MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN IN B. Y. P. U. TRAINING SCHOOL

The B. Y. P. U. training school, which has been in progress at the First Baptist church since last Sunday is attracting great interest on the part of young people of the local Baptist church. More than 100 are enrolled in the classes of Junior, intermediate and senior ages. The faculty, headed by T. C. Gardner, have in operation some unique and profitable programs. One department of the school is touring the state of Texas by means of airplanes which are only used in this part of the church work. Expert radio operators and photographers will give information from time to time as to the progress of those making the trip.
Monday night, Mr. Gardner delivered an inspirational address, using as his subject, "Discover, Develop and Distribute." These addresses which will be given each week at 7:45, are for the public as well as those enrolled in the school, and have to do with the vital training of Christian workers. Many of the older people of the local Baptist congregations are attending the programs given this hour, so that one of the large Sunday school auditoriums is filled to its capacity each evening.

BIBLE CLASSES IN PUBLIC SCHOOL AT ELECTRA POPULAR

ELECTRA, TEXAS, Oct. 3.—Teaching the Bible in local schools is proving popular with the students, as well as the public school authorities. The instruction is given by local pastors, and each school is allowed to select the preacher under whom he will take the course. A high school student can get one-half of a credit for attending Bible classes two 45 minute periods a week for the year, half that amount of credit will be given for one period a week.
To students below the high school a credit of one per cent on their general average will be given for attendance on Sunday school throughout the school year. No excuses can be offered for tardiness. Students whose preference is for a church which does not hold Sunday school may substitute church attendance therefor.
The use of its new building, recently erected on South Main street, has been tendered for Bible instruction by the Church of Christ. Superintendent B. M. Dismore announced that the school authorities will not attempt to dictate concerning the subject matter of the courses—the only stipulation being that the study will be up to academic standard of high school students.
Rev. R. B. Curry, pastor of the Methodist church, announces that his course will include an academic study of the Bible from three standpoints, viz., the origin of the Bible as we have it, its message, and its application in present day life. Rev. Byron Hester, pastor of the Christian church, will offer a course of lectures on the history of the Bible. Rev. E. M. Francis, pastor of the Baptist church, will give his students a "bird's eye" view and general working knowledge of the Bible, using books of research as well as the scriptures. Other ministers have not announced the nature of their courses as yet.

12,000,000 FOOT CASSER A FEATURE HERRON CITY FIELD

GRAHAM, TEXAS, Oct. 2.—Herron City again comes to the front with a 12,000,000 foot gas well brought in by D. A. Miller of all on their Hughes No. 1, P. Herron survey. The well is half a mile west from the town of Herron City and really means more to Herron City than any happening in the field so far. M. R. McGuire and associates have a rig up on their Tom Carter lease in Carter Bend and will start within the next few days. Their location is about 500 yards northeast from the well being drilled by Ligon and others which encountered an unexpected flow of gas some three weeks ago which burned down their rig. This gas was struck at 1445 feet, which established a new horizon for this field. Carter Bend has been raised on favorably by several different geologists and indications at present point to its being one of the active spots in this district within the next few weeks. The fact is, Carter Bend, Will Bend, Ming Bend and all the other bends along the Brazos river in Young county have oil in them, not only that, but the river bed along these bends has invariably produced oil in every instance where it has been drilled. Furthermore, oil is now being successfully produced in Young county from at least ten different horizons, each one a true sand.

DAYTON ENGINEER IS NEW ASSISTANT TO IRRIGATION CHIEF

O. N. Floyd of Dayton, Ohio, has been appointed assistant chief of engineer of the Wichita county water improvement district and will succeed Capt. H. F. McFarland who has joined the engineering staff of W. E. Callahan Construction company.
Mr. Floyd has for the past nine years been in the employ of the Miami conservancy district and assisted, not only with the preliminary surveys and designs for the immense dams and other structures which that district has built in the interest of flood protection, but has been in active charge of the construction of the Taylorville dam, one of the largest hydraulic fill dams.
The Taylorville dam, approximately 1400 feet in length and importance, the Wichita storage dam.
Mr. Floyd had charge of location and reconstruction of a number of reservoirs of the Miami conservancy district, which were required to be moved when the dams and reservoirs of the Miami conservancy district were completed. He is a graduate of the University of Tennessee and member of the American Society of Civil Engineers. In addition, Mr. Floyd has had six years' experience in the engineering departments of the Louisville and Nashville railroad and Southern railroad.
It was recently, while on a trip of inspection over the Wichita Falls project, representative of the Morgan Engineering company, that it was ascertained that Mr. Floyd was available and the district considered itself extremely fortunate to have secured the services of an engineer so able and experienced with dam construction. He will have direct charge of the completion of both the storage and diversion dam.
In view of the fact that Tuesday "Wichita Falls Day" at the fair the regular weekly meeting of the University club was postponed for a week. HEALTH POSTER BY ELECTRA BOY WINS FAIR'S FIRST PRIZE

Earl Lick of Electra was awarded first prize Monday in the school children's contest for the best health poster. His drawing of a cherubic infant "listening in" on radio health news being declared the most effective of those submitted.
J. P. Diesthorst of the Austin school won second prize with a drawing that illustrated the three essential elements of healthy childhood, sleep, exercise and good food.
A drawing by James White of Electra received third prize. Fred Chaper, Rev. Byron Hester of Electra and Mayor Adams of Burkhardt were the judges.
The posters are on display at Red Cross headquarters, which has been one of the busiest places at the fair grounds. Baby after baby has passed under the scrutinizing gaze of Dr. J. P. Paulson of the federal health bureau and has had its defects classified. Those found physically perfect are eligible for the prizes which will be awarded Wednesday. Only two babies had passed this severe test up to the closing hour Monday.

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN IN B. Y. P. U. TRAINING SCHOOL

The B. Y. P. U. training school, which has been in progress at the First Baptist church since last Sunday is attracting great interest on the part of young people of the local Baptist church. More than 100 are enrolled in the classes of Junior, intermediate and senior ages. The faculty, headed by T. C. Gardner, have in operation some unique and profitable programs. One department of the school is touring the state of Texas by means of airplanes which are only used in this part of the church work. Expert radio operators and photographers will give information from time to time as to the progress of those making the trip.
Monday night, Mr. Gardner delivered an inspirational address, using as his subject, "Discover, Develop and Distribute." These addresses which will be given each week at 7:45, are for the public as well as those enrolled in the school, and have to do with the vital training of Christian workers. Many of the older people of the local Baptist congregations are attending the programs given this hour, so that one of the large Sunday school auditoriums is filled to its capacity each evening.

and an equal number of paid men, 45 horses and the regulation artillery equipment. An immense radio station will also be established as a part of the battery paraphernalia. Sixty-five men must be enlisted. According to the officers who visited Electra the placing of such a battery here would mean the expenditure of approximately $25,000 a year here by the federal government. The American Legion is working on the proposition.

REX WICHITA AND QUEEN LOUISE I

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS TWELVE TOES COMES TO LIGHT FINGERS' AID By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Here's a magic bean, like the one Jack the Giant Killer planted."
Light Fingers was the tricky little fairy who had stolen the Fairy Queen's automobile.
While rolling along the Milky Way he fell out of the machine and rolled off, down to the earth. He got up and rubbed his head and tried to think what had happened.
"Oh, I know now!" he cried. "It's the Twins! The last thing I saw before I fell out of the sky was the Twins hopping into the automobile and driving off."
"First thing you know they'll be back at the Fairy Queen's Palace in Fairyland and then won't I catch it, though!"
"I stole the automobile for Twelve Toes, the Sorcerer, who wanted it dreadfully, and now I've got to go and tell him that I lost it. Oh me, oh my! I bet he'll turn me into a worm or something, he'll be so mad."
Light Fingers went slowly, ever so slowly, to the cave where Twelve Toes lived, his head down and his finger in his mouth.
"Now, what've you been doing?" demanded Twelve Toes, striding out of his cave and looking as cross as a hungry bear. "Where's that magic automobile I sent you after?"
Then Light Fingers had to tell him the whole thing, how he'd fallen out of the automobile and how Nancy and Mick had jumped in and turned the little knob on the whirring between the zigamcrank and the thingamabob and driven away.
"Oh, goodness!" stormed Twelve Toes. "That's awful. You're a clumsy fellow. But it's not too late to get it back. Here's a magic bean like the one Jack the Giant Killer planted."
"See, now I'll plant it! There, it's growing already. Soon it will reach the sky. Now you climb up and chase those Twins as fast as you can."

Setting a precedent for beauty and grace which it will be difficult for any succeeding coronation to surpass, the coronation of Rex Wichita I and Queen Louise I of the Texas-Oklahoma fair amazed and delighted a throng of spectators which completely packed the Coronation Temple Monday night.
The spectacle was characterized by real dignity and loveliness. The young women who wore, for the time being, the mantle of royal and aristocratic lineage, lived up to the nearly make-believe with a quality of poise and graciousness in their action and an ease and freedom in their bearing which spelled success for the spectacle long before the much anticipated entrance of the first queen of the fair. The coronation costumes would literally beggar description. They were of every degree of elegance and beauty; every exquisite shade and flame of color, and each contributed its glowing bit of magnificence to the royal scene. But the real triumph of the coronation was the person, Miss Louise Montgomery, who staged it, and the spirit with which she lived up to the demands of the royal occasion.
Rex Wichita, former Mayor Walter D. Cline, was seated on the throne in the opening of the coronation, following his presentation as first king of the fair. George Keith, president of the fair association, was introduced at the same time, Louise Benson acting as master of ceremonies throughout the coronation.
Then followed the pageant of beauty. First the ladies-in-waiting, eleven young women of this city and their escorts; then the duchesses of Texas and Oklahoma counties, their escorts, maids of honor and squires. Then the maid of honor to the queen, Miss Lulu Wood, followed by the little train bearers, One Bell Britain and Olive Jane Daugherty. Then the crown bearer, Master Walter Horns Friday, bearing the crown on a satin pillow, and finally, heralded by the triumphal burst of music from the band and the introduction of the master of ceremonies, the queen herself, Miss Louise Montgomery.
The ladies-in-waiting and their escorts, the duchesses, escorts and maids of honor and squires all entered from the far ends of the long building, with the spotlight on both counts as they advanced and made their curtsies to each other and obeisance to the king. The queen's party, however, entered from the center door of the building directly opposite the throne. The maid of honor wore a handsome gown of salmon chiffon, overhung with a platinum lace, and bordered with salmon silver velvet bound with gray and caught at the shoulders with rhinestone buckles. Her staff was of coral, tipped with coral roses. The little train bearers wore white chiffon over silk, and the crown bearer, while in plain dress, himself, Miss Louise Montgomery.
The queen's coronation gown was a magnificent beautiful costume of rhinestones and iridescent embroidered chiffon and satin. The dress was embroidered with iridescent beads, and the train, which reached from the top to the bottom of the throne steps, was beautifully encrusted with rhinestones and iridescent beads, and depended from a Medici collar embroidered in the rhinestones. The queen carried an ostrich plumed staff, and was crowned with a beautiful coronal circlet of rhinestones by the master of ceremonies.
After the seating of the queen, the royal party was entertained with an interludic dance by six young girls in costumes of the Nile, and by a lovely solo dance by Miss Lella Davis in costume. The girls were Misses Helen Knott, Leta Jo McCallister, Lucile Benson, Beatrice Barker, Frankie Adickes and Bernice Pross, and the dance was exceptionally graceful and attractive.
Following the coronation the king and queen led a grand march which opened the coronational ball, and the crowning of the first king and queen of the first Texas-Oklahoma fair passed into the history of the city's beautiful pageants.

SPLENDID SERVICE AT YALE AVENUE CHURCH
The services at the Yale Avenue Evangelical church last Monday evening were accompanied with great power of the holy spirit and there was a general feeling of good fellowship among the professed Christians of every name, a sign which we rejoice to see manifested.
Rev. James F. Aaron, the evangelist, brought us a great message, taking as his subject, "What shall I do with Jesus which is called the Christ?" taken from the 27th chapter of the gospel of Matthew and the 22nd verse, and in his discourse he made a personal appeal to every one as to what they would do with Him, telling the sinner and backslider that every time they heard the message and did not heed it they are crucifying the Savior anew, and taking the testimony of those who professed to love the Savior in the trying times, he stood up for Him every time an opportunity was offered and unite their voices as one voice against those who are trying to bring evil into our midst these troublesome times, and not be as some in the time of the crucifixion, following Him afar off, and thereby allow the enemy of our souls to prevail.
Again we appeal to every one to come out and help us in this struggle; just lay aside all except the cause of Christ and come and help us. Very cordially,
W. D. COOK, Pastor.
Mrs. T. M. Cooper, of Meza, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. T. F. Mackenzie, for a few days.

URGES COOPERATION IN ADMINISTRATION GRAIN FUTURES ACT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 2.—Full cooperation of the grain trade with officials of the department of agriculture in the administration of the grain futures act was urged by Dr. H. C. Taylor, chief of the bureau of agricultural economics, in an address today to the annual meeting of the grain dealers' national association. The department is as much interested, Dr. Taylor said, in seeing that the legitimate handler of grain receives a fair price for his services as it is educating the farmer to market his product to the best advantage to himself and the national welfare.
The attitude of the department toward marketing and the county agent system was touched upon by Dr. Taylor, who explained that it is not the policy of the department or operation of any cooperative marketing undertaking, but simply to collect and disseminate information which may be useful to any one interested in marketing farm products.

APPEAL IS MADE FOR FUNDS FOR THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY

DALLAS, Oct. 2.—District and county chairmen of the Texas Democratic committee of the democratic national committee will call upon voters all over Texas Thursday asking for subscriptions to the national democratic campaign fund. Subscriptions may be made to local chairmen or forwarded direct to Miss Margie E. Neal and John C. Harris, state chairmen, at 215 Western Indemnity building, Dallas.
Celebration of Thursday, October 5, as "Democracy Day" is pursuant to proclamations issued by mayors of Texas cities calling upon their citizens to rally to the call of the party and endeavor to complete the Texas job in one day of effort.
To Texas has been allotted this year $20,000 of the party's national campaign fund. It is only half as great as the amount of 1920 and the hope of the committee, according to Miss Neal, is that a vastly greater number of Texas men and women will subscribe small amounts ranging from $1 to $10 to the fund.
In Dallas and Fort Worth teams are being lined up by the county chairmen to visit voters during Thursday and ask for their contributions. Mayor Sawala R. Aldredge paved the way for celebration of Democracy day Thursday with a ringing call upon the democratic men and women of Dallas to respond to the call for financial aid in carrying the party's program to victory in the general election of November 7.
Mayor E. T. Cockrell of Fort Worth followed with a similar proclamation on the next day and other mayors have fallen in line. The time is short, Miss Neal said, and we want to finish this campaign before the end of next week and make our report to Chairman Cordell Hull with a sum of money that will put fear in the hearts of republicans in doubtful states.

A cipher letter from Rotterdam—probably from Quintana. Cipher was rather in Darragh's line.

CHAPTER II.
Two state troopers drew bridles in the following October forest. Trooper Lannis said to Trooper Stormont: "That's Mike Clinch's clearing. Our man may be there. Now we'll see if anybody tips him off this time."
Stormont nodded.

started to make a lady of her. "That was his man!"
"Clinch had plenty of money in those days," he went on. "He could afford to educate the child. The kid had a governess. Then he sent her to a fancy boarding school. She had everything a young girl could want. She developed into a pretty young thing at 16. She's 18 now—and I don't know what to call her. She pulled a bun on me in July."
"Where?"
"Sure. There was a row at Clinch's dump. A rum-runner called Jake Kinon got shot up. I came up to get Clinch. He was sick-drunk in his bunk. When I broke in the door, the Strayer pulled a gun on me."
"Was that happened?" inquired Stormont.
"Nothing. I took Clinch. . . . But he got off as usual."
"Acquitted?"
"Lannis nodded, rolling another cigar."
"Now, I'll tell you how Clinch happened to go wrong," he said. "You see he'd always made his living by guiding. Well, some years ago Henry Harrod of Boston came here and bought thousands and thousands of acres of forest all around Clinch's. That meant ruin to Clinch. He was wallowing in. No hunters care to be so restricted. Business stopped. His daughter's education became expensive. He was in a bad way. Harrod offered him a big price. But Clinch turned ugly and would not budge. And that's how Clinch began to go wrong."
Stormont nodded.

FIRE?

Week of October 2nd to 9th
"FIRE PREVENTION WEEK"

ARE YOU HELPING TO PREVENT FIRES?

There has been over 867 fire alarms turned in already this year. Help in this campaign to prevent such alarms.

FIRE IS THE GREATEST ENEMY — The Ruthless Destroyer

Desolation follows in the track of his pitiless, terrible flames.

What cry is more dreadful than that of fire! Fire!

Fire calls this year have been unusually high. The department answered 867 calls during the first nine months of 1923 with losses amounting to $195,455. This number exceeds by over 100 the alarms of 1922 or the previous year. The average loss per alarm has been $223.60.

In spite of the well equipped department and efficient force these losses will occur as long as the public is careless.

According to a statement made by Chief McClure, 80 per cent of these fires are the result of carelessness.

Are you protected? Are you doing your part toward protecting your community from devastation?

How about your Fire Insurance? If fire destroyed your store, your factory, your home, tonight, would your loss be fully covered?

Have you proper equipment of fire extinguishers and other devices for fire prevention?

Are You Playing With Fire? Or Have You Provided Ample Safe Guards?

Can you sleep at night, secure in the knowledge that you have fire protection? Or, are you gambling with all that you possess?

Not what your property cost, but what it can be replaced for, should determine the amount of your insurance.

TEXAS' GRAND MASTER IS AMONG VISITORS

Night Session to Be Held at the Christian Church; to Perfect Organization.

Leading Masons from a score of northwest Texas counties convened at Wichita Falls Tuesday afternoon to make plans for extending the Masonic Services association work in this section.

Accompanying Mr. Johnson were Wilbur Keith of Dallas, who is executive secretary of the organization, and A. F. Moore of Dallas, who is superintendent of public schools in Dallas county.

Mr. Johnson became grand master at the Waco convention last year and the grand lodge in December last year. His first experience as a grand officer of that body was in the year 1917, when he was appointed grand orator.

The afternoon meeting held at the Masonic Temple was devoted to executive and business matters, as well as the selection of a chairman for Wichita Falls district No. 2, which is composed of Hardeman, Ford, Knox, Haskell, Wilbarger, Baylor, Throckmorton, Wichita, Archer, Young, Clay, Jack, Montague and Wise counties.

As the meeting scheduled for Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the First Christian church, Mr. Johnson will preside. A. F. Moore, who will deliver the principal address, is known throughout Texas as an inspiring speaker and an able educator.
