

MYSTERIOUS TRIP OF HUGO STINNES AROUSES INTEREST

SUBJECT OF MUCH NEWS-PAPER SPECULATION IN BERLIN.

WAS WEEK-END GUEST PREMIER LLOYD GEORGE

George Bernhard hints at European Railway Trust As a Result.

Associated Press. BERLIN, Nov. 28.—The recent mysterious trip to London of Hugo Stinnes, the financier, and the nature of his conference there continues to be the subject of newspaper speculation.

Regardless of official and other reports in British sources it is positively asserted by the magnate's friends that he was the week-end guest of Premier Lloyd-George at the latter's country estate, and that his movements while in England were so skilfully veiled that newspaper correspondents and other wishers to see him were completely duped as to his whereabouts.

George Bernhard, writing in the "Frankfurter Zeitung," asserts that Herr Stinnes in addition to discussing operations and allied issues while in England, also broached the subject of creating a European railway trust. This, the writer declares, would not only take over the bankrupt German system, but also that of the other European countries.

The reconstruction of the Russian railway, he says, "would be the logical outcome. English and American capital would be interested."

George Bernhard openly opposes the reported plan, asserting that English influence, once it is able to lay hands on the German railway systems, will surely prove inimical to German industrial interests generally.

DES MOINES VOTERS PASS ON FRANCHISE

Authority to Hold Election On Street Car Controversy Is Given By Court.

By Associated Press. DES MOINES, IOWA, Nov. 28.—Voters of Des Moines went to the polls today to approve or reject the much discussed street car franchise ordinance passed by the city council.

Authority to hold the election was given unofficially Sunday by the state supreme court and officially this morning.

Saturday Judge James C. Hume of district court had granted a temporary injunction against the election. After the election the court will decide upon questions of legality of the new franchise.

The proposed franchise provides for a sliding fare scale beginning at eight cents and increasing or decreasing according to the earnings of the company.

Another important feature is that it relates to the partial elimination of motor busses. The company has argued that many of its present troubles are due to the motor bus competition. The busses have operated on a 5-cent fare while the car company charged eight cents.

Prescribe Rules For Department Of School Girls

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Members of Northwestern university branch of the Y. W. C. A. have undertaken the tutelage of grade school girls of Evanston in department, and the following are among the rules laid down today after the first meeting of the club in the Washington school:

"When you arrive at the kissing age and get to like a boy associate, you may kiss him, but don't believe it is required that you exchange kisses for every automobile ride."

"When some boy wishes to make an engagement with you and you don't care to accompany him or to have him call, just flatly say so."

"Don't estimate the desirability of a boy's association by the creases in his trousers."

"A certain amount of rouge and powder is necessary, but don't do our make-up so that it is obvious."

"Don't suppress your emotions, but guide them."

DRUG ADDICT HAS MADE SPECIALTY OF BLOOD TRANSFUSION

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Whether the transfusion of blood from the veins of a drug addict carries with it to the patient a taste for drugs is a question that is causing several New York physicians concern today.

Members of the narcotic squad yesterday arrested James Milo, who sells his blood for transfusion, on a charge of being a drug addict. Police say that he has admitted that he has been taking drugs for three months and that he has been used in five blood transfusions during that time.

Dr. Carlston Simon, head of the narcotic division of the police department, has begun an inquiry to ascertain whether any evil results attended the blood transfusions in which Milo engaged since acquiring a taste for drugs.

It was learned that one patient into whose system a quantity of Milo's blood had been injected recently, had died 24 hours after the operation, but the patient, according to the physician in charge, was not expected to live when the operation was performed.

Milo has participated in 25 transfusion cases and his name and address are on almost every hospital list in the city. He has received from $35 to $50 for each transfusion.

The planet is of the fourteenth magnitude and is seen at present from this latitude in the constellation Cetus which lies south of the "Great Square" of Pegasus, now visible in the evening sky.

FORMER SALOONKEEPERS GO IN DRUG BUSINESS

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Charles H. Heimerheim, secretary of the Kings County Pharmaceutical society, declared today that one-third of the drug stores of Brooklyn are now owned by former saloonkeepers.

Federal agents estimated that in the last year 600 drug stores have been opened in New York.

PROTEST OPERATION OF "BLACK AND TAN" CAFES IN DISTRICT OF CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—A petition signed by 23,000 colored residents of the second ward, the Chicago district most thickly populated by negroes, protesting against the operation of "black and tan" cafes, was presented to Mayor Thompson, Chief of Police Fitzmorris and the city council today by a committee of the city's women's club.

It alleged that property values had greatly decreased because of the existence of these cafes and that it is unsafe for children to walk on the streets after dark because of them.

OVER $400,000 IS BUSINESS DONE BY COURT IN 408 DAYS

COUNTY COURT AT LAW HAS PLAYED IMPORTANT PART SINCE CREATION.

RECORDS SHOW CRIMINALS HAVE BUT MEAGRE CHANCE

Average Punishment Assessed Per Day is $104.71 And 6 Days, 24 Minutes in Jail.

Since the creation of the county court at law in Wichita county over a year ago, there has been a total of $414,512.33 involved in litigations that have already been settled by the court. Judge Guy Rogers who occupies the bench in this court gave the members and guests of the Kiwanis club at its luncheon Monday a bushel of facts about the court and its work.

During the 408 days that the court was in existence a total of 1,347 civil cases were filed. Of this number 293 are on the trial docket, 841 on the retired list and 1,054 cases have been disposed of.

Records show that the average amount of money sued for in a civil case is $323 which brings the amount of money actually involved in the suit to $551,333.23. To this must be added the court costs which amount to $16,540 and the attorneys' fees which on an average is $80, making $557,973.23.

A perusal of the records on the criminal docket would give conclusive evidence to law violators that it does not pay. The average punishment meted out per day since the existence of the court has been $104.71 in fine money and 6 days, 24 minutes and 21 seconds in the county jail.

A total of 1,046 criminal cases were filed of which number 114 still remain on the docket. Of this number 932 have been disposed and 470 of this amount have been found guilty. The total fine money was $14,780 to which is added the court costs of $19,241.46, making a grand total of $34,021.46. The total amount of days in jail assessed was 3,644.

During the time the court has existed there has been on an average 4.4 cases filed per day and 4.9 cases tried each day.

Louisiana Lady Says She Has "Never Found Anything Better Than Cardui for a Run-Down Condition"

Morgan City, La.—"It would be hard for me to tell how much benefit I have derived from the use of Cardui," said Mrs. I. G. Bowman, of 1219 Front Street, this city.

"I was so run-down in health I could hardly go.

"I was thin.

"I had no appetite.

"Could not rest or sleep well.

"I was so weak, and so very nervous, I was no pleasure to myself or any one else.

"I suffered some pain, but the worst of my trouble was from being so weak and easy to get tired and out of heart.

"This nervous condition was worse than pain.

"Some one told me of Cardui, and I decided to use it.

"After taking a few bottles, I regained my strength. I wasn't so nervous, and began to eat and sleep, and grew stronger and was soon well.

"I have never found anything better for a run-down condition."

If you suffer as this Louisiana lady did, it is reasonable to suppose that you, too, will find Cardui helpful for your troubles, as thousands of women have.

DOG IS GREATER PANTOMIC ARTIST THAN HUMAN STARS

Strongheart, He's a master of pantomime, a finished actor of the silver screen. He's here in "The Silent Call," a First National picture.

By JAMES W. DEAN. NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Strongheart, a dog, is the best screen actor this writer has ever seen. He is a master of pantomime. And why not?

The intelligence of a dog in many respects approaches that of man, but he has no voice to manifest his emotions, his devotion, his hate, his joy, his fear, his remorse. If he is to speak to man he must talk with his eyes, his ears, his tail, the very stance of his body.

Strongheart is a better actor than other canines of the screen because he is more intelligent. He has more of a story to tell. Effective use of the dog's talents has been made in "The Silent Call," a photoplay adapted from "The Cross Pull," a magazine story by Hal G. Everts.

In the story the dog is the whelp of a wolf mother and a renegade sheep dog. Separated from his master he roams and kills and becomes a sheep killer.

He stands trial before human friends. Regretfully, they sentence him to death. That is a great scene. The dog hangs his head in shame. He beseeches his judge for mercy. No human ever mirrored such emotion for the screen.

As the dog is about to be led out to be shot he leans over the heads of the men and through a window. Returning to the savage state, he mates with a wolf. Together they dig under a rock for the coming litter. Then one day while he is foraging for food for his family, a man blasts his home with dynamite. There is pathos in the scene of the dog's return. He tries to dig into the ruins. Exhausted, he stretches his length upon the ground and buries his face in his paws.

He meets a girl in the woods. She extends a friendly hand. The dog must choose between civilization and his wild life with the wolves. A man attacks the girl. The dog rushes to her rescue.

The girl's assailant is an ancient enemy of the dog. The dog chases him up a tree and accompanies the girl to her shack.

He is reunited with his former master and leads him to the girl. Of course, this is a movie and the man is the girl's sweetheart. He leaves her to pursue a gang of outlaws.

The villain returns and kidnaps the girl. The dog picks up the scent and pursues. Maybe the dog was well trained and would not have hurt the man. But he had a mean look in his eye. He walloped the man on the ground and stripped his clothes from him.

No man who sees the film would want to trade places with the villain. The dog pursued the rascal to a ledge over a river and forced the man to drop into the water. The dog leaped after him and pushed his head under the water, drowning him.

The picture ends with the dog emitting the death wail of the wild wolf.

New Camera Trick. Frank D. Williams, a former Sennett cameraman, has patented a process by which characters can be inserted in a film. Thus backgrounds can be taken in a place far removed from the actual scene.

URGES MODIFICATION OF PACKER'S CONSENT DECREE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Modification of the consent decree under which the so-called "big five" packers agreed to their separation from unrelated industries was urged today before a special government commission by Vernon Campbell, general manager of the California Co-Operative Cannery association. Characterizing the decree as a "economic mistake without legal foundation," Mr. Campbell asserted it had caused a tremendous loss to western fruit growers and canners. "If our canneries had been burned the loss would not have been so great," declared Mr. Campbell. "Our markets were taken away overnight resulting in an actual loss of millions and potential damage that is hard to calculate."

Mr. Campbell charged that the department of justice before agreeing to the decree made no investigation as to the rights of fruit growers and canners.

MONEY BUBBLES.

German money these days should be measured in sacks and bushels. For a few good old American dollars you can get enough German paper money to fill a waste basket.

Speculative gentlemen, who bought German currency, are asking: "Will the German mark ever come back? How high can it go? Was I an easy mark in buying German marks?"

As usual, history has a similar situation.

Back in 1789, French revolutionists needed money. They printed 400,000,000 francs of treasury notes. The first issue of these sold at par.

By 1793, about 4,000,000,000 of these paper francs were in circulation and their value had depreciated four-fifths.

French authorities did everything possible to restore their paper money to par. They passed laws, making it a death penalty for refusing to accept the money at face value. These laws had no effect. King Finance had no respect for the sharp edge of the guillotine.

Late in 1796, there were 45,000,000,000 paper francs in circulation. Their face value was $9,000,000,000, but the total purchasing power of the whole lot was less than $9,000,000.

These paper francs, known as "assignats," were worth only one-thousandth of their face value. So even the French government refused to accept them. The wastepaper man carried them away.

It will be interesting to watch how long it takes before the value of the German paper mark reaches the vanishing point.

Germany now has in circulation about 95,000,000,000 paper marks. Ninety-five paper marks have about one mark in gold back of them.

You have heard that you can be certain only of two things—death and taxes. Add a third—the certainty that the German mark never can return to par or anywhere near it.

History repeats and the German mark is following the downward path to join the French assignats. A day of reckoning may come, when the brakes will be put on and the whole issue of German marks called in for replacement, with, say, one gold mark issued for each 200 paper marks.

The Wall Street Journal recently said that bankers say, "In all probability the mark will decline further and may eventually cease to have any value whatever."

Anything that is inflated sufficiently usually explodes and disappears altogether.

There is small question that the high prices in this country that followed the armistice could have been continued several years if the federal reserve board had not called a halt on the dangerous extension of credits. It did so in the face of great opposition, and politicians and some who have even yet failed to realize the grave situation that faced the world continue to criticize it.

Our best financiers believe that the refusal to continue to grant credit for speculative purposes saved the country from a crash. Certainly we never want to see the time in this country when a gold dollar can buy a bushel basket full of paper money.

Dear Mr. Stewart: On my return from St. Louis to I immediately gave attention to a formidable pile of letters, accumulated on account of my recent visit, and at once came upon yours of October 21 inst. TODAY'S TALK
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE QUESTIONER.

If you are constantly seeking new knowledge, you add to your ability to use what knowledge you have.

And it is only the thing we use which belongs to us.

The questioner—or in better words, the seeker—is nearly always a man of sure and quick decision.

Like the great artist whose fingers play with the keys or strings of his instrument, so does the man who is all the time drawing on something new, find himself growing abler and stronger, in mind and in character.

It is the slow mind which is closed to the atmosphere of new ideas and truth. In ignorance, one is bound as though he were a slave. But through seeking, searching, questioning do we come to know the truth—and become free and broad.

Be quick to question. But once the facts seem clear and reasonable, formulate your own ideas and opinions—and then defend them as a part of you.

Your mind is a sieve, as well as a retainer. You must thrash the false from the true—and then gather into your experience storehouse that which is rich in life and nourishment.

Be a questioner! Accept no man's opinion unless it is approved by your own best judgment and experience.

But be tolerant. The cock-sure thinker loses most of his mental battles. And he rarely has the courage to acknowledge defeat.

The only way for you to know—and to know that you know—is to keep questioning all the time.

There is no thrill quite so heartening as that of learning something new. And the more you search and question, the more thrills you get!

Keep learning. Inquire. Ask questions. Find out.

EFFORT.

He brought me his report card from the teacher and he said:

He wasn't very proud of it and sadly bowed his head. He was excellent in reading, but arithmetic, was fair.

And I noticed there were several "unsatisfactory's" there;

But one little bit of credit which was given brought me joy.

He was "excellent in effort," and I fairly hugged the boy.

"Oh, it doesn't make much difference what is written on your card,"

I told that little fellow, "if you're only trying hard. The 'very good's' and 'excellent's' are fine. I must agree.

But the effort you are making means a whole lot more to me.

And the thing that's most important when this card is put aside

Is to know, in spite of failure, that to do your best you've tried.

"Just keep excellent in effort—All the rest will come to you.

There isn't any problem but some day you'll learn to do,

And at last, when you grow older, you will come to understand

That by hard and patient toiling men have risen to command,

And some day you will discover, when a greater goal's at stake

That better far than brilliance is the effort you will make."

may we obtain it without assuming any part of the expense, which our former associates alone must endure. Could sordidness surpass that?

My country home in Virginia is but seven miles removed from the site of the improvised court room in which Patrick Henry held up to scorn the acquiescent Tory who disturbed the Continental camp with the cry of "Bread! Bread!" when the life of the country was imperiled. You and I read of the episode in our youth. How little did I ever dream that I should live to see history repeat itself and to witness with my own eyes, here in Washington, the saddening spectacle of American senators bleating the cry of "Bread! Bread!" when the very integrity of the republic was at stake!

I have never examined the weird and mysterious dogma of the transmigration of the soul; but one listening to the discussion of the separate treaty with Germany might readily profess the doctrine. Shakespeare in Lago, even above Shylock, personified his conception of unscrupulous thrift; and it seemed that the spirit of this Venetian knave had come down through the centuries and found furtive lodgment in the minds of senatorial disputants. "Put money in thy purse! Put money in thy purse!" was the high tenor of their song. "Take no account of the nation's faith; pass not to consider the nation's honor; think not of the distrust which must ensue from contumaciously incurred. "Put money in thy purse!" And, by this specious and fallacious plea for a resumption of trade relations with two prostrate, dismembered and impoverished Central European powers, gentlemen of the adversary party were led up to Mr. Lodge's trough in the republican camp to eat the provender which they had previously defiled; to vote for a treaty they once detested, a treaty "made in Germany," which greedily grabbed the advantages while repelling the obligations of the treaty made in France by our comrades-in-arms. I do not discover the name of God in this Berlin treaty which confirms our shame; think it is not the devil's own work which thus completes the degradation of a proud nation by substituting for an immortal document, every sentence responsive to the teachings of Christ, a pact literally reeking in avarice and textually rejecting the precepts of common honesty. In it both the letter and the spirit are absent.

The American soldier caught the torch from the dead in Flanders' field and carried it with valor against the barbarians; now American politicians use the oriflame only to consume every high purpose which this nation avowed, to bluster every ideal for which our boys endured and died. Our sons of the American Legion who fought or trained to fight in France may execrate George Harvey for saying we entered the war to save our skins; but it may not by any man be said that the sentiment of this accursed ambassador is not accepted and reflected in the separate treaty made with Wirth at Berlin by an agent of this administration, and recently confirmed at Washington by the senate. It literally stinks in the nostrils of the American people. It is literally stinks to think of it. Were it not that God's mercy is without measure, one would have cause of despair.

Armistice Day! Yes, celebrate it with fervor everywhere; for by these observances we may preserve its significance and keep its memories from the taint of political obliquity.

Accept my earnest apology, my dear Mr. Bryan, for confronting you with a letter of such length. The only rational excuse, if that be reasonable, is that for six weeks I have been too hoarse to talk and I must find some vent for my thoughts and relief for the distress of my heart. I know of no man above yourself on whom I may more implicitly rely for forgiveness. Sincerely yours,

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL
THE CANDY FIEND

By DR. R. H. BISHOP

It is a strange fact that the inactive candy eaters are women of sedentary habits. Such women, because of their inactive lives, are just the ones who should eat the least candy. The active business woman or society woman who on the go all the time is little harmed by candy, although as a rule such women eat little of it.

The woman who is comparatively inactive is laying up a decidedly unstable foundation for middle age when she indulges overmuch in her favorite sweets.

Candy is a greatly concentrated food; that is, it contains a large amount of food units or calories per cubic inch. When we eat candy we are taking in food at a fearful rate. One chocolate caramel, one inch square, contains up to 100 food units. When we eat a square inch of fudge we are absorbing 100 food units also.

Persons who lead a more or less inactive life do not require nearly as many food units to keep them healthy as the person who works at a regular, active life. The person who works at a high rate, an active person may use up 2,500 or 3,000 food units a day.

YOU AND I

A bustling swarm of 100,000 flies is very annoying. Dr. Raymond Pearl is studying them. He finds that married flies live longer than single ones. He says that matrimony prolongs the life of humans.

That is logical. A married man lives longer because his life is more regular. Wife feeds him more wholesome food. He doesn't stay up all night playing poker, if she can help it.

Dr. Pearl's studies in flyology show that the average fly lives 45 days, the oldest 106 days. In hot summer, you complain about new flies appearing in the house. Probably they are the old ones, living a month and a half unless swatted. Flies, like most problems, exist only by human neglect.

THE HISTORY OF YOUR NAME

By PHILIP FRANCIS LOWLAN

DYER.

Variation—Lyster. Racial Origin—English. Source—An occupation.

The family name of Dyer is quite recognizable by the modern English speaker as having developed from a word denoting an occupation. That is because in this case both the word denoting the occupation and the name have changed similarly from the original form, and have not, as in many cases, drifted apart. Nevertheless the original word would be unrecognizable to the average person today.

In the Middle Ages it was spelled "Deyghers" or "Dighsters." But if you will soften that pronunciation of the "gh" to a barely audible guttural, as it was pronounced then, you'll find it very easy to slip it a bit further to a "y" sound. And that is precisely the manner in which common speech, over the period of several centuries which have elapsed since the formation of the name, has softened it into "Dyer," together with the broadening of the short "i" or "e" definite "e" into the modern English long "i."

"Lit" was another old English word which meant "dye." In a medieval manuscript there occurs the following passage: "We use such cloth that are litte of dyver colours." (We use no clothes that are dyed in diverse colors). The "lit" here is a barely audible guttural. Originally either of these words were used, but in the course of time the pronunciation of the latter has prevailed as coming more smoothly from the tongue. It has been preserved as a family name, but as an ordinary word it has passed out of use.

WHO is Aristide Briand? WHY is parchment so called? WHAT is the meaning of "Dieu et mon droit," the motto of Great Britain? WHERE is food said to be dehydrated? WHERE has Austria, former emperor of Austria, been exiled? Flower excursions are arranged by the government in Australia. Lack of food has been a restraint to exploration in New Guinea.

VERNON, TEXAS, Nov. 28.—Wichita County Welfare association drive toward a quota of $3,500 netted the organization $67.92 the first day of the canvass, but this amount is considered just a skimming of what may be expected shortly. Workers confined their efforts mainly to the morning of Wednesday, and several business districts were left untouched for want of canvassers. No canvass of the residence district was made in the first day, but this will be carried out in the near future. The remainder of the county, as well, will be thoroughly covered ere the drive is completed.

A special collection taken Thanksgiving at united church services in Vernon netted $12.17.

see, this looks simple enough, let me see, if 4 men can do a piece of work in 3 and a half days working 8 hours a day, let me see, what kind of a foolish example is this to give a child, let me see, no that's not right, well if you were able to do it I certainly awt to.

Billy Evans Shows The Greatest Fault Of Basketball Game

By BILLY EVANS.

Basketball as popular a game as it should be.

Recently I put that question to a number of the country's leading coaches.

The answer in every case was the same, basketball had not achieved the popular favor that it deserved.

I asked each coach for his reason for so thinking. One began the opinion was unanimous. "The foul rule is all wrong."

The life and popularity of any sport is largely determined by the action it contains. It is action that attracts the spectators. Basketball has plenty of action when the referee or umpire isn't busy calling fouls. In most of the games I have seen in the last two or three years the officials have been the most active individuals on the floor.

Free Throws Are Too Frequent. Too many basketball games are won on free throws. Each result leaves the same taste as having an umpire score the winning run in a ball game by calling a balk. It is too tame a finish for an exciting game.

To illustrate my point, take the eastern college championship of last year. Penn won the championship, yet in four of its ten games it was outscored from the field, and in two other games held to a tie score from the field. Penn won the championship because it had a clever man at throwing fouls.

That has been the chief fault of basketball for years, too much fouling. The coaches and experts are agreed that the foul rule needs revision, it seems certain that some action will be taken at the next meeting of the rules committee.

Changes in Scoring. Here are some of the suggestions that will tend to take away some of the importance that is now attached to the throwing of fouls. As a matter of fact, basketball as now played is a game of specialists, in which the expert on the throwing of baskets from the foul line is featured.

1.—Award a point or a half point for every foul called against an opponent.

2.—Deduct a point or a half point for every foul called against a team.

3.—Whenever a foul is called, the ball be declared dead, and be given to the offender side, with the right to put it in play without being hampered by guards on the foul line.

4.—Require the opponent of the player who commits the foul to try the free throw.

5.—Change the scoring rules as follows: Goal from field, 3 points; goal from personal foul, 2 points; goal from technical foul, 1 point.

6.—The first three suggestions seem best as they place an equal penalty for each offense.

TODAY'S Sport Angle

What is generally regarded in baseball circles as pure "bunk," is still persisted in by a lot of managers.

I have reference to the so-called strategy that a lot of managers indulge in every day as to their pitching selections.

Most managers have a pretty good idea the night before who they intend pitching the next day. Occasionally there is a doubt as to the possible selection.

Yet it is an almost every-day occurrence to have the rival managers try to pull something by covering up their pitching selections until the very last minute.

In the American and National leagues there are certain clubs who are weak against left-handed pitching. Some of these clubs have enough reserve force to combat any weakness by shifting the line-up to meet the pitching selection.

In order to make as much trouble as possible, some managers always have a left and right hander warming up. That keeps a manager of a team that is weak against left handers up in the air. In order to protect himself, he is forced to substitute a lot of players he has no intention of using, in the line-up that gives the umpire, he does this, so that after the pitching selection are announced, he can arrange his batting order to suit conditions.

Therein lies the fallacy of the so-called strategy. Can you imagine any business man paying a certain number of men a big salary, and then have his manager do something that will immediately eliminate these men from being of any use.

No, indeed! Yet that is a regular occurrence in baseball. The manager of a team is very often forced to put as many as four of his extra men into his line-up. He does this to protect himself. Then when he gets the pitcher who will occur in his line-up, he removes them, makes them of no further use in that game. Thus each day some club loses the services of three or four players each at a cost of from $100 to $200, simply because the managers must play tricks.

Some of the major league managers do the sensible thing. They mutually agree they will give their intended pitcher just before the game starts, and then let the line-up be decided. In this way there is no waste of material, simply because a manager wants to pull what he believes is wise stuff.

WEST TEXAS LEAGUE MEETS AT SWEETWATER

SWEETWATER, TEXAS, Nov. 28.—Club owners of the West Texas league meet here today in an effort to make the circuit an eight-club organization.

Members of the league are Ballinger, Sweetwater and Abilene finished last season. Four additional teams were expected to be selected today from Amarillo, Plainview, Lubbock, Stamford, Brownwood, Coleman and Big Springs.

FOUR STARS FROM SAME TOWN

At Ohio State University, Huntington spells football.

Such a statement is a trifle at variance with the usually accepted spelling.

Let me explain. At Ohio State University there are more than 7,000 students. These students come from all over the country to get the liberal advantages of a college education.

In these modern days, football is one of the leading advantages offered by our very best universities. Several hundred candidates came out for the varsity football team at Ohio State university in the fall.

Only 11 men can play regularly on a football team. That is the big reason why winning a position on the varsity team means so much.

Four candidates for the Ohio State team were Johnny Stewart, Hoel Workman and Frank Honaker. Last year Hoel Workman was the star of the Ohio State team. He would have been just as great this year. However, because of certain restrictions as to his studies, he was unable to play.

The other three candidates were the leading stars on State's great team. That is why Huntington spells football at Ohio State.

What is even more interesting is the fact that only four students from Huntington, W. Va., are enrolled at Ohio State. It is a most unusual thing that all of them should develop into football stars, the idols of the student body.

If they came from California and met with such unusual success, the natives out there would say it was the "climate." The Huntington folks simply say, "maybe the credit is due to the old hills of West Virginia."

The most important thing to the student body at Ohio State is the fact there are two more Workman boys, and both intend coming to State.

They're all pitching the game town—and on the same team.

SCHAEFER TELLS HOW HE WON CUE CROWN

JACOB SCHAEFER JR. The first man to defeat Willie Hopps at billiard in 11 years.

It is the achievement of Jacob Schaefer Jr. who mastered the champion in Chicago in the following article, written especially for NKA Service, Schaefer tells how he did it.

I have always believed in the theory that success comes to him who waits and works—especially works.

For almost 12 years, ever since the billiard championship was transferred from my father to Hopps, I have been waiting, practicing constantly and working to get the title back to our—the Schaefer—family.

But playing at billiards, that is playing at them well and profitably, is unlike anything else in the world that I can think of.

The expert billiard player, or the player who aspires to become expert at the game, in my estimation, can never acquire sufficient skill through his own endeavor. Primarily he must have been born with the trait of the cue and the "stroke."

In other words, billiards, not the mediocre game but the game of experts, is an inherited faculty. It requires vision for strategy, courage for rebuff and great nerve reserve.

My father was champion for years until 1909 when he played his last tournament with Willie Hopps.

Hopps himself is a marvelous opponent. He has every bit of technique and prodigious mastery of the game's fine points and detail.

But I had made up my mind to defeat him. For hours and hours before the Chicago tournament began, and which I knew offered to me the chance I had been seeking, I practiced to win.

That was where I had the better of Hopps. He was merely defending his title. I had told myself that I had to beat him.

With that sort of incentive-urging me, I simply went ahead and played for all that was in me. My game is to play from the ends and not from the center of the table.

I use a 194-ounce cue. The game I play now is the same game that my father taught me when I was a mere boy of 12, and he had to boost me up to the board for some of the shots.

Various theories, new ways to play, have been suggested to me from time to time, but I still stick to the old way my father taught me.

It was the game he played and it brought him success and the championship. Through all the years of failure I had supreme faith that it would do the same for me.

"Stick to your bush," my father used to tell me. By that he meant that I should keep playing as I had started my game. Coupled with hard work and the patience to wait, I have found the theory a good one. I am now the champion.

ZBYSKO TO DEFEND TITLE AGAINST THE ATTACKS OF LEWIS

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Stanislaus Zbyszko, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, will defend his title here tonight in a two in three fall match with Ed (Strangler) Lewis.

More than 40 years old, Zbyszko won the title from Lewis last spring, pinning the Kentuckian's shoulders when he missed at attempts for a headlock and fell heavily to the ring floor.

SWEDE SWENSON TO CAPTAIN LONGHORNS

Elected By Acclamation at Recent Meeting of the Letter Men.

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Nov. 28.—Announcement has just been made of the unanimous election of A. M. G. (Swede) Swenson of Stamford, captain of the University of Texas football team for the 1922 season.

He was elected by acclamation at a meeting of the letter men, who were selected after the close of the football season with the Thanksgiving game.

Swede Swenson will play his fourth year in varsity football next season. He has played center on the team for three years, and has been called the greatest center since the days of Dittmar.

With probably the hardest schedule ever mapped out for the Longhorns eleven facing them for next fall, the Longhorns will lose 16 men from the squad. Over one-half of the initial line-up in the Thanksgiving game were playing their last football game for the varsity team.

The following players will not be available for work on the squad next year: Tom Danner, Cleburne, George Hill, Fort Worth, Louis Dominguez, Kerrville, W. D. Barry, Dallas, Grady Watson, George Lee, Sen. Cameron, Ike Brown, Dallas; Joe W. Moore, Austin; George Luhn, Taylor; Jack Vowell, El Paso; Graham Hamilton, Cuero; R. L. Lockwood, Waco.

MULE BORROWED BY THE ARMY ELEVEN IS FIRED AS A JINX

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Jinx, the stubborn one-eyed mule the West Point cadets borrowed from the Fort Coates remount station for a football mascot, has been fired—kicked out.

Braying his dissatisfaction, Jinx started on his homeward journey without a wisp of hay or a single oat. His rear hoofs flew out in the general direction of two cadet muleteers, but missed.

If Jinx had been named after the game he had won Saturday's game he would have been paraded through the ball room of a swell hotel and put up for the night in a commodious, hay-filled, out-lined stall on the roof.

BURGARS ENTER STORE OF HOWELL AT IOWA PARK. IOWA PARK, TEXAS, Nov. 28.—The Howell store was broken into Thursday night and merchandise and money to the amount of $100 was taken.

There seemed to be a woman in the case as beads, perfume and ready-to-wear were taken. A very pretty job was done in getting in, taking the strips off and the glass out of the door and sitting them up against the wall, only cutting the screen.

An effort was made to get into a tailor shop and get the furnishings but failed.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28.—Charles W. Paddock, holder of several world's records in sprint races, has reconsidered his decision never to run again and will attempt to lower the world's record for the 440-yard dash some time during the next season.

He will again represent the University of Southern California.

ABILENE MUST FACE UNBEATEN TEAMS IN THE RACE FOR TITLE. By eliminating Electra from the state high school championship race Saturday, Abilene comes into competition with other sectional champions who are yet unbeaten.

The Austin school, by winning Saturday from Corpus Christi, retained its place in the race. Others still in the running are Eagle Lake and Bryan, which are to meet this week; Oak Cliff, Honey Grove and Temple, Oak Cliff and Honey Grove are scheduled to play off their titles Tuesday, and the winner will meet Temple. Austin is to play the winner of the Bryan-Eagle Lake game, which is scheduled to play off on Tuesday. Abilene is in the running.

Abilene got into the semi-finals last year, but was eliminated by "Chub" who played off their titles with Houston Heights for the state championship.

OPPOSITION IN VERNON TO MUNICIPAL LIGHT PLANT. VERNON, TEXAS, Nov. 28.—According to Mayor Harry Mason of Vernon, figures presented by a Dallas firm on the proposition of constructing a new electric light plant in Vernon indicate that the cost would be $125,000. It is proposed to estimate bonds to the extent of $100,000 to allow ample leeway in the event that the cost is in excess of the estimate.

In the event the bond issue carries, it is possible that an ice plant will also be constructed. This will be built largely to an estimated cost of $100,000. According to estimates made by city officials, a municipal plant could furnish ice at a charge considerably less than that now being paid locally. Division of sentiment in Vernon regarding a municipal light plant continues, and the issue of bonds will undoubtedly be bitterly fought at the election January 2.

EDDIE KAW LEADS INDIVIDUAL SCORING IN COLLEGE GAMES. NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Leadership of college players of the season goes to Eddie Kaw, the brilliant Cornell back whose sensational showing against Penn last Thursday was just enough to nose out Malcolm Aldrich of Yale.

The Yale captain, however, carried off the honors in field goal kicking with five to his credit. Hanson of Cornell leads by a big margin in goals kicked from touch-downs, having made 27 accurate boots from the 15-yard mark. Kaw scored 90 points and Aldrich 88.

Everything Reported in Readiness For Two Days Of Intensive Campaigning.

Plans which will, it is hoped, bring the united charity campaign to a successful conclusion within 48 hours after it starts Monday night, had been perfected Monday afternoon, when it was announced that everything was in readiness for the real work to start.

"The thing we want to impress on everyone who is solicited," said C. H. It has been the experience here, in former years, that the separate campaigns put on by these worthy institutions became considerably of a nuisance, not because Wichitans didn't help in the work, but because of the loss of time, the going over and over of the same ground by different societies.

"That feature has been done away with in this campaign. Those who can give will give once and for all. No other 'drives' of the kind will be sanctioned next year by local organizations. We feel that to combine the campaigns is a step for convenience and efficiency and

BURN 100 ACRES OF GRASS WHILE ROBBERING HOUSE

While Jim George and his family, residing on a farm six miles northeast of Iowa Park, were fighting a grass fire Sunday evening someone broke into the house and took some $300 in money besides several other small articles of clothing.

Fire in the meadow was discovered about 4 o'clock and when Mr. George arrived the flames had gained such headway that it was useless to attempt to fight the flames direct. Neighbors came to the assistance and by burning a patch against the wind, succeeded in creating a barrier wide enough to cause the spreading flames to burn themselves out.

Upon returning to the house Mr. George found that the house had been broken into and $300 in money was missing.

Over 100 acres of grass was destroyed by the fire, which at this time of the year is incalculable in value. It is believed that the same here in the work and to help it along, but because of the loss of time, the going over and over of the same ground by different societies.

A small safe in the Hillside Filling station, Eighth and Burnett streets, was removed from the building and carried away by thieves Sunday night, according to reports to the police Monday. About $25 in cash was in the strong box at the time, reports stated. It is believed that the thieves got into the station by forcing open a window on the east side of the room, rolling the safe under the window and then lifting it out. The efforts of at least three and possibly four men were required to accomplish this, it is thought.

Belief that the thieves would carry the safe in an auto to some deserted country road, break it open, and remove the contents was expressed by the police.

MAN ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF STEALING CAR MAKES BOND. Johnny Finton, who was arrested Monday morning on a charge of stealing an automobile, perfected bond in the amount of $750 and was released. PIONEER RESIDENT OF GOREE IS DEAD

E. M. Coffman, Age 75, Ends An Active And Useful Career Friday Night.

MUNDAY, TEXAS, Nov. 28.—E. M. Coffman, a well known resident of Goree, this county, died at that place Friday night and was buried Saturday afternoon. Mr. Coffman, familiarly known as Uncle Ebb, was about 75 years old, having spent more than 25 years of that time in Knox county, and by dint of hard work and good management had succeeded in accumulating a handsome little fortune, consisting of brick and stone business houses in Goree, farm lands around the town and a small but well stocked ranch in Sherman county, Texas.

Uncle Ebb was never married, a couple of sisters keeping house for him for many years. Later one of these sisters died, the other remaining with him until his death. Rev. R. E. L. Stutts, for several years pastor of the First Methodist church at Goree, now of Clyde, Calahan county, delivered the funeral address at the cemetery, followed by highly eulogistic talks by John H. Hale, a neighbor and neighbor, and Judge Jo A. P. Dickson of Seymour.

Although not a member of any church, Mr. Coffman was nevertheless a liberal supporter of church and charitable work, and his death will be a distinct loss to his town. He belonged to that class of quiet, unpretentious men, possessed of a personality peculiarly his own, whose closest relatives and relatives fail to appreciate their real sterling worth to the community until they are gone. He is survived by three brothers and two sisters, one of the sisters living at Roaring Springs, Texas. The remainder of the family are prominent and substantial citizens of the Goree community.

SHANTUNG TILT IS FACING CONFERENCE

China Inked at Jap Offer; Experts Pried to End Nippon Occupation.

By WM. PHILIP SIMMS. Written Expressly for the NEA. WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—China and Japan having reached a deadlock with regard to the return of Shantung, only the friendly intervention of the United States and Great Britain can prevent this phase of the Far Eastern problem tying up the conference.

Japan's direct proposals to China, naming the conditions under which Japan would get out of Shantung, resulted in the two countries drawing further apart than ever. Aside from the unacceptability of the Japanese proposals, the attitude of Minister Ohta at Peking riled the Chinese almost to the boiling point. When the Japanese minister called at the Waichiaopu (the Chinese foreign office) to get China's reply to Japan's proposition he at first said he did not feel justified in conveying China's response to his government. Instead, he suggested the Chinese think it over a while longer.

Subsequently, however, he consented "to take it away, read it carefully, and decide later, whether or not to accept it."

China Wrought Up. Nothing since Japan's attempt to bully China into accepting the "21 demands" of 1915 has so angered the Chinese as this incident. It is now an open secret that China had nothing to say directly to Japan with regard to Shantung but will wait for the conference here to intervene. The Japanese offer to restore Shantung was "to return to China the lease of the Kiaochow Bay territory and the rights relating to the neutral zone."

Another "principle" was for "the joint operation (with the Chinese) of the Shantung railway." China rejects Japan's proposals point blank. She contends Japan can not "return the lease" of territory formerly held by Germany because that lease expired the moment China declared war against Germany.

When the occupation of Shantung, the Chinese delegation insists, is purely military and the peninsula must be returned unconditionally. Must Quit Railway. Japan's stipulation relating to "joint operation" of the Shantung railway (also formerly belonging to German subjects) is unacceptable for similar reasons. China is willing to pay Japan half the appraised value of the railway but refuses to make this a condition of Japan's evacuation of the territory.

China, in her memorandum, nowhere mentions Shantung, but the point is covered in the general principle. The Chinese delegation says if the great powers can be made to live up to the American doctrine of the open door, territorial integrity and political independence and the principle of equal trade opportunities, Japan will naturally have to get out of Shantung.
