

HOSPITAL ELECTION IS HELD ILLEGAL; NEW VOTE PLANNED

MEXICAN TROOPS IN JUAREZ REVOLT TEN MEN KILLED

HARRY POULIN NOT GUILTY OF CHARGE DECISION OF JUDGE

VERDICT RENDERED IN THE "STRICT SENSE OF WORD" COURT EXPLAINS

DECLARES HE BELIEVES IS GROUND FOR CHARGE

Fate That Professor Continued to Live With Wife Influences Action

SOUTH BEND, IND., Sept. 29.—Harry Poulin, local taxidermist, charged by Mrs. Augusta Tierman with being the father of her third child, was found not guilty in this court here today.

Judge C. L. Ducomb made it plain in his comment that he found the defendant "not guilty" in the strict sense of the word. He said that he believed there had been intimate relations between Mrs. Tierman and Poulin. The fact, however, that Prof. Tierman had lived with his wife throughout the entire affair created the reasonable doubt that made it legally compulsory to find for the defendant.

Prosecutors Floyd Johnson and Prof. Tierman announced after Judge Ducomb had rendered his opinion that the case would be appealed and carried to the supreme court of the United States in an appeal. "The decision was a great surprise to me," declared Prof. Tierman. "I swept me completely off my feet."

Mrs. Tierman fainting as she was leaving the courtroom and was taken to her home in a taxi cab. The case held the attention of the city court for eight days, and was buffeted among the justice courts on changes of venue following the arrest of Poulin September 11 on a warrant sworn to by Mrs. Tierman.

Boulin denied the charges and the hearing which started September 18 and was completed last Wednesday, was filled with many dramatic moments. Mrs. Tierman, on the witness stand, related how she alleged to have been seduced by Poulin and kept trying with him. Poulin on the witness stand denied the charge and admitted having had relations with Mrs. Tierman on the dates given by Mrs. Tierman as his wife.

THREE SOLDIERS FACE JUAREZ FIRING SQUAD

EL PASO, Sept. 29.—Three private soldiers who revolted from the Juarez garrison were put against an adobe wall at military headquarters at 2:45 a. m. today and shot to death, according to an announcement made at General Menendez's headquarters. A corporal captured the three men. "Sit, what shall I do with these men," asked the subordinate. "Shoot them," were the commander's only words. A squad fired three volleys.

SEVEN PERSONS ARE BURNED TO DEATH IN A FIRE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Seven persons lost their lives in a fire which early today swept through a five-story apartment house at 241 West 129th street between Broadway and Amsterdam avenue. Nearly a score were injured, several seriously, and dozens of others were saved by firemen and volunteers who slung through windows into the flames which had shut off escape for the 24 families inside. One of the dead was a baby of four, thrown from the burning building by a frantic mother. Another, a boy of 11, was killed when he jumped from a window.

3000-BARREL WELL GIVES SOUTH BEND 2-MILE EXTENSION

Another big gusher has been added to the South Bend district of Young county by the bringing in late Friday of M. R. Hemphill's No. 1 well on the Corbett tract, according to conservative estimates is flowing at the rate of 2,000 barrels with the tools remaining in the hole.

ORGANIZE PAT MURPHY CLUB AT BURKBURNETT

BURKBURNETT, TEXAS, Sept. 29.—A Pat Murphy for Sheriff club has been organized here Friday afternoon with 15 in attendance. The organization was perfected by electing committees on publicity, finance, etc.

SMITH NOMINATED BY N. Y. DEMOCRATS VOTE IS UNANIMOUS

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Delegates to the democratic convention which opened with bitter quarrels and ended in apparent peace left for their homes today to plan for the fall campaign. While Alfred E. Smith was nominated for governor, the democrats were wondering whether W. R. Hearst, who sought the nomination, would support the ticket in a telegram to his representatives withdrawing his name. Mr. Hearst said he would not go on any ticket which "would be a betrayal of genuine democracy."

AGED MAN MISSING POLICE ARE PUZZLED CARRIED LARGE SUM

HOUSTON, Sept. 29.—Police of Houston and St. Louis admit themselves puzzled over the case of an aged man missing from Houston, reported to have disappeared while en route to a St. Louis bank with a large sum of money, said to have been obtained through settlement of an estate. Mrs. Mills reported the disappearance to Houston police Thursday and St. Louis authorities were communicated with immediately. An unfinished letter from her husband across the door to the apartment which was written "Your husband was beaten and robbed" was turned over to the authorities here by the St. Louis police.

Jail Sentence Is Preferred to Loss Of Motor License

BERKELEY, CAL., Sept. 29.—Miss Kathryn Miller, student at the University of California and daughter of a wealthy Oakland tea dealer, was today sentenced to a 48-hour term in the county jail for driving a motor car without a license. The magistrate gave Miss Miller the privilege of surrendering her motorist's license for six months in lieu of the jail sentence. Miss Miller took the jail sentence.

LITTLE PROSPECT OF GREAT BRITAIN AVOIDING A WAR

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 29.—British officials admit that the Chanak situation is growing more critical and that the hopes for an amicable settlement are vanishing. General Haldane is reported to have estimated his peaceful overtures and may fear that military action will follow.

ORGANIZE PAT MURPHY CLUB AT BURKBURNETT

BURKBURNETT, TEXAS, Sept. 29.—A Pat Murphy for Sheriff club has been organized here Friday afternoon with 15 in attendance. The organization was perfected by electing committees on publicity, finance, etc.

SMITH NOMINATED BY N. Y. DEMOCRATS VOTE IS UNANIMOUS

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Delegates to the democratic convention which opened with bitter quarrels and ended in apparent peace left for their homes today to plan for the fall campaign. While Alfred E. Smith was nominated for governor, the democrats were wondering whether W. R. Hearst, who sought the nomination, would support the ticket in a telegram to his representatives withdrawing his name. Mr. Hearst said he would not go on any ticket which "would be a betrayal of genuine democracy."

AGED MAN MISSING POLICE ARE PUZZLED CARRIED LARGE SUM

HOUSTON, Sept. 29.—Police of Houston and St. Louis admit themselves puzzled over the case of an aged man missing from Houston, reported to have disappeared while en route to a St. Louis bank with a large sum of money, said to have been obtained through settlement of an estate. Mrs. Mills reported the disappearance to Houston police Thursday and St. Louis authorities were communicated with immediately. An unfinished letter from her husband across the door to the apartment which was written "Your husband was beaten and robbed" was turned over to the authorities here by the St. Louis police.

Jail Sentence Is Preferred to Loss Of Motor License

BERKELEY, CAL., Sept. 29.—Miss Kathryn Miller, student at the University of California and daughter of a wealthy Oakland tea dealer, was today sentenced to a 48-hour term in the county jail for driving a motor car without a license. The magistrate gave Miss Miller the privilege of surrendering her motorist's license for six months in lieu of the jail sentence. Miss Miller took the jail sentence.

Report Thousands of Refugees Are In Danger of Perishing

CONSTANTINOPLE, Friday, Sept. 29.—Wireless dispatches to the American embassy and reports received by the Associated Press from Smyrna, Saloniki and the islands of Mytilene and Chios show that thousands of refugees are in danger of perishing unless assistance does not arrive promptly. Conservative estimates place the number of sufferers at 400,000. The Greek revolution has resulted in a complete breakdown of all the normal processes of life. A message from the American relief workers on the island of Mytilene says: "The situation is desperate. Refugees, crissed by hunger, are throwing themselves into the sea. There is no bread on the island. Such 500 tons of flour immediately. Three Americans are struggling to help. Thousands more are expected today."

BREWSTER OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN FOR THE U. S. SENATE

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE IN MISSOURI SPEAKS AT WARRENSBURG. SEVERELY CRITICIZES THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE

WARRENSBURG, MO., Sept. 29.—Opening his campaign here today, R. T. Brewster, republican candidate for United States senator, declared that the 13th amendment of the organic law of the nation, known as the prohibition amendment, was the greatest achievement of the republican national administration and took issue with Senator James McPherson, democratic opponent for the manner in which the senator, has criticized President Harding and Governor Arthur M. Hyde in his campaign.

Regarding prohibition, Mr. Brewster said that the 13th amendment "strikes squarely at intoxicating beverages" and that it was the duty of congress to "fix the alcoholic content that is intoxicating." Congress must not evade this responsibility, he said. Mr. Brewster said that if this matter should come before him as a senator he would seek the advice of scientists and chemists. The candidate said that Senator Reed's stock in trade as an orator has been his ability "to criticize, ridicule and malign his opponent."

GRISWOLD WILDCAT IN SOUTH ELECTRA SHOWING FORWARD

The Griswold Oil company is reported to have a good stand at 1921 feet in their No. 1 test in section 25, block 5, N. & T. C. of the Waggoner lease in the South Electra district. The stand shows considerable oil. The casing will be set and the sand covered. A great deal of interest is being shown in this showing, the well being practically in wildcat territory. The nearest producer from this depth are the Redwell-Harwick wells two miles east and the Harvey Cullum producer about two miles north.

PLAN INVESTIGATION OF EXPLOSION THAT KILLED FIVE PEOPLE

JOHNSTON CITY, ILL., Sept. 29.—Officials of the mine expressed their belief that the explosion which occurred when three surveyors with all burning lamps attached to their caps entered an unworked room in which gas had accumulated. The three surveyors and two miners working near the unused entry were killed. More than 200 were working in the pit when the explosion occurred but all except the five either escaped or were rescued.

DEPUTY SHERIFF AT PANHANDLE STABBED DURING KLAN PARADE

PANHANDLE, TEXAS, Sept. 29.—Victor A. deputy sheriff, who was stabbed last night during a parade of the Ku Klux Klan here, was resting well this morning, physicians said. The stabbing occurred shortly after the klanmen, 127 strong, had passed through the principal streets. The sheriff was in the crowd, and an arrest was made in connection with the affair. There was said to have been no protest to the parade of the klanmen, and it is declared the sheriff and his deputies were there only to regulate traffic. Approximately 1,000 persons witnessed the parade.

AMATEUR RADIO CLUB ORGANIZED AT VERNON

VERNON, TEXAS, Sept. 29.—Last night a crowd of radio fans met at the offices of the Vernon Electric company to organize an amateur radio club. A special representative of one of the radio supply houses will be present to make a short address. Among the new sets to be installed in Vernon will be a set for the boys' class at the Methodist Sunday school. Supt. R. D. L. Kight, stated that the money had been subscribed to install the set.

GO-GETTERS

Commander Halsey Powell of the American destroyer Edsall at Smyrna says: "Americans evacuated 21,000 (refugees) today. Total for two days, 74,000. Between 20,000 and 50,000 are in the immediate vicinity. Expect more ships to come. Messages from Rodosto say the Greek troops there number 10,000, that they are unopposed in their construction at the prospect of a Turkish invasion. Fifty thousand refugees have been removed to the interior. Sixty graves have been dug, equipped with an outbreak of typhoid fever owing to the polluted water supply. The announcement that the American navy department is sending a squadron of 12 destroyers to reinforce the light now in the near east was the most welcome news received by Americans here since the beginning of the present anxious situation."

FORMAL OPENING FOLLOWS BIG CROWD TAKING IN SIGHTS

The first Texas-Oklahoma fair became a splendid reality Saturday morning. The formal opening at 10 a. m. with addresses by Mayor Collier and George Keith, president of the fair association, found the grounds thronged with visitors, every department and exhibit ready for public inspection, every amusement feature set up and prepared to furnish its share of the entertainment.

NO TRACE FOUND OF MAN MISSING IN GARAGE CASE

By Associated Press. OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 29.—No trace has been found of Harry Brenn, garage proprietor of Oakville, Mo., whose garage burned down last Tuesday, coincident with the theft of the corpse of Miss Celeste Schneider from her grave in Mount Hope cemetery, which was established as the burned torso found in the garage ruins. Brenn, who at first was believed to have perished in the fire, disappeared Monday night and is sought by the police, although as yet no warrant has been issued for his arrest. Brenn carried several life insurance policies.

GRISWOLD WILDCAT IN SOUTH ELECTRA SHOWING FORWARD

The Griswold Oil company is reported to have a good stand at 1921 feet in their No. 1 test in section 25, block 5, N. & T. C. of the Waggoner lease in the South Electra district. The stand shows considerable oil. The casing will be set and the sand covered. A great deal of interest is being shown in this showing, the well being practically in wildcat territory. The nearest producer from this depth are the Redwell-Harwick wells two miles east and the Harvey Cullum producer about two miles north.

PLAN INVESTIGATION OF EXPLOSION THAT KILLED FIVE PEOPLE

JOHNSTON CITY, ILL., Sept. 29.—Officials of the mine expressed their belief that the explosion which occurred when three surveyors with all burning lamps attached to their caps entered an unworked room in which gas had accumulated. The three surveyors and two miners working near the unused entry were killed. More than 200 were working in the pit when the explosion occurred but all except the five either escaped or were rescued.

DEPUTY SHERIFF AT PANHANDLE STABBED DURING KLAN PARADE

PANHANDLE, TEXAS, Sept. 29.—Victor A. deputy sheriff, who was stabbed last night during a parade of the Ku Klux Klan here, was resting well this morning, physicians said. The stabbing occurred shortly after the klanmen, 127 strong, had passed through the principal streets. The sheriff was in the crowd, and an arrest was made in connection with the affair. There was said to have been no protest to the parade of the klanmen, and it is declared the sheriff and his deputies were there only to regulate traffic. Approximately 1,000 persons witnessed the parade.

AMATEUR RADIO CLUB ORGANIZED AT VERNON

VERNON, TEXAS, Sept. 29.—Last night a crowd of radio fans met at the offices of the Vernon Electric company to organize an amateur radio club. A special representative of one of the radio supply houses will be present to make a short address. Among the new sets to be installed in Vernon will be a set for the boys' class at the Methodist Sunday school. Supt. R. D. L. Kight, stated that the money had been subscribed to install the set.

GO-GETTERS

Commander Halsey Powell of the American destroyer Edsall at Smyrna says: "Americans evacuated 21,000 (refugees) today. Total for two days, 74,000. Between 20,000 and 50,000 are in the immediate vicinity. Expect more ships to come. Messages from Rodosto say the Greek troops there number 10,000, that they are unopposed in their construction at the prospect of a Turkish invasion. Fifty thousand refugees have been removed to the interior. Sixty graves have been dug, equipped with an outbreak of typhoid fever owing to the polluted water supply. The announcement that the American navy department is sending a squadron of 12 destroyers to reinforce the light now in the near east was the most welcome news received by Americans here since the beginning of the present anxious situation."

ELECTRA MAN IS DEAD FROM BULLET WOUND INFLICTED BY WOMAN

G. A. DeFoss, driller in the Electra field, who was shot twice last Wednesday night in a hotel lobby at Electra, died at 3:30 o'clock Saturday morning at the Wichita General hospital at Call City. Mrs. Nell E. DeFoss, who was placed under arrest immediately after the shooting and held on a formal charge of assault with intent to murder, is still a prisoner in the county jail. The district attorney's office announced Saturday morning that the charge would be changed to murder following the death of the man.

Chas. E. Watson Paint Co. extends greetings to Fair Visitors

Visit our booth while at the fair. We will be glad to show you the latest methods in home decorations. Make our store your headquarters while down town.

Chas. E. Watson Paint Co.

Phone 6226
WICHITA FALLS
WHOLESALE DISTRIBUTORS
PRATT & LAMBERTY PRODUCTS
LOWEST HIGH STANDARD PAINTS
Dealers in Fine Wall Papers

Prize Winning Dinner

Every Day During the Fair
—AT—
50c
AND MORE COOKED
Gifford's Cafe
101 SCOTT

FAIR WEEK

Fair Visitors We Welcome Your

To make use of this bank and its facilities. Make it your headquarters. Every courtesy extended.
City National Bank Of Commerce

Fair Visitors We Greet You and Welcome You To the Fair

While at the fair grounds visit our booth, we have prepared plenty of ice water for you, and while down town make our store your headquarters.

Noble-Little Hdw. Company
611 Seventh Phone 5361

Be Sure to Attend THE Electric Cooking School

Hangar 9
EXPERT HOME ECONOMISTS
Mrs. Ida Kirschstein
OF CHICAGO
—AND—
MRS. C. A. GANT
OF DALLAS
Will Cook and Lecture Each Day
Wichita Falls Electric Company

Don't Miss It

You will also be pleased with our pure, wholesome ice, and the delivery service cannot be equalled.
Every piece of our ice is machine marked in even cut full-weight pieces before leaving our plant. There is no guesswork at the weight of our ice. Full weight guaranteed at all times.

Buy from us the year 'round.
The Peoples Ice Company
2021—PHONES—2229
M. A. Harrod Abe Harrod

Greetings to Visitors

At the
Wichita Falls
Elevator Co.
WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS

Strand THEATER

Monday—Tuesday
Wednesday
"Queen of the Moulin Rouge"

Coming—Thursday,
Friday, Saturday
Chas. S. Sales in
"HIS NINE"

A CERTAIN WINNER

IS THIS FAIR WEEK SPECIAL

New Fall Suits
$32.50

Others at $20.00 to $28.00
LUDLAM & RIGGS
Home of Edwin Clapp Shaper

Wichita Maid Butter

At a price you cannot buy anything else equal in food value. For this reason you should use it liberally in your cooking and at the table.

Our other Dairy Products are equally nourishing.

Producers Creamery Co.

Furniture for Every Home

Greetings to you Fair Visitors
Freear Furniture Co
Corner Ninth and Scott

Knutson Refrigerator

A HOME PRODUCT
Call at the factory while at the Fair and see how this Refrigerator is made.
Factory near the entrance of the Exhibits Hall at Fair Grounds.

Knutson Vacuum Refrigerator Co.
WICHITA FALLS

You Win when you feed Purina Chows

to poultry, cows, hogs, horses, calves, pigeons, steers, rabbits, canines, etc.
Headquarters for poultry supplies, dog foods, dog soap, chicken remedies, bird foods and tonics, rabbit supplies and tonics. Seeds, onion sets, etc.

Maricle Coal & Feed Co.
Phones 4351-4352

The Flavor Is Baked in
Visit our Booth while at the Fair. Make it your headquarters. We will also be glad to show you through our modern baking plant.

Nafziger BAKING COMPANY
1207 Travis St. Phone 2822

"Save It With Ice"

—Pure Crystal Ice
—Honest Weights
—Super Service
If this is what you want, call the

Wichita Ice Co.

PHONE 1821
FRANK KELL
MRS. T. J. TAYLOR
S. W. SIBLEY
HENRY FORD
T. J. TAYLOR JR.
JOE KELL
E. P. TAYLOR
J. T. GANT

Blue Ribbon Drug Bargains For Fair Week

One tube Rasell Shaving Cream and Lather Brush, regular value $1.00, both for Pointex Fabric Stationery, 48 sheets paper and 48 envelopes, special price
$1.99 Caranoms Talous, special at 50c Palm Olive Shampoo, special at
Rexall 93 Hair Tonic, regular 50c, special price
One pound Pure-test Kream, Salt, regular at 25c, special 25c Kleen Tooth Paste and 50c Kleen Liquid, both for Jontel Combination Cream, the all purpose cream, special price.....

Palace Drug Store

FAIR PROGRAM For This Afternoon and Evening

CHILDRENS' DAY
12 A. M.—Lunch on grounds.
2 P. M.—Free Vaudeville in front of grandstand.
7 P. M.—Vaudeville in front of grandstand.
8 P. M.—Theris-Duffield Fire Works Spectacle—Eruption of Mt. Vesuvius in front of Grandstand. An admission charge of twenty-five cents will be made to the combined vaudeville and fireworks show.

See This Space Tomorrow For Sunday's Program
STRAND—"Queen of the Moulin Rouge"

TIMES' DAILY PAGE OF COMIC FEATURES

BUGHOUSE FABLES

TOOTS AND CASPER

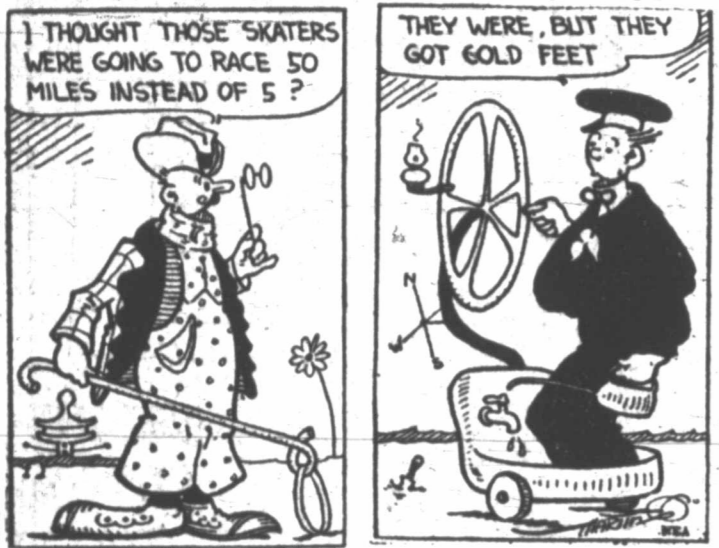

Oh, Well, You Get Down Quicker by Falling

-BY J. E. MURPHY

THE NUT BROTHERS

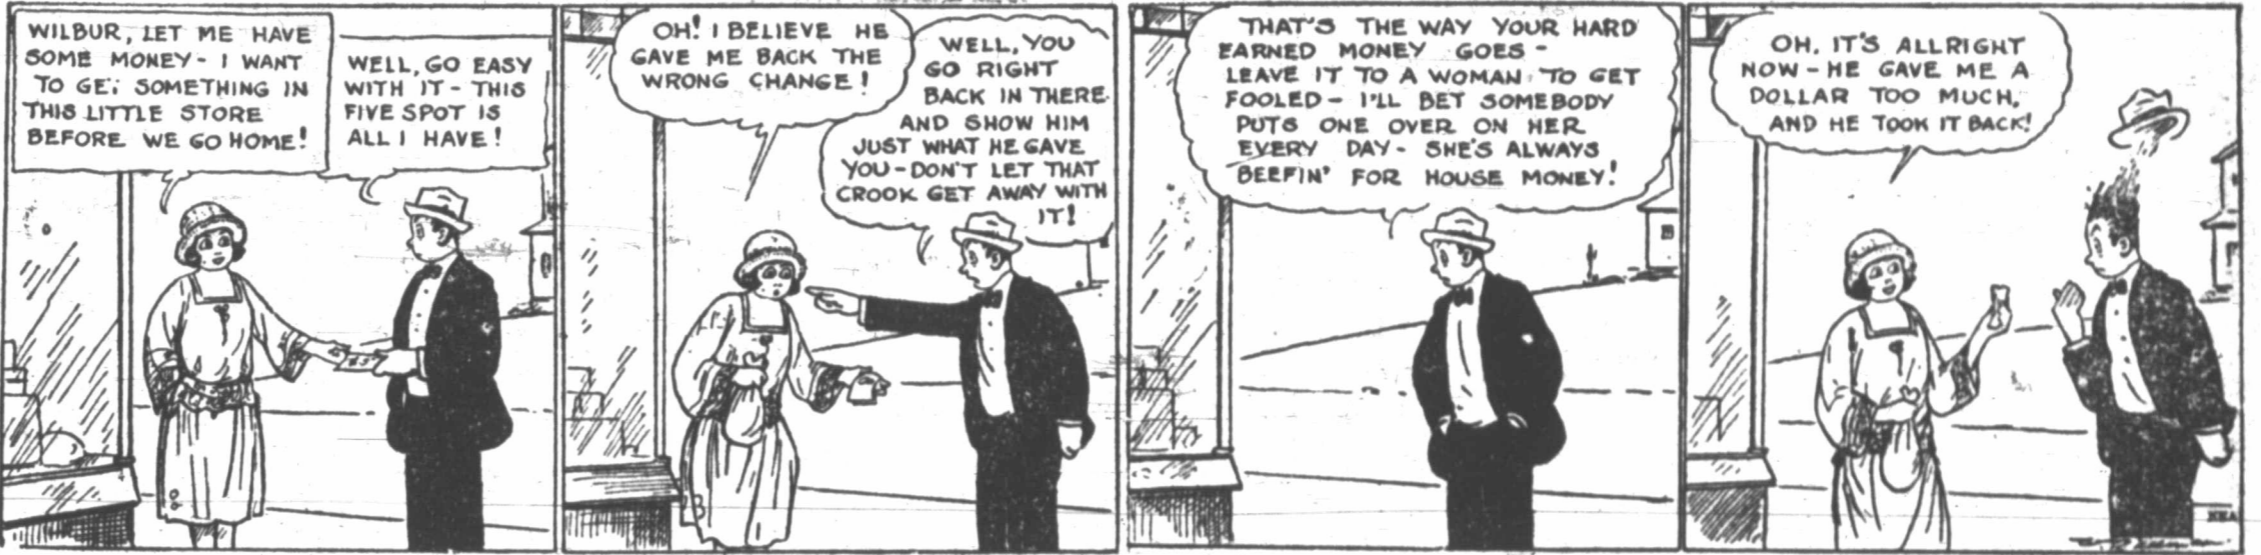

(Ches. & Wal.)

DOINGS OF THE DUFFS

The Mistake Was the Wrong Way

BY ALLMAN

GASSAWAY MILES

BY STAN

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

You Don't Seem to Understand, Tag

BY BLOSSER

SALESMAN SAM

Guzz Collected Interest, Too

BY SWAN

TAKEN FROM LIFE

Helping Ma!

-By Martin

THE OLD HOME TOWN

BY STANLEY

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

BY AIERN

THE WOLF OF ALL TIMES IS ALL THE TIME

Two Circuit Smashes By Niehoff Fail To Win for the Bears

TULSA, OKLA., Sept. 29.—The Tulsa Oilers, champions of the Western league, defeated the Mobile Bears, Dixie champions, 5 to 4, in the first game of their inter-league series today. Both teams battled hard, the local bunched their long drives for better results. Manager Niehoff of the Bears clouted two home runs, scoring Cusick in each instance and accounting for all the Bears runs. Bennett, with four singles; Lillivitt, with three, and Thompson and Cusick with two hits each, one of the latter's a homer, were the local stars with the bat.

Dave Danforth, late of the St. Louis Browns, twirled for the locals, and worked a strong game, fanning 10 Bears and keeping the visitors to 12 hits, which bunched well scattered. On the other hand, Dutch Henry, Mobile's star southpaw, was batted from the box in the first inning, and Acosta, who relieved him, yielded two runs and seven hits in the five innings he worked.

Tulsa took a three-run lead in the first on Bennett's single. Thompson's triple, Davy double and Manager Lillivitt's single. They added another in the second on a walk to Danforth and singles by Bennett and Thompson. They brought their tally to five in the fifth when Davis, "Babe" Ruth of the western circuit, parker one of Acosta's offerings.

Cusick hit safely in the fifth and seventh innings and each time Manager Niehoff followed with a circuit drive, scoring the Cuban.

SENATOR SCORES BASEBALL PRO

Will Seek Plan to Present to Landis, Says League Counselor.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The presence of large baseball pools resulting in millions of dollars being cleaned up throughout the country, as disclosed in a story made by NEA Service in the Daily Times, constitutes a "wonderful and deplorable situation," according to United States Senator George Wharton Pepper of Pennsylvania.

"It is a condition in which the American public man who has an interest," Senator Pepper declared.

Aside from being the major in the senate of the famous anti-trust commission, Senator Pepper is more closely identified with baseball than any other man in public life.

He is an active member of the National and the American League. He expressed his indignation in the successful prosecution of those organizations against the Federal league.

He was retained by both organizations to redraft the anti-trust agreement and other fundamental documents of organized baseball when Judge K. M. Landis became chief commissioner. Senator Pepper frequently consulted Senator Pepper.

Will Subj. Fines

Senator Pepper was shocked by the disclosures recently published. Other congressmen were also shocked, but because of the delay in order that candidates for reelection could give attention to their campaigns, Senator Pepper is now endeavoring to secure legislative correction of the existing evil until congress reconvenes.

In the meantime, however, Senator Pepper announces that he will try to think out some plan for submission to Judge Landis.

"I am not at all sure that we could successfully undertake a federal campaign to control gambling, which might be most difficult to conduct successfully in the campaign to enforce the 15th amendment."

"However, anything which helps to keep the national clean atmosphere is something in which every American public man should take an interest and if I can think of any effective action, I certainly shall submit it to Judge Landis."

COBB IMPROVING ON WORK AT BAT, SISTER'S STUDYING METHODS OF TRY

By BILLY EVANS

No matter how great one may be in any line of sport it is always possible to improve one's game. In golf Walter Hagen tries all that is worth while. He looks the part of a champion and plays it. Yet Hagen never is satisfied. He is always trying to add something new to his repertoire of shots.

In baseball Ty Cobb stands out as the greatest player of all time. Taking into consideration all the players of the game he is the ideal player.

On Bases—At Bat

There have been few greater base runners than Cobb. He is now he lacks some of his old-time speed, but he is figuring what is best to do when he reaches first base.

In the batting end of the sport Cobb always has been preeminent. Since he entered the American League this prowess always has been a source of trouble to the pitchers. Constantly feared by them, he has been called on constantly to face the best pitching that could be offered. This has meant a series of duels of wit between Cobb and the pitchers in which Cobb always has triumphed. For Cobb has always feared the pitchers less than they did him.

Using a New Style

Most players with Cobb's ability at bat would have been content to rest on their laurels, but not Cobb. This spring I noted that he was using a different style. I couldn't figure out the change, but realized that he was hitting at the ball in a different manner. I asked him about it.

"Yes, I have changed my style slightly," he replied. "A low ball always has been hardest for me to hit. For the last two or three years that style delivery has troubled me more than ever."

"Although I have been hitting at low balls in 17 years in the majors I decided to see if I couldn't devise some way of making it easier."

"After much experiment I discovered that a crouched position, in which I bent my knees considerably, enabled me to hit these balls with better success. In reality I made the low ball higher simply by bending the knees when I assumed my position at bat."

"The fact that Cobb is hitting better than in 17 years in the American League makes it seem as if his new style had helped some."

George Sisler of the St. Louis Browns is vying with Cobb for the American league batting honors. Sisler is the greatest all-round player that has entered the American league since Cobb's arrival.

"I read a most interesting statement of George Sisler's in which he said: 'I cut loose at the ball and slug it away like to try to place my hits as Cobb does. I can't claim to have mastered the art of hitting as he has, but I am learning and believe I am making progress. To my mind place hitting is the most important thing in the game. It is a statement which merely adds to the great popularity Sisler now enjoys, because he is a real sportsman.'"

BROWNS SHOULD HAVE CHANCE TO FINISH IN THE WITH WANKS

Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—The mathematical uncertainty in the American league pennant race yesterday with two games left on the schedule of each of the contenders, New York and St. Louis.

Inability of the Yankees for the second straight day to hit the offerings of a former teammate—another reverse yesterday at the hands of the Red Sox, 1 to 9, and a chance to clinch the championship, the Browns meanwhile, clung to the possibility that they may tie the leaders and thus necessitate a play-off series by defeating the Red Sox tomorrow.

One victory for the Yankees or a defeat for the Browns will settle the pennant among the followers of the Browns must win today and tomorrow from the White Sox, while the Yankees lose to Boston today and tomorrow.

Although favored by all odds to emerge victors, the Yankees have caused something bordering on approval among their followers by a sudden slump in hitting, with the pennant goal in sight. In the last three games they have collected 14 hits off George "The Rip" Collins in 17 innings. The three defeats were chalked up against the club's twirling ace, Shawkey and Bush.

It's the One Wolf by Louis Joseph Vance

(Continued from Our Last Issue)

"It would seem safe to assume I am the man gossip says I am" Lanyard said anxiously.

"You propose, then, an alliance?" "That's the answer. I know you can get that tin safe of White's open, when you feel like it, get the jewels and all; but what show do you stand for going away with them? That is, unless you've got somebody working in with you on board the ship. See here."

The matter sank into a lousy "Well, go to it; make your best, consult with me, get everything fixed, hit the loot; I'll stand by, fix up everything so's your work will go through slick, so that you don't get hurt, stow the jewels where they won't be found; and when it's all over, we'll split fifty-fifty. What do you say?"

"Extremely fascinating, monsieur."

"It'll have to be pulled off tomorrow night or not at all; the matter goes with an eager accent."

"My thought, precisely. Now to do what I will have to do, I must have ten minutes of absolute darkness. Can that be arranged?"

"Absolute darkness?" The matter had a rising inflection of dubity. "Why, by nightfall we ought to be off the island in traffic as heavy as on Fifth Avenue! Isn't there some other way?"

"Not with lights to hamper my operations. But if some temporary accident were to put the dynamo out of commission—figure to yourself what would happen."

"The engine would have to be slowed down until oil lamps could be substituted for the binnacle, mast-head, and side-lights, also for the engine room."

"And there would be excitement and confusion, eh? Everybody would make for the deck, even the captain would leave his cabin unguarded long enough."

"I get you—with a sigh. I suppose, all wrong, but well, it's 't's got to be done."

"The engine would be slowed down to a snail's pace, there in the darkness."

CHAPTER XXI

The trap is sprung. Lanyard had settled down to aid the work of Lanyard and his volunteer assistant, Mr. Mussey. At 10:30 p. m. every light went out.

Mr. Mussey had not failed to keep his part of treachery.

Lanyard was out of his chair before the first call of excited remonstrance came out on deck—to be echoed in clamor.

And in that time of stylized gloom violence was done swiftly, surely, and without mercy with pity, yes, and with regret. Lanyard was sorry for the man at the wheel. But what was to be done could not be done in any other way.

The fellow offered barely a show of opposition. Swung bodily away from the wheel, he went over the rail to the forward deck like a bag of sugar. Immediately Lanyard turned to the binnacle.

Thrusting a hand into the opening, Lanyard groped for the adjustable magnets in their racks, and one by one removed and dropped them to the grating at the foot of the binnacle.

The compass ought now to be just as constant to the magnetic pole as a humming-bird to an especial rose.

Guiding himself by a hand that lightly touched the rail, Lanyard regained his chair, carefully composing himself in the position in which he had been resting when the lights went out.

The next instant, however, he was on his feet again. A beam of light had swept across the saloon skylight, coming from below, the beam of a portable electric search.

It might have been the signal for the first piercing scream of Liane Delorme. A pistol shot with a vicious accent cut short the scream. After a brief pause several more shots rattled in the saloon.

Then the torchlight found and stood upon the mouth of the companionway. Against that glare, a bulky figure was instantaneously revealed, reaching to the deck, and gained the topmost step a final report sounded in the saloon, and the figure checked, revolved slowly on his feet, leered and plunged headforemost down the steps again.

A moment later the lights came on, and Lanyard went below.

His hairdresser, who discovered first Liane Delorme. Her fingers were clanking her cheeks, her eyes widely dilated with horror and fright, her mouth was agape, and from it issued, as by some mechanical impulse, shriek upon hollow shriek.

On the opposite side of the saloon Monk lay with purple face and protruding eyeballs, his gone toward death through strangulation. Phinuit, on his knees, was removing a silk handkerchief that had been twisted about the artery throat.

At the foot of the companionway steps, Popinot, no phantom but the veritable Apache himself, was withdrawn, leered, and contemplated, and even as Lanyard looked, the huge body of the creature lifted from the floor in one last, heroic spasm, then collapsed, and lay motionless.

Viewing this hideous tableau, appreciating what it meant—that Popinot, so farmed with advice from the chief engineer, had attempted himself outside the door to Monk's stateroom, to waylay and garrote the man whom he expected to emerge there, Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mussey a great wrong.

For he had done the thing, believed that the chief engineer was laying a trap for him on behalf of his ancient shipmate, Captain Whitaker Monk.

Lanyard stepped across the "dog hole" and entered the stateroom, where he had done Mr. Mus

FAIR WEATHER IS FAIR AS FAR AS CAN BE FORECAST

Fair weather greeted the opening day of the Texas-Oklahoma fair and as far as could be forecast it was apparent that good weather would continue.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH TO START CONTEST AND CAMPAIGN ON SUNDAY

Beginning Sunday morning at 9:30 the 23 cars representing as many classes in the Bible school of the Christian church will start for a 1700 mile race to New York City.

'RELIGION AND POLITICS' WILL BE SUBJECT OF KNICKERBOCKER'S SERMON

"Sunday night, in my sermon, a very important and interesting local question will be asked," said Rev. H. D. Knickerbocker, pastor of the First Methodist church, south, corner Tenth and Lamar, to a Times reporter, that is, "Which is more important, a United States senator or county sheriff?"

At the Churches

First Baptist Church. Special services will be held at the Sunday school hour Sunday morning. Diplomas will be awarded and a program will be given by the Junior department in place of the usual studies.

First Presbyterian Church. The musical program at the First Presbyterian church is going to be exceptionally good Sunday. Rev. H. H. Evans, our missionary in Africa is going to speak both morning and evening.

Assembly of God. Fifth and Broad streets. Sunday services: Sunday school 10 a. m.; prayer service, 11 a. m.; Tuesday service, 7:30 p. m.; Thursday service, 7:30 p. m. Everybody welcome.—W. M. BURTON, M'CAFEEY, pastor.

Lutheran Trinity Church. 1402 Bluff street. Sunday school, 10:30 a. m.; regular service, 11:30 a. m. English services every second and fifth Sunday in the month.

Wichita Methodist Mission. At Saint Paul on Grant street. Rev. J. D. Pinkston will preach at next Sunday. The pastor will preach to the country at Midway at 11 a. m. and at the open air revival in Tex-

Truth Seekers Bible Class. The Truth Seekers Bible class meets every Tuesday, 5 p. m. at First Baptist church. Lessons for Tuesday night, first five chapters of Exodus. Everybody welcome. Mrs. Goodner, teacher.

Lutheran St. Paul's Church. (Missouri synod). Eleventh and Holiday streets. Sunday school at the usual hour, 10 a. m. Morning services in the German language at 10:30 a. m. As the pastor will preach and lecture at Abilene on Tuesday night, Oct. 2, Mr. W. Schwab, will fill the pulpit, conduct the Sunday school at Bible class.

South Side Baptist Mission. Twenty-third and Holiday. We certainly have a fine Sunday school and we want to see every child on this side of town in Sunday school. Come next Sunday morning. Sunday school begins at 9:15 a. m. and there will be preaching at 11:30 a. m. by Rev. E. F. Ross of Dexter, Texas. We hope to see the house filled. Come out, you will hear something good. The Sunbeams meet at 4:30 p. m. The Ladies Aid meet at 5:00 p. m. There will be services again in the evening at 7:30. Teachers meeting Tuesday evening at 7:30. Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7:30.—W. J. NICHOLSON, superintendent.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

BADY THINKS THE NEW LONG DRESSES ARE ALLRIGHT—

Epworth League. Tenth and Lamar. Under supervision of fourth department. Reading, Miss Scott; debate, Mr. Hays will have charge of the music at the Sunday school hour as well as all other services.

First M. E. Church. Seventh and Lamar street Sunday school, 9:15 a. m.; morning preaching, 11 a. m.; stewards' meeting, 7 p. m.; Epworth League, 8:30 p. m.; evening service, 7:30 p. m. Every member is urged to plan a contribution to the benevolent causes by October 15, "as God has prepared you."—T. R. PITTSFORD, pastor.

Church of Christ. Corner Tenth and Austin. R. D. Smith, minister. Sunday school, 9:15; preaching, 11 a. m., followed by the communion service and preaching at 7:30 p. m. Every meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30. You will always be welcome with us and it shall be a pleasure to have you.

program. Besides leading the 15-minute song service and rendering a vocal solo, he is to address the League. The young people of Floral Heights are cordially invited to be present.—S. M. GOSPEL, president.

Floral Heights Methodist. All interests in this church are centered today in the pre-conference revival which begins with the Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Mr. Hays will have charge of the music at the Sunday school hour as well as all other services.

Church of Christ. Corner Tenth and Austin. R. D. Smith, minister. Sunday school, 9:15; preaching, 11 a. m., followed by the communion service and preaching at 7:30 p. m. Every meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30. You will always be welcome with us and it shall be a pleasure to have you.

in appreciation of the publicity so generously given the discourses delivered in the revival services being held. Not only is there an opportunity for the attending Function and preserver for future reading the vital truths presented by the minister, but some who may not be in position to attend will receive the benefits in part from the printed page almost equal to the medium of a radio outfit.—W. A. BETTS, Pastor.

FRANK GAMEL SPEAKS AT ELECTRA FRIDAY NIGHT IN SEX HYGIENE LECTURE

Frank H. Gamel, specialist in boys' work, who has been here the past week, was taken to Electra Friday night by local Rotarians and preserver for future reading the vital truths presented by the minister, but some who may not be in position to attend will receive the benefits in part from the printed page almost equal to the medium of a radio outfit.—W. A. BETTS, Pastor.

Mr. Gamel declares that the reproductive function is the most sacred function of mankind, and the moving picture illustrating the reproductive process made the lecture extremely instructive and interesting. He was heard by a large crowd.

BYERS HAS RECEIVED 2585 SALES OF COTTON THIS SEASON. BYERS, TEGAN Sept. 30.—Cotton receipts here Friday, 104 bales; prices paid, 18 1/2 cts. Cotton seed, 25 1/2 cts. Season's total, 2,585 bales.

DAUGHTER HAD TO HELP MOTHER

Now Can All Her Housework Alone Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Jasper, Minn.—"I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other medicines, but none did me the good that your vegetable Compound did. Now I am able to do my work alone while before I had my daughter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and I am a testimonial."—Mrs. Jessa P. Jensen, Route 1, Jasper, Minn.

Welcome, Fair Visitors

It will be both a privilege and a pleasure for this bank to serve you while you enjoy the first Texas-Oklahoma Fair.

The First National Bank

Indiana at Eighth St. Established 1884. Capital and Surplus $1,500,000

The Security National Bank

WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS. COMMERCIAL AND SAVINGS ACCOUNTS SOLICITED. "The Bank of Dependable Service" Eighth and Ohio. OFFICERS: J. I. Sibley, President; J. A. Hiseolt, Vice-President; C. C. Gable, Active Vice-Pres; W. F. Hays, Asst. Cashier; W. M. Peck, Vice-President; Byron A. Sibley, Asst. Cashier. Come to the Texas-Oklahoma Fair, Sept. 30 to Oct. 4. Wichita Falls, Texas.

FAITH OPTICAL CO.

Eyes Scientifically Tested for Glasses. 215 North Avenue. RUTH ROBERTSON KING. Parlor Millinery. 1210 Finmore. Phone 2422. Remodeling a Specialty.

SAVE YOUR EYES

L. R. BAILY, Optometrist. Eighth & Ohio. With Kruger Jewelry Co. Dr. Hampshire & Hoover. Skin and Venereal. 216 Bob Wagoner Bldg. Phone 2855.

Baby's Portrait

Your family records are never complete without frequent pictures of the little one. Make an appointment for baby's portrait today. NUSSELL'S STUDIO. OUR MOTTO—QUALITY, NOT COMPETITION OF PRICES. 1010 TENTH STREET. PHONE 6970.

To Readers of the Daily Times

If at any time you cannot secure a copy of the Times on any trip or at any newsstand where it should be on sale you will do us a favor if you report same to us. Kindly give us full particulars as to time, date, etc., so that we will be able to correct the trouble. This information will be very much appreciated.

WANTED CLEAN COTTON RAGS

apply TIMES OFFICE PRESSROOM

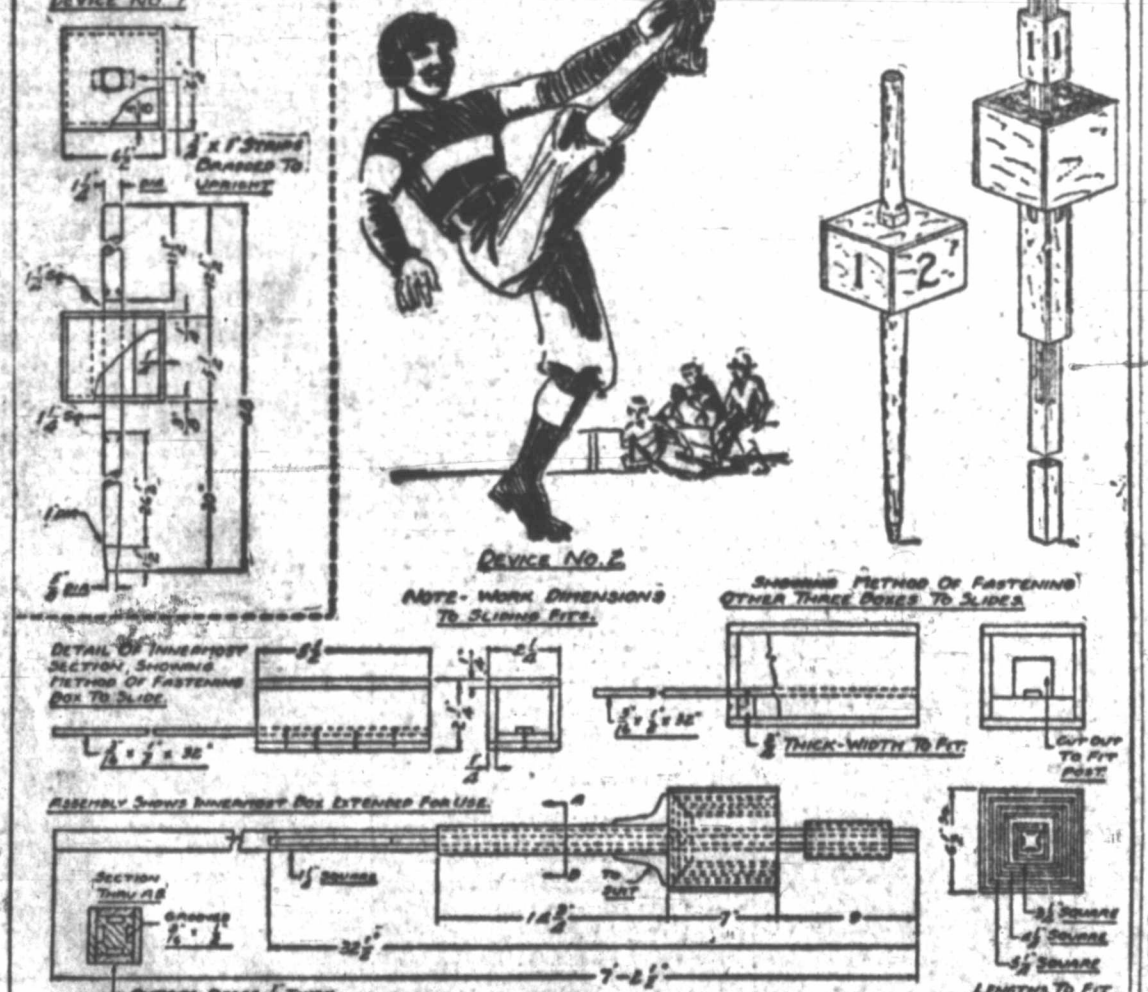

INSURANCE

We represent strong old line companies. If you need insurance Phone 2931, we will call. Responsive Insurance Service.

Wm. E. Huff Insurance Agency

Office With STATE TRUST CO. 98 EIGHTH STREET. W. E. Huff, V. Pres and Treas.

Tool-Craft All Sorts of Things for Boys and Men to Make By Frank I. Solar

How to Make "Down" Indicators for Football Linemen. MATERIALS: Wood, brads, nails. Indicator No. 1 is simple, and easy to make. The drawing tells everything. On the four faces of the box are painted the numbers 1, 2, 3 and 4. The linesman holds it so that the number facing the spectators is the number of the next down.

PROFESSIONAL DIRECTORY

- ATTORNEYS: A. R. Taylor, Cedric G. Taylor, Taylor & Taylor, 223-20 Bob Wagoner Bldg. Phone 429. R. W. MANN, Attorney-at-Law, 224 National Bldg. of Commerce Bldg. Phone 429. F. G. SWANSON, 411 City National Bank Bldg. Office Phone 2343. Residence 2983. ELMER C. DE MONTELL, Attorney-at-Law, 1011 City Nat'l. Bank. Phone 4223. W. B. CHANCEY, 508-510 Clint W. Bldg. Phone 424. C. A. WILLIAMS, Attorney-at-Law, 497 Morgan Bldg. Phone 4104. MELVILLE S. PETERS, Suite 202 Morgan Bldg. Phone 4242. Res. Home Hotel. ACCOUNTANTS: T. B. ALLAN & COMPANY, Certified Public Accountants, 1117-30 City National Bank Bldg. Phone 2946. A. B. STEVENS, Certified and General Practice, 223 Wagoner Building. Office: 508-510 Amer. Nat'l. Bank Bldg. Hours: 9 to 12 and 2 to 5 p. m. F. L. MYERS, Graduate Commercial Auditor, 614 American Nat'l. Bank Bldg. Phone 2999. Hours: 9 to 12; 2 to 4 p. m. ARCHITECTS: ASBELL & HORSAN, Civil Engineers and Architects, Basement of Court House. Office Phone 294. W. R. WEAVER, Surveyor and Civil Engineer, General Surveying, 1117-30 City National Bank Bldg. Phone 2946. Res. Home Hotel. E. R. KEMP, Engineer, Electrical, Mechanical, Sanitary, Estimator, Appraiser, Surveyor, 1011 City Nat'l. Bank. Phone 4223. SARGENT, STARK & PAVE, 1001-1003 City National Bank Bldg. NORMAN & VAN HORN, Engineers and Architects, Oil and Gas, 1117-30 City National Bank Bldg. Phone 2946. W. A. GATT, Surveying, Mapping, Through Surveying, 1011 City National Bank Bldg. Phone 4223. S. W. SNOOK, Surveying, Valuations, Appraisals, Designing, 517 American Nat'l. Bank Bldg. Phone 4223. VETERINARIAN: DR. L. H. BERRY, D. V. M., Graduate Veterinarian, All calls answered promptly. Office 429. Phone 2919. Residence 1117-30 City National Bank Bldg. Phone 2946.