HARDING TAKES A FINAL HOLIDAY ON HIS PRIVATE CAR

PUTS WORK AND WORRY ASIDE WHILE MAKING THE TRIP TO WASHINGTON.

WILL REACH THE CAPITAL LATE IN THE AFTERNOON

Party Will Go Direct To Hotel To Await Coming Of Inaugural Escort Friday.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—President-elect Harding reached Washington at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon and went into conference with inaugural officials on details of tomorrow's ceremonies.

Although the presidential special reached the capital at a half hour ahead of schedule, a large crowd greeted the president-elect as he walked through the president's entrance of the station.

In his conferences with inaugural officials, it is understood the question of a call of courtesy on President Wilson was discussed.

On board President-elect Harding's special train, March 2.—As he approached Washington, he was met by the duties of the presidency.

In the busy months since he was nominated, Mr. Harding has seen little of any but his nearest relatives and he is said to have decided not to close up his family close together.

Travellers arriving here from Costa Rica reported anti-American demonstrations in San Jose, Puerto Limon, Cartago and Heredia on February 27 and 28.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Reports that Costa Rican forces might be landed at Burica Point, south of the Panama frontier, caused surprise in official circles here.

OMAHA, Neb., March 3.—Despite objection by the defense, a confession by Burrell Lawson of Little Rock, Ark., was introduced and read to the jury in a murder trial.

INAUGURAL NOTES.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Postmaster General Burleson led in all honors for inauguration scenery.

Harding asked the inaugural ball be stopped. It was officially—but there will be a charity affair at the Willard, and Ohioans who feel it is no more than right that one of their number should be president, are celebrating too.

Seated among the throng at the inaugural will be a little group of men, the only ones permitted to sit.

BURLESON IS SUEE FOR $700,000 DAMAGES

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Suit for $700,000 damages was filed today in the District of Columbia supreme court by the New York City against Albert S. Burleson.

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL RESUME THE PRACTICE OF LAW

PARTNERSHIP FORMED WITH RETIRING SECRETARY OF STATE COLBY.

ANNOUNCEMENT COMES IN NATURE OF SURPRISE

Expected That Firm Will Devote Its Attention Largely To International Law.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—President Wilson formally announced today that he would "resume the practice of law."

The announcement was made at the White House in the following statement: "President Wilson made the announcement today that at the conclusion of his term of office he would resume the practice of law, forming a partnership with the secretary of state, Bainbridge Colby."

The president's announcement wholly unexpected, will recall to the public mind, one of his least known attainments—that of being a lawyer.

No announcement was made as to the character of the practice the new firm would take up, but the presumption is that it will engage principally in international law and collateral work.

DO YOU CATCH
COLD EASILY?
HOW TO AVOID IT
Colds are due to germs. No one can prevent the germs from entering your nose and throat. But you can keep plenty of strong, vigorous, "anti-bodies" in your blood to fight and kill off the nasty "cold germs" before they do you any harm.
To develop these germ destroying "anti-bodies" properly, you must have plenty of pure, rich, red blood and a strong, vigorous constitution—in fact, this is the best preventive against almost any disease.
If you are weak, nervous or run-down, or subject to colds, take no chances. One day you may develop serious throat, bronchial or lung trouble which perhaps pneumonia and you may go off like a shot. Therefore, commence to enrich your blood and fortify yourself against "disease germs" today.
To build more and better blood and make stronger nerves, there is nothing superior to NUXATED IRON as it contains organic iron like the iron in your blood combined with a product representing the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve tissue for feeding the nerves. Nuxated Iron may therefore be said to be both a blood and a nerve food. It often increases the body and mental vigor, strength and endurance in two weeks' time.
Over 4,000,000 people are using it annually. It has been highly commended by former United States senators, U. S. Army Generals, many physicians and prominent men. Even the King of Rome mentioned it favorably in a communication to the Proprietor of the Pharmacy Normale de Paris.
Satisfaction guaranteed or the manufacturers will refund your money. Beware of substitutes. Look for the word "NUXATED" on every package and the letters N. J. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.

WATER TROUBLE HALTS WORK ON PYRAMID WELL

VERNON, TEXAS, March 2.—Water trouble has halted development on the Pyramid Realty company location south of town and prospects for determining the capacity of the well that has of late stirred a mild excitement in the town are still indefinite. A defective packer permitted the casing to drop several inches, and water to flow into the hole. Arrangements are being made to bring some special tools here to aid in solving the difficulty.

PRE-INAUGURATION AIR AT WASHINGTON

Flags and Bunting in Profusion Make Their Appearance in Downtown Section.
WASHINGTON, March 2.—Despite the expressed desire of President-elect Harding for simple inaugural ceremonies, Washington today had assumed very much of a pre-inauguration day air. The streets were a little more crowded than usual, hotel rooms were somewhat scarcer and flags and bunting in profusion made their appearance along Pennsylvania avenue and in the downtown section.

Finishing touches were given to the stand on the east portico of the capitol where Mr. Harding will take the oath of office and deliver his inaugural address. Washington police made final preparations for handling the crowds expected to line Pennsylvania avenue at the presidential inauguration and President-elect Harding ride to the capitol.
Troops of cavalry at Fort Myer, who will form the single escort for the presidential party and several companies of marines from Quantico who will be on guard along the avenue with the honor guard, were in the part they are to play in the event.
To Washington residents and "old timers" today's contrast with former day-before-inauguration days was particularly noticeable. They recalled that in former years "the day before" had been the day of the historical thoroughfare leading from the capitol to the White House thronged with visitors, hotel lobbies crowded and sleeping accommodations at a premium. Bunting were the long rows of temporary stands at convenient points along the avenue from which thousands of spectators could view the "big parade" and cheer the outgoing and incoming presidents.

INVENTION BY WHICH SHIPS MAY BE GUIDED DURING THE DENSE FOGS

LIVERPOOL, March 2.—Discovery of a new wireless invention by which ships may be guided during dense fogs was announced here today by William Marconi at the annual British ship-masters' dinner. This invention, he said, is based on a principle by which electric waves may be directed in any definite direction like flashes from a lighthouse. He declared these waves would take the place of leading lights in thick weather and would prevent collisions of vessels during fog.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

Grandma kept her locks dark, glossy, and youthful with Sage Tea and Sulphur
The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.—Adv.

50 PER CENT RULE DISCONTINUED TODAY BY TEXAS COMPANY

WILL BUY ALL CRUDE RUN AND ALSO THAT WHICH HAS GONE INTO STORAGE.

ANNOUNCEMENT TAKEN AS ENCOURAGING SIGN

Practically All Companies Have Now Abandoned Former Plan Of 50 Per Cent Purchases.

The Texas company, probably the largest of oil purchasers in Northwest Texas, Thursday morning announced discontinuance of the "fifty-fifty" rule inaugurated December 27, and will hereafter purchase all oil runs.

Similar action was taken several days ago by other large buyers, and the Texas company's announcement makes it practically unanimous, giving a much more buoyant tone to local oil market conditions.

The Texas company also offers to purchase all or any part of the oil which was stored under the fifty-fifty rule.

The announcement was made Thursday morning from the office of J. O. Quinn, vice president of the Texas company, and is as follows:

"Referring to notice of December 27, 1920, limiting oil purchases, we now announce that storage privileges will be continued for the present.

"An effective at once, we offer to purchase at our posted price, in addition to the 50 per cent now being purchased, all or any part of oil now in storage, and all or any part of current runs which would go into storage under said plan, subject to discontinuance by us without notice.

"Oil owners desiring to sell such oil may file selling order, and on or before ten days remittance for the proceeds will be made, based on our posted price on date selling order is received and accepted at Houston office.

(Signed) "THE TEXAS COMPANY," By T. J. Donoghue, Vice Pres.

Earlier in the week the Gulf company and the Prairie Crude Oil company, which had previously discontinued the fifty-fifty rule, announced their policy of actively soliciting production from owners, indicating a much better demand for crude.

The production of the district, as shown by pipe line runs for the week, totals 75,000 barrels, as follows: Burkburnett, 17,000; Electra, 11,000; Iowa Park, including K-M-A, 5,000; Young County, 5,000; Holliday, 200; Petrolia, 400.

LOCAL TRAPSHOOTERS WIN FROM GRAHAM

Members Of Wichita Gun Club Successfully Defend Cup Won Last Year.

Local trapshooters had little difficulty in defending their cup from the Graham marksmen in Graham Wednesday and despite the fact that they were not shooting in top form they won by a score of 467 to 411.

The production of the district, as shown by pipe line runs for the week, totals 75,000 barrels, as follows: Burkburnett, 17,000; Electra, 11,000; Iowa Park, including K-M-A, 5,000; Young County, 5,000; Holliday, 200; Petrolia, 400.

Twelve shooters made the trip from here by automobile. A. G. Deatherage was the high man of the day with a total of 37 out of a possible 100. Other local scores were: C. J. Fate 94, Paul 92, J. L. Nabb 83, E. C. Clickner 84, Daniel 83, L. H. Little 83, Chas. Greenberg 81, Bert Adrian 80, G. Simon 75, F. Holmes 71, and Bert Kooken 64.

Shaffer was the only Graham shooter to better 90, finishing with a total of 92. Other Graham scores were: Morris 88, Frantz 80, Hodges 78, Gay 73, Gallagher 70, Stafford 69, Thurman 71, Lamb 68, Stinson 64, Russell 42, King 89, Le Sage 87 and Galyher 84.

THEATRES

Theatres Today. Palace—Majestic vaudeville, Patton and Marks in "Bits and Pieces," headliner. Wichita—Rube Hooper in "Mary's Ankle," a comical play comically presented. Olympic—Buster Keaton and May Allison in a double barrel bill of fool-whims.

Empress—Louise Lovely in "While the Devil Laughs," her latest and best. Majestic—"The Daughter Pays," featuring Elaine Hammerstein in her best film.

WEEK'S VAUDEVILLE BILL AT PALACE RAN AS ONE OF SEASON'S BEST

A vaudeville bill that was ranked by patrons as one of the best yet shown at the Palace opened Wednesday at the new theater, and was enthusiastically received.

The announced headliner, "Bits and Pieces," consisting of scraps from Broadway attractions, proved to be an unusually ornate offering, scenic and costume appointments being elaborate to the point of extravagance.

Several presentations were cleverly and pleasingly staged, making up an act of genuine merit.

Bobbe and Nelson seemed to share honors with the top-liners, the singing of Nelson meeting with tremendous favor from a crowd that had an insatiable appetite for encore; his tenor has a richness and range of remarkable proportions.

Susanna Thompson, which must be her real name, it sounds so rural, did some violin playing of surpassing excellence. She had a repertoire that combined popular and classical selections and every number met with hearty approval.

A cleverly presented sketch "Now Whatism" was presented by Wilfred Clark et al, it being a piece that call for fast acting and good comedy stunting. It was ranged as among the best of the bill.

A dog act, "York's Educated Canine Pupils," opened the bill, featuring some acrobatic dogs whose pranks were entirely pleasing, especially to the younger members of the audience.

Saxton and Farrell in "Lights" have an average act. A juggling act, staged in a bare amid cows, horses, chickens and everything, by the McBanns, brought the bill to a happy close.

EMPLOYEES OF DENVER OFFICE WILL PLACE TEAM ON DIAMOND

Employees of the Fort Worth and Denver offices will place a baseball team in the field this year. This decision was reached following an enthusiastic meeting held at the office Wednesday evening, at which time M. E. Montgomery was selected as captain.

W. F. Rankin of the freight office was chosen to attend the meeting of the City League Thursday evening and make formal application to the league.

Railroad Personnel. M. D. Van Slyke, industrial agent of the M. K. & T. line, and Assistant L. B. Chopley, both of Dallas, were in the city Thursday on business for the company.

D. Webb, general agent of the Texas and Pacific railway, was in Wichita Falls Thursday conferring with officials of the M. K. & T.

M'DOWELL OUT OF RACE FOR ALDERMAN, TO WITHDRAW NAME

FINDS IT NECESSARY TO DEVOTE ALL OF HIS TIME TO PERSONAL AFFAIRS.

ACTION LEAVES CONTEST TO HATCHITT AND REED

Withdrawal Made in Spite Of Insistence Of Associates That He Remain in Race.

M. Overton McDowell, city councilman in charge of public health and sanitation, announced Thursday morning that he would withdraw from the race for re-election. This leaves two candidates for the place, Dr. J. F. Reed and J. B. Hatchitt.

Mr. McDowell's retirement from the board of aldermen is due to his desire to devote all his time to personal affairs, there being business matters at present that require close attention.

Mr. McDowell sought to keep out of the race when things first began warming up in municipal political circles, but neither his associates in the city administration or his other friends would permit him to do other than announce for re-election.

His announcement, Mr. McDowell said Thursday, matters have arisen which would make it very difficult, if not impossible, for him to continue to devote the necessary time to his public work.

The work of the city's health and sanitary departments, under Mr. McDowell's leadership is considered by other city officials as having been of a very high order, and it was because of the high efficiency of his department that other members of the administration were anxious that he continue in service.

With Mr. McDowell's resignation, the ticket for the April election is practically determined, only one day remaining in which petitions for candidates may be filed.

ASSYRIAN HOLDS A SHIRT TAIL PARADE

Robbers Strike Him Over Head And Take Away All His Clothes And Money.

Olle Mohud, an Assyrian, held a shirt tail parade all of his own Wednesday night at Bridge-town. Deputy Sheriff Winham saw him dodging from shadow to shadow down the street garbed in a shirt and a suit case in the hand. The man was finally overtaken and he told his story.

As a result of investigation C. C. Rice, E. G. Miller, and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Mills were brought to Wichita Falls and charged of robbery were filed against them. Mohud says that two of the men are the ones who took his clothes and money.

According to Mohud's story, he was asleep in the Riverside rooming house. He heard some one enter the room and saw two men. One of the men walked to the bed and struck him over the head. When Mohud regained consciousness all his clothes were gone and he then grabbed his suitcase and went for the law.

Mohud states that he lost $115 in money, his watch with a five dollar gold piece as a chain and his clothes. His suit was found by officers several blocks from the rooming house alongside of the road.

SPLENDID RESULTS BEING ATTAINED IN RAT EXTERMINATION

A heavy decrease in the rodent population of this city was effected Wednesday, with the opening of the rat extermination campaign: reports to headquarters indicated a city-wide observance of the movement, with very satisfactory results.

In the factory district, which was decidedly rat-ridden until a short time ago, splendid results have been attained. One group of workers, using dogs, disposed of approximately 150 rats Wednesday afternoon, and had previously accounted for a great many more.

Nearly 2,000 rat traps have been sold through the chamber of commerce and have played an important part in destroying the rats.

In North Wichita, and in the negro section of the city, there was decided activity Wednesday, and in some sections large groups of residents joined forces to combat the rodents.

NEGRO BUSINESS LEAGUE MAKING PLANS TO BRING WELL KNOWN SPEAKER HERE

Roscoe Conklin Simmons of St. Louis, well known negro orator, will come to Wichita Falls next month to deliver an address. If plans of the Negro Business League are carried out, G. C. Simmons of the league said Wednesday that Simmons would be in Texas in April, and that every effort would be made to bring him to Wichita Falls.

Co-operation of white citizens is being enlisted in bringing Simmons here, but plans are not yet perfected. Simmons, who was sent to France for welfare work among negro soldiers during the war, is a representative of that faction of nationally known negroes who believe that better citizenship, greater efficiency and harmony with his neighbors are the best policies for the negro to adopt.

NORTH SIDE ATHLETIC CLUB HOSTS TO COMMUNITY LAST EVENING, BIG TIME ENJOYED

The North Side Athletic association had a bunch of 150 or more jolly folks "going some" until nearly midnight Wednesday on the occasion of their big pie supper and social in that community.

The affair was a big success from the time the doors were opened. N. O. Monroe of the chamber of commerce, Mrs. Monroe, Mrs. John W. Taylor and Mrs. Snook from the Civic league; Miss Hood from the Young Women's Christian association, and Mr. Rogers, former Y. M. C. A. worker, were special guests and assisted in the success of the evening.

The pie auction was participated in with the greatest enthusiasm, and every pastry dish disposed of under the auctioneer's hammer brought a good price. One pie, made by Miss Cleve Mitchell, brought $7.

Mr. Rogers, the former Y. M. C. A. worker, staged an impromptu gymnastic attractions with the assistance of the North Side youngsters.

"It's purpose that counts," said the Goop succinctly: "didn't you know that?"

"I knew that there's a certain reward for good intentions," I said, "but the general trend of moral and practical instruction is that intentions have got to be backed up by action to carry much weight."

"They're afraid of the things they're taught to be afraid of," said the Goop. "But with a few thousand years of just that sort of training, you can't blame them."

"And as for the connection, you were wondering how organizations with timid women and crawling women untasteful in the many art of sticking to their guns ever make progress."

"I have known organizations—and you have too—where it seemed that the leaders struggled almost absolutely alone, and when every crucial moment of progress found them stranded high and dry from their weaker-sister companions. I have known criticism and publicity to lay an organization of women as flat as mowed grass in a meadow, and yet known them to come patiently back to position, and stay with the position, flat or upright."

I am glad they have not done anything about Hopper's leg. If it was me I would rather they would let it grow up, and then I could cut it out. I could have it cut out. I could have it cut out.

and when he comes up and give us our apples and said to let go out to the barn to eat them his mother grabbed him and took a banana for each of us out of his shirt, so all we got was the apples. His father is a huckster and had the bananas to huck. If I had a banana I would give it to my friends, but women don't.

So all we got was apples.

That way, I am glad I was not born stingy. I would Younise that when I am a man I am going to be a huckster and any time she wants oranges or anything to just get me and she said she would give me a banana. I told her that if I would give him some and I said I should say no. I wonder what he thinks I am. When I had milked the cow and had on my father said, I had better stay in the house with my care. So I went to bed early.

PART ONE

Sherlock Holmes was a man who seldom took exercise for exercise's sake. Few men were capable of greater muscular effort, and he was undoubtedly one of the finest boxers of his weight that I have ever seen; but he looked upon aimless bodily exertion as a waste of energy, and he seldom bestirred himself save where there was some professional object to be served. Then he was absolutely untiring and indefatigable.

upset, and you must put it all down to that. He passed his hand over his forehead like a man who was half dazed, and then fell rather than sat down upon a chair.

"I can see that you have not slept for a night or two," said Holmes, in his easy, genial way, "that tries a man's nerves more than work, and more than pleasure. May I ask how I can help you?"

"I wanted your advice, sir. I don't know what to do, and my whole life seems to have gone to pieces."

"You wish to employ me as a consulting detective?"

"Not that only. I want your opinion as a judicious man—as a man of the world. I only want to know what I ought to do next. I hope to God you'll be able to tell me."

"He spoke in little, sharp, jerky outbursts, and it seemed to me that to speak at all was very painful to him, and that his will all through was overriding his inclinations."

"It is a very delicate thing," said he. "One does not like to speak of one's domestic affairs to strangers. It seems dreadful to discuss the conduct of one's wife with two men whom I have never seen before. I've got to get to the end of my tether, as the saying is."

"My dear Mr. Grant Munro," began Holmes. "Our visitor sprang from his chair. 'What!' he cried, 'you know my name?'"

"If you wish to preserve your incognito," said Holmes, smiling, "I would suggest that you cease to write your name upon the lining of our hat, and also that you turn the crown towards the person whom you are addressing. I was about to say that my friend and I have looked a little out on his hat, and he looked a little into the lining of our hat, and that we have had the good fortune to bring peace to many troubled souls. I trust that we may do as much for you. Might I beg you, as time may prove to be of importance, to furnish me with the facts of your case without further delay?"

"Our visitor again passed his hand over his forehead, as if he found it bitterly hard. From every gesture and expression I could see that he was a reserved, self-contained man, with a dash of pride in his nature, more likely to hide his wounds than to expose them. Then suddenly, with a fierce gesture of his closed hand, like one who throws reserve to the winds, he began:

"The facts are these, Mr. Holmes. I am a married man and have been so for three years. During that time my wife and I have loved each other as fondly and lived as happily as any two that ever were joined. We have not had a difference, not one, in thought or word or deed. A good night since last Monday, there has suddenly sprung up a barrier between us, and I find that there is something in her life and in her thoughts of which I have loved a little as if she were the woman who brushes by me in the street. We are estranged, and I want to know why."

"Not there is one thing that I want to impress upon you before I go any further, Mr. Holmes. Effie loves me. Don't let there be any mistake about that. She loves me with her whole heart and soul and never more than now. I know it. I feel it. I don't want to argue about it. A man can tell easily enough when a woman loves him. But there's this secret between us, and we can never be the same until it is cleared."

"Kindly let me have the facts, Mr. Munro," said Holmes, with some impatience.

"I'll tell you what I know about Effie's history. She was a widow when I met her first, though quite young—only twenty-five. Her name then was Mrs. Hebron. She went out to America when she was young, and lived in the town of Atlanta, where she married this Hebron, who was a lawyer with good practice. They had one child, but the yellow fever broke out badly in the place, and both husband and child died of it. I have seen his death certificate. This sickened her of America, and she came back to live with a maiden aunt at Pinner, in Middlesex. I may mention that her husband had left her comfortably off, and that she had a capital of about four thousand five hundred pounds, which had been so well invested that it returned an average of seven per cent. She had only been six months at Pinner when I met her; we fell in love with each other, and I married a few weeks afterwards."

"I am a hop merchant myself, and as I have an income of seven or eight hundred, we found ourselves comfortably well off, and took a nice eighty-pound-a-year villa at Newbury. Our little place was very country, considering that it is so close to town. We had an inn and two houses a little above us, and a single cottage at the other side of our hat, which faces us, and except those there were no houses until you got half way to the station. My business took me into town at certain seasons, but in summer I had less to do, and then in our country home my wife and I were just as happy as could be wished. I tell you that there never was a shadow of a quarrel until this accursed affair began."

"There's one thing I ought to tell you, before I go further. When we married, my wife made over all her property to me—rather against my will, for I saw how awkward it would be if my business affairs went wrong. However, she would have it so, and it was done. Well, about six weeks ago she came to me, and she said, 'Jack,' said she, 'when you took my money you said that if ever I wanted any I was to ask for it.'"

"Certainly," said I, "it's all your own."

"Well," said she, "I want a hundred pounds."

"I was a bit staggered at this, for I had imagined it was simply a few dress or something of the kind that she was after."

"What on earth for?" I asked.

"Oh," said she, in her playful way, "you said that you were only my banker and bankers never ask questions you know."

"If you really mean it, of course you shall have the money," said I.

"Oh, yes, I really mean it."

"I was a bit staggered at this, for I had imagined it was simply a few dress or something of the kind that she was after."

"Oh," said she, in her playful way, "you said that you were only my banker and bankers never ask questions you know."

"Ay, we'll just ask ye when we want ye," said she, and shut the door in my face. Annoyed at the churlish rebuff, I turned my back and walked home. All evening, though I tried to think of other things, my mind would still turn to the apparition at the window and the rudeness of the woman. I determined to say nothing about the former to my wife, for she is a nervous, highly strung woman, and I had no wish that she should share the unpleasant impression which had been produced upon myself. I remarked to her however, before I fell asleep, that the cottage was now occupied, to which she returned no reply."

THE MERRY JOURNEYS OF MARY JANE

"Bumble-bee-kine—Bumble-bee-kine" said Mary Jane to the Big Wolf

Mary Jane and the Big Wolf

ONE day, after school, Mary Jane, the cutest little girl you ever knew, was sitting under a big tree, minding her little brother Bobbie, and working out a lot of hard problems—like "If I have 6 apples, and I give 3 to John and 1 to Joe, how many are left?" and so forth—when a great big wolf bounced out of the woods.

He stopped right alongside of Mary Jane, and opened his mouth wide and said "Do you see all these big teeth? I've a good mind to bite a piece out of your little brother with them."

Mary Jane was awfully scared at first. But she remembered that her old grandmother once told her that if she ever met a wolf, or a fox—or anybody who didn't mind his own business—all she had to do was to look him right in the eye, and say

"Bumble-bee-kine Bumble-bee-kine Enny, meeny, wittikine—Stingaree!"

And so she did. And, first thing you know, a great, big, yellow-jacket wasp came booming up from around the tree, and jabbed his stinger right into Mr. Wolf's nose.

Mr. Wolf let out one awful howl. And he never bothered anybody again, ever.

When Mary Jane and Bobby got home and told their mamma about the wolf their mamma said it served him right. And then she gave Mary Jane and her little brother a big thick piece of bread with a whole lot of delicious Mary Jane Syrup on it—the syrup that every good little girl and boy likes better than any other syrup.

CONTROVERSY USED BY JAPS TO SCREEN EXPANSION IN ASIA

SUCH IS STATEMENT OF PROFESSOR PITKIN OF COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY.

DOES NOT WANT WAR WITH UNITED STATES

Would Begin Hostilities, However, If Interfered With In Oriental Affairs.

BY HAROLD D. JACOBS

United Press Staff Correspondent. NEW YORK, March 2.—Japan is employing her controversy with the United States over the island of Yap as a smoke screen behind which she can conduct her expansionist campaign in Asia, Professor Walter R. Pitkin of Columbia university, declared in an interview with the United Press today.

While Japan does not want war with this country, she will not hesitate to begin hostilities should we attempt to interfere with the progress of her scheme of imperialism, according to Pitkin, who is regarded as an authority on Oriental affairs.

"For the next 10 years the great European powers unquestionably will be concerned almost wholly with forcing Germany to meet her reparations payments," Pitkin said.

"Obviously they will not dare to weaken their naval and military strength in Europe. This will leave Japan free to extend her designs, especially in Siberia, with only the United States to intervene even should we feel called upon to do so.

Thus, while Japan's present colossal expenditures on armament are not aimed directly at us, her militarists feel that we are the main nation against whom they are most likely to be employed.

"In my opinion, Japan is deliberately prolonging the dispute regarding her mandate over Yap merely to provide a 'trading point' with the United States, just as she has so ardently insisted upon her alleged rights in California, Hawaii and the Philippines. Now leave us alone."

MILITARY OFFICIALS ARE CLOSELY WATCHING JAPAN

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Military officials here today are closely watching additional troops now being dispatched to Siberia by Japan, ostensibly to replace the present Japanese forces with fresh divisions.

There are at present two divisions of Japanese troops in Siberia with an aggregate strength of 17,000 men, according to military reports.

Dr. Barber spoke at the Jewish temple Wednesday night. "How to Make Dinner," he said. He was heard with interest by a fair crowd.

T. R. Noble returned Thursday morning from Mineral Wells. He is still suffering somewhat from the injury to his knee, and his physicians are being careful with it. It was hurt while Mr. Noble was on an interurban car, his foot slipping while he was trying to lower a stubborn window and causing his knee to turn.

A jury trial was in progress Thursday afternoon in city court, the defendant being a contractor who is alleged to have put down a cement sidewalk without obtaining the required permit. The case was still on trial at 3:24 o'clock this afternoon, when it was adjourned by the property owner who had the work done.

If somebody can be found who will provide the necessary machine, the Boy Nursery and all of its thirty-odd young boarders will be represented in the City show on Saturday. Mrs. C. E. Ousley of the Welfare Council said Thursday that the increasing number of babies cared for at the nursery has prompted her to desire to show Wichitans what the institution is doing. Anyone who has a car available for this purpose can communicate with Mrs. Ousley.

A short session of city court was held Thursday morning. Pleas of guilty were accepted from four men who engaged in a fight near the union station late Wednesday and who had been arrested by Patrolmen Graham.

A large fire, thought to be a straw stack, could be seen burning Thursday afternoon southeast of the city in the general direction of the East Wichita well.

A charge of automobile theft has been filed against one Red Holmes, arrested late Wednesday at Burk Burnett and brought to the city. The machine in the case is believed to be an S. Amyx and was reported missing several weeks ago.

Ulman Bruno, aged 14, messenger for a drug store, suffered injuries to his head and leg late Wednesday when he was struck by a car at the corner of Tenth and Brook. The car was driven by O. E. Maer, who says that he was proceeding at a very moderate rate. It is said the youth became confused when he saw the machine approaching and came directly into its path.

H. D. Bishop, of the department of justice was the recipient of a beautiful Howard watch given him by the wholesale credit association of Dallas as an appreciation of an investigation which Mr. Bishop conducted with great success.

HENRY FORD DECLARES DISARMAMENT WILL SETTLE THE QUESTION

WILL REPAIR THE FAILURE OF TREATY BY KEEPING FAITH VIOLATED.

SAYS PRESIDENT-ELECT NOW HAS OPPORTUNITY

Can Achieve At One Stroke All That Clumsy Peace Treaty Failed To Achieve.

(Copyright 1921 by the United Press.)

DR. H. D. MITCHELL, March 2.—By proposing universal disarmament, President Harding "can achieve at one stroke all that the clumsy peace treaty failed to achieve," Henry Ford declared today in a specially prepared statement. The statement follows:

"I have proposed universal disarmament, which includes all that was hoped for from the parliament of nations and because that is the only way by which people can escape the crushing burdens of war debt, war interest, war taxation and war profiteering. It is an economic necessity. Disarmament is no longer the vision of 'pacifists'; it is the only solution of the world's financial crisis.

CITY TO BE "LIT UP" IN MORE WAYS THAN ONE FOR STYLE SHOW

MUCH COMPETITION FOR PARADE PRIZES EXPECTED

Local And Visiting Organizations To Try For Special Awards—Plans Proceeding Rapidly.

A definite decision to have the business district in gala attire for the Spring Style Show was reached at a committee meeting Thursday afternoon. Plans for a scheme of decorations that will be both elaborate and appropriate were set on foot.

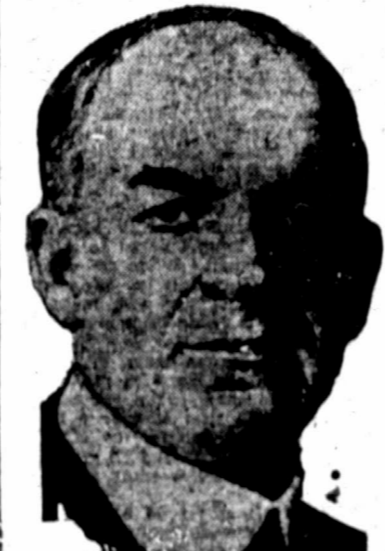

Thursday's meeting of the committee found nearly all details in satisfactory shape. A change in the plans for parade prizes was made, and the awards will be as follows:

For the best decorated car from out of the city, $100.
 For the best Wichita Falls car entered by an individual, prizes of $20, $15, $15 and $10.
 For the best Wichita Falls car entered by a business house or organization, prizes of $25, $20, $15 and $10.

It is understood that chambers of commerce and other organizations in communities around Wichita Falls will have cars entered in the contest for out-of-town machines, and considerable competition for this premium is anticipated.

A dance in the ballroom of the Kemp hotel has been decided upon as an added social feature. With this dance and the open-air dance in the street, local and visiting dancers will have ample opportunity to shake their shins.

SCIENTIST SAYS EARTH GETS 20,000,000 BUMPS A DAY

Dr. W. W. Campbell, famous director of the Lick Observatory, California, who has announced that not less than 20,000,000 foreign bodies collide with the earth every day. Despite these 20,000,000 bumps the earth goes on. The atmosphere, however, averts many tragedies, acting as a cushion and buffer and also wearing away by friction many big and little visitors from space. The friction makes light. That's where the shooting stars come from.

218 RATS KILLED AT FARM NEAR CITY AS FEATURE OF DRIVE

A rat story brought in Thursday by F. M. McKinley is likely to be a strong contender for one of the prizes offered by The Times.

Mr. McKinley reports that M. M. Emmert, Ben Roediger and himself with his two dogs killed 218 rats at Emmert's farm about two miles north of Wichita Falls Wednesday afternoon. They were big ones, too, said Mr. McKinley.

In a few days Mr. McKinley intends to take his dogs over to Mr. Roediger's place and expects to have another good rat story to report. His dogs killed nearly all the rats on Mr. McKinley's farm.

2 SPEAKERS HEARD AT ROTARY DINNER

An inspiring address by Dr. Paul Womer of Topeka, Kansas, and a talk by A. W. Burnside featured the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club Thursday.

Mr. Burnside gave his fellow Rotarians some interesting facts and figures about life insurance. The great increase in the amount of insurance written in the past year or so, he explained, was due partly to the flu epidemic and partly to the stimulus afforded by the government's war-time insurance.

Citing figures, compiled to accuracy, to show that out of 100 men at the age 25, it can be expected that 34 will die before reaching 65, and that of the remainder of 66, one will be rich, four will be well-to-do, five will be self-supporting and the remaining 56 will be dependent upon relatives or the public, the speaker pointed out how insurance, taken out in early life, would furnish protection in later years.

FIERY, ITCHY SKIN QUICKLY SOOTHED WITH SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing soothes fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist. The mentho-sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications, the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up.

Woodrow Wilson's Place in History

Wilson as He Entered Office and as He Retires to Private Life

All who have seen Woodrow Wilson during the closing days of his eight years as president of the United States have observed the great change in his physical appearance, caused by the breakdown in health he suffered many months ago. The retiring president is far from the robust man he was when he first entered the White House in 1913. The picture, taken as he went into office, shows strength and health, and the picture taken as he left office shows a man who has suffered a great deal of suffering and whose health has been broken down by the strain of his administration.

Woodrow Wilson, The Man

By W. H. GIMMER
United Press Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, March 3.—Eight years ago tomorrow Woodrow Wilson, pictured as an idealistic college professor, became president of the United States.

During the campaign and election, the country had heard much of his achievements and deeds of Wilson—how he had risen to the presidency of Princeton university, of his fight to democratize that institution and how that fight led him to the governorship of New Jersey, where he brought about the passage of a workmen's compensation act, the first in the world, and a corrupt practices election law.

But about Woodrow Wilson the man, the country knew little. He was pictured always as the cold man of logic. In the eight years since his inauguration, America has seen and heard more of the deeds of Woodrow Wilson—how he had risen to the presidency of Princeton university, of his fight to democratize that institution and how that fight led him to the governorship of New Jersey, where he brought about the passage of a workmen's compensation act, the first in the world, and a corrupt practices election law.

But even after eight years in the presidency there is still little information about the man who has led the country through the most trying and painful period in its history. The man who has led the country through the most trying and painful period in its history. The man who has led the country through the most trying and painful period in its history.

On April 4, 1917, President Wilson rode to the capital and read amid wild cheers from the floor and galleries the great war message, one of the immortal documents of history, which will continue to be read through the ages. It was the English language remains a living tongue. On that fateful day it rode with him back from the capital to the White House, and the man who has led the country through the most trying and painful period in its history.

When word came, back in 1913, that a German vessel, laden with millions, was on its way to Mexico, President Wilson was in telephonic communication with Secretaries Bryan and Daniels. After the situation had been stated over the telephone, a voice came back clear and firm: "Order Admiral Meyer to take Vera Cruz at once." I was on the telephone at the time and listened to the conversation that took place between the president and the two secretaries. Just before the woman carried was scarcely noticed. Yet it was for the saving of the child that Wilson had labored until he had a physical and mental breakdown. The man who has led the country through the most trying and painful period in its history.

The people, the common people of all lands, who had seen the great peace and the great hope die in their hearts. The great disillusionment took its place. The most receptive mood for a new start of world had been watched things from the inside I feel convinced that the people were largely misled, and the foundations of human government were shaken in a way which will fall for centuries to come. The man who has led the country through the most trying and painful period in its history.

Will this judgment born of momentary disillusion and disappointment stand in future, or will it be reversed? The time has not come to pass final judgment on either Wilson or any of the other great actors in the drama at Paris. The personal estimates will depend largely on the interpretation of that drama. In the night, the man who has led the country through the most trying and painful period in its history.

Woodrow Wilson, The Man

By W. H. GIMMER

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Eight years ago tomorrow Woodrow Wilson, pictured as an idealistic college professor, became president of the United States.

During the campaign and election, the country had heard much of his achievements and deeds of Wilson—how he had risen to the presidency of Princeton university, of his fight to democratize that institution and how that fight led him to the governorship of New Jersey, where he brought about the passage of a workmen's compensation act, the first in the world, and a corrupt practices election law.

But about Woodrow Wilson the man, the country knew little. He was pictured always as the cold man of logic. In the eight years since his inauguration, America has seen and heard more of the deeds of Woodrow Wilson—how he had risen to the presidency of Princeton university, of his fight to democratize that institution and how that fight led him to the governorship of New Jersey, where he brought about the passage of a workmen's compensation act, the first in the world, and a corrupt practices election law.

But even after eight years in the presidency there is still little information about the man who has led the country through the most trying and painful period in its history. The man who has led the country through the most trying and painful period in its history. The man who has led the country through the most trying and painful period in its history.

On April 4, 1917, President Wilson rode to the capital and read amid wild cheers from the floor and galleries the great war message, one of the immortal documents of history, which will continue to be read through the ages. It was the English language remains a living tongue. On that fateful day it rode with him back from the capital to the White House, and the man who has led the country through the most trying and painful period in its history.

March 4, 1921—Will retire from presidency to resume writing.

Understandings will clear away, one by one, the people still outside the covenant will fall in behind this banner, under which the human race is going to march forward to triumph of peaceful organization and achievement undreamed of by its children of an unhappy era. And the leader who, in spite of apparent failure, succeeded in inscribing his name on that banner has achieved the most enviable and enduring immortality. Americans of the future will yet proudly and gratefully rank him with Washington and Lincoln, and his fame will have more universal significance than theirs.

DOROTHY DIX'S TALKS

By DOROTHY DIX
THE WORLD'S HIGHEST PAID WOMAN WRITER

CAN YOU GUESS IT?

A WOMAN asks: "Why does a man enjoy trifling with a woman's heart?"

"Why does a man use every effort to win a woman's love, and then cast it aside as carelessly as he would a toy of which he had tired?"

"Why does a man spend months, and sometimes years, in persuading a woman to marry him, and as soon as he is married apparently lose all interest in her?"

"Why does a man break his neck to get a home of his own, and when he has got it break a leg in getting away from it?"

I am sure I don't know. These things merely are. They are idiosyncrasies of the masculine psychology that the feminine mind cannot fathom. They are the riddle over which the Sphinx broods in her desert solitude. They are the great phenomena of the ages that uncounted generations of women have tried and failed.

Perhaps as good an answer as any is to be found in the fact that men are sportsmen by nature, and gamblers by instinct, and that women are chiefly interested to them while they are part of the greatest game in the world, which is the love game.

As long as a woman is out of a man's reach, she intrigues his fancy. Her indifference to him piques his vanity, and makes him put forth every effort to charm her. Her coldness stimulates his imagination. It is he who is the hunter, and she who is the hunted.

Her inaccessibility lures him on, and the harder she is to capture, the more determined he is to have her.

It is the spirit of the big game hunter. It is the spirit that makes men risk their lives in jungles, or climbing the precipitous faces of mountains to shoot some animal that is not even worth taking back to camp. It is the spirit that makes men risk their lives in fever-infested swamps to find a single insignificant plant, or endure the incredible hardships of frozen wastes to seek the North Pole.

It is this inherent spirit of adventure, of curiosity about the unknown, of a passionate desire for the unattained, that makes a man's attitude towards a woman entirely different before he wins her and afterwards. And this hunter spirit is something that women never understand, because women are not born sportsmen.

Therefore, it is almost axiomatic that the less a woman wants a man, the more she wants him, and that the more a man wants a woman, the more sure he is to get her.

Men like the coy, the elusive, the uncertain in her, but woman likes the substantial, the downright, the tangible in man. A man's ideal woman is always airy, fairy-like, elusive, just fluttering beyond the reach of his finger-tips and leading him a dance through life, but woman's ideal man is Johnny-on-the-spot, to whom she can lean, and who is just as much a part of the domestic establishment as the hearthstone.

There is no surer way to win a woman's heart than by patient siege. A girl may flout a suitor at first, but five times out of ten she will end by marrying him if he just sits pat on her doorstep. But nothing so effectively queers a woman's chance of getting the man she wants, as for him to know that he can have her any time he says the word. It's the peach that hangs highest on the tree that whets a man's appetite. Not the one that is ready to fall into his mouth.

It is a pity that women have not intelligence enough to understand that the passion for the chase is the ruling passion for men, and that the harder a woman runs after a man, the more speed he makes in getting away from her. If women realized this, we should have fewer girls calling men up on the telephone and demanding to know why they don't come to see them, and trying to make dates with unwilling swains, and we should have many, many more weddings.

Girls don't marry because they are too anxious to marry. There is no excitement in courting them because they meet a man more than half-way. Winning them is like knocking over chickens that sit out of your hand in a barnyard, instead of shooting wild ducks on the wing. There is no pep nor thrill to it. Nothing to rouse a man's interest, and he doesn't get roused. And their stupid parents hinder, instead of help, when they bribe young men to come to the house by means of fees, and auto rides, and theatre tickets, and so on. There are many ways to win a man, but the only way that fox fathers and mothers had their daughters so inaccessible that young men had to plot and plan to get a word with them, and bribe servants to slip them billet doux that were admissible in a breach of promise suit. When Marianna was locked up in her room, Edwin stole her out through a window, but when the front door is thrown wide open and the whole family is trying to drag Edwin in, he beats it away from the premises.

One of the reasons that business girls marry oftener than society girls is because they are harder to win. A girl with a good job is loath to give it up for a mere husband, and it's because she isn't after them that men are so keen after her.

Perhaps there is no bitterer moment in a woman's life than that one which marks the end of the honeymoon, when her husband ceases to make love to her, and to flatter her, and drops her down from the pinnacle of romance to the dull, cold realities of life, with a thud that loosens her back teeth and brings her castle of dreams down about her ears. She is miserable, because she thinks he has ceased to care for her, but this is a mistake. It merely means that for him the love chase is over. He has got his bag and there is nothing more to be got out of it. It's up to her then, whether he stinks into the indifferent husband, secure of his wife's devotion, no matter how he neglects her, or if she seizes him still interested, and a lover, by keeping him guessing. It's the too certain wives who make the uncertain husbands.

Of course, it's a cruel thing for a man to win a woman's heart for fun, but the hunter and the hunted always look at sport from a different angle.

THE YOUNG LADY ACROSS THE WAY

We asked the young lady across the way if she didn't have too many white corpuccles and she said on the other hand they had so much trouble getting a laundress regularly that she was going to get a lot more.

LAST NIGHT'S DREAMS; WHAT THEY MEAN

NEW THINGS

To dream of acquiring anything new, especially if it is presented to you, is accounted an excellent omen by the majority of the mystics. This dream is a particularly favorable one for persons now in trouble or affliction as it indicates a speedy change for the better. It is an excellent dream for those in poor health and indicates a speedy recovery. For those whose finances are disordered it signifies that their affairs will soon take on another complexion and all their financial worries will be over. To lovers who have had a quarrel it signifies that they will soon "kiss and make up." For married people it indicates a return of domestic tranquility and financial prosperity. It is the harbinger of better times for the unfortunate. Some of the oracles are of the opinion that in a dream of something new the omen is better if the new thing seen in the dream is something which is to be worn by the dreamer—such as an article of clothing or an ornament. Such a dream, they say, means joy, gain and pleasure. To dream of giving away any new article signifies that the dreamer will soon be in a position to help his friends and relatives. Also that he is of a benevolent disposition. A few of the oracles see in a dream of something new the omen of an unexpected legacy. All mystics agree that the dream in all its phases is one of fortunate significance; very possibly to the dreamer's family as well as to himself.

A strange and interesting list and yet there are comprehensible reasons for the presence of every name that filled this youthful individual hall of fame.

We begin to choose our heroes very early in life. The story of "Jack and the Beanstalk" has furnished many a boy with his first ideal of bravery and daring.

"Robinson Crusoe"—the characters of James Fenimore Cooper—even the covers of the old "yellow covers" and "The Nickel Library" and Cap Collier's creations thrilled many of us to ambitions which faded away with boyhood.

One thing is certain: no boy ever worshipped a man as a hero unless in his opinion he had done something extraordinary, something that really entitled him to admiration.

There are heroes in evil as well as in good. No one could doubt the bravery of Jesse James any more than he could question the military daring of General Pershing. One was a hero in evil deeds, the other a hero in good—if we may still call war and its accomplishments good deeds.

If we pick our heroes for the purposes of imitation we should be very careful. Not many men in all history were desirable of imitation in all the departments of their lives. Every great man has some weakness, and every hero would have to be a composite man, a combination of the great without their faults.

The most popular hero that ever lived was undoubtedly Napoleon. But of him Robert Ingersoll said in one of the greatest of his short addresses that he would rather be the humblest of French peasants than the man at whose commands hundreds of thousands had died.

Who is your hero? Why is he your hero?

DRESS

By ANNE RITTENHOUSE

Even When You Buy Bathing Suits in February Instead of in Midsummer You Will Probably Avoid the Bizarre and Spectacular.

It is combined with yellow taffeta, which binds the scallops and winds about the waist in a snug girde. Black and yellow are and will remain one of the good combinations of the season.

BATHING suits have an impermanent way of popping into the shop windows in midwinter—just at the time that we have at last come to the conclusion that autumn is really over.

Impertinent is their appearance only of course when we are stay-at-homes. The season that you're February is to be passed at Palm Beach or in some other Southern climate, then of course there is nothing that seems more normal in your complex of dress problems than this matter of bathing suits.

Bathing suit skirts were abbreviated in length when street and dance skirts were abbreviated. Our regular skirts took a hem line about where bathing suits had stopped a generation ago, and which emboldened the bathing suit to do the really sensible and comfortable thing and stop above the knees. But now that skirts are coming down again we need not expect suits to follow them. Apparently bathing suit skirts have been abbreviated permanently. They will remain short skirted at least until some still different idea in bathing suits comes in.

If You Are Conservative. The bathing suit is the last detail of dress which a good many well-dressed women care to use as an outlet for their taste for the bizarre, the novel or the spectacular.

You may read with something of interest of the Premet bathing suit made for that fascinating French actress, Odette Myrtil, with its very short bloomers, suggestive of the puffed trunk hose of Shakespeare's time, its cape-like back drape hanging from the shoulders, and the enormous looped and puffed girde, extending out at the right and hanging down to the knees. It may even look at them in the showcases or displayed by your dressmaker's model and consider—but you won't buy them or any like them.

The New Waxed Satin. What you will select—if you are like the average discriminating, well-dressed American, woman—will be something no more startling than the bathing suit shown in today's sketch. It is by no means dowdy or uninteresting, however. Of black waxed satin, a fabric ingeniously developed by the French for bathing costumes.

The vogue for combining yellow or orange with black is made use of in the bathing suit of black waxed satin scalloped and bound with yellow taffeta.

Something To Think About

Who Is Your Hero?

By F. A. WALKER

A FEW days ago the police of a great city picked up on the street a destitute boy of 18. He was ragged and hungry. When they searched him at the station house the only thing they found in his pockets was a rumpled paper upon which had been written as the title "My Heroes" and underneath were listed these names:

- Theodore Roosevelt;
- General Pershing;
- Jesse James;
- Tracy the Bandit;
- Captain Kidd.

A strange and interesting list and yet there are comprehensible reasons for the presence of every name that filled this youthful individual hall of fame.

We begin to choose our heroes very early in life. The story of "Jack and the Beanstalk" has furnished many a boy with his first ideal of bravery and daring.

The Housewife's Economy Calendar

What Are Conveniences?

SOME housewives seem to think that the only kind of conveniences are those that are run by electricity or that are very expensive—things that you go to the store to buy and then pay for very liberally. You know the sort—electric washing machines, electric and gas mangles, vacuum cleaners and the like.

Well, these are conveniences, to be sure, and if you can possibly afford them they are always a good investment. But there are other little conveniences, things that don't cost much—sometimes things that don't cost anything in actual money, that will save as much of the busy housewife's time as the others. They say that an electric washer saves the housewife a day a week. Doubtless it does. Vacuum cleaners save many, many hours and much strength. But sometimes these other conveniences save just as much time.

Now, what are they?

Here's one. It is a matter of arrangement. It is having your kitchen arranged so that when you dry dishes you can put most of them right into the shelves where they belong, instead of having to place them on a tray or a table later to be carried into another room and put away in a cupboard that you must stoop down to see. Then there is much time to be saved by having the places for your food conveniently placed. If you have to walk down cellar every time you want to get butter or milk, this takes many minutes a day, hours a week possibly.

Having kitchen utensils where they can be reached easily is another convenience that saves time—more time than you realize unless you compare the actual steps you take in preparation of a meal when the utensils are hung where you can reach them from your work table and stove and the steps you would have to take were they stowed away in a cupboard at one side of the kitchen.

An O. HENRY Story

The Pride of the Cities

By O. HENRY.

S AID Mr. Kipling: "The cities are full of pride challenging each to each." Even so.

New York was empty. Two hundred thousand of its people were away for the summer. Three million eight hundred thousand remained as caretakers and to pay the bills of the absentees. But the two hundred thousand are an expensive lot.

The New Yorker sat at a roof-garden table, ingesting solace through a straw. His Panama lay upon a chair. The July audience was scattered among vacant seats as widely as outfields when the champion batter steps to the plate. Vaudeville happened at intervals. The breeze was cool from the bay; around and above—everywhere except on the stage—were stars. Gilgruesque were to be had of water, always disappearing. Like startled chamois, prudent visitors who had ordered refreshments by phone in the morning were now being served.

The New Yorker was aware of certain drawbacks to his comfort, but content beamed softly from his rimless eyeglasses. His family was out of town. The drinks were warm; the ballet was suffering from lack of bodies and had resumed its family would not return until September.

Then up into the garden stumbled the man from Topaz City, Nevada. The gloom of the solitary sightseer enveloped him. Bereft of joy through loneliness, he stalked with a widower's face through the halls of pleasure. Thirst for human companionship possessed him as he peeped in the metropolitan draught. Straight to the New Yorker's table he steered.

The New Yorker, disgraced and made reckless by the heat, entered the sphere of a roof garden, decided upon utter abandonment of his life's traditions. He resolved to shatter with one rash, dare-devil, impulsive, hair-brained act the conventions that had hitherto been woven into his existence. Carrying out this radical and precipitous inspiration, he nodded slightly to the stranger as he drew nearer the table.

The next moment found the man from Topaz City in the list of the New Yorker's closest friends. He took a chair at the table, he gathered two others for his feet, he tossed his broad-brimmed hat upon a fourth, and told his life's history to his new-found pard.

The New Yorker warmed a little, as a speaker's house turns warm when the strawberry season begins. A waiter who came within hail in an unguarded moment was captured and paroled on an errand to the Doctor Wiley experimental station. The talker, sitting ready the exact tip against the waiter's coming with large change from the bill.

"Me?" said the man from Topaz City. "Four days. Never in Topaz City, was you?"

"I was the New Yorker. 'I was never farther west than Eighth Avenue. I had a brother who died on Ninth, but I met the corgie at Eighth. There was a bunch of violets on the hearse, and the undertaker mentioned the incident to mistake me, taking me for that I am familiar with the West."

"Topaz City," said the man who occupied four chairs, "is one of the finest towns in the world."

"I presume that you have seen the sights of the metropolis," said the New Yorker. "Four days is not a sufficient length of time in which to view even our most salient points of interest, but one can possibly form a general impression. Our architectural supremacy is what generally strikes visitors to our city most forcibly. Of course, you have seen our Flatiron Building. It is considered—"

"Saw it," said the man from Topaz City. "But you ought to come out our way. It's mountainous, you know, and the ladies all wear short skirts for climbing and—"

"Excuse me," said the New Yorker, "but that isn't exactly the point. New York must be a wonderful revelation to a visitor from the West. Now, as to our hotels—"

"Say," said the man from Topaz City, "that reminding me there were sixteen stage robbers shot last year within twenty miles of—"

"I was speaking of hotels," said the New Yorker. "We lead Europe in that respect. And, as far as our leisure class is concerned we are far—"

"Oh, I don't know," interrupted the man from Topaz City. "There were twelve tramps in our jail when I left home. I guess New York isn't so—"

"Beg pardon, you seem to misapprehend the idea. Of course, you visited the Stock Exchange and Wall Street, where they—"

"Oh, yes," said the man from Topaz City, "and I want to tell you that we've got the finest town marshal west of the Rockies. Topaz City don't allow—"

"Have another Rhine wine and setzer," suggested the New Yorker. "This was being said, he said: 'but there can't be any place up there to compare with New York. As to the claims of Chicago—'

"One man," said the Topasitan, "one man only has been murdered and robbed in Topaz City in the last three—"

"Yes, yes, but speaking of our great city—one of its greatest features is our superb police department. There is no body of men in the world that can equal it for—"

"That waiter gets around like a Langley flying machine," remarked the man from Topaz City, thriftily. "We've got men in our town, too, worth $400,000. There's old Bill Withers and Colonel Metcalf and—"

"Have you seen Broadway at night?" asked the New Yorker, contentedly. "There are few streets in the world that can compare with it. When the electric are shining and the pavements are alive with two hurrying streams of elegantly clothed in the costliest costumes that wind in and out in a close maze of expensiveness—"

"Never knew but one case in Topaz City," said the man from the West, his watch and chain and $235 in cash taken from his pocket while—"

"Here, waiter!" called the New Yorker. "Two more of the same. It is acknowledged by every one that our city has more of art, literature and learning. Take, for instance, our after-dinner speakers. Where else in the country would you find such wit and eloquence as emanate from Dewey and Ford, and—"

"If you take the papers," interrupted the Westerner, "you must have read of Pete Webster's daughter. The Websters live two blocks north of the court-house in Topaz City. Miss Tillie Webster, she slept forty days and nights without waking up. The doctors said that—"

"Pass the matches, please," said the New Yorker. "I have you oblige me." He passed the matches and served the expedition with which new buildings are being run up in New York. Improved inventions in steel framework and—"

"I noticed," said the Nevadaian, "that the statistics of Topaz City showed only one carpenter crushed by falling timbers last year and he was caught in a cyclone."

"Ta-rom-tara!" went the orchestra. The stage curtain, blushing pink at the name "Abe'ston" inscribed upon it, came down with a slow midsummer movement. The

Lyrics of Life

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THISTLES

I have a neighbor that I envy much: The not his wealth I want—he hasn't any: To tell the truth, his dollars are not many— He hasn't any sort of Midas touch To turn his little hopes and plans to gold. He has more failures than he has successes, And yet there is a wealth that he possesses, That I would give a lot to have and hold.

The thing I envy is his cheery heart. The smile that never seems to quite desert him. No matter what may hinder, what may hurt him, He pulls a grin and makes another start.

I wish that I had habits such as those, When things go wrong I wish that I could whistle. Could see some beauty even in a thistle.

When what I really wanted was a rose.

I go as wrong as them, when things go wrong: When out of luck I lie awake and worry: I guess it would get better in a hurry

I would take things as they come along. Both rose and thistle in the furrow fall. You can't have roses every blooming minute— And better have a field with thistles in it Than live a life without a flower at all.

ALL THE NEWS OF ALL THE SPORTS ALL THE TIME

Spirited Meeting Is Booked For City League Moguls At Southern Electric Tonight

The election of officers for the 1921 season and the appointment of committees to draft a schedule and pick suitable locations for diamonds will be among the important considerations at the first business meeting of the City league held tonight at 7:15 in the Southern Electric store.

President Jack Bristol has received the assurance of at least one member of each team that was in the league last year. The new season will be a spirited meeting is anticipated. In addition to last year's representatives there will undoubtedly be a few delegates from teams seeking admission to the league this year.

The circuit included six teams last season—the Wichita Motors, Presbyterians, National Electric, City National and American National. Every one of these clubs is expected to enter a team this year and it is probable that instead of the American National team, which was composed of employees of the Wichita State and American National teams last year, there will be separate teams from each institution.

Wichita State to Go Ahead. The Wichita State boys have already indicated that they will be able to go ahead this year as they have already rounded up eight men of more than ordinary ability, while the American boys feel that they can easily organize a team from their own ranks.

City National Set. Charlie Humphill at the City National club has rounded up his crew of ball tossers and a few of them took advantage of yesterday's holiday by setting out in the pasture and limbering up their muscles.

Yankee Twirler a Major League Vet At Twenty-One. NEW YORK, March 3.—A veteran at 21—a real "old timer" at an age when most boys are barely getting started—may get an opportunity to break into the big show, that's the status of Walter Hoyt, last year's Red Sox pitcher, and now one of Miller Huggins' prospective Yankee pennant winners.

SPORT SHOTS

Outlook Favorable for Boxing. See they haven't killed the boxing bug in Austin, in fact, things look rather favorable for the fist game at present. The measure sponsored by the American legion has passed the senate and will now be brought on the floor of the house for consideration. The fact that the motion picture industry is in the hands of a vote of nearly 2 to 1 is a pretty fair indication of the way the wind is blowing.

Verity for Crooked Player. Athletics played a prominent part in the day's work of the legislature yesterday. While the boxing bill was up in the house the bill making it a felony for a player to "throw a baseball game or for any person to fix a game" was up in the senate.

Had Night Idea. Too bad all didn't feel the same way about the bill as Senator McNealus of Dallas. He said that any player who threw a ball game "should wear stripes instead of a uniform." Senator McNealus was president of the Texas league once upon a time and is in a position to know that such a measure would have been a great benefit to the national pastime.

Three Times and Out. Not one major league club has selected the same training site the last three years in succession. Seven clubs, however, have gone back to the same place twice in a row. The Cubs have gone to Pasadena twice as have the Giants to San Antonio, the Pirates to Hot Springs, the Red Sox to Hot Springs, the White Sox to Waukegan, the Athletics to Lake Charles and the Senators to Tampa.

SWEDES REFUSE TO ALLOW CARPENTIER TO SHOW. STOCKHOLM, March 3.—George Carpentier, European heavyweight champion, was notified by police authorities today he could not give a scheduled exhibition here tonight. The Swedish boxers union, which is arranging a big amateur tournament, protested to city officials that the appearance of a professional fighter, even in exhibition work, would have a bad effect on the game and would hurt their show.

ENJOYS SPORT OF NORWAY IN AMERICA

Miss Laura Bryn, pretty daughter of Mr. H. H. Bryn, minister from Norway in Austin, is the first American-born daughter of the sports of her native land, in Washington. Miss Bryn, a lover of the outdoors and member of the Girl Scouts of America, brought out her snowshoes and demonstrated to the other embassy children the art as it is known in the snow-covered hills of Norway.

WRESTLERS ARE FORCED TO QUIT FROM EXHAUSTION. FAUCON, MAINE, March 3.—After five and a half hours for wrestling preliminary, Tom Davis, former captain of the University of Maine football team, and Ernest Abbott, a former Colby college athlete, were forced to quit last night from exhaustion. Spectator demands that the referee be called off and the referee declared it a draw.

A. AND M. CLAIMS STATE BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP. AUSTIN, March 3.—The A. & M. college basketball team defeated Texas University last night by a score of 18 to 12. This victory clinched the championship of Texas by reason of this victory. Dwyer starred for A. & M. while Peck and McCallough were the Texas stars.

YOU WOULDN'T TRY TO TAME A WILD-CAT. Mr. Dodson Warns Against Use of Treacherous, Dangerous Calomel. Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with your bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

Here comes spring just around the turn. Whistling a foolish tune. For I heard a kid catcher yell "Attaboy" With an accent born of June.

"Babe" Ruth with his surplus displacement may lose some of his speed this season. But no unusual speed is needed to jog around the bases after hitting a fast one out of the outfield. Where I read in the distance of the house of old John Blewitt. Under a wide, blue sky.

THE EIGHTEENTH VS. THE NINETEENTH. Sportlight: Golf is quite a game, isn't it? Grandeur (H. C. Fowles), in search of health, took up the game about 25 years ago, and played in the 18's right along with W. C. Wood in the sport of it, and battled his way to a championship. Monday at Finchester granddon (H. C. Wood) dubbed his way around in a rather good way.

RICKARD PREFERS TO STAGE BOUT IN U. S.

Will Listen To All Offers But All Principals Want to Show in America. By HENRY L. FARRELL. United Press Staff Correspondent. NEW YORK, March 3.—Nothing to prevent anyone from making offers, Rickard said today, commenting on the second wave of "million dollar" bids for the Dempsey-Carpenter fight.

"A Big Cut in Pie". Means nothing in a restaurant until you know whether it applies to the price or the slice. Nor does a big cut in clothing mean more—until the quality is bared for examination.

Good stores have always asked more for good goods than cheap stores for low rate merchandise. When the reliable clothier establishes a standard good suit price at $30—there has always been some one to come along and quote $27.75.

In conversation pertaining to values—we are inducing our personal friends wherever possible to COMPARE as never before—and we mean it with all our hearts.

We know our business—we know our qualities and our values—and if we can win you over to our side of the house by COMPARISON—it's a longer feather in our cap than if we simply sold you a suit without a struggle.

no interference from the governor's chair. Rickard said today he probably would announce his decision within a week. Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, is off to Minneapolis where Dempsey opens a vaudeville engagement Sunday night.

HORNBY WILL BE SHIFTED TO THIRD TEMPORARILY. ST. STATE UNIVERSITY'S EX-STUDENTS MEET IN ANNUAL RE-UNION

BANQUET AND DANCE MARK ADDITIONAL OBSERVANCE OF TEXAS ANNIVERSARY.

SENTIMENT STRONGLY IN FAVOR OF REMOVAL PLAN

Petition For It Largely Signed And Idea Indorsed By Speakers. Morgan New President.

Nearly 150 former students of the State university gathered at the Wichita club Wednesday night for the traditional observance of Texas Independence day. It was the annual re-union of "exes" of Wichita Falls and vicinity, taking the form of a banquet and dance, and had the largest attendance yet recorded here.

At the same time similar affairs were being held by "exes" throughout Texas, and as far south as Panama, as far west as San Francisco and as far north as Boston.

Dr. Robert E. Vinson, president of the university, the same reunion Wednesday night, as follows: "Cordial greetings to all Texas exes everywhere assembled to celebrate Texas Independence day. May the possibilities of the beginning of a new life for the university draw forth from each ex-student active expression of the love and loyalty which each one possesses for there has been no time when the university needs this more than now."

"ROBERT E. VINSON" (Signed) R. A. L. Morgan was elected president of the 1921 organization for the ensuing year. Harvey (Mule) Harris was elected vice-president, and Warren J. Dale was made secretary-treasurer.

In connection with the 1921 reunion, it was announced by L. R. Buchanan, retiring president, that "Benny" would be the principal speaker next year. This means that Dr. H. Y. Benedict, one of the university's most entertaining speakers, will be here, and that a new attendance record will be hung up.

The proposed moving of the university was the theme of each of the speakers on Wednesday night's program, and each of them voiced approval of the Brackenridge site. That their sentiments were shared by a large majority of those present was indicated by the fact that 17 exes signed a petition circulated by W. E. Hamilton, endorsing the proposed move.

A strike of waitresses at the Wichita club early this week had threatened to embarrass Edward Lombardi, but the situation was handsomely relieved by Mrs. C. R. Harrison's class of business girls, who replaced the waitresses and served snappy service.

Speakers were Dr. Everett Jones, W. R. Hamilton, C. I. Francis, Mrs. Warren Dale, R. C. Thaxton, R. D. Kilbough of Vernon and E. A. L. Morgan. University reminiscences, discussion of various aspects of the proposed removal to the Brackenridge site, and urging of still greater loyalty and support for the university, featured practically all of the talks, most of which were along happy, rather than serious, lines.

Interpersed with the speeches were university yells and songs, led by Martin L. Allday and Joe Ward. An unwholesome feature was a cracked-tenor solo by M. J. Bruce who first sang in honor of Perigrinus, patron saint of the law students, being presented with a basket of flowers; but when he sang a verse derogatory to the memory of Alexander Frederick Claire, engineering students' hero, the flowers were immediately withdrawn, the bearer of them spilling a glass of water into a coed's lap in retrieving them.

The exes sent a word of sympathy and good cheer to Julian Montgomery, who after being most active in preparing for the banquet, suffered an accident that prevented his being present at the reunion.

Dancing followed completion of the banquet. The petition for removal to the Brackenridge site, which was signed by most of the exes attending, is as follows: "We, the undersigned, respectfully petition the legislature of the state of Texas to place the University of Texas on a foundation big enough and broad enough to provide for its unrestricted development in the future, so that it may become, in fact, what the constitution of the state of Texas contemplated—the university of the first class."

"It is the opinion of the ex-students of the university of Texas who reside in the Wichita Falls district, that this consummation can be more nearly realized and more economically provided for, on the extensive acreage donated by Mr. George W. Brackenridge than by undertaking to purchase a sufficient amount of the expensive and otherwise unsuitable lands adjoining the present campus."

LABOR ORGANIZATIONS DRAW RECORD ATTENDANCES Much interest is being displayed in labor circles as is evidenced by the large attendance at all the meetings held Wednesday night. The Railroad Carmen, Railroad Firemen, Locomotive Engineers, Electricians and Automobile Mechanics held their regular meetings. The usual routine business matters were taken up.

RECOVER AUTOMOBILES STOLEN IN BURKBURNETT Constable Frank Morgan and his deputies have recovered two automobiles in as many days that were stolen from Burkburnett. The cars were found abandoned on the streets of Burkburnett. A five-passenger Ford, owned by J. G. Simpson, was found Wednesday afternoon standing on Eighth street near the Kemp hotel.

Decision in the Judge J. P. Jones case, on the motion to quash the indictment against him will be rendered Thursday morning, according to an announcement made Thursday by Judge Weldon of the 20th district court.

The arguments were heard Tuesday afternoon with Judge Weldon and Judge Martin on the bench. The matter was taken under advisement at that time. When arguments were presented counsel for defense contended that the offense with which Judge Jones was charged was condoned by his reelection last November while the state upheld that that was a matter of defense when the case was called for trial. It is a just matter to quash an indictment.

WASHINGTON, AND THE OX-CART AND STAGE COACH DAYS Our forefathers used the Ox-cart and rode in the Stage Coach and selected their glasses themselves. If they did it because there was no other way and yet, there are some persons who hold that because some of their ancestors did not use glasses, that such things are unnecessary, and yet some of these same people use automobiles and electric lights, and some of them have lightning rods.

Today the Ox-Cart and Stage Coach are curiosities, and the Science of Fitting Glasses has more than kept pace with modern advancement. Persons who are best informed today have their eyes examined at least once a year, if not for the benefit of whatever change may have taken place in the eye, they have the benefit of whatever advancement may have taken place in the Science of Fitting Glasses.

SWITCHING STATE HIGHWAY NUMBERS IS NEWEST SCHEME

Interchanging of state highway license numbers on automobiles is the newest scheme of disguising stolen cars discovered by officers. Two officers who worked the entire day Wednesday on the streets discovered 14 cars here that bear numbers issued to people residing in distant counties. The plan was discovered Wednesday when one of the officers had been looking at a suspicious Buick roadster. He went through his file of stolen Buick cars noting the various state highway license numbers. A few minutes later he came to a Ford touring car and found that this car had the numbers of a Buick car that was stolen several months ago several hundred miles from Wichita Falls. An automobile directory is published by the state highway department which contains the numbers that have been issued with the name of the party to whom it was issued and designating the make of car. Officers ask that purchasers of second hand cars refer to this directory before making a purchase.

all company holdings in this district is being made, starting with a trip through the Northwest field. The Evangeline company has twenty producing wells in the Burk Burnett district and is now drilling on its 25-acre tract in the Claiborne field in Louisiana, a field which offsets the 15,000 barrel gusher recently completed by the Gilliland Oil corporation. The party was scheduled to leave for Shreveport some time Thursday evening.

J. J. Jenkins, district superintendent of the Evangeline interests and J. C. Henry, president of the company, with headquarters at Brockton, are in charge of the delegation while in the city.
