"THE KISS"

Featuring

OWEN MOORE

MARGUERITE COURTOOT

If you kissed a masked girl in the dark and enjoyed it, how would you go about finding her again when she eluded you and slipped back among a whole bevy of dancers? Owen Moore decided upon the delightful process of trying to kiss them all until he found the right one again. Of course it would be well to explain that Mr. Moore performs this remarkable osculatory feat only on the screen.

"LITTLE SHEPHERD OF BARGAIN ROW"

By Howard McKent Barnes, in five acts. The Lily springs up from the murky tarn, pure as the chastened silver. The Little Shepherd rose from the muck, effronterous as untautened as the Lily of the mire. A true legend, born on the tainted swamp air, she spreads love and sunshine amid the dank drifts, reeking from the dens of vice. It's a story of a brave girl's fight from the depths of poverty and vice to the heights of purity and success.

PLANS FOR YEAR MADE AT MEETING

ANNUAL GATHERING OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DRAWS LARGE
CROWD IN SPITE OF VERY SE-VERE WEATHER

ELECT DIRECTORS

Board of 25 Is Named for This Year—
Details of Work for 1917 Outlined—
Luncheon Follows Business Session at Elks Club

With less of oratory, but with more of inspiration, the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night inaugurated its program of activities for 1917, hearing reports of officers and electing directors.

The very nature of the meeting itself was inspiring. Ominous skies were falling and the most adverse weather conditions prevailed; yet more than 100 Wichitans put service above comfort and gathered at the Elks' club rooms for the meeting.

Reviews of the accomplishments of 1916 and announcement of plans for 1917, by the officers, were a source of much encouragement and inspiration to those who attended, as was the announcement of a membership of 289 and a pledged revenue of more than $16,000 in prospect.

There were few speeches, and the meeting was a brief one. H. A. Clapp, of Cottonwood, made a talk along industrial lines and Vernon Whitehouse made brief remarks. This year instead of having members enrolled and dues pledged at the annual meeting, such matters had been disposed of in advance, so that feature was absent.

After the business meeting the members partook of a buffet luncheon, of which some very innocuous punch was a feature. Katz orchestra furnished music.

The reduction in the number of directors from 30 to 25 necessitated dropping several of the old board members.

The report of the nominating committee—Frank Kell, A. L. Huey, T. B. Noble, Tom Smock and H. Gohlke, was adopted unanimously. The new directors are:

J. A. Kemp, A. L. Huey, A. H. Cargan, Frank Kell, M. J. Gardner, T. B. Noble, W. Lee Moore, F. N. Lawton, J. L. Jackson, H. B. Hines, N. Henderson, J. S. Bridwell, Miles O'Brien, F. M. Rind, H. E. Bray, G. Ward, J. L. Art, R. O. Harvey, C. W. Reid, R. E. Huff, Marvin Smith, Wiley Blair, P. H. Pennington, W. R. Ferguson, C. W. Bean.

The meeting was called to order by Judge R. E. Huff, president of the Chamber of Commerce. Judge Huff addressed the audience, saying the large crowd present in spite of the adversities of the weather.

"We are not here to glory over what has been done in the past," he said, "but to plan and work for still greater things in the future. And we know that the future of Wichita Falls is bright. Just as the spirit of the people is manifested as it is tonight. At one time in this city's history there were but few who believed. Now there are nearly 600 who believe that the only way to build a city is through organization."

It is much for us to rejoice over as we review the work of the past year. The new court house shows the pride which our citizens take in their public affairs. There has never been such a unanimity of sentiment as prevailed in our city at the time the new court house was realized that there was considerable opposition outside the town, to the bond issue. That magnificent new court house is but one evidence. Fraternal orders and merchants have erected new buildings and there are hundreds of new homes.

January.

January bleak and drear,
First arrival of the year;
Named for James Janus, who, it is said, had two sons.
Perhaps it is that the reason why
January is such a "fickle sky?"
First you smile and ushers in
Dreams of the returning spring,
Then, with a sigh, you frown
Making the snowflakes hurry down,
Making all the landscape white,
And the world seem dark and bright.
You obey no word or law—
Now you freeze and then you thaw,
Teasing all the brooks that run,
With the hope of constant sun,
Chaining all their feet at last.
Firm in icy fetters fast,
Mounts of all months most contrary.
Sweet and bitter January.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Jan. 17, 1916

Wichitans enjoying the warmth of their gas fires are unconcerned in the dispute between Dallas and Fort Worth as to which place is getting the most gas.

Admiral Dewey, the great American naval hero, is dead. News of his death will be heard with sorrow throughout the land. Admiral Dewey was one of those men who did their duty as they came to it, accepting responsibility without shirking or without equivocation, yet not engaging his talents in the quest of preferment and power. He was first of all a citizen of the United States and discharged his duties as a naval officer inspired by conception of his duty as a citizen.

Some of the prohibition members of the legislature are reported to be holding the threat of a constitutional convention over the antis as a measure to force the antis to vote for submission. Nothing is to be gained by such a threat either for submission or for a constitutional convention. Each should be considered on its own merits. A prohibition amendment ought to be submitted because the people of the state have voted for submission and the legislature ought to obey the mandate of the people. The men who stand in the way of the will of the people must take the consequences. The liquor men must fear the thwarting of the will of the people. They know that the refusal of the legislature to carry out the will of the people will start a storm of indignation and that local option elections that will follow the failure of the legislature to act are likely to sweep Dallas, Tarrant, Wichita and other wet strongholds among the counties of North Texas into the dry column. There is no use in bringing the threat of a constitutional convention into the proceedings. A constitutional convention is probably needed. If it is it will be needed for a number of other things besides getting prohibition into it. A constitutional convention that is forced into being simply to advance the prohibition cause will not be the kind of a constitutional convention the people of Texas ought to have. There is no doubt that constitutional convention would mean a dry state, but that's no good reason for making such a convention a threat at this time.

Proposals are before the legislature to prohibit the hunting of all kinds of game for a period of years. Such prohibition may be necessary in the cases of a few species which are threatened with extinction but the Times does not believe that such a law is needed in the cases of most species of game in Texas. What is needed rather is a shortening of the open season for killing game, restrictions or prohibition altogether of the use of automatic or pump guns, and provision for the better enforcement of such laws as now exist or may be enacted at the present session of the legislature. These things with provision for game preserves such as were suggested several weeks ago in the Times, this paper believes, would not only permit game shooting but would result in an actual increase and the perpetuation of many species of game which are now threatened with extinction. As was pointed out by the Times, a game preserve law would permit contiguous land owners to band themselves into an association for a game preserve, binding themselves to use their best efforts to prevent others from transgressing on their premises and at the same time binding themselves not to kill game on the preserve, even on their own premises. The state, which might easily obtain revenues from a gun license for the support of a game propagating ranch, could stock these preserves with such game as might be desired. In this manner the game would not only be perpetuated in localities from which it has disappeared but, migrating from these preserves, it would have a tendency to stock the whole country. Representative Greenwood can do a good service by giving his support to such a measure.

ON THE TRAIN

To the Times:
Some old wiscrake said in substance, "Destry shapes our ends, rough how them though we may." After spending three and one half months in Wichita Falls, since my return from the Pacific coast, I once more find myself on the overland train, speeding my way up the Panhandle incline on a business venture to the land of sunshine and flowers.

The time limit of my absence from Texas is problematical; but in all probability will extend into the next two months. And while I have lived too long in Texas, I still prefer the weather conditions, nevertheless judging by the past, we are due some cold, unmeasurable freezing days in February and March. That reminds me that I was present once when a big Louis drummer visited Albany in 1908. The day was cloudy and all indications showed gloomy weather. The drummer took a careful observation of the sky then remarked, "boys, I believe it's going to rain."

"How long you been in the state, stranger?" inquired a cowboy.

"About two weeks."

"Well, I thought you are either a newcomer or a fool; no other people dare predict on the weather in Texas."

The drummer hung his head for a few seconds, then looking the cowboy over remarked, "well, pard, what difference does it make, they are the only two classes that ever emigrate to Texas."

Of course, when a man arrives at my age, a tattered old suit of clothes, consequently, I am not planning on a large scale, but will be content to have something to occupy a part of my time, and at the same time allow enough recreation and pleasure to come into my health.

In bidding farewell to Wichita Falls for the present, I desire to extend my best wishes to the numerous friends who have always taken an interest in my humble efforts as a citizen and officer, during the past several years. Many persons do not have a real or fancied reason believe they have a cause for not extending to me their good will, I desire to say "forgive and forget," life is too short to hold malice. Remember it is human to err and divine to forgive. We will be the long term debt which die and will make our lives more pleasant here if we pass on kind thoughts and revengeful feelings.

Well, Mr. Editor, adieu until I have time to put on my observation cap. Perhaps the new year will may change the scenery and give me a new point of view on this journey.

EDGAR RYER.

PLANS FOR YEAR
MADE AT MEETING

The big plants were small plants at one time. The cotton machine was a new possibility and if we could manufacture cotton for manufacturing that here, it would have every prospect of becoming a very large industry eventually."

Discussing the proposed good roads bill issue, Mr. Johnson said he was sure every member of the Chamber of Commerce would support it. "The time is ripe for it," Mr. Johnson said, "when the highways will be more traveled than the railroads. There is a highway commission bill pending at Austin and we want a Wichita Falls man on that board. We want D. L. Talley put on that board. (Applause.)

Mr. Johnson referred to the possibility of this city's securing the federal aviation school and of other prospects for new industries. In concluding, he urged the members to support the organization, not only with their money, but with their time and effort.

H. A. Clapp of Collegeport, field worker for the Texas Industrial Congress and president of the Texas Farm Bureau, was then called upon. Mr. Clapp said he had been greatly impressed with the spirit of progress that was manifest in Wichita Falls. Taking up the subject of agriculture, Mr. Clapp reminded his hearers that if agriculture ceased, all the wheels of industry, of railroads and of operations everywhere, would stop. In conclusion, he told the members to get out products, out upon the sea, the soil or the mine for its raw material, and in this connection he said he hoped to see more cotton mills in Texas. The raising of peanuts, a money crop, has admirably into the agricultural program was also advocated by Mr. Clapp.

One of the greatest things, he can do," Mr. Clapp said, "is to bring about a greater measure of cooperation with the farmers upon whom your city depends. You know the relations that usually exist between the town-man and the farmer—if it's not actual hostility, it's at least suspicion. You can remove that if you will go about it in the right way."

He said that the dairy plant put into operation had not made much profit. It was known in every community large and small that he had visited in Texas. He gave figures showing the relation of agriculture to such things as savings deposits, the deposits being largest in those states where agriculture was practiced the most. In conclusion he told the members that while it took "a hell of a lot of money" to run a Chamber of Commerce, they would be amply repaid for all they expended.

The time has come for talk on the good of the order, Judge Huff called on Judge P. A. Martin to explain the school board situation. Judge Martin said that Wichita Falls parents had brought about such an increase in the scholastic population that the urgent needs of the schools had become very acute. He explained the plan by which it is hoped to secure additional revenue through levying higher assessments for school purposes than for city and county taxes, and asked for the cooperation of the members in accomplishing this. Open discussion followed. Weeks, the meeting adjourned, Judge Martin's plea and pledged cooperation.

D. P. Talley who was called upon for a good roads talk, declined to enter into a discussion of that, but gave some interesting facts about the soy bean, an Oriental product, now coming into prominence as a possible substitute for both cotton-seed and peanuts by virtue of the oil, meal and hay which it produces. Mr. Talley said the recent decline in cotonease prices was due to heavy imports of soy bean from China. He outlined the possibilities of such a crop, suggesting that the Chamber of Commerce might profitably take the matter up.

The suggestion that there might be some present who desired to enroll as members resulted in all who had been invited calling themselves to stand. The result showed that there was no room for any missionary work. However, several names not previously reported were turned in. Secretary Johnson gave the totals to date, 585 members, with a pledged revenue of over $18,000 and every reason to believe the amount would eventually be $17,000 at least.

How Federal Farm Loans Can Really Help Farmer

By FRANK R. WILSON, Federal Farm Loan Bureau, Washington, D. C.

It has always been recognized that the most effective aid one can get is that which enables him to help himself. Some critics of the Federal Farm Loan Act have charged that this Act makes it too easy for farmers to get into debt, and that there will be a tendency to over borrow.

A careful reading of the bill will show that this objection is met by very carefully limiting the time within which the prospective borrower may pay back his loan and by the requirement that farmers gradually each year must reduce their indebtedness.

The Farm Loan Act was designed to be helpful to the farmer of average operations who has heretofore been denied adequate credit. It wisely limits the loans to 50 per cent of the appraised value of the property. This limitation makes the security of a high standard, thus satisfying the investor, and therefore results in a lower rate of interest.

The use of the money is carefully limited to the purchase of land to produce crops, stock, to buy any productive equipment such as fencing, drainage buildings and machinery.

When money can be borrowed cheaply for productive use, a mortgage becomes an investment rather than a handicap. The farmer is enabled to get money to put his land to better use, so that the proceeds of his investment bear a high interest. He is then able to get out of debt in honorable and business like way. The Farm Loan Act helps the farmer to within his grasp the means to help himself, and to make for business initiative and independence.

Editor's note: The next installment will have to do with the investment feature provided by the Farm Loan Act.

Kahn's Retiring From Business Sale

Tries to Land on His Own Reflection In "Movie" Mirror

No doubt aided and abetted by the large supply of strong drink with which he was equipped and which probably convinced him that he was possessed with pugilistic talents to an extraordinary degree, an intrepid individual endeavored to land a haymaker on his own reflection in a mirror at a local picture show, to the infinite consternation of the latter. Later after his incarceration in the cooler at the local police station he further exhibited his talents on a fellow prisoner. A fine of $15 for a "fancy" drunk in the police court this morning was his reward for these arduous efforts.

Because when Mexican addressed him with angry mien, he had nerve enough to hit him, a charge of intoxication against one more often than not arraigned on that charge was dismissed this morning by Judge Whitlaw. A double fine, $10, was plastered on the hombie. A $5 fine for a "plain" drunk wound up the proceedings.

INTEREST IN PROPOSED WEST TEXAS INSANE ASYLUM

Introduction into the Legislature at Austin of a bill establishing an insane asylum somewhere in Texas west of the 98th meridian has aroused interest here, and if the measure is enacted, Wichita Falls will probably seek to have this institution established in or near this city. The introduction of this bill would probably result in a contest among West Texas cities for its location, similar to the prospective contest over the West Texas A. & M. College. The asylum would be of very material value to the city that lands it, but would not be comparable to the A. & M. institution as a source of profit to the fortunate city.
