POPE'S MESSAGE USED BY HUGHES IN HIS CAMPAIGN

TELEGRAM FROM PRESIDENT OF FARMERS UNION OF TEXAS CITED BY CANDIDATE IN SPEECH IN NEBRASKA TODAY

SPEAKS TO FARMERS

Says Administration is ignoring Agricultural Interests—Alleges "Invisible Government," Charge Against His Candidacy

By Associated Press. Hastings, Neb., Oct. 16.—Charles E. Hughes told a crowd of farmers here that the democratic administration had ignored the agricultural interests of the country in urging the enactment of the Adamson law.

The nominee, in support of his contention, produced a telegram from President H. N. Pope of the Texas Farmers' Union to President Wilson, requesting that the farmers be permitted to submit data in arbitration proceedings between the railroads and the brotherhoods.

Mr. Hughes also referred to "invisible government," he said, "those who are declaring to the American public invisible government had better remember that when a committee in executive responsibility in the state of New York, there was no invisible government in that state."

"I want to say in reference to rates that it seems to me that the farmers of the country were very little considered the other day when on the demand of the administration the rate of a group of railroad workers were increased by law in response to force. Somebody has got to pay the increased bills and the farmers will know very quickly who has to pay them."

"The farmers were not represented in this discussion, if you may call it that, in this manner, a committee of farmers can prepare information and data to present their side. If you conclude to settle by arbitration then the original farmers should have representation on any committee that may be formed to dispose of this question for the men who pay should have representation, as well as the men who receive it. We again urge that all questions involved be settled by arbitration where all parties and interests can be heard and the subject be dealt with aside from haste and intimidation."

The crowd cheered when Mr. Hughes concluded reading the telegram. "No regard was paid to that message," Hughes said.

French troops made an attack on the German positions west of the town of Sully-Salimelle, the German statement adds. The attackers were driven back south of the village by a counter attack. The Roumanian second army in retreat in Transylvania lost approximately two divisions, says the Overseas Agency. DISTINCTION FOR AMERICAN FLYER IN FRENCH ARMY

By Associated Press. Paris, Oct. 16.—Sergeant Raoul Lefebvre of New Haven, Conn., the first American to be mentioned in a communique for bringing down five hostile aeroplanes, is known as an American who thought himself a Frenchman.

At Salon he met the aviator Mare Pourpet, who trained him as his assistant. The first time that Lefebvre discovered that he was an American was when on the outbreak of the war he went to enlist with Pourpet. He was rejected on account of his nationality but after many appeals was allowed to go with Pourpet as his mechanic.

Pourpet was killed soon after and Lefebvre swore to avenge him. He secured permission to train as a pilot. Lefebvre got his pilot's certificate last year and was transferred to the American flying corps when it was founded. He brought down all of the five German machines required for mention in a communique since July 30. The first three were brought down within three days.

By Associated Press. General Trevino is making every preparation for another attack from the Villa forces. The hills near the city are being entrenched and cannon placed on the higher points. Outposts are sent out in all directions to prevent a surprise attack. An infantry division is now en route from Parras, Coahuila under command of General Jose Salazar.

TROOPS ON EASTERN FRONT ENCOURAGED BY KAISER

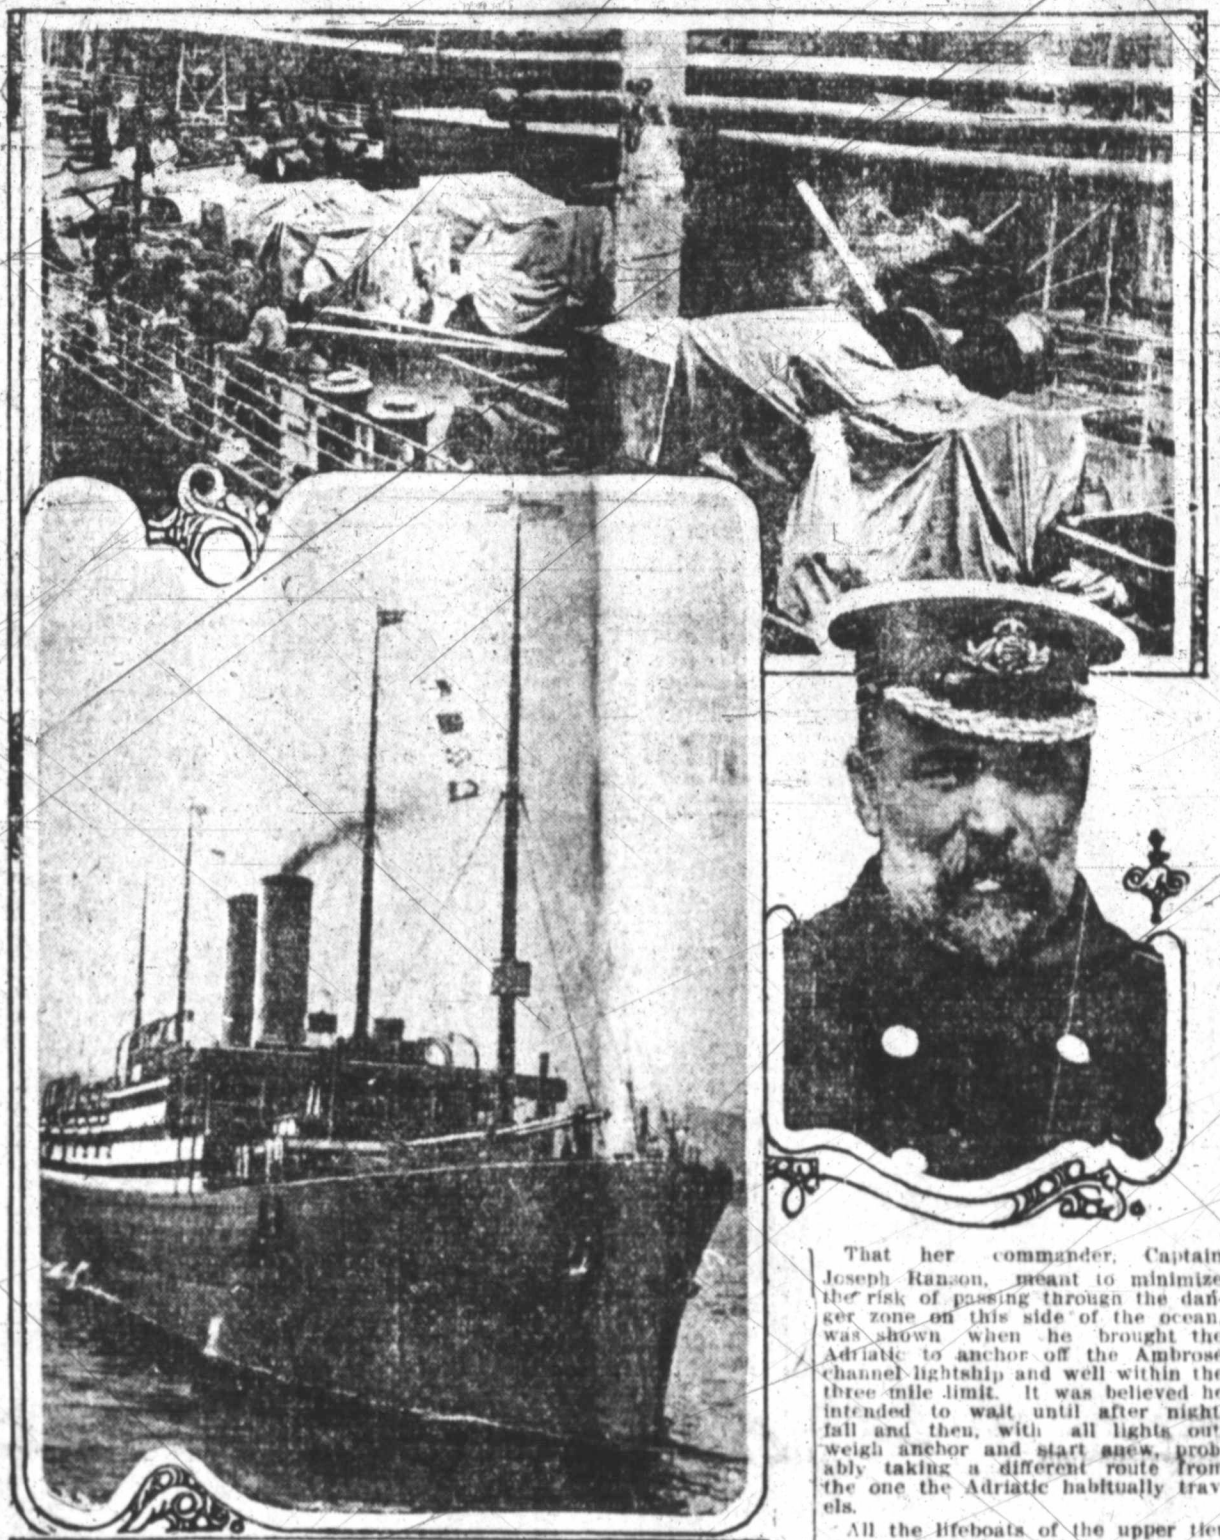

By Associated Press. Berlin, Oct. 16.—During his visit to the eastern front last week, Emperor William told the troops of General Van Eben that their two slogans should be "He shall not get through" and "He must be beaten." Following is the emperor's speech:

"Not far from your ranks the battle is raging and we hear a cannon shot now and then. I had the privilege of receiving deputations from the troops who in hard fighting against great odds won glory and did a great service to the fatherland. It is for me a duty and an honor to express the most profound and most cordial thanks on behalf of the fatherland that you along with your Austro-Hungarian comrades have held your ground so bravely.

"When you again move against the enemy, take with you these two slogans, First, 'He shall not get through' and second, 'He must be beaten.' We are fighting for a just cause. Everyone of you knows well you are risking your life, but many of the enemy know not why they fight. Numbers do not impress you and I am convinced of our ultimate victory."

U BOAT MENACE IN ALL MINDS

WHEN BI GLINER ADRIATIC SAILED

S.S. ADRIATIC, CAPTAIN RANSON AND ADRIATIC'S DECK LADEN WITH AUTOS FOR ALLIES

Unarmed but freighted with the heaviest cargo of munitions ever carried out of this port and carrying among her 212 passengers, six Americans distributed among her first, second and third class voyagers, the White Star liner Adriatic left New York for England.

Many in the pierhead throng wondered whether she would go the way of the Stephano and the other victims of U-boats or would escape that peril and reach Liverpool in safety. She was the first big liner to sail since the submarine raids.

That her commander, Captain Joseph Ranson, meant to minimize the risk of passing through the danger zone on this side of the ocean, was shown when he brought the Adriatic to anchor off the Ambrose channel lightship and well within the three mile limit. It was believed he intended to wait until after night fall and then, with all lights out, weigh anchor and start across, probably taking a different route from the one the Adriatic habitually travels.

All the lifeboats of the upper tier were uncovered, and their ropes were carefully coiled so the boats could be lowered almost instantly.

The six Americans are Mr. and Mrs. William J. Wilson, who travel in the saloon; R. G. Braasington, of 319 Canal street and H. A. Emerson, a butter and egg merchant, all of New York City, occupying second cabin accommodations and in the steerage are two Filipinos who are American citizens.

The shortage applies to both hard and soft coal. Failure to receive the usual amount of coal is attributed to a scarcity of labor at the mines and lack of cars for transportation, the latter of which is said to be the most serious, due to the movement of war munitions and other freight for export. The enormous foreign trade is also blamed for the shortage which it is said exists in other sections of the country as well as here.

Average of 500,000 Bales Monthly Consumed By Mills During Year

By Associated Press. Washington, Oct. 16.—Manufacture of cotton continues extremely active notwithstanding the high price of the raw product. During September 529,227 running bales were used, the census bureau today announced. That is 39,000 bales more than used in September last year but 29,000 bales less than used in August this year.

While the quantity used in September was smaller in August, the amount used per working day was larger, because the month was two working days shorter than August, one of them being the holiday Labor Day.

The August daily consumption averaged 2,953 bales while that of September was 2,163 bales. Cotton consumption this year this far has averaged more than 50,000 bales a month.

Cotton spindles active during September numbered 32,333,995 compared with 31,390,785 in September, 1915. Imports during September amounted to 7,928, equivalent 500 bales compared with 26,197 in September, 1915, and for the two months 15,146 bales compared with 45,187 a year ago.

NEW YORK FACING SHORTAGE OF COAL

Scarcity Due to Lack of Labor and Car Situation on Eastern Railroads

By Associated Press. New York, Oct. 16.—A shortage of coal is in prospect for this city this winter, according to dealers who declare that the coal supply is being depleted, their shipments delayed and that the outlook for immediate or eventual relief is poor.

The shortage applies to both hard and soft coal. Failure to receive the usual amount of coal is attributed to a scarcity of labor at the mines and lack of cars for transportation, the latter of which is said to be the most serious, due to the movement of war materials and other freight for export.

REVIVAL BEGINS AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH SUNDAY

EVANGELIST DELIVERS TWO SERMONS TO LARGE CONGREGATIONS, OPENING SERIES OF MEETINGS

DOWN TOWN SERVICE

Meetings to Be Held in Stores and Offices and Factory Services Planned at Noon Hour. Music to Be Special Feature.

Two big congregations Sunday attended the opening services of the revival at the First Presbyterian Church, and the two eloquent, forceful sermons by Rev. A. L. Carter, the evangelist who will conduct the meetings. The sermons Sunday were largely introductory, no invitation being offered. The meetings will continue daily, services being held at 10 a. m., and 7:30 p. m. Beginning tomorrow, downtown services will be held at 9:30 a. m., continuing for twenty minutes. These meetings will be held in banks, shops, stores and offices, wherever convenient to the evangelist and his party. It is also planned to hold noon meetings at several local factories.

The music for the meetings is in charge of Rev. A. L. Carter, song leader and soloist, and of Dale Havens, pianist. Mr. Carter did not arrive in time for Sunday morning service, but was on hand for the night meeting.

The evangelist, a man of two hundred and some odd pounds, has a good natured, entertaining style of delivery and his two sermons Sunday were well received. His stature makes the pastor, Rev. N. F. Grafton, appear rather diminutive, which he is.

The unspeakable and unlimited riches of the Christian formed the topic at the morning service. Dr. Hendrick, entertainingly told of the life or death, or things present or things to come; all are yours; and ye are Christ's and Christ is God's.

The speaker kept the audience in a good humor throughout with bits of humor aptly illustrating points he wished to emphasize.

The wealth of humanity of two fold nature formed the theme of the first of Dr. Hendrick's sermons. "The Christian's wealth is boundless," he said. "There are two ways of reckoning wealth in this world, material wealth and spiritual wealth. The wealth that is the gift of Him who was rich but for our sakes became poor."

"Christians have had more done for us than any other people and consequently more is expected of us. When much is given, much also is required. We should daily discharge his debt to God for his unspeakable gifts."

He told of a young man on whom a certain sermon with the theme "God and I Are a Majority" made a lasting impression and then to further impress the great truth of this truth of a small church in a wilderness which was on the point of dissolution, in fact it had only one member.

When through order of the presbytery a minister was asked to preach the dissolving sermon at this church the lone member of the church, a woman, refused to be dissolved and so the church was continued, and through the agency of this one woman herself a weak factor but with the aid of God an all potent power, the church was reorganized and became a mighty influence in the community.

The revival at Dermott, Ark., which the party has just closed and which saw large numbers of converts was mentioned by Dr. Hendrick as an illustration of the power of prayer. There was a prayerful influence in that church, he said, which overcame all the forces of indifference and neglect and led to a wonderful revival. So he hoped it might be here.

"It is a wonderful thing to have a Christian father and mother," the speaker continued in enumerating the richness of Christians. "I believe that old saying that a preacher's boy or girl is the very worst. Mainly I don't believe that because I was a preacher's son myself and I owe more to the saintly example of my father and my mother than to any other thing. The heritage of Christian parents amounts to more than all other earthly heritages together."

Some return should be made to God for His blessings, the speaker said, and mentioned as the greatest way in passing along the blessings of Christianity contribution to missions. "We are all kinspeople," he said. "There are really no foreign missions, all are neighbors though they live on opposite sides of the globe."

After dwelling at length on the glories and possibilities of life to be led for Christ, Dr. Hendrick spoke briefly of death, calling it merely the threshold to greater things and not to be dreaded but to be welcomed if this life has been all that it should be.

"Or life or death, or things present or things to come; all are yours." The story of Christ and the barren fig tree was the theme of the evening service, the text being from Mark 11:13.

"Jesus Christ didn't curse the fig tree," said the speaker. "It cursed itself. But I believe it better to be a barren, unfruitful fig tree than a blasted soul." "Christian life means anything at all, it means active service. Men and women are not saved simply that they may go to heaven."

CLUB IS ORGANIZED AT DENTON NORMAL

Wichita Falls Students There Working For Their Home Town—20 Enrolled

A Wichita Falls Club has been organized at the Denton Normal by the students from this city who are attending that institution. Thaddeus Beggs is president, and he writes The Times as follows:

"There are twenty students here in the Normal College who are from Wichita Falls and the surrounding towns. We met a few days ago and organized our 'Wichita Falls Club' with two reasons in mind: First to bring the students together and second to boost and advertise our good old home town, in which we have much faith. There is much enthusiasm among the members of our club, and we expect to do great things for the 'Busiest and Best Built City in Texas.' The following officers were elected: Thaddeus Beggs, Wichita Falls, president; Miss Mae McCarty, Iowa Park, vice president; and Miss Davis, Williams, Burkhardt, secretary-treasurer.

"We have written to the Chamber of Commerce asking them to send us some advertising matter, including some of the little stickers which are labeled 'Wichita Falls, Busiest and Best Built City in Texas,' and some of the scenes of the city, that have been compiled in postcard form. We would certainly appreciate your reminding them that we are anxiously awaiting them, that right now is the time to get started in this little favor for the home city, and we want to do our part toward boosting her among the 1200 students who are enrolled here from all over Texas and six other states. We think that other schools and colleges having students from Wichita Falls might also start a similar club with a similar purpose. We are willing to meet the cost of sending us say 50 each of those mentioned, in order that we might have some right away."

"We would be glad to see The Times on the exchange tables in the Normal College Library. Nearly all the students visit the library some time during the day and there are papers from all over the state, each addressed to the Normal College and marked, 'complimentary.'"

"We miss Wichita Falls, and no one else very much when we ride the little 'dinkies' that resemble those now in use as extra work cars by the Wichita Falls Traction Company. The tracks here remind one of walking on cross ties. The streets are in poor condition, but the enterprising citizens of the city are urging a bond issue to remove that nuisance. An election will soon determine the people's attitude toward a road isue of $900,000, but it is already practically certain that there will be a very light vote against the issuance of bonds for the roads."

"The churches here are enjoying the incoming students, and the Sunday school attendance creates more rivalry here than at home. The Baptists have been leading in a much heated contest with the Methodists."

German citizens are not in sympathy with the German-American alliance. Most of them have been residents of the United States for forty years or more. They come from Germany before the Franco-Prussian war. They brought with them ideas that have helped in making the American nation what it is. There is not a divided allegiance, such as is held by some Germans who have come to America in later years whose activities are as obnoxious as their numbers are few. The great majority of German citizens who have been in this country for years will vote in the coming election as they have been voting heretofore. Those who have been voting the republican ticket will do so this time. Those who have been voting the democratic ticket will continue to do so.

TOO MANY COOKS SPOIL THE BROTH.

Editor The Times:
Is it foreordination or predestination that is shaping our political ends during this presidential year? Judged by the past, prior to the 1912 campaign, the united republican party held the balance of power since the civil war, with exception of Cleveland's two terms. Then the ambition of Teddy Roosevelt, "to rule or ruin" the dominant party, fomented a rebellion that proved disastrous to the republicans and placed the democrats in power with Wilson in the presidential chair. What has been accomplished during his administration is of record, and stands out in bold relief for the voters to contemplate before casting their ballot on election day. Contradistinguished in this record, the republican nominee is forced to oppose theory, because the conditions are so different to any precedents to draw on. Consequently there is no concert of action among the republican leaders that gives promise of a definite policy upon which the people can rely as a remedy for democratic blunders. From the time of Hughes' nomination down to the present time, straw votes and Wall street betting published from time to time in republican papers, show a gradual gain for Wilson. In fact, it is becoming so uncomfortably close in the estimate that the Hughes' committee is calling upon every resource to stem the tide. This brings into view the verification of the old adage, "that politics make strange bedfellows." The latest to enter the field is Frederick M. Davenport, professor of law and politics in Hamilton College. In "Colliers," dated October 21st as a basis of his article to boost Hughes, he says:
"Whatever the American people are really politically feeling after is a genuine national liberal party of efficiency and integrity. The progressive organization was evidently a revolutionary movement against party cunning and oppression—a lightning flash of national resentment and national vision. Only that and nothing less and nothing more but the instinctive quest for a party of liberalism—strong, efficient, national, human at the center, committed to the thing that is right for the whole country—has not been given up and will not be given up by the American people."
Any intelligent voter will have no trouble in harmonizing this doctrine with Wilson's progressive administration, but, by what hypothesis of reason it can apply to the republicans, requires sketch of imagination.—Edgar Rye.

WHY HUGHES?

The case against President Wilson is all before the jury of American voters. Everything that can be said against the Wilson Administration has been said. Every attack that can be made on the Wilson policies has been made. Not an issue can be raised that has not been raised. For all practical purposes the record is complete. Yet President Wilson is stronger today than at any other time since the campaign began, and his strength is increasing with amazing rapidity.
The Republicans have no hope of victory except through the corrupt power of money in politics, except through the brute force of political organization and except through the appeal to German prejudice, against the President.
Week after week and month after month Mr. Hughes and his supporters have been presenting their reasons why Hughes should be elected. They began the campaign without a legitimate issue and they are closing it without a legitimate issue. At best they can only induce the President and ask the American people to take a leap in the dark.
Mr. Hughes and his managers believed that he could pussyfoot into the

BABY, FLOATING IN BOX, SEEN ON WICHITA RIVER

Parties at Thornberry Notified to Keep on Lookout But no Further Trace of Infant is Seen and Drowning is Feared
That a baby was seen floating down the river in a box about 11 o'clock this morning was the report telephoned into the police station about noon by J. J. O'Grath, who lives about six miles below the city on the river. The box was seen by members of Lee Prescott's family.
The box was low in the water and the women could not tell what kind of a box it was or see the baby, although they could hear its cries plainly.
A kind of flag apparently to attract attention was tied to the box, according to those who saw it. The river had risen considerably and the current was swift, said D. B. Stevenson, who also phoned about the matter.
The police telephoned Arthur Stevenson and Henry Bunker of the Thornberry community about the matter and they promised to keep a lookout. Later Mr. Bunker telephoned that so far he had seen nothing of the box. It is feared by the police that the box may have hit an obstruction and overturned. Members of the sheriff's department are investigating the matter.

EFFORTS AT RESCUE

The meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at which action was to have been taken upon the natural gas situation here was not held this morning, being postponed until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock on account of the absence from the city of Frank Kell, who has taken an active part in the movement. At tomorrow's meeting all directors are expected to be present and all others interested in the fuel situation are also expected to attend. It is probable that some decision will be reached relative to the organization of the proposed $100,000 company to drill for gas in this vicinity.

SCANDAL

One of the effective ways of damaging an opponent is to set some scandalous rumor in circulation about him. It is the safest form of attack because modern civilization provides no effective method of meeting it. You can not challenge the gossip to a duel. Gossip is not in good frontier fashion catch him and thrash him. The law is a clumsy method, which few people care to use. In a large city where people are a little of each other the gossip is comparatively safe. He starts a rumor, and the thing grows and changes as it passes through the popular conversation. A few kind friends come to the victim and ask him to make a reply. But what reply? Shall he write to the papers and deny the rumor by denying it? If he does, people simply shake their heads and say: "Those who ex-use themselves accuse themselves. Shall he go to the limit and ask him to stop? More likely than not, the gossip will twist the request into fresh scandal, or will find something else to gossip about.
Moreover, the victim must ask himself whether he can afford to let any slanderer put him on the defensive. Whether he can afford to do this, and the irritation which the pursuit of a task well symbolized by the cleaning of the Augean stables. For the moment a person is known outside a circle of intimate friends, the moment begins to develop a legend. A man in public life suffers from this especially. Somebody somewhere is certain to have a nasty suspicion, which becomes associated with some half-observed fact and then begins to flow through suspicion until innocent and well meaning people begin to believe the circulation of a rumor which never reaches the publicity of print is one of the deadliest weapons that either side can employ. It was years before Colonel Roosevelt found an opportunity to deal with the rumor that he was a drunkard, and that opportunity came only by good fortune, when an editor in an obscure town made the mistake of publishing a story which had been spread about him, and thousands of people will never know that he has been vindicated. There are enough lies about President Wilson to sink him at the pit of Billy Sunday's hell, and he has no defense against them. If he issues denials, a hundred accusations will be piled up, and there is now there is one.—The New Republic.

Gus Thomasson of Dallas to Be Here—Will Address Rotary Club Meeting.
This County's Display Attracts Much Attention—Miniature Oil Rig is Feature
The Wichita county exhibit is attracting more interest than any other exhibit at the Dallas fair according to Wichitans who were in Dallas yesterday. The exhibit is well located and is one of the most complete at the fair. A feature is an oil rig in full operation. A three foot six inch derrick modelled after a standard rig has been built with belt and engine house and full equipment. Oil is pumped from the well in a steady stream and run into two miniature tanks. The pump is operated by a concealed electric motor. The rig is the handwork of T. B. Hoffer of the engineering department of the Producers Oil company who has recently been promoted to the post of assistant manager in the office here.
It was Mr. Hoffer, acting under the direction of J. F. Gillman, who prepared the map of the oil fields in this territory which forms a background for the exhibit. It was stated erroneously in Sunday's issue that this map had been donated by the Texas Company.

LOCALS' NEXT GAME MAY BE HARD ONE

Bowle Team Overwhelm Decatur Saturday By Score of 56 to 0
On account of the game to be played at the Katy park with Bowle next Saturday the local high school football eleven were much interested in the 56 to 0 defeat administered the Decatur Capital College by the Bowle team last Saturday. The Bowle eleven outclassed their opponents in every department of the game, and showed that they had a scoring machine with few equals in Northwest Texas. That they have their work cut out for them next Saturday is fully understood by the locals, and Coach King has mapped out an extremely strenuous week for his charges during the remaining days before the Bowle game.
In considering the game between Bowle and the Decatur institution it must be borne in mind that although they are known as a college the football team that they turn out is hardly more than the highest high school class, but even taking this into consideration the feat of the Bowle team in swamping them like they did is no worthy opponents for the local squad Saturday.

CAN MAKE BOOK PAPER OUT OF HEMP REFUSE
By Associated Press.
Washington, Oct. 16.—Specialists of the department of agriculture are convinced that a satisfactory quality of book paper can be made from hemp hurds, the waste stock fragments produced in preparing hemp fiber for the market. A report on the subject, issued today, says that commercial tests made in cooperation with a paper manufacturer demonstrated that hurds can be reduced chemically to paper stock by the soda process in a method similar to that of handling poplar wood.

J. N. Green Trading Stamps
In accordance with our original plans we have decided to issue S. & M. Green Trading Stamps on all cash sales and on all accounts paid within six days of date of invoice. These stamps have a very considerable value to our customers and are appreciated by all who have been keeping them. They are exchangeable for a large list of handsome articles carried in stock here by the Sperry & Hutchinson Co., which articles cost our customers absolutely nothing, thus making the stamps a real discount in the purchase price of goods. On account of the cost of these stamps to us it is impossible for us to give them on charge accounts that are not paid promptly, yet wishing to give our customers who carry an account with us the very best prices and service possible, we have determined hereafter to give them to all customers whose bills are paid within six days of the date of invoice. When you get our invoice you can readily compute the time for yourself, and if it is paid within six days of the date we shall be glad to give the trading stamps, but positively no stamps will be given on accounts not paid within the six days.

AT THE THEATRES

The Majestic—Helen Holmes, former railroad movie star, is seen today at the Majestic in a string drama, "Medicine Bend," in which she is said to prove herself a splendid actress as well as a daring one. The picture is one of the best directed and realistically filmed.

The Empress—William Elmer, the Lasky burlesque bandit, detective and "tough villain," is a stickler for realism. If there is an occasion for him to appear in a fight, Elmer always seems to it that he will bear no marks of a fake. During the filming of "The Prom Queen," a Paramount release which will be seen at the Empress today, Elmer was called upon to have a fight in a gambling den. He rehearsed the scene carefully with one of the extras, Benham, who is credited to Lord R. DeMille, director general, that two cameras are placed on the scene. Two cameras are only used when it is felt that the action is to be accurately repeated. When the work to start was given, Elmer sallied in—he promptly cleaned off the place and after the scene was over, he apologized to the bruiser and injured, saying that he had become over excited and then winked craftily at the director.

The Gem—"The Angel of the Arctic" a two reel picture, featuring "Victor Hernandez" Harry Benham in the leading roles and showing today at the Gem is a pretty story, well staged and produced. The scenario is the work of Catherine Carr, and the excellent production is due to Francis J. Grandon, who directed it. The part of Betty Kane is one of those sentimental parts which Miss Mercedes does to perfection, where as Harry Benham as a hero has already proved his worth that it is not necessary to think of his acting in the present production. A feature of the picture is a very realistic fight that takes place in a Bohemian restaurant between Benham as the hero and a stranger. The picture is a very well reproduced and the light is of the type that makes one's blood tingle and one's heart stop beating until the outcome is ascertained.

 ATTRACTION AT WICHITA
 Al H. Wilson the great singing dialect comedian is underlined for an engagement at the Wichita Theatre tonight when he will present his new Irish song play "My Killarney Rose" which is a new departure from the "type" of entertainment given by this talented singer and actor. Mr. Wilson's regularity as an entertainer is augmented by his ability to create laughter—for in his personal life he appears to be an ever-flowing fountain of merriment that sets the personification of the old saw "Laugh and the world laughs with you." The songs will be all new and are entitled "My Killarney Rose," "The Love I Gave You," "Where the Shamrock Grows," "My Hoolihan" and "The Yodel that Stole My Girl Away." The performance starts promptly at 8:30 tonight.

CHINESE CONCESSIONS NOT YET DIPLOMATIC QUESTION

By Associated Press.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Japanese and Russian protests against the latest American railway enterprise in China may become a diplomatic subject eventually, but there is no immediate prospect of the government becoming concerned unless the American interests affected should ask aid or contend that their rights as Americans are being infringed upon.

LITTLE OPPOSITION IN BOND ELECTION

Plans For Cemetery Includes Several Beautiful Features—To Be Voted on Nov. 7

"I think it will carry with practically no opposition," said Mayor Britton in speaking of the proposed $15,000 bond issue for improving and beautifying the city which is to be voted on November 7. "I don't see how there can be any opposition to it, and don't believe there will. Nearly everyone either has some relative at rest in the cemetery or will some time. Then the cost is so negligible. An addition to the tax rate of a cent on the $100 valuation, will take care of this bond issue. And this does not affect the taxes for this year."
