

LIFT THE EMBARGO ON AGUILA OIL CO. MEXICO PROPERTY

FOLLOWS LEGAL PROCEEDINGS BROUGHT BY BRITISH CORPORATION.

SECURES REVERSAL OF SUPREME COURT DECREE

Clears Way For Other Decisions Involving Controversial Points.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 15.—Officials of the state of Vera Cruz have lifted the embargo they placed on the properties of the Aguililla Oil company last Saturday following legal proceedings brought by the firm, a British corporation. The embargo was ordered as a security for back taxes totaling $2,000,000...

It was upon this contract that the Aguililla company based its claim for exemption from the country which the Vera Cruz officials had imposed. It is admitted the supreme court's decision in the oil company's case, but in the main it is held to have established the error made by the lower court in handing down its decision. The lower court refused to hear the company's suits, asking for protection against the action of the Vera Cruz government.

REPUBLICANS HAVE HANDLED TAXATION IN "BUNGLING" WAY

SUCH IS OPINION HELD BY MANY PROMINENT AT WASHINGTON.

BAD MANAGEMENT IS CHARGED TO THE SENATE

Majority Lacked Firm Leadership Necessary to Carry Out Program Outlined.

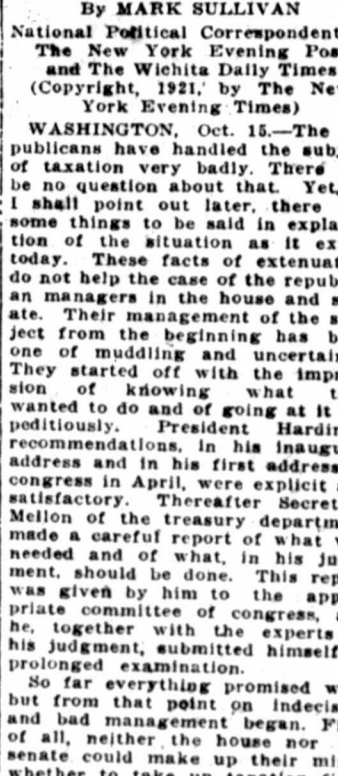

By MARK SULLIVAN National Political Correspondent of The New York Evening Post and The Wichita Daily Times (Copyright 1921 by The New York Evening Times) WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The republicans have handled the subject of taxation very badly. There can be no question about that. I shall point out later, there are some things to be said in explanation of the situation as it exists today. The facts however do not help the case of the republican managers in the house and senate. The management of the subject from the beginning has been one of muddling and uncertainty. They started off with the impression that the house would not want to do with it, and they went to do with it of going at it with a vengeance. President Harding's recommendations, in his inaugural address and in his first address to congress in April, were explicit and satisfactory. Thereafter Secretary Mellon of the treasury department made a report of a plan which was needed and of what, in his judgment, should be done. This report was given by him to the appropriate committee of congress and he, together with the experts of his judgment, submitted himself to prolonged examination. So far everything promised well, but from that point on indecision and bad management began. First of all, the writing of the measure for the senate could make up their minds whether to take up taxation first, or the tariff first. The bulk of the business men of the country wanted taxation taken up first, and this wish known to the republicans. It can also be taken up first, if the house and senate administration wanted taxation taken up first. But the leaders of the republicans never knew their own minds on this point. They wavered from day to day.

In an impressively simple ceremony under the Arch of Triumph, Paris, General Pershing bestowed the Congressional Medal of Honor on the unknown soldier of France.

next year, there are some good reasons. If these reasons had been anticipated by the republicans as early as last April, and had been announced to the country at that time, the country would not now be in such a predicament. The reasons which justify the writing of an emergency taxation measure for the present year, and the postponement of a permanent measure until next year, are these:

THE SELF MADE MAN

By RICHARD LLOYD JONES

Early in his titled life of affluence Count Tolstoi declared that to comprehend the dignity and honor of labor one must frequently do a real hard, whole day's manual work. And this work must be of a kind that will help others more than oneself. Tolstoi may not have found the only way to acquire the comprehensive sympathy of service and human helpfulness but has life clearly and wonderfully demonstrated that through this practice he found an open avenue to the hearts of men who toil.

Tolstoi set out to understand society. This he could not do through knowing the prince and being ignorant of the peasant, any more than could the peasant have an understanding of the intricacies of the social fabric by knowing his own conditions without knowing the life of the prince.

Efficiency in industry as in all things, grows out of knowledge. Knowledge is understanding. Understanding is experience.

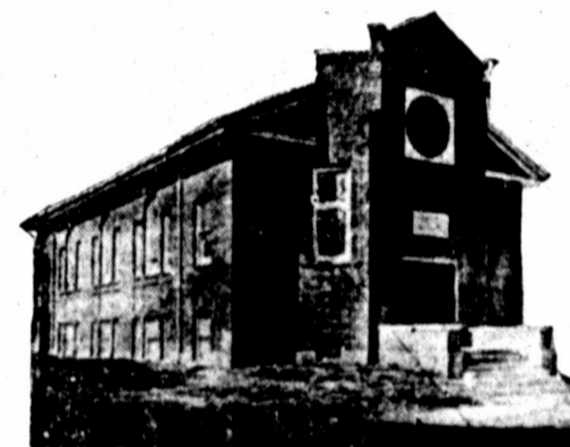

"From log cabin to success" is the biographical formula of most great Americans, not because the boy of affluence has less wit or brain than the boy of the log-cabin birth, but because the boy that is not confronted with necessity too seldom has the perspective that Tolstoi had when, to know his own side of life, he realized that he must also know the other side of life. The log cabin boy, born in the adversities, aspires; necessity drives him, and the driving advances him through the school of experience.

The president of a great electrical machine company tells the story of how, when his manufacturing company was in its infancy, he sought a college trained electrician to develop as a sales manager. Through a "pull" he was prejudiced in favor of the highly educated son of a friend. This boy, a graduate of one of our greatest technical schools, was already earning a good salary as a telephone manager. He was told that the new position would pay him but a dollar a day; that he must put on his jeans and labor as a workman in the shops for a year. The opportunity was disdainfully declined.

Another technically educated young man from an even wealthier home, possessing a Tolstoin vision, hastened to apply for the job. It was given to him; he went into the shop and began in the unskilled labor class. Today he is the chairman of the board of directors of that great company and with all his wealth a leader of labor, loved and honored by laboring men because he too knows toil.

The self-made man may come out of wealth or poverty. It is the sympathetic understanding of the other fellow, the willingness to work with and for men, that makes men.

CLEAR, CLOUDY AND RAINY WEATHER IS VARIETY SATURDAY

The district around the railroad leading into Wichita Falls had a variety of weather Saturday morning. At places the sun was shining, while in Wichita Falls it was cloudy. At different points rain was falling. Children reported the heaviest rains, the agent from that point stating that rain had fallen there for several hours. The rain there, however, was local as agents on stations on either side reported no rain. A slight sprinkling of rain was in evidence in this city later in the morning. No rain was reported south on the Wichita Falls and Southern and the Wichita Valley reported the same. Temperatures throughout the area ranged from 54 to 79 degrees.

Evangelical Church.
Corner Fifteenth and Broad streets.—Sunday at 10:00 a. m., Supt. R. C. Melver. We have set the 20th of this month for our rally day, putting forth extra efforts to bring in new members in homes that don't attend Sunday school any place, encouraging people to attend Sunday school. Dear people, don't desert entirely upon the committee for this work, for remember God has appointed each one of us as a committee of one to build up his kingdom here on earth, and we will have to give him our report on this work some day. We are indebted to the Lord for one-tenth of our money and one-seventh of our time, and if we use this for any other purpose we are robbing God, and has to us here as stewards. LOSES EYESIGHT, BUT CARVES NEW CAREER

Sir Arthur Pearson giving cap to prize winner at athletic meet.

By MILTON BRONNER.
LONDON, Oct. 13.—There goes a man who lived in the world of light and made a great career for himself. Then he passed into the world of darkness and carved a new and just as great a career for himself. That's what a friend said recently concerning Sir Arthur Pearson. A little over thirty years ago, three young Britons, Alfred Harman, George Newman and Arthur Pearson, were working for small salaries. All had the same qualities—energy, business genius, nose for news and a profound understanding of the British public. In after years they came near cornering the newspaper and magazine publishing business of London.

Something More Than a Matter of Money

Banking service is based on sound business principles; no bank can prosper except as its patrons prosper. But in this bank we try to take a broader view of service than that; service has been a dominant factor in this bank for so long that we look upon it as something more than a dollars and cents matter.
