

MAY GIVE CARRANZA 48 HOURS IN WHICH TO RELEASE CAVALRYMEN CAPTURED AT CARRIZAL

MILITIA RUSHES SOUTH, READY IF BREAK COMES

By Associated Press. Washington, June 27.—There were clear indications today that if the American cavalrymen captured by Mexican troops at Carrizal were not released within 48 hours action would be taken by the United States.

The impression prevailed in official circles that President Wilson would not wait beyond Thursday at the latest and possibly not beyond tomorrow afternoon, for a definite reply from the Carranza government to the note demanding the immediate release of the prisoners and a declaration of intentions.

While the diplomatic aspect of the crisis awaited Carranza's action, the war department drove forward its efforts to hasten mobilization of the national guard on the border. It is certain that no aggressive military operations can be undertaken until a substantial number of state troops is available to back up General Funston's regulars.

President Wilson's first step, should he decide to force the issue, probably would be to lay the whole situation before Congress in joint session. It is believed he so informed members of the foreign relations committees of both houses in his conference with them Sunday night.

Specific authority under which the national guard can be employed beyond the border and also authorization for calling out volunteers would be needed.

Mexican officials here have expressed the opinion that General Carranza would surrender the American prisoners, whatever reply he might make to the demand for a formal diplomatic expression of his purpose.

Every day's delay in what seems the inevitable break in relations with the Mexican government seen the army in better position for swift action that may follow. This has influenced against pressing matters to an immediate issue. Had the border forces been sufficient to release the regulars for aggressive operations it is thought probable a time limit would have been included in Secretary Lansing's note demanding the release of the prisoners.

Another task aided by delay in an outbreak of general hostilities is that of getting Americans out of Mexico.

PREPARING FOR MILITIA FORCE EN ROUTE SOUTH

NO REPORTS OF ANY HOSTILE MOVES BY MEXICAN BORDERS TO GENERAL FUNSTON

CENSORSHIP LIKELY

Too Much Publicity, Army Officers Believe, Has Been Given Many Details in Connection With Movements of Troops

By Associated Press. San Antonio, Tex., June 27.—Plans for the placing of the many national guard units now moving southward were being made at army headquarters today.

General Funston and his staff received every report from all border stations today for some sign of hostility from Carranza's army that is peering into northern Mexico but the real work at department headquarters was the supervision of the multitudinous details incident to preparing the American force for efficient invasion.

The information brought to border commanders from the interior of Mexico continued to show the steady strengthening of the Mexican army in the north and tended to support the reports that bandit leaders are being welcomed by Mexican officers and are being given commissions in the de facto army.

Units of the American army have been stationed in such manner that almost instant action could be secured. No relaxation of efforts to guard border towns and ranches from bandits has been displayed but far more attention has been paid to marshaling the men along the border from Brownsville to the extreme west in what is in effect a line of battle.

The threatening attitude of the Mexican troops at Naco yesterday and last night was less pronounced today and the preparations of the American forces to meet any move they might make were so obvious that it is believed improbable that the Mexican officers will make a hostile move.

The units of the national guard now moving throughout the United States are expected to begin reaching Texas tonight. Just where they will be stationed has been carefully worked out, but the stations will not be made public here and in most cases those commanding the guard men have not been informed of their final destination.

MEXICAN FOREIGN MINISTER SAYS TROOPS ARE BEING CONCENTRATED ON BORDER FOR HOSTILE PURPOSE

ANSWERS OFFERS

Makes Charges in Reply to Proposals From Latin-American Countries to Mediate in Crisis Between Two Republics.

By Associated Press. Mexico City, June 27.—Foreign Minister Aguilar made public today messages sent to Latin-American countries in which the government of the United States is accused of perfidy and of concentrating troops along the border with hostile purposes toward Mexico.

The messages, in answer to communications from South American countries offering their services to mediate between the United States and Mexico say that after the incident at Carrizal the United States began to gather its armed forces along the international line with the intention of aggression against Mexico.

It is asserted that Mexico is not seeking war, but if it is forced to fight, it will go to the last extreme at the cost of the blood of its sons and the destruction of its wealth.

The message concludes by stating that the perfidy of the American government affects not only Mexico but all Latin countries on this continent.

been given to the movements of troops and it was indicated that a considerable force reaching in its operations soon would be instituted.

The activity at Naco was explained today. Information had reached headquarters that the Mexicans had planned to sweep across the line to Bisbee and there raid the offices and store house of the Copper Smelting Concern. The Twenty-second Infantry was rushed from Douglas to Bisbee last night.

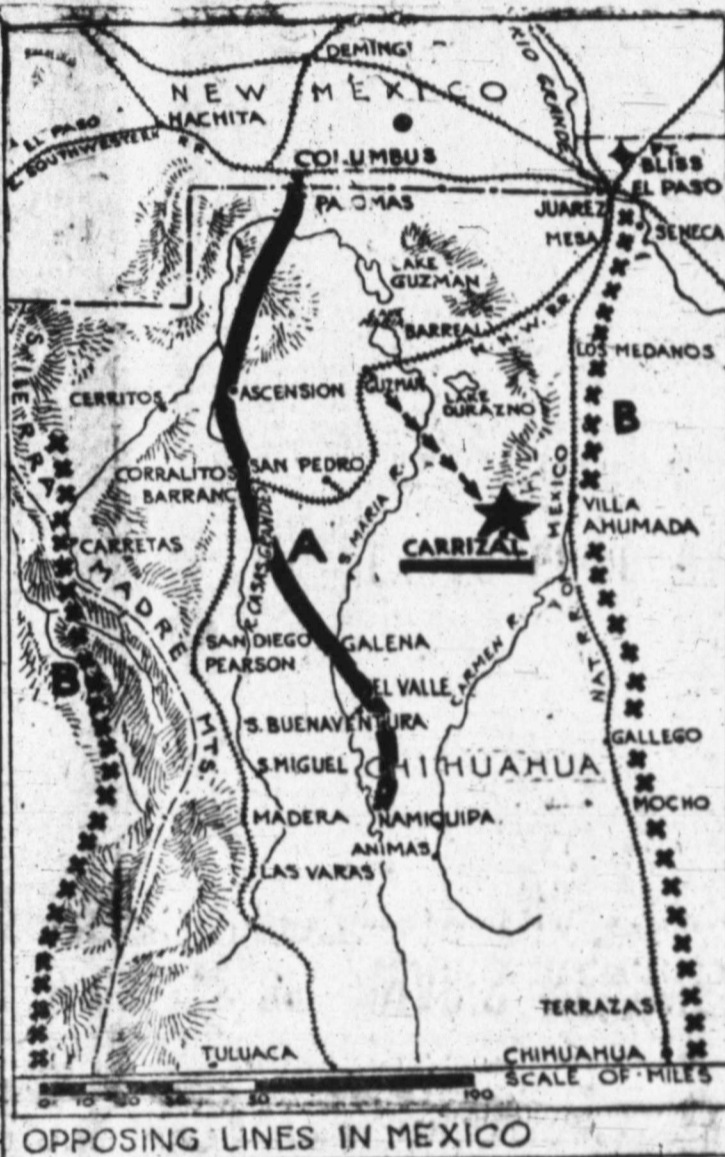

To strengthen the garrison at Eagle Pass a battalion of the Third Field Artillery was ordered there today.

Orders were issued today for two or more batteries of the Fifth Field Artillery at Fort Sill, Okla., to go to El Paso and Brownsville.

35,000 GUARD TROOPS START SOUTH TODAY

By Associated Press. New York, June 27.—Nearly 35,000 national guard troops from twelve states in the department of the east are under orders to start today for the Mexican border or are already under way.

Two Massachusetts regiments and two batteries of field artillery from New Jersey started last night. Indications are that about 20,000 troops from New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Vermont will get away before tonight. In addition, troops from Maine, New Hampshire, Delaware, Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia and Florida totaling about 15,000 men, have received orders to leave today for the border.

UNITED STATES IS AFRAID, SAYS BRAZIL DEPUTY

By Associated Press. Rio Janeiro, June 27.—The keen interest with which Brazil is following the developments of the crisis between the United States and Mexico received a new impetus today following a spirited discussion in the Chamber of Deputies during which an opposition deputy made a bitter attack on the United States.

The discussion was opened by this deputy who, commenting on the last note sent to Mexico by Secretary Lansing, declared he was astonished that the United States should make difficulties in accepting the explanations of Mexico while promptly accepting those of Germany in regard to the submarine war.

The speaker asserted that Germany was continuing its under-sea campaign in violation of its promise to Washington and that the United States did not dare to protest.

Deputy Sousa E. Silva, speaking for the government, defended the international policy of the administration and declared that Brazil stood firmly for the solidarity and fraternity of the American nations.

SOLDIER TELLS OF CASEMENT'S ARREST

Trial of Irish Leader on Treason Charge Followed With Apathy By Public

By Associated Press. London, June 27.—The second day of the trial of Sir Roger Casement for high treason opened with so little change in the apathetic attitude with which the general public regards the case. The principal reason offered for this is that attention is focused upon the continent where what may prove the decisive phase of the great war is at a crucial stage.

Thomas Hearn, a sergeant in the Irish constabulary told of tracing Sir Roger to the ruined fort in the vicinity of which he was arrested. Hearn identified revolvers, maps of Ireland and a flag of the revolutionists which were found in a hand bag.

There was a stir in the courtroom as the green emblem of the rebels was spread out in the center of the room and all eyes turned toward the prisoner; he shifted uneasily in his seat and then leaned back with folded arms smiling nervously as he gazed at the flag.

The prosecution rested its case suddenly shortly after the luncheon recess and all eyes turned toward the accused who had no statement to make.

Mr. Sullivan immediately began an address in an attempt to have the indictment quashed.

By Associated Press. Berlin, June 27.—Marked activity continues evident along the Franco-Belgian front held by the British and the northern wing of the French line. Numerous gas clouds are being exploded by the entente forces in the operation of the war office announced today. The artillery fire on the German lines was especially intense in the vicinity of the Somme.

Hand Bills Are Distributed in Juarez Declaring That Villa Has Joined Carranza to Help in Case Fighting Starts.

By Associated Press. El Paso, Tex., June 27.—Evidence that the possibility of war with the United States has headed the breach between the Carranza and Villa factions in Mexican politics continued to pile up here today. More than 100 wealthy Mexicans who prior to the surrender of the Villista garrison at Juarez last January had been active in supporting the bandit leader and who since have been refugees in El Paso, crossed the Rio Grande and apparently were received in good favor by the de facto authorities.

Hand bills printed in Spanish, asserting that Villa himself had pledged to support the Carranza government in the event of a break with the United States, were circulated in Juarez and to some extent in the Mexican quarter of El Paso. All reports indicated, however, that the bandit has not yet joined the constitutional forces, but with a body of his troops is somewhere in the Rio Florida district in southern Chihuahua awaiting developments.

Private advices here said several hundred men of the force of 10,000 Mexican troops concentrated at Guadalupe, 70 miles west of Chihuahua City, for the ostensible purpose of blocking any attempted American advance toward the capital, formerly were members of the bandit bands scattered and broken by Pershing's troops. Operating in conjunction with them, it was said, are Contreras and Cauto Reyes, former Villa leaders who recently were given amnesty by General Trevino.

By Associated Press. Chicago, June 27.—A bomb explosion early today injured a cook and partly wrecked a building occupied by a restaurant owned by a witness in the trial of 20 labor leaders who are charged with conspiracy to extort money and destroy property. The owner of the restaurant testified last week that he had been compelled to pay $75 to labor leaders before he could get permission to have broken glass replaced.

"This court has received three or four telephone calls threatening my life if this case does not go right for the defendants," said Judge Seaborn, when told of the bomb explosion, "if anything happens this man or his property between now and tomorrow morning all these defendants will go to jail."

HOUSE WILL INSIST UPON RELIEF BILL

Disagrees With Senate's Elimination of $1,000,000 For Families of Guardsmen

By Associated Press. Washington, June 27.—The House today by a vote of 119 to five disagreed to the Senate amendment to the Hay military drafting resolution eliminating $1,000,000 relief appropriation for dependent families of enlisted guardsmen in the federal service. A conference on the resolution was asked.

Committees were appointed at once in both Houses. The House naval committee favorably reported the Padgett naval militia federalization bill, providing for retention pay in times of peace and authorizing the president to draft the militiamen to the federal service as volunteers in time of emergency.

TWO NEGRO TROOPERS IN JUAREZ JAIL

By Associated Press. El Paso, Texas, June 27.—Two negro troopers, sagged and half dead from hardships, were lodged in the jail at Juarez today after being brought from Guzman where they were captured by the de facto government troops. They are believed to be survivors of the Carrizal encounter.

Neither their names nor their companies were given out by Juarez authorities who announced they would be taken to Chihuahua City and kept with the other prisoners taken at Carrizal who number 22, excluding Lem Silbbery, the scout.

ORPET ON STAND IN OWN DEFENSE

SAYS ONLY MOLASSES AND WATER IN BOTTLE HE GAVE MARIAN.

JUDGE THREATENED DID NOT LOVE GIRL

Attorney For Accused Student Outlines Defense After State Rests Case.

By Associated Press. Waukegan, Ill., June 27.—Testifying at his trial on a charge of murdering Marian Lambert, Will Orpet told of giving Marian a bottle of molasses and water to relieve her mind. This was on February 9, the day of her death.

"Why did you give her that?" the prosecutor asked in Madison Square court.

"Well, the way things were, I thought it would look bad," replied the witness.

"What were your relations with Celeste Youker?" asked attorney Potter.

"There was a tacit understanding between us. I had known her six years. Orpet turned over to the state for the cross examination, was asked about an automobile ride which he and Marian took last September. It was on this trip that the relations between the couple passed the bounds of morality, the witness admitted.

"Were you in love with her?" Orpet hesitated for a minute, then replied.

"Judging from my letters later I think not."

The attorney called attention to a letter which the defendant wrote to Marian last September, in which Orpet told Marian that everything she did interested him. In another letter he spoke of "this kind of weather makes me think of you."

"What do you mean by fessing?" "It means paying attention to a girl," explained Orpet.

For half an hour questions and answers were of a nature that women punned their heads and men were plainly uncomfortable but the attorney's insistent voice went on relentlessly. The young witness, faced by his father and mother, turned his head as he replied. He was a sigh of relief as "exhibit 1," a letter was called to the witness' attention.

That Marian Lambert was suffering from hallucinations for some time before the day she died from cyanide of potassium under the oak near Lake Forest, that she had ready access to the poison is held high school laboratory and that the powder found on her hand did not necessarily come from a solution of the deadly stuff were salient points in the opening statement for the defense of Will Orpet, made here today by James H. Wilkerson, senior counsel of the University of Wisconsin student.

Mr. Wilkerson described the girl as less the happy irresponsible child depicted by the prosecution than the budding woman. He pointed out that she was nearer 18, the age fixed by the law as maturity for women, than was Orpet to 21, the age at which young men are presumed capable of assuming responsibility for their acts.

He said evidence would be produced to prove that his client could not have had murder in his mind when he met his school girl sweetheart. The address, in part, follows:

"The indictment is for murder. The prosecution charges that the defendant willfully administered poison to Marian Lambert. The theory of guilt outlined by the prosecution necessarily involves the accusation that for several weeks before the death of Marian Lambert the defendant had been plotting her murder and that he proceeded carefully and cunningly to carry out his plot."

"The evidence relied upon is circumstantial. No witness has been produced who saw the defendant give the poison to Marian Lambert. No witness is produced who places the defendant with poison in his possession prior to the death of Marian Lambert. There is no witness who testifies that the defendant obtained from any source any poison prior to the death of Marian Lambert.

"In outlining the evidence upon which the defendant relies, it becomes necessary to state that evidence in its relation to the set of circumstances upon which the prosecution has stated it relies. Many of the facts upon which the defendant places reliance have already been partially brought out by the prosecution, and in the presentation of some of the evidence for the defense we will refer to that which we are explaining matters to which there has already been reference.

"It will be helpful to group the circumstances relied upon by the prosecution in the order in which they were presented in the opening statement for the state. They are: (1) The physical characteristics of the place where the body of Marian Lambert was found. (2) The mental condition of Marian Lambert. (3) The acts of Marian Lambert for a few days prior to her death. (4) The condition of the body and clothing of Marian Lambert when her body was found. (5) The properties of cyanide of potassium, the poison which caused the death of Marian Lambert. (6) The relations between the defendant and Marian Lambert, including the correspondence. (7) The crime in the greenhouse at the place managed by the defendant's father. (8) The cyanide of potassium at the laboratory of the defendant's high school. (9) The correspondence between the defendant and Marian Lambert. (10) The illness of Marian Lambert on January 14, 1916. (11) The relations between the defendant and Celeste Youker. (12) The acts of the defendant on February 9, 1916 and shortly thereafter, including the declarations and admissions alleged to have been made by the defendant. (13) As to the physical characteristics of the place where the body of Marian Lambert was found, it is characterized as follows: (Continued on Page Five)

THE LAST GOOD-BYE.

How shall we know it is the last good-bye?
The skies will not be darkened in that hour.
No sudden blight will fall on leaf and flower.
No single bird will hush its careless cry.
And you will hold my hands and smile or sigh
Just as before. Perchance the sudden tears
In your dear eyes will answer to my fears;
But there will come no voice of protest they
No voice to whisper: "Now and not again,
Space for last words, last kisses,
And last prayers."
For all the wild unmitigated pain
Of those who, parting, clasp hands
With despair:
"Who knows?" We say, but doubt and fear remain.
Would any choose to part thus unaware?

LEGISLATION IN PAST 12 MONTHS

COMPARATIVELY LITTLE ACCOMPLISHED IN STATES WHERE LAWMAKERS MET

PREPAREDNESS IDEA

New York and Others Aid in Military Movement—Suffrage and Prohibition Figure.

By Associated Press.

New York, June 26.—The state legislative year of 1915 in the United States, ending with the adjournment of the Louisiana legislature, has been remarkable for its comparatively negligible amount of progress, according to the annual canvass which The Associated Press has made of legislative activity in the various states. As compared with last year, when forty-one states held the first of their legislative sessions and a great many progressive measures were adopted, the past twelve months have witnessed a year in which only fourteen states have held any sessions. All of these, with the exceptions of Oklahoma and Louisiana, are in the South. The states named, they are Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Georgia, Maryland, Virginia, Illinois, Kentucky, South Carolina, Florida and Mississippi. In the other states the legislatures meet biennially.

There are, however, a number of outstanding features of general interest connected with the work of the few legislatures which met. One is that a new phase of legislation has been inaugurated, namely, the question of state military preparation, as part of the general movement for preparedness. New York state, however, has taken the first of these legislative actions in the matter, by strengthening her national guard and providing for military training in public schools. Apparently, however, she is the only state that has actually enacted any new preparedness measures the past year. New Jersey created a commission to investigate the subject of military training in high schools and to report to the 1917 legislature, but in the other twelve states where the legislatures met this year there appears no mention of action along these lines.

The New York legislators pledged to the president and congress the state's unqualified support in action necessary to maintain the honor of the nation in any crisis. The legislators approved for immediate use for the first mobilization of the entire national guard of the state in exercise camps this summer, and making that sum available for immediate use should other crises develop.

It provided for military, disciplinary and physical training of all public school children, the physical and disciplinary to all more than eight years of age, and the military to apply to all male youths, whether students or not, between the ages of sixteen and nineteen, the only exemption being in cases where the young men are employed continuously as a means of livelihood.

It also authorized the governor to prepare a reserve militia list to be composed of all males between the ages of eighteen and forty-five, from which might be drafted any time sufficient numbers to fill up the complement of the militia of any of the departments.

Women's suffrage, which, during the year of 1915, was referred by the legislatures of several states to the vote of the people, and which yielded a setback at the elections in four Atlantic states—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts—received comparatively little favorable action during the past legislative season. The New York law-makers, however, took the first step toward the submission of the referendum on the matter in 1917, but in order for the referendum to be held the resolution in favor of it must be accepted by the people of the state after a series of defeats in previous legislatures, a measure in favor of a referendum on woman's suffrage was passed by the Senate, but failed in the House. In Louisiana, Virginia, Florida and Mississippi, woman's suffrage measures were defeated, and in Rhode Island the suffrage bill remained in the files of the committee on special legislation. There were no other states which appear to have considered the submission of the referendum.

Women, however, profit to a considerable extent through many measures which were passed during the year. For instance, in Kentucky, an act was passed to prohibit night work for women and children; in South Carolina the child labor law was amended to make it more effective; in Virginia, a law was passed limiting fourteen years of age of twelve for children in mines and factories, while Maryland passed a mother's pension law providing grants to mothers of dependent children under fourteen years of age.

There are already thirty states in which workmen's compensation laws are in effect. In Massachusetts, one indicates a possibility of falling in line, having passed a joint resolution for a commission to report on a workmen's compensation act, in effect since 1915. In Massachusetts the labor leaders succeeded in having passed an amendment to the workmen's compensation act, reducing from fourteen to ten days the waiting period when injured employees shall receive compensation, and a resolution was passed for an investigation of the advisability of establishing a new rate for compensation in insurance. Two small loan acts were also passed in Massachusetts, one establishing the rate of interest on small loans at three per cent a month, and the other exempting from assignment of labor an employer's wages stipulating further that no assignment of a married man's wages can be made unless the written consent of the wife has been obtained. New York state extended to additional classes the benefits of the workmen's compensation law of 1914. Illinois provided an additional appropriation for its civil service commission and for free employment offices, while New Jersey reorganized its department of labor and created a workmen's compensation aid bureau.

The further restriction of liquor traffic is provided by new laws in Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, Mississippi and some particulars, in a few other states. Georgia, at an extra session last fall, enacted three liquor laws, one to prohibit the sale of any beverage containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol, another to prevent the shipment of more than two quarts of liquor or forty-eight ounces of beer or one gallon of wine to any individual in the state within any thirty-day period, and a third law to prohibit liquor advertising, all of which took effect in May of this year. Florida passed a package law which resulted in the ordinary saloons being closed, as it prohibits the sale of liquor containing not less than half a pint and the drinking of liquor on premises where sold. The Florida legislature, in some particulars, in a package law, passed a bill making it a misdemeanor to ship more than two quarts of liquor or sixty pints of beer to any individual within any calendar month. The governor would not sign this bill, but did give his signature to the one providing prison sentences for selling liquor.

The Mississippi legislature also passed bills to limit liquor saloons, setting the limit at one quart of liquor or twenty-four pints of beer every two weeks to any person in the state. A test of the law is now being made in the courts. Mississippi also passed a law prohibiting liquor advertising in any form. In Massachusetts the legislature passed a law prohibiting the transportation of liquor from a licensed community to a non-licensed community, an act for which the legislature has provided for several years. In Kentucky there was a remarkable fight over two bills providing for a vote on state-wide prohibition, one in the Senate failing to gain the necessary three-fifths majority, while the House bill died in the committee. Some new restrictions on Kentucky saloons, however, were provided by the passage of the so-called Hutchcraft law, resulting finally in abolishing Sunday liquor-selling and closing saloons that on certain other prescribed days and hours. Maryland passed a local option law for all the wet territory in the state to be voted upon by the units affected next November. This law will bring the issue before the people in Baltimore, Annapolis, Allegany county, and a number of other places. Virginia passed a bill putting into effect methods of enforcement of the prohibitory law, passed in 1914, which became effective on the first of next November, but which has not yet been put into effect.

The reform of prison and charitable institutions was another item of progressive legislation in a few states, notably in New York. The way was paved for the practical abolition of the antiquated and unsanitary Sing Sing prison and the cell block system of prison construction, and the building of a new $2,000,000 prison along modern lines, remodeling Sing Sing for use merely as a receiving and distributing center. The New York legislature also adopted a plan under which long-term prisoners by faithful performance of their work and good behavior may earn a commutation amounting to one-fourth of the minimum sentence. Virginia took its first step toward abolishing convict labor by repealing an act which permitted contracts to be made for the employment of prisoners. A law was also passed increasing the good behavior allowance of prisoners. Another law was passed providing for the segregation of the feeble-minded.

New Jersey revised its laws concerning the commitment of the insane and the management of hospitals for the insane. A state colony for the care of feeble-minded is also to be established. Still another New Jersey measure calls for the destruction of records of convictions of inmates of offenders after a certain time. Oklahoma passed a law providing for the employment of convicts on public roads.

TWO PERSONS INJURED IN GRANDFIELD STORM

By Associated Press.

Grandfield, Okla., June 27.—A severe storm visited this section Saturday night, resulting in considerable damage and seriously injuring two people. At Sunny Hope school house near here, Henry Talley and Miss Susie Elsworth were both badly injured, being blown against a wire fence and badly lacerated by the bars. It required several stitches for the wounds inflicted, especially in the case of Talley, who was the more seriously wounded.

The house in which these and other parties were sheltered was blown some distance from the foundation, the four other members of the party making their escape to the storm house after the building had been moved several feet from the blocks.

MAY DECLARE EMBARGO ON ALL TRADE WITH MEXICO. By Associated Press. Washington, June 27.—A virtual embargo on commerce between the United States and Mexico, pending determination of their future relations is being planned by the administration. Customs inspectors along the border have been holding up shipments into Mexico since Saturday and for weeks no arms or ammunition have been permitted to pass. Now it is proposed to extend the restrictions so as to prevent the movement into Mexico of any goods which might be used in military operations against the United States.

Snuff is evidently not carried in stock by Alaska stores and the former Wichita Falls grocer is carrying the order in the "Garret" and "Honey" brands wrote back to Mr. Ray for a supply. Mr. Ray expects to receive orders regularly hereafter.

ANOTHER MOVEMENT TO FORM COMPANY

If Volunteers Are Called For Prompt Steps Will Be Taken in This City

With war with Mexico seemingly almost inevitable a number of young Wichitans who are anxious to serve as volunteers are taking steps towards the tentative formation of a volunteer military company at this place.

There is a large number of young men in the city who are anxious to get a chance to serve in Mexico, but who are unwilling to wait until the army of the militia for a long term of years. A number of these men have had considerable military experience. In addition to these there are a large number of former regulars and militiamen who are interested in the formation of a company. Those who have the matter in hand anticipate no trouble in getting enough men to fill out the proposed company. The plans of those interested in the company contemplate having about eighty per cent of the members of the company men with former military experience. It is figured that about twenty men with no former experience can be taken into the ranks without affecting its efficiency and with such a large per cent of those in the company having former military experience, the time necessary for training to acquire the necessary training will be cut down to a minimum.

According to the published plans of the war department about 100 conditional men will be needed in case of intervention in Mexico. These men will have to come by the volunteer route. The plans of those tentative organizations have been formed, and a number of young men of this city think it behooves them to be in and ready if they want to be represented in Mexico.

Brewster Staifforth was selected to take charge of the plans. He has had nearly 10 years of experience along the lines of organization and conduct of military companies during his long service with the Texas National Guard. Any one who is interested in this matter may telephone their name and address to the Chamber of Commerce which will promptly be forwarded to the proper authority. It is expected that a meeting to perfect the plans for this company will be made at a meeting in the near future, as well as a mass meeting later on.

CANNOT CALL FIRE STATIONS EXCEPT TO TURN IN ALARM

Strict enforcement of the ordinance prohibiting the calling of the fire stations on the telephone from now on will be the rule. A number of those who have the habit of calling one of the stations when they merely want to talk to some one, which is against the rules. Every time the telephone rings at either of the stations the firemen are called to their posts and all preparations for a run have to be gone through. This has happened in the middle of the night. Furthermore if people were allowed to use the telephones at the stations in this way, the line might be busy, and parties wanting to turn in an alarm unable to get the stations. The minimum fine for this offense is $10, and the police department has issued a warning that all offenders will be promptly fined, no warnings being issued in the future.

Motorcycle Officer Fred Smith stated today that he had strict orders to have done with warning people who are driving their motorcycles on the streets, but to run them down and arrest them, and they will be promptly fined in spite of any excuses they may make.

No cars are allowed to stand at night on the paved streets, this being enforceable under a city ordinance. This ordinance is likewise down for a more strict enforcement of the same.

Cars get in the way of the street sweepers, causing much trouble, and a serious loss of time.

TWO AUTOMOBILES IN COLLISION MONDAY NIGHT

An automobile collision Monday night about 10 o'clock on Seventh street, near Scott, badly damaged two cars, but fortunately none of the occupants were injured. E. A. Richmond, driving a Hugobue bearing the number 3140 was driving along Seventh street, near Scott, when Cecil Bailey, in a Case service car, No. 823, made the turn from Scott into Seventh. Richmond was on the right side of the street, but it seems that Bailey, in making the turn, was unable to control the car sufficiently to keep his side on entering Seventh and the collision resulted. In the two cars were several parties other than the drivers and it is remarkable that no one was injured.

The front of the Case car was badly smashed up, one wheel being wrecked and the spring broken, besides other damage to the way of the front lights. However with all the damage the lights escaped. A front spring on the Hugobue was broken, only one leaf remaining to hold the car was otherwise damaged considerably. Both drivers were charged with speeding in the city and Bailey was given a fine of $10. Richmond's case was passed at this morning's session of the court.

In the opening statement of the prosecutor as an isolated piece. Some evidence as to the exact character of this strip of woods has been produced by the prosecution. This evidence will be supplemented by the defense, and it will be shown that the place is not isolated. The place at which the body was found was plainly visible from both Sheridan Road and the railroad tracks.

As to the mental condition of Marian Lambert it was stated by the prosecutor that she was of a happy disposition, and therefore could not have committed suicide in the testimony of the prosecution, however, there have been thrown some side lights upon this condition of happiness and gaiety. While her external appearance might have been that of a light-hearted girl, while she kept from her parents what she was really doing and what she really thought, the evidence will demonstrate that the very nature of things she could not have been during the months prior to her death a happy, jovial girl. She had carried on a clandestine love affair with a young man, which had culminated in an illicit liaison.

"She was not a mere girl. She was a young woman who at all of the times in her life was recognized by the law as the one of legal responsibility than was the young man with whom she was associated. It is said that she was 18 years old when she was 21. Her attitude towards this love affair is shown by the fact that she had preserved and treasured the letters in which she had written to the young man, and it will be shown that she was laboring under a great deal of strain or that she was feeling pregnancy, for the purpose of strengthening her hold upon the defendant.

In this connection, the defense will present testimony of those who have special experience in dealing with mental characteristics of this kind. And we will show you that the evidence is such that it is a strong suggestion to illicit relations between herself and the young man, and it will be shown that she was laboring under a great deal of strain or that she was feeling pregnancy, for the purpose of strengthening her hold upon the defendant.

As to the acts of Marian Lambert for a few days prior to her death, some facts of significance have already been brought out by the prosecution. The two human beings who were the nearest to Marian Lambert at the time of her death were her father and her mother. She had been in the city for more than three hours to talk with her about the defendant, and said that the defendant was going to another girl, and she didn't know what she would do.

"The testimony of Josephine Davis is to the effect that she told her that she was crying, as the birthday party was on, and she was afraid that she might have forgotten her for another girl; and that if he threw her overboard she would kill her.

"This evidence as to the storm which was clouding her mind will be supplemented by other evidence to be introduced by the defense. Without going into detail at this time, it will be sufficient to say that when all the facts in this case are revised, it will appear that this live affair had unsettled her mind, and brought into her mind delusions and imaginings and hallucinations.

"Other significant acts of Marian for a few days prior to her death will be shown. Among these are her studies in the High school was that of chemistry. On February 8, the next lesson was assigned. That lesson was in detail the preparation of cyanide of potassium. This bottle was on a shelf in plain view and was labeled in large letters 'cyanide of potassium.' In this bottle there was a quantity of cyanide sufficient to have killed several hundred people.

"Soon after this lesson was assigned, Marian Lambert, having in mind that she was going to see her father that night or the next day, went against the rules into the laboratory. She was observed there by her instructor in chemistry. That she was in the laboratory, no one will ever know, but it is significant that one of the books that she was studying when Will Orpet called her up on Tuesday at 8 o'clock was her chemistry.

"As to the condition of the body and clothing of Marian Lambert when her body was found, the facts already brought out by the prosecution will be supplemented by other facts, relating first to the powder on the hand; second to the matter removed from the mouth by the undertaker after her death; third as to the spots on the coat, and fourth as to the books under the arm.

"It will be shown that the powder on the hand did not necessarily come from a solution of cyanide of potassium. It will be shown that the spots on the coat either could have been produced from powder in a crystalline form, in the conditions under which this poison was taken, or that they could have resulted from the manner in which the body was handled after it was removed from the place where it was found to the undertaking establishment.

"Exact evidence will be produced by the defense to show that the powder which he wrote to Marian Lambert, knowing as he did that Josephine Davis had full knowledge of the relations which had existed between them,

1918'S CANDIDATES BELIEVES CHURCHES SHOULD ADVERTISE

Political Writer Says Several Have Declared Themselves For Governor Then Speaker Tells Ad Clubs That Gospel Needs Right Sort of Publicity

With the 1918 campaign still in full swing, there is already talk of the 1918 gubernatorial contest, according to R. C. Lowry of Austin, Texas, staff correspondent for several Texas papers, who was with Governor Ferguson here yesterday. Mr. Lowry is one of the best posted political writers in the State and is closely in touch with the situation. Lieutenant Governor W. P. Hobby of Beaumont, Railroad Commissioner Earl B. Mayfield, Louis Workman of Port Worth and Mayor Henry D. Lindsay of Dallas are already being groomed for the 1918 race and the first three have definitely announced their intentions to their friends. Mr. Lowry says. It is also expected that Senator Shepard will have opposition in 1918, he says. Mr. Lowry has found the present senatorial race a rather perplexing affair, he believes that the run off will be either a Henry Brooks or a Henry Campbell affair. There is considerable gossip in state political circles to the effect that Senator Culbertson will withdraw from the race. Governor Ferguson will be a figure to reckon with in Texas politics for many years, Mr. Lowry believes. He has been with the governor as a staff writer for the Austin Statesman and Houston Post, in the 1914 and 1916 campaigns, and finds that the executive has an increasingly numerous personal following that is extremely loyal and that the governor has the knack of holding the interest of his hearers better than most political speakers.

PRISONERS TAKEN TO PENITENTIARY

Josh Battle Among Those Sent Down in Charge of Agent Harrison Schwend of Henrietta, penitentiary agent, was in the city yesterday afternoon to receive a number of convicted men. Two were carried from this county, they being Josh Battle, who was recently convicted of the murder of Sam Holland, a white man and a given term of 99 years and W. C. Crable, convicted of robbery and given a term of two years. Other prisoners delivered to Mr. Schwend at this place were a man 67 years old, convicted of rape at Haskell county, the former to serve two years for incest and the latter one year for bootlegging. Sheriff Andrews of Haskell county brought his prisoners over yesterday afternoon.

MAY LET SALOONS STAY OPEN LONGER

Dallas Decision Holds That Sun Time Not Standard Time, Regulates Closing. Can Wichita Falls saloons, instead of closing at 9:30 p. m., standard time, remain open until 9:30 p. m., sun time, which is about 35 minutes later? The question has been raised following the decision of the court of civil appeals at Dallas, which held that sun time, and not standard or railroad time, regulated the closing. The decision holds that the standard time for Texas is that of the 90th degree of longitude west; Wichita Falls longitude is 98 degrees west. Figure by sun time, four minutes of time is allowed for each degree of longitude which would bring the closing here to after 10 o'clock by standard time. The decision was handed down in a non-judicial case in which a Dallas saloon-keeper whose license had been revoked sought to force the controller of the State to reinstate his license. He contended that while his place was open after 9:30 standard time, sun time and not standard time, should apply. If the decision should be sustained, it will make a material change in the closing hours of saloons throughout the State. The same difference in time would of course apply to the opening time in the morning.
