On January 1, 1863, President Abraham Lincoln gave forth the Emancipation Proclamation. It became effective on June 19 of the memorable year. It is in the calendar as Emancipation Day. The South for almost a century negroes called it "June Ste Southern whites called it "Day," and many do to this day. For me it has a new name: Tula Day.

It happened thus: Sunday, June 19, as I walked in the bathroom there appeared a huge tarantula, carrying my clinched fist. I monster with my missed. Whereupon I er the top of a flashlight and the clothes had disappeared.

least, and will appreciate a visit from our friends at our home.

Thanks to our dear friends, Mrs. Stella Richardson of Carlton, Mrs. Mattie Wallace of the Hamilton nursing home, our Sis, Mrs. E. M. Hoover, and Mrs. M. E. Parks for your cards, and to our daughters, Mrs. D. E. Allison and Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Blakley and Lera, and our sister, Mrs. E. M. Hoover, for the pretty flowers. We do appreciate all more than words can express.

Our daughters were with us through Tuesday, Mrs. Allison remaining until Thursday morning, and Mrs. Sellers returned Thursday and spent most of the day. Carolyn and Janice spent the day in Dublin in the home of their aunt and cousin, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Allison and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Pittman and Karen.

Today, Friday, Mrs. Allison returned and spent most of the day, bringing along the Hico News Review and Hamilton papers, which were a treat to us.

We have made several new friends during our stay here. One, Mrs. Willie Barrett, from near the Wilson community near Carlton. She is here for treatment, and being an up-patient she comes to our room down the hall. Also a Mrs. Payne from De Leon, who informed us that Mrs. A. A. Moore (formerly of Fairy) was no longer residing at De Leon. Her son-in-law, husband of Alpha Moore, taught in the De Leon schools for a number of years, but had gone elsewhere, Mrs. Moore going with them.

Like most all hospitals, this is a busy place. The Gorman people are quiet friendly.

We have seen some very fine peaches up this way and the trees seem to have a good crop on them.

Sorry we are not able to report more news but since Monday is a holiday we won't have a chance to get any from our home town 56-odd miles away, in time to get it in for this week's print. So please excuse us this time and maybe we will feel more like writing next week. We hope so at least.

The Lanham church membership are happy to have Rev. Wesley Van Norden as their new pastor.

He resides at Cranfills Gap.

Larry Dansbee of Proctor spent last week with Larry Keeney.

Joe Harris had the misfortune of losing a finger recently when his wedding ring caught in some manner on his truck as he jumped from the truck. The flesh was so badly torn away and the finger broken, it was thought best to amputate it.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Fulton visited last Sunday week at Mullin in the home of their sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Edmiston. Mrs. Edmiston is critically ill.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ballard, Donnie and Doyle are at Alice where they plan to assist in the maize harvest. They carried their combine and truck.

Birthdates for July which we have in mind are Dorsey Dwan Blue of Hamilton, July 7; Mrs. Carl Ray Sellers, July 9; our deceased father, W. T. Newman, July 23; and Jimmie Don Sellers, July 31.

An aged man passed away next door to our room a few night ago. He was a war veteran from De Leon. We were told by one of the nurses that he requested to be buried at De Leon on Saturday afternoon, and that no services be held. He asked that his body be conveyed to the cemetery in a horse-drawn wagon and that some of the old-time fiddlers play during burial services.

Congratulations to the Chester Lands on the arrival of their little son. We fell in love with their other two small sons, Aot's and Chester Jr. when we visited in their home recently. They had gathered some wild water lilies, and gave us a bouquet to bring home, which we kept for some time, and also two plants that had roots for us to set out, which were still alive when we left for the hospital.

Our sister told us when we left to take a vacation while we were away. Think we'd rather grub stumps. Our daughter laughed at us for bringing along our song books, and there's a Bible in every room. So we can read a while and then look at the songs. This helps to pass the time away.

SAVE COLOR AND FOOD VALUE IN VEGETABLES

Limp, over-cooked, drab-looking vegetables have little appetite appeal, and little food value. You will save color and food value by using proper cooking methods.

Serve three vegetables each day—a green or yellow vegetable, sweet or Irish potatoes, and one other vegetable. Here are some pointers to remember in cooking vegetables:

Use fresh, crisp vegetables. Cook in as little water as possible. Cook vegetables in their skins whenever possible. Cook only until tender—don't overcook.

Cook most green and all yellow vegetables in a covered pan. Never use soda in cooking vegetables—it destroys part of the food value.

Serve vegetables as soon as possible after cooking. The longer they are exposed to heat and air the more Vitamin C they will lose.

Directions and special recipes for tasty vegetable dishes are given in Extension Bulletin "Vegetables—Selection, Care, Cooking." You can get a copy from your county home demonstration agent's office.

CALADIUMS ADD COLOR TO HOMES AND GARDENS
Fancy-leaved caladiums in planters or pots add color and interest to indoor furnishings. They can be used to brighten summer gardens, too.

Recommended varieties, ranging in color from snow white with green to deep red with green, include: Candidum, Lord Derby, Crimson Wave, Anglais, Red Ensign, Spangled Banner, and Thomas Tomlinson.

The elephantear (Colocasia esculenta) is easily grown outside. If heavily mulched, it will survive winters in Central Texas. Further south, it needs less protection. The large green elephantear leaves give a pleasing contrast with the texture of most shrubs.

Information on planting, care, and insect control are given in the extension leaflet, "Caladiums Add Color to Home and Gardens." Ask for a copy at your county extension office.

THIS WEEK IN AUSTIN—

More Money Sought to Give Texas Even Break in Seeking More Industry for State

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Austin.—When the various states go to battle to capture new industries, other states go in with cannon-sized budgets. But not Texas. Texas is, by comparison, fighting with a rubber band and spit balls. At least that's the view of the man who heads the Texas effort, Walter E. Dickerson.

Dickerson, as executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission, directs himself. He has no staff and no secretary. Legislature allotted him $23,750 a year to do a job for which the neighboring "poor" state of Arkansas spends more than half a million a year.

Dickerson uses his slim funds for a brochure on Texas, and since out of state travel is impossible, long distance telephoning. He's also seeking additional funds from Texas firms to carry on the work.

Next winter he'll be before the Legislature to ask for more money to give Texas an even break in the intensely competitive industry-seeking field.

Dickerson's pleas come against a background of warnings that Texas manufacturing has not been growing fast enough to offset the decline of oil and agriculture. Some areas, such as the Gulf Coast, are becoming highly industrialized, but Texas' industry all over, say the economists, if it is to avoid a stall.

More manufacture of products for the Texas consumer market is especially recommended. Dickerson's data showing that Texas sends $1,035,000,000 of their money out of state to buy manufactured products.

Dickerson also supports his urging for a beefed-up Industrial Commission with figures showing that new industry is literally "money in the bank" for a town and state.

For each industry with 100 employees—not a particularly big one—bank deposits jump $270,000 and retail sales $360,000 per year.

Business Totals Tumble.
Texas' most recent business activity reports are not entirely rosy, either.

Retail trade for May was down 2 per cent from April and 4 per cent from a year ago, according to the University Bureau of Business Research.

Building construction was also in a downward spiral, 3 per cent from April and 11 per cent from last year. Building decline between April and May was due to a sharp drop in home building. Non-residential construction was up 3 per cent.

Slow down in retail buying was unexpected, inasmuch as employment, income and savings are at an all-time high. An increase in home building is hoped for as a result of eased FHA down payment requirements. More home buying would, in turn, stimulate more retail buying, particularly furniture, appliances and hardware.

Gas Tax Loses Round.
Texas' new natural gas severance beneficiary tax flunked its first court test when an Austin district judge ruled it unconstitutional.

Judge Jack Roberts held the tax violated the U. S. Constitution's prohibition against levying a tax on interstate commerce. Severance beneficiary tax is aimed at the natural gas pipeline companies who, the tax's supporters contend, benefit from taking the gas from Texas soil and should pay a tax for these benefits. Most pipelines operate on a national scale. Producers, the people who actually take the gas from the ground, already pay a tax.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, representing the state, said he would appeal Robert's decision, probably to the Third Court of Civil Appeals. Since the case involves a constitutional question, it could be appealed directly to the State Supreme Court.

Either way, it will not finally be decided until it gets to the U. S. Supreme Court, probably not in time for the next Legislature to know whether the state can count on any revenue from that source. Estimated yield is about $7,500,000 a year.

Gov. Price Daniel said he was "keenly disappointed" in the district court decision, especially in that it saw no difference between the severance beneficiary tax and the old gas gathering tax which lost out in the courts.

Daniel said he as confident this tax eventually would be upheld.

School Problem Erupts.

At the instigation of Texas Commissioner of Education, J. W. Edgar, Brownsboro school officials, both board and superintendent, are resigning en masse.

Decision was reached after an involved and rather heated hearing in Austin to review school conflicts that had resulted in a killing at a Brownsboro school board meeting.

Homer Bass was appealing his dismissal by the Brownsboro school board when his contract as superintendent still had two years to go. Board members charged Bass with instructing teachers how to vote in school board elections, handling school funds carelessly and failing to meet state accreditation standards.

Several board members said they felt mass resignation was a good solution that would enable the community to start afresh on a peaceful basis.

Mrs. Bobby Wagner and children of Denver City spent the week end in Hico with her mother, Mrs. Maxine Jordan.

Mrs. D. H. Burden of Dallas visited Tuesday and Wednesday last week in the home of her mother, Mrs. W. L. Malone.

Miss Carolyn Holford of Waco spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Holford.

Mrs. W. A. Dickson of Grand Prairie is visiting this week in the home of Frank Dickson and sisters.

seasoning, shortening, butter or bacon added for flavor and moisture. For best results, follow these suggestions: Wrap carefully. Piece of foil should be large enough to allow for drug store wrap. Place food in center. Add butter or fat and seasoning. Fold edges until tight on food. Double the layer around the food by repeating the process with another piece of foil.

Place package directly on a bed of hot coals. Never use a flaming fire (except when using a reflector oven).

Cooking time will vary with the type of firewood, wind strength and other factors. Recipes can give only approximate time. Turn food package at approximately half its cooking time.

Serve contents directly from the wrap, doing away with a dish or plate.

Details on foil cookery recipes and other suggestions for outdoor meals, are given in the bulletin "Food For Camp." Get a copy from your home demonstration agent's office.

WINDOW FABRICS THAT RESIST SUN FADING

If the sun fades your curtains or draperies, look for fabrics with special qualities of sunlight resistance. There are several such fabrics on the market.

Solution-dyed acetates are color fast to sun-fading. The color is added to the liquid cellulose before it is spun into yarn which seals in the color.

You will find numerous solution-dyed acetates with a shiny back to resist fading. These fabrics do not require a lining.

Another choice is 100 per cent fortisan or fortisan in combination with one of the solution dyed acetates.

Still another choice is fiberglass available in unusual weaves and colors.

Take time to read the labels on drapery fabrics. Under the recent passed labeling act, curtain fabrics will give the name or fibers and their percentages, when each makes up more than 5 per cent of the fabric.

IRRIGATION OF TEXAS SOILS

The great demand for irrigation water makes soil and water management increasingly important in crop production.

Much more efficient use of the water and soil resources for crop production will be required if the dwindling water supplies are to be conserved and used most effectively. Since the competition among agriculture, industry, and municipalities for water will become greater in the future, it will be necessary for each segment to make the most efficient use of its share of water if the public interests are to be served in the most effective manner.

When a farmer changes from dryland to irrigation farming, he often overlooks the importance of the relationships which exist among soil, water and plants. Good irrigation practices also must take into account such important factors as soil fertility, amount and quality of water, adapted crops and varieties, land preparation for irrigation, water distribution over the land, irrigation timing to suit crop needs, rate of water application for a particular soil type, capacity of soils to store and release water, rates of seeding and root development and distribution within the soil storage reservoir for obtaining both water and plant nutrients.

The variable distribution of rainfall continues to be the most important factor affecting the yield and quality of crops in Texas. As a result, the irrigated acreage has grown from approximately 1 million acres in 1939 to about 7 million acres in 1959. This expansion has come about largely by individual development of ground water resources.

Since soil and climatic conditions vary greatly over Texas, it is impossible to give a set of rules for irrigation which can be applied to every problem area. However, by studying and considering all aspects of the interrelated soil-plant-water system, the irrigator farmer should be in a much better position to work out a suitable soil and water management program for his farm. It is of major importance that the irrigator be more concerned about what is taking place below the soil surface than he is about the conditions above it.

In many cases, special problems will exist on individual farms. Where they occur, it will be necessary to consider them on a local basis. If a farmer cannot cope successfully with a particular problem concerning soils and irrigation, he should consult a local

COUNTY AGENT REPORTS

By E. R. LAWRENCE

Last week I had a most interesting couple visit with me. They were Mr. and Mrs. Jan Horn from South Africa. Their home is on the southern-most coast of Africa, about twenty miles inland. They were making a tour of the U. S. looking at the way we people live and the way we do things.

Driving over the county from day to day, it is alarming to notice how rapidly the mesquite is taking over many of the pastures. With good growing conditions this year, and we hope in the years ahead, this tree is making rapid gains. Large areas with small trees, about a foot to two or three feet tall, and these in a very short time will be large, requiring much more effort and expense in controlling them.

While we are not likely to eradicate the mesquite, we can control them. During the summer months is a good time to do this. A solution of 2.4,5-T and diesel oil, applied to the base of the small trees, and trees up to about six inches in diameter, will give good control. One third of a cup of 2.4,5-T in one gallon of diesel oil is the recommended strength. The solution can be applied with one of the small two or three gallon pressure sprayers that is found on most farms and ranches.

Trees larger than six inches in diameter should be frilled around the base, as near the ground level as possible. This is done with an axe, making overlapping cuts completely around the tree. Apply the solution to the frill.

This same solution will also control prickly ears, being sure to apply the material to all the pads, and to both sides of the pads. The use of a fan type nozzle is more desirable than the cone type.

A. M. Abernathy has been working on his mesquite this summer with good results.

All areas treated with herbicide should be deferred to get maximum range improvement following use of herbicide in controlling undesirable plants.

Horn flies have been pretty bad lately but seem to have let up a little. Here are some suggestions for their control: add to 100 gallons of water three and a third quarts of toxaphene 60 per cent emulsifiable concentrate, or eight quarts of 25 per cent methoxychlor, or 16 pounds of 25 per cent Korlan wettable powder, or 16 pounds of 25 per cent wettable powder Co-Ral.

The above insecticides should not be used on milking dairy cattle, and Korlan and Co-Ral should not be used on dairy cattle under any circumstances. Only those in-secticides formulated for livestock should be used on them.

For milking dairy cattle, one heaping tablespoon of 50 per cent wettable methoxychlor powder is recommended per animal. Sprinkle on the poll, neck, back and upper sides then rub lightly by hand to carry the powder beneath the hair. Cattle should not be slaughtered for at least 28 days after application of toxaphene; 45 days for Co-Ral; and 56 days for Korlan. DDT should not be applied to beef or dairy cattle.

July Fourth Commemorates Basic American Principle

IT'S THE LAW

What do we mean when we say that in the United States we have a "government of law" and not a "government of men"? Basically we mean that we have certain individual rights, guaranteed by our federal and state constitutions and laws, which may not be denied by any governing body.

The early American colonists had their fill of government by men, and the Declaration of Independence, signed 184 years ago, set out their complaints against that type of government and revealed their belief in a principle which we now accept as basic to our American way of life.

The indictments set out in the document against King George III of Great Britain charged him with numerous violations of that principle. Among the complaints enumerated are the following:

"He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people."

"He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent for laws for establishing judicial powers."

"He has made judges dependent upon his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries."

"He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good."

"He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation: . . . For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury; For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offences; . . . For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments; . . . For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever."

Our forefathers who subscribed to the principles of the Declaration of Independence were willing to fight for their beliefs. The Revolutionary War followed, dragging through weary years of suffering and suspense. Each of us takes pride in their eventual triumph over gigantic obstacles.

In 1787, when the framers of our Constitution met at Independence Hall in Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence had been signed 11 years previously, they set to work to create a system of checks and balances in government which was to perpetuate the fundamental theory mentioned in the preamble of the earlier document:

"We hold these truths to be self Evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

"That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed"

Some 3 years later, the first ten amendments to our Constitution were adopted at one time, specifically detailing various basic civil rights stemming from the unyielding theory of the Declaration of Independence.

Our courts day by day guard these rights for us.
