LABOR DAY PLANS WELL UNDER WAY

Committee To Report To Meeting of Trades Council on Monday Night

In connection with the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council at the Labor Temple Monday night, the labor day committee will make a report, embodying their recommendations with reference to an appropriate program for September 4. It is estimated that the council will adopt their suggestions, which will be given as a result of careful thought and planning. The program, as outlined will not include an elaborate display other than the usual labor day parade, but this is to be made the most successful of any heretofore held in the city. The parade as now planned, will be held in the forenoon and the committee will recommend that suitable prizes be awarded in the various departments affiliating. It is proposed that these prizes be apportioned as follows: For the most appropriate deportment and general appearance of local unit. For the most appropriate and decorated float and membership in parade. This will include fraternal associations. For the best decorated automobile.

GIRLS THREATEN INSURRECTION WILSON TELLS ROAD HEADS BLAME WILL BE ON THEM

DATES WERE MADE

Was Originally Understood That Friends Could Be Received on Sunday. By Associated Press. Fort Worth, Aug. 19.—A near insurrection broke out in Camp Tyra where 100 Texas girls are taking waitresses' jobs. It was announced today that young men would not be allowed to take strolls with the fair ones Sunday, this causing the breaking of countless dates. It was originally thought the girls would be allowed to entertain their male friends Sunday but this is now forbidden by orders from headquarters. The camp will close Friday.

WICHITA FALLS FURNISHES ANOTHER HOSPITAL PATIENT

Camp Tyra, Fort Worth, Aug. 19.—Corporal George Bush of the Wichita Falls company of the Honor Guard has had his arm lanced, so two of the Wichita Falls company have occupied the hospital tent. Casualties outside of these have been hit. Private Henderson is resting well after receiving treatment for a severely scratched finger. Lieutenant of the Wichita Falls company and her privates are making a strong fight to secure the 1916 Honor Guard encampment for their Wichita Falls. Invitations have been received at headquarters from the mayor of that city and the Chamber of Commerce to that end.

The girls in camp are going to have their pictures in the movies. A Dallas motion picture man, representing a well known "animated weekly" was admitted to Camp Tyra Thursday. He turned his crank industriously while the young ladies looked their "military" and the picture man said the result was going to be entirely satisfactory.

And then he ran afoul of Lieutenant Josephine Gambrell of Dallas, official censor. She censored. He took some bad pictures, but she objected and ordered them suppressed. He refused to deliver them over to the censor, and she ordered him from the camp.

He threatened to take a picture of the arrest, and that frightened the censor away. Finally the censor agreed to permit the pictures to pass if the man promised to film only Dallas girls in the future, but the movie man told her that he could not take a chance on filming Dallas girls, because, he said, he felt positive the national board of censors would "cut them out" and he would thus lose money and valuable time.

Then the censor told the movie man that if he would take her picture-censuring his movie film she would permit the pictures to go, but the movie man declined. Friday was featured by a regular "hike" for the young women. The trail led over rough places and through the brush, each "soldier" being compelled to carry her full kit, with stretchers, bandages and first aid materials carried on a rucksack. On the hike stops were made to minister to the needs of imaginary "wounded" soldiers by the wayside. In fact, the whole hike was a ruse to entertain the scores of visitors who are expected on that day.

Dr. Jack McLean, assisted by Drs. Mitchell, Suggs and Lallier, demonstrated application of bandages and other first aid during Thursday. Dr. McLean delivered the lecture, which was given in several divisions. Sunday will be a busy day at the camp. No formations other than mass and retreat will be held, and the day will be given over to the "rest and visiting" to entertaining the scores of visitors who are expected on that day.

Union Waiters Refuse to Serve Candidate Hughes

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—Union waiters today refused to serve a luncheon given to Charles E. Hughes, republican presidential candidate, at the San Francisco Commercial Club because the club exhibits in its restaurant an open shop card as a part of a fight being made here by the Chamber of Commerce against a closed shop.

For the Hughes luncheon a request was sent to the Waiters' Union for 65 waiters after the union had protested to Francis C. Keatsing, chairman of the state republican committee against dining candidate in an open-shop club.

The Pacific Coast Waiters' association backed up the action of the local waiters and pickets were set up in the club entrance to warn waiters away. Culinary workers struck several weeks ago for shorter hours and the restaurant owners immediately declared an open shop regime. One of the larger downtown open shop cafes locked its doors during the noon hour and sent its entire crew to the aid of the Hughes' luncheon.

AMENDED SHIPPING BILL REPORTED AGREEABLE

Washington, August 19.—Chairman Alexander of the house merchant marine committee intimated today that the shipping bill, as amended by the senate, might be reported by the house, possibly Tuesday without sending it to conference. Democratic Leader Kitchin said he believed the house will concur in the senate amendment and not insist on a conference.

HENRIETTA HOUR PARTY FOR LOCAL MISS On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the past week, Miss Maylene Winters of this city was guest of honor at a house party given at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Brien in Henrietta. There were quite a number of guests, both boys and girls and the hostess had provided pleasing amusements for every day, such as dancing, tennis, honor rides and other sports. The guests included: Miss Winters guest of honor, Misses Dorothy Gates, Ethel Gates, Gertrude Banda, Mable and Muriel Strom, Maudie, Fred Banda, Ted Nolan, Gerald Gochman, Frank Strom and Earl Miller.

such controversies beyond question. "W. G. Lee, head of the Trainers' Brotherhood, gave out a brief statement tonight on behalf of the men, pointing out that in accepting the president's plan, the employees surrendered a very large portion of their demand, while the "railway" companies seem about ready to accept any conditions from the president of the United States as they have in the past acceded to grant requests from their employees.

While the brotherhood men were in session today the president sent word to the offices of the union that they might excuse their members until Monday. They intimated tonight they might make a formal reply to the railroad tomorrow.

Brotherhood men called on their representatives in congress and requested in advance against any compulsory arbitration bills. Among railroad executives the claim was made that the official said no broken within a week. Some railroad officials believed from 15 to 20 per cent of the normal number of employees would be lost if the railroad was not enough to guarantee the movement of necessary freight. These claims are all denied vehemently by the brotherhood men who contend they could bring the roads speedily to terms should a strike be called.

PRESIDENT DECLARES THAT ARBITRATION IS IMPOSSIBLE

Washington, Aug. 19.—After an hour's conference with President Wilson, the 33 railroad president's left the White House without giving any indication that they had abandoned their stand on arbitration but with assurances that negotiations were not ended.

President Holden of the Burlington, spokesman for the officials, said no time had been set for them to see President Wilson again but that it was necessary to confer with the committee of managers which has authority to accept or reject the plan. Several of the executives expressed disappointment over President Wilson's statement, but showed particular interest in his mention of the possibility of the interstate commerce commission's considering an increase in freight rates.

In his talk to the executives today President Wilson informed the officials that they were discussing an impossible thing when they mentioned arbitration, for the employees would not accept arbitration and that he had, no time had been set for them to see President Wilson again but that it was necessary to confer with the committee of managers which has authority to accept or reject the plan. Several of the executives expressed disappointment over President Wilson's statement, but showed particular interest in his mention of the possibility of the interstate commerce commission's considering an increase in freight rates.

GERMAN PAPERS ATTACK GERARD

U. S. Ambassador Criticized Severely for Writing Confidential Note.

Berlin, Aug. 19.—A vigorous attack on Ambassador Gerard was made today by the Berlin Morgenpost and the Cologne Gazette, two influential German newspapers, for the attitude toward the German censorship which is alleged to have displayed in a confidential communication to the State Department.

American correspondents in Berlin recently handed to the ambassador a protest against British censorship of cable dispatches and mail matter they had sent to the United States. They pointed out that the British had badly mutilated many of their dispatches and that a large percentage of their mail stories failed to reach America at all.

In transmitting the report to the state department, Ambassador Gerard is reported to have sent along a confidential note, recommending that no action be taken by the American government unless Germany removed the censorship on news sent to America.

How this alleged confidential note became public property is not known, but the note made the ambassador's name become known in newspaper circles. "The American government and its organs already have endured many brutal English infringements," said the Morgenpost. "Even Americans reproach their officials. They have degraded themselves by giving up their neutrality and honor as accomplices of England, so it is presumable that they will also endure this infringement, and the attitude of their ambassador, whereby the British infringement is supported."

The Cologne Gazette editorial was in similar vein. "We doubt whether the German foreign office will be satisfied with Gerard's conduct. We hope the government will find means to correct his strange attitude. The German censorship need not be so strict. It has no right to criticize measures necessary for the safety of German interests."

FREE SWIMMING POOL PROVIDED AT GAINESVILLE

B. J. Johnson of Gainesville, secretary-elect of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, has had the Times some pictures of the free swimming pool built by public subscription at Gainesville at a cost of $1800. The pictures show the pool, which is to be situated in the city by at Gainesville, to be a very inviting body of water, and encourage one to hope that Mr. Johnson will be able to provide something like that in Wichita Falls, when he becomes secretary here. Writing of the pool, Mr. Johnson says:

"The pool is 50 by 150 ft. and is divided into three compartments. The first is a shallow wading pool for the little tots and is about 10 feet in width the second is for the larger children and is about 20 feet in width by 30 inches in depth. The last section is a shallow hole proper with a depth ranging from three feet to nine feet. The compartments are partitioned off to prevent children from getting in water over their depth. The location makes it possible for the city to furnish water from the pumping station without cost and the pool is drained into the creek which encircles the City Park on the west side. Thus the water is constantly being changed as it enters at one end and drains at the opposite end. The walls and center partition are built of solid rock, and the floor of concrete. It immediately became necessary to provide regulations governing the use of the pool because of its crowded condition. No one is allowed to remain in the water longer than one hour. A flag is rung on the hour and the pool is cleared before another party of swimmers is admitted. Every one must take a shower bath before going into the pool in order that the motto "A clean place for clean people" may be lived up to. The custodian of the park has charge of the pool and is paid with the revenue from bathing suits which are rented to those who do not have them at a charge of 25c. Persons having their own suits are not charged for the use of the pool. The hours are from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m. and since its opening on August 21 it has been in constant use every hour save on Sunday when it is closed to the public, the water is drained off and the interior sterilized."

MAKING PROGRESS ON QUANAH IMPROVEMENTS

Quanah, Texas, Aug. 19.—Work on the Henderson opera house building on the corner of Main and Third is progressing at a satisfactory rate. In fact, Contractor Renta is afraid that it will rain before he gets much further, and he is anxious to have the big basement cemented at least before the flood comes down. The excavations are about all finished. Though the big building, fifty by one hundred and fifteen feet, is to be only one story, the walls will be twenty-five feet, and thus high enough to give it an imposing look. The color of the brick will be a greenish tawny, and rough, which makes beautiful building material. The front is going to be very attractive, and with its balconies opera house will comfortably seat 800 or more people. Contractor Ed Lovell of Weatherford has arrived here with his equipment and will be ready to go to work tomorrow or Saturday on the new $25,000 building for the First Guaranty State Bank. The bank force will vacate their building till the last minute, and then move their books and furniture in the room now occupied by Aiken & Ayers, two doors south of the bank's present place of business. As stated before the new structure will be in Corinthian style save the fluted pillars, be of a creamy white, two story, and of such nature as to attract the eye as the most striking bank building in Northwest Texas.

CHALMERS "SIX-40" August 21st to 26th, Inc. Chalmers Trading Week Heretofore I have been forced to confine my sales of Chalmers "Six-40's" to cash sales on account of the unexpected heavy sales of this popular model in the larger cities. I have just unloaded two solid carloads of these cars, more than I need to fill orders on hand. There are so many people of Wichita Falls who have wanted to trade their old cars of various makes for Chalmers "Six-40's" that I will devote one week of my time to this class of sales. I want you to drive this car yourself and I want to state right here that if you have never had your foot on the little button of the "Six-40", then you have a mistaken conception of what "pep" is. I have three different body colors and two different wheel colors. Remember that I have the largest stock of automobiles in North Texas, carrying more than twenty new Chalmers cars in stock at one time. Drive your old car over and I will make you an offer. $200 or $300 MORE, AND WHAT A DIFFERENCE!

I once bought a 98-cent razor. For two weeks I shaved with it. Then I bought another one. I paid $3.50 and I still have it. Nobody can persuade me to part with it.

And I challenge anybody to convince me that a 98-cent razor is cheaper than a $3.50 one.

No, gentlemen, the $3.50 razor is cheaper by far. It costs more, keeps a keen edge, gives me a good shave every day and lasts a lifetime.

So with the Chalmers car. It costs a little more—perhaps $200 or $300 more than some other cars. And what a difference that $300 makes!

The Chalmers keeps going day in, day out; year after year. It always looks the part. About all you need do is look after the gas, oil, water and grease cups.

And Chalmers gives five-year life. The average Chalmers owner keeps his car at least five years before he sells it second-hand or trades it in.

Quite a difference between the 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers and many other cars in that one respect.

Aside from all this—the performance of the 1917 Chalmers will make you catch your breath.

Deceased is Said to Have Slapped Williams in the Face Prior to the Shooting.

Maintaining Present Rates of Gain Will Place City in the 13th Place in 1920.

Contributions Will Be Received and Forwarded to "Aid in Fight on Epidemic."

A little stamp photograph—the kind one buys for 25 cents a dozen—was the underlying cause of the tragedy of Friday evening in which T. C. Hollander fell with charge of shot between his shoulders, from a gun in the hands of C. E. Williams.

The photograph itself had been torn up and the fragments scattered to the four winds when the fatal shot was fired, but the evidence adduced Saturday at the inquest made it certain that the picture was largely the cause for the shooting. The picture, which was of Hollander's daughter, Martha, had been in Williams' possession, and the efforts of the young woman and her father to get it back caused the quarrel which led to the shooting.

But it was several blows in the face, and the calling of some ugly names that led more directly to the shooting. At the inquest it was brought out that about half an hour before the tragedy Hollander had cursed Williams and slapped the latter's face several times after Williams had torn the picture up.

The inquest was held before Justice of the Peace W. J. Howard, five witnesses being heard. In the meantime Williams remained in jail at the court house. He has retained S. Heyzer to represent him and expects to appear in court to this city, no examining trial will be held.

The principal witness at the inquest was M. B. Bennett, formerly proprietor of the cafe which Hollander operated. Bennett had served as peace-maker in a previous disagreement between the two men, which arose over the purchase of the cafe from Bennett and he again tried, with partial success, to make peace between the two when they were quarreling Friday afternoon. At one time it seemed that by inducing Williams to destroy the little picture he had avoided further trouble, but a short time later, the slapping and cursing incident ensued.

After being slapped and cursed by Hollander, the witness went to the school and went to his boarding place in North Wichita, obtained the shot gun and returned, according to the evidence at the inquest, to the cafe, where he did not outwardly resent either the cursing or the slapping at the time. It was said.

The evidence at the inquest, pieced together from the several witnesses, furnishes the following version of the events leading up to the shooting: Williams, who is married but who has a divorce suit pending, had been attentive to Miss Martha Hollander, daughter of the deceased, and sought to prevent the young people being together, but without entire success. It appears, however, that Williams and another couple went to a local photograph gallery where some stamp pictures were taken. When the camera was in the older Hollander to Williams' attention continued Williams was asked to give up his pictures.

Matters went bad Saturday afternoon, according to the evidence of Bennett, who detailed his efforts as peace-maker. Miss Hollander went to Williams, who is married but who has a divorce suit pending, and went to Williams, tendering him the money and insisting that he give her the picture. It was reported that Williams refused to do so, but that he did not want it to be said that Hollander had given it up.

At this juncture, Bennett stepped into the breach, going first to Hollander and suggesting to him that Williams might be persuaded to test the picture up if he knew that Hollander would not say that he forced him to do so. Hollander assented to this and said that if he knew Williams had destroyed the picture, everything would be all right. Bennett then went to Williams, he said, and told him that if he would give the picture up there would be no further trouble. Williams seemed agreeable and took the picture from his watch, tearing it into little bits which he threw away.

Bennett went back to Hollander and told him what had happened, considering the trouble at an end. But only a few minutes later, he says, Hollander saw Williams in the room back of the Newport Bar, and started back there, saying he was going to tell him what he thought of him. Bennett sought to dissuade him, but without success. He was present when Hollander cursed Williams and striking him several times in the face with his open hand. Williams did not, so far as the testimony showed, resist this treatment, but sought to leave the room; as he did so, Bennett said, Hollander seized him by the belt and struck him again, saying he was not through with him. By this time Williams had been driven into the back room, and the shooting followed.

A youth at whose house Williams boarded testified that he had heard Hollander call Williams an abusive name earlier in the afternoon. He also said that Williams berated his brother's son.

S. T. Freeman, who lives in Clay county, described the shooting, saying he saw Williams level the gun at Hollander and fire while Hollander was trying to get away. He was also present when the slapping and cursing incident took place, he said.

A. J. Weldon testified regarding the incident in the back room, saying he saw Williams cursed and slapped.

C. W. Horry, a photographer, testified to taking the pictures of Williams, Miss Hollander, and another couple. He said that after the pictures were taken and delivered, Williams came back and had some more printed, saying something about objections which the older Hollander had made.

Justice Howard's finding was as follows: "I find that the deceased, T. C. Hollander's death was caused by a gunshot wound inflicted by a gun in the hands of C. E. Williams, with intent to kill the said T. C. Hollander."

Wichita Falls, which ranked 26th in population of Texas cities in 1910, has passed a number of her competitors each city of similar size at least as high as seventeenth according to the scholastic census for the current year.

Scholastic census figures furnished by the state department of education show that Wichita Falls has passed Abilene, Amarillo, Corsicana, Greenville, Palestine, San Angelo, Sherman, Tyler and Temple in the six years since 1910. All of these cities, according to the government census of 1910, were then larger than Wichita Falls.

Wichita Falls' present population, based upon the scholastic census, is 17,000. This figure five inhabitants for each child of school age and allows for the part of the school district which is not in the corporate limits. While the state figures on inhabitants for each scholastic, this is considered somewhat high.

The school census figures for this year give Cleburne, Denison, Marshall and Paris a larger population than Wichita Falls. While Denison and Paris may still be larger cities than Wichita Falls, there is little doubt that this city can truthfully claim a greater population than either Marshall or Cleburne, and their figures probably include a considerable population outside of the corporate limits, but inside the school district.

Marshall with 4108 scholastics would have a population of 29,520 and Cleburne with 3701 scholastics would have 18,505 using the five to one basis; these figures are admittedly too high for the towns in question.

The border towns of Laredo, Corpus Christi and Brownsville gained considerably in population from 1910 to 1916, the gains being due to the great influx of refugees from Mexico.

The following figures for Texas towns which had less than 20,000 population in 1910, show the present standing: 1910 census '16 estimate

Table with 2 columns: City Name, 1910 census, '16 estimate. Rows include Abilene, Amarillo, Brownsville, Cleburne, Corpus Christi, Corsicana, Denison, Greenville, Laredo, Marshall, Palestine, Paris, San Angelo, Sherman, Temple, Tyler, Wichita Falls.

Estimates of the present population of Texas cities, based upon scholastic and other figures, show the 1916 rank in population to be as follows:

- 1—San Antonio. 2—Houston. 3—Fort Worth. 4—El Paso. 5—Galveston. 6—Austin. 7—Waco. 8—San Antonio. 9—Brownsville. 10—Laredo. 11—Corpus Christi. 12—Dallas. 13—Wichita Falls. 14—Denison. 15—Marshall. 16—Cleburne. 17—Wichita Falls.

If the present rate of increase is maintained, there is little reason to doubt that the 1920 census will see Wichita Falls third at least as high as 13th among the cities of Texas and possibly still higher in the population column.

BUILDING CRAFTS ARE TO AFFILIATE

Meeting is To Be Held on Friday Night To Perfect An Organization

A meeting is to be held on next Friday night for the purpose of perfecting the organization of the members of the various building trades affiliated with organized labor, the movement having already been inaugurated by those interested. Such an organization, it is explained, will not conflict in any way with the regular central labor body, but is intended to bring together those crafts employed as builders, in order that they may better protect themselves against unfair labor on construction work. Such an organization is maintained in all the larger cities and has been in existence in Wichita Falls heretofore, but was not maintained for some time.

WILL JOIN IN PROVISION FOR COMFORT OF STRICKEN ORPHANS AT DALLAS.

Wichita Falls will have a part in bringing relief to the several scores of children in Buckner's Orphan Home at Dallas, who are suffering from typhoid fever, and efforts are under way to send a substantial contribution from this city.

An epidemic of typhoid has been raging among the children in the home for several weeks and $200 daily in addition to the current expense of the institution is required to give the young patients proper care and attention. The dire necessity for prompt action has caused appeals to be made in a number of Texas cities and it is hoped that the appeals will meet a liberal response here.

A committee consisting of J. W. Bradley, C. W. Reid and Mesdames A. Ward and R. P. Watts has been named to receive contributions here. This committee urges that all pastors mention the matter today and that a who can contribute notify some member of the committee.

One Dallas traveling man has donated a ton of ice daily to the home and other substantial aid has been received but much more is needed if the orphans are to be saved.

While the home is a Baptist institution, children from every denomination are admitted to it, and it is by no means intended that the relief movement should be confined to Baptists.

GRAND JURY TO RECONVENE 28TH

Thirtieth District Court Will Take Up Civil Jury Docket Tomorrow

The 30th district court will be at work with the civil jury docket this week; several cases having been set for trial. For two weeks past this court has had little to do beyond the trial of a few divorce cases with J. M. Blankenship sitting as special judge in the absence of Judge Bonner.

There are no settings for this week in the 78th district court. Next Friday is the last day upon which new suits may be filed in time for service for the September term which opens September 4.

The grand jury will reconvene a week from tomorrow after several weeks recess.

SOCIALISTS PLAN FOR A BIG RALLY

Candidates For State Offices and Others Expected the Last of the Week

While definite arrangements have not been made for the socialist encampment to be held at this place the latter part of the week, local members of that party are anticipating an interesting meeting and a large attendance from the surrounding counties.

The encampment will represent the 101st district and is intended to arouse an enthusiasm in behalf of the candidates for state offices.

It is announced that Thomas A. Hickey, their candidate for the United States Senate and E. R. Melton, candidate for governor will be in attendance and will speak during their stay in the city. Other state candidates are also expected.

It is not known, as yet, just where the encampment will be held, and it is possible that the program will only include daily rallies on the streets and speaking at some convenient hall. More definite plans are expected to be made at a meeting of local socialists to be held this afternoon.

The meeting is scheduled to begin Friday and will possibly continue to and including Sunday.

This military life is terrible. Wichita Falls girls at Camp Tyn who have been denied permission to receive their gentlemen friends will organize a peace society as soon as they can secure their release from the Guards service.

It is not every youth who is asked to shoo a station agent's boots there by getting an opportunity to qualify himself for the United States Senate. Some achieve greatness, others have it thrust upon them by the man who marks the ten-for-an-hour and thirty-five minutes late.

Candidate Hughes has criticized President Wilson for placing a livestock man, "a stock breeder, I believe," at the head of a government bureau. How about George Washington and Thomas Jefferson? Are they not ranked among the greatest of American statesmen and executives? They were first of all stock breeders and farmers. Being a livestock man didn't appear to incapacitate them in any way.

Over one thousand voters have signed their names to the Culberson club roll in Wichita county. If those thousand voters will go to the polls next Saturday and register their choice it is likely that Culberson will have a good majority in Wichita county, for it is doubtful whether many more than 1500 votes will be polled in the county. In the July primary 2687 votes were polled for the senatorial candidates in this county. Of this number Colquitt polled 772, which was probably nearly his full strength, so that if Colquitt polls the vote of every man in the county who is for him all the votes above 1500 or 1600 will go to increase Culberson's majority. What Culberson's supporters have to fear is a very small vote.

The faith of those who voted for Congressman Stephens in the July primary, believing that he was in accord with President Wilson, was well founded. Mr. Stephens last week voted for the national defense appropriations. While these have been vetoed by President Wilson because of some exemptions they contained, those defects will be remedied and the appropriations released so that they will be acceptable to the president. The measures in general have the approval of the president. Without disparagement to the nominee who will succeed Mr. Stephens attention may be called to the fact that many voted against Mr. Stephens in the primary through a misrepresentation of his position on the question of national defense. Had Mr. Stephens taken the trouble to correct this misapprehension the July primary might have had a different result.

If a great railway strike is precipitated, the responsibility is placed on the railway managers and the presidents by President Wilson's statement which appears in the news columns of this issue. President Wilson had suggested a plan of mediation to the railway managers and the representatives of the brotherhoods. This plan made the acceptance of the eight-hour day basis by the railroads a condition of mediation. It was accepted by the brotherhoods but up to the time President Wilson issued his statement yesterday it had not been accepted by the railway officials. The proposal will appeal to the country as fair and just if a strike results, the railroads will be held responsible for it by the majority of citizens. The railroads ought to accept the eight-hour day. The eight-hour day movement is spreading steadily and will grow until it includes all industries. If the railroads succeed in putting it off now it will only be for a short time. A good many of the railroads of the country are already operating on an eight-hour basis. President Wilson has stated the situation admirably. "The eight-hour day," he says in his statement, "now undoubtedly has the sanction of the best judgment of society in its favor, and should be adopted as the basis for wages even where the actual work cannot be completed within eight hours." When President Wilson said this, he doubtless made powerful enemies. But his saying it will go far toward bringing the day when the eight-hour basis of pay will be universal in this country.

Soon after the republican national convention last June The Times said that the republicans had paid President Wilson the highest tribute they had selected as their candidate for president, the man in the republican party most like President Wilson. Developments in the campaign indicate that we were mistaken. The selection of a man like Wilson may have been the purpose of the republicans all right but they utterly failed in the attempt. Candidate Hughes is on a speaking tour across the continent. His speeches show that so far from being a great leader in his party he is a follower of the standpatners and his speeches are the same stereotyped arguments and assertions that were used by republican campaign orators twenty years and more ago. He misrepresents President Wilson's position and President Wilson's efforts. He resorts to small political tricks and advantages and fails to show the breadth and strength which even democrats had believed he possessed. He criticizes everything without telling what he would have done under similar conditions and circumstances. President Wilson has never attempted to take a small or mean advantage of any opponent. It's hard to imagine President Wilson going over the country talking about some man being displaced as a tax appraiser or as a director of the census, and if he did, he would be certain to have the facts straight before he made assertions. The people of the United States will not expect President Wilson to utter petty criticisms and to pick a flaw here and an imperfection there. Rather, they will expect him to talk of principles and purposes and to discuss performance as a whole. No, Candidate Hughes falls far short of meeting the standard of President Wilson. That's the reason why his speechmaking tour hasn't created deep or widespread interest. President Wilson will have something of real interest to say when he speaks. The country will take notice.

ROOSEVELT IN MAINE. The September election in Maine is so momentous an occasion in republican estimation that both Mr. Hughes and Colonel Roosevelt are to be imported into the Dirigo States. It has been rich in progressives, and not to them alone will the Colonel's voice be welcome. His untiring vitality, energy, and "instinct for the jugular vein" will put motion and heat into the campaign, and yet his appearance may produce a flutter in some republican bosoms and perturb Mr. Hughes. The Colonel is needed on the stump; but may not his services be a little dangerous? Unless he can be persuaded to mitigate his temperamental frankness and dynamic attack there may be an unedifying contrast between it and the scattering pin-pricks and ambiguous circumlocutions of his candidate for president. Hasn't there been an almost audible gasping of teeth at Oyster Bay in the last week or two? And will what the Colonel says be more acceptable than his tripartite manner of saying it? Last April he enumerated among the four "most flagrant of our national derelictions from duty during the last three years," "our failure to do our duty in Belgium. There is nothing about our Belgian duty in the republican platform, but since Mr. Hughes has reversed and remade the suffrage declaration, it is clearly Colonel Roosevelt's privilege to enlarge on our failure to do our duty in Belgium. In his famous speech at Detroit the Colonel said that the two "great issues before us, both inseparably bound together, are "the issue of Americanism and disreputability." Mr. Hughes has discovered that "we are a united people," and he avoids the hyphen as eagerly as if it were infantile paralysis. Will the Colonel talk in Port-au-Spain as he talked in Detroit? As a part of the work of internationalism and of nationalization, we must set our faces like flint against any effort to divide our people on the basis of race, creed or of national origin. The politico-racial hyphen is the breeder of moral treason. One of the most stirring developments of the past twenty-two months has been the fact that a section of the professional German-Americans has joined the pacifists in the effort to keep America helpless, while this same section of German-Americans is lauding German militarism to the skies and apologizing for every manifestation of that militarism, even when it is ruthlessly used against the welfare of the weak. Surely these are things not to be mentioned now. Surely the tiger will change himself into a harmless necessary tabby.

"I believe in universal service based on universal training." So the Colonel, in his program, has a message to everybody. Mr. Hughes has informed the country that "it seems to be plain that our regular army is too small," and that it is little short of absurd that we should be compelled to call men from their shops, their factories, their offices, and their professions to go to the border. It is hardly to be expected, perhaps, that the Colonel will tell the Maine folks, as he told the Michiganians, that "the fifty-one republicans who, the other day, voted against an adequate army, are to be compelled, two years ago, voted for all kinds of half-measures in the hope of pleasing both the gold and the silver men, for evident reasons, he must be regarded by a good many republicans as a high explosive independent against the enemy, yet he should be carefully used against themselves. Colonel Roosevelt's invasion of Maine will be awaited with lively curiosity by most of us, with misgivings, probably, on the part of his managers and his managers. For one thing, when the Colonel goes into the campaign he can't help being its chief and commanding figure.—New York Times.

DIGNITY OF THE COURT. The refusal of Mr. Justice Brandeis of the supreme court of the United States, to serve on the Mexican mediation commission is what might have been expected of him, considering the high commendation given him by those who know him well during the time the unwarranted fight was being waged against his appointment being confirmed by the senate. The further fact that Mr. Chief Justice White was opposed to a member of the court serving on a political commission but goes to show the season of the whole court. Mr. Brandeis is a member of that high and dignified tribunal engaging in any way in matters that might even be considered of a political nature. The judiciary represents the highest and most sacred function of government and it is unbecoming on the part of any man honored with a place on the bench of any court to prostitute his position in political ambition or either for himself or for his friends. Mr. Justice Brandeis had proven, long before he was selected by President Wilson for a place on the bench of the supreme court, that he was a man of broad vision and high integrity. He has again proven this by his recent action in refusing to accept a place on the Mexican mediation commission. No doubt President Wilson wanted able men, men of whose integrity there could be no question, on that commission and Mr. Justice Brandeis was honored in his being selected. His refusal to act he stands higher with the people of the country and, no doubt, also in the mind of the president.

LET'S NOT WORRY ABOUT THE SINGLE MEN. The problem of poverty is not very intense for single men who get more than $2000 a year, or married men who get more than $3000, and the issue which has been raised by the dropping of the fringes of the income tax to cover these incomes is more political than economic. It is politically as well as socially a reasonable and altogether desirable to make owners of great fortunes pay in proportion to the size of their fortunes, because there are so few of them and their votes count for almost nothing. But as the basis of taxation is broadened the number of voters affected naturally widens, and a good many thousands of them stop voting for the party which taxes them. It is foolish, just the same, to worry over the injustice of taxing the $2000 or $3000 income bracket. The $2000 income bracket will help in the slightest degree to lift the burdens from the shoulders of the overwhelming majority whose incomes are below $2000. The economic middle class does not need any codding. The great problem in America is to give in both directions as far as possible in the direction of the $3000 family income. Great wealth and extreme poverty are both poisonous to the national life, but the middle classes are, as usual, getting along very nicely.

INSTITUTION FOR THE UNFORTUNATES. Representative Ice B. Reeves of this city, one of Grayson county's representatives in the legislature, is working on a plan to take care of the fallen women proposition in Texas. Mr. Reeves says this condition has been here for many years, but in the account of a tale under the name of the people have refused to recognize it and the evil has grown and becomes more dangerous as the days go by. Mr. Reeves suggests that the Rusk city infirmary, which is almost out of use for the purpose for which it was established, be fitted out with modern equipment for the purpose of caring for the various state institutions—the insane asylums and other institutions—and these women, on condition that they be sent to this place for a period of five years, and be put to work. This would give them an opportunity to reform and at the same time they could learn a useful vocation, and at the end of that time they could go into the world and make an honest living. He points out that the Rusk property consists of splendid buildings and that the end of acres of land and that it could easily be arranged with modern machinery and should be put in the hands of competent and humanitarian teachers.

Slowly but surely the large cities of Texas are recognizing the evil of permitting these women to remain in their midst and are driving them out. Mr. Reeves does not think it right that they should be driven to other communities to follow their nefarious calling and ruin the young men of the various communities, but should be placed where they can not do this and at the same time be given another chance in life. He recognizes the fact that the system of hauling them into town and putting them in the streets only provides fees for officers. Some time in the near future he is going to submit what he believes is a feasible plan to the public, and is particularly anxious to get the opinion of the county judges, mayors and other officials who are daily brought face to face with this serious problem.—Sherman Democrat.

Colquitt campaigners unable to find any flaw in the record of Senator Culberson and some things in the record of former Governor Colquitt which they can not defend, are attacking some of the men who are supporting Senator Culberson. This is "old stuff" in Texas politics and it won't work any more.

BATTLESHIPS ON PRACTICE CRUISE

Nine of the Atlantic Reserve Fleet Sail With Experimental Volunteers.

(New York Times.) Tuesday morning nine battleships, all units of the United States Atlantic Fleet, proceeded to sea from seven Atlantic ports, with more than 3,500 civilians on board. The latter are all citizens of the United States who have signified to the navy department their desire to gain by close contact with naval life and naval duties some experience and understanding which will help them to preserve the way in which they may best fit themselves to render efficient and patriotic service to the naval arm of the national defense in the event the navy is ever called to war.

The naval cruise, which will last five weeks, during that time these picked men from all walks of life will undergo, under the direction of officers of the navy, a system of training the details of which have been carefully worked out. It will be the first time in the history of the country that such an opportunity has ever been offered to the ordinary citizen. In the opinion of Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Admiral Mayo, the commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, Admiral Dewey, Admiral Fletcher, and other high ranking officials of the service, the experiment marks one of the most important steps yet taken for the creation of an adequate and efficient reserve to back up the regular navy in the event of a national crisis. President Wilson has enthusiastically endorsed the training cruise and hopes, himself, to inspect the ships of the reserve fleet while the "rookies" are on board.

Credit for the success of recruiting 2,500 picked men, representing more than 300 cities and towns in thirty States, must go to a committee of well-known citizens of the Navy Department, which was organized more than four months ago, and given practically all of their time to it. This committee includes former Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Rear Admiral Winthrop, William Butler Dana, George F. Baker, Jr., Thomas W. Slocum, William Greenough, F. H. McDoom, and Paul C. Hammond. The idea of a "naval Platteburg" originated with these men, and when they broached the subject to Secretary Daniels and officers of the service they were told to go ahead and give the assurance that the navy department would back them to the limit.

So the committee started to work. The navy department announced that the maximum enlistment that could be carried for this summer was 2,500, and that for the purpose of the cruise nine battleships of the reserve fleet, two flotillas of submarines and various naval auxiliaries would be assigned to the training fleet. It is to be commanded by Rear Admiral John M. Helm, U. S. N., one of the navy's best known flag officers. The battleships on board of which the "rookies" will go to sea are the Kentucky, Kearsarge, Maine, Illinois, Alabama, Virginia, Rhode Island, Louisiana, and New Jersey, with the Alabama flying the pennant of Admiral Helm.

The New Yorkers and Jerseymen will go on the Kentucky and Maine, the New Englanders on the Virginia, Kearsarge, and Illinois, the Pennsylvanians and the Westerners on the Rhode Island and Alabama, and the Southerners and Southwesterners on the Louisiana and New Jersey. The ports of embarkation are Portland, Boston, Newport, New York, Philadelphia, Norfolk, and Charleston. Immediately following the embarkation on Monday morning all the ships headed for Gardiners Bay, off Greenport, L. I., where by Thursday night the entire fleet will be assembled and ready.

As to the object of the cruise, it is, as officially stated by Secretary Daniels, threefold: First—To help equip properly qualified men to take up their share of the war or national emergency by giving them a course of training on warships under naval officers and naval discipline. Second—To foster a patriotic spirit and love of citizenship some knowledge of the navy and the naval requirements of the country.

The training will include everything from the polishing of brass to the firing of big guns. There will be instruction that takes the "rookie" down into the manholes below the great turret, where he will be shown how to handle shells that weigh more than 50 pounds, and how to get those shells and the great powder charges quickly to the gunners in the turrets above them. The procedure received instruction in gun-pointing; they will be taught how to operate the all-important searchlight to the best advantage; they will learn to wigwag and interpret the signals of the international and naval codes. Those who have had experience in electricity will be given an opportunity to study and master, as far as possible in the limited time at their disposal, the great part that electricity plays in the handling of the modern battleship.

The cruise will take the fleet far out to sea, and from August 20 to August 27 it will take part in the navy department's strategic maneuvers, the main part in which will be played by the superdreadnoughts and first line ships under Admiral Mayo, the commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet. Division drills will be a feature of these exercises, and will afford the "rookies" an opportunity of seeing exactly the procedure followed when America's fleets steam into action. The target practice, in which both moving and stationary target will be used, will take place in Tangier Sound during the first week in September.

During the final week of the training cruise the battleships of the fleet will return to the various naval districts whence they came, and during that week owners of yachts and motor boats will be given an opportunity to operate with the ships, the purpose being to find out exactly what the "mosquito" fleets could do in patrol and offensive and defensive work against submarines in time of war. Seven submarines will be employed in these exercises, which will cover the waters from Delaware Breakwater to a point somewhere in the vicinity of Newport, Sandy Hook being one of the intermediate motor boat bases. Between thirty-five and forty of the finest motor boats in American waters have been entered for this part of the cruise, including August Belmont's Barracuda, Robert T. Roosevelt's Sunbeam II, William Ziegler's Gem, Ralph Pulitzer's Mystery, and Robert H. Ingersoll's Psyche IV.

In these motor boat exercises the small craft will seek out and attempt to destroy—theoretically of course—four of the new submarines of L type, and the underwater vessels of the older B class. They will also work out problems involving the patrol of special areas.

Among the naval officers who have been assigned to instruction work during the coming cruise are Lieutenant-Commander Charles P. Nelson, who commanded the submarine Plunger when Colonel Roosevelt, as president, made his memorable dive off Oyster Bay, Lieut. Commander F. T. Evans, son of "Fighting Bob," Commander Frederick A. Traut, Commander G. E. Geim, Commander W. W. Phelps, Commander J. L. Lattimer, Captain Richard H. Jackson, Commander J. F. Carter, Commander Robert W. Crank, Commander M. M. Taylor, and Commander Louis A. Kaiser.

Admiral Mayo, the commander in chief of the nation's greatest fighting organization, said of the cruise on his flagship, the superdreadnought Wyoming, the other day: "The entire service appreciates the fact that this work expresses public interest in naval training, a desire on the part of those who will participate to do something in preparation for a possible emergency. The cruise will certainly give all who participate an insight into the methods employed in the navy and a knowledge of the service, which will prove of great value. The work can only be considered as a start, and the men who will have this training should be in a position to grasp a great many technical and practical points which will be a great asset should there be a call for their services at any time in the future."

PLAN TO COLLECT METAL FOR WAR

Comprehensive Campaign is Being Carried on in Wichita at This Time

Associated Press Mail Correspondence. Wichita is carrying the most comprehensive campaign for the collection of metal that Vienna has known since the beginning of the war has been ordered. Not only must individuals turn over to the government practically all the metal they possess, but manufacturers, dealers, tin keepers, restaurateurs, bakers, sugar refiners, associations of all kinds, cloisters, hospitals, sanatoria and convalescent homes; bathing resorts, schools and educational institutions, and countless similar organizations are going to have to surrender a large variety of materials.

The list of things that have to be turned in, against payment as determined by the government some times ago, includes: 1—Cooking utensils of all kinds, pots, pans, casseroles, plate, cups, saucers, lamps and similar objects that are made of copper or of metals of which copper is an important component. Only knives, forks and spoons are exempt. 2—Soup greens, pots, sauce and dessert dishes, vegetable containers, etc., made of pure nickel. 3—Kitchen utensils of every sort, iron, cups and lamps made of brass. 4—Wash boilers, water kettles, hearth adjuncts such as tongs, bath tubs and the like made of copper or metal, of which copper is an alloy.

5—Vessels for boiling fruit made of copper or nickel. 6—Boilers or parts of stoves consisting of copper, brass, bronze or tinplate. 7—Weights for scales weighing more than one pound. 8—Curtain rods and rig or carpet holders and such other rods used in the ordinary household as are easily removed and are made of brass. Manufacturers of and dealers in any of the articles above enumerated are required for the time being to turn over only one-third of their supply on hand, reckoned by weight rather than value. All other possessors of metal are required to turn over everything they own, unless they can prove to a commission already in existence that this or that article is indispensable. Heavy penalties are provided for those who conceal anything.

No less than 91 commissions for receiving metal articles have been created to handle the arduous task of collecting all the available metal in Vienna. Up to the beginning of the compulsory surrender of metals, voluntary surrenders will be received as they are made. After that the city will specify days of surrender for all persons with names beginning with the letters A, B, etc. At the conclusion of the surrender, the city will be granted a one day leeway during which delinquents can explain why they have not turned in their possessions.

In case the owner of metal utensils subject to surrender cannot afford in advance to purchase substitutes, they will be purchased for him and their price deducted from the amount allowed him for his copper or nickel. If the latter is less than the cost of new material, the city will bear the difference unless the utensils he turns in are not in usable condition.

TROPICAL STORM DAMAGE ON COAST

and the camps were flooded. The troops spent the night in town. There were no injuries. The Illinois camp around Brownsville suffered most due to the fact that the guardmen had framed tents. At the height of the storm General James Parker, the veteran cavalry commander and his aide rode through every camp making a tour of inspection. They found several camps leveled to the earth, acres and acres of fallen tents, nine warehouses destroyed and a sea of mud and water.

Nearly all of the Iowa men stuck to their camps and this was also true of the New York guardmen at McAllen, although according to a message from Harlingen the latter lost most of their tents. There was no material damage in the Rio Grande valley would diminish its intensity during the next 36 hours. The wind reached a maximum velocity of 60 miles an hour. Five inches of rain fell in 12 hours.

Brownsville still was without telegraph communication at noon. Trains were reported from 12 to 18 hours late.

AD STORM WIND REACHES VELOCITY OF 68 MILES AN HOUR

By Associated Press. Weather bureau reports today indicated that the West Indian storm which has passed inland from the Gulf over the lower Rio Grande valley would diminish its intensity during the next 36 hours. The wind reached a maximum velocity of 68 miles an hour last night at San Antonio. The bureau had no reports from Brownsville and Corpus Christi, the nearest points to the storm center.

COULD NOT DISCERN OBJECTS SEVEN MILES

By Associated Press. Portland, Texas, Aug. 19, via telephone to Sinton and Dallas. Linemen repairing telephone and telegraph lines destroyed in last night's tropical storm reached the shore of Corpus Christi Bay at 11 o'clock this morning but on account of bad weather could not discern objects in the storm swept city seven miles distant. It appeared from the bay that the Corpus Christi causeway a mile and a quarter long, had been damaged by the storm, as well as the San Antonio & Aransas Pass railroad trestle paralleling the causeway. The extent of the damage could not be learned.

These linemen had strung a temporary wire from Sinton and at noon were proceeding across the bay in the boat, attaching the wires to rats and floating wreckage.

NO MATERIAL DAMAGE REPORTED FROM FREEPORT

By Associated Press. Freeport, Texas, Aug. 19.—Although

high tides and a heavy east gale prevailed here yesterday and last night, there was no material damage from the tropical storm. All large crafts were towed up the Brazos river, including the government's dredges and no damage to shipping resulted.

SKIDMORE REPORTS GREAT DAMAGE TO PROPERTY

By Associated Press. Houston, Texas, Aug. 19.—The Methodist church at Skidmore, many barns and about all the windmills in the surrounding country were blown down according to a long distance telephone call from that section today. Skidmore, reached by wire this morning, reported the electric light plant crippled, hotels badly damaged and all the cotton crop in that section ruined by the gale and a terrific downpour.

FEARS ARE FELT FOR SAFETY OF STEAMER

By Associated Press. Galveston, Texas, Aug. 19.—Fears are felt here today for the safety of the Gulf coast, Fruit & Steamship company's steamer, Fort Morgan, which was due here yesterday morning from Puerto Mexico, with a cargo of bananas. The Fort Morgan carries a crew of 23 men. She is not equipped with wireless. It is feared that the vessel was caught in the tropical storm in the Gulf.

TENTS AT BROWNSVILLE ARE AGAIN IN POSITION

By Associated Press. San Antonio, Texas, August 19.—A wireless to Fort San Houston tonight from General James Parker at Brownsville said the total damage to national guard camps will not exceed from $5,000 to $10,000. General Parker said the spirit of the men was good and that practically all the tents were in position again.

REPORT FISHING INDUSTRY SUSTAINS HEAVY LOSS

By Associated Press. Victoria, Texas, Aug. 19.—Arrivals here from Port Lavaca, Port O'Connor and Seadrift, neighboring coast towns, say that final investigation discloses no loss of life at those points in last night's hurricane. At Port Lavaca many fishing boats were blown ashore and all the fish houses were battered down, causing heavy losses to the fish and oyster industry.

MUCH DAMAGE RESULTS TO PROPERTY AT KINGSVILLE

By Associated Press. Houston, Texas, Aug. 19.—The first word to reach Houston out of Kingsville near the storm center was by dispatch carried to the nearest telegraph station and sent to the Chronicle. This dispatch says the Casa Ricardo hotel at Kingsville was damaged and many small windows blown down. The passenger station, the Gulf Coast line roundhouse and shops were unroofed. The car sheds were demolished and the general office damaged.

Officials of the Gulf Coast line report nearly every telegraph pole between Sinton and San Benito has been blown down.

Walter Smith and Others Bring in 25 Barrel Producers on Mrs. Powell Farm.

Special to The Times. Burkburnett, Texas, Aug. 19.—Walker Smith and others brought in a well on Mrs. Powell's farm one and a half miles south of Burkburnett today that is believed to be good for 25 barrels a day. Oliver and Butler of Muskogee, Oklahoma, have made a location at the edge of the town of Handlett, Oklahoma, and are moving materials for the derrick.

SCOUTS TO HIKE UP WICHITA RIVER TUESDAY

Tuesday morning at 5:30 the Boy Scout patrol will start from the scout hall for a hike up the Wichita river, and a day and night camp, all scouts desiring to make the trip being invited. On this hike features will be arranged for those scouts who wish to take the second class tests, including building a fire without matches, tracking an animal half a mile in 25 minutes, first aid, practice in the Morse signaling code and cooking an ordinary meal without cooking utensils.

PICNIC AT NOBLE LAKE SATURDAY EVENING

The Noble and Henderson lake, a short distance from town was made the objective point of a picnic party motoring from the city Saturday evening. The crowd was chaperoned by Mrs. T. B. Noble, Mrs. G. D. Anderson and Mrs. E. O. Maer and included a number of the younger society folk.

U. S. MEDIATION BOARD HAS EXCELLENT RECORD

Washington, Aug. 19.—The United States board of mediation and conciliation, which has just been called upon to prevent a national railroad strike, has a record for the three years of its existence. It has been successful in forty-seven labor disputes, settling 39 by mediation and 8 by arbitration.

INQUIRY FOR AN AUTO ADVERTISED 15 YEARS AGO

From Hearne, Texas, there recently arrived at the factory an inquiry for one of the original curved dash Oldsmobile runabouts, in response to a series of advertisements run in 1901—the first automobile advertisements ever printed.

HAS MEXICAN PLOT STARTED IN DALLAS?

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 19.—Called the "chance" of detecting and invited to employ his telegraphic and clairvoyant powers in solving the riddle of Mexico and to join a conspiracy to wrest from the country the rule of its various factional chiefs, so as to restore law and liberty, is the distinction paid by an anonymous writer by a letter received late yesterday by Mercedes by a vaudeville performer, appearing at the Majestic Theatre.

WILLS OF MR. AND MRS. YEOMAN MAY CONFLICT

Laston, Aug. 19.—The will of both Joseph Yeoman and his wife, Irene Yeoman who met tragic death July 30, have been filed in probate court and August 21 is the date set for the hearing. Mrs. Irene Yeoman shot and killed her husband and then killed herself, according to the finding of the coroner at an inquest.

PROTTESTING THE SPLITTING OF THE SPOILS

Which will take precedence has not been decided. The question may arise, which one actually died first. The Yeoman estate includes eight farms and is valued at $35,000.

FIRST SALE RECEIVED AT VERNON THIS WEEK

Vernon, Texas, Aug. 19.—W. F. Garrett, living on the A. Allison place six miles north of Vernon, brought in the premium bale of cotton yesterday and sold it to the Lather Webb Cotton Company for fourteen cents per pound. The bale was of standard weight, 418 pounds, and is likely a record breaker in point of date for Wilbarger county. A premium purse is being raised among the business men of the town. The Farmers Union Gin, under the management of A. J. McNeill, ginned the bale and through the best information obtainable it breaks the record by two days for the first bale in this county. In August, 1915 and 1916, the first bale was ginned on the 15th, two days later than this year.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Pennington returned last night from New York, where they have been buying stock for the Pennington store.

J. L. Art left last night to join his family in Colorado.

HOLLANDER FUNERAL TO BE HELD MONDAY MORNING

The funeral of T. C. Hollander, who was killed Friday night, will be held tomorrow morning at the Hines & Saylor chapel. Ensign Robb of the Salvation Army will conduct the services.

BRITISH AND TURKS ENGAGED IN BATTLE

By Associated Press. London, August, 19.—Renewal of fighting in Mesopotamia in which the British were engaged with Turkish irregulars is reported in an official statement today. The statement says 60 Turks were killed and a large number wounded. The British, assisted by friendly tribesmen, made a raid on irregular forces which had attempted to interfere with British reconnoitering steamships in the Euphrates.

FRONT AND QUAKES

In the annual lists of earthquakes registered at the Harvard seismographic station occasional shocks occurring in winter are noted as due to "frost cracks," i. e., the sudden opening of fissures in the ground resulting from freezing. Professor Woodworth, director of the station, states that the late Professor Gialer, in one of his lectures, mentioned the occurrence of a sensible shock at Cambridge, some forty years ago, which he traced to a crack in the frozen ground. An apparent earthquake near Akron, O., probably due to a frost crack, was described in the American Geologist, while another, which caused a mild panic at Attleboro, Mass., was reported in the Attleboro Sun of January 13, 1903. Professor Woodworth says that "this idea of frost cracks is very widespread in New England as an explanation of many small shocks coming at a time when the frozen ground is known to have cracked open."

THE SPLIT WAS WILLING

Pretty Sounding Flute, a young Sioux in a government school, who given this text to turn into similar language expressing the same thought: "The split indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak." The teacher's explanation, she believed had been elaborated. Pretty Sounding Flute had seemed at attention. After laboring half an hour he walked up to the teacher's desk and proudly deposited his paper, which bore the startling legend: "The shoe is sure agreeable, but the meat is rotten."

QUANAH HAS RECEIVED FIRST SALE OF COTTON

Quanah, Aug. 19.—The first of this crop of cotton came to town from the farm of J. W. Magee at Lazare. It weighed 1550 lbs in the seed and was taken in the Farmers gin. It will not be ginned until Friday, and possibly not until Monday when Mr. Magee expects to have another bale. Two more bales are expected this afternoon or tomorrow morning. Last year, 1915, the first bale was

CONSIDER PLANS THAT WILL HELP THE FARMER Frederick, Okla., Aug. 19.—First aid to Tillman county agriculture was the gist of discussion at a meeting of the board of directors of the Tillman County Better Live Stock and Seed association, at the courthouse in Frederick Thursday afternoon. This meeting had been suggested by the county agent to outline a definite plan for work in improving present conditions. Most of the members of the board were present as were also other members of the association, together with Frisco farm demonstrators, J. E. Payne of Snyder, and E. G. Barnard of Enid. It was agreed that the problem of pasture and sure feed should be the first subjects to receive consideration and a committee consisting of Frank

H. Lawrence of Grandfield, J. J. B. Swartz of Manitou, and Edgar Mullens of Frederick were appointed to arrange a program for the next regular meeting of the association, which comes September 14. In the discussions some interesting facts about sweet clover, winter barley, pit silos and their possibilities were brought out and will probably occupy a place on program at the next meeting. The question of holding a live stock show in Frederick some time this fall was discussed and deferred. Several of the farmers and business men agreed to attend the county agents' meeting at Medicine Park on August 16, 17 and 18, combining business with recreation. There is every indication among all forces of cooperation for the purpose of bettering conditions and some real constructive work is expected.

SHORTAGE IN FUEL OIL IS FORECASTEL Dallas, Tex., Aug. 18.—With the supply of fuel gas to be shut off on October 1, a forecast of a shortage in the supply of fuel oil is indicated. Three of seven bidders on a year's contract for oil for Dallas county made no bid on fuel oil. The representative of one company omitting a bid on fuel oil said that none was made by his company because they were contracted up for their supply. Bids were asked on fuel oil, road oil and lubricating oils. Gasoline prices also were quoted by some of the bidders in each instance 2c below schedule price at date of delivery was offered. One added the provision that 10c should be the minimum. Hope against hope, and ask till you receive.—Montgomery.

CHINESE CABINET IS REPRESENTATIVE

Contains Members of All Political Parties But Does Not Appeal Strongly. Associated Press Mail Correspondence. Peking, Aug. 19.—Tsun Chi-ju's new cabinet represents practically all political parties in China, as well as geographical divisions. But it does not seem to appeal very strongly to any of the political parties, and predictions are general that the new cabinet will not last for many months. Tang Shao-yi, the new minister of foreign affairs, and several of the other members of the cabinet will not be able to come to Peking for some time. Political conditions here are still very much unsettled, and probably will be for many months. It is not anticipated that the reconvening on August 1 of the parliament which Yuan Shi-kai disbanded, will immediately bring about a solution of the political difficulties. Representatives of the various prominent political leaders of the south who dare not come to Peking at this time have gathered in the capital, and others are coming daily. Scores of members of the old parliament are already in Peking engaging in political controversies. About two hundred other members of the old parliament are gathered at Shanghai, where they are meeting informally and keeping in touch with the situation at the capital. Hsu Shi-hyng, the new minister of the interior, was a judge under the Tsing dynasty, and rose to the rank of minister of justice in the early days of the republic. He was forced to resign this position, and later became governor of Fukien province, a post which he held until the outbreak of hostilities in the present revolution. Chang Kuo-san, the new minister of commerce and agriculture, was a member of the state council under Yuan Shi-kai, and was intimately connected with the monarchical movement. Sung Hung-yi, the new minister of education, has been a prominent politician most of his life. He took strong position in opposition to Yuan Shi-kai's monarchical movement, and did able work for the republican cause at Shanghai. 'Chang Yao-tse, who becomes minister of justice in the new cabinet, is a graduate of a Japanese university and a member of the parliament which Yuan Shi-kai disbanded. FALL STYLE SHOW IN PREPARATION

Annual Event Will Be Held After September 15 According to Plans of Merchants

Some time after the fifteenth of September Wichita Falls Annual Fall Style Show will be held; that is the opinion of all the merchants, though no formal steps toward the decision of the date have been taken.

A decidedly reassuring statement and one comforting to the Wichita Falls pocketbook was made by Miss Maude Carnes, who has just returned from a trip to the eastern markets.

Stolen Watch is Recovered After Twenty-Seven Years

Dallas, Aug. 19.—Dr. Martin E. Taber, Dallas specialist, has recovered a small silver watch, highly prized as a keepsake, as it was the first watch he ever owned, as a result of a peculiar chain of circumstances.

Twenty-seven years ago, June 7, 1889, Dr. Taber acquired his first pair of long trousers. At the time, his father gave him a small silver watch, and on the inside cover he had inscribed the words, "From Father to Martin E. Taber," with the date.

According to Dr. Taber, he owned the watch about three days, when a thief entered his home and stole the long trousers and their entire contents. The trousers were recovered, rifled of the watch and other possessions, several blocks away, in a neighbor's front yard. The watch was not recovered.

Yesterday Dr. Taber received a letter from R. A. Hanrick of Waco, Texas, telling him that he had the watch, and would return it to him. The letter tells an interesting story of how Mr. Hanrick came into possession of the timepiece.

His step-grandfather, A. J. Leslie, was one of the pioneer watchmakers in Texas, and lived at Waco. He acquired the watch, just how is not known, soon after it was lost by its original owner. Mr. Hanrick supposed that it was left either as pledge or to be repaired, at his grandfather's shop, and was never called for.

Taber, but he is highly gratified at the opportunity to recover the first watch that he ever owned.

GUARDSMEN MAY ATTEND SCHOOL

Will Discharge Those Who Show a Purpose to Enter School for This Term

Austin, Tex., Aug. 19.—It is expected that a number of former students of the University of Texas who are members of the National Guard will resume their studies next month. In a recent letter to President R. E. Vinson of the University, Captain Fitzhugh Lee specified the procedure of discharge as follows: "Your letter to General Finston of August 10 just received. The general wishes me to say that all members of the National Guard mustered into the service of the United States, who can show a bona fide intention of entering or returning to colleges or schools at the beginning of the fall term in 1916, will be discharged, unless the military situation at the time indicates shall be such as to render their retention in the service necessary. Therefore, if the soldier in question desires his discharge for the purpose indicated, he should make application through his immediate commanding officer, such application to be accompanied by his own affidavit and that of a parent or guardian setting forth his intention of entering a school or college."

NATIONAL GUARD NEEDS THREE MONTHS TRAINING

El Paso, Texas, Aug. 19.—"After three months' hard training in mobilization camps and on the border is the national guard yet reasonably ready and fit to march out to the defense of their country if the need arises?"

To nearly fifty officers of the regular army this question has been put in the last week, included in the list of officers questioned was one general, a dozen colonels and majors and a score of captains and lieutenants. Some of these have made a close study of the training of the militia. From each officer came the answer "No." "It would take at least six months to prepare the national guard for a campaign in Mexico," said one high military official. "By that I mean it would take at least six months of intensive training in, to prepare the militia physically and mentally discipline so they could take care of themselves in the field. You can not put a uniform on a man and a gun in his hands and make him a good soldier."

Another officer declared he would hesitate to put soldiers of the national guard against well-trained soldiers, such as put in the field by European nations, with less than eighteen months of the hardest training.

ELECTRA TO HAVE BASEBALL CARNIVAL

Second Annual Tournament To Be Held Five Days This Week

Electra, Tex., Aug. 19.—Electra's second annual baseball tournament is scheduled to start here Tuesday afternoon and will last for five days. In last year's event six teams were represented and Electra copped the hunting over the entire field, which represented an aggregation of 18 best teams that the Panhandle could afford. This year will offer much better series, because of the fact that baseball has become more popular in all western towns and a better class of players are in evidence on every team. Among the players in the various clubs are league ball players from all parts of the country. Electra has had many good games here this season but the series will be a fitting climax to all previous events because Electra merchants are offering two prizes to the winning teams, one of $100 and the other of $50, and the clubs represent a loser will get $25 as second money, a strong aggregation for the flag and purse. Tuesday's game will be between Wichita Falls and Burkburnett. Wednesday's game will be between Electra and Petrolia. Thursday's game will be between Lawton and Apache, Okla. On Friday two of the winners will play and on Saturday the remaining undefeated team will play the winner of Friday's game for the championship. The winner of Saturday's game will receive $100 as a prize and the loser will get $50 as second money.

FEEDING DAIRY COWS SUBJECT OF BULLETIN

One of the most common mistakes in the feeding of dairy cows on the farm is that the good cows are not given a sufficient quantity of feed above that required for their physical maintenance to obtain the maximum quantity of milk they are capable of producing.

Practically all heavy milk producers lose weight in the early part of their lactation period; that is, they produce milk at the expense of their body flesh. When such cows approach the end of their milking period they normally regain the flesh they have lost, and the farmer can well afford to feed them liberally, with the assurance that he will be repaid in the form of milk when the cows again freshen.

Pasture is the natural feed for cows, and for average conditions, with ample pasture of good grasses or legumes in good, succulent condition, good production can be secured.

ODELL PRAISES SEN. CULBERSON

MAKES STRONG APPEAL FOR HIS RE-ELECTION TO UNITED STATES SENATE.

COLQUITT IS SCORED

Speaker is Introduced by Judge Carrigan, Who Refers to Condition of Senator's Health.

A crowd of several hundred persons attended the Culbertson rally Friday night at the Wichita Theatre and heard a very forceful address by Hon. D. W. Odell of Cleburne, who presented numerous reasons why Senator Culbertson should receive support at the polls August 28.

The crowd appeared entirely in sympathy with the speaker and was hearty in expression of approval and did not allow an effort to perfect a permanent organization was made at this time, but many who had not so far had an opportunity of signing the rolls of the Wichita County Culbertson Club availed themselves of that opportunity at the close of the meeting, thus swelling the number of Wichita countians who are pledged to vote and work for Culbertson to more than a thousand.

Judge A. H. Carrigan presided over the meeting and introduced Mr. Odell. Mayor A. H. Britton, who was scheduled to preside over the meeting was unavoidably detained and did not arrive until about five minutes after the speaking had started, taking a seat with the audience where he maintained an interested listener to Mr. Odell.

Mr. Odell did not waste any time sparring, but struck a home blow with his opening words, saying, "I would be my fellow citizens a dire calamity to elect Oscar B. Colquitt to the United States Senate. With that as a beginning the speaker proceeded to get "warm" riddling Colquitt's issues with clear and ringing arguments that struck home mingled with better irony, sarcasm and downright ridicule.

"At the recent prosecution of the brewers at Sulphur Springs," the speaker declared, "evidence was given that they had raised a fund of $5,000 on Colquitt's going out of the governor's office to set them up in any kind of business. When Charles Culbertson went out of the governor's office he did not raise any fund to set him up in any kind of business. He had done nothing for them calling for such as that. It has been said on better authority than either Colquitt or Culbertson, that truly the ox knoweth his manger's crib. It might further be said as a corollary to that that the rascal's master put food in his ox's crib."

The speaker discussed at some length the principal issue of the campaign, Colquitt's anti-Wilson interference. He told them that it has recently been read for the third time into the Congressional Record by a republican that it might be a study of other voters through that medium. How on a thousand ramps and in the columns of the entire republican press it is being circulated as a campaign argument by the republicans, and that the fact that Colquitt outstripped his opponents in the late primary is being held up by the republicans throughout the country as an indication that the Wilson administration has been repudiated by Texas democracy. No greater blow could be struck at the democracy of the nation, said the speaker, than to elect this man to the Senate. As an instance of the use that is being made of Colquitt's speech, he mentioned the fact that in the current issue of Leslie's Weekly, which he characterized as "for over fifty years the outstanding champion of protection and the interests" quoted at length Colquitt's declaration that the great anti-trust laws were "bare faced fakery" and spoke of his personal acquaintance of Woodrow Wilson. He spoke of Colquitt's declaration that the foreign policy of the administration was "imbecile" and that it kept this country out of the great holocaust that is now raging in Europe, with the honor and dignity of the nation unimpaired and without the expenditure of a single brave life, the widow of a single wife, or the orphaning of a single child.

"At the time when the president, without thought of himself or his future, was bending all his energies toward the keeping of the nation out of war, this little man who says that he has directed the policies of the administration for the past two or three years, was putting every ounce of his strength into a campaign to protect the border when he sent a thousand boys under arms and under munitions down to guard the border from Brownsville to El Paso, hardly one to the mills about the only thing that the country has as a fording an excellent opportunity for involving this nation with war with Mexico at a time when foreign crises were coming thick and fast. He even criticized the administration for not allowing European nations to send expeditions into Mexico, a thing that has been repugnant to the spirit of the American people since the days of Monroe.

"He likewise ridiculed the federal reserve act which now he says saved the farmer."

Senator Odell spoke of Colquitt's claim that he came to the aid of farmers and cotton growers at the time of the unsettled conditions following the outbreak of the European war. What he really proposed at a special session of the legislature called at an expense of millions, was a wild cat scheme for a state bank, utilizing the school funds which are a sacred heritage for the children of Texas, and which was rightfully and indignantly turned down by the legislature.

Colquitt claims that we who are denouncing him for his interview are opponents of free speech. We are not denouncing him for freely speaking his mind. What we do want, though, is, if he is going to say those things, it be in open support of the republican doctrine that he advocates and not clandestinely as a member of the democratic party. No man could have given out that interview and remained within the pale of democracy.

Quite a little time was devoted to the discussion of the labor records of the two men, especially the record of Colquitt. After telling how the legislative committees of the labor organizations at the close of his term as governor reported that he stood squarely opposed to everything advocated in the name of union labor, the speaker recalled how Colquitt had even vetoed a simple resolution by the legislature which merely invited the International Typographical Union to hold its convention within the borders of Texas. On the other hand, he told of the statement of Samuel Gompers who said that truth compelled him to state that Senator Culbertson has always been a friend of union labor that his heart had always been in sympathy with the laboring man, and he had always been ready to spring to the defense of the working man's rights. Senator Odell then reviewed the labor measures that had the support of Senator Culbertson throughout his career culminating in his fight before the judiciary committee of the Senate which prevented the labor of human beings classed as a commodity to be bought and sold in a market.

Mr. Odell said that while he was opposed to the principle of the child labor law, he did not fail to support the Senator Culbertson for his vote for that measure, thinking that if the sacred doctrine of state's rights, as he interpreted them, were ever to be put in the least degree, he did not know any better occasion than in a law preventing the blighting of the lives of little children. He said that he had dodged the issue as Colquitt had done, but had stayed at the post of duty to which he was elected and voted his conscientious vote for the measure in Texas and talking potshots around over the country. Colquitt had not mentioned the matter until Culbertson, who had been elected against it, he ventured the assertion that Colquitt would have favored it. Culbertson, he said, stood for all that is good in government and Colquitt for all that is bad.

Senator Odell finds fault in the matter of Culbertson's health. Colquitt had experienced a remarkable change of heart. "A few days before the first primary to be more exact, on July 20, at Elgin, when advocating his claims in opposition to those of Henry, Colquitt said, 'One of my opponents is claiming your support because he says the present senator is sick. That man has served you ably and well in the Senate for eighteen years. I am not seeking your vote because Charles Culbertson is sick.' The speaker then went on to show from the statements of numbers of reputable men who had seen Senator Culbertson that while probably not able to engage in a physical contest or to run a foot race, or come to Texas and undergo the heat and stress of an arduous political campaign in the awful summer which we have gone through, his brilliant mind, which has established his reputation as one of the greatest constitutional lawyers who has ever served in the Senate and made him a leader who is a power on the democratic side and looked up to and listened to by the republicans is still as clear and active as ever. Among those mentioned as testifying to Senator Culbertson's good health was Judge Carrigan, who told them how he signed the senator on his recent visit to the capitol. He also mentioned instances of the loyalty of the voters of other states to their senators who really were sick by continuing them in office after careers of years of faithful service.

"When the great Ben Tillman was so weak that he was able to barely grasp a pencil and scribble a message to the chivalrous democracy of South Carolina asking them to let his die in harness, they did not go back on him, and they were rewarded by his restoration to health and the continuation of his great and invaluable service to them. Neither did Georgia turn her back on the immortal Alexander H. Stephens when he was so weak that he had to be rolled into the Senate in a wheeled chair and his eloquence continued to thrill the Senate even when he was so weak that he could not raise his head."

"Colquitt is devoting about a fourth of his time in illustrating his leadership by telling the people how he refused to back the station agent's show when he was a boy at Pittsburg. I venture to say that there were fifty thousand boys in Texas who would not only have refused to back the station agent's show, but would have given him a kicking in the bargain. Is this any reason for sending a man to the Senate?"

"Another fourth of his time is being devoted to telling them how he advocated the 9:30 closing law in North Texas he tells it to show what good prohibitionist leaning he has by his standing for the regulation of the saloons. In South Texas he tells them that he stood for it because if he had not the People of North Texas would have had them closing at 10 o'clock."

The speaker wound up his speech by a short recapitulation of Culbertson's record of public service extending over 26 years which has been such that none of his opponents in either primary had so much as picked a single flaw in it. He warned them again that the sending of Colquitt to the United States Senate would be such a blow as to probably cause the defeat of the second democratic administration since the Civil War. In closing he earnestly urged his hearers to by no means fail to come out to vote, warning them that the aliens who looked to the Kaiser across the sea for one kind of government, and to Colquitt in this country for the same, the mid men between the Chinese, and the Mexicans of Southwest Texas, with the rest of the Colquitt supporters would not fail to come to the polls on election day.

The speaker was briefly introduced by Judge A. H. Carrigan. In introducing the speaker Judge Carrigan said that he had voted against Culbertson in the first primary, a thing of which he was now heartily ashamed. However, he stated that he was suffering under delusions created by the lies and slanders about the state of the senator's health that had been

This Overland is the world's most powerful low-priced car.

It has a 31 1/2 horsepower en bloc motor that is a perfect marvel for speed, power and endurance.

By increasing the bore of the motor from 3 1/4 to 3 3/4 we are able to offer a power plant which at 1950 R. P. M. develops full 31 1/2 horsepower.

Tests under every condition in all parts of the country demonstrate that it easily develops better than fifty miles per hour on the road.

Speed of course varies under different conditions, but in practically every instance it has been getting fifty miles an hour and with ease.

We have scores of telegrams showing that twenty to twenty-five miles per gallon of gasoline is not unusual. The performance of this car is almost beyond belief.

Take any other low-priced car on the market. Pit it against this new Overland. Compare them for sheer speed, for abundance of power, for riding comfort and economy, and you'll find this car will back anything else clean off the boards.

That's a strong statement, but a fact nevertheless.

Try it yourself and see. Here are more important facts.

It has four-inch tires which are more than generous for a car of this size.

Not only has it a large and roomy body, but it has an attractive, up-to-date streamline body.

It has the latest and most improved system of ignition.

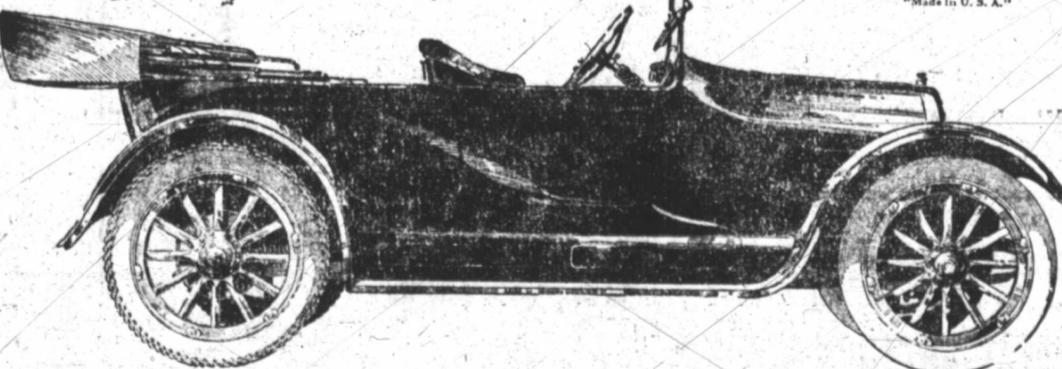

It has the cantilever springs—the "easiest" riding springs in the world.

What's more, it's complete. Not a thing to buy. You get the finest Auto-Lite electric starting and lighting system, magnetic speedometer, one-man top, demountable rims and practically every accessory found on the highest priced cars.

It only goes to prove how big production can cut cost and save you money. First come, first served. Place your order now.

FIRE DESTROYS CAFE OF HOMICIDE VICTIM

Small Restaurant Owned by T. C. Hollinger, Killed Friday, is Burned Saturday.

The Texas Cafe, corner Sixth and Indiana, owned by T. C. Hollinger, who was killed by Ed Williams at the Newport-Bar late-Friday, burned out about 2 o'clock Saturday morning. The fire is supposed to have originated in a barber shop which occupied a room in the same building with the cafe, practically destroying the contents of both rooms and causing a loss of about $100 which is not believed to have been covered by insurance.

The fire department did some good work in saving the buildings in which the cafe and the barber shop were located.

The building stood on the grounds of the Texas wagon yard and was owned by Kemp and Kell. It is not known whether there was any insurance or not, but the damage to the building was nominal.

state that the man who broke the dream of isolation that Japan has slumbered in for 300 years was Commodore M. C. Perry, but in fact it was Nicholas Lezanski, the Russian Envoy, who in 1853 awakened the Japanese Empire from her long sleep. Thus, fifty years before the American Envoy came we were awakened by Russia.

Officials at the Japanese Embassy in Washington were quoted as saying that the article was not "inspired by the government." It is suspected, however, that the government's desire to be on as friendly terms as possible with Russia, following the signing of the new Russo-Japanese treaty, is not wholly to be overlooked in placing the responsibility for its publication.

New York received the news of Japan's rediscovery with something of a sniff.

As for Perry, any history shows that he did wake them up; and it is the one that did the business, and not the one who tried to, that ought to get the credit.

The best Japanese authority available at the New York public library seemed to agree with Mr. Hepburn. "In 1786," said Hisho Saito, who once wrote a story of his native land, "Russians who had already taken possession of the whole of Siberia conquered the small island of Ezo which belonged to Japan. In 1803 they burned a village near Nagasaki."

Legal Notices

THE STATE OF TEXAS To the sheriff or any constable of Wichita county, greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon to court the following named parties by making publication of this citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county to appear at the next regular term of the 78th district court of Wichita county, to be held at the court house abstract in Wichita Falls, Texas on the 1st Monday in September, A. D. 1916, the same being the 4th day of September, A. D. 1916, and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 10th day of August, A. D. 1916 in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 611, wherein Anna McCammon is plaintiff and Jay W. McCammon Jr. is defendant, and said petition alleging that plaintiff was lawfully married to defendant May 14th, 1916 and lived together as husband and wife until about May 25th, 1916 since which time they have lived wholly separate and apart, cohabiting the same time they lived together, plaintiff was a dutiful and affectionate wife and performed the duties imposed upon her by the marriage relation to the best of her ability, etc. That since said marriage defendant has adopted and maintained a dissolute and dissipated life, such as to render their further living together insupportable. That within three days of their marriage, defendant began to drink heavily and would come home often in a highly intoxicated state and would alarm plaintiff and on two or three occasions would stay out all night carousing and gambling and would make unreasonable demands upon plaintiff, etc. That the defendant has defendant left plaintiff, without funds and went out of the state. That during all of their marriage career, defendant failed and refused to provide for her and has never contributed anything to her support. That because of the above facts she is entitled to a divorce and the tender does defendant and her maiden name restored.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays for services to defend and obtain for her absolute divorce from defendant, cost of suit and her maiden name restored, etc.

In witness whereof, I, the undersigned, do hereby certify and file this petition in said court, at the office of the clerk of said court, in Wichita Falls, Texas, this 10th day of August, A. D. 1916.

"NEER DO WELL" AT WICHITA THEATRE SOON

The film version of Rex Beach's "The Neer Do Well" will be shown at the Wichita Theatre. The picture was produced by the Selig Polyscope Co. and is one of the most remarkable moving pictures ever staged. Although it takes fully two and one half hours to run, it is so gripping and so thrilling that it does not without detriment to the continuity of the picture. The acts are swift and full of incident, the exciting episodes numerous, and the tension does not let down in between times, as is the case with most pictures that we see on the screen. A large cast of characters, including Kathlyn Williams and Wheeler Oakman and the entire company which made "The Spoilers" famous, in order to establish realistic atmosphere, the entire company spent several months in Panama, and the result has proved well worth the trouble and expense. The acting is superb, and at all times there is the interest of a strange country, people and customs.

EMPRESS WEDNESDAY FEATURE "SAINTS AND SINNERS"

Miss Peggy Hyland, the beautiful and talented little English actress, whose recent arrival in America to appear exclusively on the screen, is under the management of the Famous Players Film Co. has created considerable newspaper comment, makes her debut in a most unique and thrilling picture, "Saints and Sinners." This current production is a masterpiece of dramatic art, and will be shown at the Empress Wednesday. It is a matter of odd interest that Miss Hyland who has distinguished herself abroad in the stellar roles of many stage successes, should appear in her first American screen offering in an Englishman's play, and a dramatic masterpiece that won its triumph in Europe, repeating its stage triumph later in the United States. Miss Hyland, in the leading role of Lily Fletcher, the only daughter of the Minister of Steepford, went with a selected cast of Famous Players, headed by Director J. G. Kirkwood to the city of Steepford, in Florida for the purpose of filming this superb drama.

Billie Burke Feature at Wichita Theatre

Manager Sol Dan of the Wichita theatre has arranged to offer his patrons the great new motion picture, "Florida Romance," in which Billie Burke, famous star of the speaking stage, has been engaged at a salary of $4,000 per week to play the leading role. The story is from the pen of Mr. and Mrs. George Hughes, authors of innumerable novels, and is said to be a society romance with scenes laid at Palm Beach, Fla., and in the homes of the wealthy along Riverside Drive, New York city. Manager Dan states that the cost of the film is considerably above what he ordinarily has to pay for film service, but he feels that the attraction is in every respect so excellent that it is well worth the higher price.

SMALL DAIRIES PROTESTING ONES

Claimed by Some That Ordinance Will Drive Them Out of Business.

It appears that it is the small dairymen who are meeting at the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow afternoon to perfect an organization to fight the new milk ordinance, soon to go into effect. Their objection to the ordinance is, as they claim, that the ordinance will involve such an expense that it will force the small men out of business. One of these men, in talking of the matter to a Times reporter yesterday afternoon, said that to comply with the ordinance he would have to build milking sheds, for the ordinance requires milking indoors, would have to whitewash his milking sheds and other buildings and have to screen the buildings. He says that he is a dairymen only in a small way, in a rented shed, and as his landlord will not make those improvements on the place he can not afford to make them.

Just what means the dairymen have in mind for fighting the ordinance remains unknown, although it is said that the validity of the ordinance will be attacked in court. Definite announcement of their plans are expected to be forthcoming after their meeting tomorrow afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, where a permanent organization will be effected.

All the larger dairymen, it is said, are making arrangements to comply with the ordinance. The little men charge that it is not on account of their not wanting to comply with the ordinance, but because they think that there will be such an expense in complying with the ordinance as to force the little dairymen out of business and thus relieve them from that competition.

In this connection G. H. Weakly, one of the smaller dairymen, has asked the Times to correct a rumor that has in some way gotten into circulation, that he is leading the movement on the part of the smaller dairymen. Mr. Weakly says that this is not so.

He stated that he was against some features of the new ordinance because he thinks that it will entail a prohibitive and unnecessary expense on his part, and that he will continue in opposition to the ordinance, but at the same time he has no fight to make on the city and is not making any.

MAKE RESERVATIONS NOW FOR VAUDEVILLE SEASON

Season reservations for the vaudeville attractions to be presented at the Wichita Theatre, starting September 5, can be applied for by calling on or addressing Sol Dan, manager beginning tomorrow morning. The coming season will see many new and novel features heretofore presented only in the larger cities of the east and west. Wichita Falls is now on the Orpheum tour and will play the same programs that is offered in Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio.

Every act brought here is of the headline variety and the names are celebrated in the vaudeville world. While the list of acts who appear here the first week have not been announced as yet, Manager Sol Dan has the assurance from a New York bookings office that the show will be the greatest ever sent to Texas.

An early headliner to appear here is George Howell & Company, who this week is entertaining audiences in Dallas and is said to be the laughing hit of a seven all star act bill. Mr. Howell & Company present a comedy sketch called "The Red Fox Trot" and tells the story of an old man who is avers to the modern dances. The situations are, indeed, humorous and during the rendition of the plot, many thrills are introduced. "Mercedes," the musical, is also billed for an early appearance at the Wichita Theatre, likewise Houtz and Emma Carus, Rooney & Cantwell & Walker, the Bride Shop, Those Five Girls, the Red Heads, on the School Playground, Avon Comedy Four, Jan Rubin, Kosloff and the Laughing bit of a seven all star act bill. The seating capacity of the Wichita Theatre is limited and patrons are advised to make their season reservations now in order to eliminate any disappointment when the season opens.

"SWEET KITTY BELLAIRS" AT THE EMPRESS MONDAY

The M. F. World critic has reviewed "Sweet Kitty Bellaire" which is to appear at the Empress Theatre Monday as follows:

This feature comes up to the expectations which the public has entertained when a Lasky production is on the program. "Sweet Kitty Bellaire" is a charming story told about the interesting people who lived in a picturesque age. May Murray, the star of the play, finds the part of a very beautiful and lively girl much more to her taste than the role she essayed at her first attempt in the drama of the screen. Miss Murray made a dainty lovable Kitty Bellaire; she was, as the French put it, "tres femme." Her girlish graces, her innocent witchery, her sweet roguishness are bound to captivate every audience. The young people will be delighted beyond measure of course, but May Murray's rendition of the coquettish little beauty will win smiles from the males and females of a tougher age. The ever conscientious efforts of the art director, Alfred Buckland, in beautifying pictures and choosing the best possible settings indoors and outdoors, are very much in evidence in this delightful feature. It is the first Lasky picture directed by Mr. James Young, and to this capable and gifted man belongs not a little of the credit for the undoubted success of the picture. "Sweet Kitty Bellaire" is likely to go to the top of the ladder of Lasky film plays.

thrown early on her own resources, for her mother is killed by the drunken brute of a husband, the miserable home is closed, and Sally would have been without a roof had not a good natured coster lad, Johnny Doone, befriended her. Johnny, whose love making is repulsed by Sally, finds a sweetheart, Mary, and luckily the two girls like each other and become friends. Mary gets Sally a job at a jam factory and here the girl meets Mr. Peastone. On bank holiday, Johnny Doone takes Mary and Sally to 'Appy Amstead, Mr. Peastone who drives up in state, gorgeously arrayed comes upon the party and Johnny and Mary, having stolen away for a little coster love making, Mr. Peastone induces Sally to come and look at his trap. The girl is delighted with the pony, and accepts Peastone's offer to drive her home. But on the way the young man becomes enterprising and Sally is struggling in his unwelcome embraces when the trap is overturned by a recklessly driven motor car. In the car are Lady Dorothea Lytham and her cousin, Gilbert, Lord Kidderminster. The lady has had a desire to view the picnec festival, and has insisted on driving herself to the dismay of poor Gilbert. Hence the collision. But the accident has its advantages for Sally Gilbert insists on something being done for the little girl whom they have injured. And so it comes about that after leaving the hospital Sally is taken under the wing of Joe Aaron, a good natured variety agent, who finds out that she has "personality" and gives her a trial at the "Grecian," a typical East End music hall. Sally quickly becomes a musical comedy star, and takes a West End audience by storm. But success still leaves her with "the heart of a child." On the night of Sally's triumph, after leaving her at the door of the flat, he has had furnished for her, Gilbert enters with a second latch key of whose existence Sally is all unwitting to take his reward. But here Sally the pure child heart conquers. He is repulsed and leaves contrite, throwing away the key into the road. Next morning he asks Sally to be his wife and the girl's greatest ordeal has to be faced, for Gilbert's parents, Lord and Lady Fortive, are stately representatives of the old school. Sally, who has been given the option of going to Johnny Doone's wedding, as promised, or giving up Gilbert, defies him, chooses the former, and hurriedly leaves. Lord Fortive, unobserved, witnesses what happens, upbraids his son for letting Sally go, orders his car and father and son hurry to Johnny's wedding. The wedding party, which includes a very dejected Sally, is awed by the arrival of the Marquis and Gilbert, but Lord Fortive restores their gaiety by drinking the health of the blushing Mary. Then he proposes another toast: "To the future Lady Kidderminster!"

"A millionaire boasts that he leads the simple life." "I doubt it." "What are your ideas on the subject?" "Well, when a person sleeps in a hall bedroom, eats in a cafeteria, wears a $9 suit of clothes, and never sees a movie show that costs more than a nickel, I should say he was leading the simple life."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Let the weary at length possess quiet rest.—Seneca.
