NORTH TEXAS GAS BEING OFFERED TO INDUSTRIAL USERS

That there will be no shortage of gas for domestic purposes in Wichita Falls this winter is indicated by the announcement that the North Texas Gas company is offering gas to industrial concerns on contracts expiring Nov. 15, 1922. "We have every reason to believe that the supply will be plentiful," said Harry McLaughlin, local manager for the North Texas, Monday, "and we do not believe that the Lone Star would have authorized such an offer if there were any doubt about the domestic supply."

SUBMIT CONTRACTS TO RUN TO NOVEMBER, 1922

Heretofore industrial gas contracts have been for the winter months only, terminating Nov. 15. If there is sufficient gas for all domestic purposes and for industrial plants during the winter, it is taken as an indication that the supply is even better than last winter, when there was relatively little complaint as to pressure.

DANGER IN BACKING CARS FROM GARAGES.

Too many accidents are happening from the practice of backing cars out of garages. The majority of garages now are built so that they are reached by driving past the side of the owner's house. The cars are driven from the same way only that in leaving the garage the car is backed instead of being driven forward. Accidents are frequent. The victims are often small children who run or stand on the driveways to be run over by their parent.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

VACANCY.
In Lecky's "Map of Life" I found this sentence: "Pleasure is a jewel which will only retain its lustre when it is in a setting of work, and a vacant life is one of the worst of pains, though the islands of leisure that stud a crowded, well-occupied life may be among the things to which we look back with the greatest delight."

There is something very forbidding about a vacant lot, a vacant room—or a vacant mind. The vacant house deteriorates. The machine that is left idle attracts rust and decay. Only used things last.

Filled things and places are in themselves suggestions of readiness and service. But vacancy of life is seeped with trouble and tragedy. Go where you will and you will find it eating away the good from the soul of him who has it—and at the same time spreading its tentacles to reach other lives.

Work, on the other hand, is a stimulus and the more work you do, the more you will want to do. Each day will seem all too short, and life itself so very brief in which to get done the tasks most desired.

We all drift a great deal. And the further we get from our original aims and intentions, the more does our incentive lag and stagnate. And with incentive and interest gone, vacancy takes control.

Achievement comes only through attempting. If we do nothing but float fanciful and highly colored dreams about our eyes, deeds will continue to sleep and their birth into the arms of thrilling events will remain only a speculation.

Innate temperament has much to do with us all. But with a will to train and rear, even the humblest and least favored may hope to rise high and earn credit and be laden with honor.

Dependancy and dire discouragement may both be muffed. So that when real calamities do meet us at the door, we may smile in their faces while our disciplined forces keep us calm and full of iron and courage.

Try to build in the vacancy in your life—so that you may walk on, in confidence.

DUTY.
Whatever be my duty through the day
Grant me to meet it calmly, unafraid;
To turn from pleasures and the cooling shade
Where I perhaps prefer awhile to stay;
Let me from comforts boldly walk away;
Nor ask the hour for service to be stayed;
By grim temptation let me be unswayed
And give myself to labor when I may.

When I am summoned to the fields of strife
I would not wait till others urge me on,
Nor grudge its cost in pleasure, but as one
Who is content to meet the needs of life,
Though I forsake all that I treasure most
Let duty find me ready, at my post.

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL

PNEUMONIA

By DR. R. H. BISHOP

Sleep is absolutely necessary to every individual. Loss of sleep is extremely dangerous for it leaves the cells exhausted by the work of their previous day and gives them little time to repair and rest themselves. It is only during sleep that fatigue exhaustion is neutralized.

Overeating is another harmful procedure. It clogs the body with a great deal of useless material that requires overtime work on the part of important organs of digestion and assimilation. The feeling of fullness is not able to maintain its defense at maximum strength and do this overtime work, too.

Drinking prohibition, alcohol still remains a great predisposing cause of pneumonia. The feeling of intoxication is merely the sum total of effect of alcohol on all the cells in the body. These cells, the standing army of the human body, are paralyzed by alcohol and rendered weak as the aftermath.

Their efficiency is partially destroyed never to be regained except when new cells are built up to take their place. So we see that now is the proper time to begin taking stock of our physical conditions and if they need strengthening to withstand the dangers that will be present with the coming of winter, the present is just the time to begin.

Indeed, I do not like to be disappointed. Being disappointed is largely a habit. People can make up their minds to enjoy life, and enjoy it, in spite of its inevitable trials. Or, they can go through life disappointed in everything, and disappointing everybody. Chesterton says: "I have met a tourist who has seen the great Pyramid, and who told me that the Pyramid looked small. Believe me, the tourist looked small."

A FINE ART

By DR. WM. E. BARTON

Mr. K. G. Chesterton has been to Jerusalem and has written about his experiences there. So many people had preceded Mr. Chesterton, and had written of what they saw, it must have been a little disappointing to say anything original about it. But he has done fairly well. He says he was not disappointed in the old Bible city.

"Various cultivated critics told me I should find Jerusalem disappointing; and I fear that it will disappoint them that I am not disappointed." Not at all. If other people had gone to Jerusalem and found it all that they hoped, Mr. Chesterton would surely have found it very disappointing; but inasmuch as that is not the ordinary verdict, no one who reads Mr. Chesterton could doubt that he was not disappointed.

In this instance I am in accord with Mr. Chesterton. I was not disappointed in Jerusalem. I knew before I went there about the dirt and the fleas and the beggars, and I determined to enjoy the city in spite of them.

YOU AND I

Live Four Years Longer Than Last Generation if We Are Men, but Not So With Women.

White males, who have reached the age of 16, can expect on the average to live 59 years more. A generation ago the figure was only 45 years.

The life of man has thus been increased by 14 years in the last generation, says the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

Women's gain has not been as great. Her life expectancy at 16 years is a gain of a trifle more than a year and a quarter. But she still leads man.

This prolonging of life, says the insurance company, is the result of campaigns of health education and public health service. The thyroid and the parathyroid glands, in the long run will prove to be the road to an average lifetime of 100 years.

HEARING.
When the unknown soldier is buried at Arlington cemetery, on Armistice day, President Harding will stand at the grave and voice the nation's tribute.

Simultaneously, in many cities, memorial services will hear the president's voice, carried from the grave by wires.

Inventors in time will perfect some compact device by which wireless will carry important speeches to every one, no matter where they are.

HEALTH.
Cancer now kills, in the United States, 37,116 males and 52,884 females a year, says the American Society for the Control of Cancer. Its most important message is: "Remember, cancer in its beginning can be cured."

That is true of nearly all diseases. At least once a year, every one should go to a doctor and dentist for a thorough examination. Health dangers slipped in the bud, could be eliminated. What day to go? Make it your birthday—easy to remember.

GAS.
An 82-year-old New York woman takes a nap. The rubber tube of a gas stove in her room becomes disconnected. The fire goes out. The gas asphyxiates her. New York City has an average of 450 such deaths a year.

Guard against defective rubber tubing if you foolishly use it on a gas heater. With equal vigilance guard against the water-gas—never turn gas up until sure it is lighted.

FARMERS WILL HAVE TEAM FOR CONTEST

Training Seriously to Win the Southwestern Conference Title Turkey Day

COLLEGE STATION, TEXAS, Oct. 17.—Texas A. & M. has entered seriously into the training of a cross country team to win the southwestern honors in the conference meet which will be held at the A. & M. College of Texas on Thanksgiving day and in connection with the annual Turkey Day football game between the University of Texas and Texas A. & M. to be played on the home ground.

Professor Snyder won two letters in spring track at Ames and also two letters in cross country running. He was captain of the Iowa State cross country track team in 1913 and his team won the Missouri Valley conference pentathlon.

About 20 men are working out for the team and much enthusiasm is being worked up early in the season over plans that are being discussed of holding one dual cross country meet in connection with either the Texas A. & M.-University of Arizona football game at College Station Oct. 21, or on the day of the Texas A. & M.-Oklahoma A. & M. game at College Station, which comes Oct. 23.

If these plans are matured the course of the five-mile run will be laid out and the run started as early as possible in the autumn.

Dr. K. Hille, head coach of athletics, is enthused over the progress being made in the development of cross country running and hopes to work up more interest in the sport this winter by putting into competition a strong team from this college.

Besides the honors to be won in this branch of college sports he also considers the great value of the early training that is given track men who compete, being a great developer of distance men for spring track.

Kearns Declares Arrangements for Bout Completed

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Arrangements have been completed for a match between Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight boxing champion, and Jess Willard, former champion, either in New York or in Jersey City, N. J., next spring, Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, announced tonight.

Kearns was informed by Tex Rickard that the New York promoter had Willard's signed contract. "I accepted Mr. Rickard's offer and notified him that I am willing to sign for Dempsey at any time," said Kearns.

Dempsey and Kearns reached here today for a short visit before going to Minneapolis where the champion will open a 20 weeks' theatrical tour. Dempsey will start training for the Willard bout immediately after the tour, Kearns said.

DEVOL HIGH HAS GOOD GRID TEAM THIS YEAR

DEVOL, OKLA., Oct. 17.—Great things are expected this year from three Devol high school football teams, which trounced Frederick last year in a game that eleven is undoubtedly the best that has ever been turned out here and is expected to blaze through the season with few, if any, losses.

DOES A FIGHTER NEED EYES

By ROY GROVE
How necessary to a fighter are his eyes?
The case of Jack (Kid) Wolfe, Cleveland bantamweight, presents an interesting hint to that argument.

Wolfe is near-sighted, so much so that he has a hard time recognizing friends on the street. Thick-lensed glasses cover his eyes, and he's the last man in the world you'd pick for a leather pusher if you ran across him on the Avenue.

Yet Wolfe has been sliding through the ropes and meeting the best of the boys in his class for a dozen years. Only a short time ago he laid Johnny O'Leary low in two rounds in the semi-windup at the Kilbane-Danny Frush show in Cleveland.

Instinct Does It
How does he do it?
"Instinct," says Wolfe, "I've been fighting so long that it seems to have become second nature to me."

It is often illustrated in the ring. Danny Frush fought by instinct alone during much of the last four rounds of his fight with Kilbane, for he was completely dazed. Stanley Ketchel, in the memorable contest with Willie Papke, in which Papke won the title, was blinded by a blow early in the fight. Yet it's the lesson I learned in the years of fighting I put in before my eyes, fighting bad—and the lesson has stuck.

It's Actuality
Fighting instinct is an actuality. Orders from Landis mean nothing to Ruth.

SPORTS SHOTS

by Paul W. Barkin
Nothing startling is expected to develop at the Texas league meeting in Dallas Saturday and Sunday.

Three things, Hellmuth went hitless while Cobb sat on the bench, and Ty won the swat title. Sliser purloined four sacks and finished the season three ahead of Sam Harris of Washington.

Pans can be prepared for another unloading of fight propaganda in the near future. Only a few more steps are necessary to clinch Willard's return bout with the champion.

George Gibson is on the pan right in Pittsburgh and a new pilot may be at the helm next year. Pans and scribes are on his back for failure to change pitchers on several occasions and for being too lenient with his men.

Chicago fans and scribes are quite worried over Ted Faber's condition. The White Sox ace hurt his knee severely in one of the city series games and it is feared that the injury may be permanent.

Electra high looms up stronger than ever for the district championship as a result of her decisive victory Saturday. A return game with the Wichitaans is being planned, but should it be arranged it would have no bearing on the intercollegiate title.

Therapy started about the time the last war between England and America, when soldiers were being repaid for military services during the war. Among many other soldiers, Jacob Baker was given a tract of land by the government.

Three hundred heirs were located in the United States and Canada—the original family having branched, taking in the Williamson side.

Mrs. W. L. Kershner, Salt Lake City, Utah, the eldest of the Williamson side, and W. M. Baker, of Orange, Texas, eldest of the Baker, are handling the problem of identifying the heirs.
