Successful Red Cross Campaign

The people of Baird have responded willingly to the call of the Red Cross as they always do. Mrs. L. L. Blackburn, chairman, gives a long list of names of citizens of Baird, who have enrolled as members during the Annual Roll Call.

The teachers in the Baird Public School went 100 per cent in enrollment. Baird Lions Club also signed up 100 per cent. A sum of $95.25 was secured in the drive for the Relief Fund.

The committees in charge of this work have tried to see every one, but this has been impossible, and if any who have not had an opportunity to contribute, will call Mrs. L. L. Blackburn or Mrs. Ace Hickman, they will be glad to take the donations.

Mrs. Blackburn has not as yet received reports from all committees, but reports from Cross Plains gives a list of 126 members of the Relief Fund; a total of $136.60. Clyde sends a list of 34 members of the roll call and Oplin sends three members of the roll call.

Note: For lack of space we cannot publish the list of names this week. It will be published next week—Editor

Legion Members Feat- ed at Ranch Barbecue

Members of the Baird, Putnam and Cross Plains posts of the American Legion were guests at a banquet given by Fred Heysler, former commander of the Baird post, at the Heysler ranch, six miles south of Putnam Wednesday night.

A large crowd of ex-service men attended the affair, which combined business with pleasure. All Legion units in Callahan County were represented, and there were several visitors from other posts. Following the dinner, talks on American Legion work were made by Senator Oliver Cunningham of Abilene and V. Earl Earp of Sweetwater.

BAIRD'S LANDING FIELD

Work on conditioning the Baird Landing Field is progressing rapidly this week.

Practically all the large trees on land adjoining the field have been pulled and the clearing of this area is now being done. The Contractors used a big caterpillar tractor for the pulling of the trees, with which approximately six acres per day was cleared.

The concrete foundation for the revolving beacon has been poured and as soon as the foundation is properly set, work will be continued on the steel tower. This beacon will be approximately 125 feet high and will be one of, if not the highest, on the entire airway. The West Texas Utilities Company started preparations yesterday for the building of a power line to the field. The work on completing the installation of lighting equipment, etc. will be pushed in order to have the field in operation in the shortest time possible.

The Chamber of Commerce is attempting to obtain additional land to add to the present field at the request of the Department of Commerce.

When this field is completed our town will have a much better Landing Field than many of the larger cities in West Texas.

THE ELECTION DISTRICT COURT

Election returns indicate that the Democratic party has made wonderful gains and indications are that the party may have control of the next Congress. Texas went Democratic overwhelmingly. All amendments seemed to have carried by a good majority.

In Baird a total of 194 votes were polled, voting being rather light. Sterling receiving 159 votes and Talbot 21. While we have been unable to get the vote, indications are that the amendments were defeated in Callahan County. The vote throughout the state was light.

Returns as given by the Texas Election Bureau on Wednesday evening did no more than verify the reports that had been received after the polls closed Tuesday night. All of the amendments to the State Constitution apparently were victorious. When 177,048 votes had been accounted for at 7 O'clock Wednesday night the amendment to increase legislative salaries to $10 a day, enough to provide a member with a bedroom, bath and three meals and honorariums was running 29,000 votes ahead and all of the others had better margins. A. F. Henning, manager of the Texas Election Bureau, practiced in the business of judging Texas elections, believed that a few more than 100,000 votes might be unaccounted for and that the final total might reach 300,000 as against more than 900,000 in the run-off Democratic primary last August.

Of all the five amendment propositions voted on, the one to make it possible for the Supreme Court of Texas to hold year-round sessions instead of an enforced three-month vacation in the summer, appeared to be the voters favorite. It was winning by a vote of just about two and a half to one. The amendment to provide for payment of a tax to counties on University of Texas lands had a majority of two to one and the amendment to increase the legislative session to 120 days had nearly as many favorable votes. The amendment to liberalize the investment field for University of Texas funds had little less than a two to one majority.

Baird Fire Dept. Ask For Stronger Fire Ordinance

The volunteer department at a regular meeting Wednesday night appointed a committee to meet the City Council at next meeting asking the establishment of a city court. This move was made for the purpose of enforcing proposed ordinances pertaining to parking near fire plugs, protection of equipment at fires and to prevent interference with department when answering alarms.

Complaints have been made of cars failing to give proper right of way during an alarm. The department is seeking to have the proper ordinances in order to render the best service.

Very little business has been done in District Court this week.

The Grand Jury adjourned on Thursday evening of last week and reconvened Wednesday to finish their work and it was thought that that body would finish their work and make a report late yesterday.

A few cases have been disposed of among them three divorce cases as follows: Mrs. Grace Wyatt vs A. M. Wyatt, divorce granted. Mrs. Vera Larimer vs Geo. R. Larimer, divorce granted. Mrs. Addie Nell Wagley vs H. T. Wagley, divorce granted.

Civil suits disposed of were: Putnam Supply Co. vs E. E. and C. H. Van Eman, discussed. Franasco and Tollett vs E. V. Cole, judgement for plaintiff.

Criminal cases disposed of were: Morgan Crawford charged with possession of liquors, two cases, found guilty and given one year in the penitentiary on each case, a total of two years. Gray Patterson, charged with forgery, found guilty and given two years suspended sentence.

The Jury for the second week was discharged Tuesday evening. The McBride case is set for next Monday at which time a special venire of seventy-five jurymen have been summoned.

The following is a list of the Petit Jury for the third week of court:

KNOW TEXAS

TEXAS has 900 million acres of virgin pine and about the same amount of standing hardwood timber with three and one-third million acres of second growth pine and two and one-half million acres of second growth hardwood.

TEXAS made the greatest population gain in its history in the 1920-30 decade, percentage of increase being 24.1 per cent.

TEXAS has the largest helium gas plant in the world, the largest chili and tamale manufacturing and canning plant, the largest rice packing plant, the largest single oil refinery and the largest custom smelter—to give only a few of its "largests."

TEXAS' road-building program for 1930 includes $41,500,000 for highway construction, $17,500,000 for local roads and bridges.

Thorndale proposes to be ready for the next drought, having just voted a $40,000 bond issue for a municipal water plant. The majority of six votes might have been heavier if the election hadn't been held during the recent Texas floods.

Mexico Buys Heavily The American-made goods shipped through the port at Laredo during September were valued at $2,600,000. This is but one of many ports through which Mexico imports merchandise and the figures show that, whatever may be our opinion of Mexican prosperity, that country is buying heavily from other nations and especially from the United States.

Every young man is entitled to a fair opportunity in the business and social world.

He is entitled to be judged by his own mental and moral qualifications, and not by the standard of the parents who brought them into the world.

Such is sometimes, but not often the case.

Many a young man of great promise is seriously hampered by the reputation of one or both of his parents. The sins of the father are visited upon the son, and the innocent youth suffers for the acts of the guilty adult.

This is true because as a civilized people we are not yet entirely civilized. A polished veneer covers the surface, but often fails to penetrate to the heart.

Give the young man a fair chance, and let his own acts make or break him.

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as today. People lived normal lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air. But even that early there were drastic physic and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe bowel stimulant.

This prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative. It has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds, fevers. At your druggist, or write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois, for free trial bottle.

Better No Spinach For Them Than A Battle At Mealtime

By E. V. McCollum, Ph.D., Sc.D.

Professor of Bio-Chemistry, Johns Hopkins University.
Author of "The Newer Knowledge of Nutrition," etc.

THERE is one type of war which neither disarmament nor naval limitation treaties will ever affect. Its battles are numberless and are fought daily in the nation's dining rooms by conscientious mothers seeking to make their children eat needed portions of spinach or other leafy vegetables.

This type of war deserves serious consideration. Its effects, while neither immediate nor fatal, are important to the future of the race. For they concern the physical and mental health of our children. And this kind of war must cease.

No child should ever be disciplined at mealtime because of the unfavorable effect on digestion. Urging the child to eat something it does not like produces a run of unpleasant emotion, which has an equally bad effect.

Psychologists and physicians are all agreed upon this point. Few adults have escaped the experience of suffering from a digestive upset as the result of an emotional crisis at mealtime. Fear, pain and anger interfere both with the secretion of digestive juices and with the mechanical functioning of the digestive tract.

The speaker who frequently pauses to take a sip of water is moistening his mouth because it feels dry. It is dry because he is not at ease before his audience, especially if he is conscious that his debate, sermon, oration or lecture is not going greatly to his credit. Under such conditions, the salivary glands do not produce much, if any, saliva. The stomach and other digestive glands also are affected in a comparable manner. For digestion cannot proceed until the proper secretions are poured out.

Discipline Is Harmful

It is thus apparent that discipline at mealtime is not only ineffective but harmful. The most that should be done to cultivate a liking for necessary foods is to ask the child to taste these foods when they happen to be served to others. It should be explained that the foods in question are good for people, and that the child will later like them. Thus no offense is given and no artificial distaste aroused.

Pronounced changes in tastes will often be brought about by this method in the course of a few months. But if the child is made unhappy by being compelled to eat a food which it does not like, the distaste for that particular food may become intensified rather than overcome later in life.

When the proper amounts of milk, eggs and meats are given to children the vitamin content of their diet is pretty well safeguarded. This is especially true if yellow vegetables such as carrots, tomatoes, sweet potatoes, etc., are included for their high vitamin A content. When the leafy vegetables are disliked, the cellulose content of the food may well be provided by including in the menu sufficient whole cereal foods to furnish indigestible cellulose. Whole wheat and rice furnish cellulose in more satisfactory forms for the diet of children than do either corn or oats. Of these grains, the cellulose of rice is the softest and least irritating.

E. V. McCollum

Prevents Bad Habits

If taken in sufficient amounts, the cellulose from these sources will serve admirably to promote dismissal of waste products with sufficient promptness to insure a hygienic condition of the colon. This will prevent the formation of bad habits which may eventually injure the large intestine in ways illustrated by the enormous numbers of persons in middle or later life who have subsisted too largely upon refined foods.

Parents of today have a greater opportunity than ever before to serve their children by helping them to lay the foundation for long and healthy lives. Our control over the physical basis of success in life is far more effective than ever before in human history. We know what the body requires for normal nutrition and where the chemical substances necessary to a complete diet are to be found.

Mothers, and especially American mothers, are taking advantage of this opportunity. They are applying the established facts of the modern science of nutrition to the feeding of their families. As an evidence of this, some future historian well may write of rickets and scurvy as children's diseases happily long forgotten. In describing their eradication he will point to the popularization of salads as a national characteristic of Americans, acquired during the second and third decades of the twentieth century. He will almost certainly mention, as a result of this, the heightened resistance to certain infections, the prevention of goiter, and the increase in size and sturdiness of the first generation which had the good fortune to profit by the new discoveries about foods.

Vast Improvement in Diet

He will not fail to emphasize the perfection of processes in the canning industry. A part of the race's physical gain he will trace to this, because it made possible a vast improvement in the Nation's diet through the colder months of the year, by providing in wholesome condition a wider variety of foods than were ever before available to mankind in any part of the world. This promotion of healthful vigor he will contrast with the widespread illness of the past, and the need for "Spring medicines," "blood purifiers," and "Spring tonics" which were taken by nearly everyone a generation ago.

But knowledge of the modern science of foods is one thing and its application to the needs of children quite another. Every modern mother must therefore combine her knowledge of dietetics with some of the tact of a seasoned diplomat. With this equipment she should succeed in making her children eat sufficient quantities of all the kinds of foods necessary to health.

Leafy Vegetables Valuable

The leafy vegetables are of special value in furnishing indigestible material which serves as an intestinal regulator and promotes elimination. And this problem of intestinal hygiene is especially important now when so many of our foods are highly refined and contain little or no cellulose. Milk, meat or eggs are all so completely digestible that they leave little residues in the colon and hence are constipating.

As a first step, however, in the improvement of children's diet, the dining room wars must cease. They are quite as fruitless as any other wars. If a child is properly managed it will eventually acquire the dietary habits and likings normal to adults. It will appreciate the flavors of everything it should eat. And this ideal condition can never be reached through force, but only through tact and diplomacy.

Facts Speak

There are 2,484,822 miles of unimproved dirt roads in the United States, according to the American Farm Bureau Federation, and many thousands of additional miles which have been only slightly improved.

There are 2,747,732 farms located on the unimproved roads, and 1,988,704 on the slightly improved roads. Less than 500,000 American farmers are located on roads which are passable every day in the year.

There can be no permanent agricultural prosperity so long as our farmers are isolated from their markets by a barrier of mud. Agricultural progress, both social and economic, will be retarded until our farmers have all-year contact with the outside world through the medium of surfaced, weatherproof roads.

Low-cost, long-wearing serviceable surfaces have been developed which make it possible to provide rural areas with practical all-year-round roads. When every state embarks on such a program, we will have gone a long way toward permanently solving agriculture's problems.

The Automobile Is Responsible

In spite of the fact that 31,000 people were killed last year by automobiles, the general accident situation affords grounds for optimism.

Accidents among children of school age have increased less than one-tenth of one per cent in the last seven years. Less than 100 passengers were killed while traveling on all the American railroads in 1929. Hundreds of our large industrial concerns have made remarkable records in reducing their accident rates—both in frequency and severity. A multitude of smaller plants are establishing one, two and even five-year "no-accident" records. Had it not been for the tragic increase of deaths and injuries due to the automobile, the national accident rate would now be 30 percent lower than it was 17 years ago.

The crux of the entire matter is that we have made good progress in preventing all kinds of accidents except those for which motor cars are responsible. Safety work and instruction in schools and industries, fostered and encouraged by casualty insurance companies, has been the means of saving thousands of lives in the last decade. This work is being carried on with increasing intensity and vast progress will be recorded in the future. The automobile accident record will not be reduced until we take decisive means to keep the reckless, the irresponsible, and both the mentally and physically incompetent from the public highways, they menace the lives and property of all other motorists.

A Great Road Conference

The problems surrounding road building throughout the world were aired and discussed at the recent Sixth Annual International Road Congress in Washington, D. C. One thousand representatives from 61 nations attended.

Among the most important reports read to the Congress were those dealing with the use of asphalt, tar and bitumen. In presenting conclusions regarding the use of these, it was declared that "the rapid increase in the adoption of surface treatments to produce thin mat surfaces, upon gravel, stone and slag roads for light and medium traffic is probably the outstanding recent development."

This should be of great interest to the many states which are seeking a way out of the rural road problem. Agriculture has reached a point where year round farm-to-market roads are essential to future progress, both social and economic. Five million of the 6,250,000 American farmers are now cut off from their markets during a part of each year by impassable roads.

Good surfaces of asphalt character can be laid over many existing roads at a low original cost, and maintenance costs are likewise small. Good roads are an investment that pay returns to the taxpayers in more prosperous farm conditions, in increased tourist travel and stimulated trade in small towns and villages.

It May Be Urgent

When your Children Cry for It

Castoria is a comfort when Baby is fretful. No sooner taken than the little one is at ease. If restless, a few drops soon bring contentment. No harm done, for Castoria is a baby remedy, meant for babies. Perfectly safe to give the youngest infant; you have the doctors' word for that! It is a vegetable product and you could use it every day. But it's in an emergency that Castoria means most. Some night when constipation must be relieved—or colic pains—or other suffering. Never be without it; some mothers keep an extra bottle, unopened, to make sure there will always be Castoria in the house. It is effective for older children, too; read the book that comes with it.

PROCLAMATION

BY THE MAYOR OF THE CITY OF BAIRD

Pledged to a program of usefulness
and service to the community, state and nation, The American Legion today enjoys the full confidence of the American public. Ever since it has been organized the Legion has exerted its best efforts in the behalf of good citizenship and in the building for a greater and better America. The nation's defender's will always be honored for the glorious service they gave in war, but there desire to also serve in peace must command our deepest respect and admiration.

The public has direct interest in the Legion because of the worthy activities it carries on each year. The Legion has come to be recognized as a great stabilizing influence in American life with some 10,000 posts, embracing a membership of nearly 800,000
veterans of the World War, standing ready to serve their communities in whatever capacity they may. The Legion's community service work is well known. Every year the posts throughout the United States carry on scores of different types of community welfare and civic betterment projects.

The Legion's foremost work is caring for those who were maimed and disabled by their service in the war.
Justice does not always flow automatically for the men who suffered war-incurred disabilities and the big task of the Legion has been to see that they receive all the compensation to which they are justly entitled and adequate hospital care and treatment.
The Legion has likewise extended a helping hand to another class of war sufferers, the widows and orphan
children of those who fought and died
for their country.

The people of this city are duly appreciative of the splendid endeavors
of the American Legion, and to Legionnaires they extend every encouragement to broaden and further expand their work in the future. Since the achievements of the Legion can be measured only in terms of its membership strength, it is highly desirable that the public should co-operate with the Legion in its attempt to enroll every eligible World War Veteran into the ranks of the Legion service.

NOW, THEREFORE, I H. SCH-WARTZ, Mayor of the City of Baird,
do hereby proclaim the week beginning November 4th and ending on Armistice Day, Nov. 11th, as American Legion Week, during which time an intensive drive will be made to enroll 1931 Legion members. I particularly ask that all citizens co-operate with the Legion in its effort to build a better and stronger organization for 1931 by urging eligible veterans to take out Legion membership during this campaign.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Baird to be affixed Done in the City of Baird this 4th day of Nov., in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Thirty.

H. SCHWARTZ
Mayor of Baird.

PROSPERITY is up for election, running to overthrow DEPRESSION.

It's for the people to decide which will be chosen. Every man and every woman is privileged to ballot—every day.

DEPRESSION has no rightful place
with a hundred and twenty million people, exchanging goods and services
—capable—accustomed and willing to work—more highly skilled than other peoples—leaders in efficiency and progressiveness—backed by the vast natural resources of the United States.

When we make it possible for the man who works to have a job we make it possible for him to buy food
for his family and so help all business, including that of the farmer.

The rest of the world is of small importance compared with that free market of 120,000,000 people—homogenous—of like tastes, habits and aspirations—living under the same laws—free of trade barriers. Foreign trade may be troubled by tariffs
and revolutions, but at their peak our exports represented only five and a half billions of dollars of gross
business in a year out of a total American income of ninety billions.

Stagnation of circulation is what's the matter with agriculture and with Business. Everyone can help to get that circulation moving again.

Government can't make Prosperity
—alone. Bankers and other business leaders can't make Prosperity—
alone. It's the people, united in opinion and purpose and courage, who determine Prosperity. They can elect it—none other.

Ballots that will be validly counted
for PROSPERITY are of many kinds.
Some one of them every man and woman can cast. For example:

Help a deserving man or a woman to get a little paying work—or,
better, a regular job.

Spend wisely and not too timidly,
and anticipate scheduled expenditures
so far as is practicable.

Turn the deaf ear to false, mischievous rumors; and don't repeat them, if you do hear them.

Be willing to pay a fair price.
Don't take advantage of the other man's necessity. Recognize that he has a good claim to a fair profit the same as you.

When a vampire that fattens on the miseries of others shows up, help
to make him unpopular.

Discourage calamity howlers.
Keep business moving evenly,
and remember that, to the average man, his job is his particular business.
When possible, reassure him against his fear of losing it.

Save, but save wisely, not in fright. Invest for the profit that sound enterprise pays and for the added profit that will come after the hysteria of pessimism has passed.

Texas and Texans

By WILL H. MAYES
Austin, Texas

"All Texans for all Texas"

Inviting Business Slumps

I have before me the same week's issues of three of the best small-town
weekly papers in Texas, the Rockdale Reporter, the Eagle Lake Headlight
and the Elgin Courier, all conducted by men of unusual ability, who have spent their lives in newspaper work and who are doing their utmost to help build up business interests of their towns.

The Rockdale Reporter's local business consisted of a few small ads,
only one of which quoted prices and those were enameled ware offering for "Saturday" only. A dry goods store advertised it would sell a broom Saturday for one cent to anyone who paid $3.00 cash for a line of merchandise, named but not priced.

The Eagle Lake Headlight carried
even less advertising and in a front page editorial stated that "Local advertising has been withdrawn altogether and curtailed to such an extent" that its present standard could no longer be maintained, and that it would have to be reduced to four pages.

The Elgin Courier, on the other hand, was crammed full of well-written, price-offering ads, telling readers just how little they would have to pay for goods bought in Elgin.
Grocers quoted prices in detail that compared favorably with lowest city markets. Editor Smith made an offer that if any subscriber would read the Courier's ads regularly for a year and try to profit by them, and would
the come in and say he had not saved
more than the $1.50 paid for the subscription he would gladly refund the $1.50 and add another $1.50 to the refund to pay for the trouble.

There is little or no complaint of hard times at Elgin. The merchants there evidently have learned that those who make money must advertise their goods and they quote trade-drawing prices every week. Other towns are doing it, too, and getting the business.
With good roads and automobiles running in every direction, people are not to be blamed for leaving home or travelling farther to buy from merchants who carry better stocks and quote the best prices.

Most of the so-called "business slump" complaint comes from those who are still hoping to do business on methods that progressive merchants threw overboard a half century or more ago. The business average throughout the country is about as good as it has been for several years,
but the trade is going to the towns and cities that are seeking it most.

Can you blame it? "Keeping everlastingly at it" makes business.

With Baird Baptist

A real good day last Sunday. Attendance was fair and the spirit of the meeting was excellent—and say the offering was fine. How nice it is for all of us to bring our offering each Sunday morning and put it all together in the Lord's treasury, and that is the Bible plan. If you want to please God, then be a systematic,
regular giver, pay a tenth and pay it on the first day of the week for that is the privilege and duty of every child of God.

Come next Sunday, let's have a large Sunday School and another good preaching service. I will preach Sunday morning from this, "And Thomas was not there" Sunday night Bro. James E. Black, of Putnam, will preach for us and we want a good hearing from him. He and I with some other are going to Amarillo to attend the Baptist General Convention of Texas, next week.

Our Junior B. Y. P. U. meets at 3:00 P. M. Sunday. Let all the children be in their places at that time.

I will preach at Midway Sunday afternoon after the Sunday School.
I will be glad to see a good crowd.

We enjoyed the Workers meeting at Clyde Monday. The next meeting will be held with Baird Church on Tuesday afternoon after the 1st Sunday in Dec. Let's pray for a great time.

LOW FARE NOW IN EFFECT ON TEXAS & PACIFIC RY.

Effective last Saturday, Nov. 1st, the Texas and Pacific Railway will authorize one-way coach fares daily which will be based on two-cents (2c) per mile, and which are approximately 45 per cent less than their regular one-way fares.

Tickets sold at these rates will be honored on trains 3 and 4 between Fort Worth and Big Spring, also on train 10, which operates from Sweet-water to Fort Worth.

These extremely low rates are being made effective, said Frank Jensen, General Passenger Agent, Dallas, purely as an experiment to develop whether or not the public would prefer to leave their automobiles at home and ride the trains, and save the difference.

The whole country is watching this experiment, as it will, no doubt, have considerable bearing upon the passenger rate structure throughout the country in the future.

Trains 3, 4 and 10 are daily trains, operating on a convenient schedule, and it is expected that these trains will prove very popular, especially with the extremely low rate of two cents (2c) per mile authorized in connection therewith.

HELP

Out of a fund of $30,000 established by former Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, more than $77,000 has been loaned to boys and girls on New Jersey farms to enable them to purchase purebred cows, swine or poultry. More than 1,000 boys and girls have been helped in this way to get a start in producing better dairy products, pork and poultry, and the effect upon farmers generally in showing them the advantages of purebred stock have been incalculable.

That sort of help for the farmer is decidedly practical. There is always a market for first-grade products of the sort which New Jersey thus encourages, especially in the vicinity of great terminal markets like New York and Philadelphia.

SPEED

Thirty-five minutes from the time he left the William Penn Airport in Philadelphia with photographs of the World's Series baseball game, Captain Frank Hawks delivered the pictures in a New York newspaper office. It took him 20 minutes, flying at 270 miles an hour, to cover the 90 miles between Philadelphia and the Queens Borough Airport in New York. Then fifteen minutes in a speed boat took him to Manhattan.

This is faster than the pictures could have been sent by Telegraph. Telegraphing photographs is now being done every day, but it takes half an hour or so for the details of a picture to be transmitted over the wire. Over long distances, of course, the airplane could not compete, but in this case it was the swifter method.

BLIND

The most terrible affliction which can come to a human being, in all probability is blindness. The problem of helping the blind to become self-supporting is finding new solutions constantly. The latest is the discovery that blind girls, because of their keen sense of touch, are very useful in offices where there is a large amount of mailing to be done.

The Brooklyn Bureau of Charities has set up a mailing business employing only blind girls for this sort of work. All sorts of quantity mailing is done for business houses. These girls formally had no other occupation than weaving coarse rugs, at which they could earn only from $6 to $8 dollars a week. In the mailing work they can earn from $15 to $20 a week. And for addressing mail, crippled girls, who cannot work at occupations requiring physical exertion are employed.

That is the most practical sort of charity.

COTTON

More than 45,000,000 acres of land was devoted to growing cotton in the United States this year. That is five-million acres too much, in the opinion of Carl Williams, the cotton expert of the Federal Farm Board.

What is needed in the South, says Mr. Williams, is the production of more food which the South itself consumes. He says there are single cities in the South where the consumption of meat and dairy products is more than the production of those commodities in the entire state. The cotton farmer who cuts down his cotton acreage and uses the land thereby released for livestock and dairying or the growing of other foodstuffs will be serving himself, his community, the cotton industry and the entire South.

It will take time, but eventually a high percentage of the land now devoted to staple crops all over the country will be used for other purposes.

LIFE

Our bodies live longer than those of our grandparents did, Dr. Charles H. Mayo, famous physician of Rochester, Minn., tells us, but our brains die just as young. What is the use, Dr. Mayo asks, of living to 90 if the brain begins to decay at 70? He is optimistic about it, however; he thinks that medical research will find means of prolonging mental life as well as physical life.

In the matter of length of life we have made great progress in a short time. The normal age to which each newborn child can expect to live in America is 50; in India it is only 20. In Colonial days in America, in the 1600's, the average age in this country was only 20, because so many children died in infancy, and their elders succumbed early to the hardships of life.

The time will come when nobody will die, except from accident, under 70, and many live, and be physically and mentally active, to 100.

Edinburg doesn't depend on citrus fruits alone, nor upon fruits and vegetables, but expects to have a creamery plant in operation by November 1, established through the co-operation of local dairymen with an experienced creamery man from Michigan.

TOLD HE MUST DIE MAN FINDS LIFE IN CRAZY WATER

DEPUTY SHERIFF WANTS WORLD TO KNOW HIS CRAZY STORY

In the year 1923 I was living at Altus, Okla. I was confined to my bed with a complication of diseases. It was diagnosed by different ones as Bright's disease, Paralysis, Neuritis, Rheumatism and dead liver.

When it was decided to take me to Mineral Wells, the doctors did not believe that I would live to get there, and the doctors in Mineral Wells when I arrived did not think that there was any chance for me to recover.

I drank Crazy Water for four months and was, so far as I can tell, completely well. I gained 94 pounds in weight, and took a job as deputy sheriff which necessitated my being on my feet from eight to twelve hours every day, and oftentimes doing a lot of night work.

Crazy Water certainly pulled me out of the grave.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Dr. Getulio Vargas Becomes the New President of Brazilian Republic.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

GREETED everywhere by cheering throngs and showered with flowers, Dr. Getulio Vargas made a triumphal progress from southern Brazil, through Sao Paulo to Rio de Janeiro, and assumed the presidency of his country. This was the culmination of the revolutionary movement which he had so skillfully led. The military junta that took over the government in Rio when President Washington Luis resigned under compulsion speedily settled the impending quarrel among the various leaders of the rebellion and selected Vargas as the new President. He was a candidate for that office in the last election, in which Julio Prestes was victorious, and his supporters claimed he was defeated by fraudulent count of the votes.

Following Vargas up to Rio were thousands of his revolutionary troops, mainly gauchos, rough cavalymen, unshaven, tanned and clad in khaki and wide brimmed hats. The other armies of the movement also gathered in the capital city and plans were made for a great military parade on November 15, the forty-second anniversary of the republic.

A proclamation issued early in the week said in part:

"The government headed by Doctor Vargas will direct the republic of Brazil without any promises and in accordance with the program of the Liberal alliance. The duration of Doctor Vargas' government, which will be as constitutional as possible, will be for an undetermined period, until the public life of Brazil has been reconstructed."

The final hours of the revolution were marked by considerable violence and disorder. In Rio a detachment of troops tried a last resistance which was quickly quelled with bloodshed. There was much rioting in various cities, especially in Sao Paulo where mobs burned Cambucy prison and liberated all the prisoners and also the gambling places and political clubs.

WITH understandable indignation President Hoover denounced as "infamous" the oil shale land charges made against the Department of the Interior by Ralph S. Kelley who was an employee of the land office, which charges were declared unfounded by the Department of Justice after an investigation. The President asserted the whole affair was "an attempt to charge odious scandals to this administration," and he was especially severe on the New York World which published Kelley's story in serial form. The publication, he said, was purposely delayed to be made in the midst of the political campaign, though Kelley negotiated the sale of his story to the World in the summer.

"As a piece of journalism it may well be that the newspaper involved was misled," went on the President. "It certainly does not represent the practices of better American journalism. As a piece of politics it is certainly far below the ideals of political partisanship held by substantial men in that party."

In reply the World said: "The articles themselves were replete with specific facts, names, dates, and figures. They raised questions which seemed to the World at the time and still seem to the World to call for exhaustive investigation. The only investigation which they have had is a brief survey into Secretary Wilbur's department conducted by an agent of one of Secretary Wilbur's colleagues in Mr. Hoover's cabinet. This agent has denied the accuracy of Mr. Kelley's charges. Mr. Kelley, speaking as the former expert of the government and speaking on the basis of his 25 years of honest service to the government, has reported his charges."

It seems to us that these charges call for a more thorough investigation than they have yet received by a agency whose motives are perhaps less partisan. Such an agency is the public lands committee of the senate. It is quite apparent that the public lands committee will initiate an investigation as soon as congress meets. It will be time then, we suggest to Mr. Hoover, to determine precisely how 'reckless, baseless, and infamous' Mr. Kelley's charges are."

COINCIDING with the celebration of Navy day in the United States, the London three-power naval treaty was put into effect with the formal depositing of the ratifications of the signatory powers in the British foreign office. Prime Minister MacDonald, Foreign Minister Henderson, American Ambassador Dawes and Japanese Ambassador Matsuda took part in the ceremony, while the French and Italian ambassadors looked on. To mark the event, President Hoover and the prime ministers of Great Britain and Japan exchanged felicitations, which were broadcast to the world by radio. Mr. Hoover expressed the hope that the limitations effected at London would be followed soon by further reductions in naval armaments; and both he and Mr. MacDonald urged France and Italy to an agreement so the pact can be made a five-power treaty.

FRANCO-ITALIAN relations were not improved during the week, for Premier Mussolini took advantage of the eighth anniversary of the march of the Fascisti on Rome to indulge in another of his provocative attacks on his neighbors. He said Fascist Italy is surrounded by enemies and that a state of "moral warfare" already has been declared against it in preparation for military war. He displayed a little book in which, he said, "is noted down the day by day military preparations of 1927, 1928, 1929 and 1930 against Italy, long before my speeches at Leghorn, Florence and Milan. Here is a complete list of batteries placed, forts constructed and armaments created and put in place."

This, of course, referred to the formidable chain of fortresses and machine gun nests which the French are constructing on their eastern frontier, recently described in dispatches from Paris. In the course of his speech the duce clearly revealed the fact that Italy has lined up with the nations that were its enemies in the World war in their demand that the peace treaties be revised and the League of Nations covenant be reshaped.

GERMANY'S Fascists in the reichstag met with defeat when the foreign affairs committee rejected their motions demanding that Germany cancel the Versailles treaty and immediately cease all reparations under the Young plan. The committee adopted a motion presented by Doctor Daugh, representing the German People's party, requesting the government to take all steps necessary to induce other signatories of the Versailles treaty to fulfill the pledge to disarm.

EUROPE, and especially Great Britain, was deeply interested in a conference in Angora participated in by President Kelam Pasha of Turkey, Premier Count Bethlen of Hungary and Premier Venizelos of Greece. While the parley was looked upon as a good augury for future peace in the near east, it also was thought the three nations might be getting ready to join the concerted action for revision of the peace treaties. Greece and Turkey, it was said, were discussing a treaty of naval limitation and would sign friendship and commercial pacts.

ADDIS ABABA, capital of Ethiopia—better known to us as Abyssinia—was the scene of a gorgeous ceremony on November 2. Ras Tafari, self styled "Inheritor of the Throne of David, King of Kings and Anointed of God," on that day mounted the throne as Emperor Halle Selassie I, being the 336th sovereign of that empire. A few days previously he had killed a lion, for Ethiopian tradition is that no man is fit to rule the state or command warriors until he has performed that feat.

For a week or more deputations from other nations and tourists from many lands had been gathering and the state and religious officials had been preparing for the great event.

Ras Tafari spent $2,000,000 of his own money for crowns, robes, carriages, triumphal arches and other paraphernalia, and the expenditures of the government were as much, so there was no lack of splendor or entertainment. Many other rulers sent handsome coronation presents. President Hoover's gift, in accordance with the American custom, was an autographed photograph of himself.

Modern Abyssinians claim their first king was Ori, or Aram, son of Shem and grandson of Noah; and Emperor Selassie traces his descent from Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, making his dynasty the oldest royal house in the world.

IT WAS roughly estimated last week that funds totaling nearly a billion dollars had already been mobilized to relieve the unemployment situation by providing work for the jobless. By sections, the Pacific coast leads with about $475,000,000, and the Middle West comes next with $285,000,000. For its part the government is pushing ahead many public works projects, ordered the employment of some 250,000 extra men by the Post Office department during the holiday rush and stopped the dropping of employees at naval stations. The President's emergency committee on unemployment, headed by Col. Arthur Woods, is hard at work co-ordinating the efforts of all governments and organizations.

The size of the job confronting federal, state and municipal agencies dealing with unemployment was indicated in a forecast by the American Federation of Labor that 5,000,000 persons were threatened by idleness this winter. On the basis of this estimate the federation said 20,000,000 persons—one-sixth of the entire population—were threatened with acute need during the cold months.

LEADING pharmacologists of the world gathered in St. Louis and held a two-day celebration of the tercentenary of the first recognized use of quinine. The bark was used in 1630 to cure the malarial of Juan Lopez Canizares, a Spanish statesman. Among those attending the meeting was Dr. M. Kerbosch, director of the government cinchona plantation in Java and considered the world's expert on natural sources of quinine.

SAVAGE head hunters who inhabit the mountainous region in the center of Formosa have revolted against their Japanese rulers and gone on the warpath. Recent dispatches say they have killed many scores of Japanese and peaceful natives and destroyed some villages. The war office in Tokyo sent large detachments of troops to help the island police, but they had a difficult job on their hands, for it was almost impossible to get at the savages in their strongholds.

HARRY PAYNE WHITNEY, one of the best known and best liked of America's wealthy sportsmen, died at his home in New York after an illness of several weeks, at the age of fifty-eight years. Mr. Whitney inherited a large fortune from his father, who amalgamated surface railways, and by assiduous work increased this to a vast fortune—possibly $200,000,000. He also devoted much time and money to yachting, racing and polo playing. His stable was one of the finest in the country and his horses won many important races.

Others who passed away were Mrs. J. R. McKee, daughter of the late President Benjamin Harrison; Dean W. H. Hutton, of Winchester, England, a noted scholar; Rear Admiral C. W. Dyson, U. S. N., famous designer of marine engines, and Edward H. (Snapper) Garrison, once the premier jockey of America.

THIRTY men were killed by an explosion in a coal mine at McAlester, Okla., most of them being entombed beyond hope of recovery. In Germany a similar disaster near Friedrichstahl was fatal to 107 miners.

Did You Ever Stop To Think?

By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Okla.

H. Galt Braxton, Editor and publisher of the Kinston (N. C.) Daily Free Press and chairman of the Southern Newspapers Association's advertising committee, says:

"Advertising continues to be the low-word in the mind, contemplation and planning of the average business executive in these days when economic depression is more or less general. And well may it be so; for the business man who has something to sell, to become so pessimistic and depressed in his thinking as to conclude that there is no market, no money and no demand for his goods and therefore that they must stay on his shelves, is, of course, to make a complete surrender."

"Naturally, no business man will admit that such is his attitude, yet the concern which has materially reduced its advertising appropriation or ceased making use of promotional and publicity means for the sale of its wares has done that very thing. It is like the Honorable William Jennings Bryan was wont to say: 'The man who undertakes to do business without advertising is like the fellow who kisses his girl in the dark. She knows what he is doing but nobody else does.' In his case it is probably desirable that no publicity attach, but certainly it is not so with the business man who would succeed.

"It is an erroneous assumption to conclude that there is no market for the necessities of life in these days. While people may not be buying as copiously as in flush times, they are nevertheless still buying and they are patronizing those concerns that evince life and progress by the appeal in the public print for their patronage. "These are days when unusual ingenuity, ability and publicity methods which are out of the ordinary must be employed. Unfortunate is the business man who does not realize this fact and who finds it more to his liking to give up rather than introduce a new idea into his promotional program."
