Slow Progress In Selection of Jury In Arbuckle Case

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Twelve venire members examined and five jurors accepted tentatively, one of them a woman, was the situation at the opening of the second day of the trial of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle here today in manslaughter charge. Arbuckle went on trial yesterday on charges connected with the death of Miss Virginia Rappé, film actress, whose demise followed a party in Arbuckle's room at the Hotel St. Francis here last September. The five jurors so far seated, however, still are subject to preemptory challenge.

Exhaustive interrogation to which veniremen are being subjected indicates that the jury probably will not be completed before Thursday. The lack of interest in the tedious routine of picking a jury is thought to be responsible for the absence at the opening of Arbuckle's trial of the jurors that sought admittance at his preliminary hearing, although all places in the courtroom were taken yesterday. A special police guard is on duty in anticipation of a scramble for seats when taking of testimony is started.

The first day's session was devoid of interest except for verbal tiffs between opposing counsel. The only incident bordering on the sensational was an intimation in court by Gavin McNab, chief of counsel for the defense, that District Attorney Matthew Brady had threatened to send to jail some witnesses if they refused to make certain statements. McNab added that he would produce seven witnesses to prove his assertion. "If you do," retorted Brady, "I will resign."

Perceptibly downcast, the film questioned prospective jurors. Important witness has been located in Chicago. CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Miss Betty Campbell, long sought by the district attorney in the "Fatty" Arbuckle case, was found today in her home here.

My point is this: It doesn't seem possible, if Arbuckle had committed the crime, that he would have been charged, that the party would have continued this, and that the same people who are now testifying against him should have remained in it.

Weatherford, Texas, Nov. 15.—After the defense in the case of Cecil Jensen, in connection with the killing of James McNeely, Fort Worth chauffeur, lost pleas for a change of venue and continuance of the case, selection of a jury started this morning. Jensen pleaded not guilty.

Democrats block move to bring up Newberry contest. WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—A move by republican leaders to get the Ford-Newberry election contest before the senate today, for immediate consideration, was blocked by the democrats, after Senator Forrester, of Ohio, had declared that he had heard that some republicans planned to "jam" through a resolution declaring Senator Newberry duly elected.

RANGERS ORDERED TO UPSHUR COUNTY; FEAR A RACE RIOT

AUSTIN, Nov. 15.—In reply to a request from the sheriff of Upshur county a detachment of Texas rangers has been ordered to that county by the adjutant general's department. The negro is still a large and a posse of armed citizens are chasing him. The rangers were ordered there to keep in quieting any disorder that might occur.

EXPECT TO FINISH TESTIMONY IN CASE OF SCOTT BY NIGHT

HENRIETTA, TEXAS, Nov. 15.—That he was in Wichita Falls at the time of the robbery of the night of October 11 was the defense of H. T. Scott (Scotty) in his trial in the 26th district court here today. It was evident at 3:45 o'clock this afternoon that the case would be closed before dismissal as the state rested its witnesses on the stand. The court rested its case shortly after the noon hour, after which the defense placed its witnesses on the stand. An unusually large crowd was in attendance throughout the day.

LLOYD GEORGE CABLES HIS HEARTY APPROVAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Premier Lloyd George today cabled the following to Mr. Balfour, head of the British delegation at the arms conference: "Government of Great Britain follows with profound appreciation and wholehearted endorsement your opinion that the proposed conference will inaugurate a better path for ultimate success of conference. Please convey to both our most sincere congratulations."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Great Britain's acceptance in principle and spirit of the American proposal for limitation of naval armament formally was laid before the arms conference today by Arthur Balfour, heading the British delegation. Baron Admiral Kato's statement of acceptance in the same sense for Japan followed. Before heading the statements of the delegations, the conference adopted unanimously the committee of the whole plan worked out by the big five. Secretary Hughes said: "It is the intention of this committee, consisting of all plenipotentiary delegates, to consider all matters and report to the plenary session."

Text of the Address By A. J. Balfour Accepting U. S. Disarmament Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The official text of Arthur Balfour's address at today's sessions of the arms conference, follows: "Mr. Chairman: You have invited those who desire to continue the discussion which began on Saturday last, to think it would be very fortunate if we were to allow the events of Saturday to pass without some further observation on the part of those who honor you. Mr. Chairman, addressed your speech and if for any reason which I shall venture to explain in a moment, I am unable to do so, I shall challenge it, it is because of the powers here assembled the country which I represent is, an everybody knows the most interested in all naval questions. "Statesmen of all countries are beginning to discover that the laborious difficulties of peace are almost as arduous and require almost as great qualities as those which are demanded for the conduct of a successful war. "These struggles to restore the world to the condition of equilibrium so violently interfered with by five years of war, is one that taxes and must tax the efforts of everybody. And I congratulate you, if I may, Mr. Chairman, on the fact that you have added the new anniversary which will henceforth be celebrated in connection with this movement toward reconstruction in the same spirit in which we welcomed the anniversary celebrated only a few hours ago, on the day on which hostilities came to an end. If the 11th of November in the minds of all the allied and associated powers, in the minds perhaps not less of all the neutrals—if that date is imprinted in grateful hearts, I think November 12 will also prove to be a day of great significance. I do not think of a grateful spirit by those who in the future shall look back upon the arduous struggle now being made by the civilized nations of the world, not merely to restore pre-war conditions, but to secure that conditions shall never again exist. "I count myself among the fortunate of the earth in that I was present, and to that extent had a share in the proceedings of last Saturday. They were memorable indeed. The secret was admirably kept. I hope that all the secrets, so long as they were guarded, will be as well kept. In my less sanguine mood I have doubts, but in this case was most admirably kept and I listened to a speech which I thought eloquent and appropriate in every way, a fitting prelude to the work of the conference which was about to open or which indeed had been opened by the present, with- (Continued on Page 16, Column 1)

LONDON PRESS IS PLEASED WITH THE PROGRESS TO DATE

GENERAL SATISFACTION EXPRESSED OVER ATTITUDE OF NATIONS.

RECOGNIZE THAT U. S. MAKES BIG SACRIFICE

Devotes Considerable Space to the Probable Effect on Position of England.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—General satisfaction is expressed in the newspapers this morning at reports from Washington that the British and Japanese delegations to the armament conference are prepared to accept in principle the American proposals for a ten-year naval holiday and the scrapping of all but a limited number of warships.

In its second thoughts on the proposals set forth by Secretary of State Hughes, the press shows no lessening of the appreciation expressed yesterday, but devotes more attention to the probable effect of the plan on Great Britain's naval position.

It is freely recognized that the United States offers to make sacrifices both in money and aspirations which are greater than she asks of the other two nations. At the same time, it is remarked that Great Britain as a far empire, is in quite a different position from the self-contained United States and that circumstances are conceivable in which Great Britain might be called upon to defend the British Isles and at the same time protect the outlying parts of the empire as well as guard trade and food routes. This, it is urged, must be considered when the details of the plan come up for discussion in the conference.

There are also some indications of reluctance among the naval experts to agree to the proposition that Great Britain scrap the four post-war battleships of the Hood type, contracts for which were recently placed. These warships, it is contended, are superior to any so far projected by the United States, and cancellation of the contracts would immediately place Great Britain in an inferior position to the United States as regards battleship strength, as the American ships would be newer and more powerful. The point is also made that any arrangement made in Washington should permit the dominions to build cruisers in addition to those Great Britain possesses. The experts further contend that any arrangement such as suggested by Mr. Hughes cannot satisfactorily be confined to the United States, Great Britain and Japan, as otherwise a spurt of naval building by European powers or even perhaps South American nations might upset the equilibrium of naval power and lead to denunciation of the agreement—a most undesirable possibility which they should be forestalled. The prospect of an increase in the number of unemployed workmen by canceling the contracts for the four Hood type ships as well as the expense involved for many officers and sailors through scrapping of ships now in service is deplored, but it is not urged as a reason against the acceptance of the plan. The Daily Telegraph, while expressing deep sympathy with these men, say they must steel their hearts against the unpleasant prospect and consider only the welfare of the nation.

OIL IS LEADING IN BUSINESS RECOVERY

Prices Climb Rapidly As Consumption of Gasoline Continues to Increase.

OIL CITY, PA., Nov. 15.—The oil business is leading all other industries in spectacular recovery. Six advances in prices since the last of September have brought Pennsylvania crude to $4 a barrel; a rise from $2.50.

Pre-war average price was around $2.50. The 1920 peak was $6.10. Pennsylvania crude is the barometer of general oil prices. Other grades follow it.

Advances in crude oil prices are due to three causes: First—A price war has broken out, with big refiners getting ready to squeeze the small ones.

Second—Oil production, under long prices, had fallen so far that a shortage was becoming probable.

Third—The rich oil fields of southern Mexico are giving out, going to salt water.

Oil exports from Mexico in September were 17,627,179 barrels. This was not far below last January, the record month. Much of it, however, probably came from "stocks"—tank storage.

Production of all American oil wells was about 1,211,000 barrels a day early in 1921. It rose to a peak of 1,344,120 barrels a day by the middle of June. Production then slumped to 1,156,150 barrels a day, October 1. Production is now mounting, due to more attractive prices.

Crude oil stocks October 1 were 162,942,000 barrels, a gain of 48 per cent over the low stocks of a year ago.

Gasoline consumption in 1921 has been bigger than 1920. Refiners report a very active market in lubricating oils, 40 per cent better than last May, due to general manufacturing pick-up.

PROF. MICHELSON CLAIMS EXISTENCE OF GREATER STARS THAN BETELGEUSE

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Existence of greater stars than Betelgeuse, the giant star whose diameter was measured as 39,000,000 miles, was announced by Prof. Albert A. Michelson in an address before the National Academy of Sciences last night.

Astares, a star in the constellation of Scorpio, was named as one of the super-stars, but its exact size has not yet been determined, he said. Other stars whose magnitude may surpass either of these, are to be measured, he said, by means of the new interferometer developed by Prof. Michelson.

Other speakers before the academy, Prof. Raymond Pearl of Johns Hopkins university of Prof. E. E. Bernard of Yerkes observatory, described investigations of human mortality and the astronomical "milky way."

Too much pampering and hospitalization are weakening the human race, Prof. Pearl declared. "Under present conditions," he said, "the human race is taken care of so well that weaklings are kept alive much longer than they would be normally. Marriage of the weak results in a gradual weakening of the race."

Prof. Bernard exhibited photographs of the "milky way" made through the great one-hundred inch reflector at Mount Wilson, which demonstrated, he said, that the dark spots in the milky way were not holes or openings, but really dark or non-luminous bodies thrown into relief as projected against the bright background of distant stars.

ARMS CONFERENCE OBJECT TO PROMOTE AN UNDERSTANDING

NOT TO ESTABLISH FORCE WHICH NO NATION DARE DISOBEY.

PROGRAM DISCUSSED BY THE VICE PRESIDENT

Confident That Conference Will Achieve High Purposes For Which Created.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—The altruism of America that moved it to call the conference to limit armament and the absolute need for economy on the part of nations will work for the success of the Washington conference, Vice President Calvin Coolidge last night told the members of the Philadelphia Forum.

"The great purpose of the present conference is not to establish a force which no nation will dare disobey," Mr. Coolidge declared, "but to establish an understanding in which all nations will desire to incur. There lies the practical prospect of immediate benefit and the great expectation of world salvation. The only price exacted is a trifling diminution of theoretical national security. But even the lessened power of defense will be balanced by the lessened power of attack."

The aims of the conference are not new, Mr. Coolidge pointed out, the sides antedating modern civilization, he said. "Previous plans, however," he said, "have for the most part turned upon political and military alliances which undertook by combination to increase the military power rather than by agreement and independence to decrease it."

The utility of the past arrangements will lay the foundation for the success of the present conference, Mr. Coolidge asserted, for they have demonstrated the absolute necessity for some understanding regarding the causes of war.

"He said he felt certain the conference would achieve the high purposes for which it was created.

"America," the vice president said, "is proposing this conference with the most unselfish motives. We have emerged from the great war less impaired than any other nation. We have suffered as yet very little from any internal economic reaction. We can meet the test of competitive armament with less strain than would be felt elsewhere. There is small doubt that we might prosper on the distress of others."

"America has always been an apostle of peace and unselfishness. It proposes to hold to that course now. It seeks for a better understanding among nations, not merely for its own advantage, but from a great desire to serve. The mighty power that has come, the great advantage that is ours, will be unworthily held unless it be used for the cause of humanity.

"There will be no diminution of nationality, no limitation of independence, imposed upon ourselves or upon others. The nations will emerge from the conference clothed with sovereignty unimpaired and with freedom undiminished, but if the hope of our people is realized they will emerge with a new determination not to rely for their security upon the individual power of force, but to rely upon the universal power of righteousness."

Imports were 31,329 bales, including 3,119 bales of linters, compared with 12,825 bales including 1,709 of linters in October last year.

Choice Cuts —and Others

A few weeks ago a newspaper man visited one of the wholesale markets of Swift & Company. He wanted to see a retailer buy a loin of beef and then watch the retailer sell the porterhouse and sirloin steaks from it over his counter. He thought this would make a good story.

The head of the market took the reporter into the "cooler" where he showed him a high class side of beef. With a wooden skewer he marked off the loin and said, "That would cost a retailer just 40 cents a pound, but it's only 8 per cent of the weight of the whole side."

"This piece, (and he marked off about one-fourth of the carcass) is the chuck and I'll sell it at wholesale for 7 cents a pound. Please remember, this is one of our best sides of beef. We also have beef which sells for half as much."

This wide variation in the price of various cuts from the same side of beef is caused largely by demand for the tender cuts. The others are, of course, just as wholesome.

It seems as though more people than ever are demanding choicer cuts, and their demand sets the price. If few people ask for the forequarter cuts, the price of forequarters will automatically drop to a figure low enough to induce people to buy because of cheapness.

Even though certain cuts sell for relatively high prices, other cuts, due to lack of demand, sell so low that our profit from all sources over a period of five years averaged only a fraction of a cent a pound.

It is competition between consumers for the choicer cuts that keeps prices for those cuts relatively high; an equalizing demand for all parts of the carcass would benefit producer, packer, retailer and consumer.

Our average wholesale selling price of all products has fallen about 40 per cent since September 1920.

Choice Cuts —and Others

A few weeks ago a newspaper man visited one of the wholesale markets of Swift & Company. He wanted to see a retailer buy a loin of beef and then watch the retailer sell the porterhouse and sirloin steaks from it over his counter. He thought this would make a good story.

The head of the market took the reporter into the "cooler" where he showed him a high class side of beef. With a wooden skewer he marked off the loin and said, "That would cost a retailer just 40 cents a pound, but it's only 8 per cent of the weight of the whole side."

"This piece, (and he marked off about one-fourth of the carcass) is the chuck and I'll sell it at wholesale for 7 cents a pound. Please remember, this is one of our best sides of beef. We also have beef which sells for half as much."

This wide variation in the price of various cuts from the same side of beef is caused largely by demand for the tender cuts. The others are, of course, just as wholesome.

It seems as though more people than ever are demanding choicer cuts, and their demand sets the price. If few people ask for the forequarter cuts, the price of forequarters will automatically drop to a figure low enough to induce people to buy because of cheapness.

Even though certain cuts sell for relatively high prices, other cuts, due to lack of demand, sell so low that our profit from all sources over a period of five years averaged only a fraction of a cent a pound.

It is competition between consumers for the choicer cuts that keeps prices for those cuts relatively high; an equalizing demand for all parts of the carcass would benefit producer, packer, retailer and consumer.

Our average wholesale selling price of all products has fallen about 40 per cent since September 1920.

DISARMAMENT SIDELIGHTS

By HARRY HUNT WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—A "disarmament conference" in "democratic" America presents some apparent paradoxes to even the most casual observer.

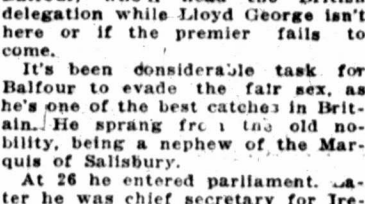

The school was established by the trustees in a structure formerly used as a dance hall, with a view to providing better facilities for the Mexican children, and also to relieve congestion in the lower grades at other schools.

The teacher speaks both Spanish and English, but instruction, as far as possible, will be in English, Spanish being used only in so far as it is necessary.

It is announced that the Bowie school is very nearly ready for occupancy, and classes will be started there within a short time.

CHARITIES DRIVE IS SET FOR LAST 3 DAYS IN NOVEMBER

Wichita Falls' united charities drive will start Monday, Nov. 15, with a banquet for workers at the Y. W. C. A., and will close November 30, it was agreed Monday night at a meeting of the general committee in charge of the campaign.

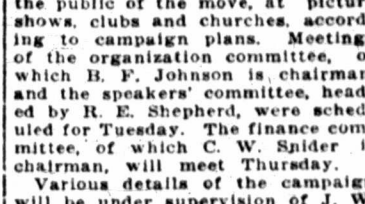

Various details of the campaign will be under supervision of J. W. Boie, who is loaned for the purpose by the Salvation Army.

A total of $28,500 will be sought in the combined drive, and it is hoped to over-subscribe this sum in the three days' work.

Are You Squeezed in the Vise of Exhausted Nerve Force and Iron Starvation?

Physicists Say These Twin Monsters Are Daily Dragging Thousands Into the Torture Chambers of Ill Health, Wrecking Their Lives and Making Them Financial Failures.

YOU are born with just so much nerve force and your body can manufacture only so much twenty-four hours. If you use it up faster than it is made through overwork, late hours, worry, too much excitement, grief, nervous strain or other excesses, your nerve fluids become depleted of this life-giving fluid, and you are dragged into the torture chamber of neurasthenia, with all its nerve-racking, agonizing pains and anguish.

Your whole nervous system becomes "on edge," so to speak, and the least little thing upsets you. You may have an almost constant aching pain in the back of the head or neck, or an extremely disagreeable feeling of fulness in the front or back part of the head, which in some cases gets so bad that you feel almost as if your head would burst; there may be spots of local tenderness on the spine, pains across the back, heart palpitation, great weakness from slight physical or mental exertion, or sleeplessness at night; and the patient often complains that his thoughts chase one another through his head with lightning-like rapidity.

A physician formerly connected with a New York City Hospital says thousands of persons suffer from depleted nerve force and iron starvation of the blood without ever suspecting the real cause of their trouble, and that often their health, lives and success are completely undermined and wrecked before they find out what is the matter with them. In cases of nerve force exhaustion in which your nerve and brain cells are starving for want of a sufficient supply of nerve force or neuro-vital fluid it is worse than foolish to waste your time

Johnson is chairman, and the speakers' committee, headed by R. E. Shepherd, were scheduled for Tuesday. The finance committee, of which C. W. Spider is chairman, will meet Thursday.

THE WOMAN'S PAGE

They Must Be Coming Down, Girls; Movie Actresses Are Wearing Them A Foot From the Floor These Days

They must be getting longer, too. You have noticed the skirts on the screen? An enthusiastic movie fan asked Monday.

"They're sure getting longer, in every up-to-date release I've seen lately, here or in Dallas," said Port Worth, they are down. They're down past the knees, young woman!

"I guess if the movie actresses can afford to cover their knees, the rest of the girls can."

Asked how far down he thought the average "movie" skirt looked, he said they seemed not more than 12 inches from the floor.

American Women "Struck"

The American women were slow to accept the Paris edict of long skirts in the spring; in fact, they didn't accept it. They fought it, with good American designs of skirts 10 and 12 inches from the floor. But where the leaders of stable fashions compromised, the general public would not even go that far. Either the weather was too warm for covered knees, or they simply decided to take the bit in their teeth. Short skirts—pretty much ultra short—have been preserved right through the late summer and early fall sales.

The fashion designers in the United States had good reasons for their refusal to follow Paris. Long skirts are unhealthy, cumbersome, and expensive. They are not necessary to a preservation of either grace or modesty, and the good sense of the American woman has grasped that fact. Of course that doesn't mean that the sensible American woman wanted knee-length skirts, she did not, and she didn't wear them. But she discarded the floor- and ankle-length costumes for good, and she seems to be sticking to it. "American" women are more free than either

French or English women. Madame Venizelos, wife of the noted Greek premier, said recently. She spoke of well-balanced freedom from certain shackles of habit and custom which she believes operate to retard the progress of good government. Because of that freedom, the American woman wasn't bound to accept the conclusions of the men fashion designers in Paris—and because of the lack of it, the French women were.

In Wichita Falls

A local alteration department handles dozens of minor alterations a day, in fixing skirt lengths, etc. Asked about the willingness of local women buyers to adopt the longer skirt, one woman stated that the girls and younger women were slow in adopting the changed American style, and absolutely refused the new lengths. "We are hemming up knee lengths every day," she said. She said, however, that the tendency "down," and that fewer are demanding the ultra-short costumes.

And, speaking of stage folks, the Gene Lewis-Olga Worth women, who are wearing some handsome costumes here, seem to have pretentious creation in nature, but there are no serious advocates of the Edenic costume.

THE LITTLE LONESOME WAYS.

I guess we don't go walkin' hand in hand enough, along Life's Little Lonesome Ways; when there is sunshine at our feet We slip our arms about each other, and go dancing down The path. But it's when shadows come that friendliness is sweet.

The world is full of little griefs and little woes and cares That hurt folks hearts and send them down the sorry shadow-road All by themselves; but who are we, that we should let them go Alone, when going hand in hand with them might lift the load?

We don't go hand in hand enough; we don't go heart in heart, When lonesome ways are yawning. Where the sun is bright and clear And flowers and things make living sweet, our arms are swift to reach— But oh, it's in the shadow-paths that friendliness is dear.

SERVE A BUFFET SUPPER

The most attractive refreshment for an evening party is the buffet supper. This allows the hostess to make the most of her dining room where she makes use of definite color scheme in decorating her table.

The supper may or may not have a hot dish such as a timpano or paté, it should consist of a salad, sandwiches, salted nuts, little cakes, an ice and hot chocolate or coffee. The hot dish adds a definite touch to the menu, but makes a lot more work and almost necessitates a competent cook in the kitchen. The supper of just liquid in the bottom of individual molds or one large one. Add a layer of egg slices, then a layer of olive slices, a layer of chicken and a layer of celery. Continue until all is used. Pour over jelly and put in a cold place to chill and harden. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise. This salad should serve about 15 persons.

Jellied salads are more economical than plain salads. A plain chicken salad for 15 persons would take two chickens.

THE WONDERS OF THE AMPLIFIER.

A crowd estimated at 100,000 persons, gathered in Arlington cemetery, heard President Harding's address at the grave of the Unknown Soldier Friday.

The amplifier is a wonderful device. It is in the beginning of its use. Experts of the Bell Telephone company, over whose wires the president's voice was carried to San Francisco and to New York, say that a speaker's voice could be carried to every city in the United States and there spread out through amplifiers.

encounter. We have learned to regulate community life on a safer basis. Except for its demoralizing influence, strife among individuals would probably cost no more than strife among nations.

It is doubtful if 400,000,000 people, living in armed preparation, could kill more than 10,000,000 in four years, which was what 400,000,000 people did during the war.

Of course they did it more artistically, if not less destructively, and there was an element of co-operation in it that bespeaks of scientific, if not moral progress.

At the same time, it is doubtful if 400,000,000 barbarians ever produced a greater orgy of murder in the same length of time. Certainly they never destroyed a greater amount of property.

No wonder the leaders of the nations are ready to sit down and talk of this monstrosity, but where will they get it?

The crux of the thing goes deeper than that superficial statement by which we conduct the routine business of nations.

It goes deep into the theory of government, of sovereignty, of the rights of people to coerce each other. In order to regulate civil life within nations, we have found it necessary to prohibit one individual from coercing another. We have even found it necessary to prohibit groups of individuals.

As among nations, however, it is still the basic idea that each sovereign state has a right to take the warpath whenever it feels disposed, and this basic idea is the alibi for that armed rivalry which plagues the world.

Now, is it in the interests of humanity to concede that each and every sovereign state has the right to make war on its own motion? Furthermore, can we hope to accomplish anything by way of limiting armaments, so long as such a right is conceded, and so long as each sovereign state is placed in a position where it can be threatened with attack by any or all others?

Wild oats are hard to tame. Some wedding rings are around the eyes. The nation to start disarming will be explanation.

An alarm clock that went off like corks popping would get most men out of bed. The worst habit is the habit of forming bad habits.

I am a traveler. I enter strange cities. I see people by the thousand whom I have never seen before. They look like the people in my home town—a little. They have homes like mine. They have about the same feelings, desires, ambitions. I have. I feel akin to them all—though I do not speak to any of them.

Many times I feel like walking right up to many folks I see, for I would like to talk with them. Some of them, I have an idea, might like to talk to me. But how very lonely a traveler gets at times! I am in a hotel tonight. I look out of the window and see crowds pass. There is laughter in the voices of many. Everybody seems to be going somewhere. I often wonder where each one is going. How interesting it would be to know.

A traveler sees many things that impress him that he would not see at home. Sometimes we have to go away a-traveling in order to see ourselves at our best—and sometimes at our worst. It is quite easy to take personal invidious when one is out of one's usual environment. Travelers are much broader. I am inclined to believe, than those who never go far.

To see much of the world is to understand more about everything. And everybody. What an absorbing study different cities are! Each one seems to have a character all its own. Many cities I love upon entering them. They are just composite individuals, after all. The buildings and streets and cars are only trimmings. You feel at home in some towns the same as you have a comfortable time in the presence of many people—even though you may not have met them.

A traveler does a great deal of thinking. But where the traveler gets the most is out in the open country, where the farms are and the little towns and villages—where great hills and mountains rise and rest in feathery, filmy clouds—where trees touch each other and streams ripple past banks, busy and happy.

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL. A HEALTHY EXERCISE

Rapid means of transportation have removed the necessity of walking as it was practiced a generation ago. Before automobiles and street cars came into use, business men were able to obtain plenty of exercise by walking to and from business. Now everything is hurry and snappy, and the average business man who spends most of his hours indoors gets not enough exercise.

Few people perhaps realize the value of walking as a simple form of exercise. It is decidedly the most available of every-day exercises. While it may not be absolutely the best exercise, nevertheless, as a makeshift type of gymnastics, it serves a useful end.

Luckily, walking rarely throws the high blood pressure strain upon the heart and kidneys which aerobic, gymnastic work, swimming, baseball, tennis or other exercises demand. Fatigue and physical injuries are most unlikely in walking.

After depleting infections, long drawn-out chronic ailments and accidents, walking, without a doubt—even of the ordinary automatic kind—is one of the best means of regaining health. For the other hand are not only far from automatic, but are decidedly apt to tax every muscle of the body from head to toe. To hike to the point of being footsore and weary is hardly necessary to make walking an exercise. Any one knows his own abilities and should hardly be so foolish as to fatigue himself, thinking he is doing his body good.

The reason fat people do not reduce their surplus by walking is because instead of increasing the daily distance of their walks they stop at a few miles a day and even fail to maintain this long enough to obtain the desired results.

Walking 10 miles a day for six months will reduce any fat person. The muscles tighten up and the fat begins to fade away. On the other hand, thin people gain weight from walking, if it is not carried to an excessive point. It whips up their stomach, liver and appetite. Fast walking helps the lean and hungry-looking man long distance and continuous walking enables the obese to reduce.

To walk correctly the foot must land almost flat. This gives a good large surface for the weight of the body. The foot should never turn in nor should the heel bend over. The knees and arms should be loose and elastic and every inch of the chest expanded in breathing.

YOU AND I Could Make a Fortune If We Could Solve the Mollere Mystery. A famous mystery again comes to the front in France, in connection with the celebration of the 30th anniversary of the birth of Mollere, greatest French dramatist.

For many years, an examination with a donkey cart hauled three burlap bags, containing Mollere's personal papers, for deposit in the National Library, Paris. The library is closed, come again tomorrow, said the porter.

The expressman drove away—and vanished, driver, cart, donkey, bags and all. Every great French detective of the last half-century has tried to track the Mollere documents, without success. Specimens in Mollere's handwriting are rare and priceless. Great fortunes await a detective who can find the contents of those three lost bags.

Do they still exist? If so, some detective eventually will find them and become rich. The dog-eat-dog literature clue. Murder will out.

SLANG Army slang phrases are being gathered up, for permanent records in the British Imperial War Museum. Odd British expressions, after 45 years' research, have been preserved for future scientists who will study our period and analyze its mob insanity.

Wise move. Common notion is that slang of today becomes correct language of tomorrow. Sometimes, it always. "Skidoo, one made," "bright as the sun," "dog-eat-dog," "George Ade, slang king, will be studied in future collections, with explanatory footnotes, as weird phenomena of expression in our time.

BARTON FINDS BOOK THAT CONVERTED LINCOLN

By DR. WM. E. BARTON. Author, "The Soul of Abraham Lincoln." "The Paternity of Abraham Lincoln," etc.

OAK PARK, ILL., Nov. 15.—There lies before me, as I write, the book that changed the religious thinking of Abraham Lincoln. It is "The Christian's Defense," by James Smith, published in Cincinnati in 1847. I found this book after the long and systematic search through secondhand shops and the attics of libraries, colleges and theological schools from New England to Mississippi.

The story connected with this book had its start back in 1859, when Edwin Baker Lincoln, second son of Abraham and Mary Lincoln, died at Springfield, Ill.

Lincoln Reads the Book. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. James Smith, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in the absence of Rev. Charles Dresser of the Episcopal church, of which Mrs. Lincoln was a member.

Shortly after, Lincoln, visiting in Lexington, Ky., picked up a thick leather-bound volume called "The Christian's Defense." He noted that it was written by the Springfield minister who had so recently come into his home.

On his return to Springfield Lincoln borrowed a copy of the book from the author and became deeply interested in it. It was the outgrowth of a religious debate between Rev. Smith and an infidel named Olmstead, at Columbus, Miss., where Dr. Smith was a Scotchman who had been a deist. When he was challenged to this debate he took 18 months to prepare for it.

Arguments Unanswerable. He quoted from Volney's "Ruins" and Paine's "Age of Reason" and showed himself thoroughly familiar with the literature of the opponents of the Christian religion, and then brought in his refutation.

Lincoln in his early manhood had read Paine and Volney and had been impressed by their teaching. He had never heard their arguments refuted in this manner. He returned the book to Dr. Smith with the statement that he considered his arguments "unanswerable."

It is remarkable that all knowledge of this book perished from Springfield. The fact that there was such a book came out in connection with the Lincoln centennial celebration in Springfield in 1909.

The pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Dr. Logan, mentioned it in his celebration address. He had learned about the book from two great grandsons of Dr. Smith. I journeyed to Springfield, met these ladies and examined the book. I also read Dr. Smith's and others' statements of the affair.

Lincoln's Doubt. Among these statements is one written by Ninian W. Edwards, who said that Lincoln had told him: "I have been reading a work of Dr. Smith on the evidences of Christianity, and have heard him preach learned that Dr. Smith had retired from the active ministry, and wished to return to his own country. He appointed him United States consul to Edinburgh.

"The Christian's Defense" is printed in two parts, one of 112 pages, the other of 254 pages, and the type is small.

Coaches Figure Athletic Park Logical Site For Intersectional Struggle

Following a conference which lasted several hours here yesterday, Coaches B. M. Dinsmore of Electra high and A. S. Douglas of Childress decided to wage their intersectional contest at Athletic park next Saturday at 3:00 o'clock. Several cities had bid for the game, but after weighing the matter pro and con the two mentors came to the conclusion that Wichita Falls was the logical site for the battle.

As was the case when Electra plays Northside high of Fort Worth for the sectional crown, the two combatants balked at the idea of playing on the home ground of either. And it was not from any fear of "gate receipts" that caused Messrs. Dinsmore and Douglas to refuse to play in Childress and Electra respectively.

Electra fans were so anxious to bring the Childrens aggregation to Electra that they did not hesitate to guarantee them as much if not more, than any other city would. But Douglas couldn't see it. He did not care to spot the Electrans any advantage.

Dinsmore felt the same way when invited to go to Childress. Childress drew about 1,500 fans at the last game played there, but the Electra coach refused to be interested. Like Douglas, he couldn't see any percentage for his charges playing in their foes' backyard.

The two sectional winners will play here Saturday without any guarantee of a neutral location that turned out to witness the Electra-Northside struggle convinced the coaches that they at least be able to pay expenses, and though they will not be averse to accepting any profit, their main object was to secure a reasonable distance of each which would assure them of at least a 50-50 chance to break even.

HOW TO PLAY GOLF BY JESSE P. GUILFORD Amateur Golf Champion of the United States.

Brassie Play

There are two principal differences between wood and iron club play, and the difference is the main issue, whereas direction is of lesser importance, and in playing with the iron direction is sought above everything else.

In driving the full swing is used. The full swing varies with different players. In my case I draw my arms well beyond the horizon, and I believe I do not go back as slowly as the majority. It is not that I do not value the slogan, "slow back," but the club has to be taken back far enough to permit the wrists to get under, but as I explained in a previous article I declined to believe that it is better to use discretion in this particular feature of the game, and if there is the slightest danger of losing control of the club, to limit the swing to the horizontal or possibly less.

Timing Hard to Explain

We hear a great deal about the importance of properly timing the stroke, and yet it is a thing which is almost impossible to explain. We all know when we have had a perfectly timed drive, for there is the feeling in the club head preceding it at just the proper rate of speed has met the ball squarely and is sending it well on its way with the right amount of strength behind the blow while the body follows through in the most natural and easy method, facing the line of flight of the ball. The player is aware of the timing of the stroke long before the impact of the ball with the club, and try as he may he cannot right matters.

Not so many years ago Oscar Vitt and Ernie Boland were members of the Detroit American league club. They were close friends, pals, and land was selected to start one of the games against Boston. I was umpiring the bases and in the very first inning Vitt came over to me and said:

"What about Boland? How does he look, Bill? Do you think he has a chance to come back?"

I told Vitt that while Boland lacked his old-time speed, he had fairly good stuff left, and had a chance to string along with the Browns. It was evident that Vitt was much pleased with my optimistic opinion as to Boland's chances. Few pitchers know more about

No one can better appreciate the honesty of baseball than the umpire. True, some of the Chicago White Sox once strayed from the path of righteousness, but that case was one of the very few exceptions.

Time and again during the summer incidents come under the observation of the umpire that prove conclusively to the player the honesty of the game is paramount. Let me relate such an incident.

Not so many years ago Oscar Vitt and Ernie Boland were members of the Detroit American league club. They were close friends, pals, and land was selected to start one of the games against Boston. I was umpiring the bases and in the very first inning Vitt came over to me and said:

SPORTS SHOTS BY PAUL W. BARKIN

Many Intersectional Games

By Henderson, secretary of the Intersectional League, has ordered the sectional winners to play each other wherever possible Saturday and it is expected that at least six squads which won the title in their respective districts will be eliminated. The victors of the Electra-Childrens meet figures on playing Abilene next week and if Saturday's crowd at Athletic park warrants it, that game also will probably be played here. Maybe Wichita Falls isn't getting on the football map.

Red and Black Here Thanking

They would like to stage the game here on Thanksgiving day if possible, but Athletic park has already been promised the local high school for that date. Unless Harry Viner hears from one of the other Dallas or Fort Worth clubs by tonight he has decided to take on Polytechnic high.

Should Break Attendance Record

Wichita Falls sport followers were somewhat amazed when the attendance for the Electra-Fort Worth game was announced as better than 1200. "It couldn't be done," they declared before the game. "Wonder how they feel about this Saturday's game? We can't see anything less than 1500. There will be as many and probably more fans here from Electra than there were at the last game and Electra merchants claim they might as well have closed their doors when the game was here before. The Northside eleven brought no rosters along while Childress will undoubtedly bring 200. Considering the importance of the game and the caliber of the two teams more local fans can be counted on than turned out two weeks ago. Those who saw the battle for the sectional title swore they'd never miss another and many who didn't see it regretted it.

Salts Says Buffs Won

Walter Salm is of the opinion that the Buffs were the big winners in their recent trade with the Sand Crabs. He figures that Dick Kauffman alone was almost worth as much as Baggan, Griffith and Robertson. He says that Kauffman is one of the best minor league first sackers in the game today and easily outclasses any one of the three men referred to by the Buffs. Griffith is perhaps the best of the trio and the Crabs need a pilot badly, but even at that the Buffs' "Topper" put him in the same class with Kauffman.

Little Superior to Baggan

He also believes that Clarence Bittle is far superior to Johnny Baggan and a much better investment. The 1921 average of Bittle was 27.2. He walked out 120 times out in the former as Bittle worked out the season with a swat mark of 303 while Baggan's average was 27.2. He walked out 120 times as compared to Baggan's 55. Baggan played all his game in left field and finished with an average of .378. Bittle, on the other hand, played 115 games in left and his average was only one point less, while in 25 games in center field he did not make an error. What over edge is to be granted must go to Bittle. As an investment, it is safe to say that Bittle will be a good player for Baggan's money.

Hurlers About Equal

The hurlers involved in the deal are about equal, though Robert Galveston would give him the better of an argument. Both are hard boys to beat. Both are foxes, especially Robertson. He has long had the reputation of being one of the headiest hurlers in the loop and wins many of his games solely by using his head. Harry, however, is no slouch in that respect. There is little to choose between them, but it's hard to see where Galveston gained in the deal as a whole.

Schliebner Comes High

When it was reported that Galveston had obtained Kuffman from the Southern, Salm had a sneaking idea that he might possibly land "Dutch" Schliebner. He went to Galveston and had a talk with Leopold, but according to his story, Wichita Falls did not have a man on the club that was as good as

NEBRASKA WRESTLER BARRED FROM NEW YORK FOR ALL TIME

Pesek's Rough Tactics Get Him In Bad And His Share Of Purse Held Up.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Local promoters of last night's wrestling bout between John Pesek of Nebraska and Marin Piestina, Serbian, have been ordered by the state athletic commission to hold the Nebraska fall share of the purse. Pesek was disqualified for rough tactics and forever barred from wrestling activity in this state.

Piestina was awarded the first fall on a foul after 11 minutes and 19 seconds of wrestling when Pesek desisted from his savage attack. The Nebraska continued to gouge and butt Piestina and at the end of 24 minutes and four seconds Piestina was awarded another fall.

Members of the athletic committee then overruled the referee and ordered the match resumed until a legitimate fall was gained. Pesek again resorted to gouging, the bout was stopped, and the decision awarded to Piestina.

Jimmy Dunn Has Classy Performers Under His Wing

Most boxing managers are content to have one contender for a championship title in their stable.

Not so with Jimmy Dunn, the Cleveland mentor. At the present time Dunn has four boys who are classy performers.

There are many who believe that Carl Tremaine is a better boy than Johnny Wilson, the holder of the bantam title. Al Corbett, who is not known out of Ohio boxing circles, is almost as likely a contender as Tremaine. Both boys can easily make 115 pounds.

Johnny Kar is generally considered the logical opponent of Jack Britton for the welterweight honors. Bryan Downey is a fifty-five middleweight champion, sharing the honor with Johnny Wilson.

Another boy in the Dunn stable who has shown great promise is Charley O'Connell, who has victories to his credit over Benny Valger, Blockie Edwards and a number of other lesser lights.

O'Connell is a legitimate lightweight. He scarcely ever tips the beam at more than 130. Dunn has visions of his boy winning the middleweight and bantam championships during the next two years.

Kilbane, who holds the featherweight title, is a product of Dunn's methods.

MORAN GETS BACK AT BOSTON SPORTING PUBLIC

Charley Moran, National league umpire, would have been named one of the league's officials in the world's series. A rumor that he had resumed coaching the Centre college football team at Danville, Ky., quelling his post as an umpire two weeks before the season closed and thus losing out on the world's series—if that is what is meant—cost Moran something over $2,000, representing each umpire's share in the series apiece. But Moran repeatedly considers it "worth" it after what happened in the game of football at Centre last year.

WHITE SOX AND GIANTS PLAN EXHIBITION GAMES

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The Chicago White Sox of the American league and New York Giants of the National league are planning a series of spring exhibition games while on their way north from southern training camps next year. It was announced here today following the return of Harry Grabner, secretary of the White Sox club, from Seguin, Texas, scene of the Sox 1922 training camp. While arrangements for the exhibition series have not been completed, the plan is understood to be favorably considered by both clubs. Secretary Grabner expressed himself as well pleased with the site for the White Sox 1922, which he stated is well situated for the spring workouts.

"SUT SAYS"

THE SERVICE IS SUDDEN AT SUT'S SMOKE SHOP 615 Eighth Street Next Door to Wright's Clothes Shop

A Real Battle Due

Dinsmore was not a bit hesitant in declaring that he feared Childress more than any other team that his eleven has stacked up against yet. His charges have weathered two severe tests this season with Childress and Northside, and he figures the up-state boys the toughest of them all.

Childress, on the other hand, has had a reputation for a year if scores mean anything. They romped all over every team in their section, completely outclassed the Electra, and were the greatest team Childress ever saw and last night he was struck full of confidence.

As soon as the location of the game was agreed upon the question of the allotment of seats came up. As Electra is counting on sending 400 rooters here with the team, and Douglas said that there would be at least a couple of hundred here from Childress, the issue of the seats decided the issue and Douglas calling "heads" won. He chose the left side of the stand for the Childrens delegation while the right side of the stand for the Electra contingent will root from the right side of the stand.

STILL BABE BELTED HIS ONLY HOMER OFF NEHF

Southpaws make more trouble for Babe Ruth than right-handers, despite the fact that Babe has made a great many home runs right handed. A low curve ball on the outside is Babe's worst enemy.

None of the Giants used such a type ball in the world's series and in case Babe struck out three times.

Because of his peculiar stance at the plate, it is very difficult for Ruth to hit the low curve ball inside, whether low or high, that Ruth murders.

A pitcher who has a change of pace and can slow up on Ruth, also is troublesome to the big fellow. Whether he is a left or right hander, the pitcher who has a change of pace is a real terror to the Giants.

Because of his peculiar stance at the plate, it is very difficult for Ruth to hit the low curve ball inside, whether low or high, that Ruth murders.

GIL'S BUSTER KEATON OF GRIDIRON

ITACA, N. Y., Nov. 14.—The coach who never smiles on the football field.

That's Gil Doble, lanky gridiron doctor of the Cornell varsity, who has taken a squad of ordinary football material and made of it one of the greatest teams in the country. It is no new thing, however, for Doble to perform miracles. At University of Washington and at Annapolis he turned out winning squads.

So serious Doble at all times that even his closest friends always think of him as "Gloomy Gil." It is no one who smiles on the football field this season. It is not in the makeup of the Cornell coach.

Even when his team defeated Dartmouth, 13 to 7, Gil did not smile. Nor did he utter the faintest sort of a smile when his team humbled Columbia, 41 to 7, even though "Buck" O'Neil, former Syracuse coach and mentor of Columbia, has always ridiculed Doble's style of coaching.

Doble regards football as a serious business. The varsity is not a "fun" team, Doble's slogan is "win, fight 'em and beat 'em, and don't depend upon anything but brains and determination when you're in a pinch."

ALL MAJOR LEAGUE UMPIRES MAY WORK IN BIG SERIES

If a major league umpire is competent enough to work year after year in the games that decide who shall meet in the world series, why isn't such an umpire competent to work in the series?

President Ban Johnson has always figured that any umpire capable of holding his job on the American league staff, is competent to work in the series. In selecting his men he has worked on that theory.

In the National league it is different. There are several umpires who have worked for years in that organization and yet have never drawn a world series assignment. On the other hand, Bill Klem, regarded as the premier official of the staff, has worked in ten series. It hardly seems fair.

A new suggestion that is meeting with favor is that all the umpires on each staff be used in the series, four of them working each day. That would give the fans a chance to look them all over and form their opinion. It would let them all share in the money, and while the amount would be cut down, it would be an annual bonus.

TODAY'S SPORT ANGLE

JOHNNY BUFF is one of the few boxers who is the holder of two titles. Buff is not only the bantam champion but the flyweight as well. Buff was the holder of the flyweight title when he met Pete Herman and won the bantam crown.

The fact that Buff is 31 years old makes a lot of people doubtful as to his ability to retain the bantam crown any great length of time. It is figured that his years will make him easy prey for some of the younger bantams.

Those who see disaster ahead for Buff fall to take into consideration the manner of life which he leads. The gay white way has no appeal for the new champion. He much prefers his own fireside. Buff is married and the father of three children.

It is customary for most fighters to break training in a most forcible manner after winning a title. Not so with Buff. It is a rather amusing fact that he celebrated his victory over Herman by rowing from the Jersey shore the day after the fight to a spot near the Statue of Liberty, where he spent the day fishing for crabs.

Those who are predicting trouble for Buff should remember that Johnny Kilbane at 32 is still the class of the featherweight division, and that Jack Britton at 36 has no trouble holding his title against the rest of the welterweights.—B. E.

ON THE OTHER HAND BY GROVE

Criqui, the French featherweight boxing star, intends to come to this country in an effort to secure a match with Johnny Kilbane. Criqui should feel right at home with Kilbane, as they say kicking is not barred under the French rules.

Harvard did not like the idea of having the Crimson players hosed and boomed, as it so happened in the Center game. In an effort to eliminate such a condition a new system of disposing of tickets will be introduced. How disgusting that any one should have the temerity to hiss a Harvard player.

—whereby the golfer went straightway to his tailor and was befitted in the smartest of hunting costumes, which enabled him without embarrassment to hunt—for his golf ball.

Rogers Hornsby says there are only three good pitchers in the American League. Rogers should be excused for making such a rash statement, considering the only American League pitcher he ever battled against were members of the Browns.

Ken Smith of Princeton is reported to have kicked 35 successful drop kicks for the 25 yards line. But a performance strikes us as much ado about nothing. We humbly suggest that Mr. Smith save a few of those efforts for Yale and Harvard.

The rules for golfing should be cursed. The game is going from bad to worse. The guy who finds his golf ball first, oughtna win.

ONE MORE OF THESE FUNNY LOOKIN' FIGHTS AND WE'RE GONNA LEARN TO PLAY GOLF.

McMillin says Centre defeated Harvard, because they used their brains for the 25 yards line. But a performance strikes us as much ado about nothing. We humbly suggest that Mr. Smith save a few of those efforts for Yale and Harvard.

Here are some famous alibis supplied by boxers who have suffered defeat in the last month. Tendler, beaten by Kansas, says, "I didn't start soon enough." Marty Burke, beaten by "Chuck" Wiggins, sprung an old one, "the referee was rotten; I won every round." "Happy" Littleton, who lost to Mike Gibbons, was original when he said, "you can't hit a fellow who refuses to stand still."

Johnny Wilson doesn't need any monogrammed initials on his trunks; we know him.

One more of these funny lookin' fights and we're gonna learn to play golf.

The manly art of self-defense is right.

Taste is a matter of tobacco quality

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield are of finer quality (and hence of better taste) than in any other cigarette at the price.
