It was due to go into effect today. As a result of the postponement an American ship with liquor aboard can leave a foreign or American port after October 21, and no foreign ship with liquor aboard leaving a foreign port after that date can enter American territorial waters.

CONTINUE HEARING ON CONTEMPT CASE TO NEXT TUESDAY

MAYOR ADAMS OF BURKBURNETT ON STAND BEFORE ADJOURNMENT.

TESTIFIES HE DID NOT DISOBEY ORDER WILFULLY

Denies Having Had Conversation With Councilman Gilbert As Letter Testified.

The hearing in the contempt proceedings against the city council members of the town of Burk Burnett was continued until next Tuesday morning at noon Saturday by Judge E. W. Napier of the 78th district court.

Mayor Adams was on the stand at the time that the court continued the hearing. He testified that if he had violated the court's order as outlined in the mandatory writ of injunction, he had not done so intentionally and wilfully. He also denied having had a conversation with Councilman Gilbert as the latter had testified on the witness stand earlier in the morning.

On cross examination counsel for J. R. Rose questioned him along the line of the filing of the charges against the plaintiff within 24 hours after copies of the mandatory writ had been served upon him.

In view of the fact that in the motion to cite the members of the council for contempt, malicious intent was charged, the inquiry at this trial is following the same course as the contempt proceedings held before the city council on Sept. 21, when testimony was heard on the charges brought against Mr. Rose.

Practically the same testimony is being introduced. It is being introduced by the plaintiff in the contempt case to attempt to show malice and wilful disobedience of the court's order and on the part of the defendants to show what the cause for ousting Mr. Rose was just and that for that reason they did not exhibit malicious intent to violate any order from the court.

During the morning session Saturday, Councilman Gilbert testified on direct examination that he had refused to vote on the question of ousting Mr. Rose because he did not believe that sufficient testimony had been introduced to bear out the charges and further that he believed that the council would be violating the injunction order. He made reference to the fact that he had had a conversation with a member of the council with reference to the injunction but said that the member had told him that if he would vote on the issue that he would see to it that Mr. Gilbert would not get into any trouble.

NEW DATE WILL BE SET FOR ELECTION ON HOSPITAL BONDS

A new date for the election on the $125,000 hospital bonds will be set by the county commissioners when they meet in regular weekly session Monday morning.

Originally the date was November 16, three days after the general election but it was discovered that it would be impossible to get out the election notices in time to comply with the state law and for that reason another date will necessarily have to be set.

This will be the third time that an election has been held on this hospital bond issue. The first time it was submitted to the voters of the county it was carried by a safe majority but the attorney general declared the issue void because the hospital bond issue had been voted during that current year.

The second time the issue lost by a majority of eight votes but the election was contested and declared void and void.

BURKBURNETT

BURKBURNETT, Oct. 16.—Mayor Dr. W. H. Adams has issued a proclamation making the week beginning October 16 and ending October 22, Salvation Army week. The proclamation as issued earnestly requests the citizenship of this city to give liberally to the army during this week in the drive to raise their budget of $4,000.

The mayor calls the attention of the people to the fact that no single factor in the city has done more to assist the law enforcement officers or to make living conditions better in this city than the Salvation Army. He has done during their administration to the sick and needy at all times the services as rendered in the past cannot in the future be dispensed with. The mayor says: "I feel that they have a special work to perform in Burk Burnett that cannot be done by any other organization, and if their work is to continue, it will be necessary for the citizens of this community during spare moments when that can do so will give liberally when the committee approaches them for a contribution to this fund."

Next Roomy Place. A representative of The Wichita Daily Times chanced to visit a new building that is being erected by J. W. Glougar on West Main street. It is not finished as yet, but with the sleeping porch, well varnished floors and warmly built walls, one can see it was built to live in every way and the architectural design is pleasing. Mr. Glougar is very proud of the building as he is building it himself during spare moments when he does not need to work in the garage he owns with James Cox, located near by.

Fort Hill After Recruits. A detachment of soldiers from Fort Hill was in Burk Burnett Saturday and will continue over Sunday, recruiting recruits for the artillery unit of the army. Under the new law there will be good chance to get promotion, as there is an opening now for 10 sergeants and 75 corporals at this post. Fort Hill is the principal point for their artillery school. The well equipped army trucks are in charge of Sergeant Adams and Corporal Cordell, with Private Woods as driver. Anyone desiring to see them Sunday will find them near the trucks on the streets in Burk Burnett.

Sunday Services. Rev. R. R. Boush, pastor of the Baptist church of this city, announces the following services for Sunday: Preaching 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Montgomery, pastor of the Methodist church at this place, will preach his last sermon Sunday of the present conference year, and possibly his last as pastor at this church unless he should be returned by the Methodist conference which meets next week and at which time a pastor will be selected for this pulpit for the coming conference year. Rev. Montgomery has many friends in this city, made during his two year's pastorate here.

W. Burg and Singer McMahan are conducting the meeting with much interest being manifested by those in attendance. The meeting will continue next week and the public is invited to attend.

"Come Out and Help Boys That Help You" Firemen's Invitation

"Free fish, free corn, free gate" are some of the inducements which the firemen are offering to patrons of the "pop corn carnival" to be held at Lake Wichita, October 18 to 20. Free fish fry for the public, public speaking, dancing and a midway of American shows will furnish amusement for the crowds.

The carnival will open Sunday afternoon with an address of fire prevention by E. S. Goodner. Following the address the fire boys will entertain with a free fish fry; the public is invited to be their guests. Dancing at the lake pavilion will end the program for Sunday.

Monday will be the big day; and a varied program to furnish entertainment for everyone will be provided. At night a ball honoring the five social clubs of the city will be given. Invitations have been extended to members of the Comus, Euphoric, Avonch, Euphon, and Da Moxy clubs to attend. The original Blue Devil orchestra of San Antonio will furnish dance music throughout the week. The lower floor of the pavilion has been remodeled and there will be ample room for the dancers. Tickets are on sale at Tipton's drug store or may be secured from the firemen, or the young women who are assisting in the sale. These tickets are good for admittance at the dance any two nights of the carnival and a substantial saving may be made by purchasing tickets in advance. The tickets will be on sale at any of the above mentioned places all of next week.

Through service on the street cars has been secured for Friday and the fire boys promise plenty of amusement in the way of side shows, dancing every night, and possibly a barbecue later in the week. The carnival is a benefit for the firemen's relief fund to be used in case of sickness, death, or misfortune of any kind. "Come out and help the boys that help you," is the firemen's invitation.

'Where I Come From They Treat 'Em Rough' Says a Deer to Dogs

Some time ago Leonard Heinman, formerly of this city but now of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, sent Mr. Heinman, of 1107 Burnett, a pet deer for company. And "Billy" that is his Christian name, has been company ever since.

Mrs. Heinman, not being accustomed to the habits of deer and especially Mexican deer with revolutionary tendencies, placed "Billy" in a garden at the rear of her home. Now Billy was not used to the confinement of the peaceful and law-abiding U. S. and longed for adventure, excitement and companionship such as he had enjoyed in his native country. He has now become acclimated and used to the customs of the land of his adoption and jumps the fence and follows members of the household about the neighborhood at will.

But he will probably never recover from his early training in revolutionary and warlike Mexico; he still remembers the martial spirit of Mexico and is always ready to engage in battle with the neighboring canines. ## There is Strength in Every Tablet of This Newer Form of Iron

One does often help oneself by taking iron. Iron is the most essential element in the body. It is the iron in the blood that carries the life-giving oxygen to every part of the body. If the iron in the blood is low, the body is weak and the life-giving oxygen is not carried to every part of the body. This is the cause of many of the ailments of the body. ### NEW PASTORS MAY BE SENT HERE BY M. E. CONFERENCE

LOCAL CONGREGATION HOPEFUL THAT PRESENT MINISTERS WILL RETURN.

BOTH BEING SOUGHT BY OTHER CHURCHES

Pastors and Prominent Laymen Will Go to Conference at Sherman This Week.

Ministers and prominent laymen of the M. E. churches, south, in this city and section, will leave early this week for Sherman, where the annual conference will be held.

While it is considered probable that both Dr. H. D. Knickerbocker and Dr. J. H. Groselock will be returned to their respective churches, there is no certainty about either. Members of both the First and Floral Heights congregations are hopeful that their present pastors will come back, but the services of both are being sought, it is known, by churches in other cities.

Dr. Knickerbocker, who has been here three years, is apparently in doubt as to his return, as the advertisement of his service for Sunday says it will be his last service—maybe. Of the two, he is considered less likely to be returned.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR WILL INITIATE 8 CANDIDATES NEXT THURSDAY NIGHT

Wichita Falls Commandery Knights Templar will commence work at their special confab next Thursday afternoon at 4 p. m. Eight candidates have signified their intention of being on hand to receive the Orders of the Temple and it is quite likely that the number will be greatly increased as the local commandery has a great many petitions on hand. It has only been a short time since the order was instituted by Grand Captain General W. G. Bell of Austin, who complimented them very highly on their work. At 8:30 p. m. a banquet will be served in the banquet hall.

Captain J. R. Stringer will have charge of opening the confab which will be done in full form. The special musical program will be in charge of Paul J. Von Altman. L. G. Hawkins, Past Grand Master, of Vernon, has been invited to attend the meeting.

Irrigated Cotton Makes Bale To Acre

Cotton, head-high, and producing a bale to the acre, can be raised under irrigation in this section, and above is the photographic evidence of it. The picture was taken on the irrigated farm of W. G. Jeter, on the lake road southwest of Wichita Falls. Mr. Jeter raised just a fraction under a bale to the acre this season. East of town, on the irrigated farm of J. P. McKinn, a slightly better showing was made, a full bale to the acre being raised. Both farmers used plenty of water during the growing season.

TOTAL OF $38,000 WILL BE ASKED IN CHARITIES BUDGET

REPRESENTATIVES AND DIRECTORS OF ORGANIZATIONS APPROVE FIGURES.

ORIGINAL AMOUNTS CONSIDERABLY REDUCED

Total is $3,000 Above Last Year's Figures; Campaign Set For Late November.

A total of $38,000 is asked in the budget approved by the committees for the United Charities for the coming year. This report was made Friday afternoon at a meeting of the board of directors and representatives of the organizations holding membership with the United Charities.

Although the approved budget is somewhat below that asked for in some cases, it is $2,000 above the budget for last year. The American Legion, not a member last year, comes in for $2,500 of that amount.

The budget for 1923 follows: Y. W. C. A., $1,700; Salvation Army, $3,000; Red Cross, $7,000; Boy Scouts, $3,500; Day Nursery, $1,500; Texas Children Home and Aid Society, $2,700; American Legion, $2,500; municipal welfare board, $1,400.

Plans for the drive, to begin November 19 are well under way but no definite announcements will be made until the arrival of the campaign manager who will have charge of the drive and handle the publicity.

APPORTIONMENT OF SCHOOL TAXES IS MADE BY DEATON

County Tax Assessor Irvin Deaton has completed the apportionment of taxes for the various school districts of the county. This required a great deal of work as all property rendered for taxes had to be segregated according to school districts and the amount of tax applied to the respective district.

According to the assessor's figures, the following amounts will be received by each school district provided all taxes are paid and none goes delinquent:
Burkburnett, $87,469.09; Iowa Park, $13,103.91; district 1, $1,401.97; district 2, $45,138; district 3, $873.28; district 4, $28,390; district 5, $1,281.62; district 6, $4,502.34; district 7, $681.48; district 8, $1,590.25; district 9, $15,907.94; district 10, $2,971.49; district 11, $1,376.82; district 12, $1,970.22; district 13, $1,524.16; district 14, $772.68; district 15, $450.74; district 16, $1,022.97; district 17, $768.25; district 18, $204.05; district 19, $1,991.38; district 20, $2,129.97; district 21, $8,254.98; district 22, $924.26; district 23, $2,412.21; district 24, $2,544.81; district 25, $2,266.52; district 26, $994.17; district 27, $274.58; district 28, $447.52; County Lane, $68.54; Archer County Lane, $94.22.

TAX COLLECTIONS LIGHT FOR WEEK 30 PAY POLL TAX

Tax collections by the county tax collector were light the past week and only thirty voters paid in their poll taxes for the coming year. The collection of redemption or delinquent taxes was greater than the 1922 total. The redemption tax collections amounted to $1,872.72, while the 1922 taxes collected amounted to $1,707.54.

The rolls are being completed for the irrigation tax and taxes will be received at any time at the irrigation district office on the tenth floor of the American National bank building. V. M. Cain is in charge of the collection and assessment of the water tax.

NO WORK DONE ON BURK-CLARA ROAD DURING PAST WEEK

During the past week no work was done on the paving of the Burkburnett-Clara road. Lack of stone and water forced Potts and Prantice, general road contractors, to close down all the machinery and permit it to be idle.

The water pump will be repaired and ready for action by Monday morning, it was stated, but with but two car loads of rock on hand it was evident that no work would be done during the coming week unless more shipments are received.

The railroad companies are unable to furnish open cars for the hauling of stone due to the order from Washington that all gondolas are to be used in the shipment of winter coal.

COLORADO RANCH HOUSES BURN IN BIG FOREST FIRE

DURANGO, COLO., Oct. 14.—Forest rangers and ranchers tonight fought desperately to bring under control fires raging in the Stoner and Beaver creek forests west of here. A call was issued for all available men in that section to join the fire fighters. Volunteers were rushed from Durango, Montrose and neighboring towns. Several ranch houses were destroyed. No reports of any casualties had been made here tonight. Continued dry weather has made the forests highly inflammable and the flames roared and crackled through acres of fine spruce while the fire fighters gave way slowly before their advance. Fire in the San Juan national forest, east of Durango, was brought under control today, after burning for three days. The fire, which was centered near Maroon. The town, however, is not in any danger, according to reports.

COLORADO FOREST FIRES BROUGHT UNDER CONTROL

DURANGO, COLO., Oct. 14.—Forest fires which raged through the Montezuma national forest today were brought under control tonight by forest rangers and volunteer fire fighters. One of the fires burned over 1,000 acres of timber and a second destroyed 200 acres. Several ranch houses were reported destroyed, but no one was hurt in the flames.

Artist Describes Lenine As Picture Of Physical Vigor

MOSCOW, Oct. 14.—Premier Lenine is described as a picture of physical vigor and alertness as he was sketched at his desk today by Oscar Cesare, New York artist. He appeared in splendid spirits, was particularly active physically, greatly interested in his work and seemingly ever busy. The artist said. He was busy every moment—answering the telephone, now and then calling a member himself, summoning secretaries, dictating and signing documents. There are no bells on Premier Lenine's telephone but instead a tiny incandescent bulb glows to attract his attention. The artist is the first American to talk to Lenine since his illness. When he entered the large dark blue room on the second floor of the Kremlin building, the soviet premier rose from his seat and stepped forward to greet him in English. The Russian chief, explaining that he was exceedingly busy, really did not have time to pose, invited Mr. Cesare to proceed with the sketches. Now and then Lenine interposed with several good natured remarks and questions but only once referred to America and then regarding a book on his desk. The book, "Fifteen Years of Leninism," he said, was sent to him from a friend in the United States. Mr. Cesare ventured the remark that the entire world was interested in Lenine's position of greatness. The soviet premier apparently pretended to resent this and said, "I am not great; look at me," pointing to an ordinary business coat and a dark soft collar. The American artist said that Lenine by his energetic manners at times reminded him of the physical alertness of the late President Roosevelt. Mr. Cesare came to Moscow two months ago and during most of that time devoted himself to arranging his appointment with Lenine.

Heavy Cancellation Of Passages on U.S. Ships Sailing 'Dry'

By United Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Heavy cancellation of passages on American ships sailing under new "dry" regulations were officially reported today as steamship companies mobilized legal forces to fight the Daugherty order. From half a dozen to 75 passengers cancelled reservations on each American ship that has sailed, owners and operators announced. Frank Munson, head of the Munson Steamship company, announced that 75 passages were cancelled on the shipping board liner Pan America which sailed today for Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires. Twenty-five passengers were cancelled on the President Roosevelt, which sailed for Europe with the smallest passenger list on record for a vessel of its type. "I agree with the president that we must have an amendment to the Volstead act," said Munson just before sailing for Brazil. "Things like this will lose for us the things we gained commercially after the war."

FOUR ARE SENTENCED TO TERMS IN PRISON FOR RATHENAU MURDER

LEIPZIG, GERMANY, Oct. 14.—Sentences up to 15 years penal servitude were imposed today on the men who have been on trial in the political court here on the charge of complicity in the murder of Walter Rathenau, late foreign minister. Ernest Tschow, who drove the murderer's motor car, received the maximum penalty, while his brother, Hans Tschow, was sentenced to four years as an accessory. William Guenther was sentenced to eight years for complicity in the murder and Karl Thillies to three years for "transgression of public order." The other defendants were sentenced to terms varying from two months to five years penal servitude.

SALVATION ARMY IS PROTESTING REMOVAL OF COMMANDER BOOTH FROM UNITED STATES TO LONDON

COMMANDER EVANGELINE C. BOOTH

By JOHN O'DONNELL, NEA Staff Writer. NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The Salvation Army of America will break cleanly from the English parent organization and establish itself as an absolutely independent unit with Evangeline C. Booth as commander-in-chief if the "insurgent officers" who number 90 per cent of the American Salvation Army are able to translate their present plans into action. This revolt is the result of the "brutal and arbitrary" order of General W. Bramwell Booth which he issued in London through the newspapers recalling his sister from the American command which she has held for 18 years. Only one obstacle hails the insurgents. That obstacle is the loyalty of Commander Booth to the tradition of discipline instilled by her father, the founder of the organization. Against this barrier is the pressure from "insurgent" within the organization and friends from without. "The spirit and blood of a soldier is in my veins," said Commander Booth. "I have never had a thought of doing anything other than obeying orders, even when they entail a sacrifice. The spirit and blood of a soldier is in my veins. There are no influences that could make me rebellious to discipline. Obedience to this order is the hardest thing I have ever had to do. But I shall go."

Beauty Parlors of Kansas Stage War On 'Face Scrapers'

TOPEKA, KANS., Oct. 14.—Topeka beauty parlor operators have organized to join in the state wide fight being made to keep the state barber board from imposing the same regulations on them that are imposed upon "face scrapers." War between the beauty parlor and the barber shops started in Kansas over the bobbing of hair. Barbers complained that if beauty parlors went into the hair cutting business, they should be required to take out state licenses and pass regular barber examinations. The barber board made an order requiring this and some of the beauty parlors have gone into court to enjoin the board. Others claim that the war of the barbers has not ceased even after they have quit bobbing hair. And so the women beautifiers propose to go before the next legislature and ask for a law preventing the barbers from interfering with their work. Mrs. D. A. Bickford, president of the Topeka Cosmeticians association, in discussing the situation tonight said: "The barbers said at first we should not be allowed to bob hair. So we stopped bobbing hair. But now they say we must not give any scalp or facial treatments. If we do not do something to end these restrictions soon there will be no work for us to do."

Discover Unique Way of Peddling Dope to Addicts

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, Oct. 14.—A downtown business house is under arrest and narcotic officers believe they have interrupted the operations of a dope ring that has supplied addicts of San Antonio by a novel plan. The boy, it is charged, without knowledge of anyone else in the business house piled the trade of selling dope while making his daily trips up and down the elevator. The supply of morphine, usually in small quantities, was scooped up near the roof of the building, it is alleged. An addict would meet the elevator boy on the first floor and give him the trade of selling dope where the addict would get off the elevator and wait for its return from the upper floor. This method was followed by Captain McDonald, narcotic agent said, in order that the addict might not learn where the drug was concealed. After the addict would enter the building, the drug would change hands.

CHICAGO PHYSICIANS DISCOVER UNIQUE CRIME IN FIRST KNOWN HUMAN GLAND THEFT IN HISTORY

By CHAS. R. LYNCH United Press Staff Correspondent CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Police and medical authorities combined tonight to solve the mystery of Chicago's gland theft—the first such case recorded in modern crime annals.

Feeling that an epidemic of gland piracy would follow the operation performed on Joseph Woseniak, husky war veteran, authorities made vigorous efforts to unscramble the strange case. Search for a companion of Woseniak, whom police believed may have suffered a similar fate, engaged the efforts of a corps of detectives and police. According to Woseniak, a second man, Leo Franchinski, accompanied him to the barroom where they were entertained by four men who later abducted him, he says, and chloroformed him. Lieutenant John Coughlin led a squad of police in a house to house canvass of the district where Franchinski lived after a woman had called at the police station and said her husband had been attacked in the same manner as Woseniak. Lieutenant Coughlin expressed the belief that the strange gland theft would probably be followed by an epidemic of such cases. "We may be confronted with the same situation that faced the authorities in China, 3000 years ago," he said. The Chinese at that time had learned to graft the thyroid gland in a rejuvenation operation and no healthy young man was safe on the streets. The weird case has created a sensation among the medical fraternity here who advanced various theories in explanation of the crime. Dr. A. S. Szemplinski, who is attending Woseniak, declared the operation was the work of an expert surgeon who was probably retained by some wealthy and aged patient with a desire for rejuvenation. Unable to purchase a gland for the operation, the doctor used the kidnapping method to accomplish his end. Doctors Miller and Crile, chief operating surgeons at the Neamarth hospital, also coincided in this theory. Dr. Victor Lespinasse, world renowned gland surgeon, who performed an operation on Harold F. McCormick, prior to his marriage to Ganda Walska, described the operation as the work of a lunatic. He said: "There are many men who have a perversion for gland operations. They are not doctors, but they have studied the process until they know more about it than 98 per cent of the physicians. Some of these persons could have performed the operation as skillfully as a physician. Woseniak tonight was resting easily, recovering at his home after leaving the hospital. # COWBOYS AND HORNED FROGS TIE IN ANNUAL CLASH

Sensational Work By Yeager Is Feature Of T. C. U.-Simmons Tilt

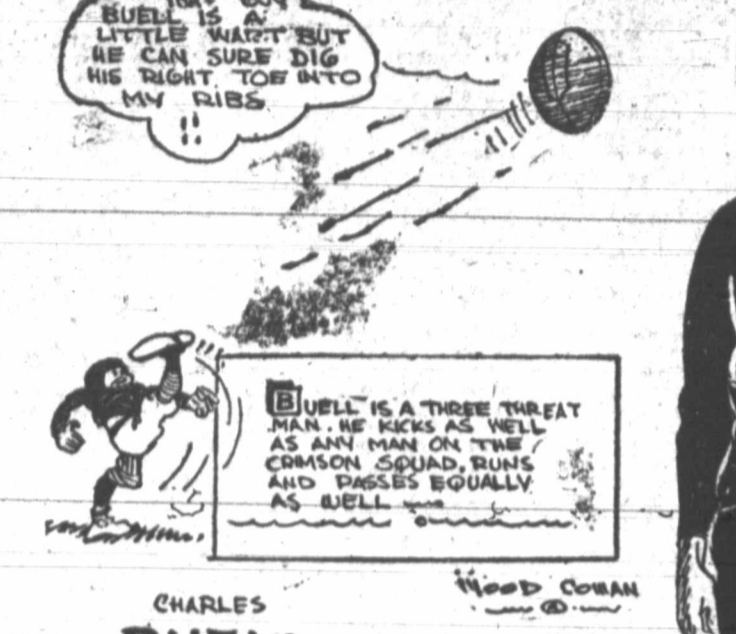

By PAUL W. LARKIN.

It's not early in the football season for upsets, but it is extremely doubtful if a bigger one will occur in the T. C. U. conference this season than that Saturday afternoon at Athletic park when the Simmons Cowboys held the much heralded T. C. U. Horned Frogs 6 to 7. In fact, it might better be said that the Horned Frogs held the Cowboys to the game, for the Simmons Cowboys were distributed throughout the game, but in the main, he allotted to the Abilene aggregation. The game was just as hard fought as any yet in the history of the college, and though the Frogs were rated at least two touchdowns better than the Cowboys before the game started, the Horned Frogs of glory must go to Coach Hays' charges.

The Frogs started off like a whirlwind and for a few moments it appeared as if they would trounce their opponents to pieces. A spectacular 45-yard run by Homer Adams through left tackle in the middle of the first period put the Frogs out in front. Adams easily the prettiest of the day and was made possible by a most skillful use of the straight arm through a broken field. Adams carried the ball to a beautiful drop kick for the point after touchdowns, but that was made easy for him as T. C. U. was concerned.

During the second and third periods the Cowboys outplayed the Frogs. Especially in the third quarter when they made three first downs. Two of these were by the screws, but the third resulted in a touchdown. The Cowboys elected to play a defensive game for the greater part of the fourth period. Simmons' offense was not so good as it had been in the first three quarters. The Frogs elected to play a defensive game for the greater part of the fourth period. Simmons' offense was not so good as it had been in the first three quarters.

BIG UNIVERSITY FOOTBALL CAPTAINS

CHARLES BUELL HARVARD CAPTAIN AND ONE OF THE SMARTEST QUARTERS IN THE GAME

Charles Buell, who will captain Harvard this season, was about the smartest quarterback in the game last year. It was his clever handwork in the struggle with Yale that brought victory to the Crimson. This type of quarterback fit in with the Harvard system.

Huntington, the Crimson coach, believes that no quarterback who is bumped, roughed and tripped upon after carrying the ball, is clear headed enough to handle and run a team to the best of his ability. His system requires a quick thinking brain whose job is to direct the team, think out the play and the man to execute it, he believes that the quarterback is 95 per cent a general who plans and 5 per cent a runner under him. This is the reason why in the past few years, Harvard has developed so scintillating star quarterbacks, before football became complicated with the forward pass that brought on the open game—in the days when a quarter was more like third half back the position developed the Eckersalls and the Hoppers and the Jones. But even then, their respective machines of eleven men were not so efficient as the modern coach can pretty well take care of and spike the guns of any one man on an opposing team.

West Triumphs Over East As Iowa Wins From Yale 6 to 0

By FRANK GETTY, United Press Staff Correspondent.

YALE BOWLE, NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 14.—Eleven inspired young Hawkeye warriors came out of the west today and tramped football tradition in the mud as they romped over Yale, defender of the prestige of the East, beating the Eli 6 to 0.

Before 46,000 spectators, the greatest mid-October crowd the vast Yale bowl has ever seen, the University of Iowa, defender of the Bulldogs at moments when it counted and scored a clean cut victory for the west, over the east in the one big intercollegiate game of the year.

At times the visitors played like demons. Yale seemed listless in comparison.

When the Yellow and Black tacklers got their hands on an Eli, the runner went down. Yale's attack was powerless until the very end of the game when the Eli's defense, hand, tackled loosely. Yale's left end was skinned frequently by quarterback Parkin, who did most of the running for the Hawkeyes.

Only Malloy, Eli fullback, stood out in the crisis. Time after time his sure hands brought down the Hawkeye backs who had lunged through. As expected, Captain Locke proved a tower of strength, his run was fully as terrific as the hand, tackled loosely. Yale's left end was skinned frequently by quarterback Parkin, who did most of the running for the Hawkeyes.

S. M. U. ROUTS S. U. HERIETTA SWAMPS

Wonderful Interference By Texans Responsible For Overwhelming Victory.

DALLAS, TEXAS, Oct. 14.—The Southern Methodist university Mustangs routed the Louisiana State Tigers today, and the final score was 21 to 0.

While the Mustangs' overwhelming victory was due to the long runs of their backs, these runs were made possible only by the perfect interference of the Mustangs' line. The first whistle until the close of the game the Mustangs were pulling long runs and flashing plays. It seemed like there was no effort, we could back galloping down the field like his team pants bowed over would-be Tiger tacklers. An instance of their determination and perfect teamwork is illustrated by Rowson (substitute) running ninety yards for touchdowns on the play following his seventy-five yard run which was declared illegal because of Mustang holding.

Aerial Attack Fails to Win For Oklahoma in First Conference Game.

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Oct. 14.—Oklahoma A. and M. football team lost its first Southwestern conference game to Texas university here today. The final score stood: Texas 19, Oklahoma 7. The game was a hard fought contest throughout.

BAYLOR BEARS WIN EASILY FROM RICE

Owls Unable to Penetrate First Line Defense and Lose 13 to 0.

HOUSTON, Oct. 14.—Outplayed, but not outgotten, Rice institute went down to defeat at the hands of Coach Frank Bridges' Baylor Bears on Rice field here this afternoon by a score of 13 to 0.

The wanted Bear line proved a stone wall to Arkansas' light, shifty team and the majority of the Rice gains were made by forward passes. Time and again the Owl backs hit the Baylor line, but were stopped for about gains.

Baylor resorted to straight football throughout the greater part of the game. The backs with an occasional end run or pass was the system Bridges used. Haddock, playing left half, repeatedly hitred the ends for large gains. Bradshaw, all southwestern quarter last year, made the first touchdowns on a 25-yard end run.

THREE MOTIONS TO DISMISS APPEAL IN THE PEDDY CONTEST

DALLAS, Oct. 14.—Three motions to dismiss the appeal from the order of the district court at Corsicana temporarily restraining Secretary of State Staples from placing Earl B. Mayfield's name on the general election ballot were filed in the fifth court of civil appeals here today.

The motions to dismiss the appeal were filed by attorneys for the petitioners for the Corsicana temporary injunction, namely, Luther Nickels and W. W. Hime of Dallas, and J. E. Callout of Corsicana, for C. E. King, P. C. Short and L. E. McCrete, the original petitioners.

The motions to dismiss the appeal give three chief reasons, which are: 1.—That the bonds filed by the appellants are insufficient.

2.—That it is not the duty of the secretary of state under the law to certify a nomination and that the acts threatened by the secretary of state are "acts of usurpation" and are in violation of any law.

3.—That the appeal is premature in that the temporary injunction of which complaint is made will expire upon final hearing October 18, one day before the appeal is set for hearing.

LABOR SECRETARY FAVORS ABOLISHING RAIL LABOR BOARD

ATLANTA, OHIO, Oct. 13.—Secretary of Labor Davis in a speech here tonight advocated the abolition of the railroad labor board which he referred to as "a quasi-governmental, partisan institution."

The labor secretary said the railroad labor board had "demonstrated that it is incapable of fulfilling the high hopes of those who proposed and supported it as a means of industrial peace on the railroads."

He added that another system of settling railroad labor disputes should be adopted to leave employers and employees "to thrash out their differences free from the hope of the fact that meddling quasi officials would interfere to cast a little influence in the balance in favor of one side or the other."

Mr. Davis cited experiences during the rail strike last summer and cases pending before the board at present as a reason for attacking its functioning.

The board, he declared, was "still struggling with issues raised in the shop craft strike, through more than 90 out of 111 railroads on their own initiative have reached satisfactory agreements with their employees."

STATE BANKS SHOW PROSPERITY IS FAST RETURNING IN STATE

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Oct. 14.—Rapid return of prosperity to Texas was indicated here today with the issuance by the state department of insurance and banking of one of the most optimistic reports since the world war.

The banks of the state increased their resources $26,000,000 during the period from June 30, to September 15, the report shows.

The total increase in cash and exchange during the period was $25,000,000, according to the report, which was based on the condition of the state banks as of September 15.

Another remarkable gain, shown by the report was that in individual deposits $28,000,000. All deposits increased approximately $31,000,000.

Only six state banks discontinued business during the period, one of which was a failure. This latter was a small bank the report declared.

Debits of borrowed money were reduced $4,000,000, more than 20 per cent.

Other liabilities show a reduction of $200,000.

U. S. MAY RECALL TROOPS ON RHINE; NOT YET DECIDED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—There were indications today in government circles that a project for complete withdrawal of American troops from the Rhine was again considered, but that no decision was expected for several days.

No authorized statement as to the reasons prompting renewed discussion of the subject at this time was available.

Ambassador Houghton at Berlin has asked American ministers in the various central European states to meet in conference in Berlin next week and invited Major General Allen, commander of the American forces in Germany, to be present.

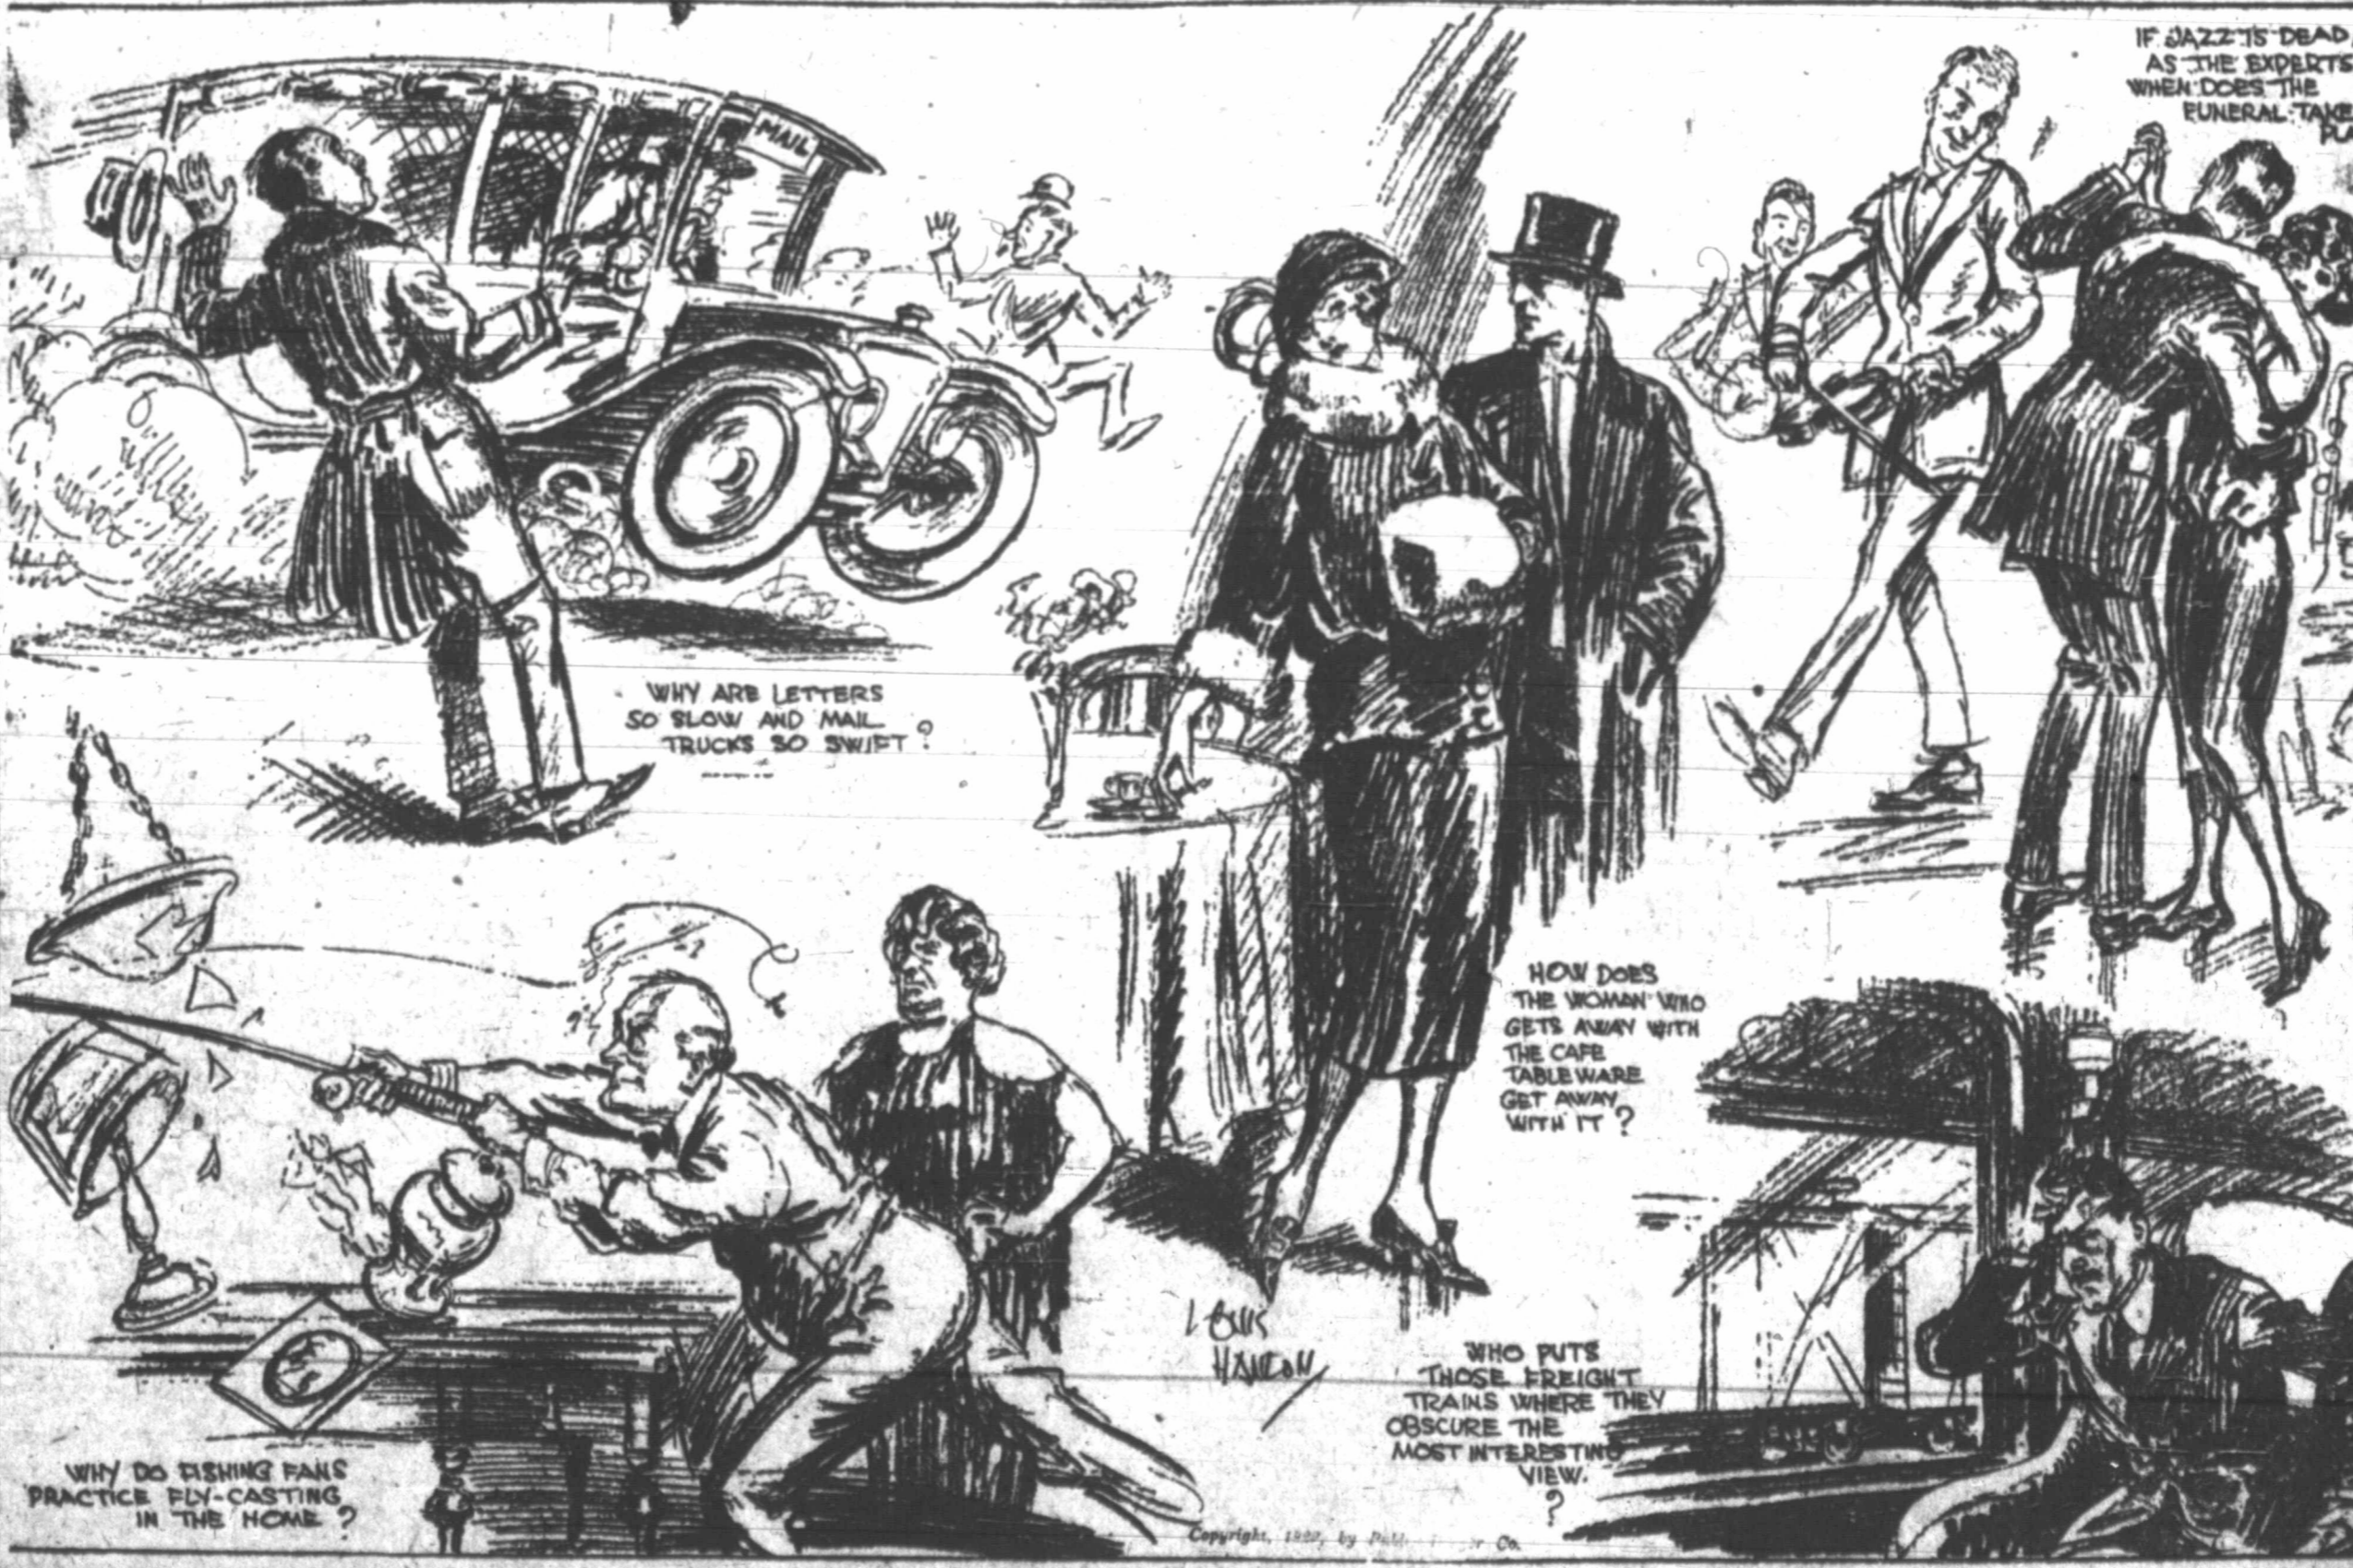

The announced purpose of the conference is to permit William R. Castle, Jr., chief of the western European division of the state department to get in touch with the ministers and jointly discuss problems of American relations, but it appears possible that the possibility of withdrawal from the Rhine may also be considered.

The United States now has about 1,000 officers and men in the occupied area.

MANY COMPLETIONS IN PROVEN FIELDS DURING PAST WEEK

IMPORTANT EXTENSION RECORDED IN EAST ELECTRA TERRITORY.

MAGNOLIA DEAL IS CHIEF DEVELOPMENT

Increased Activity Shown in Both Burkburnett and Archer County Pools.

Outside of the completion of a few wells in the proven areas and the sale of the Harvey-Cullum interests to the Magnolia company no important developments were reported from the north and central Texas district for the week.

Production showed a small gain for the entire district, an average of 134,500 barrels being maintained.

Electra and Burkburnett showed the larger increases, with a few exceptions all other fields reported small losses.

The only development of note in the Wichita county section was the encountering of the new sand at 1,225 feet by the Camp Oil and Gas company on their Douglas lease east of Electra, which extends this way to the northeast nearly a mile.

Latest reports give this producer from 150 to 200 barrels. Several completions were also made in the shallow sands with from 15 to 30 barrels production. With the supply of water getting more plentiful, drilling has been resumed on a number of tests in the south pool.

Other completions during the week in this field included Hobbs No. 20 good for 120 barrels, No. 17 and 72 with a total of 40 barrels, all from the 1,800 foot sand; on the Douglas tract Cap McDaniel is reported completing his No. 3 and for 120 barrels from the 1,810 foot sand.

In the Fowler district the Sooner Oil company completed their No. 4 on the T. W. Roberts land in the sand at 1,810 feet for 40 barrels.

In section 15 of Carter and Carter Jim Fisher has picked up a sand at 1,530 feet in his No. 1 and is swabbing around 100 barrels. This well is located about two miles from the Jennings 1,900 foot sand. This part of the field has been showing very little activity but the finding of this sand will stimulate drilling in this direction from the main pool.

The Burkburnett section, which has been quiet as far as actual drilling is concerned for the past year, has taken on new life with a number of tests going down. The Magnolia last week completed No. 11 well on the Anderson tract for 90 barrels from the sand at 1,510 feet and the same company is moving in a rotary for No. 12 W. M. Priddy, and others are setting casing on the sand at 1,516 feet with 50 feet of oil in the hole in their well. The C. Birk tract, Dale and associates have been drilling in the Hirsch land further west and have reached 400 feet. Baldwin Brothers on the Kennedy land are testing out a shallow sand at 400 feet showing considerable oil.

In the shallow fields drilling is going on in nearly all leases. Two wells were finished in the 1,500 and 1,600 foot sands.

Archer Gets Completions. Archer county has 11 wells drilling. Two completions were reported for the week, one by the Texas company on the Chance tract, No. 3, which is good for 140 barrels from the usual 1,600 foot depth, the other by the White Oil corporation No. 1 on the Kemp-Kemper tract just north of the Ferguson tract in what is known as the Fremont-Hampton pool. The top of the sand was hit at 1,125 feet and the well is reported swabbing and flowing by heads at the rate of 150 barrels. The Dillard-Knight well on the Ferguson land was completed early this week and is still making 110 barrels. Offsets by the Freeman company have been made to the Dillard well. The Taylor tract in the Texas area the Kentucky Oil company is resetting casing on the oil sand at 1,660 feet and has a rig up for to put down the sixth test on this tract. Life and others are drilling at 890 feet in the W. S. Andrews farm. Looney and Loper are drilling their No. 1 on the Carle Wilson ranch and have reached the depth of 1,100 feet. The Swastika company is drilling at 1,600 feet on the Richardson land.

The Texoma company's No. 23 S. M. Gose is on the pump making 125 barrels. The same company is rigging up a rotary and preparing to drill in their No. 29 Gose. The Derrick has been erected for their No. 20 on this valuable and productive lease.

Unable to shut off the water in their No. 1 Tad Wilson, this company after showing up a rich sand at 1,600 feet is reported pulling casing to abandon. No. 2 is still producing 50 barrels. This company's No. 1 Lyles is swabbling around 1,400 feet. Water shortage is still felt by a number of tests in the semi-wildcat sections of the county but with the first good rains a resumption of drilling is expected to take place on at least 10 tests.

This county is gradually increasing its production week after week and at the present time is producing nearly 1,000 barrels of high grade oil from the various producing leases.

Roxana Gets Good Well

The best well for the week in Young county was brought in by the Roxana corporation, being No. 1 on the Whitesburg tract. It is reported making 800 barrels from the sand at 3700 feet. This is an offset to the north of the Gulf Production company's original Carmack well. The Sun company's "Mittlenburg" well, located about 500 feet west of the Carmack well, which was completed last week, is good for 500 barrels from the sand at 2850 feet.

Unlike most other counties in the district Young is showing no let-up in drilling operations, from the Herron pool to the south end, nor from Dunger to the Roark section.

On the Askew lease the Gulf's No. 3 is drilling at 2475 feet, and the same company's No. 2 Grantham is down to 3895. On the Hall tract, Halmack No. 1 is drilling deeper and is down to 4220 feet.

The Konaaha, No. 1 Stonewall, is drilling at 2445 feet, and the Leader Oil company's No. 1 Jarnigan in the Henry Chapel district has reached 2250 feet.

Two tests are being drilled by the Monroe Production company; one on the Graham Stewart has reached 2100 feet and the No. 1 Jefferys is drilling around 2450. The No. 2 test of Nash-Windfohr on the Williams tract is drilling at 2100. The Penn Cities company's No. 2 Herron pool to the south end field is down to 2565 feet and Prairie, No. 1 Storm, is down to 2880 feet.

On the Loving farm the Hall Oil company No. 1 is drilling at 2410 feet. Anderson-Erwin-Kimbrough, No. 1 Storm, is drilling at 1200 feet; Duquesne Oil company's No. 1 Williams is drilling at a depth of 2100 feet, and Elk Basin, No. 11 Driver, has reached 1390 feet. In the vicinity of the Roark well the Texas company is drilling Nos. 2 and 3 wells, the former is down to 2315 feet and the latter at 1500.

In the South Bend field a number of tests are drilling and some of the older wells that fell off in production are being drilled to deeper sands. The Roxana and North American companies are at present showing the greatest amount of activity, North American No. 13 Booth is drilling around 1,696 feet, while the Roxana Petroleum company is drilling at 900 feet in their No. 3 test on the Booser tract. Production for the county fell off slightly during the past week; the daily average for the entire county shows 10,440 barrels. Eastland County Outlook.

With the exception of a few completions in the proven areas of the Pioneer field and the territory surrounding the city of Eastland, nothing new occurred in the Eastland pool last week. A number of the bigger companies abandoned part of their projected drilling campaigns and will not resume operations until the market for crude takes an upward trend. A number of locations have been made in the corporate limits of the city, and Balfour & Mearley, who finished their 100 barrel producer in the latter addition, have spudded in a test on the Young land in the northwest part of the city. Despite the general shutdown, over 40 tests are drilling within a radius of five miles in all directions from Eastland.

W. T. White, superintendent of the Fairview school district, sent word that there were 210 boys within the scout age at that school, and Chester Powell, scout executive, is to organize five troops there.

Since the organization of Troop 5 in September, all the boys have advanced one grade. The troop is led by Scoutmaster Jess McHenry. Troop 13, under the leadership of Scoutmaster J. S. Clements is rapidly increasing in number and is expected to have the full number of 22 boys in the troop soon. Troop 16, of the factory district, with C. E. Russell as scoutmaster, is advancing in the work, and are rapidly becoming one of the leading troops in the city. Troops 4 and 11 are in large numbers.

Ducks are reported fairly plentiful in this section, considering the weather. The first real norther of the season is expected to bring them in large numbers.

Duck shooting from motor boats, once a popular sport in this vicinity, is now prohibited by law.

DAM EMBANKMENT NOW 25 FEET HIGH, GROWING STEADILY

DREDGE CONTINUES TO PILE DIRT UP AT VERY SATISFACTORY RATE.

DRY WEATHER MAY RESULT IN SOME DELAY

Two More Power Shovels Now in Operation at Site of Diversion Reservoir.

An earthen wall 25 feet high has been created at the site of the storage dam by the operations of the dredge, the embankment now being up to the top of the steel piling. The dredge has been "bitting on all twelve" for the past few weeks, and has been performing in a highly satisfactory manner. There is some prospect of interruption if it does not rain soon, as the supply of water is getting low.

At the site of the spillway, rapid progress is being made on excavation work. The diversion damsite presents a much busier scene now, as two more power shovels are now in operation there and dirt is being moved for the dam embankment at a steady rate.

Work on the various concrete structures is being resumed and that phase of the work will be largely completed before a cold weather.

Old Fashioned Concert, Two Good Movies, Pre-Nuptial Parties, and Club Meetings Will Feature Week

With Helen Fouts Cahoon, of Chicago, to sing soprano solos, Ivan Murchison the tenor, the excellently trained voices in the First Baptist church to assist, with the splendid support of Mrs. Colliard at the organ, and Stanley Raub, violinist, the old-fashioned concert which Vaughn Ray has worked up for Thursday evening at the First Baptist church will be about the feature entertainment and social event of this week.

The concert, which may be made an annual feature at the First Baptist, promises to be one of the most unusual and attractive musical events of the winter, due to the exceptional musical talent which the city boasts. There is to be no admission charge, but a free will offering to defray expenses and apply on the pipe organ fund will be taken.

FASHIONS

By LENORA

One of the prettiest dresses for the young girls shown at Jenny's was a frock of caramel-colored pleated panels—five of them for the skirt, hanging straight and loose, from the waistline to the knees, kept in place by a three-inch band of satin at the back of each panel. The bodice, long and full, was a little more fitted, with a row of satin down the back and was edged with satin, completed the delightfully simple and novel way of finishing the dress and waistline was accomplished by the use of the same material slightly shirred in vertical rows at narrow intervals.

There is no perceptible change in the length of skirts. The frock described has about eight inches from the floor, considerably more comfortable than the ankle-length fashions that were predicted for this season.

HIGH AND JUNIOR COLLEGE MOTHERS' COUNCIL MEET

The High School and Junior College Mothers' council, an organization comprised of the mothers of the family of the High School Mothers' council retained, heard a splendid and inspirational program at the meeting, which was held at the high school.

The principal feature of the program was Mr. Porter's talk on the present and future of the schools, in which he emphasized the need for a dean of women and girls' counselor. Following up this address, the mothers discussed at some length by the council, which had a good attendance of mothers present.

Mrs. Homer McGrager, president of the council, made a talk on the privilege of the mothers' council to cooperate with and establish high ideals for the school body. Her talk was very sincerely appreciated.

Rev. Dr. Grosscup led the devotional with a very interesting discussion of the development of God's name.

In Mr. Porter's talk he also stressed the fact that there should be less dissipation of the student's energy and interest in evening entertainment, and that the mothers should interest themselves in the wholesome recreation provided for the students.

Partly as a result of Mr. Porter's suggestions, Mrs. Bernard Martin was appointed sponsor of athletic games.

The mothers also decided to ask the children to bring the athletic association dime bags to school on Friday, October 15, when a prize of $10 will be given for the most dime bags. They voted to secure money for the installation of seats on the campus.

During the business session the council decided to change the time of meeting to the second Thursday in each month.

FIDELITY BRIDGE CLUB ENTERTAINED FRIDAY

The Fidelity Bridge club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. W. M. Gambill at her home on Denver. The house was attractively decorated in Halloween colors. In the games, Mrs. L. E. Stewart won high score and was remembered with a sterling pickle fork. Mrs. O. W. Wilson won the cut price.

Mrs. Gambill served a dainty refreshment plate of salad and dessert to the following: Mesdames F. O. Oyster, O. W. Wilson, J. C. O'Connell, A. W. West, W. C. Wither, L. A. Davis, Robert Hamilton, L. E. Stewart, A. M. Lewis, L. E. Stewart, and W. W. Shuler.

The club will meet with Mrs. C. P. Parks, 2405 Ninth, this week.

SOUTHSIDE BAPTIST CHURCH AUXILIARY MET THURSDAY

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Southside Baptist church met Thursday afternoon and held a prayer service with their regular Bible lesson, the former in the interest of the Baptist $75,000,000 campaign. The auxiliary meets the coming Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. T. Roark, 1811 Holliday.

TWO BEAUTIFUL BABIES

Mary and Martha (excuse us if it should be Martha and Mary) are the beautiful twin girls in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Clark. Both babies were among the 100 per cent entrants at the Texas-Oklahoma fair.

PENWOMEN ENJOY INTERESTING MEET FRIDAY AFTERNOON

The Penwomen enjoyed an especially interesting meeting Friday afternoon at Kemp library, when they took up, following a brief business meeting, the study of the short story and discussion of its present place in literature.

During the business session Mrs. Frances McCormick, chairman of the program committee, made a report on the year book, which was approved and adopted and the books ordered printed; Mrs. Eugene Shepherd, membership chairman, reported two new applications, who were voted into the club—Mesdames W. H. Sanford and T. R. Tachibana. Mrs. secretary was instructed to convey to Mrs. Wayne Somerville, a member who recently lost her home, the sympathy and support of the club.

Roll call was answered with original verse, all of which was unusually good and elicited much laughter. Mrs. Marie Engle Johnson discussed the "Rime of the Ancient Mariner" and "The Present Place and Power," each paper being followed by round table discussion.

Those who were present included Mesdames: Mrs. W. C. Corlett, Alfred Miller, S. M. Goss Jr., Leslie Stringer, P. S. Johnson, C. T. Hoak, W. A. McVie, McCormick, J. C. Lerney, J. H. Abbott, Eugene Sherrod, J. M. F. Gill and Homer Talbot of Burburnett, and H. F. Weidner and Miss Katharine Hendrick.

ELITE 500 CLUB WITH MRS. BENTLEY FRIDAY

The Elite 500 club met with Mrs. W. G. Bentley Friday afternoon and several pleasant hours were spent at the game. Mrs. J. H. Sides won the club prize and Mrs. Hollins the consolation, and late in the afternoon the hostess served a salad course to the following members and guests: Mesdames Clarence Lodge, T. O. Shappell, J. O. Quinn, Frederick Woolsey, P. J. Peavey, J. H. Sides, T. R. Tachibana, and McCumber, and Roy Miller, Hollins and Mansbury, guests.

The club meets this Friday with Mrs. Dodge at her home, 1210 Taylor.

TRAVEL CLUB HONORS PRESIDENT, MRS. HAMLIN AT FIRST SOCIAL MEET

Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin, who enters her second year as president of the Travel club this fall, and who has been one of the strongest workers with the club since its organization some years ago, was especially honored at the meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leslie Humphrey.

The house was beautifully decorated for the social meeting, with the club colors emphasized and vases and pots of old flowers, ferns, and greenery used. Mrs. Humphrey was assisted in entertaining by Mesdames E. G. West, G. S. Shapard, and Guy Rogers, and in the entertainment the hostesses carried out the idea of the club very attractively by devising a dinner through which to honor the president, "personally conducted" by Mrs. O'Neal.

Another interesting feature for the members was the history of the club from the day of its organization to the present, given by Mrs. C. N. Alexander.

Later, in a Chinese setting of brightly colored lanterns, original music and picturesque Chinese melodies, the president was led to a place of honor by two of the maidens, Mrs. Glenn Williams and Miss Mary Hamilton, after which she was toasted in original verse by Mrs. Rogers. Upon the presentation itself, Mrs. Hamlin then accepted the bouquet of roses she made a very graceful reply, speaking of her pleasure and interest in the club.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames C. N. Alexander, Ben G. O'Neal, James Hamilton, Walter Hoffman, T. A. Wicks, W. B. McLean, Walter Fryer, Guy Rogers, G. L. Shapard, H. O. Craven, Glenn Williams of Stillwater, Misses Mary Hamilton and Potter.

HONORARY CLUB THURSDAY MEETS WITH MRS. HENDRICK

The Honorary club met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. O. P. Hendrick at her home, 1210 Taylor, for business session as a prelude to the social afternoon. During this session Mrs. Hendrick was elected president of the club.

The hostess had arranged three tables for bridge, and Mrs. W. F. Richardson won high score and received a pretty novelty recipe file.

Mrs. T. Kelly was consulted for help with work baskets. Mrs. Marie Reed and refreshments of fruit salad, cake and coffee to Mesdames Fred James, E. R. Stewart, Fred Goss, W. H. Richardson, A. W. West, W. H. Shuler and T. Kelly.

The club meets next time (next week) with Mrs. W. L. Wilson.

HAVE TO TURN PATRONS AWAY, SAN JACINTO MOVIE

Between 250 and 400 patrons and children saw the Friday night movie at the San Jacinto auditorium. The gathering of the patrons and children showed how badly a new school building is needed in the San Jacinto district.

The movie is a weekly Friday night entertainment in the school building, and an excellent medium for raising funds as well as patronage. The movie is a weekly Friday night entertainment in the school building, and an excellent medium for raising funds as well as patronage.

DIRECTOR COMMUNITY THEATER

Mrs. E. L. Fulton directed the fortunes of the Wichita Falls Community Theater last season in the successful presentation of several splendid entertainments.

The winter's program of the Little Theater folks has not been made public, but with the exceptionally fortunate beginning made last year, they will probably have no trouble gaining the interest of the Wichita Falls theatergoers.

KATHLEEN NORRIS Woman to Woman Talks

TO THE MANY WOMEN WHO LONG TO WRITE

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"Do you think literature courses at college would help me as a writer? The start is all that worries me, because I know that after that I can manage without any further help."

"The truth is that we writers, more than any other professional persons, have to sell under sealed orders for the first hard years of our work."

"The first—then second—the third and fourth and fifth stories nobody will have on any terms. The very daily papers decline to fill Sunday space with them. And the sixth story makes your name a household word from coast to coast."

"When you lay down your magazine and say, 'Goodness, what rubbish they publish!' you are only expressing a simple truth. The editors know it as well as we do."

"Write every day and have confidence in your work. Pay no attention to what other persons do or think. Write what you know, the simpler the better. Be human, be like, and last, and best, and all the time, remember that the way to begin to write is simply to begin to write."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS FOG DELAYS TWINS' RACE BACK TO FAIRYLAND

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

He headed the Green Wizard and the Sweep and the soot.

The Green Wizard knocked through the door of the chimney where the Sweep lived, and the Sweep stuck up his head at once.

"I'll have a bucket of ashes and a can of soot, if you please," said the Green Wizard. "Sweep and Soot are stuck in a ditch beside the road and can't get out."

He returned in no time at all and handed the Green Wizard the ashes and the soot.

Back went the Wizard over the rooftops to the place where the Sweep lived, and the Sweep stuck up his head at once.

"Now then," said he, "turn the knob on the whirligig and say your charm, my deary."

"There's no more mud, so please begone!"

Instantly the little car chugged out of the gutter and rattled away down the road toward Fairyland.

"I was so glad to see you," said the Green Wizard. "I was so glad to see you."

"I was so glad to see you," said the Green Wizard. "I was so glad to see you."

Conspicuous nose pores grow larger if neglected

You can reduce conspicuous nose pores by using this treatment every night: Wring a soft cloth from very hot water, lather it with Woodbury's Facial Soap, then hold it to your face.

When the heat has expanded the pores, rub in very gently a fresh lather of Woodbury's.

Repeat this hot water and lather application several times, sleeping at once if your nose feels sensitive.

Finish by rubbing the nose for thirty seconds with a piece of ice.

WOODBURY'S FACIAL SOAP

Take It In Time!

Do you know that by far the larger number of the common ailments of women are not surgical ones; that is they are not caused by any serious displacement, tumor, growth, or other marked change? Do you know that these common ailments produce symptoms that are very much like those caused by the more serious surgical conditions? Do you know that many women and young girls suffer needlessly from such ailments? More than that, they endanger their health by allowing their ailments to continue and develop into something serious.

If treated early, that is, within a reasonable time after the first warning symptoms appear, serious conditions may often be averted. Therefore, at the first appearance of such symptoms as periodic pains, irregularities, irritability and nervousness, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken. It is prepared with accuracy and cleanliness from medicinal plants. It contains no narcotics nor poisonous drugs, and can be taken with perfect safety. The Vegetable Compound acts on the conditions which bring about these symptoms in a gentle and efficient manner. The persistent use of it shows itself in the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms. In a word, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound acts as a natural restorative, relieving the present distress and preventing more serious trouble.

Why not give a fair trial to this medicine? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. LYNN, MASS.

$40,000 BALANCE IN RURAL SCHOOL FUND AS SESSION STARTS

LESS THAN LAST YEAR OWING TO SOME NEW BUILDINGS.

TEACHERS PAY ROLL TOTALS NEARLY $80,000

Over $25,000 Spent in Improvement of School Buildings and Grounds.

The rural schools of Wichita county began the 1922-23 school term with a balance brought forward of approximately $40,000. This amount is $5,000 less than the year before but during the summer several new buildings were erected and one was still in the course of construction.

County Treasurer E. W. McMan completed the long and tedious task of posting the various items of expenditure during the last year of school and struck a balance. Fortunately for him, after nearly three weeks of posting he discovered that his various items balanced to the penny.

During the school year of 1921-22 the following moneys were received for school purposes:

Balance Brt. Fwd.	$48,012.86
State apportionment	$1,458.72
Local taxes	$1,458.72
Other sources	7,679.97
Total	$58,410.27

Disbursements were made as follows:

Teachers salaries	$78,052.50
County Supt.'s salary	2,789.49
Taking census	102.79
Custodian fees	71.06
Independent districts	342.00
Transfer	221.52
School grounds and buildings	$8,812.64
Furniture and supplies	4,238.00
Stationery	5,952.10
Assessing taxes	567.83
All other purposes	4,701.12
Total	$132,622.00

Because of the prevailing tad for bobbed hair, Leominster, an important center of the comb and hairpin industry, has been hard hit.

THE EVERYDAY SALT REACHES YOUR TABLE BY PROCESSES THAT ARE INTERESTING AND INTRICATE

By FRANK R. REID
Not long since, the writer had occasion to meet and talk with a prominent salesman connected with one of the largest salt companies in the United States, and during the conversation some interesting things were stated by the writer's informant, a man who had spent many years in salesmanship in his particular line and who was thoroughly familiar with every phase of the salt industry.

The salt industry, he told me, was one of the greatest industries in the world—of wonderful proportions, so much so that the salt manufacturers throughout the United States were unable to begin to supply the demands for salt in the many ways in which it is used. He told me that of late a great deal of salt was being used in laundries and in cleaning establishments, and this phase of the salt industry was assuming vast proportions. He also told me that the man who does nothing but visit file manufacturing establishments, since it seems that it is used extensively in the manufacture of the file.

In spite of the fact, he said, the salt industry being one of "immense proportions" yet more people complained about the price of a package of salt, than almost any one thing, and yet the price of salt has not advanced in many years. If any added cost has come, it has been no addition to the original cost of the salt at the factory, but to excessive freight rates that are added. He told me that he could still furnish salt at $1.50 per barrel, but that the price of salt in the community was governed by the freight and hauling charges that were added to this $1.50 per barrel. In other words the price of $1.50 per barrel for salt at the factory has remained the same for many years past.

The company he represents is situated in the rich salt beds of Michigan, and is one of the oldest in the United States. The factory is located on a 16 acre tract of land, adjacent to its wells. The machinery in the plant represents an investment of $500,000, of which a large part represents investment in carrying machinery, doing away with much hand labor. Since salt is obtained through many processes of refining, much as sugar does, a big outlay of machinery is required.

Adjacent to the factory buildings, three salt wells are producing all the salt the company makes. He told me that these salt wells are drilled with a hole as deep as 150 feet, and at a certain temperature, driving off the water, leaving the salt residue at the bottom of these wells.

Depending upon the nature to which salt is used, it is treated accordingly, and so fine is the machinery that much of the salt for table use can be pulverized until it is as fine as dust. For table use, the salt is boxed in packages, as caskets, much as sugar is boxed.

Salt wells, he told me, vary in chemical composition and it depends greatly upon the nature of the chemical composition, how it can be used. The large packing houses require salt of certain chemical composition, and so salt has to be chemically treated accordingly. Salt wells produce almost indefinitely. My informant told me that one well had been producing brine for the past 54 years and still producing heavily. They do not know the depth of this well. They still pump water into it under high pressure, and repump the salt brine back into the vats for settling, and

WARNING ISSUED AS TO DRINKING OF JAMAICA GINGER

"JAKE" MORE POPULAR NOW, DUE TO DANGERS OF CORN PRODUCTS.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY PROMISES PROSECUTION

Calls Attention to Provisions of Law; Reported $5,000 Worth Sold in One Town.

A traveling salesman whisked into a small oil town within the jurisdiction of the 39th district court last week and then breezed out again, a short time later, after visiting two druggists, with approximately $5,000 worth of goods in his pockets for Jamaica ginger. This information found its way into the office of the district attorney and an investigation followed.

The investigation revealed that the report was true and the investigator further found in the course of his inquiries that in practically every section of the district good whiskey is to be found only in the more palatial residences and that corn liquor is getting extremely scarce everywhere.

The scarcity of corn, it is said, is due to two causes. One is that the manufacturer has discovered that it is a big risk to set up a still and permit the fumes to pervade the surrounding country and secondly that the purchaser has begun to look with a suspicious eye on all corn liquors because too much of it had been cooked in vessels other than copper.

The official investigator also discovered that Jamaica ginger is taking the place of corn liquor and that fully 75 per cent of the drinks now arrested here, imbibed freely of the so-called Jake.

The government attempted to stop the sale of this liquid six months ago when it issued an order that all Jamaica ginger sold for medicinal purposes should contain a double strength of ginger. It was thought that this would stop the sale of it for beverage purposes, but the purchasers have discovered that by a simple method a large percentage of the ginger can be removed.

In connection with this reported traffic of Jamaica ginger, District Attorney Walter F. Schenck has issued the following statement:

"It has come to the knowledge of the district attorney's department that quite a good deal of the drunkenness complained of, arises from the use of certain drugs, or proposed drugs, that can be used as medicine or as a beverage.

It seems that such medicines or beverages are being sold by various places of business all over the district, and likely no attention is being paid as to whether or not the proposed purchaser anticipates using it as medicine or as a beverage.

In most instances it is reported that such liquors contain from 15 to 75 per cent alcohol. All persons engaged in selling such articles must hereafter sell the same at their own risk, as the law is very specific in regard to the sale of intoxicating liquors.

"Any persons caught in a state of intoxication and brought before this department will be interrogated fully as to the cause of such intoxication and the person or persons selling the liquor. We are very anxious that all law-abiding citizens be protected but are compelled to do our duty and we ask all law respecting citizens of this district to aid us in the full enforcement of all laws on the statute book."

Lavish Scenes in 'Manslaughter' At Olympic Theater

The most lavish scene since "Jean the Woman!" That's what is said of the Roman bacchanal recently staged by Cecil B. DeMille for his latest Paramount production of "Manslaughter." Several years ago the same producer gave to the screen his classic tale of the Maid of Orleans. At that time thousands of "extras" clad in the picturesque costumes of the period, were to be seen daily around the studio and on the massive sets created for that picture. Since that date there have been many huge scenes filmed at the West Coast home of Paramount pictures. Hundreds and even thousands of people have worked simultaneously before the cameras. But it remained for Cecil B. DeMille to again set a new mark for sheer, spectacular splendor. And he did it with the Roman scenes in "Manslaughter."

The episode, which is used to point a powerful moral, shows Rome just before the fall—pagan Rome with all of its licentiousness and debauched beauty. At the height of the revel—the guests, the dancers and the guards slumber in drunken stupor—the barbarian hordes storm the gates and pillage, burn and destroy everything in their path.

Leatrice Joy in the role of the patrician hostess of this bacchanal and Thomas Meighan as the leader of the barbarians have the principal roles in this epic with Louis Wilson, they have in the major portion of the actual story of "Manslaughter."

Credit for the stately settings goes to Paul Iribe, art director for Cecil B. DeMille productions, who also contributed to the designing of the hundreds of beautiful costumes. An elaborate ballet, trained by Theodore Kosloff especially for this occasion figured prominently in the action of this portion of the picture.

Jeanie Macpherson, who adapted Alice Duer Miller's story for the screen, spent many weeks in research work preparing for the actual filming of these scenes. However, the Roman scenes occupy but a small part in the picture, the main story being a modern society love drama.

"Manslaughter," which is Cecil B. DeMille's most masterful and lavish creation, is the Olympic attraction Monday to Thursday.

Excesses of Nero Reign Reproduced At Strand Monday

The wildest imagination can scarcely conjure up all of the fabulous and extravagant excesses of the reign of the tyrant Nero, emperor of Rome. He did things never heard of before and no tyrant who followed him since has dared duplicate his amazing feats.

Yet, on the screen in the wonderful motion picture "Nero," which will be presented at the Strand Monday for four days, the worst excesses of Nero are reproduced in all of their devilish ingenuity. J. Gordon Edwards, the director of "Nero," made an exhaustive study of the pleasures and crimes of the emperor and you can see Rome as it was in the time of Nero by seeing this marvelous screen spectacle.

Nero built the costliest palace the world has ever known. It was called the "Golden House," as most of the decorations were of solid gold. Even the furniture of one room was made entirely of gold. Here he held most of his orgies. This room in the golden house on Palatina Hill, which has been partially uncovered by recent excavations in Rome, was visited by Mr. Edwards in photographing this wonderful picture.

From Chevallier's famous painting an orgy in the palace of Nero in this idealized room of gold, Mr. Edwards reproduced the gorgeous and elaborate scenic settings which now form the background for that part of the picture which shows Nero indulging in his favorite indoor sports and pastimes of eating, getting drunk and making love.

There is one record of the extravagance of Nero which can be found in the writings of "Juvenal." He served his guests with 500 ostrich brains, peas sprinkled with gold dust, lentils with precious stones scattered over them, beans mixed with amber and rice, fish and truffles served with pearl dressing. These mixtures would seem exceedingly indigestible, but they certainly would have been if the guests had consumed the gold dust, gems, amber and pearls. It was not, however, the custom to do that. The gold dust was eaten, it would seem, but the other dressings were kept as souvenirs. This famous feast, with the strange dishes, inspired Mr. Edwards to reproduce upon the screen one of the most amazing and interesting scenes ever pictured, and this orgy may be seen in the motion picture "Nero."

All these amazing features in the reign of the most hated tyrant the world has ever known are reproduced on a gorgeous and elaborate historical and educational picture, "Nero." It is not only of enormous interest as an educational picture, which very attractively shows, but it also carries a wholesome and absorbing love story of a young Christian girl who becomes the object of Nero's insatiable advances, and who is saved ultimately from his clutches through the efforts of a young patriot who makes her his wife.

The acting of "Nero" is exceptionally brilliant. Jacques Grellat, the famous Italian actor, plays Nero. The great dominating feminine personality of the picture is Paulette Goddard, the famous French actress, who appears as Poppaea. In the action of the picture took place in modern times. Poppaea would probably be described as the original "vamp." She figures in history as one of the worst women who ever obtained power and used it unscrupulously. Mr. Edwards shows is a savior test than here. The production has been set with a lavish hand and some of the scenes mount to sensational heights in their effect. Twelve prominent players appear in the cast.

"Flesh and Blood"

An all-star cast will be seen in the new Irving Cummings production, "Flesh and Blood," which will be shown at the Empress Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

A list of their names vouches for one of the best acted pictures that has been seen at the Empress in some time. Lon Chaney, the man with a thousand faces, as an escaped convict who breaks jail to be near his family and to make out vengeance upon his enemy; Edith Roberts as his daughter, who is in love with the rich man's son, played by Jack Mulhall. Other well known players in the cast are Ralph Lewis and Noah Beery.

The picture enables Mr. Chaney to demonstrate his wonderful sense of characterization. Remember him in "The Penalty?" In "Flesh and Blood" he portrays a wildly and accurately the crippled beggar, forced to take to crutches to avoid arrest. How he triumphs over his base impulses—how he finds spiritual uplift in his daughter's happiness is told in five reels of most absorbing drama—a drama with a heart and soul.

All of the incidents in the story are said to have been founded on actual happenings that have come to the attention of Louis Duray Lighton, while he was engaged in doing social service work in several large cities.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And that which fell among thorns, are they, which, when they have heard, go forth, and are choked with cares, and riches and pleasures of this life, and bring no fruit to perfection.— Luke 8:14.

ADDING TO CONFUSION.

A reader of The Times has submitted some puzzling questions relative to the mix-up on the senatorial ballot. The questions themselves are not as puzzling as the predicament into which their apparent answers place us. Here are the questions:

"If the secretary of state honestly interprets the law to prevent Pedy's name from going upon the official ballot, how can he now interpret it otherwise, even if Mayfield and Pedy should agree for the secretary of state to do so?"

"If the law prevents Pedy's name from going upon the official ballot, how can the law be disregarded because Mayfield and Pedy agree for it to be disregarded?"

"If the law prohibits Mayfield's name from going upon the official ballot if Mayfield's campaign cost more than the legal limit, how can Mayfield and Pedy make an agreement that would prevent any citizen from exercising his right to judicially prevent Mayfield's name from going upon the official ballot?"

"If Mayfield did not expend more than the legal limit, how can he with self-respect, fall to seek exoneration by a trial and judgment of the court in which suit is brought to keep his name off the ballot?"

Another reader writes in from Chilton to say that there is no doubt in his mind that Mayfield is the lawfully nominated candidate of the democratic party and that he intends to vote for him. He says that the way was opened for all our present troubles when, to further the interests of Mayfield and Thomas, the democratic state committee permitted the name of James E. Ferguson to go onto the ballot in the first primary.

Still another reader sends in some Bible references that discuss "foolish vows" and vows and pledges in general.

ABOUT A BOND ISSUE FOR BRANCH HOSPITALS.

In the recent election to vote bonds for branch county hospitals at Electra, Burkburnett and Iowa Park the Wichita Falls precincts voted against the bonds. The vote polled in Wichita Falls was very light and in some precincts the voting boxes were not opened.

The lightness of the vote in Wichita Falls indicated not so much an opposition to the bond issue as an indifference, so that the feeling in some quarters that Wichita Falls stood against the expenditure of money in other communities in the county was not justified.

In recent months the feeling that all of Wichita county is one community and that Electra and Iowa Park and Burkburnett are interested in the prosperity and growth of Wichita Falls and that Wichita Falls is interested in the prosperity and growth of Electra, Iowa Park and Burkburnett has been growing and nothing ought to come up now to check this spirit of cooperation and good feeling.

If the people of Electra, Iowa Park and Burkburnett really want branch hospitals and if these branch hospitals are practical and would serve a useful purpose, then the people of Wichita Falls ought to vote for the bonds in the next election, and it is the duty of the progressive leaders of Wichita Falls to urge a full vote. But some question has been raised as to the strength of the sentiment for the bonds in the communities named, and the question has also been raised as to the practicability of these branch hospitals. This paper believes that it is up to the leaders in the three communities named to meet these questions and to answer them satisfactorily. If this is done the progressive men of Wichita Falls ought certainly to support the bond issue.

SELF PITY A DANGEROUS DISEASE.

"It's just my luck," you hear a young man whine when he meets an obstacle to his desires or ambition.

And when you hear that kind of a statement it generally comes from some one who is a failure or started on the road to failure.

Very often it comes from a young man gifted beyond his fellows. More than likely he is gifted and educated and with a personality that attracts tripe. He is bright and competent with a multitude of friends who would like to help him along and who want to see him succeed. The world is, or ought to be, his ally.

Yet he doesn't succeed. His talents remain unused. He disappoints his friends and often as not he barks them and after running along for a good while he blows up with a loud explosion.

Everybody knows young men of that type. They are all too common, and their number seems to be growing. They are the victims of self-pity.

Self pity is one of the most dangerous and destructive things that can come into one's life. It deadens ambition and enterprise. It evades responsibility. It destroys courage and integrity and reduces its victim to a whining, hopeless thing doomed to failure and disgrace.

And self pity is a habit that is all too easy to acquire. If you have failed in something it is hard to acknowledge you yourself may have been to blame and too easy to believe the failure has been because luck has been against you. It's easy to allow yourself to believe you have been the victim of luck and from that it's only a step to begin feeling sorry for yourself. Your friends, perhaps, come along and commiserate with you over your "bad luck," and unless your mental integrity is of a high order you are in danger.

Indulgence in self-pity is like the use of a habit-forming, it grows and gets a stronger grip on one the more it is indulged in.

Be careful how you encourage anyone to think misfortune has picked them out for its visitations. Keep your mental integrity yourself and always believe you are the architect of your own fortune, and that responsibility rests within you.

SNAKE BITE.

Fall-bearers, step forward to bury another generally accepted idea, now exploded as false. Whiskey is not good for snake bite, announces Dr. Gilbert Vander Smitsen, specialist in treating gent's who have thoughtlessly stepped on rattlers, copperheads, water moccasins and other lovable pits.

In fact, says Dr. Smitsen, a quart of rye or Scotch is apt to lessen the victim's chances of recovery.

Other scientists back Dr. Smitsen's views. They have been carrying on investigations started by the Brazilian Institute of serum therapy.

Science thus vindicates the legal ruling, a few months ago, by Judge J. C. Hutchison of the federal court in session at Corpus Christi.

A gentleman on trial for violating the Volstead act had explained that snakes were numerous and active in his community, and that it was considered necessary to have a bottle of hooch on hand.

The judge said he had been brought up on the theory that whiskey was good for snake bite, but that the idea has been exploded by science. A heart stimulant hastens circulation of poison through the body. He added: "Two hundred and fifty dollars and cost!"

Like most evil, snake bite is not as dangerous as generally believed. The average mortality from American venomous serpents is only a little more than 10 out of 100 persons bitten, according to the government's Biological Survey.

Most snakes, the survey adds, skeddaddle at the approach of man. And their striking distance is only about three-fourths of their length.

TODAY'S TALK

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

PLANS.

Half the fun of life lies in its planning. When I talk to a boy who is all full of plans, I know that if I am talking to a future man who won't be out of a job and who will be a success. And more than this, he will take scores of others along with him in this success.

It is good for a boy to say he will be this and that—even though his future plans lead him far from those ideas.

To wish to be happy gives one a taste of happiness right off!

The plan must be a mental picture of what we want or see already accomplished. And how thrilling it is to see the plan unfold into the real!

I have a friend who long ago told me of the coming visit of his mother. And every day, it has seemed, that boy has been planning something new to give an expression of the love he has for that old mother. She comes to him, you see, many weeks ahead—in his heart. And what a time of happiness they will have for all the planning.

Plans lead. They put renewed vigor into our efforts and keep telling us we can do anything that we think we can.

Today I walked through a city park and saw scores of men sitting on benches, some asleep and some merely "draped" across the benches, idle, greatly discouraged, no doubt—but without plans!

A little later in the day, I passed a great factory building with this sign in the window: "Men Wanted. Plan for today. Plan for tomorrow. Plan for the rest of your life. For there is nothing that can inspire you and give you confidence like feeling that you are going to get what you have planned to get. Plan and prepare are very important words when their meanings are translated into action.

The most satisfying day is the one you plan out just the minute you rise from your sleep of the night, and then follow through as nearly as possible as you have planned.

"THIS HURTS ME MORE THAN YOU"
Last night I said: "This hurts me more Than ever it hurts you, 'Twere easier not to punish for The wrong you sometimes do, But there are times I must be stern And lessons little boys must learn And so for that 'I won't you said, I've got to pack you off to bed."

We talked it over, he and I. He said he couldn't see How sending him upstairs to cry Was punishment to me— And often in the long ago My little mind was puzzled so, I used to wonder why my dad Said he was hurt when I was bad.

I had the small boy's notion then, I suffered all alone, Mine was the pain of censure when My little faults were known; I drew the scolding and the blame, I hung my wifed-head in shame, But this is what I never knew— That others had to suffer, too.

Some day when he is older grown I know he'll mutter, too, Unto a youngster of his own: "This hurts me more than you." He'll learn, as I have come to learn, The hurt and ache of being stern, And when to bed his boy is sent, He'll know just what his father meant. (Copyright, 1932, by Edgar A. Guest)

THE ATHENS OF TODAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Athens, according to the world's contemporary revolution, is the subject of the following communication to the National Geographic Society, released by the American Library of Science. "When the city of Athens passed from the hands of the Persians and was designated as the capital of the new free kingdoms of Greece, it was a mere handful of wretched huts, clustered about the Acropolis. Today it is a thoroughly modern city, with splendid streets, magnificent public buildings, handsome residences, attractive parks and most of the modern improvements of which western cities boast. The buildings of this city in a land of such scanty resources is fairly comparable to the development of our cities in the United States, and even more meritorious when all the circumstances are considered. In fact, the city of Athens today stands to his credit as the building of the attractive capital of his nation, that alone would be sufficient to rank him as one of the great architects of the modern world.

A Medley of Modernity. "In this city of Athens, and now of strikingly new plans, Greek life centers as in its classic days. The change in the city of Athens is not good for snake bite, announces Dr. Gilbert Vander Smitsen, specialist in treating gent's who have thoughtlessly stepped on rattlers, copperheads, water moccasins and other lovable pits.

In fact, says Dr. Smitsen, a quart of rye or Scotch is apt to lessen the victim's chances of recovery.

Other scientists back Dr. Smitsen's views. They have been carrying on investigations started by the Brazilian Institute of serum therapy.

Science thus vindicates the legal ruling, a few months ago, by Judge J. C. Hutchison of the federal court in session at Corpus Christi.

A gentleman on trial for violating the Volstead act had explained that snakes were numerous and active in his community, and that it was considered necessary to have a bottle of hooch on hand.

The judge said he had been brought up on the theory that whiskey was good for snake bite, but that the idea has been exploded by science. A heart stimulant hastens circulation of poison through the body. He added: "Two hundred and fifty dollars and cost!"

Like most evil, snake bite is not as dangerous as generally believed. The average mortality from American venomous serpents is only a little more than 10 out of 100 persons bitten, according to the government's Biological Survey.

Most snakes, the survey adds, skeddaddle at the approach of man. And their striking distance is only about three-fourths of their length.

BASEBALL. Since 1919 nearly two and a quarter million baseball fans have paid five and a half million dollars to see world series games.

Money paid for baseball tickets and other forms of theatricals is not wasted, it merely changes hands and goes on circulating the same as before. Actual economic loss is small. Spending, not hoarding, is what makes property. After all, the cash is still in a lot in comparison with the philanthropist.

MANQUETS. Mrs. Kallie, the actress, returned from Europe where she had a long talk with the kiddie, George Bernard Shaw. She says Shaw is weak-kneed, and she doesn't want to go to America, and he might come if he could shake off his fear that he would have to attend American business.

If George waits a couple more years, he can visit us safely, for prohibition is rapidly driving the cash into circulation. Cratory, except of the highest grade, goes begging when liquor is not served as an antidote.

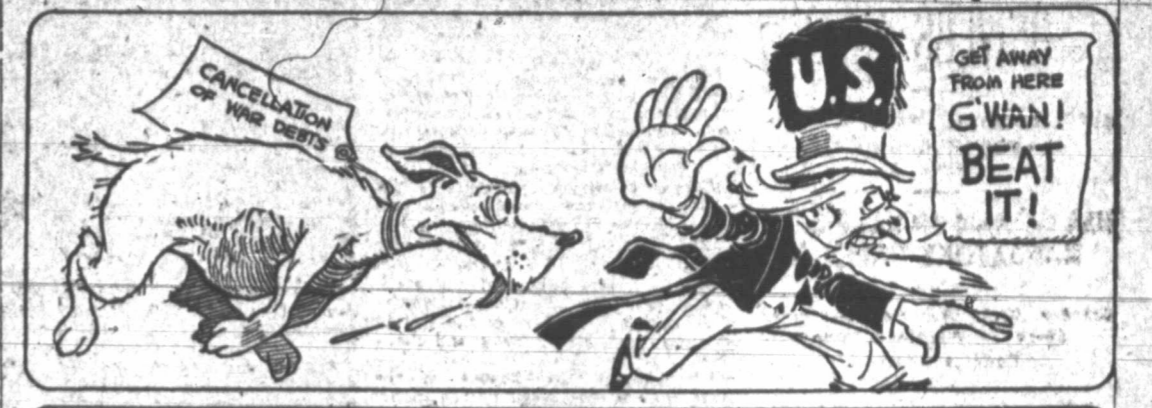

NIGHTINGALE. New York holds a celebration of the 102d anniversary of the birth of Madame Goldschmidt, the "Swedish Nightingale," known in musical history as Jenny Lind. A statute will be enacted in this famous coloratura soprano, the "Swedish Nightingale." There was only one Jenny Lind. Just as there will never be another Caruso. Old timers say that to hear her was to get a glimpse of paradise. Much of one of life's most intimate contacts with the spiritual.

ENDURANCE. Big Jim Hanbery, formerly a Kansas school teacher, was wounded in the field for dead, and honored by funeral and memorial services in many towns. However, he showed up living, in a reporter in Omaha, and recently was decorated with the distinction of "The Iron Horse." He is still alive. Hypochondriacs, morbidly terrified at the slightest ache and pain, should paste this in their hats.

FEATHERS. Bird-of-paradise plumes and wings, 21,000 of them, are seized in raids on nine million shops in New York City. To get their property back, the owners must show the plumes, legally in their possession, before the passage of the wild bird feather exclusion law in October, 1933.

Transplanting. You have observed pot plants, of course, and the peculiarities of them have in common with men. A plant in a pot will thrive for a time, but as the months pass the roots will reach the boundary of their little world and begin to circle the pot, reaching out eagerly in quest of new life, but never getting anywhere at all. Men say the plant is potbound, and if it isn't transplanting to a larger field it will die.

Plants in a field may have room to grow, but nurserymen have discovered that transplanting helps to a larger field it will die. So men become potbound in the environment of their childhood, and so men are benefited and strengthened by transplanting. The country boy grows great in the city—not because he was a country boy, but because he moved. Almost invariably the emigrant grows up to his new environment.

In your native town are hated and envied and bickering, of which you are a part. You were raised with them, and don't know any better. They are a part of your cosmos. Go to another town and the same condition obtains. But you are not a part of it and therefore not aware of it. These are finer people, you say, and I must live up to them! And so you do, thereby conforming to your own ideas and getting a good deal of advertising. Not all who move grow great, but few grow great without moving.

This he says to his confidant, knowing full well that temptation will prove his master.

When a woman wishes to overcome a temptation, she adopts such strategy as may be necessary to draw its teeth and render it harmless. And this is the strategy employed by the girl across the street.

"Fixtures that make such use of the operations automatic in their accuracy have cost us $250,000. The machines themselves represent another $100,000 and this $350,000 turns out only one of the almost countless pieces of a motor car.

It is this kind of accuracy that makes the quality car, and the craftsmanship capable of producing it is of a higher order than the hardening of brass or any other of the craftsmanship of all the ages."

STANDARD CODE OF SIGNALS FOR AUTO DRIVERS IN CITY

CITY COUNCIL PASSES ORDINANCE PRESCRIBING SIGNALS.

USE OF ARM SIGNALS IS MANDATORY UNDER LAW

Drivers' Arms Will Be Seen in All Sorts of Positions When Code is Learned.

Now we careful drivers are going to be punished for what you careless ones have caused to be heaped upon us.

The city council has gone and passed an ordinance that makes it mandatory to use your arms and hand every time you turn a corner. Before everyone learns this lesson of how the arms must be extended and how each finger on the hand must be placed, someone is going to propose that all streets in the city be resurfaced and placed in the old fox and goose track fashion. Then there will not be any corners to turn.

But the city council says with the official stamp of the city on it that we must learn them and furthermore must use them.

If you cannot learn the lesson yourself the city judge will teach you. His price per lesson will be ranging from $5 to $25, all according to how apt a student you are.

Now the Times Automobile Editor is going in competition with the city judge and is offering his services to the general public at large to teach these lessons at the price of only one dollar a position and there are only 14 worth of positions.

The outline of study is very simple. All that the Auto Editor asks you to do is to memorize the following set of rules and after that a check of four dollars can be sent in care of him at this office.

In teaching this lesson the teacher has arranged a set of "Don'ts." Don't forget to understand them first before you try to learn the signals.

1. Don't forget the bargain price.

2. Don't forget to put in plain words on the outside of the envelope that contains the check for $4, "Automobile Editor." If you don't, some one else is liable to get it.

Herewith follow the lessons:

First—Before turning to the right, when driving a left-hand drive car the left arm should be extended outward and upward at an angle of at least 45 degrees. If driving a right-hand drive car the right arm should be thrust out in the same manner as above indicated.

Second—Before turning to the left, when driving a left-hand drive car the left arm should be thrust out in such a manner as to form a right angle with the body. If driving a right-hand drive car the right arm should be extended in the same manner.

Third—Before slowing down or stopping, when driving a left-hand drive car the left arm should be thrust outward and downward at an angle of 45 degrees. If driving a right-hand drive car the right arm should be thrust out in the same manner.

Fourth—Before backing up, the arm nearest the outside should be extended outward at right angles with the body and the arm moved as to describe a small circle.

Five—Before backing up, the arm nearest the outside should be extended outward at right angles with the body and the arm moved as to describe a small circle.

Nine—Before backing up, the arm nearest the outside should be extended outward at right angles with the body and the arm moved as to describe a small circle.

Ten—Before backing up, the arm nearest the outside should be extended outward at right angles with the body and the arm moved as to describe a small circle.

Cadillacs had been selected as the official cars and were used exclusively in the parade. A fleet of 25 of them, of the seven-passenger touring model, from the factory, carried guests of honor and Masonic notables at the head of the columns marching on foot.

The leading car carried Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby, Governor of Michigan Alex. J. Groesbeck, Congressman George P. Codd and president of the Detroit Masonic Temple association, Frederick A. Cooke. It was followed by a phalanx of eight rows of Cadillacs traveling three abreast and carrying other guests of honor, grand lodge officials, Grand Commander William H. The national significance of the event was strengthened by the model and make of the cars chosen, which were the United States army standard seven-passenger cars during the war.

Service men, dressed as pilots, wore United States army uniforms.

Why Not Have Other Counties Meet Pavement?

Wichita county is fortunate in that it has approximately 56 miles of concrete road. By means of this hard road surface it is possible for one to travel from one end of the county to the other in just a skip and jump.

But Wichita county at present with its great roads is like an oasis in a desert. At no point does the concrete roads of the county connect up with anything but a stretch of uneven, some of them nearly impassable roads.

After the state of Texas has had the opportunity of drawing on federal aid for the construction of state highways for the past five years there has not a single place in the entire state where as much as 100 miles of improved road are in one stretch.

A large number of the public spirited citizens of the state, seeing the waste of money in the construction of roads and the patches of concrete going in here and there without leading anywhere with reference to the state highway organization the Texas Highway association with headquarters at Fort Worth.

The purpose of the organization is explained in but a single paragraph: To obtain the necessary legislation to enable the state government to cooperate with the federal government in constructing a connected state system of highways in Texas and to remove the legal obstacles which stand in the way of full compliance by Texas with the requirements of the federal law in the matter of federal aid for highways.

KNOWLEDGE FOR CAR OWNERS

Interesting and Important Facts That Every Motorist Should Know.

To remove the transmission, place a jack under the torque tube to prevent the transmission from falling.

Never leave your headlight blazing down the road when the car is at rest.

When starting the motor never flood the carburetor by working the choke too much.

Great care should be taken in regulating the carburetor timer. A little too much or too little will cause stoppage of the engine.

Inability to start the motor is often caused by the distributor points being corroded.

A good way to keep an inner tube soft and pliable is to immerse it in hot water about once a month.

When driving over car tracks, always try to cross over as near as possible at an angle of 90 degrees with the tracks.

If a tire has been saturated with grease, it should be washed thoroughly with cold water and soap.

Grease makes rapid wear, and every effort should be made to keep all bearings clean.

Tests show that the tires fitted to wire wheels last about 70 percent longer than those run on destruction on other wheels.

A road wet with oil is far more slippery and infinitely more dangerous than wet asphalt and should be negotiated with the greatest care.

Electrical cut-outs should be protected against dirt, and the pivots of cut-out armatures should be occasionally lubricated with a drop or two of good, non-gummy, oil.

CRANKSHAFT IS HIDDEN BUT IS MOST IMPORTANT

Hidden away from view on the inside of an automobile motor is a piece of steel known as a crankshaft. Most motorists know that there is such a thing but, it is out of sight and only makes its presence known, by a hammering knock, when a bearing wears out.

In the quality automobile field the finest workmanship and the best the mechanical brains of the country can produce in the matter of machinery is lavished on the crankshaft, considered as important to a motor as a heart is to a man.

Fortunes are spent in an effort to insure that this modest, but all important feature in a motor, remains hidden and allows the automobile owner to know nothing about itself.

Many cycle owners wonder which gives the best service, a two-stroke engine or a four-stroke. On a road-riding point of view, the average two-stroke is faster and a better hill-climber than the average four-stroke, but the latter is slightly more reliable. Makers have been experimenting longer with the four-stroke than with the two-stroke.

It is almost impossible to pick out a cycle as "the best make." Each of the well-known makes has its particular merits and each is designed to suit a particular class of rider. The only safe way is to visit a dealer who stocks a big variety and choose the machine which most nearly conforms to one's ideal.

There are dry-day side-slips as well as wet-day ones. Take a sharp bend along a dusty road at such a speed that you have to lean well over, and the chances are even that the rear wheel will skid from beneath you. Take all awkward bends at something less than fifteen miles per hour.

The bite of the American tarantula, long popularly believed to be deadly poisonous, is now known to be little worse than a bee sting.

STANDARD MAKE PRICES AT LOWEST LEVEL SAYS DEALER

The prices of several of the standard motor cars are materially lower today, considering the values put into them, than at any time since the history of the automobile, says Lloyd Weaver, of the Lloyd Weaver company, local Hudson-Essex dealer.

Ever since the summer of 1920, when drastic cuts began to be made in all businesses, the automotive industry has been a leader in getting back to pre-war values. That the public appreciates this is reflected in the tremendous sales of automobiles this year. Many manufacturers consistently took losses, particularly through slashing large inventories to a value much less than cost, in order to resume business again on former standards of value.

Today, two years after this downward level started, many automobile manufacturers are quoting prices which, considering improvements made in the last five years, are actually lower than pre-war levels.

The latest price reduction on both Hudson and Essex cars, made September 25, is the third substantial one that the Hudson Motor Car company has made within 12 months. In that time, prices on Hudson cars have been lowered from $170 to $120 and Essex prices from $140 to $100.

"This really is not a fair statement of reductions, however, since a number of added improvements have been made on various models in both lines within that period."

The latest Hudson-Essex reductions were $10 on all Essex models—phaeton, cabriolet and coach—and $120 each on the Hudson speedster, seven-passenger phaeton and coach. The Super-Six sedan price was considerably lower when the new model was announced in August.

"These reductions bring the prices of all Essex models down from $160 to $110 before June 28 prices and the three Hudson models to $170 below prices for the same date. It was on July 1 that the Hudson Car company took the lead in what has since become a general further downward price revision."

SEDANS FORM 37 PER CENT OF FRANKLIN SHIPMENTS

STRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 14.—The popularity of the sedan type is strikingly evident by figures just prepared by officials of the Franklin Automobile company, showing that during the year ending Sept. 1, of the total number of cars shipped, aggregating 7,259 in all, 37 per cent were sedans. Over half of the cars shipped during that period—52 per cent to be exact—were closed cars, consisting of sedans, coupes, touring limousines and broughams. The sedan, however, continues to be the leader, as it was the pioneer, among Franklin closed cars, 74 per cent of all closed cars shipped during the past year being sedans. During the two-year period ending September 1, a total of 7,623 sedans have been shipped from the Franklin factory.

Never push a car about by the radiator, it isn't strong enough.

THE MOTORISTS' PROBLEMS'

Motor Department: Can you tell me why my car swings to the right whenever I apply the brake? I also notice that the right tire wears out sooner than the left.—OWNER.

The trouble is caused by unequal brake adjustment; the brake operating on the right wheel holds better than the brake operating on the left wheel. Both wheels should be raised on jacks and the brake rods, etc. adjusted so that when the brake is applied the tension on each will be equal. This will avoid skidding, and also relieve the strain on the right tire.

Motor Department: Which is the better place to fasten the speedometer? Should it be driven from the front wheel or from the transmission? If there is any preference in the matter please let me know what is preferable.—OWNER.

Driven from the front wheel the drive is more accessible, but on the transmission it is better protected from dirt. It has the disadvantage there that in case the rear wheels slip the speedometer will register mileage that has not been run. This is not a very serious objection, however. The usual practice is to drive it from the front.

Motor Department: If piston is placed exactly at top dead center, both valves closed and a spark produced in the spark plug, would the engine start and run?—READER.

The engine would not stop exactly on dead center, but it is possible to place it there. The gas would not fail to ignite if in proper explosive proportions, no matter what the position of the piston might be. But the piston would not move. That is why that position is called dead center.

Motor Department: On several occasions my engine has stopped dead without any warning, but the strange part about it is that I could start it up again almost immediately without making any adjustments. The engine now runs fairly well at speeds up to twenty-five miles per hour, but above that speed it runs very irregular. It seems to me as though the charge of gas is not being ignited. I have examined the breaker points, distributor, and have had the coil tested, but I have failed to find anything wrong. I ground the breaker points, distributor, and have had the coil tested, but I have failed to find anything wrong. Motor Department: Please advise if it is necessary to remove the distributor cap and clean it. I have had the engine in order to clean out the float chamber. I have had considerable trouble with dirt and wish to clean it.—C. F.

The float bowl is readily removed from this carburetor by loosening the nut at the bottom. You may have to remove the gasoline pipe where it joins the carburetor, but this may be bent sufficiently for the purpose of cleaning.

Motor Department: What makes my car jump when starting? No matter how easily I let in the clutch it always starts with a jerk. I would like to know the remedy, is there any danger if this is done too often. Clutch is cone type.—READER.

We assume it is a leather covered cone. This will cause damage by such action, the jerk will break some part. It is known as a "gripping clutch." Use "waterproof" oil to soften the leather, but if the leather is worn it will have to be replaced. Disengage the clutch and use block to hold it disengaged. Then apply waterproof oil and allow it to soak in over night. If clutch slips, inject a little fuller earth.

Motor Department: What is the meaning of a direct drive and an indirect drive and an internal drive gear?—L. N.

Direct drive on a selective sliding gearset is where the clutch shaft and the spline shaft are locked together on third speed. This drives directly through the gearset without using countershaft or gears. Indirect drive is when the power is transmitted through the counter-

Motor Department: I have a four cylinder car with Westinghouse starter and Willard storage battery. I am troubled with the terminal leading to the starter corroding. After cleaning same it will last from two to five days, then the trouble will start all over again. Will you kindly tell me the cause and remedy.—S. N.

This trouble is due to acid from the battery creeping up the terminal and corroding it. If the lead around the terminal cannot be discovered and stopped an application of cup grease to the terminal will prevent further trouble. The terminal of a storage battery should always be covered with grease or vaseline to prevent just such trouble.

Motor Department: Please tell me through your valuable column what makes my carburetor dirty gasoline at the tank whenever I stop the engine, and turn it on again after it starts. Is it anything the inexperienced motorist can fix without special instructions?—READER.

If the carburetor drips as badly as that it should be attended to at a service station. It may be dirt in the float valve, a worn valve or a heavy deposit. If anything the inexperienced motorist can fix without special instructions, it is to clean the carburetor. If the carburetor drips as badly as that it should be attended to at a service station. Motor Department: My engine runs all four cylinders regularly, but does not seem to have as much power as it had. Will you please let me know some of the things that might cause such a condition?—OWNER.

The most common cause is poor compression in the cylinders. If the carburetor is adjusted to give either too rich or too lean a mixture loss of power will result. Should the bearings of the engine be set too tight the same trouble will result, due to the additional friction. Also when the clutch slips and does not transmit to the rear wheels the full engine power. Brake rods sometimes get out of adjustment, causing the brake bands to rub on the drums of the wheels, even when the brake is not applied. Gasoline foot line may be partially clogged or the strainer need cleaning.

Motor Department: Watch the ammeter on the dash as it puts you in close touch with the whole system. Find out what each set of lamps uses in the way of current, and you will have a basis for your observations.

If ammeter needle shows more discharge than the lamps usually require, require the battery to supply some lamp wire. Find it immediately as it may ruin the wires or battery, or may even set the car on fire.

An unsteady ammeter needle usually shows a defective contact between the commutator and brushes or a loose connection at some point in the circuit.

The average compression pressure is from 15 to 40 pounds per square inch in four and six cylinder engines, and from 20 to 70 pounds per square inch in eight and twelve cylinder engines. The compression ratio is determined largely by the character of the fuel to be used; some fuels having a tendency to knock with high compression ratios.

FIFTY PER CENT OF PRODUCTION TO BE CLOSED CARS

Fifty per cent of the production of motor cars during the coming year, outside of Ford, will be of the enclosed models. Therefore about one-twelfth of the owners of motor cars in this country will have an opportunity to buy an enclosed model during the next 12 months.

Four facts will make the enclosed car production dominate the automobile industry within six months' time, according to Edward S. Jordan, president of the Jordan Motor Car company.

First: Rain and snow which make the back seat of an open car undesirable to a woman.

Second: Dust and wind which make it impossible for her to keep clean on a trip through the sunny climates when she likes to drive.

Third: Increased production which will place the enclosed car within the reach of the mass of open car buyers.

Fourth: Substantial body construction which will encourage millions who own cheaper cars to buy better ones.

Open cars today are like the old-fashioned day coaches without the vestibule.

Texas is buying enclosed cars where they are now as much demanded as in Wisconsin.

It's the dust and dirt that people spreading until today the factories are unable to begin to meet the demand.

Chief Joseph, Greatest of Indian Generals, Fought Last Battle of Northwest Plains Warfare With 89 Warriors Against 600 Soldiers Under General Miles.

On Snake creek, near the Bear Paw mountains in northern Montana, is the historic battlefield where Joseph, chief of the Nez Perce Indians, surrendered to General Miles in 1877 and the last act in the drama of Indian warfare in the northwest was staged. A series of shallow rifle pits, grass-grown for many years, are all that mark the field where the plains Indians of the north fought their last battle with white soldiers.

Eighteen years ago this month, Chief Joseph, greatest Indian general in history, died, old and heartbroken, on the Tongue river in Idaho, where he spent the last unhappy years of his life. General Miles once said of Joseph: "He is the whitest Indian I have ever known." When Joseph was told of this remark, he said: "General Miles cannot compliment me by calling me white. I could not insult a good Indian worse than by saying he was like a white man. All my life I have told the truth. I cannot say the same of any white man I have known." In spite of the fact that the Nez Perces were unexcelled as warriors, brave and wary in attack, determined and resourceful in defense, they were met, in reality, by war-making tribes. The history of the northwest shows that they only once took the war path against the whites, and that was when they had been oppressed and deceived until they could stand the treatment accorded them by the government no longer.

When the whites first came to the Rocky mountains, the tribe was powerful and populous and its people inhabited the valleys of the Snake, the Salmon and the Clearwater, and ward from the Bitter Root mountains. Their men were brave, their women virtuous and their country had no superior in all the valleys of the west. Of this people, Joseph was a worthy chieftain; strong, alert, intelligent, albeit disdainful and haughty in times. He was the ideal of his people. When he led them out of the valley that had been their home for generations, it was in 1847, to escape the whites, but to find a new home for his tribe, for they believed that they had been treacherously dealt with by the agents of the federal government and wrongfully deprived of the valley to which they were so strongly attached by history and tradition. The battle that occurred during this march, which has become historically famous, was not of Joseph's seeking; he had not crossed the mountains to fight the soldiers, but to find a new home, he had his warriors fight before and never have since.

General John Gibbon took the field to turn Joseph and his people back, and the first battle was fought on the Big Hole river in western Montana. Most of Gibbon's men were veterans of the Sioux wars and other campaigns, but never before had they fought the kind of warfare that the Nez Perces, the resourcefulness possessed by Joseph and his warriors. In the first clash, when Joseph made a surprise attack at daybreak on the Nez Perces, the Indians were driven back. They did not become panic stricken and scatter, however, as was expected by the whites. Joseph's leadership; they fought so stubbornly and so gallantly that they turned the rout at the opening assault into what virtually was a victory for them. They compelled the white men who had driven them from their camp to take refuge behind breastworks and then they drove the whites, compelling them in and harassed them for 24 hours, only desisting when scouts brought the news of the approach of strong reinforcements for the soldiers.

The fight was one of the hottest in the history of plains warfare, and Joseph compelled the admiration of Gibbon and his soldiers by his fine generalship. With the approach of reinforcements for the whites, Joseph took up his march down the valley, camped with his wounded and with the women and children, heading for the British line. The story of Joseph's march across Montana is more remarkable than that of the battles he fought. Viewed from a military standpoint, this retreat was remarkable as its course all the way lay through an enemy's country, and it was accomplished with less annoyance to the people of the area, than would have resulted from a similar march by a hostile white force. As long as he could, Joseph paid and the horses and mules he secured. When he could no longer do this, he took them, as any commander would do, but no brutality marked the course of the Nez Perces in their retreat.

Joseph had almost reached the Canadian line when General Miles overtook him near the Bear Paw mountains, where the second fight took place and where the Nez Perce chief finally surrendered. When he yielded to Miles he did so because of the suffering among the women and children of the tribe, who, deprived of the proper food and exposed to the chill of winter, were sick and dying. His surrender was complete. When he yielded it was with the promise that he would fight no more, and this promise he faithfully observed. In his latter days, Joseph was not a disturber; he remembered his promise and he kept it. He kept it, indeed, better than many a parolee would have done; it was lived up to in spirit as well as in letter. Not only did he refrain from making any trouble himself, but his councilors were always for peace. He realized the hopelessness of a struggle with the whites and he adopted the course that seemed to him wisest.

The battle on Snake Creek was a more remarkable affair than the Big Hole fight. Chief Joseph, however, one of the survivors of Miles' command, describes it as follows: "Two battalions pushed on toward the Nez Perce camp, and when they were three or four miles had been covered were the first dropping shots noticed. As the troops drew nearer these were increased into a heavy fire. Captain Hale and Biddle were killed at the first volley and close range. Captain Godfrey and Moylan were wounded. This left but one officer with the three troops. All the first sergeants were also killed. The soldiers gained the bluff east of the camp, but were met with a withering fire from the woods opposite, making it impossible to plant the small Hotchkiss cannon there. The battle kept up until 3 o'clock, when it became evident that the attack on the camp must be prolonged into a siege. Troops A and D of the Seventh cavalry and company G of the Fifth infantry, tried to cut the Indians off from water, but the attempt was foiled with a heavy loss. The writer, who commanded the three companies, being put out of the fight with a shot through the lungs. The morning of October 1 dawned on a sad plight. Some of the soldiers had died during the night and many of the wounded were suffering terribly. Fifty or more wounded lay huddled together in a little hollow place. A storm set in and four or five inches of snow fell, adding to the torture of the stricken. In the evening the delayed baggage trains arrived and tents were pitched for the wounded. In the morning the 15-pounder was put into action. As the sun sank a white flag was raised and Joseph appeared. His clothes were pierced with a dozen bullets but he was uninjured. He proposed that he be permitted to march toward Canada, his warriors armed and mounted, but the proposal was rejected. The siege continued until the third of October, when Joseph and Miles again met in council and Joseph's proposal of a retreat for his warriors with all the honors of war, they to retain their arms and property, was again rejected. On the morning of the fourth the gun was moved and the second shell fired from it killed and wounded a dozen Nez Perces. For the third time Joseph raised the white flag and this time it meant surrender. 600 Warriors Against 600 Whites.

The outstanding feature of this fight was the fact that Joseph had only 89 warriors. There were with him also 124 women and 147 children. The women and children greatly handicapped his movements in the battle. General Miles had approximately 600 troops for his warriors, lost 26 killed and 46 wounded. Miles lost 22 killed and 46 wounded. Joseph and taken his men, women and children for nearly 2000 miles through the enemy's country and had fought several battles, all of which were to his credit. Here are the bleak plains, when the cold blasts of an early fall caused great suffering among his women and children, he had to give up. His indomitable spirit was broken because the assistance he expected from Sitting Bull had been withheld. Sitting Bull was then just across the Canadian border. The humanity and generosity of the troops. The Nez Perce lost 26 killed and 46 wounded in caring for the white wounded on the battlefield furnish the

NORTH SIDE LINE TO BE FINISHED BY FEBRUARY FIRST

February 1 is the date set by the traction company for starting of street car service to North Wichita. Work is now under way installing the special switch at the corner of Sixth and Indiana, and as this involves some concrete work, 28 days must elapse to give the concrete time to set before work can be operated over it to carry the line west on Sixth street.

As soon as the line is completed to the river, which will be in 40 or 60 days, service will be started over that portion of the line. Construction of the bridge will require a number of weeks. Work will start on the Eighth street loop this week. While it is in progress, factory cars will turn back at the city hall, and the other lines will come north on Indiana to Eighth, turning back at that corner.

IF YOU NEED A SPECIALIST—WHY NOT THE BEST

Are you a nervous wreck? Are you worn out and broken down. Are you suffering from vicious Blood and Skin diseases, that destroy bone tissue, and disfigure for life? Backaches, and kidneys give you all-gone feeling? Whether these conditions were caused by early excesses, or contracted by inoculation, it does not matter, for they will all respond to my treatment. Consult Dr. Schultz, the Reliable Specialist, who is well equipped by long experience, that enable him to offer his services on a basis that no other can; his charges are lower for cures than the average physician generally charges for failures.

Those who have wasted time and money, and failed to get rid of their ailments, are especially invited to consult FREE. I am giving the benefit of over 35 years honorable experience; some of my cures are truly wonderful, yet I do not work magic; I do not make the old younger, nor the blind see; I simply apply the knowledge of my years of honorable experience have given me, and I do this honestly and intelligently.

Jesus Tempted By The Devil

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

JESUS TEMPTED—TEXT OF TODAY'S BIBLE TALK BY MR. BRYAN

(Luke 4:1-13)

And Jesus being full of the Holy Ghost returned from Jordan, and was led by the Spirit into the wilderness. Being 40 days tempted of the devil. And in those days he did eat nothing: and when they were ended, he afterward hungered.

And the devil said unto him, If thou be the Son of God, command this stone that it be made bread.

And Jesus answered him, saying, It is written, That man shall not live by bread alone but by every word of God.

And the devil, taking him up into an high mountain, shewed unto him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time.

And the devil said unto him, All this power will I give thee, and the glory thereof: for that is delivered unto me; and to whomsoever I will I give it.

If thou therefore wilt worship me, all shall be thine.

And Jesus answered and said unto him, Get thee behind me, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve.

And he brought him to Jerusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of the temple, and said unto him, If thou be the Son of God, cast thyself down from hence:

For it is written, He shall give his angels charge over thee, that they may bear thee up, lest at any time thou dash thy foot against a stone.

And Jesus answering said unto him, It is said, thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

And when the devil had ended all the temptation, he departed from him for a season.

And Jesus returned to Galilee, and his fame began to spread throughout all the region round about.

And he came to Nazareth, and as his custom was, he went into the synagogue, as his custom was, he went into the synagogue, as his custom was, he went into the synagogue.

And he stood up to read, and he had the book of the prophet Isaiah.

And he found there a scroll of the prophet Isaiah, and he opened it, and he found there a scroll of the prophet Isaiah.
