art of cooking with roses was created by Oriental and European cooks many centuries ago. What excitement, in bringing the beauty, flavor and fragrance of the rose to your table! Imagine walking outside to your garden, clipping a few romantic red roses and cooking it for dinner!

Roses not only offer fragrance, flavor and fascination but also provide the consumer with a health bonus. The rose is exceedingly rich in vitamins and minerals. In fact, rose hips "the fruit of the rose"—are one of the best sources of Vitamin C known to man. Also, the hip provides phosphorus, calcium, iron, and many other essential nutrients.

Cooking methods vary widely but five main methods are noted by the author. First is cooking with rosewater, a basic ingredient in many near Eastern dishes. The delicately flavored liquid is made by distilling the petals of the rose in water. Commercially, the distilling is done in huge vats, but in more primitive surroundings such as some parts of Persia, the process is much simpler. The petals are placed in wooden vessels with pure water and exposed to the sun's heat for several days.

A second cooking method is the use of rose extract. Since rose water is an import and difficult to find, concentrated rose flavoring or extract can be purchased in some grocery stores and gourmet shops. Housewives use the extract much like that of vanilla or almond.

Third, you can cook with rose syrup. This delectable sweetener for desserts and drinks is made by cooking sugar and other ingredients with rose petals, rose water or extract.

Fourth on the methods list is working with rose petals themselves. The petals appear most commonly in jams. Fine rose petals can be bought in speciality food stores, but you can make your jam from petals from your own garden.

The fifth way of cooking with roses and the most nourishing is cooking with rose hips. Rose hips are the red or orange berries left after rose petals have fallen. Their flavor combines the sweetness of peaches and the slight tartness of tomatoes.

ROSEY COMPLIMENT—A Jack Straw at 1308 Pidcoke. This bush is similar to the ones pictured below and offers equal beauty to the Strawhome. Take the time to drive around our blossoming city and take in the beauty of the roses in bloom.

When gathering petals for making jams, jellies or rose-water, you must gather the roses after the dew has dried but before the sun is at its height. Then you must pull or bunch the petals of each rose. The green or white base of the rose has a bitter taste, so you must clip the base off carefully. After examining the petals for insects, wash the petals gently in water to remove any insecticide. Absorb the excess moisture with a paper towel and you are ready to go.

Of course the kinds of petals determine the flavor (as do apples). "Dark red roses have a strong taste, while light pink are delicate in flavor," Jean Gordon says. Nearest to real rose flavor are the dark pink variety. Remember, all the petals must be used as soon as they have been cleaned. The flavor of the petals will not remain unchanged.

Now for an example of the easily prepared rose jams.

ROSE JAM

Embassy of Egypt

- 1 pound rose petals
- 8 pounds sugar
- 4 quarts water
- 1 tablespoon citric acid

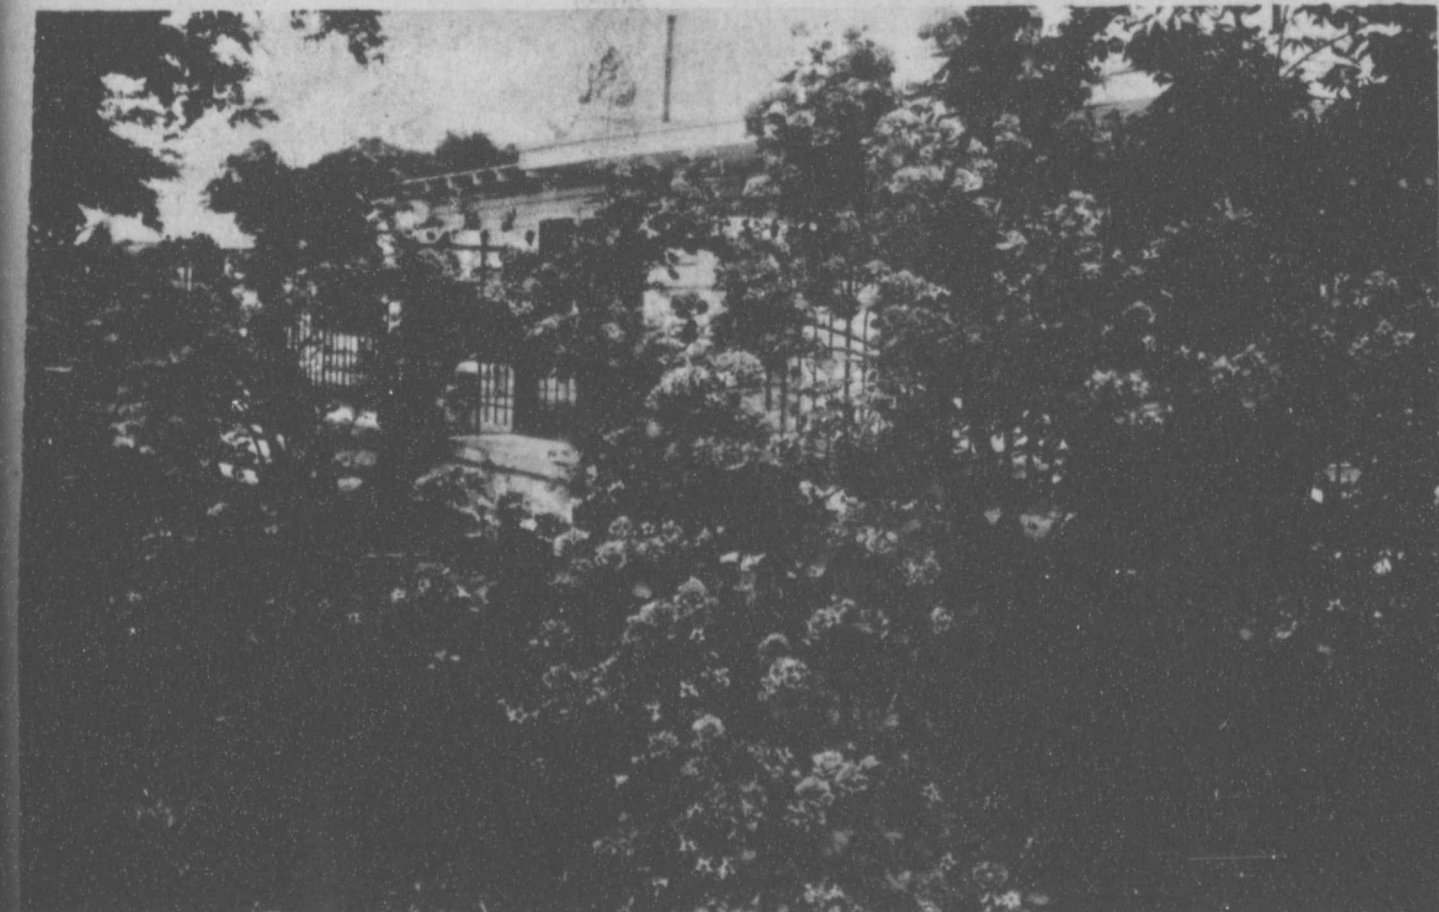

Mix rose petals and sugar in thin alternate layers and let stand at room temperature for 24 hours. Add water and heat slowly until a syrupy consistency is reached. Add citric acid, heat to 220 degrees and pour into jelly glasses while hot.

This recipe is only one of many fascinating recipes in The Art of Cooking With Roses by Jean Gordon.

Just think, the centerpiece today, the jam tomorrow! Have a rosey day!

LUBBOCK VISITOR IN GATESVILLE...Mrs. George Moore of Lubbock enjoyed a recent visit with sister, Mrs. Joyce Ryan of Gatesville. The west Texan and the Gatesvilleite talked over all the family news while taking in Spring in Coryell County. Mrs. Ryan returned to Lubbock last weekend for a visit in sis' territory.

EVERYTHING IS COMING UP ROSES...Who could help but be happy when surrounded by the beauty of these beautiful Rosaceae species? These crimson beauties are growing along the fence at the home of Mrs. Fred Chamlee at 1705 Main Street. The lovely combination of white Austin stone and antique wrought iron of the fence provides a unique background for Mrs. Chamlee's rose bushes. Her bushes are about eight years old and have provided lovely homesite. If only we could extend the blooming season of such beautiful plants such as these into the drab, dreary days of winter.

GIVES TIME FOR YOUTHS...In this day and time when time itself is precious, few men give their time for others. One such man is Hillary Pleasant of McGregor. Mr. Pleasant, a youth activities supervisor at the Gatesville State School for Boys, is on duty from 2 to 11 p.m., each day but from 12 to 2 p.m., Mr. Pleasant is teaching Hackberry school boys singing.

Though he has had no professional training, Mr. Pleasant has taught about 40 boys to sing in his Hackberry Boy's Choir. Pianist and director, he has made a talented choir during his two "free" hours each day.

The Hackberry Boys' Choir was well received Saturday afternoon at the Rotunda Retirement Convalescent Facility when they presented a program to the senior citizens.

Especially well liked was the number "How Great Thou Art" which the boys worked on last week for presentation Saturday.

Our hats off to Hillary for his unselfish efforts with the boys choir.

Sigma Rho Names "Girl Of The Year"

The Sigma Rho Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi celebrated the 39th Anniversary of the organization's founding April 30th, 1970, 7:30 p.m. with a dinner held at the Stage Coach Inn, Salado, Texas.

Thirty-nine years ago, the first chapter of the sorority was formed in Abilene, Kansas. There are now approximately 10,000 chapters and 220,000 members in the United States, Canada, fifteen foreign countries, and in five protectorates of the United States and England.

In addition to the dinner, traditional ceremonies were observed. Marilyn Myric served as Chairman of the Founder's Day Banquet. The Toastmistress for the evening was Doris Reynolds. Evelyn Lovejoy led the girls in singing the national anthem. Barbara Huntley gave the Beta Sigma Phi grace before the meal. Jeanne Cohagan gave a word of welcome to the pledges 1969-70. Nelda Wolfe gave a review of the local chapter's highlights of the year. Miss Farrell Takes Part In Special Seminar

Five Southwest Texas State University students will discover and explore leadership skills with 100 other college leaders this weekend at the first Southwestern Life Youth Leadership Institute here.

John S. Carter, Luling freshman; James R. Freeman, Baytown junior; Myrna Kylee Farrell, Gatesville junior; Robert Louis Horton, San Antonio junior; and Greg Kaiser, Fredericksburg junior have been awarded a scholarship from the sponsoring company, Southwestern Life Insurance Company, for this unique learning experience.

More than 50 colleges and universities in the Southwest were invited to participate in the May 1-3 institute.

Southwestern Life President William H. Seay said the institute seeks to project promising young campus leaders into responsible career leadership roles.

"Through this specialized seminar, these students can experience first hand the newest and best in leadership processes," Seay said. "This is a rare opportunity for them since this is the first leadership institute of its type available to college students in the Southwest."

An absorbing weekend of group dynamics and exercises is ahead of the scholarship recipients. In the business meeting of conference rooms and other facilities of Southwestern Life, participants will be divided into small groups. They will probe into human behavior and uncover what maybe a leader lead and others follow. The seminar is believed to be the first of its kind ever offered college students in a business environment.

Tower-On Crime Legislation

I was encouraged this past week by the response I received from many Texas mayors and the governor to letters I sent them last month seeking their views on new anti-crime legislation offered in the Senate in early March.

The main thesis of everyone who responded was that the cities must continue to play a prime role in the fight against crime and that safeguards must continue to exist to insure that adequate funding goes to the cities. Everyone, including the governor, concurred in this view. Everyone, likewise argued for the importance of a continuing strong role for the state agencies, especially in the planning area.

These findings are consistent with my previous views on the manner in which the federal government should assist state and local governments in the fight against crime.

Amendments to the Omnibus Safe Streets and Crime Control Act, originally passed by Congress two years ago, were introduced in the Senate on March 3. These amendments were consistent with the requests of the Administration for new and additional tools with which to combat crime in our nation. This is particularly significant legislation.

Crime is still on the increase in our nation. Recent statistics of the Federal Bureau of Investigation show that serious crime in the United States rose 11 per cent during last year.

Significantly, during that first full year in which the Omnibus Safe Streets and Crime Control Act was enforced, the rate of increase was the lowest in four years. The rate of increase fell most sharply in our urban and suburban areas. These are the areas where crime had run most rampant in our country and I feel it significant that these areas were the first to show improvement. It means that our co-operative federal, state and local efforts are beginning to show results.

But we cannot afford to be satisfied with a mere reduction in the rate of increase in the level of crime. We must continue and refurbish our efforts to achieve an actual decrease in the crime rate.

This is why the Congress is moving to amend the existing anti-crime legislation. We must refine our law enforcement assistance programs to mold them into the most effective tools possible. We have had two years to examine the 1968 Act, to see where it has achieved results and how it can be molded to achieve even greater success.

Because I feel that careful review of the 1968 Act and prudent reshaping of these tools will show increased success, I am a co-sponsor of the Amendments offered early last month.

There has been some consideration given to the possibility of waiving, in the new amendments, the existing provision which requires a certain percentage of federal funds allotted to the state governments be passed on to the cities.

Because I wanted to know the effect such a change would have in Texas, I sent the letters to the mayors and the governor, which I mentioned earlier, seeking their views. The response was universal support for maintaining the current requirement that some federal funds be passed on to local governments. The response made it crystal clear that as far as the Stat of Texas is concerned, no valuable purpose would be served by allowing waiver of the set percentage of funding that is to go to the cities.

I am pleased to report that since the Omnibus Crime Control Amendments were offered in the Senate early last month, I have received indications from those within the Administration who have a prime responsibility in this area that they recognize the necessity for maintaining a guaranteed active role in the fight against crime at the local level. I therefore believe that no significant change in the present formula for distributing federal funds to state and local governments will be forthcoming.

In the letters from Texas mayors and the governor, there was general concurrence with the other provisions of the anti-crime Amendments and there was particular support for loosening the requirement for matching funds for certain programs.

rate for uterine cancer, the No. 1 cause of all cancer deaths among U. S. women only 25 years ago.

Indeed not only through drugs and surgery but also through radiology, physical exams, and screening techniques, more than 50 per cent of all cancer patients could be cured — provided, WHO holds, the disease is detected early enough.

It is early detection, above all, that WHO is stressing during the year, doing so through a theme that hopefully proclaims that the "Early Detection of Cancer Saves Lives."

from the buds. Ferban should be used at rate of 1 1/2 to 2 pounds per 100 gallons of water, or 1 1/2 to 2 tablespoons per 1 gallon of water.

If the home owner has not put on a pink bud or fall spray then I would advise him to pull off the leaves and burn them so that the rate of over wintering will be reduced, said Callahan.

In most cases, only the first leaves are infected, since environmental conditions are so critical. Because only the first leaves are infected the disease normally does not do any measurable economic damage. It does however cause considerable alarm among the home owners, concluded Callahan.
