CONGRESS IN "HIGH" IN EFFORT TO PASS IMPORTANT BILLS

ONLY ONE WEEK REMAINS IN WHICH TO WIND UP WORK OF SESSION.

NUMBER OF MEASURES REMAIN ON CALENDAR

Senate Expected to Debate Suggestion U. S. Join International Court.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Congress went into high gear today to endeavor to clean up important legislation caught in the pre-adjournment jam on which efforts will be concentrated for the remaining week of the session.

While the senate, in the words of its supporters, is performing the final "obsequies" for the administration shipping bill to make way for other legislation, the house tackles first the deficiency appropriation bill. This measure and farm credits legislation to be considered in the house tomorrow are the two of major importance out of about 100 other bills and resolutions of which there is prospect of enactment.

The fate of many of these rests more in the house than in the senate, where the pre-adjournment jam appears not as bad this year as in the house.

The shipping bill, the defeat of which is conceded, coming up first on a pending motion to recommit is expected to survive that but is buried finally by displacement for the "filled milk" bill, or some other legislation. This will put in line for action also in the senate the "truth in fabric" bill, which raises the prospect of another filibustering movement there with threats of this seen also against several other measures in both houses.

The senate is expected to find time for some sharp debate on the administration's proposal for conditional American representation in the League of Nations. A committee of justice under the League of Nations, although no action is expected on it.

Efforts for enactment in the final week also are expected to be concentrated on the government employees' salary reclassification and the foreign section reorganization bills. Vigorous attempts to secure action in the house will be made in behalf of the Norris constitutional amendment changing the date of the presidential inauguration and the convening of congress, and the Mississippi flood control bill.

STOWAWAYS TAKE CHARGE OF VESSEL FOLLOWING MUTINY

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 24.—Twenty-nine stowaways, conniving with nine members of the crew, took virtual charge of the voyage of the 6,000-ton freighter Tamao, from Kobe, Japan, to this port after a mutiny in mid-ocean, in which the captain and officers of the ship were dominated by the rebellious party.

This was revealed last night after the arrest of the nine members of the crew and the taking of the 23 stowaways to the detention immigration station after the freighter, wirelessly for help, arrived in this port.

BOARD DIRECTORS HIGHWAY TO MEET FRIDAY, MARCH 2

DALHART, TEXAS, Feb. 26.—C. H. Walker, president of the Cotulla-Gulf highway, has called a meeting of the board of directors for Friday, March 2, 10 a. m. at Wichita Falls.

An all-day session is expected as there is much business to attend to, including the election of a field director, fixing the exact date of the annual meeting at Cotulla, Texas, and making a contract for having the highway marked from Denver to Galveston and Brownsville.

A petition from a number of cities northwest of Denver for the extension of the highway to Seattle will come up for consideration.

CRITICIZES SCHEME OF CONSOLIDATING ROADS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The general scheme of consolidating railroads now being tentatively advanced by the government was criticized today by C. M. Schuchmacher, president of the El Paso and Southwestern railroad, called today as the first witness before the Interstate Commerce Commission when hearings on the consolidation plan were resumed.

Any plan of combining major American railroads into 20 large systems, Mr. Schuchmacher asserted, would result in reduction of competition in transportation service, would lower initiative of railroad management and would reduce efficiency by lowering the effectiveness of management.

'Hungry Hearts' Splendid Human Interest Story

That "Hungry Hearts" carries one of the prettiest, as well as one of the most appealing human interest stories ever presented on the screen in this city, was demonstrated to members of the press and others at a private showing at the Strand Theater Sunday. The picture, after the order of "Humoresque," holds interest from the introduction of the humble home in Russia, through all the trying and sometimes amusing experiences of the young lovers to this country, until their final victory over adversity and their realization that "justice does prevail in America."

The outstanding characterization is that of Rosa Rosanova, as the Jewish mother, whose work is equally as good as was that of Vera Gordon in "Humoresque." Helen Ferguson, as the daughter, splendidly enacts the role of the immigrant girl who is ambitious to wear American clothes and lead American ways.

Bryant Washburn gives a good interpretation of the young lawyer and nephew of the grasping landlord. In fact the entire cast is well balanced and the scenes are realistic, without effort at gorgeous display.

Montague O'Hara, creator of "Potash and Perlmutter," who put the finishing touches on the titles of "Hungry Hearts," wrote the following letter to the Goldwyn company immediately after he first saw the picture in review:

"Hungry Hearts" is a picture which entirely disarms criticism. One might just as well try to criticize the technique of a mother nursing a child, or a bird singing, or any simple, natural, beautiful thing. It was not like seeing a moving picture to me. It was like saved-roasting. I felt as though I had no business to be there, intruding myself upon the kind-hearted, unfortunate Jehudina. I loved them all. I had sympathy for the hard-boiled landlord too. He created so profound a sympathy for Soppkin, the butcher—there are hundreds of him, only not quite so natural—on every block in the Eighth Assembly district.

In short, "Hungry Hearts" is far and away the most human moving picture I have ever seen. Gawd! How I like it! Can I say more than that?

"Hungry Hearts" was adapted to the screen by Julien Josephson and directed by E. Mason Hopper. Miss Zesierska, the author, was constantly in personal touch with the production itself. The cast includes Bryant Washburn, Helen Ferguson,

DALLAS MAN HEARD AT THREE MEETINGS IN THIS CITY SUNDAY

DeWitt McMurray, Dallas newspaperman, delivered three addresses in Wichita Falls Sunday, speaking at the M. B. Church, South, in the morning, at a meeting at the First Baptist Church in the afternoon and at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday night.

Mr. McMurray, whose religious writings have appeared in print for a number of years, only quite recently "found himself" in a spiritual way, according to his remarks Sunday, and his description of his own religious experiences formed interesting portions of his talks.

He was heard by a large crowd, mostly members of Masonic orders, at the First Baptist Church Sunday afternoon, when he spoke on "Soldiers of the Cross."

Mr. McMurray is editor of the Dallas Semi-Weekly Farm News, a member of the Dallas school board, a member of the advisory council of Dallas Boy Scouts, a contributor to the Texas Baptist Standard, and an active worker in Masonic ranks.

An exception to the generally accepted truth that the wheels of justice grind slowly was taken Monday morning in the 20th district court in the case of Frank Burkhead, a negro youth.

On February 14, J. W. Bell, negro proprietor of a grocery store in the district where the tracks, was accused by a negro at 7:30 o'clock at night. Before morning the city police department had placed Burkhead under arrest.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—"Doc" Suggen's high in civilization. He has brought with him, after 25 years, the real story of "The Shooting of Dan McGrew."

"Dan McGrew's real name was 'Wyomah' Bill, and he was a westerner; at all, but came of a refined family in Boston," says Suggen. "He was brought up to be a social light—and he couldn't be anything else."

THE USE OF NATURAL GAS FOR MAKING CARBON BLACK.

A bill to permit the manufacture of carbon black, which is another name for the old lamp black, is now before the legislature.

Carbon black made by allowing flame from the imperfect combustion of natural gas to strike against a sheet of metal. As the carbon is deposited on the surface of the metal it is removed by a scraper which deposits it in a receptacle.

A number of states do not permit its manufacture as large quantities of natural gas are required to make it. The bill now before the legislature is being opposed by natural gas companies and by a number of the municipalities and other interests served by these companies.

Natural gas is a stored deposit and when the deposit is used up there is no new supply. It would be folly therefore to permit the unrestricted use of natural gas for carbon black. There are, however, deposits of natural gas in such isolated sections that it cannot be brought to domestic users.

A GOVERNOR WHO IS ACCEPTING HIS RESPONSIBILITIES.

Gifford Pinchot, the new governor of Pennsylvania, is making a good start. He conceives it to be the duty of a governor to exert his utmost for an economical and business like administration and for the full enforcement of the laws.

"I propose," he said in a message to the Pennsylvania legislature, "to work not only with all my power for the abolition of the saloon, but also to make sure that the government of the state takes its full and effective part in such an effort."

"Pennsylvania must either control the criminals who are openly breaking the law, or be controlled by them. With all good citizens I believe that this commonwealth is greater and more powerful than any band of lawbreakers whatsoever, and I intend to act on that belief."

"The law is the law. It is the foundation of order, safety and prosperity of the commonwealth itself. Every state official takes oath, and is in honor bound to obey it."

"I shall expect and demand from every public servant appointed by me, or subject to removal by me, from the highest to the lowest, entire and ungrudging obedience to the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead Law. They are part of the law of the land."

That is straight, sensible talk. And the best part about it is that it isn't just talk. Governor Pinchot has already shown himself in many ways to be a man of determination and action.

POISONS. Detective Story magazine in a recent issue carried an article by D. E. Wheeler about the widespread use of poisons by French criminals 250 years ago.

The arch-demon of these poisoners was Madame de Brinvilliers. The article tells how, posing as an administering angel, she experimented upon the poor patients in Hotel Dieu, the city hospital of Paris.

She fed, to the sick, poisoned food and wine, and studied their death agonies until she found the best poisons to use on her friends, brothers and rich relatives whose money she coveted.

Says the article: "So universal was the fear of being poisoned in France during the reign of the glorious Louis XIV, that it was customary for ladies and gentlemen of high degree to carry about with them an antidote for emergencies. An antidote in great favor was called Theriac. It was compounded of about 50 different drugs. Many men of rank and wealth took their Theriac in the morning as regularly as they had breakfast."

An able writer of that period, Madame de Sevigne, recorded this story about Madame de Brinvilliers and her lover, Sainte-Croix: "Madame de Brinvilliers wanted to marry Sainte-Croix. With that intention she often gave her husband poison. Sainte-Croix, not desiring so wicked a woman for his wife, gave antidotes to the poor husband, with the result that—shuttle-cocked about in this manner five or six times, now poisoned, now unpoisoned—he still remained alive."

This wicked woman finally was arrested, her guilt proved, and beheaded in public after long torture in which she refused to betray her accomplices, who not only poisoned on their own account but also conducted a big traffic selling deadly drugs to thousands who wanted to get rid of enemies or rich relatives.

Very little was known about poisons 250 years ago, excepting a few of the simpler drugs. Criminals in their laboratories discovered much of what is known today about poisons. And doctors, forced to find antidotes, uncovered chemical truths that are of much value today.

For instance, our national government announces that in a recent campaign in Arizona, it poisoned and killed five million prairie dogs. "The increased sheep now possible will support at least 50,000 range (instead of five million prairie dogs), and farmers are now growing alfalfa and grain on ground which formerly was so heavily infested with prairie dogs that it was impossible to raise anything."

Wicked Madame de Brinvilliers, and others like her, contributed to the knowledge that made possible such uses of poison as getting rid of the prairie dogs. Time eventually guides all evil into righteous paths.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BE HAPPY. After Walt Whitman's death, there was found among his papers an undated scrap with these words in his own handwriting: "A Poem—Theme. Be Happy. Going forth, seeing all the beautiful perfect things."

I can see in my imagination that quaint figure, with its whimsical smile, journeying from Brooklyn, New York, to Central Park—now walking, now riding, now engaged in talking with some policeman or some wayfarer.

I see him at another time sitting on a ferry boat talking with some chance acquaintance and learning always something new, something beautiful from some seemingly unlovely life.

For no matter where Walt Whitman went, he sought to draw out something that he might later shape up and present to the world. And so his theme of life was to go forth—to be happy and to make others happy—to see "all the beautiful perfect things."

In his famous work "Leaves of Grass" appears this sentence: "In me the carer of life wherever moving." It sounds very trite and polyanthous to say: "Be Happy!" And yet that is exactly what we must say to ourselves and impress upon our own minds as a positive command if we would disarm half our foes in advance.

I passed a person on the street today whose face depressed me for a moment because of its cold, unhappy cast. One does not have to have a smile on his face all the time in order to be happy. Happiness is most of the time a very serious affair.

But the person who is happy lends a look to the outer world that is unmistakable. Be happy! Why not? (Copyright, 1933, George Matthew Adams.)

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE OTHER NIGHT, 'bout two o'clock or maybe it was three. An elephant with shining tusks came chasing after me. His trunk was wavin' in the air an' spoutin' jets of steam.

An' he was out to eat me up, but still I didn't scream Or let him see that I was scared—a better thought I had.

I just escaped from where I was, and crawled in bed with Dad. One time there was a giant who was horrible to see. He had three heads and twenty arms, an' he come after me.

And red hot fire came from his mouths and every hand was red. And he declared he'd grind my bones and make them into bread.

But I was just too smart for him, I fooled him mighty bad— Before his hands could collar me I crawled in bed with Dad.

I ain't scared of nothing that comes pesterin' me at night. Once I was chased by forty ghosts all shimmery an' white.

An' I just raced 'em round the room an' let 'em think maybe I'd have to stop an' rest awhile, when they could capture me. Then when they leapt onto my bed, oh gee! but they were mad.

This afternoon Mrs. Hews came to see me and she told her about all the different ways she tried to make pop stop smoking. Mrs. Hews saying: "O my dear, you must try soap powder."

I've tried coffee powder and I mix it as well as get put in empty air for all the good it did, ma sed, and Mrs. Hews sed, my dear, you can't mention coffee powder in the same breath with soap powder. I've got some home and I'll send you around a little this afternoon, and which she did in a envelope, and we had soap for supper and pop was on the table already when he came down, on account of ma havin' put it there and quick sprinkled some powder in it out of the envelope, and pop started to drink saying: "This is wat I call good vegetable soap, generally savent a good word to say for vegetable soap but this seems to have a special touch. In fact I really believe, I could manage another plate with pleasure and profit, he sed."

I'll get it for you myself, ma sed. Which she went out in the kitchen and sed and pop drank it all the way up and ma sed, That's the first time I ever saw you take 2 plates of soap. I'm surprised, but it never rains but it pours, so perhaps you'd like another plate just to make it 3. Well, if a things worth doing its worth doing well, pop sed. Meaning he would, and she went and got him another plate, which I could see some of the soap powder floating on top, and pop drank it, saying: "Well, I sees that about snuff supply for me tonite."

Wy Willyum, I've got a bewtiffil stake and elegant French fried potatoes, ma sed, and pop sed, Not as far as I'm concerned, I'm just going to have a cup of coffee and a nice long cigar, in fact, after 2 substantial smoked cigars with you, I think I'll have 2 cups of coffee and 2 long cigars, that soap jest made me feel like a good smook, somehow.

O for goodness sakes, ma sed. And her and me and my sister Glendora ate the stake and potatoes while pop smoked a cigar with one of the most enjoyable expressions he ever had.

Grid puzzle with numbers 1-9 in a 3x3 arrangement.

Saturday's Answer. If a moving cog-wheel is revolving about a stationary wheel of the same size, the moving wheel will make two complete turns in completing its circuit. This can be proven by experimenting with two pennies.

PROSPECTS. People will face trouble only up to a certain point, then move away to seek relief. That's what brought America its first colonialists. And it's the escape that will be sought by overburdened Europeans as soon as they fully realize that it will take generations to unscramble the eggs over there.

EXTREMES. It thrills us Americans to know that Uncle Sam carries letters in airplanes over the transcontinental route at a speed of 100 miles an hour.

But let's not forget the other extreme—the one-mile-an-hour dog team carrying mail through the mountain passes of Alaska.

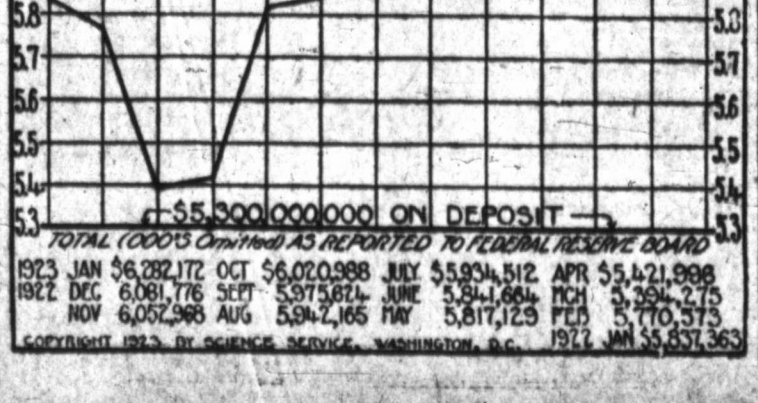

Always we seem to need both extremes. And the wheel that turns slowly is as important, to the whole works, as the wheel that turns fast. Applying it humanly, plodders are as necessary as the speed artists.

FLYING. Sadi Lacoins, French aviator, breaks the world's speed record. He flies 255 miles an hour. That is almost four miles a minute. Within our generation Elmer probably will make 1,000 miles an hour. Or more.

Turning to more practical things, Uncle Sam's air mail now covers a route of 2,680 miles. The round trip is made daily except Sundays and holidays. The airplane is being developed faster than any invention in history. How long until it will be safer to fly than drive a car? Ten years may be a conservative guess.

COTTON. Prosperity note for southern states: The government estimates that the stocks of American cotton next Aug. 1 will total only 2,775,000 bales, compared with 3,331,000 bales on the corresponding date in 1931. World consumption of cotton in the season that ends July 31 will exceed production by 3,000,000 bales. This means more money for the cotton grower. If the law of supply and demand hasn't been repealed by our unbalanced system of economics, is it more profitable to sell one bale of cotton at 20 cents a pound, say, than two bales at 20 cent a pound?

LURE. A gold nugget worth $22.50 is found by a housewife at Inverness, British Columbia, while dressing a goose for the oven. This starts a gold rush on Brady Creek, where the goose was raised. Gold is to humans what the magnetic pole is to the compass. And yet its value is chiefly in public imagination and not in reality. Oh, well, most of us live in a semi-hypnotic trance.

BILLIONS. Stocks and bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange and counting liberty bonds, have a combined par value of nearly $6 billion dollars, not including $6 million shares of no par value. It is a pretty big pot for the gamblers.

Including liberty bonds, the listings on the New York exchange cover a fifth of our national wealth. What happens to the fifth plays havoc to the other four-fifths.

TRUCKS. Plenty of coal waiting, at the mines, but the railroads cannot haul it, on account of car shortage. With railroads having more freight than they can handle promptly, we realize the immense value of auto trucks. Over a million motor trucks are in service in America, hauling 1420 million tons of freight a year. The trucks will never endanger the railroads. Both are needed. Within 20 years we'll also have to have flying freight trains.

STAGE COACHES. In 10 days when mail was handled by stage coaches instead of fast trains and airplanes, to take 14 days to send a letter from New York to Chicago. We get this from E. McV. Cabern, stage expert. And the people of those times thought 14 days a very fast trip. It makes us wonder if our mail planes will meet similarly slow descendants of the year 2000. The program for the future calls for faster and faster speed.

"Fear not, only believe." Mark 5:36. Read Mark 5:21-43.

"The world is not to be convinced or converted by reasoning or philosophy or eloquence, but by the love of Christians."

MEDITATION: Jesus' supreme power as a teacher lay in his ability to understand the human heart. He knew that fear clouds the mind, but that the "will to believe" opens all the windows of the soul.

PRAYER: O Lord, grant all who contend for the faith never to injure it by clamor and impatience; but, speaking thy precious truth in love, so to present it that it may be loved. Amen.

THE GREEN-EYED ACCOMPLICE

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM. Copyright, 1932, by E. Phillips Oppenheim. Agent: NEA Service, Inc.

(Continued from Saturday) I resigned my position at Sealand Yard for two reasons. First, as a protest against an act of gross injustice which, although it did not affect me personally, was still bitterly resented by the majority of my fellow workers, and secondly because, through the unexpected death of a distant relative, I succeeded to a baronetcy and a sufficient income.

I spent the best part of three years in travel, nearly half of which time I was in the United States. On my return to London I found myself much against my will, hankering after my old profession. It was very clear to me that my old department had lost the mastery it had once had over the criminal world. The problems of several cold-blooded murders and various burglaries and robberies remained entirely unsolved. In the intervals of my country life, I began to study these from an outsider's point of view, chiefly from the columns of the newspapers, but also to some extent from hints and information supplied to me by my friend Inspector Rimmington, who had been one of my colleagues in the old days and now held the post which I had vacated. Gradually I came to a certain conclusion, a conclusion which I kept largely to myself because I felt sure that no one at the Yard was likely to agree with me. I decided that the majority of these reasons, became linked together in my mind as the outcome of one man's planning. I set myself the task of discovering this one man, and the day came at last when I really believed that I was in a position to lay my hand upon him. There is no necessity to detail the evidence which pointed to this man. It is enough to say that after watching him for three weeks, I became convinced that a man of the name of Thomas Pugsley, carrying on business in Bermondsey as a leather broker, and living apparently the most respectable of lives at Brixton, was in some measure connected with these crimes.

I discovered that Pugsley's leather-goods business was prosecuted without energy or attention, that his frequent absences from London were not in neighborhoods where his wares could be pushed, and that he was off away for a month at a time, with a generous unknown even to his family. The latter was a highly respectable woman at whose house he had lived for the last two years and who I honestly believe, was ignorant of her lover's antecedents, habits and business. By taking rooms in the neighborhood, I easily discovered all that he knew and one or two circumstances which lent color to my suspicion. I placed these before Rimmington and it was decided to make an arrest.

Just before midday on Thursday, the third of November, my master made one of his unexpected appearances. He was surprised by the night before, I had dreamed of him, and it seemed to me impossible that with my passionate prayers going out day by day, he should be so near and underfoot. When I first saw him turn in at the gate, I was filled with excitement. If he could have seen me at that moment, he would have been amazed and understood everything. By the time he had reached the front door, however, and I let him in, I had regained my self control. I must have seemed to him just the ordinary well-mannered, well-conducted parlormaid.

He changed his clothes and went off presently for his round of golf. When I went to his room to brush and press the clothes which he had taken off, I found, however, that he had placed them in a drawer and apparently locked it. The discovery, coming on top of many others, gave me food for thought. I resolved to watch the parlormaid's newspapers. It was better to dig more and more clear to me that there was something in my master's manner of life which was anxious to conceal from the world. I was the more convinced of this when I saw that in the top drawer, which he had opened to take out a tie, he had concealed a small revolver, loaded in all six chambers.

months' labor I determined to wipe the whole thing from my memory, and traveled down to Woking with the intention of playing a round of golf. I was introduced by the secretary to a resident of the place whose name was James Stanfield, and he had a round which ranks amongst the best I ever played in my life. Stanfield was a slight but by no means a gloomy person. He appeared to be about forty years of age and an absolute golf maniac. He played every shot with the most ridiculous care, but I must confess with also the most wonderful precision. His drive were never long, but they were long enough for him to escape trouble, and in the approximate eighth stroke which he took to complete the course, I cannot remember one that was in any way fluffed or fooled. He beat me by the seventeenth hole, and it was while we stood together upon the eighth hole that the incident happened which was to bring still more excitement into the day.

On our right was a small planting of shrubs through which wound the path which my partner pointed out to me as leading to his house. Our task was to complete the course, and the continued barking of a small dog which had wandered from the adjacent footpath. I had the curiosity to walk a few paces along the path, and he was what was the trouble. My companion however, who was a little on my left, was the first to discover the cause of the dog's excitement. At a little distance from him I hurried to his side. Stretched upon his back, with extended arms, and a small blue hole in his forehead, we found the body of a man. He was a stranger, and I at once recognized him. He was one of the two plain-clothes policemen whom I had seen in Woolerton road the morning before, followed in his attempt to arrest the man who had been passing under the name of Thomas Pugsley!

Just before midday on Thursday, the third of November, my master made one of his unexpected appearances. He was surprised by the night before, I had dreamed of him, and it seemed to me impossible that with my passionate prayers going out day by day, he should be so near and underfoot. ENGRAVING BUREAU CONTROVERSY STILL A VERY LIVE ISSUE

CONTINUES TO PLAGUE ADMINISTRATION LEADERS AT CAPITAL

MAY BE INJECTED INTO NEXT NATIONAL CONTEST

Democrats Do Not Intend That Public Shall Forget the Matter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 26.—Like Raquet's ghost the wholesale discharge of men and women, civil service employees in the bureau for engraving, made nearly a year ago under an executive order will not drop.

It has risen half a dozen times since then to plague the administration and while President Harding insists that the bureau of engraving in the senate do not intend to let it go at that.

Angling on the theory that nothing is ever really settled until it is settled right these senators, led by Caraway of Arkansas, and McKellar of Tennessee, intend to do their best to keep it before the country and, if that they term "justice" is not done these 28 men and women, it is their purpose to make the bureau of engraving incident an issue in the next presidential campaign.

The Democrats contend this constitutes an assault on the principle of civil service with the Republicans cannot defend that and that the recent admission from the white house, that charges warranting an investigation of those men and women, make President Harding's position all the more untenable.

Although the discharge of James L. Wilmett, director of the bureau, and 27 other bureau chiefs, on March 31, last, created something of a stir and since, from time to time, has bobbed up in news dispatches, it is doubtful if the country at large has a very clear understanding of just what it is all about.

The first intimation Washington had of any trouble at the bureau of engraving came on the last day of last March when it was announced that Director Wilmett and the 27 other employees had been summarily removed and that Louis D. Hill had been appointed director with power to reorganize this bureau. No reasons were assigned for the action but there were rumors a-bout and these made unpleasant reading for the friends of Wilmett and the others.

By the way, had entered the bureau as a young man and during the 30 years of service had worked his way to the top. Others among those discharged had been there almost as long.

Mystery Deepens The mystery deepened when Secretary Mellon, who as head of the treasury has jurisdiction over the bureau of engraving, denied that he had been advised before the order was issued and that recent investigations not only failed to reveal any shortages but had complemented some of the very men discharged. The only thing obtainable from the white house was that the bureau was being subjected to a most searching investigation and that there would be no statement.

CHRISTOPHER BRAMBLE, of Brooklyn, Retired Chief Quartermaster U. S. Navy, who says his determination to try Tanlac was the wisest decision he ever made as the medicine completely restored his health.

any way but right. Well, I just kept on losing weight and getting worse until I concluded to try Tanlac, and that was the wisest decision I ever made. It's the only medicine I ever saw that does all they say it will. I now eat three hearty meals a day and never feel a touch of indigestion, and my appetite was never better, even when I was a school boy. My sleep is sound and restful and I get up mornings feeling refreshed and fine. My weight has increased and I have been built up until I never felt better in my life. If anybody doubts this statement just let them see one. Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. Over 25 million bottles sold.

"MAKE HEIRS SHOW THEY DESERVE THE MONEY," SAYS ONE, TAKING JOB

By NEA Service. CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Because he believes no man has a right to his fortune before he has earned it, and—

Because his pretty, demure bride inspired him to this realization after two years' high living— Vincent J. Lamb, 29-year-old heir to a $5,000,000 fortune, is working as an $18-a-week apprentice stock broker here. Until he has made $10,000 by sheer earning power, Lamb says, he will receive no benefit from his millions.

"My wife has brought me to the realization that only service counts," says Lamb. "No one should be given control of vast fortunes until the individual has proven his mettle."

"Deputies of Power" "Money means power. It should be used for good. But by that I don't necessarily mean unintelligent philanthropy. Owners of large fortunes, in my mind, are merely the deputies of power held temporarily in their custody. By human service they can turn that power into usefulness.

Fortune Tied Up "That's all I'll have to live on, too, for I've induced my lawyers back home to tie up every cent of my inheritance so's that I can't lay my fingers on a single penny until after I've pulled down the $10,000 on which I've set my mark.

forthcoming until this had been concluded. Meanwhile the men and women affected were protesting their innocence. They were without their jobs and even without civil service status, which was taken from them when summarily removed by an executive order. Some found employment elsewhere, one or two died, and the others merely waited. Finally, the treasury department gave out a statement that an investigation had disclosed one government bond had been duplicated 400 times but at the same time it was admitted this was due to a defect in the numbering machine.

Rescue Their Attacks The Democratic senators renewed their assaults on President Harding, declaring his action arbitrary and unlawful; insisting that the civil service status of these discharged employees should be restored to them or that they be given a formal hearing upon regular-preferred wages, as provided under civil service regulations. These demands were insistently stressed because if not restored to the civil service rolls within a year after discharge the men and women affected would lose their rights altogether.

Finally, the announcement was made from the white house that the investigation of the bureau of engraving, having failed to reveal anything of a serious nature, the civil service status of the employees summarily removed would be restored. At the same time it was declared they would be given back their old positions; that this was not feasible, and that the best they could get would be some other civil service position to which they might be eligible and in which a vacancy existed. With this came the announcement that, so far as President Harding was concerned, this was a closed incident.

As was stated, however, the Democratic senators are not content. Since that announcement Senator Caraway has roundly denounced the president and declared that one of these discharged employees is to sue the chief executive for wilful and malicious slander. While there is considerable doubt whether such a suit will get anywhere it certainly serves to maintain interest in the case and attract attention to what the Democrats will make a campaign issue.

BASKETBALL GAME POSTPONED RESULT SICK MEMBERS

NOTED KING RANCH IS CLASSED AS ONE OF TEXAS WONDERS

KINGSVILLE, TEXAS, Feb. 26.—Visitors to Kingsville and this vicinity declare that the famous King's ranch near here is one of the "wonders of Texas."

The ranch is of such proportions and is managed upon such a scale that it is considered sufficient to be almost a small state to itself. It is estimated that the ranch includes more than a million acres of land, extending into six counties as follows: Kleberg, Nueces, Jim Wells, Kennedy, Wilcox and Cameron.

King's ranch has been a historic attraction since its establishment back in 1851 by Captain H. M. King, according to Kingsville citizens. Mrs. H. M. King, wife of Captain King, still survives. The ranch is now managed by R. J. Kleberg, son-in-law of Mrs. King.

Approximately 4,000 acres of the more than a million in the King farms are under cultivation, according to Mr. Kleberg. On this cultivated acreage, however, is produced almost every variety of Texas crops. They include: Corn, oats, cotton, sorghum, milo, maize, kafir, cane, sorghum and all sorts of vegetables grown for use of the employees of the ranch.

The King "bird hands" would make up a good sized town in themselves. When asked how many persons are employed on the ranch, Manager Kleberg declared he did not know, but estimated that the number would average 2,000 ranging from 1,500 to 2,500 at different seasons of the year.

The principal occupation of the ranch is cattle raising and dairying. Approximately 200,000 cattle are maintained on the farms. Mr. Kleberg has established a herd of registered Jersey cattle and maintains 250 dairy cows. These cattle produce approximately 1,000 pounds of butter fat daily. Many breeds of cattle are seen among the range cattle, including a few of the famous Texas long-horns.

Texas legislators were shown some of the attractions of the ranch on their tour of the Rio Grande Valley recently. Only the "back yard" was visited, however. It was said, only a small portion of the farms having been visited on the three-hour automobile tour over the farms. The King mansion also was given a brief inspection with its many relics and historic pieces indicating ranch life in Texas.

An attempt was made recently in Berlin to blow up a large monumental group, comprising an equestrian statue of Emperor William I and monuments to Bismarck and Von Moltke.

The first German airplane piloted by a German airman to land voluntarily in England since the world war recently arrived at Crowden. It was the first all-metal plane to cross the channel.

SEEK OWNERS OF EXPLOSION FOUND IN NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Government agents and the police bomb squad, who are seeking the owner of the cache of machine guns, grenades and cartridges found in the basement of a lower West Side house last Saturday, today admitted they were baffled.

They have learned that Arthur Loewinger, proprietor of a seaman's supply store in Hoboken, leased the basement recently but he stoutly denies ownership or knowledge of the contraband. No charges have been made against him. PIRATES DESERVE THIRD PLACE IN LIFETIME STANDING, RECORDS SHOW

The Pittsburgh Pirates properly deserve third place in the lifetime standing of the National League, as Pittsburgh has earned the decision over every club in the league over a span of 26 years with the exception of New York and Chicago. New York, Chicago and Pittsburgh are the only clubs which have won more games than they have lost. The Pirates captured 212 games from their present opponents and lost 217, for a percentage of .500. Ease in defeating the St. Louis club is largely responsible for Pittsburgh's splendid showing in the last year, but it was only the fourth time that the Cardinals had done so. In 31 years' competition between the clubs, Pittsburgh has won 24 annual series, lost four and tied three. Pittsburgh has won 381 games from St. Louis and lost only 795, for a percentage of .489. This is the highest percentage enjoyed by one National League club over another.

Pittsburgh began fattening on St. Louis as soon as the latter club re-entered the National League in 1892, decisively winning the year's series in 1892 and 1893. The two clubs tied in games won and lost in 1894, after which the Pirates won in the next four years. St. Louis again tied in 1899, after which Pittsburgh set a record by beating the Cardinals for 15 successive years. It was not until 1915, when Miller Huggins raised the Cardinals to chief place in the league, that the Cardinals in that year won 12 games from the Smoky City club and lost 18.

It will be noted that the athletes stepped right out in style in those days, wearing the most comfortable as they did the baseball uniform. Recently an old-timer said the Orioles rented the dress suit for the occasion and all the athletes wore the same coat in posing for the picture.

SPORT BRIEFS

NEW YORK.—The first national municipal tennis championship, planned this year as an outstanding feature of the United States Lawn Tennis Association's program for development of the game on public courts, will probably be awarded to St. Louis.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—Bobby Jones of Atlanta, Harvard student, will not be a member of the American golf team which will play in the British amateur championship at Deal and later in distance.

LOS ANGELES.—Jimmy Murphy won the 250 mile automobile race at the Los Angeles speedway.

Of the forty to sixty species of grapes found in the world, more than half are natives of the North American continent.

All Major League Clubs Look To Big Season As Training Camps Open

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Heralding the approach of spring and another diamond campaign, advance caravans of nearly all of the sixteen major league baseball clubs are on their way south for the annual conditioning process. Training camps, scattered in lands of the palmetto and cactus from Florida to Catalina Island, Calif., will be in full swing for all of the clubs by the second week of March. For the veterans, the next six weeks or so of conditioning and exhibition pastime will mean shedding excess pounds acquired during the winter lay-off and limbering up for competition with eager and ambitious recruits, hundreds of whom will strive for league positions for the first time in their careers.

This rivalry for regular berths promises to be especially keen among several clubs going through a marked process of reorganization, including the Cleveland and Boston Americans, the Brooklyn Dodgers, Chicago and St. Louis Nationals.

Interest among fans is centered largely in the prospects of the New York Giants and Yankees repeating their triumphs of the past two seasons in the face of increasing strength among several of their more dangerous rivals.

Yanks and Giants Confident. While they are not discounting the opposition they will encounter this year, Managers McGraw of the Yankees and Huggins of the Giants are confident their teams will keep the National and American League pennants in the same city for the third straight year.

Both pilots declare their teams will be decidedly stronger, although they plan relatively little rebuilding. The Pittsburgh Pirates, in McGraw's opinion, loom as the club the Giants must eliminate to stay at the top of the heap, while the Yankees leader expects to meet a battle from Ty Cobb's Detroit Tigers, Cincinnati in the National, and St. Louis in the American, are picked as the next strongest clubs.

McGraw has announced that he will stand pat on his 1922 championship line-up, with the possible exception of centerfield, devoting most of his attention to strengthening weaknesses in the pitching staff. It is nearly cost the club the pennant last season, Jimmy O'Connell, 37-year-old pitcher from San Francisco, is expected to exit the middle infield, but McGraw will give the veteran Casey Stengel, whose comeback will prove a formidable obstacle, the job with the coast youngster.

Bentley Will Help Giants. Jack Bentley, another expensive acquisition, is expected to add considerable strength to the pitching corps. Bentley starred both as a pitcher and a slinger in 1922, the Baltimore Orioles for several years, but his work with the champions will be confined to the mound, according to McGraw. The Giants leader has a dozen or more recruits from whom he hopes to weed out another twirling star. He also looks for the return of the veteran Hugh McQuillan, Jack Scott, Art Neff and Jess Barnes—besides greater effectiveness from younger mainstays like Bill Ryan, Claude Jonnard and Virgil Barnes.

Pittsburgh's veteran and hard-hitting aggregation, in McGraw's belief, will prove a formidable obstacle, under the leadership of Bill McKechnie, who took the Pirate helm around mid-season last year and developed the club into a dangerous contender in the closing month of the campaign.

Cincinnati, reorganized with a brilliant young infield and good pitching, also figures strongly in McGraw's calculations, while the Chicago Cubs, with a pitching staff for the ordinary, promise to bear watching.

Yanks Pitching Strong. Huggins bases much of his confidence in 1923 prospects upon his belief that the Yankee pitching staff, the deciding factor in last year's race, will be even more consistent this year and that Babe Ruth, if he returns in 1923 form, will bolster the morale and attacking strength of the club.

The diminutive pitcher Carl Mays and Sam Jones, whose pitching was a disappointment last season, will flash old-time form, while Bob Shawkey and Joe Bush, 1922 mainstays, will be more effective than ever. Ruth's determination to regain the home-run hitting laurels he lost last year has been demonstrated by the strict program of conditioning to which he adhered during the winter on his Massachusetts farm.

The Tigers, formidable last season, will be much stronger, according to the Yankee view, as a result of the acquisition of Del Pratt, veteran second baseman, and Rip Collins, southpaw twirler, from the Red Sox in exchange for Howard Ehmke, pitcher. Cobb has an unusual array of heavy hitters, flanked by a promising corps of young pitchers—a combination which will be hard to keep from the top.

The St. Louis Browns, unless they are strengthened in several positions, are not rated as high as last year, when they finished just a hair behind the Yankees in a thrilling finish, nor as dangerous as the Tigers.

THRILLING FINISH AT LOS ANGELES GIVES VICTORY TO MURPHY

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 25.—A car's length gave Jimmy Murphy victory in the 250 mile national championship automobile race—the first motor car speed contest of 1923—at the Los Angeles speedway yesterday and put Bennett Hill in second place. Hill received $5,000 and 200 points toward the 1923 championship while Murphy took $9,000 and 500.

To get the checkered flag ahead of Hill, Murphy was forced to set what was said to be a new world record for the distance—an average speed of 112.45 miles an hour, and both Murphy and Hill broke the former record of 114.6 miles an hour set by Bennett Hill on the same course December 2.

Murphy made one lap at the rate of 112.45 miles an hour, and then Ralph de Palma after driving more than half of the race in second place, was forced into the pits with a broken axle. The Times for the last two full laps but finally succeeded in reaching and holding third place, winning $3,000 and 140 points.

Eddie Hearne was fourth, Frank Elliott fifth, Tommy Milton sixth, Harry Rosta seventh, Art Klein eighth, B. J. Lewis ninth, Mortimer ninth, and Jerry Wonderlich tenth.

When a fellow has a hobby it is hard for him to do away from him. There is Branch Rickey, who is baseball coach for the University of Michigan long before he became a major league player.

A brief sketch over his career shows that he does not believe the bridge between the college field and the major league circuit is too long to cover.

The Chicago Cardinals are found at the University of the State of Texas, Pitcher Stuart of Ohio State and Catcher Harry McCardy of the University of Michigan. And Harry Viek, with the University of Illinois last season, shared by Rickey last summer, has just been named to the Cardinals.

Florida is the most popular training ground this year, seven clubs choosing the Everglades state for their conditioning. Texas, Alabama and Arkansas each have two clubs in their confines, while Louisiana, Georgia and California each have one.

The list of 1923 training sites follows:

National League: New York—San Antonio, Tex.; Cincinnati—Orlando, Fla.; Pittsburgh—Hot Springs, Ark.; St. Louis—Bradenton, Fla.; Chicago—Catalina Island, Calif.; Brooklyn—Lakeland, Fla.; Philadelphia—Leesburg, Fla.; Boston—St. Petersburg, Fla.

American League: New York—Mobile, Ala.; Detroit—Augusta, Ga.; Chicago—Seagin, Tex.; Cleveland—Lakeland, Fla.; Washington—Tampa, Fla.; Philadelphia—Montgomery, Ala.; Boston—Hot Springs, Ark.

FIRST PRACTICE SESSION BY CARDINALS IN FLORIDA

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 25.—The first practice session of the season was on the program for the St. Louis Cardinals today when they reached Bradenton, Fla., according to dispatches received here. Approximately 40 players, including regulars, reserves and players belonging to the Syracuse, Fort Smith and Houston clubs, which are Cardinal farms, were in the vanguard arriving at the camp.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 25.—Headed by Manager Lee Fohl, coaches and trainers, eight players of the St. Louis Browns left St. Louis this morning for the New York Nationals at Mobile, Ala. It was announced the vanguard will be augmented en route, and when camp is reached tomorrow morning more than 20 men are to be on hand.

Urban Shocker, ace of the Browns' pitching staff, has indefinitely deferred his departure because of illness of his father in Iowa.

Statistics prove that England spends more on alcohol than Scotland, relative to population.

CUBS BUILD NEW PARK; WILL HAVE LARGEST SINGLE DECK GRANDSTAND IN THE COUNTRY

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Chicago will have the largest single deck baseball stand in the country when the new Cubs' park is completed for the opening of the 1923 season. The stand is a rapidly increasing competition at a cost of nearly $100,000. When finished the park will have a seating capacity of approximately 21,000 compared with the previous capacity of 15,500. There will be 9,277 box seats, 16,572 grand stand seats and about 5,000 bleacher seats. The old steel and concrete stand, which was erected in 1914 by the Chicago Federal League club and taken over by the Cubs with the absorption of the Federals in 1916, was cut into three parts. The side sections were moved back while the central section was left in its original position and the open space between the stands was filled in with new sections.

BASEBALLING IN JAPAN! GEORGE KELLY HERO

Waite Hoyt, star pitcher of the New York Americans and world series hero, who recently returned with the Oriental baseball expedition and has told his story of the trip to Billy Evans of NEA Service.

Baseballing in Japan! It furnished more thrills than a world series for the fortunate players on the selected teams of big leaguers who recently journeyed to the orient to promote the national game and international goodwill. The "Oriental tour" presents the first of a series of first-hand stories of the most momentous expedition as told to Billy Evans of NEA Service.

By WAITE HOYT. Pitcher for the New York Americans and world series hero, George Kelly of the New York Giants was the outstanding hero of the baseball expedition to the orient, from the Japanese viewpoint.

The Japs being small of stature, Kelly, six feet four inches, was regarded as a superman, even in his civilian clothes. Among the hotel and railroad stations Kelly was always the center of attraction.

In a baseball uniform Kelly seems even taller and when he and Johnny Lavan, who was playing short for our team, had a conference it always got a big laugh. Lavan and Kelly were the Mitt and Jeff combination of the trip. These two famous comic characters are almost as well known in Japan as in the States.

Aside from the hitting ability of the Americans, the Japs marvel at our long-distance throwing. Kelly, the accuracy with which the outfielders could get the ball to the plate.

Ernest Koob, a kid southpaw, who was a sensation for two years in the American League was picked up by a big league club in New York. Wayne Wright, a prospect member of the St. Louis Browns' staff, was found by Rickey at Ohio State.

While major league phenoms also grow in minor league fields Rickey does not let his eyes miss the collegiate territory.

As most of the players composing the White Sox vanguard already have departed from their homes direct to the training camp, the party leaving here tonight will be small. For a few days the White Sox will remain in Bradenton, Fla., and then proceed to Segun.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Before leaving for Pittsburgh today Harry Greb, who lost the American lightweight championship to Jess Willard last Friday, announced he had accepted terms for a bout with Jack Bloomfield, English pugilist, in Albert Hall, London, sometime in the near future.

Greb said he had been offered $50,000 and 15 per cent of the motion picture receipts.

NEW YORK NATIONALS DEPART FOR SAN ANTONIO

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—This is today for the New York Nationals. With the departure of a local delegation headed by Frankie Frisch, Giants in all parts of the country are training for San Antonio, Texas, to train for another world's championship.

Pitchers Scott and Bentley, infielder Hawkins and Captain Benfro are holdouts.

A chair of alcoholic research is to be established at one of the Japanese universities.

ARCHER QUINT TO SEEK REVENGE IN GAME HERE MONDAY

Monday night's basket ball game between the Coyotes and Archer City, while it will have no bearing on the intercollegiate race, is expected to be one of the hardest fought contests of the season here. The Coyotes defeated Archer City in the semi-finals of the district championship week before last, in a game that was the most bitterly contested of the entire meet, and the Archer City boys would doubt like mightily to get some measure of revenge.

Long Shots in High Favor With Big Ten Basketball Teams

It has long been a theory in basket ball that a quintet which depends on team play and combination work to carry the ball down the floor for a close shot at the cage will consistently beat an outfit that overlooks the passing end of the game to a certain extent and resorts mainly to long tosses for its points.

That theory, of course, still holds true. That's easy to see. It couldn't be otherwise. For it's easier to drop the ball through a hoop at close range than it is from a distance. In the latter instance the element of luck plays too big a part.

However, the old theory doesn't work as well nowadays. Simply because the defensive end of play has grown more efficient, and the offense has grown more efficient, and it is well nigh impossible to pass the ball down court in order to obtain a "near" lay at the meshwork of the basket, the latter being only a few inches above the hoop.

Consider the recent Western Conference game between Indiana and Illinois, which the former won, 21 to 24. In that fray, the two factions combined had exactly 73 shots at the hoop, of which only 22 resulted in goals. And of the 22 attempts but 28 of them were chor shots, and 25 medium heaves. No less than 51 long tosses were attempted, and the white flag has been scored with 13 coming on shot from near the cage, four on medium range throws, and six on "Lan-Toms."

Obviously short shots always return the largest rewards, but the short range game between Indiana and Illinois, which the former won, 21 to 24. In that fray, the two factions combined had exactly 73 shots at the hoop, of which only 22 resulted in goals.

There seems to be much food for thought in this angle of the pastime.

Petunias, cousins to the tobacco plant, are natives of South America.

The signal for battle of the Romans consisted of the unfurling of a red flag; the white flag has always been a sign of truce or peace.

Judge S. A. L. Morgan told the Kinrains Club at their weekly luncheon at Temple Israel Monday in speaking on "Three Kinds of Citizens."

Judge Morgan divided citizens into three classes: the good, the indifferent and the bad. He explained how there were always a few citizens in each community who were killing to take the responsibility and foster any move.

He called special attention to the fact that it was not necessary to be a bad citizen in order to be worthwhile to the community.

NEW ADDITIONS TO BE PUT ON MARKET SOME IRRIGATED

EXTENSIVE SUBURBAN DEVELOPMENT IN PROSPECT WEST OF CITY.

FARM AND RESIDENCE TRACTS TO BE OFFERED

Some Already Being Purchased; Iowa Park Road Also to Be Scene of Additions.

As the big Wichita irrigation project nears completion, the prospect of an unlimited water supply and an intensive farming district surrounding Wichita Falls has become a tangible fact in the minds of Wichita Falls citizens and a rapidly increasing number are becoming interested in the possibility of owning a few acres, or many acres, as the case may be, far enough out of the city to be free from the dust and grime and noises of the town and to take advantage of the fresh air, plenty of room, gardens, fruit, a cow, chickens and the numerous attractions offered by a home in the country.

In view of the demand which has been growing steadily for the past several months, a number of new additions, some joining the city limits and others as much as seven and eight miles out, have been placed on the market with plans being worked out for a good many more to be offered later in the spring.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and a colonel's old-time army, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing, vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" and breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c

These additions and tracts of land comprise a total of several thousand acres and are cut into blocks of from less than an acre to 50 or more acres each, meeting the demands of the man on a salary who wants to give his family the advantages of country life as well as the head of the largest oil corporation who desires a country estate, the progressive farmer who sees the possibilities of this location as an irrigated farm and truck section.

Among the most popular and attractive possibilities for country home sites are the additions west of town on the Seymour road. Some of these are already on the market and others will be opened in a few months.

Immediately west of the Chenault home in this section an addition of 17 building sites of approximately an acre each is now on the market. A boulevard drive and a park with a community swimming pool are features planned for this addition.

A mile west of the city limits, a tract of 200 acres has been cut into 10 to 40 acre tracts. Much of this land will be under irrigation and several pieces have already been sold. There are here a number of possibilities that city conveniences will be extended to this section as soon as there is sufficient development to warrant it.

Far enough out for a real farm home, another 300 acres has been cut up into 5 to 15 acre tracts and will soon be on the market. Plans are being drawn for an ideal farm home with all modern conveniences enjoyed in a home in town, to be built and offered with an exception by the promoters of this addition.

On the Iowa Park road which has the advantage of already being paved, a tract of 100 acres is now in the market in five and 10 acre tracts. Every block of this land will face either on the paved road or a foot graded road, according to the present owner. He further stated that an electric light line is already on part of this addition with every indication for a near future.

Further out on the highway, land in much larger pieces can be had, some with restrictions and some without. Several tracts have already been sold, out of what is known as the John Hirschi lands, more than half way to Iowa Park.

On the Hirschi road a number of small home sites have been sold ranging from two acres up. This land will be under irrigation and much of it is on an eminence affording beautiful building locations. Attractive building lots for suburban homes on the lake road are on the market and there are a number of additions within the city limits, yet far enough out to afford many of the advantages of the country, with all of the city conveniences.

The building boom which has swept the east has certainly hit Wichita. The real estate and building contractors report that a large number of new homes are to be built within the next few months. The market is now flooded with additions within the city limits, yet far enough out to afford many of the advantages of the country, with all of the city conveniences.

A drive over the city now, shows building development in all sections and with the coming of spring with its assurance of good weather and the prospect of a more active business, the building boom bids fair to be one of unprecedented activity in both urban and rural development.

SAYS PROPHECY IS BIBLE'S ACID TEST, PROOFS ARE CITED

"We have also a more sure word of prophecy, whereunto we do well take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place" (2 Pet. 1:19), constituted the text of Father George W. Spies, in a sermon on "Bible Prophecy, the Acid Test of Divine Inspiration of the Scriptures," preached at the Labor Temple on Sunday night. He said in part:

"Many a reader of the Bible, like Thomas Paine, Robert Ingersoll, Voltaire and Hume, has discarded and despised the prophecies of the Bible as clumsy guess work of man's production, and has read that precious Book only to find evidence with which to refute its claims. But the authors of the Bible issued a challenge to the most modest human acceptance of which he may test his contention concerning that book. And many an honest skeptic has found, to his great amazement and deep chagrin, overwhelming evidence of its authenticity in a study of the Bible itself.

"Thousands of sincere skeptics have been dumfounded and overwhelmed at the scores, you hundreds, of minutes, terse Bible prophecies which reach down through the years, not a few, but hundreds and even thousands of years into the future. With luminous strokes of infinite knowledge these mouthpieces of God, the ancient prophets, make their unequalled declarations. And how has the facts of history responded to the voice of prophecy? In every history of these times, many of them written by skeptics themselves, we read in marvelous detail the facts which multiply evidence by the volume that these prophecies were true.

"I am God, and there is none like me, declaring the end from the beginning, and from ancient times the things that are not yet done" (Isa. 46:10). Produce your cause, saith the Lord, bring forth your strong reasons, saith the king of Jacob. Let them bring them forth and declare unto us—what shall happen. I show us things to come. Declare the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that ye are Gods (Isa. 41:21-24). And even Christ Himself said to His disciples, "I tell you before it come to pass, that when it is come to pass, ye may know that I am he" (John 13:19).

"The acid test of the truthfulness of the Bible is contained in its prophetic utterances. And that book repeatedly states its own evidence and authority upon the truthfulness of its prophecies, and challenges the world to disprove them. The scripture cited above claims unequivocally that the prophecies of the Bible contain the only genuine prophecies in the world. And with the libraries of the world open to us, it is a comparatively easy matter to test these claims. No other book in the world has been able to stand the test of uttering specific prophecies. Out of the thousands of books printed in hundreds of languages, the Bible alone will bear the test of such an investigation.

"Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel have spoken of almost every known country from their day down to the present time. Their daring declarations almost take away one's breath. Not the like of Delphic oracles are their specific utterances. They burn all bridges behind them. If the things predicted did not come to pass, there is no way of escaping away these unqualified statements.

"When Babylon, for example, was at the height of its glory, Jeremiah foretold its overthrow" (Jer. 50, 51). Isaiah described the manner of its accomplishment 176 years before the event occurred and mentioned by name Cyrus, who was to fulfill this prophecy as the agent of Providence, 113 years before Cyrus was born (Isa. 45:1-5). Jeremiah states that the overthrow of Babylon would occur in the days of Nebuchadnezzar's grandson, which was Belshazzar (Jer. 25:6, 7). And the same prophet states that the overthrow would be preceded by two runts that would come to Babylon in successive years before that strongly fortified city would fall and be burnt to ashes (Jer. 39:1-10).

"The prophecies of Daniel, chapters two and seven, give us an outline history in advance of the rise and fall of kingdoms from the days of Daniel down to our own time. Four universal empires were, according to this prediction, to succeed in ruling the world, in accordance with this prediction, Babylon, Medo-Persia, Greece and Rome respectively appeared upon the scene, and the world was divided into four great universal monarchies that would rule the world down to the close of the world. Fully how could he mention by name in advance Medo-Persia and Greece as the two nations that would successively follow Babylon, when Greece was not more than 200 years in the future? (See Daniel 2:20, 21).

"Describing the fourth kingdom, Rome, Daniel said of it, 'The kingdom shall be divided'; 'The horns out of this kingdom are ten kings that shall arise' (Dan. 2:31, 32, 34). And true to the prophetic declaration, between the years 311 A. D. and 476 A. D., the Roman empire was divided into just ten kingdoms, as foretold by the prophet Daniel about 1,000 years before. And the historian of today says: 'Amidst unceasing and almost countless fluctuations, the kingdoms of modern Europe have from their birth to the present day averaged ten in number. They have never broken up or old Rome been united into one single empire; they have never formed one whole even like the United States.'

"Daniel described an unsuccessful attempt at uniting these ten kingdoms; he says: 'They shall mingle themselves with the seed of men, but they shall not cleave one to another' (Dan. 2:43). For 300 years the royal families of Europe have intermarried with a view to uniting more closely the kingdoms of Europe, until at the beginning of the 19th century, the ten kingdoms of Europe's royalty was related to Queen Victoria. But the prophecy says: 'They shall not cleave one to another.' And this prophetic declaration has proved to be like the United States.'

be destroyed; it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand forever" (Dan. 2:35, 44). This verse foretells the establishment of another universal kingdom, a fifth, namely, the kingdom of God. This kingdom is to overthrow and supplant all existing earthly kingdoms, and is to stand forever. This accomplished, the kingdoms of this world will have become the kingdoms of our Lord and of His Christ, and He shall reign forever."

be stronger than all the armies and navies of Europe. Attempts to unite Europe by force of arms have been made by Charlemagne, Charles V, Louis XIV, Napoleon and finally by Emperor William of Germany. But these great generals were all fighting against fate. God had foreseen the final outcome, and had recorded it in the prophecy, and no other result was possible. His unalterable decree had said, 'They shall not cleave one to another.' "Having introduced the divided state of the Roman empire, fully accomplished in 476 A. D., the prophet continues: 'In the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom which shall never be destroyed; it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand forever" (Dan. 2:35, 44). This verse foretells the establishment of another universal kingdom, a fifth, namely, the kingdom of God. BY Miss Anna Bronsky

OF THE H. W. Gossard Co. CHICAGO

To those of us who really care about our appearance, it is important that we should understand the unmistakable Fashion tendency toward "personalized styles."

Gossard artistry introduced the idea of classifying women into nine ideal figure types and using this classification as the designing fundamental to create special corsets for their varying needs.

Gossard Type Corsetry

is an unflinching foundation for becoming dress and this special demonstration by an accepted style and corset authority is truly important to every woman who would make the most of her personal charm.

Come in today and let Miss Bronsky demonstrate the merits of Gossard Corsets.
