GATESVILLE HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF 1970

One hundred sixteen seniors of 1970, crossed the Gatesville High School auditorium stage during Friday night Commencement exercises to receive their diplomas and a bid at the future.

Celia Ann Powell, salutatorian, proclaimed the motto for 1970, as "What man can imagine another man can do." Miss Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ertle Powell, cited the Jules Verne fantasy trip to the moon as an example of the truths in the motto. Since man has set foot on the moon, proving Verne's fantasy not so fantastic, just imagine what the future holds in store for 1970 predictors, she said.

Class President Michael Dennis Barr, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Barr of Flat, spoke of the changing times in which the "old rules do not apply." Barr further stated that democracy must be practiced as well as taught and the grassroots of peaceful living begins in the classroom.

"The future is the most pleasant graduation gift," said Valedictorian Paul Clois Stone. Stone cited care as the most neglected force in our democracy. Global war, economic disaster and racism make care a necessity for human survival, he added. Stone is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clois Stone of Gatesville.

STANDOUT SENIOR CITIZENS NAMED

Gatesville's outstanding senior citizens were recognized Thursday afternoon when the Gatesville Garden Club hosted the 12th annual Golden Age Tea in the civic room of the National Bank.

Mrs. Loyd Lam of Mound, outgoing president of the Garden Club, welcomed the senior citizens. Speakers at the program was Mrs. Louie Powell of Gatesville who pointed out what constitutes a happy, long life. Mrs. Powell charged each senior citizen to think positively about their golden years. There are three ways to accept retirement, Mrs. Powell said. First, one can misuse their time and regress instead of living a productive existence. A second way to accept aging is to stay as active and productive as before reaching that 65th birthday. A third and most advisable method of acceptance is to use these years to strengthen the personality through community involvement.

According to nation wide statistics, never before have as many persons over 65 years of age been recorded, in the United States. And the number will increase each year, she pointed out.

"You must not think in terms of failures to be successful. You must not think of weaknesses to develop strength...You must unite, not divide. You must give life meaning not by words, but by works. These are your responsibilities," said the educator.

CTCOG Urged To Merge With HOTCOG By State

The Central Texas Council of Governments (CTCOG) has been asked by representatives of the Governors office to merge with the Heart of Texas Council of Governments (HOTCOG) at a meeting last week in Killeen.

Officials of HOTCOG were not at the meeting and actual merger talk was not conducted. The CTCOG officers review the proposal at length. CTCOG developed as separate governing unit two years ago and has progressed steadily over the time representing the six counties Bell, Coryell, Hamilton, Lampasas, Mills, and Milam.

The CTCOG officers held differing opinions of the proposed merger. Executive director Charles Cass indicated that population figures would probably help the Killeen area be designated as a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) within a few months. The designation will push the two councils closer together.

Judge William Black of Bell County favored the merger talks noting duplication in the Congressional office due to the to councils in his district.

Judge Norman Storm, president of the CTCOG, indicated Saturday that he did not favor the merger under HOTCOG terms. He listed several things he did not like such as double the present membership charges, HOT-

HEY MOM, DID YOU GET NEW COOKWARE?...If your loved ones presented you with a new set of cookware for Mothers Day, you'll need to know all of the short cuts to keeping that cookware "shiny as a brand new silver dollar." I received several different kinds of cookware for wedding gifts and I have made a point to find out just "how the cow ate the cabbage" on cookware care!

If your cooking vessels are made of aluminum, daily care involves simply washing them in hot sudsy water. Of course to avoid spotting that shiny finish you must rinse well and dry thoroughly. If you have burned-on food (as I do daily) have no fear, just grab a steel wool pad and scour the crust away. With use the pan or skillet may become discolored. The answer to this problem is simple. In the pan, boil 2 tablespoons of cream of tartar in 1 quart of water for about 10 minutes. Then scour the natural lusture to the finish. Occasionally, polish the piece with aluminum cleaner to resotre the brightness.

When cleaning aluminum cookware you must use precautions as well as tricks. Never use baking soda, lye or household amonia. Never soak the item in dishwasher because some alkaline foods or the minerals in the water may cause discoloration. Another no-no is allowing salty or acid foods to stand in the pan. This causes small white marks or pits. Pouring coldwater into a hot pan will cause warping.

To prevent rust in CAST IRON cookware wash after each use in hot sudsy water; rinse; wipe completely dry. If reseasoning is necessary, simply place the clean dry pan coated with salted fat in a 350 degree oven about 2 hours. To finish, wipe off excess fat with a paper towel. The main problem with cast iron cooking ware utensils is rust. To avoid the rust problem beware of soaking that cast iron pan in water or scouring heavily.

Regular care of COPPER utensils include the use of special metal cleansers that keep copper clean and bright. A solution of salt and vinegar or salt and lemon juice will also work effectively against dull discolored copper pieces. Washing instructions for copper say either method is acceptable. Special care must be taken with tinned copper utensils. If lining begins to wear away, you must retin the lining.

Hot, sudsy water is the cleaning agent for GLASS AND GLASS-CERAMIC utensils and keeps these items looking like new. For those stubborn sugary or starchy stains, you must scour with baking soda or put a solution of 3 tablespoons of baking soda and 1 quart of water in a pan and let soak. Never use steel wool on glass-ceramic for removing that burned-on chicken. Use only plastic or nylon mesh pads. Steel wool may be used lightly on glass. Metal tools may cause gray marks on the glassware. To remove the gray marks simply use cleansing powder and a damp paper towel, sponge or cloth. Remember some glass and glass-ceramic items are not freezer to the oven and others can't.

The new NONSTICK FINISH utensils require hot, sudsy water for easy cleaning, but periodic scrubbing with a plastic or nylon mesh pad or stiff sponge is advisable. If the nonstick finish becomes discolored from insufficient cleaning, you must use a solution of 1 cup water, 1/2 cup liquid household bleach and 2 tablespoons baking soda. Boil this solution in the pan for 5-10 minutes, or until the stain is removed. Then wash, rinse and dry the pan. To recondition non-stick finishes, just wipe them lightly with salad oil. Unless pans are properly cleaned after each use, the unsightly deposits of soil will build up, causing stains and impairing the effectiveness of the finish. Never use steel wool or cleansing powder in nonstick cookware. Sharp tools to cut food or beaters to whip foods must not be used in this type of cooking vessels.

For PORCELAIN-ENAMEL cookware you clean like glass. A solution of 3 tablespoons baking soda to 1 quart water or warm suds may be used for getting through that hard-to-remove soil. If necessary, a steel wool pad may be used lightly. Carelessness in handling porcelain-enamel cookware may result in chipping. Of course the better quality equipment is less likely to chip.

STAINLESS STEEL requires only hot, sudsy water for everyday cleaning. Soaking in detergent and water helps remove those burned-on substances. Avoid abrasive cleaning materials and always use a plastic or nylon mesh pan if necessary. Heat spots or blue tinting may be caused by over heating. To remove the stains, use a stainless steel

Potatoes Spiced With Curry

Popular potatoes take on a new look when teamed with the exotic taste of curry. This colorful dish is a perfect partner for lamb chops, beef roast or chicken.

The potatoes are first cooked and cut up, then simmered in a broth spiced with onions and curry. As the potatoes heat, they absorb the rich curry flavor and turn a bright golden yellow. A garnish of chopped chives or green onion adds pleasant contrast. Those in the crowd who are dieting will be pleased to know that there are only 65 calories in 1/2 cup serving of cooked potatoes, yet they are great hunger satisfiers providing lots of important nutrients. The potato is truly 'king' of vegetables!

Curried Potatoes

- 2 pounds cooked potatoes (about 4 1/2 cups cubed)
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 bouillon cube dissolved in 1/2 cup boiling water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 to 1 1/2 teaspoons curry powder
- 1 tablespoon chopped chives or green onion

Cut peeled, cooked potatoes into 1-inch chunks. (Good way to use leftover cooked potatoes). Sauté onion in butter until soft. Add potatoes, bouillon, salt and curry powder. Simmer over low heat until liquid is absorbed, stirring occasionally. Garnish with chives or green onion. Makes 6 servings.

cleaner. Most cookware can be safely and successfully cleaned in the dishwasher. Hard water with high mineral content may cause spotting or discoloration. Avoid this problem by using presoftened water. Anodized aluminum will probably fade if put in a dishwasher and cast iron will loose its seasoning and rust. Aluminum cookware may discolor when dishwasher-washed because of the action of hot, hard water and detergents on the surface. Today, some dishwasher detergents are especially formulated to protect aluminum surfaces. At any rate, be certain not to place the cookware directly under the detergent dispenser, where undissolved detergent might fall on it. If you wash your nonstick cookware in the dishwasher, the utensils may require periodic reconditioning after dishwashing to maintain its nonstick quality.

Now mom, you know how to take care of that Mother's Day gift so greatly appreciated and such a surprise. Take the time and use the elbow grease to keep those bright, shiny pans.

BLANKENSHIPS WILL TOUR SOUTHERN EUROPE...Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Blankenship will leave Dallas June 1, via Brantiff International airways for a trip to Southern Europe. Accompanying the Blankenships will be their granddaughter, Miss Nancy Newton of Artesia, New Mexico. The localities will stop off at New York and continue by plane to Paris.

A day and a night will be spent seeing gay Paris, a special treat for 17 year old Nancy. After Paris, the three will fly to Vienna, Austria where they will visit with their son and uncle Bill Blankenship and family until they return in early July.

Most of you readers will remember the Blankenship family for their outstanding singers. Outstanding seems an understatement when you speak of Bill Blankenship. Bill is lead tenor with the famed Viennese State Opera and has been with the opera company for almost five years. The talented opera performance was among 300 players who performed at Expo '67. He has filled numerous tenor vacancies for American opera companies while on leave from the Vienna company.

Bill married the former Miss Barbara Conally of San Antonio, cousin of Texas' ex-governor John Conally. The couple have four children Beverly, 17, Rebecca, 15, Todd, 13, and John, 10.

What fun the Blankenships will have visiting for a month with their son and uncle and family. Bill has many sight seeing jaunts planned during the localities' stay in Europe.

Miss Newton, also a standout singer, was awarded a handsome trophy (recently) denoting her as Best Actress 1969-1970 at Artesia High School. She played the female lead in the Irish comical musical "Finian's Rainbow" in April. The J. E. Blankenships were fortunate to see Nancy per-

Mrs. Hammer Honored

SAY "THANKS" TO TEACHER--The students in Mrs. Virgil Hammer's first grade class honored her Thursday morning with a pink carnation corsage in appreciation of her patience, kindness and understanding during the school term.

Mrs. Tommy Shelton, home room mother, pins the corsage on the honoree (above) as the class pauses for a little end of school recognizing. Other homeroom mothers are Mrs. A. J. Gordon and Mrs. Jerry Niles.

On the trip out, the Coryellers stopped for a brief visit in Midland with another of Mrs. Lee's sisters Mrs. Albertene Kellogg.

GIG'EM AGGIES 1990?!!...It looks like another Texas Aggie has been born and he's a nephew of mine too! Yep, we (David and I) are the proud Uncle and Aunt of a 9 pound, 20 inch nephew, Russell Paul Erskine. Beaming with pride at the birth of their son are Mr. and Mrs. Norman D. Erskine of Marlin. Mrs. Erskine is the former Miss Carolyn Jund of that city.

The bouncing little Aggie was born at 4:34 p.m. in Hillcrest Baptist Hospital at Waco. The new arrival has two sets of grandparents who are elated at the birth of Russell Paul. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul O. Jund and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Norman N. Erskine, all of Marlin.

The proud dad, Norman D. Erskine telephoned Saturday night to fill us in on all the details. Of course Norman was calm as a cucumber about the whole matter. Yep, it looks like the Aggies will have a husky Erskine their way about 1990! Congratulations Norman, Carolyn and Russell Paul Erskine.

GET READY FOR ROUGH 'N' RUGGED ACTION...Its that time of the year again--when city folks down their western duds for three nights of action packed entertainment in the rodeo arena. The Gatesville Jaycees are sponsor for the wild west show which is scheduled for June 4, 5, and 6 at Fireman's Rodeo Arena. Each performance will be at 8:30 p.m.

Excitement is in the making for Gatesvilleites from the Gatesville Riding Club's annual trail ride Wednesday and Thursday until the doors close on the western dance following Saturday night performance. The dances are nightly and feature Oakie Davis-Eddie Spradley and the Texas Village Boys.

Yes its that time of year when all kids are cowpokes and grownups are too. Don't miss the action at the arena on the other rodeo oriented activities scheduled for rodeo week. Let's dress little Johnny and Susie like cowboy's 'n' cow-girls and enjoy the show.

This year the seating at the Firemen's Arena will be better than in the past due to the civic minded Jaycees. The local Jaycee organization purchased the old Holmes stadium seats and reconstructed the bleachers at the arena site. Our cowboy hats are off to the Jaycees for making this year's rodeo a comfortable one!

DINNER UNDER PRESSURE...Have you ever felt the pressure of preparing a meal under pressure of housework, obligations and hurrying home husbands? The pressure was felt Friday night at the home of Mrs. W. Mat Jones. I was a guest at Mama's to show her how to use the bright shining pressure cooker that she received on her 57th birthday--that's the kind of pressure we were under!

The dinner turned out perfect with our barbecued chicken barbecued-not burnt and our refrigerator mashed potatoes another success. We didn't press our pressure cooker luck though--the rest of the menu was from a can! Speaking of refrigerator mashed potatoes have you tried that recipe yet? I haven't received yours!

SIX FLAGS TREAT FOR HONOR STUDENT...Mrs. Rae Juan Marken and Mrs. Rita Wensorski honored Miss Kathy Markunas with a Six Flags trip May 9. Kathy and a friend Sharon Torekeo, enjoyed the day of "six flagging" and had a great time.

Kathy's treat was given for ger making the 6th grade honor roll for two six week sessions this spring. Her friend Sharon is from Oklahoma and naturally their visit was equally as delightful as the trip.

Mrs. Powell suggested the senior citizens plan their retirement years and plan to have a positive attitude about the years after 65. She pointed out that involvement in church community and county helps to make the retirement years useful. Activities that can be done alone such as reading, traveling, gardening, needlework and other arts and crafts are very helpful in occupying idle hours.

The month of May was designated Senior Citizens Month eight years ago by governor John Connall. Texas A&M University Extension Service is sponsor of the annual outstanding senior citizen awards which were awarded for the first time to two Gatesvilleites at the tea.

Mrs. Loyd Lam, outgoing Garden Club president read the qualifications for recipients of the awards, which include work to promote the senior citizens activities of the community. Mrs. Marvin Stevens, new president, presented the awards.

Most Outstanding Senior Citizen Laurels went to Mrs. C.L. Lipsey and Carl Edwards.

Mrs. Lipsey, noted for her enthusiastic work with the Senior Citizens Club as its president and for outstanding energy in the senior citizens community, was named the top senior citizen in the ladies division. She displayed some of her arts and crafts as the chosen activity for senior citizens of 1970 by Texas A&M University's Extension Service. Mrs. Lam pointed out the energetic involvement of Mrs. Lipsey in the county's home demonstration activities, the county fair and the pecan show. "You name it, Mrs. Lipsey can do it," Mrs. Lam said.

The outstanding male senior citizen was Carl Edwards, treasurer of the local retirement club. Mr. Edwards has been instrumental in seeing that each senior citizen have transportation to the meetings. Edwards is active in his church, his family life and in organizations.

Runner up in the Most Outstanding Citizen category was Mrs. Effie Whisenhunt who serves as vice-president of the local senior citizens group. She is noted for her outstanding record as homemaker, churchwomen, and friend to senior citizens. She was presented an appreciation gift.

A special gift award was presented to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Blankenship in recognition of their service as door keeper and pianist. Mr. Blankenship readies the meeting room for the gatherings each month and Mrs. Blankenship devotes her talents at the piano.

Mrs. Gilbert Sawyer, a member of the planning committee was also presented a token of the club's esteem for planning each meeting's activities.

Mrs. Bob Cummings was hostess at the tea table.

The Coryell County Program Building Committee selected an aging committee in 1965, to examine the senior citizen community of the county. The sub-committee found that 8,6 residents of the county were 65 years of age or over.

Miss JoAnn Hood, Coryell County Home Demonstration Agent 1st that time began work to organize the club with cooperation from the Garden Club and other civic organizations. The club meets every third Thursday at 2 p.m. and is open to all Coryell County senior citizens.
