RUSSIANS PRESSING ON BOTH FLANKS OF VON BOTHMER'S ARMY WHICH CONTINUES ITS RETREAT.

PROGRESS BY ITALY

Following Up Recent Gains—British Take German Positions on Somme, But Lost Part of Them When Counter Attack is Launched.

The Associated Press summarizes European war operations as follows: The Russian drive in Galicia is pushing the Austro-German armies backward towards Lemberg at a rapid rate.

Both flanks of General Count Von Lemberger's army on the Lemberg front are under heavy pressure and its center, forced from the line of the Strypa, is being pushed back. The Austrian commander has no doubt as to the success of his offensive.

Petrograd today announces new gains for the Russians on the northern wing of the front on the upper Serech while the southern general Litvitzky is continuing his thrust up the front in the vicinity of Mariopol seven miles from Halicz. The Russian army in the center also are pushing the Austrians in the middle Strypa and Koropce regions.

Continuing their advances from Gorizia on the Isonzo front, the Italians have made further progress on the Gars plateau to the northeast. Rome reports the piercing of a strongly defended Austrian line east of Hill 212 and the capture of about 800 additional men. The Austrians are sharply attacking other sections of the front but were repulsed in all attempts, the Italian war office announced.

Following the usual course, the Germans have sharply counter attack along the line west of Pozieres, which London last night reported the British to have carried to a depth of 300 to 400 yards on a front of nearly a mile. The attack was partly successful, the Germans gaining a foot hold in a portion of the lost trenches.

Following up their gains on the north bank of the Somme the French are pushing their advance to a point where German evacuation camps are commanding the direct approach to Peronne from the northwest may be compelled. Fighting is being continued in the Marne sector northwest of Clercy where brisk cannonading is reported today. To the left of Fay Denis court road a French attack resulted in carrying some trenches.

By Associated Press. Austin, Tex., Aug. 14.—In order that Texas may benefit properly from the $50,000,000 federal appropriation from Congress for good roads work, Governor James F. Ferguson will recommend to the thirty-fifth legislature the enactment of a law creating a state highway commission.

RAILROAD CONTROVERSY LAID BEFORE PRESIDENT

GRAVE RESULTS OF STRIKE FORESEEN, OUTLOOK IS DECLARED TO BE IMPROVED

Present Critical Situation is Being Anxiously Watched in Industrial Circles

By Associated Press. New York, Aug. 14.—President Wilson today laid before the railroad men and their employers a stark choice: either a general strike or a general settlement. The president's message was a direct appeal to the railroad heads and the railroad managers to reach a settlement with the union men. The president said that a general strike would stop every train, passenger and freight, on the 22 railway systems of the United States. The president said that the country would be in a state of chaos if a general strike were to take place.

Both Brotherhood Representatives and Members of Managers Committee Given Hearing by Wilson. New Legislation

Washington, Aug. 14.—Prospects for averting a nationwide railroad strike or at least for the formation of some tentative program will be the groundwork for further negotiations brightened today after President Wilson had conferred with 45 chiefs of the railroad brotherhoods.

After a conference the brotherhood men declared the president's grasp of the situation and the position of the men might result in an understanding some reached, and the men, in touch with the conference, said the representatives of the men showed a disposition to cooperate to avoid a strike.

After hearing the leaders of the men two hours, the president sent the railroad managers for a conference at 2 o'clock this afternoon. However, whatever progress made at the conference with the men can go toward averting a break cannot be determined until after the president confers with the managers' committee.

The president, according to those who attended the conference, showed a direct familiarity with the situation that surprised the men. The president was most sympathetic and his surprising knowledge of the situation, and his position, may result in an understanding.

The president, it was said, admitted a counter proposition to the men but he declined to accept it by the hour, if necessary. The impression prevailed among the railroad leaders that as a last resort the president might ask a congress to enact a law to force a settlement.

The leaders explained to the president their stand against arbitration by saying they were carrying out the wishes of the industry everywhere in the country. The brotherhood leaders presented to the president detailed reports of the men in favor of a general strike.

The president's plan was to appeal to the managers and men along political lines to find a way to compose their differences without a strike. The president's conference with the men was opened with a statement by Mr. Garrison of the conductors, as spokesman. He outlined the demand for an eight hour day and time and a half for overtime. He insisted that the demands were fair. President Wilson then addressed the men, pointing out what disaster would follow a general strike and insisting that an agreement must be reached.

The president then asked to know the specific things on which the employees were prepared to insist. Mr. Garrison said most of the talking for the men, and he and the president discussed the situation thoroughly. Mr. Wilson promised to take the demands up with the managers in an effort to find a common ground on which the two sides could meet. He said he was anxious to settle the difficulty as quickly as possible and was prepared to remain in continuous conference all day if necessary.

The conference was held in the green room of the White House. Large crowds of curious gathered on the lawn in front of the White House to hear news of the proceedings.

MONTH'S DELAY ON GAS LIKELY

ORDER WILL PROBABLY NOT GO INTO EFFECT UNTIL OCTOBER 1.

EXPERT PESSIMISTIC

Urgent Report Shows Necessity For Reducing Present Drain on Field's Resources.

October 1, instead of September 1, will probably be the date when natural gas for use under boilers in industrial plants will be discontinued. Although no definite announcement has been received as yet from O. L. Star officials, one month's extension has been granted in Dallas, and it is considered certain that the same privilege will be extended to this city.

None of the local consumers affected by the recent order will be cut off before they have had opportunity to make provision for changing to other fuel. Manager Hodges of the North Texas Gas company states: "It is learned that the report of Samuel Weyer, the natural gas expert who visited the Petrolia field, made a very pessimistic report upon conditions, his investigation showing that steps must be taken immediately on account of the dwindling pressure to lessen the drain upon the supply of gas. Mr. Weyer's investigation was made at the instance of Dallas authorities."

Dallas factories have abandoned hopes of avoiding the putting into effect of the order cutting off gas for boiler purposes and most of them are making arrangements to use other fuel. The situation is expected to result in North Texas cities and towns co-operating with the Lone Star company in getting leases in Oklahoma, and there is every reason to believe that when the Petrolia supply of gas is exhausted, Wichita Falls will be able, along with other North Texas communities, to continue to use gas for fuel for domestic purposes at least, by means of a pipe line to Oklahoma. It is possible that the pipe line now running to Petrolia will be extended across into Oklahoma, putting Wichita Falls in more direct connection with the field. Wichitans of course are hopeful that a new field will be opened nearer this city and that it will not be necessary for Wichita Falls to look to Oklahoma for her natural gas.

Local plants affected by the recent order are making preparations for the coming fall in the west. Most of them, it is understood, will install fuel oil burning equipment. Preparations are understood to be under way also at plants not affected by the order. Some Star order in anticipation of the time when their supply will also be cut off.

EXPECTS RENEWAL OF HIGHWAY FIGHT

Another Effort Probable to Change Colorado Route, in Opinion of John W. Thomas.

"The fight for the Colorado-to-Gulf highway is not over but is just begun," says John W. Thomas, adding secretly that he has just returned from his trip to New Mexico and Colorado which included the meeting of the highway association at El Paso, New Mexico. He stated that the towns which were seeking to divert the highway to the southern route saw that they could not do much this year in the matter of changing the route of the highway and did not make a very determined fight for it at this time so that the road is for the time being left as it is. He is, however, confident that commercial bodies at that place, who it is said are routing tourists the southern way.

The roads through the Panhandle and New Mexico are in pretty bad shape, says Mr. Thomas. No attention has been paid to the construction of good roads through those sections, nor to their upkeep and the heavy travel has worn them "so that in some places they are barely passable. To keep the stream of tourists who pass through the section on their way to and from Colorado each year it will be necessary for these countries to construct good roads and keep abreast of the other sections of the country.

The Colorado roads are a striking contrast to the other roads along the route, being built along the most advanced lines of road building by the state, convict labor being used. After being built they are not allowed to deteriorate but are maintained in the finest condition the counties through which they run maintaining the roads.

That the Colorado highway is a big thing Mr. Thomas pointed out is shown by a report of the secretary of the State Chamber of Commerce, where an actual count had been taken, and who showed that between two and three hundred cars a day is the average travel over the road during the touring season. After the Katon meeting Mr. Thomas drove over to Colorado Springs to see the situation. Colorado Springs he said was just like Wichita Falls, for one could hardly turn a corner without running into one or more Wichitans.

The work of pouring concrete for the new court house began this morning, a supply of gravel and sand having arrived for this purpose. But little was accomplished last week on account of the failure of material to arrive, the contractors having considerable trouble securing sand, more especially as a result of the shortage of cars. They have the promise that this matter has been remedied and that but little, if any, trouble is contemplated in the future. About 25 men were engaged on the work this morning, of which some seven or eight were constructing forms, some were working with the steel reinforcement rods, while several men with teams were engaged in hauling sand and gravel. Sixteen negroes were employed on the work of mixing and pouring concrete, the remainder of the employes all being white men.

Certain-teed Roofing

TO hold "its place in the sun," is the avowal of a great nation's conflict. To hold "the sun," is the object of every business fight for industrial and commercial supremacy. To be able to hold "its place in the sun" is a test of an asphalt roof. It is the sun, not that plays havoc with a roof. If it can resist our process of the sun beating down upon day, the rain or snow will not affect it except to clean and keep it sanitary.

The blend of asphalt used by "The General" is the result of long experience. It produces a roofing more pliable than those which have less saturation, and which are, therefore, harder and drier.

At each of the General's big mills, expert chemists are constantly employed to refine, test and blend the asphalt used; also to experiment for possible improvements. Their constant endeavor is to make the best roofing stuff better.

The quality of CERTAIN-TEED is such that it is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply). Experience proves that it lasts longer. Behind this guarantee is the responsibility of the world's largest manufacturer of roofings and building papers.

"HOME TO NORWAY" MOVEMENT PLANNED

Would Bring Back Sons and Daughters Who Have Emigrated to America

Christiania, Norway.—A "Home to Norway" movement is sweeping over Norway at the present moment. The great emigration of Norwegians to the United States which during the past fifty years has drained the country of its young laborers and girls from the farms has never made itself felt so much as in the last two years.

The press all over the country is devoting much attention to this subject, and strong efforts are being made to change the current of migration and bring back from America to Norway at least some of the farm laborers and women engaged in agricultural pursuits who have in recent years left this country.

The idea of beginning a campaign in America with the object of making the various industries to appoint agents from Norway for a certain number of years and at the same time facilitating the restoration of their Norwegian citizenship.

A new emigration law is under consideration which will provide for closer control of emigration agents and steamship lines and making it easier for emigrants to return to Norway by giving them dispensation from military service if they had been away from Norway for a certain number of years and at the same time facilitating the restoration of their Norwegian citizenship.

CHICAGO WHITE SOX ARE NURSING PENNANT HOPES

By Associated Press.—The Chicago White Sox will be the 1916 champions of the American League, according to many critics here who have been watching their steady climb from last place to the top rung of the American league ladder.

Most of the time since the start of the season the White Sox were struggling along in the second division not once coming to the top. For two days May 22 and 23, they were in last place, but on the next day they jumped from eighth position to fifth place. From that time on they have been battling under a handicap—two or three in the lead.

The return of Faber is one of the greatest assets to the club. Likewise the recovery of Eddie Collins batting eye, and the heavy hitting of Joe Jackson, all tend to make the Chicago club hopeful of the pennant, according to fans here.

Jack Ness, the first baseman, who established a world record for consecutive hits in the Pacific Coast league last year, is playing a marvelous fielding game around the initial corner, and is contributing some time by hitting.

Before the season was half over six different clubs held the lead in the league, Chicago being the sixth club. Philadelphia led the league in its history, Boston got it from it in April and led for a week or more, when the Yankees went in front, Boston again took the lead and was passed by Detroit, which in turn was overtaken by Washington, Cleveland, with Tris Speaker, acting as pace maker, overtook the Senators, and several times these two clubs switched from first to second place.

In June Cleveland took a good hold on top place and was not pulled down until June 28, when Donny and Yankee stepped in front. At that time the White Sox were resting in sixth place.

The Yankees held the lead until July 20, when they began to slip on account of various injuries to the players. Then Boston Red Sox posed them out of first place, and the White Sox followed close on the Red Sox heels.

"WHERE ARE MY CHILDREN" TO BE HERE SEPTEMBER 8

The powerful Universal production "Where Are My Children" will open September 8, at the Wichita Theatre for what is expected will be the most successful run in any movie picture in Wichita Falls. In the picture are shown two mothers, one beaming with maternal pride upon her baby, the other bent to fondle a podgigoo-poodle. The subject of this picture is birth-control. It is treated from two angles, the result of too many children in the crowded masses and the suppression of the unborn in the homes of the wealthy.

"Where Are My Children" will create a profound impression on every man and woman who sees it. Lois Weber, to whose credit goes the writing and direction of the production, has handled the theme in such an infinitely delicate manner that the possibility of offense to the most refined is out of the question.

The management of the Wichita Theatre has decided in the presentation of the picture, to follow the decree of the National Board of Censors by refusing admission to children under sixteen years unless accompanied by parent or guardian.

EDITOR LEAVES CANADA; CRITICIZES GREAT BRITAIN

From the Detroit Journal. Declaring that Canada owes nothing more to Britain and that "a few little islands that cannot feed themselves can never be the world center," C. N. Smith, former member of the Ontario provincial parliament and editor of the Sault Express, So. Ontario, said that he would fight the Canadian authorities for suppressing his paper. Smith is virtually a refugee from Canada because of an editorial published recently entitled "No More Canadian Soldiers for Overseas Service; This Young Dominion Has Sacrificed Enough," which resulted in a suppression of the paper.

AT THE THEATRES

The Gem. Hobart Bosworth and Dorothy Davenport, two famous movie players are starred in "The Way of the World," a dramatization of Henry Field's comedy of the same name, to show today at the Gem. In the story love, politics, big business and other interests are combined. Bosworth takes the part of Nevill, an unscrupulous society man who takes it upon himself to ruin the husband of the woman who reveals his love-making advances. Miss Davenport is seen as the wife of the governor, a much-loved, misjudged woman who finally is able to clear her name in the "light of her husband."

The Empress. Hazel Hawes, the charming smiling girl from Utah, is to be seen today at the Empress in "The Feud Girl," a Famous Players picture of life among the feudists of the mountains of the Carolinas.

"THE PERILS OF DIVORCE" AT THE EMPRESS TUESDAY. Edna Wallace Hopper who toured the country in "The Country House," "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "Fifty Miles from Boston" and a score of other equally famous dramatic and musical productions in the past few years and whose popularity extends the length and breadth of America, will be the featured star opposite Frank Sheridan in "The Perils of Divorce," which is the attraction booked for Tuesday at the Empress. It will be remembered that Miss Hopper made her film debut in "Whose Hand?" which was accorded great praise by the trade reviewers in New York City, who commented very liberally on her remarkable showing on the screen. In this picture she has ample opportunities to show her vast versatility, and she makes the most of each opportunity.

Cotton prices have reached the high level in six years. Doubtless the Fort Worth Record will be willing to divide credit with O. B. Colquitt for this condition.

Candidate Hughes is "pulling a lot of old stuff" in his campaign speeches. Such speeches as he is making might have done very well 25 or 30 years ago, but the Judge has been too long isolated from the people in his judicial position to know what it takes to arouse the people. What Judge Hughes is now saying has been expressed with more force in editorials in the North American Review, the Chicago Tribune, the New York Sun and the New York Tribune, all anti-Wilson organs.

WHEN A MAN ENLISTS.

When a man enlists in the army service of the federal government, he ought to be prepared to make a personal and business sacrifice and ought not to expect to enjoy the comforts and conveniences of his home. A good many militiamen evidently did not think of this when they were sworn into the federal service and sent to the border for duty there. As a consequence bitter complaints are being heard. But the men are not making so much fuss as are their families and their friends. These complaints have been so insistent that they have been recognized by Secretary Baker, who Saturday made public the following statement:

"A call to arm upon any body of men in the country except the regular army, who make a profession of the military life, would inevitably interrupt business, professional and personal careers, and it is impossible to imagine any situation in which the organized militia or national guard of the several States could be summoned into the federal service without hardship and in convenience and yet both the constitution of the United States and the laws made pursuant thereto recognize these militia and national guard units as the secondary reliance of the government for the protection of the interests of the United States and the lives of the citizens of the country.

The department regrets these inconveniences and hopes that the attention which will be given to the restoration of order and security on the frontier will permit the speedy return of these citizen soldiers to their several civilian pursuits.

"In the meantime this department has taken steps to mitigate and relieve as far as possible the unusual and exceptional hardships which have arisen by reason of the services demanded. To the extent that that can be done in fact, it will be done, but the primary consideration must be the safety of our border and the preservation of the lives of our citizens there.

"It will be a source of great happiness to me when full relief can be given to these men who have placed themselves subject to this call of duty, and in the meantime I am filled with admiration for the spirit with which the militia has met the call and with which they are performing an important and necessary service to their country at this time.

Candidate Hughes charges that democratic party with being a sectional party and the administration with being sectional. The democratic party is not a sectional party. It is the real national party while the republican party is the sectional party. There is not a state in the union in which the democratic party does not poll a considerable vote. Even in such a rock-ribbed republican state as Pennsylvania more democratic votes are cast in the general election than in Texas and Tennessee combined. More democratic votes are cast in New York and New Jersey than in nine southern states combined. Practically no republican votes are cast in the South, therefore the republican party can not be considered a national party. It is true that the Wilson administration has been liberal to the South in cabinet and other offices. The South has probably broken better than even in this matter. But when the South has been recognized before? Isn't it time that something was coming its way? Candidate Hughes points to the fact that nearly all the important chairmanships in Congress are held by southerners. In the South there is a tendency to return members to Congress as long as they do their work well and faithfully. As a result of this practice the southern congressmen are mostly men who have been serving the people for years. Chairmanships are allotted by seniority. They are given to the members of the longest service and the most experience. It is inevitable under this system that a majority of the committee chairmanships should fall to southerners. The democratic party and the national administration are not sectional but Candidate Hughes charges are an attempt to arouse sectional prejudice in the North.

OUR "MENACING" IMPORTS.

Those supporters of Mr. Hughes who are afraid of pictures of impending industrial ruin here to be caused by a deluge of imports from Europe after the war, also are shocked and filled with alarm because our imports now are large and growing. In his letter of acceptance Mr. Hughes did not speak of these with disapproval, although he gave warning about the coming "severe competition" of an "energized" (some would say enfeebled) Europe; but these supporters whom we have in mind see in the steady advance of imports from $155,000,000 in November to $245,000,000 in June something that means ruin for our manufacturing industries. They would have us believe that it foreshadows and is leading up to a coming flood of goods from abroad which will stop the machinery in all our factories, and from which we can be saved only by a new protective tariff.

Let us see what this growth of imports really means. Imports in the fiscal year that ended with June, $2,197,984,000, exceeded those of the year immediately preceding by $523,764,000, and those of 1914 by $303,815,000. While $523,000,000 was added to our imports, however, the increase of exports was three times as much, or $1,555,055,000. And this increase was, in part, made possible by the growth of our purchases from abroad. We were buying more and more raw material to be used in manufacturing the goods which we were sending across the ocean.

This accounts for more than $360,000,000 of the additional $523,000,000. The remainder is made up of imported "crude materials for use in manufacturing" which was $368,000,000. And $120,000,000 more measures the increase of what may be called semi-manufactures, classified as "manufactures for further use in manufacturing." While many of our producers—and the whole country—were benefited by the increase of this material, we do not hear that any of our manufacturers were harmed by it. Mills in which certain kinds of material included in the list are made have been working at full capacity.

A glance at some of the leading articles imported shows how utterly absurd and without warrant are the complaints which have been mentioned. There was an increase of the receipts of rubber from $57,000,000 to $150,000,000. Have any domestic producers of rubber who were injured by this "flood"? This raw material was needed for automobile tires, and it should be noted that our exports of automobiles rose to $37,000,000, from $60,000,000 in the preceding year. The rubber was used also, of course, in motor cars manufactured for home consumption. Our output is growing. More than 750,000 cars were made in the six months ended with June, and their value exceeding $450,000,000. Are the American people in danger of a devastating deluge of foreign products on account of this gain of $72,000,000 in imports of rubber?

Was industrial ruin indicated by the year's gains of $32,000,000 for raw sugar, $17,000,000 for tin, $22,000,000 for wheat, $10,000,000 for iron, an addition of $41,000,000 for raw silk, and $43,000,000 more for hides? Our sugar growers were not harmed by the great imports of the raw product, which was defined here to satisfy an exceptional demand from England, Italy, and France. Hides were needed for the millions of shoes we have sold to the belligerents. Of all the imports 68 per cent, or more than two-thirds, were on our free list. Ought we to annoy and restrain our manufacturers by placing tariff duties on rubber and other raw materials not produced here?

The truth is that this increase of imports has been distinctly beneficial to our country and the American people. It has been due mainly to receipts of raw materials for use in making the finished goods included in the extraordinary exports which are so much to the advantage of the United States. To attack and denounce it is virtually to confess that those who do this are sorely in need of effective political arguments and issues—New York Times.

INCOMES AND EXEMPTIONS.

The senate finance committee withdrew from the consideration of the majority caucus the amendment to reduce the income exemptions to $3000 and $5000, respectively, for married and single persons. In that way, we are told, a revolt was prevented. The same time the caucus approved making the normal income tax 2 per cent instead of the present 1 per cent.

The latter provision, which would be objectionable to those who are paying the tax, as a 100 per cent increase, but since the number involved is not so large, it may not prove dangerous.

The reduction of the exemptions would have meant the retirement of the democratic party from power beyond a doubt, because it would have involved not only a vast percentage of the earning population of the country, but would have exacted toll from incomes that are seldom above living demands.

It is one of the faults of the income tax that it is not universally adaptable at least, not in a country like the United States. While it is true that the principle of just taxation demands that the burdens of government should be fairly apportioned, an income tax is possible only in a country where the larger income would result from an unearned increment that can not possibly involve the necessities of life.

Even with the exemptions remaining at $4000 and $5000 at the present, the tax is going to cut in upon necessities in thousands of cases, and to that extent the proposed increase will certainly prove injurious to the party in power. The other party would be justified in taking advantage of the situation and promise to lift it. So congress must deal with the necessities as it finds them and with human nature as it is known to be.

The masses must be treated with the utmost consideration and the wealthy few must contribute according to the necessities of the general welfare. The men of great wealth despise the taxpayer quite as much as their poor neighbors do, but wealth lacks the advantage of physical numbers and must take its toll.

The Federal income tax is new, but its rapid development is sure to create an early and implacable hostility to it. The republican party will dodge it this time, perhaps, because it hopes to secure numbers enough to win the election by the use of money that wealth will supply. Wealth will exact its tax in the event of republican victory, and four years hence the masses will rise again.

The income tax is apt to remain, however, so long as the activities and expenses of the government continue to multiply, and that will be as the republic exists, according to present indications.—Houston Post.

LIFT CENSORSHIP IN GREAT BRITAIN

London.—By lifting the veil of secrecy to an extent hitherto unheard of in the present war and allowing the British public to get a clearer view of what is going on at the front the War Office has made a tremendously popular move. This revolution in departmental methods started with the Anglo-French offensive. Its effect on the people has been magical.

The British public is now being fed generously on what it was deprived of for nearly two years, namely personal doing of the soldiers. And they like it. Incidentally, added importance is attached to the new order of things simply because the British government is not easily convinced of the wisdom of departing from old customs. Its about the most revolutionary occurrence since the war began.

To begin with the public realizes that there is still much that must be hidden from it. It is grateful for the concessions made. The people realize further that this war must be large an anonymous war and that it is inadvisable to describe except after a long interval the deeds of particular regiments or divisions.

But in other respects the veil has been lifted and the British public has been permitted to read many moving stories which present the war to those who stay at home in a truer light than ever before.

Generally speaking these are the sources of information which are now available to the public. First and foremost there are the dispatches from the British Commander-in-Chief, General Sir Douglas Haig, who, as a rule, sends from the general headquarters in France, two bulletins each day summarizing in military language the gains or losses, which the armies under his command have experienced during the day or night. These are occasionally supplemented by messages which, coming from the headquarters of the various corps, are sent to the War Office and are published in the Daily Chronicle.

Reverting to the improved arrangements for keeping the public informed, which are going on the Daily Chronicle, it is worth noting that the War Office has permitted to read many moving stories which present the war to those who stay at home in a truer light than ever before.

BRADSHAW RESTING WELL FOLLOWING LOSS OF FOOT

J. R. Bradshaw the young North-western brakeman who lost his foot in an accident at Altus Saturday was brought to Wichita Falls and placed in the general hospital yesterday and is reported to be resting well today. The details of the accident are very meager for the reason that none of the other members of the train crew saw it. It appears from what could be learned at an investigation held yesterday that Bradshaw was attempting to make a coupling between two cars on the house track at Altus, standing on the little platform at the end of one of the cars which was a coal car, when in some manner he lost his footing and fell almost between the cars, his foot striking the track and the train passing over and cutting it off just above the ankle.

TWO EX-PRESIDENTS URGED FOR SENATE

Booms For Both Roosevelt and Taft Have Been Started Recently

Washington.—Roosevelt and Taft in the United States Senate are among the possibilities of this remarkable election year.

While most astute politicians do not regard their presence in the upper legislative congress among the probabilities, still they admit it is not impossible that New York and Connecticut will find a way of giving their two leading citizens something to do for the next six years.

At various times since the nomination of Hughes at Chicago early in June it has been suggested by prominent progressive and republican leaders in New York that Roosevelt would make fine senatorial timber. Senator

HELD FOR GRAND JURY ON THEFT FROM PERSON CHARGE

Bill Jones, arrested Saturday night by Deputy Sheriffs Bob McFall and R. L. Lassiter, was charged with theft from the person in Justice Jones' court this morning and is in the county jail awaiting the action of the grand jury. It is alleged that Jones was robbing another party in front of a bar on Ohio avenue Saturday night, when the two officers happened to pass and see him place his hand in the other's pocket and bring out a piece of money, which proved to be a half dollar.

Bird Fite, the alleged victim who lives in Oklahoma was held until this morning on a charge of drunkenness, but the case was dismissed by Judge Jones and he was permitted to go after promising that he would return on Monday, August 28 and testify before the grand jury. They are held without bail.

TWO MEN ARE HELD FOR ILLEGAL SALE OF WHISKEY

Two parties were arraigned in the justice court this morning on a charge of vagrancy, but when the cases were called it developed that they had to face a more serious charge, that of illegally selling whiskey. It seems that they were accused of selling some whiskey to a young man, and the county attorney's office desired to further investigate the matter before permitting them to plead guilty to a charge of vagrancy. The cases were set for hearing before Justice Jones at 2 o'clock this afternoon.
