INSTITUTE SEARCH FOR BANDITS WHO ROB MAIL TRUCK

GET FOUR POUCHES FROM DRIVER ON LOWER BROADWAY.

HAVE NOT DETERMINED THE AMOUNT OBTAINED

Variouly Estimated At From Hundred Thousand To One Million.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Three automobile bandits who held up a United States mail truck on Lower Broadway late last night, escaping with four pouches of registered mail, were being sought by the police and postoffice inspectors today.

Postal authorities said they were unable to find the value of the stolen mail, much of which had originated in the Wall street district. One of the inspectors on duty at the postoffice today told city detectives that the pouches contained about $100,000 in money and negotiable papers. Other estimates fixed the value of the haul around $100,000.

Frank Havranek, driver of the truck, was detained by the police and held in custody. He was brought in as the result of the city-wide alarm sounded a half hour after the holdup. He had proceeded only a few blocks on his run from the city hall station to the general postoffice, opposite the Pennsylvania terminal, when a green touring car bearing three men overtook him. Two stood on the running board with pistols, while the third, seated in the rear seat, waved them to follow. They held the holdup to the police.

Meeting with the veterans are the Sons of Confederate Veterans and the Southern Confederate Memorial association.

HELD FOR BRIDEGROOM'S DEATH

By N. E. A. Service.
HUTCHINSON, KAN., Oct. 24.—Mistake or murder? A delayed postmortem examination will be held over the body of George V. Barnes, the deathbed bridegroom, to ascertain how much arsenate of lead his stomach contained.
 His bride, Mrs. Maude Yargus-Barnes, is in the Reno county jail here, awaiting trial on charges of murder in the first degree and bigamy. Her divorced husband, Ray Amos Yargus, of Hannibal, Mo., occupies another cell in the jail, on a charge of plotting with her to poison Barnes.
 "I don't know how it could have happened," tearfully explained Mrs. Yargus-Barnes, on the evening of September 29, when Barnes died at a hospital. "For ten days I was feeding him a gruel of cornstarch and water for an acid stomach. He kept wanting cornstarch and water, but seemed to grow worse instead of better."
 Six hours before Barnes' death he was married to Mrs. Yargus in his home by the probate judge.

Ray Amos Yargus and his former wife, Mrs. Maude Yargus-Barnes.

Tells of Poison.
 When public officials with aroused suspicions began to investigate, Mrs. Yargus-Barnes first denied that there was poison in the house. Then she recalled a parcel of arsenate of lead which she says her husband had bought to use on some plants.
 The poison was on a shelf in the pantry, in a paper sack. In a similar sack was some cornstarch.
 Mrs. Yargus had been keeping house for Barnes for a number of months prior to the deathbed marriage. Their acquaintances thought she was his wife, and were surprised when she applied for the marriage license. Barnes, a salesman, was 44; Mrs. Yargus is 31.
 Court records showed that Mrs. Yargus obtained a divorce from Yargus May 2, 1921. Under the Kansas law her marriage to Barnes before six months had elapsed made her guilty of bigamy.
 She was arrested on that charge, and placed in the county jail.
 Then Sheriff Clark of Reno county found in the Barnes home two cup cakes, one partly eaten. These were analyzed by a chemist who reported them to contain about a tablespoonful of arsenate of lead each.
 A letter from Yargus, dated September 29, the date of Barnes' death, and mailed September 30 at Hannibal, Mo., was found by the sheriff. This letter was addressed to "My Dear Little Wife" and signed "Your Sweet Daddy—A. Y." It contained advice to Mrs. Yargus telling her what to do in disposing of the property of Barnes.
 Clark then swore to murder complaints against Mrs. Yargus and Yargus.
 Attorneys for the state argue that the whole affair has been a plot by Mrs. Yargus and her former husband to murder Barnes and get possession of his property.
 But the state maintains their innocence, and point for proof to the fact that Mrs. Yargus had frequently called the doctor who ministered to Barnes.

The iron fence that has been around the lawn for many years will be removed.
 A conduit lighting system will be put under ground before the paving is begun and beautiful steel poles are to take the place of the wooden ones now in service. The lighting capacity of the city will be increased at least 60 per cent and other improvements made along this line.

"TURN TO THE RIGHT" PLEASURES BIG OPENING CROWD DESPITE FIRST NIGHT'S VICISSITUDES

A presentation which, in spite of the vicissitudes of a first night in a strange town, was of high enough caliber to stamp the presenting company as one of undeniable quality was given to a well-filled house at the Wichita theater when Gene Lewis-Olga Worth and their supporting cast made their initial bow to Wichita Falls Monday night.

Little doubt was left in the minds of those who made up the welcoming audience that this city has at last secured a real stock company, and in the light of past experiences when the public was kidded into the belief that a barnstorming troupe was worthy of patronage, the discovery was a happy one.

"Turn to the Right," the Winchell Smith stage hit of Broadway fame, encountered rough sailing on its first trip through local theatrical waters and Mr. Lewis and his company are deserving of all the more credit for the manner in which they weathered the first night storm.

Conditions over which they had no control combined to make their initial offering a trying one. It resulted in some unusually long waits between act and in a few ragged spots in the production itself.

But the defects were plainly those which will remedy themselves, and the statements of Mr. Lewis, who made a short, informal talk at the close of the second act, that Tuesday's matinee would find everything in readiness for a presentation devoid of the Monday irregularities can be accepted as a guarantee that succeeding showings will be even better than the opener.

The play itself, billed as a comedy, proved to have quite as much pathos and drama as it did humor, although all were present in ample portions. It was varied enough to offer entertainment for the most exacting and it was lively enough to keep the audience on edge from first to last.

Gene Lewis himself carried off first honors as the individual star of the evening, due largely to the fact that his role was the heaviest of any. Miss Worth was cast in one of the lighter parts that prevented her displaying her histrionic talents to their best advantage, but her brief appearances on the stage she handled her role in a manner that left nothing to be desired.

Following Mr. Lewis, the work of Miss Pauline Lettley who appeared in the play as his mother was probably the outstanding feature. Her portrayal of the trusting mother was well high faultless. Jack Doty and Joseph Remington, who appeared as the rough neck pals of Mr. Lewis, furnished most of the comedy of the play and furnished it in a manner that brought howls of glee from the audience.

The manner in which they tied into the fodder provided by their buddy's mother in the second act was a caution and went a long way in giving life to the contention that the art of eating with a knife is a relic of the past. Both of these stars proved themselves to be entertainers of the highest quality, as did Jack Emmerman, who graduated from a farmer's overalls to a dress suit in about 30 minutes.

The one remaining character which stood out prominently was Miss Lee Smith, who, in the play, appears as the sister of the star. A very pleasing voice and an appearance the exact complement of her vocal abilities combined to make her one of the most attractive figures on the stage.

Of the remaining members of the cast, all worked well and earnestly, a fact which augurs well for their future success in this city.

A MESSAGE TO UNEMPLOYED BY BUSINESS STAR OF MOVIES

Sidney R. Kent, as general manager of the Paramount corporation, he sells films to the world. "Forget salary if you want work," is his advice to the unemployed.

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Boy, run into the Hall of Immortals and page Horatio Alger Jr. We would have him write the story of Sidney R. Kent.
Kent was looking for a job four years ago. He was hired without salary by Adolph Zukor. Now, at 35, Kent is general manager of the Famous-Players-Lasky Corporation, such a big concern that the federal trade commission has charged it with being too big.
Kent is also a member of the board of directors, the only one in that body of millionaires who has risen from the ranks of the company.

ers four years ago, Mr. Zukor told me he didn't have a job for me. I was willing to give him demonstration of my ability and talk salary later. I was accepted on that basis. In eight months I was making $250 a week.

"Results did the talking. Mr. Zukor couldn't understand any other language. The man who seeks a job is always at a disadvantage, no matter what compensation he asks. Then why add to the obstacles by emphasizing your own worth?"

"If you land a job give it every ounce of enthusiasm and work you have. I never in my life got anything except by working likeli."

"The successful men I know all seem to work 12 hours a day the failures eight. After all, the human satisfaction you get out of business, no matter how much you make, is something you can't get a price on."

Kent's rapid rise in the movie industry is just one item in the story of the industry's rapid rise. There are approximately 15,000 theaters in America exhibiting photoplays. Photoplays sold by Kent's selling force are shown in 12,202 of them. About 5,000,000 people go to the novies every night. Of that number 5,000,000 see pictures sold by Kent's force.

Kent's advice and his experience should profitably serve the young fellow who is starting out to blaze his trail to fame and wealth. However, the man with several mouths to feed probably will laugh sardonically at the advice to accept a job without thought of compensation.

Who was it who said "you can't teach an old dog new tricks"? Samuel Yetter has just started a career as a movie actor at the age of 98. He left his Illinois home to visit his grandson Raymond McKee, who is playing in "The Octave of Claudius" at Los Angeles. The casting director of Goldwyn offered him a part in a new production and there he is.

Across the Screen
Charles Materno is directing Corinne Griffith in "Received Payment."
Nearly 40,000 saw "The Three Musketeers" in one week at Washington, D. C.

Katherine Newlin Burt's latest novel, "The Summons," is to be filmed by Goldwyn.
Sylvia Ashton is acting in two pictures. In "Saturday Night" she is a scrub woman and in "For the Defense" a grand opera singer.

Movies of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight went so big in Barcelona that the Spaniards forgot a ball fight the night the show started. Police could not handle the crowd that tried to see the film.

CALOMEL USERS TAKE AWFUL RISK

Very Next Dose of Treacherous Drug May Start Terrible Suffering.
The next dose of calomel you take may sicken you. It may shock your liver or start bone necrosis. Calomel is dangerous. It is mercury, quicksilver. It crashes into your life like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.
If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.
Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wild-cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tonic which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not sicken—adv.

YOUR WILL POWER.

Most valuable of all powers, to you, is will power. Without it, the greatest genius remains a mediocrity.

Students of the psychology of self will tell you that knowledge and special gifts are merely tools.

Nothing but will power can accomplish with those tools.

A celebrated instance of a wretched and total failure become an unsurpassed success is Demosthenes, the Greek, recognized as the foremost orator of all history.

Demosthenes was born in Athens 2306 years ago. When he was seven, his father—a sword-maker—died, leaving an estate equivalent to $200,000 of our modern money.

Demosthenes then made the first important use of his will power. He studied law, for the express purpose of bringing his guardians to justice, and his first case was their prosecution in the criminal courts of Athens.

Trying his first case, young Demosthenes realized that he had terrible handicaps. His voice was weak. He lisped. He stammered.

Did Demosthenes quit? No! He practiced speaking, night and day, with pebbles in his mouth. He orated, first in an underground room he dug, then ventured out to deliver his orations to the sea waves.

Discovering he was short of breath, he practiced making orations while swiftly climbing steep hills. When Demosthenes delivered his first oration at a public meeting, he got stage fright and broke down.

But he kept at it until he was the greatest orator that has ever lived. Will power elevated him from nothing.

Demosthenes rarely spoke extemporaneously. His critics cited this to prove that his eloquence was not a matter of genius, but the result of plodding, infinite pains.

Usually that is the case with all great men. A philosopher, realizing this, said, "Genius is an infinite capacity for taking pains."

Demosthenes, a plodder, born without ability, ruled ancient Greece with his orations when he was 25.

He never used an unnecessary word. He never resorted to flowers of speech, surprises or jokes. He stuck to facts, gave both sides, convinced his hearers by logical argument—what we call "horse sense."

Do not lament, if you have no talents, no unusual ability.

Remember Demosthenes. Develop your will power. Then the world will be at your feet.

WHAT FORM WILL THE FARMERS' PROTEST TAKE?

In the country to see another movement in the West and Middle West similar to that of the populist movement of the early nineties?

There are conditions existing today not unlike those that brought about the populist movement of the nineties.

The populist movement grew out of the unfavorable conditions that existed in the agricultural industry. The farmers of the west were burdened with debt. After reaching a peak land values had dropped.

The farmer knew that his load was heavy, even heavier than he could bear. He wanted relief but he didn't know how to get it.

Conditions in agricultural sections are somewhat similar today to what they were in the nineties.

A period of prosperity for the farmer and general inflation and speculation ran up land values to a height that is all out of proportion to their earning capacity on a normal basis.

The farmers have learned a lot about politics. In fact, they have become our most influential political element. Witness the "agricultural bloc" in the present congress.

Announcement is made that twenty-four hour sessions of the senate are to be held in an effort to enact a revenue bill.

The republicans have been in control of congress for three years and yet have been unable to enact a revenue law repealing the excess profits tax and reducing income taxes to which both parties have been pledged.

BENEFITS OF IRRIGATION PROJECT WILL BE WIDESPREAD.

It is reported that work will begin at an early date on the dam across the Wichita river in the eastern part of Baylor county. The entire project will be in charge of an irrigation company and will call for the expenditure of more than four and a half million dollars.

The largest artificial body of water in Texas. In addition to furnishing water to the city of Wichita Falls and other small towns, it will furnish water for the irrigation of 100,000 acres of farm land.

The benefits of the Big Wichita irrigation project will not be confined to Wichita Falls. Many communities will benefit from this project.

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL

SCARLET FEVER

Scarlet fever, one of the most common diseases, is not so dangerous as it is generally supposed to be.

Not in the fever, nor the rash of scarlet fever does the danger lurk, but in the complications which are very liable to follow the attack of the disease.

The glandular swelling sometimes extends into the windpipe, cutting off the breath. Abscesses of the ear, resulting in deafness, are common. Kidney inflammation, or Bright's disease, accompanies 25 per cent of the cases and after the fever the system is a fit subject for tuberculosis and pneumonia.

Because of the danger of resulting complications the treatment of the patient during and after illness cannot be too careful.

Contagion lies in the sneezing and coughing rather than in the scales or peeling, as is commonly supposed. The body discharges must be kept clean and disinfected.

The danger of scarlet fever is not known. There is no preventive measure, like vaccination, with which to ward it off.

Why did he trouble to fix his lunch? Maybe it was just a joke. He was with the army on the other day, on grounds of desertion. She never came back.

LANSING EXPLAINS POSITION OF CHINA

(Copyright, 1921, NEA Service) WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—"China's case at the conference on Far Eastern affairs will be based on principles, not on individual situations or claims," says former Secretary of State Robert Lansing, who will serve as advisor to the Chinese delegation.

"China's big interest is not that of Shantung, or of Manchuria or Korea, or even of the Open Door. The vital problem, which involves the principle which must determine the settlement of all those questions, is that of national integrity. 'Establish and safeguard China's integrity as a nation and the solution of all the individual problems becomes easy and simple.' Lansing's selection as advisor to the Chinese delegates may seem strange to persons who recall that as secretary of state, Lansing participated in the framing of the Lansing-Ishih agreement which specified that Japan was to have 'special interests' in China.

"The Lansing-Ishih agreement," Lansing explains, "was merely a matter of declaration of a mature policy between Japan and the United States in regard to their attitude toward China. It did not directly affect any rights of China, except that the two governments agreed they would keep hands off."

"I told Viscount Ishih that it would be well for the open door policy."

"Ishih called that a special interest in China, and that it should be mentioned in any agreement we made. I replied that we recognized that Japan, on an account of her geographical position, had a peculiar interest in China, but that it was not political in nature and that the danger of a statement of special interest was that it might be construed."

"At another interview I told Viscount Ishih that I had no intention of making an assertion of primary or paramount interest by the United States in its relation to other American republics, but that its purpose was to prevent foreign powers from interfering with the separate rights of any nation in this hemisphere."

"I told the whole aim was to preserve to each republic the power of self-development. And I said further that no special privileges over other countries."

"I told Viscount Ishih that I felt the same principle should be applied toward China, and that no special privileges, certainly no paramount interest, should be claimed by any foreign power. The meaning of 'special interest' was not again discussed."

Lansing's knowledge of the inside maneuvers at Paris, which resulted in Japan being permitted to retain occupancy of Shantung, which she had seized from Germany, with the assistance of British troops, early in the war, also is expected to help China's presentation of her case at the coming conference.

BLACK SUBJECTS PROBLEM IN FRANCE

By MARCEL PREVOST Member of the French Academy and Famous French Novelist

There are in the French colonial domain a great number of black subjects. Ought one, while treating them with humanity, hold them apart from the civic privileges enjoyed by the whites? Or, on the contrary, ought one raise them to the same level of learning and manners as the whites and give them equal privileges?

I know there are many French enemies who do not believe our black subjects should be given full civic privileges. But have you ever heard the testimony of the officers of our army who have commanded black troops? These troops which excite the rage of the Germans have by dint of strong discipline under wise chiefs become elite soldiers. Our German enemies speak of these troops as brutal. Nothing of the sort.

The modern soldier, if he is a brute, is a bad soldier. The great French military chiefs who have commanded black troops have not only praised their military qualities but also their devotion, their fidelity, their affection. It is possible with wise leadership to make these black soldiers into armies the equal in bravery and civilization of any we have under our flag.

I do not believe it a vain dream to think that one of the tasks of France is to raise to a higher level of mental training and civic rights the blacks who inhabit French domains. The peril for France is not to attempt it out to try to do it too quickly and to give them the functions of civilized men, before they have been fully civilized in the modern sense of the word.

For France I think the problem could be solved by making service in the army one of the preliminaries to acquiring the rights of full citizenship. In many of our colonies the army is the nearest, best school for the colored man.

It is in the army that he sees at its best the order, the discipline, the justice and the industry of the French in that part of the world.

All the French qualities are in play in our colonial troops, where the army, in lieu of other agencies, concentrates our civilization, our respect for law and justice, our sense of fraternity.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

NOBODY HOME! I sat in a business conference the other day. Every once in a while a real idea would be born and then it would walk around the room and the different people would look it over.

All of a sudden one of the men in the conference exclaimed: "Ah, I have it. Bill Blank of the Blank Company will grab at such an idea."

And so the telephone was called into the conference. It was nearly half past two in the afternoon. But the man wanted had not returned from luncheon. Then another man was asked for. No one knew where he was.

One reason why normal business is not resumable is that too many folks are "out to lunch"—and too few are on the job.

Someone once remarked that though Opportunity might knock and knock at one's door, he should not be expected to kick the panels in!

There must be somebody home when ideas come—soberly home when your chance calls.

I saw a man walk into a prominent store the other day. He looked around, glanced at some of the things displayed, then turned around and walked out! I noted that one of the salesmen hearest stood telling a story to some man. Soon this man left—but the man who did not get what he went into that store to get may never come back again. To him, there was nobody home there.

I am wondering if the simple and extremely common virtues which have done such marvelous work during the past may not be just as useful and essential now—when they are really needed most.

I am wondering if courtesy, promptness, consideration, truthfulness, and hard work are unfashionable.

MISAPPLICATION CHARGED AGAINST COUNTY OFFICIALS

INDICTMENTS ARE RETURNED BY THE GRAND JURY OF HARDIN COUNTY.

COUNTY JUDGE, AUDITOR AND TWO COMMISSIONERS

Report Recommends that the Four Officials Be Removed From Office.

BEAUMONT, TEXAS, Oct. 25.—Four officials of Hardin county, Texas, were at liberty today on substantial bonds following their arrests in connection with indictments returned against them by the grand jury charging misapplication of public funds. They are County Judge L. G. Hurley, County Auditor Charles M. McKim and County Commissioners H. A. Chance and Albert Cook.

The Hardin county grand jury report, recommending removal of the four officials, charges that the commissioners' court has been and is transacting the business for the county in a flagrantly gross, negligent and careless manner; that its manner and methods of having work done and performed and in payment for same seems to have been done with an utter disregard for the best interests of the county and its citizenship and in many instances with an utter contempt for law.

Arrest of Judge Hurley and the other officials named in the indictments was ordered by the county attorney immediately following the grand jury's action. It culminated in what is said to have been a discussion of the alleged misapplication of Hardin county funds for several months.

Funds said to have been misapplied are alleged in the official report to have been accreted to road and bridge building. It is alleged that the commissioners' court had knowledge of the amount, kind or character of work done. "But, notwithstanding their utter lack of information," the report goes on to state, "and their failure to take up or receive such work, they paid the bills therefor, ranging into several thousand dollars without such bills being itemized, verified or supported by any sort of evidence or correctness and without hearing any date, weeks or months, or even years when such purported work was done."

HAVE DEFINITE PLAN TO UNITE THE METHODISTS

DETROIT, MICH., Oct. 25.—A definite plan for reuniting the Methodist, Episcopal church, north and south, is to be made here immediately preceding the world conference of the Methodist Episcopal church that opens Nov. 14. Announcement that the commission on Methodist unification, composed of representatives of the northern church, would hold a session here to map a program for that purpose, was made today by Bishop Theodore K. Henderson, head of the church in Michigan.

When the plan is formulated, Bishop Henderson said it will be submitted to the unification commission of the southern church. If unification is effected, Bishop Henderson added, the church would be the largest of the Protestant denominations in the country.

SECOND MAN IS NOW INVOLVED IN MURDER MYSTERY

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A "second man" entered today the mystery surrounding the murder of the young woman whose dismembered body was found Saturday in a pond at Long Island City.

Detectives working on the case advanced the theory that two men took part in dismembering the body when the officers discovered that two shirts found wrapped about the mutilated form were of different size and both different laundry marks. This theory was strengthened when a package containing a woman's blue serge suit, now believed to have been worn by the victim, was turned over to them. The discoverer of the package, a young woman, said she had seen two men throw it from an automobile near her home Saturday afternoon. The clothing was of a size that would fit the slain woman and efforts are being made to trace it in an effort to establish her identity.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS IN ADVANCE OF CONFERENCE

DALLAS, Oct. 25.—Committee meetings were held here today preliminary to the opening tomorrow of the 55th annual session of the north Texas conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The conference has jurisdiction over the most populous sections of Texas with about 225 ministerial charges. Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, conference president, was among the early arrivals.

Twenty Texas Leaguers Will Report to Majors For Tryout Next Spring

Twelve hurlers, four outfielders, two first basemen, one shortstop and one second baseman of the Texas league will receive tryouts with major clubs next spring. Thirteen of the 29 will go to the American league and the remaining seven to the National and they will be divided among nine of the 16 clubs. The Hankers of Detroit, the Browns and Cardinals take three each, the Giants two, and the Phillies, Athletics and Pirates one each. The spudders who will go up are Hollingsworth and Clark.

The president of the San Francisco baseball club, one Mr. George A. Putnam, has come forth with a suggestion which he thinks will be of great benefit to minor league baseball.

His suggestion is one worthy of earnest consideration. It makes little difference to the minor league player now whether or not his club wins the pennant. This may not be true to such a great extent in the Texas, Southern, International and American association, where the flag winners get in on a post-season championship series, which nets them a nice piece of change, but it is generally true in the other minor circuits.

Baseball's greatest asset is a fighting spirit. If a player knows he will receive a few minor dollars extra at the end of the season he's bound to fight harder and longer. He won't be so apt to quit if a gig gets a few games away from the top of the heap. It's human nature and you can't get away from it.

It wasn't so long ago that the big league clubs allowed up when they saw the stars were about to cop. Then the magnates decided to split up the world's series men so that all first division clubs would have a share in the prize money.

Failure to think in the pinches and the in-between is the right side of the line to withstand the onslaught were the outstanding weaknesses of the Wichita High eleven in its contest with the Quaker City Saturday and it is to overcome those weaknesses that Coach Harry Viner is directing his attention this week in preparation for the game with Henrietta in Henrietta next Saturday.

Electra High is wholly within its right in insisting that the Bowie game be played in Electra, though Wichita Falls would be welcomed in the game. The district championship is at stake and the winner will battle the undefeated Fort Worth eleven for the title of section champion.

When Rocky Kansas battered Ted Tandler at all corners of the Ping last week the just about the day's hope for a championship match with Benny Leonard. Tandler has been looked upon for some time as a logical contender for Benny's crown, but no more. The Quaker City boxer lost his best chance when Benny injured his hand just before the fight.

As an oil man, Jess Willard is a great guy. He was watching the performance of the well in the morning the other day which is said to be making about 150 barrels on the pump. Finally, rounding up a geologist at the hotel, after an entire day at the well, he inquired, "How many gallons to the acre do you think this well will produce?"

Luckiest Man in France Cleaned Up on a 40 to 1 Shot

By MILTON BRONNER

PARIS, Oct. 25.—The luckiest man in all of France—the words to that effect—is what the average well-informed Parisian calls Leo Volterra.

Volterra referred me to his wife. He is always referring people to his wife because she is an acute business woman and is a big help in running his various businesses.

Greatest Steel Man in America says:

"You must build up your body if you want to build up your brain, or build up your business."

That's what Eugene G. Grace, President of the Bethlehem Steel Company, contends, who rose from the lowest ranks to his present position in which he draws a salary of $1,000,000 a year, and of whom Charles Schwab says "is the greatest steel man America has ever produced."

It's worth your while to ponder his words, for they contain a world of valuable advice, based, no doubt, upon his own experience in reaching the top round of success.

A strong constitution is the absolute determining factor in your career. It is the physical condition, the capacity to produce the goods in quantity and in perfect condition, whether your product be one of brain or muscle.

GENERAL TANAKA MILITARY ADVISER JAPAN DELEGATES

FULFILLS FAVORITE CONCEPTION OF THAT NATION'S IDEA OF SOLDIER.

SPENT FIVE YEARS IN THE CITY OF WASHINGTON

Expresses Much Pleasure On Being Able To Return To The United States.

TOKIO, Oct. 25.—The reader in quest for responsible information may examine "Who's Who in Japan" from cover to cover in vain...

Tanaka fulfills a favorite Japanese conception of a soldier. He is one of the younger military men whose genius has helped to make the Japanese army what it is today.

"It will seem like old times," he went on, "to go to Washington, for I know I spent five years in that beautiful city long before the war. Then again during the war I passed through the United States on a visit to England and to the battle grounds in France, as well as later to the peace conference at Versailles.

"Of course, there are all kinds of people who remember me when they know I have been in the city. All women in this age are young in spirit. It's awful when you feel 25 and see the tell-tale lines in your face and reflect the other person's point of view when he's estimating you."

"Yes, I've had my face surgically 'made over,'" said the small person, looking very much like a girl of 18. "I guess I'm the first woman to admit it. And not only that—but I was filmed in the act."

"Oh, if you only knew the tragedies that have been revealed to me by the time I've had this done. All women in this age are young in spirit. It's awful when you feel 25 and see the tell-tale lines in your face and reflect the other person's point of view when he's estimating you."

"When the writer hinted at official matters such as instances of the Japanese military policy at Washington, General Tanaka said very frankly: "I think I have no statement to make about that."

The general is rather slight of build and would be called a good-looking man. He is a keen observer and his complete remarks, which have been selected by the Japanese army and navy, and his general intellectual matters and his general intellectual equipment. He is a keen observer and is probably the type of man who would speak in an official way not too often and then with the fewest possible words.

On the general question of the government's right to act in event of a railroad strike the justice department is understood to take the position on the authority of supreme court decisions that employees of public utilities bear a different relation to their posts than workers in other industries because of the danger to the public servants to avoid any interruption of facilities upon which the public is dependent.

ADMITS HAVING FACE MADE OVER

EDNA WALLACE HOPPER

By ALICE ROHE NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Have you seen Edna Wallace Hopper—the 1921 model, I mean? An interview with the diminutive actress who was famous a long time ago, brings the revelation that women may look the future as well as her mirror in the face without fear.

"Yes, I've had my face surgically 'made over,'" said the small person, looking very much like a girl of 18. "I guess I'm the first woman to admit it. And not only that—but I was filmed in the act."

"Oh, if you only knew the tragedies that have been revealed to me by the time I've had this done. All women in this age are young in spirit. It's awful when you feel 25 and see the tell-tale lines in your face and reflect the other person's point of view when he's estimating you."

ENGINEER PLACES ENDORSEMENT ON COUNTY PAVEMENT

FEDERAL INSPECTOR STATES HE FINDS NOTHING MORE THAN EXPECTED.

CRACKS IN CEMENT ARE NOT DETRIMENT TO ROAD

D. E. Henry Declares Pavement is As Good As Any in the Entire State.

Federal Inspector of Roads, D. E. Henry of Dallas made an inspection tour of both the Iowa Park and lake roads Monday afternoon, after which he stated that he found nothing more than he actually expected to find. He stated that naturally he found cracks here and there, but continued by stating that all concrete will crack and that the cracks he found in the roads were not a detriment. He declared that when the cracks first appear and before they are filled with tar that they did not on a hasty appearance but that the roads here safely came up to the government standard. "If nothing more serious develops than what I have found today after a careful inspection of all sources, I believe that the roads here are as good as any in the entire state. I also assure you that if the

COUNCIL TALKS OF NEEDED CHANGES IN CITY CHARTER

REAPPORTIONMENT OF FUNDS AND SPLIT TAX PAYMENTS AMONG AMENDMENTS.

VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS SPENDING TOO FAST

Finance Commissioner Shepherd Submits Figures Showing More Economy Needed.

The possibility of some changes in the city charter, found to be necessary by the experiences of the first 15 months under it, was discussed at Monday night's session of the city council, and it is probable that amendments will institute a definite movement in the near future to make these changes. One change strongly favored is that of reapportioning the city's funds so as to provide more money for streets; at present the park fund gets 12 cents on each $100 valuation and the street department only 15 cents, and it is planned to increase the apportionment, which is far from sufficient, at present, and reduce that of the park department. Another change favored by councilmen would provide for collecting taxes semi-annually, instead of in a lump sum once a year. It is thought that this would make tax payments more convenient and less burdensome on many property owners. Finance Commissioner Shepherd submitted figures Monday night showing city expenditures for the first half of the fiscal year. His report indicated that practically every department has been spending at too rapid a rate, some of them having already paid out two-thirds of the amount allotted for the entire year. R. S. Ragsdale, city attorney of Burkburnett, appearing on behalf of service car drivers who operate between Wichita Falls and Burkburnett, asked that some action be taken to provide a stand for the inter-city cars, saying that all available space on Eighth street had been allotted to Wichita Falls cars. After some discussion it was decided that all orders for the inter-city cars to use Seventh street would be drawn up, and an adjourned session was called for Tuesday afternoon to consider such an ordinance. At the request of N. H. Boles the council ordered Scott street sprinkled from Sixth to Front. The street, it was explained, has unusually heavy traffic at present while Ohio and Indiana are blocked by heavy rains. The resignation of Mrs. S. B. Crozier as night travelers' aid was received, and the thanks of the council to Mrs. Crozier for her faithful and efficient services were voted. Upon recommendation of the city engineer, the Filmore street paving was accepted. A request from J. E. Ward to pave a portion of the street around his filling station at Fourth and Indiana was cheerfully granted. Councilman Shepherd, in submitting his figures on expenditures since April 1, wanted the council to note that the city's finances were not in shape to stand any excessive spending. The figures for the several departments follow:

TESTIMONY SHOWS THAT BANK PAID WORTHLESS CHECK

The case against John Simmons, charged with swindling by check over the value of $50, was dismissed by Justice of the Peace R. V. Uising, when testimony showed that the bank cashed a check which it is alleged was worthless. According to the testimony, the defendant deposited $100 in a local bank and then checked on it to the amount of $15. Shortly afterward he purchased some automobile supplies and tendered a check for $100. The seller presented the check at the bank for payment and it was cashed. According to the law governing swindling by check, this would not be a case of swindling and consequently the case was dismissed. Nice Christmas Gifts. Closing out hand-embroidered towels, handkerchiefs, underwear, living and bedroom sets, etc. at 712 Ninth street, below Frear's. This week only. 162-210

If Stomach is Out of Order - "Diapepsin"

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief. This harmless antacid helps digest anything you eat and overcomes a sour, gnaw or out-of-order stomach in five minutes. If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion. Get from your druggist a sixty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin. There will be no soiling, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no gas or heartburn, no flatness or heavy feeling in the stomach, no nausea, headache or intestinal griping. Prove to yourself in five minutes that your stomach is as good as any that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this food fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or indigestion. (Adv.)
