ROY MITCHELL IS SENTENCED TO HANG FOR WACO MURDER

DEATH PENALTY GIVEN IN FIRST OF THE THIRTEEN CASES. VERDICT APPLAUD BY CROWD IN COURT ROOM. Jury Was Absent From the Court Room Only Nine Minutes. WACO, March 17.—After only nine minutes of deliberation the jury in the trial of Roy Mitchell, negro, charged with the shooting and killing of W. E. Holt on the night of January 15, last, returned a verdict of guilty, assessing his punishment at death. Mitchell is to be tried on 12 more charges, all of them involving the brutal murders occurring in McLennan county during the past year. It was the first time since the county attorney Farmer completed his appeal to the jury and jurymen retired to consider their verdict, first selecting a foreman of the jury. At 7:55 o'clock the jury filed back into the box, announcing it had reached a verdict. As the 12 men came back into the court room the hum of conversation was hushed until the decision of the trial jury was announced. After a hush of but a moment a shout of approval went up from the crowd. The jurymen filled the court capacity, cheers and hand clapping were joined in by the large number of women who were in the courtroom and went out without any remark or notice by the officers, who smiled their approval of the decision given.

CHEER COUNTY ATTORNEY

Cheer County Attorney Attorney Farmer today announced that he had given his consent to the case and his request of the jury that they acquit Mitchell of the charge of killing Holt. Mitchell, during Farmer's arraignment for the murders that he had committed and was sending him to the gallows, took an ashen color but his nerve did not break in the slightest, nor did he shed a tear. Mitchell's motion when the verdict was announced after the brief retirement and retirement of the jury, demanding that death should be meted out to him. County Attorney Farmer in his address to the jury, stated that the population of Waco and McLennan county that had better mend their ways with the good and law-abiding citizens of the city and county in seeing that the laws of the land were observed, not giving aid and comfort to men like Roy Mitchell, whom he referred to as the "bluebeard," and who at liberty made life cheap in this county. Mitchell, a man of every woman and girl, discarding many of the niceties of the English language, Farmer went into Mitchell's confession in the Holt and Dancamp murders, drew the curtain aside and pictured the scenes that were enacted on the night of the Springfield road beginning with the time when Mitchell crept upon his victim.

ATTORNEY'S PRESENT CASE

Proceeding Farmer's final appeal to the jury, asking that Mitchell be sentenced to hang, was not to name any specific sum as a reparations offer nor to make any definite request of the United States. It probably will furnish a basis for estimating how near peace is in the Ruhr. Informed quarters here do not expect any very active steps in the United States toward a Ruhr settlement in Great Britain, will force Germany in hoping that the pressure from labor and other elements in Great Britain, will force the Bonar Law government actively to take the lead in pressing for a general settlement between France and Germany.

To use Mr. Burnett's expression, "I have sections of land on which to stage this affair, and my herds are fat; the Indians, who are expert horsemen, are present, and there is no need for anyone going away hungry."

It is this great western hospitality of Tom Burnett that has made him so popular among the clergies that love this great outdoor sport and life, and record breaking crowds are expected.

The Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce, as well as the chambers of business and industry, are assisting Mr. Burnett in the publicity for the occasion, and its success is easily foreseen.

Engineers who have inspected this plant say that a more modern plant of its size is not located anywhere in the smaller cities. Two other smaller disposal plants have also been completed, and there yet remain only man-holes, cleanouts and other small detail work to finish the system. This work will be undertaken by the city administration, in keeping with their plans to make Iowa Park a suitable place for a residence-city, and its location with respect to Wichita Falls, and its close proximity to the irrigated valley lands in irrigation district No. 3 promises a large amount of home building during 1923.

Colorful Silks

The newest silks are extremely colorful, they range red, black, green and mauve figures trailing all over a background of brilliant yellow. It's on the market.

HABERDASHERY ON THE CALENDAR FOR SPRING

While there is a tendency to slightly higher prices for men's haberdashery this spring, the advance is partially offset by better quality merchandise. Prices have reached the point of stabilization and the wild fluctuations of war days the post-war days are a thing of the past.

During the halcyon days the cost of most accessories was just about twice that of today. The $25 shirt, for example, may be purchased for $12 or $13. Stockwear marked at $2 is now down to $1.50 and the range of prices is correspondingly lowered throughout.

White Silk Shirts Popular

While the silk shirt has been making desperate efforts to regain its war-day popularity, the march of progress has been quite slow in the last two years. The white silk shirt will lead the field, of course, but there is a tendency for plain colored silks to come back in some of the more durable weaves. Among them are baby broche and jersey colored silks to come back in some of the more durable weaves.

Good Selection of Fiber Silks

There always will be a demand for the better fiber silk shirts, largely due to the fact that they offer a selection that good dressers like—at prices that do not tax one's income.

The collar - attached shirt which reached the height of popularity last year will go ahead with greater advancement than ever, if the prediction of makers is correct. In this special line there is a greater variety than ever, giving the customer a wider range of selection. And one of the pleasing features is the fact that the workmanship has improved wonderfully—true making, it's a gent's man's shirt.

Then, too, there will be shown more shirts with two button cuffs, although the French cuff still leads the procession. Flannel shirts will have quite a following, especially among those dressers who prefer the sort of flannel coming from England and France.

Gayer Effects in Neckwear

In neckwear the subdued color effects of sombre winter will give way to the varicolored selection that usually blossoms forth in the spring. Silks from foreign fields—England, France, Switzerland and the far eastern countries—have flooded the market, but they are made up in the American styles and fashions. Among some of the shapes are the narrow-collars, adapted for the smaller collar which have become the popular vogue for warmer weather wear.

Because of their serviceability and durability, gingham and knitted ties will be worn with greater frequency than ever. Many interesting and novel effects have been produced, giving the wearer a variety in selection that has never before offered before.

Matching some of the suit patterns will be broad effects, which promise to "go across" with great demand. Foreign foulards also will come to the front stronger than ever.

Few Changes in Hosiery

Because of the limitations, hosiery will undergo few changes this year. Good silks, with cloths and other novel designs, particularly the full-fashioned selection, will be as popular as ever. For early spring castorines, camel's hair and imported woads will get the big play.

Naturally there will be a good selection of silk accoutrements and broad-bordered effects, but the showing promises to be only normal. As for colors, the shades and tones of each will be about the same as last season.

Some Story for Gloves

There have been very few changes made in glove styles and colors in the last few years and nothing novel is expected to be displayed this season. Cape, Arabian, mocha, suede, buck and chambray in standard shades will furnish the greater part of the showing. Plain or embroidered backs are about only ornamental features that will appear. The pearl "gent's man's" shirt, is replacing the old-time clasp.

The success of midgy pajamas, otherwise known as the bachelor or buttonless pajamas, has been unusually tremendous. The ease with which men can slip into and out of them is a feature that has attracted attention. While colored effects and stripes had the call in past seasons, the tendency is toward plain colors or white. In silk pajamas the color scheme is prevalent, with frogs of contrasting tones.

Plain or pattern effects of madras percales, crepe, chambray, seersucker and fiber silk will be among the fabrics in vogue.

Soft Collar is Favored

The non-wrinklable collar, now made by a number of concerns, has won the popular favor of many a good dresser and will blossom forth much greater than ever this spring. The two-ply hard collar, with a slight roll, will be the chief competitor for popularity.

In other men's accessories, such as underwear, hats, jewelry, handkerchiefs, walking sticks, etc., there have been no decided changes.

SPUDDERS ROMP ON SHERMAN IN FIRST EXHIBITION GAME 16-7

SALM'S YOUNGSTERS TAKE SHERMAN IN FOR BEATING; WHITEMAN HITS HOME RUN

Erzy Walter Salm sent his youngsters, with the exception of a few old timers, against Sherman in the first exhibition game of the season Saturday and the boys did plenty to Otto Melver's former T-O League club and of late members of the new Texas Central Association. When the dust had cleared away in the ninth round, Salm's Spudders had a 16 to 7 count on the Sherman boys. Taking all in all the game was as good as could be expected this early in the season and Salm's rookies really showed some good baseball while the Sherman club never put up anything to talk about.

Hoots, the big semi-pro pitcher from St. Louis, brought here by Blachoff, started the fireworks for the Spudders and the big boy went good for the three innings that he was on the mound. He got through by giving up only two hits, a double and a single. Hoots is a big right-hander and has plenty of steam and he pitched the same thing on his ball Saturday. He has good control and is steady and shows prospects of making a good pitcher.

Salm started the game with his rookie infield with the exception of Klugman at second base and Hull at first and Blachoff behind the bat. Klugman at second, looked fair enough, although he was not given much chance to strut his stuff in the five innings he was in the game.

The feature of the day was a circuit by the old reliable George Whiteman and four blows out of five trips to the plate for Babe Ruth. George also set the stands roaring when he made a one-hand catch of a high fly after he had overrun the ball on account of the high wind.

The paid admissions for the day was 41, and they got their money's worth out of the fun they had if not by the baseball game. Sherman is here again today and it is thought that sales will send his vets in at the start of the game. The only old men that got a taste of the ball Saturday were Babe Blachoff, Klugman, Ruth, Whiteman and Klugman. The rest of the team was made up of the rookie talent that is in camp. A new recruit made his appearance Saturday morning in the person of one Robertson, from Omaha. He is an outfielder and got into the game near the closing stanza, relieving Becher in left field.

Red Williams, the little rookie outfielder from Clovis showed up well in center field taking some home chances and getting two base hits, a double and a single. Hub Hollis, the little infielder from Austin College relieved Klugman at second and showed that he is a baseball player the making. He is fast and covered the ground around second in good style.

Odum and Osborna both rookies pitchers, also got a hand in the fray each pitching three innings. Odum has the throw to first, down in regular style and kept the runners tagging the bag all the time for 2 p. m.

The Spudders started the fireworks in the second inning when six runs were chased across the plate. Howell started things with a two-base hit after Williams was out, pitcher first. Ruth followed with another double scoring Howell and Hull was walked. Blachoff drew a life on an error and Hoots came through with a single scoring Ruth and Howell. Becher tripled clearing the bags; Klugman drew a life on an error and George Whiteman doubled sending Becher home.

The Sherman team never pulled anything out of the ordinary until the last inning. O'Keefe, first up, was walked. Meador flew to Williams and Lewis whiffed. Skipper Otto Melver then came through for the first hit of the day, a two base hit to center, sending O'Keefe home. He followed the Skipper with a single and Bupp was walked. Gaff doubled scoring Amis and Bupp.

Shipper Salm said Saturday that Big Ben Upmours would probably get arived in the box in today's game. The tilt this afternoon is called for 2 p. m.

Mike McTigue Spreads Much Joy In Ireland By Beating Battling Siki; Scrap is Tame in Most Parts

DUBLIN, March 17.—Mike McTigue, the Irish-American fighter, is now the world's light-heavyweight champion and European heavy-weight champion, and George Carpenter can no longer regain the honors he lost to Battling Siki by a return match with the deposed Blagales.

McTigue gained the decision from Siki at the local theater in a 20-round contest tonight. McTigue won on points at the end of the contest, but later Siki was reported to have disagreed vigorously and expressed his intention of challenging the decision.

Carpenter came from Paris with his manager and sat at the ringside. He watched the progress of the contest not only with intense interest but apparent satisfaction. He announced his intention at the close of the fight to challenge the winner.

As a ring battle, the fight proved disappointing. There was much swinging and side stepping, but knockdowns were scored and neither man showed any particular sign of battle at the end. The Irishman was the more active of the two.

One of the most exciting features of the whole affair was the possibility that the Irish irregulars would interrupt the proceedings with a bomb but the government had taken precautions with soldiers stationed at various points around the theater and beyond one explosion a short distance from the battleground there was no trouble and the fight proceeded on its long and tiresome way.

The men entered the ring at 8:15 and although both were welcomed the Irishman naturally was the favorite. It was evident from the start that McTigue had a pre-arranged plan aimed at letting the Senegalese tire himself out. He let Siki do the swinging while he did the ducking and dodging about the ring and left swings but they found no mark; he was clearly puzzled at the tactics of his opponent. Then, when he forced McTigue to the ropes, which he did several times, the Irishman came back with hard punches and managed to work out the center of the ring without having received material damage.

McTigue used his left jab to hit Siki's face but his force into his punches, which were, apparently, directed mainly at irritating the Senegalese and to give him an opportunity to wear himself out with continual swinging. McTigue did not hopped around the ring for so many rounds that his opponent became anxious or discouraged and should "hit him Mike; put him out."

Siki, whose wrath it was expected would rise slightly under these tactics, held his temper admirably and showed signs of surprise when McTigue succeeded in avoiding his fiercest blows. It was not until the sixteenth round that first blood was drawn on the Irishman's forehead, showing a slight gash. Some slight that Siki was bleeding from the lips.

The Senegalese tried hard to get at McTigue in the twelfth round, but McTigue's ability at sidestepping kept him out of danger and Siki was unable to reach him effectively. In the thirteenth the Irishman tried to avoid a vicious left swing and hooked Siki with his right. He seemed all along to be saving his strength for some special opportunity while Siki used both hands equally at all stages of the battle.

After the fourteenth round McTigue began to fight; he forced the pace and Siki made a rather steady acquaintance with the ropes. McTigue evidently figured that the issue for making his bid had come and he got home many times on the black man's ribs. In the eighteenth Siki showed signs of punishment; he had lost some of his dash and was not as enterprising as he had been in the early rounds. McTigue was wary and took no chances. He had distinctly the better of this round, though his opponent reached his ribs a number of times.

In the twentieth and last round, McTigue went in hard and punished Siki severely in the face. He was still on the offensive when the bell rang.

These Stars After Spudder Berth

These three star players are making things hot for those that are after a regular berth on the Spudders' nine. They are, reading from left to right, Joe Klugman, second baseman, Joe Berger, shortstop and George Whiteman, outfielder. Klugman and Whiteman made their debut in the game here Saturday and Berger will probably perform for the first today. Whiteman was the only player to hit one over the fence for a circuit about Saturday.

Today's program for the Spudders' season will be a series of exhibition games. The first of these will be a game here Saturday night. The Spudders' season will be a series of exhibition games. The first of these will be a game here Saturday night.

STATEMENT PUBLISHED CAUSE FOR AMUSEMENT

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Statement published in Paris and accredited to Secretary Hughes to the effect that the United States desired to obtain the Antilles from France in payment of the French war debt were received with amusement today by Mr. Hughes, who has never had made any such suggestion. COLLEGE TYPE OF CLOTHES

Next comes the college type of clothes, which will be of softer construction than heretofore, with low collars, short lapels, single breasted, rounding fronts, three and four-button coats, worn buttoned. The three-button coat seems to have the call.

Simplification seems to rule the men's clothing industry—simplification in style, in fabric and in pattern. Conservatism, with few variations, appears to have the call this spring and summer. The jazz models, which made such a hurrah last year, and which went strong in some sections of the country, but were rejected in other parts, apparently passed the height of popularity and now are on the down grade. While a few makers, who were successful in putting out the jazz output, will continue along these lines, the better manufacturers have turned down these styles almost completely. There will, however, be shown a variety of these freakish styles, but the production is so small that it is almost insignificant. No doubt the death knell has been rung. Three Variations Noted. The first style idea concerns that group known as regular young men's models. The coats are semi-fitted, with two and three buttons, both single and double breasted. The rope shoulders will be a prominent feature of these clothes. The vest to these suits will also show a tendency to be cut a little lower at the opening and straighter at the bottom. The third style idea concerns that group known as regular young men's models. The coats are semi-fitted, with two and three buttons, both single and double breasted. The rope shoulders will be a prominent feature of these clothes. The vest to these suits will also show a tendency to be cut a little lower at the opening and straighter at the bottom. Men "Blossom out" in new Spring Styles proved styles has helped put the fabric across with greater force than ever. For a time Palm Beach cloth was on the wane, but better makers secured this fabric, put their skilled journeymen to work and turned out unusually fine clothes. The increasing vogue of discarding the heavier woolsen suits for something light and airy has also helped other cool-weather fabrics. Among them are mohairs, home-spuns, lightweight flannels, crashees, rich pongees, shantung, together with a long list of fabrics possessing specially coined names. The topcoat for spring will show a leaning toward the box of full drapes with set-in sleeves. Then, too, the topcoat with the raglan shoulders, forty-four inches long, belt all around also will win great favor. The first coat mentioned will be shown in both button through and fly front. The third group consists of the always present Chesterfield, the popular gabardine leads the field, in plain or belted models. At Cuero, Texas: San Antonio 4 1/2 1/2 Galveston 4 1/2 1/2 (Fls. 3 linings). Voigt, Morrison and McKee, Coleman, Glaschier, Collins and Wiley, Henderson. At Lake Charles: Kansas City, Amer. Ass'n 3 7/8 7/8 Beaumont, Texas 3 3/8 3/8 Rattiff, Souder, Crockett and Scott, Lamb, K. Eberhardt, D. Eberhardt, G. Scott and Lofgren, Schroyer. Palm Beach Is Lead. Palm Beach promises to lead the procession in midsummer fabrics, as in other years. The chequerboard of such material, together with im-

OFFICERS SEARCH FOR BARBER WHO MISTREATS GIRL

EAGLE PASS, TEXAS, March 17.—Officers in San Antonio and other Texas cities have been notified to arrest and hold Sam Miranda, barber of Eagle Pass, accused of mistreating Miss Eleanor Halmer, 19, who arrived here Thursday from a convent in Denver, Colo. In search of her relatives, officers reported today. Miss Halmer, unable to trace any of her relatives here or in Piedras Negras, desired to go to San Antonio to continue the search, but she was without funds, according to the story told the police. Miranda, it is alleged, offered to transport the beautiful young convent girl in his car as it happened he was going to that city, he said. After leaving here at 11 o'clock that night she told the police, he forced her to drink something and she lost consciousness. The next morning she found herself again in Eagle Pass. THREE INDICTMENTS BY GRAND JURY FOR HARDEMAN COUNTY

NUMBER OF CASES HAVE BEEN DISPOSED OF BY DISTRICT COURT.

MURDER CASE SCHEDULED FOR TRIAL NEXT WEEK

Transferred From Childress County and Venue Will Report Tuesday.

QUANAH, TEXAS, March 17.—This week marked the second week in the investigations of the grand jury, and the work in the district court is being held up just a little for that body to make its report. A partial report has been made and the following bills have been returned: C. V. Swopa, theft of auto; Minnie O'Hair, attempt to commit arson; Bessie Murray, attempt to commit arson.

The following cases have been disposed of by the district court this week: Laura Wade vs. Coleman Wade, divorce granted; Carabelle Morris vs. Thomas H. Morris Jr., divorce granted and maiden name of Carabelle Tabore restored; plaintiff: T. C. Phillips vs. J. C. Watson et al., debt and foreclosure, judgment for plaintiff.

Murder Case on Docket. Only one murder case appears on the docket, and that is transferred from Childress. J. C. Carter will be tried for murder, the case coming up for trial Tuesday of next week. A special venire of 15 men has been called.

Style Show Staged. The semi-annual style show held at Walton's was staged Tuesday evening, depicting the newest styles for spring wear, and being characterized as a success. Some 50 garments were displayed on living models, and the crowds were well pleased with everything. The cold weather did not seem to hinder the attendance.

A local orchestra furnished music for the evening, and talks were made by Mrs. Phoebe K. Warner and A. L. Theisen.

Mrs. Warner Visits Schools. Mrs. Phoebe K. Warner of Claude spent most of the week in Hardeman county, visiting various communities and delivering addresses on rural school work. She is a big booster for consolidated schools, and spoke on that subject at the places she visited.

The spoke at the following places in company with Mrs. Frances E. Doss, county superintendent: Monday night, Friendship; Tuesday afternoon, North Crossbeck; Tuesday night, Curryville; Wednesday afternoon, Goodlett, organizing a community club for the schools; Wednesday night, Denver; Thursday afternoon, Bailey High.

Mrs. Warner is one of the leaders in Texas in rural school work, and her services are much in demand.

Work on Water System. Work on the new water system for Quanah continues steadily. Practically all of the material is either here or has been started on its way, and the work will be intensified within the next few days.

Work on the high line to supply the power for the pumps has begun, and it will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. Actual work on excavation for the reservoir began Wednesday, and the hardest part of the work of laying the pipe line has been completed.

With work begun on the $60,000 garage, and the work on the other work keeping up space, it is evident that it will not be long before Quanah will be using water from the new supply.

FURNITURE STYLES SHOW HINTS OF REVERSION TO SOME OLD FASHIONED IDEAS

With the revival of long skirts and baggies has returned the old-fashioned lamp with cut glass pendant by whose pristine lights our mothers danced. Curly-cued wrought iron standards are used with these newest lampshades both for floor and table, according to Fran Murchison of Freear Furniture Company.

Wrought iron is used in many novelties, Mr. Murchison declared, including candle sticks and fruit compotes for buffets and mantels, and the mirrors above, to be the very newest, must have mirrored insets in some form.

"Lamp shades of silk and parchment are equally popular," he declared, "and this is one of the newest novelties," he added, pointing to a display of small table lamps with glass standards, one colored a bright orange, one black and one lavender.

"Enameled and hand painted furniture is very popular in some sections, but it is usually confined to one bedroom, the guest room," he explained.

The new finish, tuck, which is a dull finish in two tones and is very similar to antique, is extremely popular and a two tone finish on walnut and mahogany, the lighter effect making the borders, is also popular.

SEEK TO ENJOIN COUNTY OPENING ROAD IN PASTURE

In an injunction suit filed Saturday afternoon in the 19th district court, T. J. and J. L. Waggoner seek to enjoin County Judge B. D. Sartin and the county commissioners from opening a road through a pasture.

A temporary writ was prayed for in the petition but Judge Martin stated that he would grant no temporary order but set the case down for final hearing for Monday morning.

The petitioners state that the county court expects to cut down the plaintiff's fence and open a road through their pasture which they say has been fenced off many years. They state that it had been fenced off prior to their acquiring it in 1902.

The county commissioners as well as residents in that part of the county contend that it has been a public road for many years. Last Monday morning the commissioners entered an order on the minutes ordering the Waggoner brothers to remove all obstacles from the road and that if it was not moved that the county commissioners would take the matter in their own hands.

DREDGE EXPECTED TO COMPLETE WORK BY 15TH OF MAY

MAIN EMBANKMENT IS NOW OVER 70 FEET HIGH; GROWING STEADILY.

SPILLWAY DUE FOR COMPLETION AUGUST 1

Diversion Structure Will Be Last to Be Finished, Officials Now Believe.

Sixty days more will witness completion of the main embankment of the storage dam, construction company and irrigation district officials estimated Saturday.

Completion of the service spillway and other features will require at least 60 days longer, it is thought; the first of August should see all work at the storage dam finished, R. A. Thompson, chief engineer, said Saturday. At the diversion dam, a longer time will be required, and it will probably be September 15 before that structure is finished.

Dredging company officials expect to be through by May 15; if rains in the meantime give them additional water, so that the lift will not be so great, the work may be finished in an even shorter time. No further stops for repairs are thought necessary. The work of paying the service spillway with large stones is nearly finished, and the pouring of cement in the inter-sections is well under way; considerable time will be required for the final stages of the spillway work, however.

At the diversion dam about 1,000 feet of concrete has been poured at the head gates, and preparations are well under way for the spill-

New Three-Piece Suits Meet With Much Favor Here

"A truly feminine young girl or woman wishes to look strikingly attractive at all times, and she knows that a really modish, really effective costume will give her that poise and happy exhilaration which is the portion of every well dressed woman," declared Mrs. Eula Duke of W. B. McClurkin & Company last week in discussing the new three-piece suits which are meeting with such favor.

"Many of these cleverly designed costumes follow the ever youthful lines of the dashing Balkin dress with its details of tasseled girdles, bloused backs and tightly drawn hips and many have under bodices of gaily figured crepe of silk," she stated.

"This is one of the handsomest examples of the three-piece suit we have had," Mrs. Duke continued, displaying a suit of green with the bodice embroidered in tiny sea shells which is a new departure in trimming.

DEMOCRATIC ATTITUDE ON WORLD COURT POLITICAL PUZZLE

THREE ROUTES ARE SUGGESTED AS POSSIBLE IN DETERMINING WAY PARTY WILL GO IN 1924

By MARK SULLIVAN (Copyright, 1923, New York Tribune, Inc.)

A question brought to the Democratic leaders by recent events, and calling for the best of thought on their part, is: What position shall the party take next year on the Permanent Court of International Justice proposed by Harding, assuming that should be still an issue? And what stand shall the party take on the whole field of international relations?

At one extreme is the possibility for the Democrats to announce their renewed adherence to the League of Nations as it exists and fight the campaign on the same lines as in 1920. At the less hazardous extreme is the possibility for the Democrats merely to say that they favor the Permanent Court of International Justice proposed by Harding—assuming that institution is still in debate.

In between these extremes is the whole area of possible variations of policy on foreign relations. And just what place within this field to choose for their platform is a question that must give the Democratic leaders deep concern.

Much, of course, depends on what happens to Harding's proposal for the permanent court in the next session of the senate, beginning next December. Much depends, also, on other developments in the whole foreign field between now and June of next year. If the next session of the senate should adopt the permanent court, and adopt it fairly soon after the beginning of the session, that of course would remove this particular institution as an issue. But there should develop a fight on this question, between two wings of the Republican party, led by Harding and Johnson respectively, that might make an excellent and promising opening for the Democrats. In all respects the Democratic position will be made comfortable if the Republicans develop a split on the court. But omitting that possibility, the Democrats face the necessity of phrasing a policy on foreign relations which shall provide a sufficient contrast with the Republican's which shall be sufficiently close to the out-and-out League of Nations position to satisfy the strong league Democrats and at the same time be sufficiently different to avoid the odor of disaster that attended the league issue in 1920.

In facing the problem one of the chief embarrassments that faces the Democrats is inherent in the question of what Wilson will do himself and what he will want the party to do. The common assumption, among the party leaders and among the public as well, is that Wilson is for the League of Nations, that he is for it in the shape in which he brought it home from Paris, and in that shape only, and that he believes the league in its unmodified form to be the only means of bringing the world out of its troubles.

That, I say, is the common assumption. It puts a fear in the hearts and an inhibition on the minds of many of the most prominent Democratic leaders. Many of them believe that a declaration for the league in an unmodified form, in the same form in which it was an issue in 1920, would be a mistake. At the same time they believe that the party ought to go on record in favor of the league modified by reservations. One of the ablest and most still with him. Some of the fervor, some of the evangelistic exaltation disappeared in the cold shock of the morning after, when the overwhelming quality of his defeat was recorded. But what Cox lost in fervor, he has since made up in quiet access of tenacity. Cox's study during the two years and some months since he was defeated has led him to believe that a universal association for the prevention of war is the one and only instrument that can save civilization. He had sat in his office in Dayton and watched the world pass through crisis after crisis and effort after effort to work a cure. He has tested each crisis by the formula of the League of Nations, contrasted each failure to cure with what might have been done through the league, and has settled down by day more firmly in his conviction that sooner or later the world must come around to the league as the only way out. He holds this as a something fundamental, in the same spirit that he holds to the simple business principles on which he runs his newspapers.

But Cox, without much doubt, while he believes the underlying principle of the league, has no preconception about the original form of it. It can be taken for granted that he would accept reservations, and would be content, or might even himself propose, that the next Democratic platform should be for a modified league, but I am afraid Wilson might balk me out.

What Wilson would do about that, and the whole question of what platform on foreign relations, is obviously, a thing wholly within the boundaries of Mr. Wilson's own heart and mind. The present writer has been told that Wilson is not so unreasonable as this assumption on the part of the other leaders would imply—that Wilson recognizes the weight of events in recent history, and that he would not object to a party platform which should take account of the water that has gone over the dam since he first brought the league home from Paris. However, this is a field in which no writer can pretend to be exact, and in which no party leader can afford to take a newspaper statement as justification for action on his part. Sooner or later the party leaders must get together with Mr. Wilson and learn from his own lips whatever contribution he cares to make toward judgment as to what the next Democratic platform on foreign relations should be.

One thing is clear: eliminating Wilson as being incapacitated by the state of his health, the one Democratic leader who is today the most outstanding spokesman of the League of Nations is Cox, of Ohio. It would be within the truth—in fact it is rather called for—to say that Cox is the most courageous Democratic spokesman in this field, both publicly and within party councils. Cox talks out where others "pussyfoot." Cox during his 1920 campaign became saturated with the League of Nations. It gripped him. He became a devotee. He took on a sort of evangelistic fervor about it. Cox preaching the League of Nations during the closing weeks of the 1920 campaign had as much fervor as Billy Sunday preaching the Ten Commandments. This identity with the league, and this absorption in it, which Cox acquired during the campaign, is Part of the reason for Cox's nomination, are not now friendly to him. On the contrary, they are strongly opposed to him. This statement includes men whose names are not widely familiar to the public but whom politicians will recognize by the description. Part of the reason for this present disaffection toward Cox on the part of the leaders who not only the 1920 nomination lies in the fact that Cox, after he got the nomination, did some things against the urgent advice of these leaders. A few of these leaders (and it should be made clear that this does not apply to all of them) wanted Cox to be "wet," and he did not do that. A few wanted him to dissociate himself from Wilson and the League of Nations, whereas Cox's first step in the campaign was to visit Wilson at the White House and to espouse the league most strongly.

But the present disaffection toward Cox includes leaders who approved his refusal to be "wet" and his endorsement of Wilson and the league, leaders who completely approved the way Cox conducted his campaign. As to these men, the reason for their present attitude toward Cox is largely personal. It is based on human factors, things that have arisen in their personal relations. This disaffection against Cox exists in his own state, among Democratic leaders in that state who have a strong vote in the direction of Democratic affairs. Without going into a local state political situation in too much detail, it can be said that Cox at present is decidedly on the outside of the seems unlikely to out much figure as a possibility himself and also unlikely to have much weight in determining who also is to be the nominee. That is how things stand with Cox today. But he is a tenacious and resourceful man. He may, during the next twelve months, be able to pull himself out of his present position of impotency. Cox, no less than MeAdoo, illustrates the old saying that "you can't keep a squirrel on the ground."

The sentiment for Henry Ford continued to be not less than has been described in these articles from time to time for more than a year past. On the contrary, it grows. The following paragraph is from a personal letter from one of the most competent political observers in the middle west, one who has no particular affection for Ford—one who, indeed, fears that the Ford movement, if it continues to develop, will be accompanied by agitation for some hair-raising economic and financial heresies: "This Ford thing is getting pretty well inoculated into the body politic and what's more, the inoculation seems to take in a surprising proportion of cases. There seems to be a feeling that sooner or later some body is going to take the works apart and give 'em a good cleaning, and I detect a growing feeling in these parts that, as long as somebody is going to do it, Ford would be as likely to put the mechanism back into working order without losing any of the necessary parts as anybody. I wouldn't be a bit surprised if we were in for it."

In the days of her fame as a soubrette, Minnie Palmer, who is still appearing on the American stage, owned a collection of diamonds valued at $400,000. One of her gems was the "Cleveland diamond," weighing 42 carats and costing originally more than $40,000. WRECKED AUTO IS DISCOVERED FRIDAY ON CLARA HIGHWAY

HAD TURNED TURTLE AND WAS COMPLETELY DESTROYED BY FIRE.

NO INFORMATION AS TO CAUSE OF ACCIDENT

Description Furnished Sheriff's Department by Burkburnett Officers.

BURKBURNETT, TEXAS, March 17.—What appears to have been a practically new automobile touring car was found on the Clara highway about three miles west of Burkburnett early Friday morning. The car appeared to have been in a serious wreck and afterwards caught fire and was destroyed. City officers visited the scene of the accident Friday and obtained a description of the car which was furnished by the sheriff's department. No information is available as to the cause of the accident, or as to whether any one was injured in the wreck, which appears to have been a serious one. Indications point to the fact that the car turned completely over, landing on its back after which fire completely destroyed it, making escape of its occupants without injury seem almost impossible.

Bales Funeral Friday.
The interment of H. U. Bales took place Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The body was conveyed from Brackwell, Okla., where the deceased resided at the time of his death. Mr. Bales was a former citizen of Burkburnett, was 22 years old and was the son of Mrs. L. G. Bales of this city. He is survived by his mother, a brother and a young wife and child, all of whom attended the funeral which was conducted by Rev. C. D. Montgomery of the Methodist church. The deceased was a drifter and met death accidentally when he became entangled in the machinery operating a rotary rig in Blackwell, Okla.

Mayor Adams to Austin.
Mayor W. B. Adams will leave Sunday night for Dallas in the interest of some of his business under his supervision and who are confined to hospitals in that city for treatment. Mayor Adams will visit Austin before his return in the interest of the city and will while there get an opinion from the attorney general with reference to the retirement of some surplus issues of bonds on hand and unused and which require the setting aside of interest and sinking fund from taxation next year.

Personals.
Luther Hoffman was a business visitor in Burkburnett Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Crawford have moved to Electra, where they will make their home. They have been residents of Burkburnett for a number of years.

The Burkburnett Choral Club finished Monday evening after having been in existence several months and after having conducted several entertainments during that time which were successfully given and largely attended by the patrons of this city.

County Attorney Fulton and Deputy Judge Martin were business visitors in Burkburnett Thursday.

OLNEY WILL VOTE ON BONDS FOR NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

OLNEY, TEXAS, March 17.—An election has been called in the Olney independent school district for April 1, 1928, at which time the voters will decide whether or not the tax rate for school purposes shall be raised from the present 50 cents to $1 on the $100 valuation limit.

At the same time they will vote on a bond issue of $40,000 for the purpose of building a new high school building, which is badly needed. It is freely predicted that both of these propositions will carry by large majorities.

The present building, which is very nice and really a credit to a town of this size, is entirely inadequate to the needs of the schools, there being several grades in which there is not desk room enough in the rooms to seat the pupils. Also it is imperative that every teacher be provided with a separate room. It is also imperative that the grades have many more pupils than one teacher can successfully look after.

The school, like the town, has made rapid advances during the past two years. It is now an affiliated school, having credit for 124 units of affiliation with an additional 24 units recommended for this year by the state inspector who recently visited the schools. All of this affiliation has been gained in the past two years, which in itself is a remarkable record.

It is planned to build the new building somewhere in the central portion of the town, the present building being badly located in the extreme southern part of the city. Also, it is planned to purchase a tract of from six to eight acres, and to construct the new building that it may be added to as need may arise in the future.

MOTHERS' CLUBS TO PUT MRS. L. R. BUCHANAN'S NAME UP FOR TRUSTEE.

O. W. SMITH ALSO ANNOUNCES FOR PLACE

Makes Total of Nine Whose Names Are Expected to Appear On Ballot.

Another woman member of the school board may result from a movement started last week by the mothers' clubs, who seek to have the name of Mrs. L. R. Buchanan, president of the Alamo school club, placed on the ballot at the April election.

Mrs. Buchanan, who has enjoyed the distinction of being head of the largest mothers' club in the southwest and who has been an active worker in such circles, has been placed in the race by the action of the other mothers' clubs. Mrs. M. M. Adickes, present woman member of the board, has been a trustee since 1920.

O. W. Smith, who entered the race Saturday, declared himself a supporter of the present school board. He favors a "indergarten system in connection with the schools. Mr. Smith has lived here for five years, and has three children who are public school pupils.

The communication from the mothers' clubs in Mrs. Buchanan's behalf follows:

"To the honorable Board of Education, Wichita Falls, Texas: We, the undersigned presidents of the mothers' clubs of the city, believing that the mothers of the city should have a larger representation on the Board of Education, beg leave to submit the name of Mrs. L. R. Buchanan, and ask the Board of Education to place her name upon the official ballot for election as a trustee of our schools, at the coming election. (Signed): Federated Club, Mrs. John Kay, President High School Club, Mrs. ..."

SAFE CRACKERS ELUDE OFFICERS APPARENTLY GONE

THEORY AMATEURS CRACKED GAS COMPANY VAULT IS ABANDONED.

TOTAL LOSS AMOUNTS TO NEARLY $5,000

Majority Of Officers Believe That Yegg Was Professional Safe Cracker.

Upon the expiration of a week since the Municipal Gas Company's safe was cracked open, and over $5,000 in currency taken, local officers have abandoned the idea that it was the work of amateurs. The majority of officers who worked on the case have now accepted the opinion expressed from the beginning by Chief Deputy Sheriff Jack Miller that it was the work of a professional yeggman.

Some local officers immediately after the loss was discovered proceeded on the theory that it was the work of amateurs and to this end they pursued their investigations. During the past week, however, an expert safe mechanic inspected the safe and stated that in his opinion it was the work of a professional. His inspection here also brought forth the statement that the methods used in opening four safes at Dallas on Friday night was the same as the one used here.

The small amount of silver and the checks which were found by boys and young men in the alley on Sunday afternoon are considered to be the discards of the loot obtained in the safe.

Deputy Jack Miller stated on last Saturday night a short time after he had inspected the safe and the back door lock that the work had been done by a man who had cracked safes before.

It was his opinion that the man who did the "job" had sent a stool to this city probably two weeks in advance in order to get the lay of the ground. This foreman, without a doubt, had drawn a complete set of plans of the building and during his sojourn here had acquainted himself with the facts as to when would be the best time to force an entry.

The nightwatchman at the building did not enter upon his duties until 3:30 o'clock and for this reason the job was executed early in the evening.

The idea of the use of nitro glycerine in blowing open the safe has been discarded. The expert safe mechanic stated, while in the city that yeggs have abandoned the use of explosives in cracking safes and that it is only used in cases of emergency.

The fact that the national president is a Texan coupled with the fact that this year is biennial adds double interest to the meeting here...

Of interest in connection with the gathering here of the Texas musicians is a recent article in Musical America which tells of the expenditure of over 700,000,000 on musical instruments and musical education...

The fact that the United States today leads in musical activities of all kinds, gives the best opera, has the finest symphony orchestras and the greatest segregation of renowned artists...

Out of the cold wind storm of Thursday afternoon into the warm and attractive home of Mrs. Bert King, thirty members of the R. E. Huff class of the First Baptist Church were received Thursday evening...

Mrs. Fred Barron sang several Irish selections, and each guest told her best Irish story...

The hostess served shamrock ice cream and green and white angel food cakes to Messrs. and Mesdames Paul Pearson, Jack Rayzor, Stanley Granger, N. B. Derby, E. G. Bildeback, Bravard Long and Faye Hardman.

Miss Faye Thompson entertained the Shamrock Club at her home Friday evening at 2209 Bridwell when the house was prettily decorated with St. Patrick's colors...

To Top the Mode with Smartness by Thiel Mertens

It is often said—and quite truly—that you can always tell when a woman is wearing a new hat by the gratified, pleased expression on the face. Somehow, with a becoming new hat she feels well dressed; no matter how old and shabby her frock or her coat may be. And a smart hat really does set off the costume as well as the face, markedly, but perhaps the new idea is to have a hat which is able and appropriate with the rest of one's costume. In fact, the real secret of being well dressed is the ability to wear things that go well together and are becoming to you. The woman who has very few costumes, but makes them complete by having her hat—just perfectly suited to her frock and her shoes, gloves and jewelry in perfect accord, will always look well dressed, even though she wears that same costume every day in the year.

Smart Street War For street wear the little felt cloche is still quite the smartest. Generally the crown of the cloche is high and is either rounded or dome shaped. It is trimmed with an extremely narrow brim and is infinite. One smart little model has a narrow brim, and is trimmed sharply in front that it resembles a bonnet and in the back it goes to the other extreme and turns up so abruptly that it is like the crown of the hat. It is trimmed with a fuzzy little pompon far back on the right side. It is seen in an enormous number of styles. The trimming is way back on the right side and now and then even moving right to the back. Another smart cloche has a narrow brim turned up on the left side and abruptly down on the right. Flat against the crown, pointing down to the right shoulder is a "quill". Frequently one will see a little ribbon cockade sewed flat to the crown of the hat. Still other styles of the cloche will be turned up in the front and an extremely narrow brim turned down in the back. When this is the case a fluffy little pompon will be seen clinging to the right cheek.

NEW SPORT TAILLEUR JUST SUITS 1923 AMERICAN GIRL, DECLARES LOCAL MODISTE

The new sport-tailleur is appropriate for business, street or sports wear. It's neither too conspicuous nor too plain," declared Mrs. Stella Mason of Anderson's ready-to-wear department last week. "It just suits the 1923 American girl," she added. "It is a clever combination of the severely tailored suit and the popular sports modiste, retaining the best qualities of both. It possesses the comfort and color that the tailor-made jacket and also attains the severer style's trimness and neatness. The skirts of these suits are narrow, but not uncomfortable, and are of medium length. Jackets generally are of hip length and are belted or unbelted to suit the type of coat. GET RID OF YOUR FAT

Thousands of others have gotten rid of theirs by my simple and efficient method of fat reduction, often at a very rapid rate, and WITHOUT PAYMENT until reduction has taken place. I am a licensed practicing physician and have made a careful study of the physiological requirements of the human body. This has enabled me to select such ingredients and in such proportion as in my opinion will produce not only a loss of weight without harm and an improvement in health, but with it an alleviation of all of the troublesome symptoms which frequently accompany and often are a direct result of overweight, such as shortness of breath on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, etc., not to speak of the relief from the embarrassment of being too stout. Stout persons suffering from such diseases as Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Eczema, Asthma and high blood pressure are greatly relieved by a reduction of their superfluous fat. My treatment will relieve that depressed, tired, sleepy feeling, give you the renewed energy and vigor which come as a result of the loss of your superfluous fat. The medicinal ingredients I employ do not depend for their reducing power upon starvation diet or tiresome exercise. Taking them, they should produce a loss of weight without you doing anything else. If you are over-stout do not postpone but sit down right now and send for my FREE TRIAL TREATMENT and my plan whereby I am to be PAID ONLY AFTER REDUCTION HAS TAKEN PLACE IF YOU SO DESIRE. DR. R. Making Victrola Records Was Once Precarious Task

"In the year 1903 a special representative journeyed to Europe to engage Enrico Caruso to make a record for the Victor Talking Machine. Considering that talking machine a huge joke, Caruso refused. At a later date he consented to make one with the understanding that he be allowed to approve it before being used. He was paid the largest sum any artist had ever received for a record at that time—$400. The record was "Woman Is Fickle" from Rigoletto. The speaker was Miss Annie Campbell, of McConnell Brothers, Victor department and she went on to give any number of other interesting facts concerning the development of the Victor Talking Machine Company, which is the largest concern in the United States manufacturing gramophone records.

PART TWO

For Your Inner Gratification by Muriel Mertens

It is a fact, well known to every woman, that no matter how carefully or how modestly you may be dressed, you never feel quite at ease unless you have that inner consciousness that your lingerie is just the most exquisitely dainty and feminine that can be found. Self-possession is very charming in a woman. And that knowledge that one is dressed with perfect taste, both inside and out, brings a very lovely smile to every woman. With this knowledge in the background of her mind, she can forget her clothes exist and devote all her energies to being entertaining or entertained.

Some women will always love the fresh daintiness of lingerie of cotton or linen, so their beautiful silk models may be. And when one sees the sheer daintiness of undergarments of handkerchief linen, exquisite with hemstitching and real fillet one is certainly tempted to agree with them. Particularly for summer there is something so fresh and airy about them. Triple voile which wears like iron yet looks as delicate as chiffon is another great favorite both for derbies and night gowns. And what entrancing colors it comes in!

Delicate green or a soft, pale yellow, lavender and countless shades which are quite as lovely. These colored underthings are usually very simply made. But in its lovely silky sheen is also frequently seen.

Undergarments of Silk
But the woman who loves the soft luxury of silk will find just as many exquisite models to uphold her in her preference. The silk night gown and underthings are beautiful in white or pink as well as the more unusual shades. Sometimes they are trimmed with wide laces embroidered in contrasting shades.

The vest chemise and the step-in drawers are beginning to usurp the place of great popularity which was held so long by the envelope. Sometimes the knicker is worn with the vest chemise.

an opening cut straight down under the arm for five or six inches. Chiffon daintily lined or black is still used to make some of the most exquisite of our lingerie.

Loosening Pajamas New
The lounging pajama is the very latest creation for our more luxurious hours. It is not only beautiful but an ideally comfortable garment in which to spend a few hours of relaxation. There are such gorgeous advocates of this fashion. Black is quite a favorite for these pajamas, though the lighter colors are by no means put in the background. Black velvet, magnificently embroidered in color or black velvet trousers with the gayer—of silk jackets. The oriental influence is clearly seen in one model with orange velvet trousers and a Persian patterned silk jacket. Exquisite silks and lustrous satins fashion many another charming model. For the woman who does not care for the pajama mode, there are many daintily feminine negligees. Silk covered with chiffon and with long trailing chiffon sleeves and a low placed girde is a charming fashion. With the negligee or pajama a wide matching bandeau is appropriate and so becoming.

The Youthful Mode by Muriel Mertens

How far we are removed from the day when the style for children was just a miniature of the style for their parents. And it is really quite recently that becoming childish fashions have been developed for children. But now the mode for children has a distinct and separate existence. Of course, now and then it is influenced by the older fashions but it does not follow them slavishly. When one thinks back just a few hundred years to the time when little girls of six or seven wore frocks which reached the floor, we realize what a long way we have traveled.

It is on this question of length that the childish mode has definitely decided to go its own way for their little frocks and coats are quite as short as ever.

Party Frocks of Chiffon
When the little girl goes to a party, she is quite likely to wear a frock of finely pleated rose-colored chiffon with a bertha of plain chiffon edged with tulle. Or she may choose a delicate pink crepe de china with an edging of tiny ruffles and tucks. Or if she would look quite crisply smart she may choose to be clad in the most delicate of filmy blue taffeta. The younger she is the less apt she is to have any belt line on her frocks. They will just hang short and fall from the shoulder. Her sleeves will be quite tiny—hardly more than caps and she is certain to favor the bateau neck.

If she is a little older, her frock will have a long blouse with the belt line just at the top of the hip. When the little miss attends a party it may well be in the youthful crisp tulle frock of a sunny yellow trimmed only with a quaint little garland of flowers about the hips. Or if she likes the softness of chiffon she may wear a frock whose long blouse is of a heavenly blue taffeta with a three-tiered skirt of softly ruffled blue chiffon.

White Lanes for Playtime
When the younger miss spends a glorious sunny morning playing on the sands or in some cool shaded grove, she will be quite the fashion if she wears a white linen frock with yellow linen binding the Peter Pan collar, the short, full lap sleeves and buttoned front. The front also hangs straight from the shoulder. With it are worn white linen bloomers to match which are edged with yellow. All the light shades of linen are very becoming to children.

Rose, bright yellow, green and blue—linen with white linen trimmings made in this straight simple style are charming for children.

The really checked gingham are also very appropriate for these little frocks. As she grows older, the young girl of under fifteen is very apt to copy her street clothes from her older sister's simplest sports attire. A straight pleated skirt brilliantly checked, worn with a single toned sweater and a white Peter Pan collar is a very suitable costume.

Three Piece Suits
However, if she requires something a bit dressier than this, she might have a three-piece serge suit. The dress of one model of this type has a long, straight blouse with a bateau neck and a finely pleated skirt. It is worn with a straight, close-fitting little blue jacket.

The simpler the dance frock of the girl of this age, the better dressed she is.

Green taffeta gowns just such a frock which is smocked at the waist and neckline. A bouquet of old blue and green flowers at the waist has long streamers of ribbon which reach almost to the bottom of the skirt.

For the Little Man
To clothe the young man becomingly and appropriately when he first puts aside dresses is the most difficult problem which any mother has to face. One very successful way to solve it is to let him wear a straight little suit of blue in which the straight knickers are fastened to the waist by a belt of white linen edged with tiny narrow ruffles. Sometimes the knickers are fastened to the top by means of large pearl buttons a couple of inches apart which pursue their way about his waist.

The smartest possible hat for a little girl is a small affair with a rounded crown and the narrowest kind of a brim. It might well be called a stepping stone between the bonnet and the hat.

Socks and flat little single strap slippers are the smartest footwear for children. Patent leather slippers for "best" and dull leather or white buckskin for their energetic hours of play.

Immediately—your hair becomes beautiful. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and really appear twice as thick and abundant—a mass of luxuriant, glossy, colorful hair.

Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine eradicates dandruff, invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair.

Even very small fourteens which are just right for these tiny high school girls," she added, "in fact you might call our store a misses' shop."

One of the surest tests of the judgment and refinement of a girl is her selection of clothes," said Miss Roberts as she displayed attractive and suitable garments for the high school girl.

"The coat dress is a recent popular development," she pointed out, "but there is no costume worn by the young girl as interesting as the sports costume. Here her personality and love for color may have full range."

"It has the advantages of being youthful, healthful, durable and often inexpensive. Brilliant colors in plaids, or stripes are attractive as also are knitted garments."

Suits Are to the Spring Wardrobe What Rain Is to the Flowers

Spring always means at least one suit to the woman of either unlimited income or of moderate means. Every woman can find a style all her own this season, so varied are the types and so definite the purpose of each. Suits shown now are both in two and three-piece models.

Frocks of Silk Are Simple Yet Ornate

There are drapes on the Spring frocks, side drapes or a drape down the front. Sleeve versions are quaint and varied—neck treatment often bertha. In dark colors or the pastel shades, these frocks are quite as alluring as in the fascinating Egyptian hues.

Separate Skirts Are Gallantly Colored

Checked homespuns and Eponges, for instance, are in Periwinkle, Beige, Canna, etc. Tweeds are shown in swagger color tones and others in Bayadere stripes are rather jolly looking affairs.

The More English a Top Coat Looks The More Certain Is Its Success

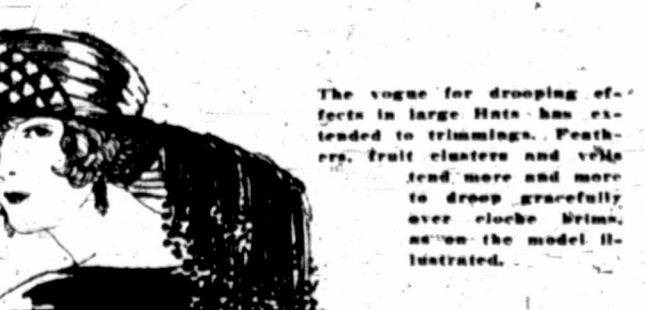

Most people would think these coats were imported direct from old London town. They're so swagger, so exactly what the well dressed woman wants for street or sports wear. They must be seen to be properly appreciated.

Spring Blouses That Are Different

The length of a man's coat, but in that detail alone, "mannish" come favored blouses. Their pattern is gay Chinese or Egyptian print. The sleeves attractively new. Prices are quite reasonable.

Hats for Every Early Summer Occasion

One of the most attractive groups of hats we have ever assembled is ready for you. It includes every Spring and Summer style. Large and small sports shapes—Hats for travel—for motoring—chic black shapes for dance or dinner wear. Exceedingly good values indeed, for the prices asked.

The vogue for drooping effects in large hats has extended to trimmings. Feathers, fruit clusters and wide tend more and more to drape gracefully over cloche brims, as the model illustrated.

Gloves

In short anduffed styles, and the ever popular 12- and 15-button lengths. Colors are varied to harmonize with the new Spring Frocks and Suits.

Jewelry

Jeweled accessories are beautifully unique in their coloring and design. Bar Scarves, Bracelets, Boutons and Bead Chains in matched sets and odd pieces are here in all their glory.

Chokers

The Fur Choker of Sable, Martin, Mink or Squirrel is a necessary complement to the Spring Costume and our display is one that you should see before making a selection.

Spring Fashions

The Gayest of Patterns for Spring

With the coming of spring what woman does not feel a longing for brightly lovely colors after the somber winter ones? The softening air and the first sunny days suggest the glorious colorings of the new fashions. Ever capricious and inconstant, selects new shades for her favorites. And one of the first of these is green—green in its many shades. Even the name has an enchanting sound. The color is soft, delicate green like fresh, young grass. How refreshingly refreshing it will be on the hot days to come. Green suggesting, as it does, fresh growing things and the soft shadows of trees, makes you feel and look delightfully cool. And still another favorite is Madeline blue. It is an old saying that a woman in love longs for a rose-colored gown and fresh violets. Perhaps instinctively she knows how pleasing is this delicately warm shade. But this summer when a riot of color is all the rage, all the light, bright shades are quite in vogue.

But these colors, instead of being in the flat tones which have predominated for so many months, are found in the most intricate and unusual designs on a neutral background. In fact, this passion for the silver shimmer is the most distinctive characteristic of the season. Almost every fabric used is printed, dyed or embroidered with every seemingly available inch of its surface.

Long Lines Needed.
The gracefully becoming, long lines are still the newest—yet they are not the same, for in some subtle way we have grown cleverer in our ability to drape them with more artful simplicity. Oftentimes the newer frocks are caught into elaborate, twisted or knotted shapes of strangely wrought gold or clear, gleaming crystal or richly colored stones. At other times they are caught into knots of the material, forming a little draping on that side.

Simplicity in Frocks.
An evening frock of the approved Greek simplicity which is most becoming to the slender figure has a deep "V" neck in the front and back. The frock hangs straight but both the back and front are draped into a huge pearl ornament on the left hip. From this ornament hang long strands of pearls which almost reach the ground. Underneath this ornament the skirt is fastened like the gleaming silver of an under-skirt. It is in clever ways like this that the long, straight lines are made possible for wearing of walking without the graceless, mimicking step of the too tight skirt.

Modes of Afternoon Frocks.
It is on the glorious sunny days of summer when one watches the sunlight sparkling on the waves and the yellow sands or sands a deliciously lazy afternoon in the cool shadows of the country club porch, that the season shows her wisest interpretation of the modes for afternoon frocks. It is on just such an occasion that one will be permitted to see the best of the sporty frock, made quite simply with a light blouse and a little draping at the side, where the material falls in a graceful, unobtrusive line. But it will owe its smartness to the myriad beads which gleam and glisten on its soft, silk surface. Perhaps this frock will be sleeveless, for the sleeveless afternoon frock is quite the rage, but will be just as much in fashion if the whimsical wearer happens to prefer a little short tight sleeve or one of those wing-like extensions which have recently been serving as sleeves.

Silk Crepe Frocks Show.
If one wanders further on such a day, one is certain to meet one of those gaily patterned silk crepe frocks. It is in these frocks that the mode fully expresses its present love signs. These allover patterns are on a white or neutral background, but the brighter, gaudiest colors lead their decorative touch to the intricate traceries of the design.

Vails for Sultry Weather.
The cool freshness of veil is so alluring on sultry days, so if you choose you can express the mode charmingly in a frock of silk crepe or brilliantly figured as the silk ones. Other dainty little frocks achieve this same effect by having the figures covered by a light, gauzy veil.

It is not in the least surprising that the coat frock is a very great favorite again, for it would be difficult to conceive of anything either more stunning or more practical. However, they have certain marked differences from the coat frocks we wore last year.

Now and again one sees a slender little miss with a graceful, irregular skirt, but more often the skirt is straight with first a circular flare introduced into it. One charming coat frock of serge has a circular flare of crepe extending at the closing of the frock. This is not only smart, but extremely practical as it gives freedom for walking without destroying the straight-line effect. The wide rever which covers almost the entire front of the waist is of this same crepe.

Unusual and Varied Sleeves.
But doubtless the most cleverly varied and unusual part of the afternoon frock is its sleeve. The long, tight sleeve is the greatest favorite of the coat frock. But it must never be a plain, tight sleeve. Far from it. Over some long, slender hand will fall a circular cuff reaching for the knuckle, or in a gay cavalier fashion this circular cuff will be turned back forming a gauntlet. Then another tight sleeve admiring this gaudy fashion will assume three gaulets whose combined efforts almost reach the elbow, or a favored way is to have three circular flares turned down, the top one a few inches below the elbow and the lower one falling over the hand. The sleeve of the sixth of century frock may start out to be long and tight, but at the elbow it is very "open-to-change" its mind and end by being full and flowing, quite as fashionably, however, it may be a full flowing sleeve straight from the shoulder.

The three-piece suit is still in high favor for spring. It is such a convenient and becoming costume, particularly for afternoon, when one drops into a restaurant for tea or goes calling. The lovely blouses which peep forth as one opens the jacket make really a very dressy costume appropriate for almost any and every function of the afternoon. An almost limitless choice is offered your fancy when you are choosing the blouses for one of these suits. If your taste inclines to the Oriental, a blouse of Persian patterned silk will suit the mode as well as your personality. Of course, it will be long-waisted, cut to fit snugly about the hips and gathered into a tightly fitted band.

Now and again a button blouses placed will hold the jacket so snugly about the hips that it has a tendency toward a slight blouse or perhaps it would be quite frankly a little bloused and gathered into a tight hand at the hips. With these jackets the line of the skirt is straight. There may be a little draping at one side but not a circular flare.

Variations in these Suits.
As often as not the three-piece suit consists of a dress instead of a skirt and a costume blouse. Whether you go or whether you are just an interested spectator on the side, look of sports, of course, you are wearing sports frocks. For the sports costume, which has been popular, has reached the top notch of fashion, and is just the thing to be worn almost every hour of the day. It may be because we are more keen for sports, it may be the effect of the over present country club, but surely one great reason is its youthful dash and smartness. It is so unusually becoming to every age and type.

Jaquette a Sport Favorite.
The Jaquette or overblouse which was worn so much last season is here in a new form for sports. Fashioned of various novelty cotton materials, all vividly figured, or of colorful raffia, they bid fair to be in high favor for a morning on the links.

Among the newest sweaters, for the women actively engaged in sports are rather mannish ones. Many of these are checked in a tiny diamond shape pattern with plain border or sometimes with plain sleeves also.

Of course, the high round neck sweater is still very good. And even more daringly original are the strange designs which exhibit it. In addition to the American Indian designs there are new and even more gorgeously elaborate figures. The allover sweaters also show the same diamond shape checks, but whatever kind of a sweater you choose, one thing is certain—if you are still it must be belted.

Finely Pleated Kaaba Cloth.
There is a little grace about finely pleated Kaaba cloth, which makes it particularly suitable for our more active hours. In white, gray or a like Miss Fountain said: "The new spring silks are copies of old Russian, Hindu and Egyptian prints and plain silks are much too tame and respectable to attract much attention this season."

"Gods, beasts and men ramble all over the silken surfaces of these new Egyptian garments."

"They're all decorated with pictures and every picture tells a story. A learned Egyptologist, meeting one of these dresses, should be able to take a look and say 'said the Great right off,' according to Miss Fountain."

The earliest known Egyptian book is the "Book of the Dead" written more than 3000 years ago.

Color Notes for Season's Styles Suggest Rainbow

"The day when to wear red colors was had taste is certainly past," declared Miss Levenson, of the Department store last week.

"Today colors run riot through midday's wardrobe. From lingerie to outer clothes to hats, color touches the garments of the well-dressed woman."

"The new silks for the season, the print goods, everything that is being manufactured for the feminine wardrobe, suggests that the rainbow must have been lost and found its way into the dye pots of America and Europe," declared Mr. Levenson.

"Ribbons, of which there has never been a larger nor greater variety of designs and weaves and combinations—red, yellow, green, a touch of color in garments and decoration for small cost and with satisfactory results."

"Even the little grey worn women who love one color dresses in the neutral tones, can be in style and yet follow her love for the one tone by lining the sleeves, collar, belt, or the sash of the garment with ribbon. Ribbons are an inexpensive touch and a labor saver," declared Mr. Levenson.

Sheik Robe and Headpiece to Be Displayed Here

"We have a 'Sheik' robe and headpiece to model, in our window, coming from New York, which is the very latest word," stated Miss Lyla Fountain, manager of the ready-to-wear department of P. H. M. last week. Miss Fountain stated that the interesting new garment will be displayed in the show window of the store and is expected next week.

The Buckled Foot of Fashion

Nowadays one of the first dictates of fashion is becomingness, and it is sometimes hard to lay down any hard and fast rule about what "they" will wear and what "they" will not wear. The wise woman adapts the style to her type and gives little individual variations which make our costumes so much more interesting.

So if one should say that every slipper must have a buckle, the next day one might see the smartest of slippers quite unadorned. However, if any rule could be laid down with absolute finality, it would be that slippers must be buckled.

We dress so much more artistically nowadays—particularly in regard to our footwear. A smart frock is never really charming unless everything else really goes with it. In the clever choosing of our footwear we change a gown into a complete costume.

For Evening Wear

The most elaborate and strikingly beautiful silk brogades are the slipper. And the effect of these vari-colored, rich looking slippers below a slightly cut frock is really unusually beautiful. Many shades are to be seen mingling in each slipper—but the predominating tone matches or, at any rate, harmonizes with the frock. Gold or silver kid frequently forms the heels and the trimming of these slippers, but as often as not the slipper is entirely of the brocade.

However popular these slippers may be, gold or silver cloth, either plain or brocaded is still seen to fashion the slippers for many of the smartest.

Buckles of Beauty

The plain slipper relies entirely upon an elaborate crystal buckle for its adornment. And so magnificent and so large are these buckles that it needs no more. And large as they are, the newest thought is to have them made even larger by putting behind them a fluted or ruffled lobe of the material. One slipper even had such a tongue composed of tiny colored feathers.

The buckle for the strap slipper is much smaller and set on the strap just at the top of the instep. Another way is to have the buckle placed at the fastening. But one thing is certain, whatever style the slipper may be, the heel is sure to be very high.

For Street Wear

The smartest afternoon slippers first make sure that the toe is of patent leather. After that countless variations of style are offered. They may be all of patent leather. But probably they will have inserts of some colored suede or some shade of tan or gray. When these colors are chosen to harmonize with the frock, the result is an extremely smart costume.

The cut steel buckle is the one which is used with these, and in fact, all afternoon slippers.

The all-suede slipper, while not the newest, is still in very good style. Sometimes they yield to the vogue of patent leather by having a patent leather heel and binding next to the sole, or perhaps the patent-leather will be found as a saddle strap.

For Street Wear

For walking and for wear with a street frock, the low heeled strap slipper of a combination of suede and black leather helps to make a stunning costume. One model which is very good is of suede with black leather toes and heels and a black leather strap holds close to the foot a large tongue of suede. Of course, if you choose the low heeled walking oxford you will make no mistake—particularly if that oxford be of a suede and leather combination.

For the softly shimmering frock of some lazy summer afternoon, the dainty white slipper of kid, buckskin or linen is the appropriate finish. When these afternoon slippers have straps they are piped now and then in some bright colored kid.

With the sports costume the buckskin oxford with a leather saddle strap will be most frequently seen.

"ONE TO WIN ONE" CAMPAIGN STARTS TODAY AT FLORAL M. E. CHURCH

Dr. S. A. Barnes of the Floral Heights M. E. church announces that the "One to Win One" campaign will begin today at the Floral Heights Methodist Church. All necessary arrangements have been perfected. Two meetings of the Sunday school council and teachers have been had during the week and the workers have enthusiastically entered into the work. The announcement says: The campaign will close on Easter Sunday. We are planning to make this the red letter day in the history of the church.

There will be a varied program for Easter morning and a great service is in store for all who attend. We earnestly solicit the cooperation of each member and friend of our church in this campaign.

"I most heartily endorse a statement of Governor E. Lee Trinkle, the present governor of Virginia, made at the reunion at Richmond last year, in which he says:

"My father was a Confederate soldier. Today through the generosity of my fellow citizens, I am the governor of Virginia. This is an honor of which any man should be proud, and yet, as God is my judge I would not surrender my right to be called the son of a Confederate soldier for any title, dignity or position which could be conferred upon me by man.

"The heritage of a descendant of a Confederate soldier is priceless.

Rainbow Colors Not Confined to Women's Clothing

Women will not have a monopoly on the colors of the rainbow this season according to Harry Baum, who declared that all of the bright and dainty colors and combinations are to be featured in men's neckties.

"Foulard is the popular material for these new neckties and they are to be worn with sport suits," said Mr. Baum as he displayed a tie of canary yellow with turquoise figures.

"The newest things in men's wear are the new sport suits with very low bell lines. In fact the belt will come down over the top pocket, which is an innovation in men's apparel.

"Light colors are good as usual but the most popular shades run from light tan to brown, and English hain in bronze, are the thing to wear with these suits.

"In some parts of the world men are wearing pajamas with a saffron tint justly around the waist," Mr. Baum declared but he said that he does not expect this to be a popular style with Wichita Falls men.

ASKS ALL ELIGIBLE TO JOIN CAMP OF SONS OF VETERANS

J. A. Kemp, recently appointed commander of the 13th brigade of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, has issued a call to Wichitans to join the local camp of the sons, so that this city and section may be adequately represented. Mr. Kemp's statement follows:

"The Honorable Lon A. Smith, state commander of the S. C. V., having appointed me brigade commander of the 13th Texas Brigade, S. C. V., I begin my duties by calling on the sons and grandsons of Confederate veterans to join our local camp of S. C. V.

"I most heartily endorse a statement of Governor E. Lee Trinkle, the present governor of Virginia, made at the reunion at Richmond last year, in which he says:

"My father was a Confederate soldier. Today through the generosity of my fellow citizens, I am the governor of Virginia. This is an honor of which any man should be proud, and yet, as God is my judge I would not surrender my right to be called the son of a Confederate soldier for any title, dignity or position which could be conferred upon me by man.

less. It represents a kinship to the traditions of the old South. It implies direct relationship to the now faded banner of the stars and bars, that immortal emblem of truth and beauty, which for four long years of agony and glory led on the hosts in gray.

"My comrades, sons and grandsons of a Confederate veteran, if you feel that your heritage as a descendant of a Confederate soldier is precious, then I appeal to you to join the local camp and help us to perpetuate the memory and the story of the noble deeds and wonderful sacrifices made by that brave soldier, your father or your grandfather. And you can do this by joining the local camp.

"Those that are eligible are any direct descendant of a Confederate soldier; the grandsons are eligible as well as the sons.

"Our camp will be entitled to one vote in the Confederate convention which meets at New Orleans April 19 to 23, 1923, for every 10 members and each decimal thereof, and the vote will be cast by any delegate or any member of the camp present at the convention.

"The railroad fare is a one-way rate for the round trip. The ticket from Wichita Falls to New Orleans and return will be $4.10.

"As a matter of personal as well as civic pride, I would like to see our local camp, W. R. Berry, Wichita Falls, reported in the convention as one of the larger camps of the Confederation.

"All requests for information with reference to membership in the camp or to details about going to the reunion, etc., should be addressed to S. Y. Ferguson, my adjutant, at room No. 313, American

AMUSEMENT CALENDAR FOR WEEK AT LOCAL THEATERS

Strand to Have Big Cooling and Ventilating Fans

Preparing for the summer season, the Strand theater has purchased a new and improved system of cooling and ventilating fans, a system used by many of the largest theaters in the country and which renders the building comfortable regardless of the temperature of the weather. While the Strand was already equipped for the comfort of its patrons, equally as well, if not better, than the average theater, Manager Day, determined to provide the very best cooling and ventilating facilities, has gone to this additional expense, which represents a considerable outlay of money.

The new fan system is said to be the largest in the entire state of Texas and is a duplicate of that used in Chicago and many of the larger cities. To give some idea of the size of this system it is explained that the fan has a capacity of 14,000 cubic feet of air per minute or 10 tons an hour.

Installation will be begun at once and will be completed before the beginning of warm weather.

Many Producers After 'Thorns and Orange Blossoms'

One of the best known and most popular novels and stage plays of the generation ago is to be seen at the Strand Theater, where the preferred picture, "Thorns and Orange Blossoms" will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

There are but few stories that have ever attained such a popularity and wide circulation as the novel by Bertha M. Clay. The story first reached the public in serial form in a popular magazine. When the book was finally published it is estimated that more than three million copies were printed, which means a possible reading public of fifteen million people.

"Thorns and Orange Blossoms" ran for many years and was one of the most successful melodramas ever produced. The stage presentation was sponsored by Rowland and Clifford and it played over the State and Hawaiian circuit season after season.

Picture companies for years were bidding against one another to secure the film rights to this old favorite. When E. P. Schreiber, president of Preferred Pictures, finally secured it, every well known screen artist on the coast was considered in order that the highest degree of perfection might be reached in casting this unusual story. The final selection includes such well known names as Estelle Taylor, who plays the role of "Natalie," and Kenneth Harlan, who plays "Roddie." The film is directed by Fred Niblo, the creator of "The Three Musketeers."

Officer Praises 'I Am the Law' Coming to Gem

"At last I have seen a motion picture that does full justice to the policeman. It is a towering tribute to the honorable motives that actuate the average policeman in the performance of his duties. In addition it is a well-entertained picture."

Such was the glowing tribute paid to "I Am the Law," a sensational police drama, in the name of the law, scheduled for exhibition at the Gem Monday.

The fact that Lieutenant Regan is the leading traffic authority connected with the police department that safeguards the welfare of 6,000,000 souls should be borne in mind when one considers that the noted policeman has to say about the high qualities of a motion picture.

Lieutenant Regan is not given to haphazard praise of films. But when he recently reviewed "I Am the Law," it was shown at the annual installation of officers of the New York Police Honor Legion, he was quick to announce his belief that it could be far any similar picture in its dramatization of police lives and dangers.

"I like it particularly," continued the lieutenant, "because it gives the policeman as he actually is. It shows him to be a fine, fair, square-dealing fellow who wants most of all to uphold the laws of society. It shatters the hypocritical antagonism of many who think they see in the police an arch-enemy of humanity. It is, in short, a very wonderful picture."

Hundreds of chiefs throughout the country have added their modicum of praise to the tremendous volume of commendation now being bestowed upon "I Am the Law."

Plenty of Thrills During Filming of Picture "Fury"

A life on the ocean wave isn't such a round of pleasure as the romancer would have you believe! Take the word of Richard Barthelmess, who spent three weeks before the mast in order to find it out.

For the filming of "Fury," a stirring story of the sea by Edmund Goulding, in which the young star is appearing, a four-masted schooner was chartered for Mr. Barthelmess and his company, and a cruise from peaceful Philadelphia to rocky Gloucester, Maine, was made. Mutiny, near shipwreck, hard work, and the very best of the experiences which Mr. Barthelmess had in his eventful journey. And then there was a fist fight on the deck of the ship in which the young star took part.

"It was an experience which I wouldn't miss for the world," said Mr. Barthelmess, "but terra firma will seem good for a long time afterwards. I think that the average sailor has not more than a man's job. We had an anchor that weighed several tons that had to be let out or pulled in by hand, by means of a capstan, and we all had to take our turns pushing it around. It took hours to raise that anchor. We slept in hammocks, and unless you have ever tried it, you will never know how hard it is to get the swing of it. Most of us landed on the deck several times before we managed to hand on."

"The near mutiny by the crew was exciting to say the least. For one thing, it was led by a 1922 edition of Captain Kidd with a couple of guys at his belt. He led his comrades up and demanded to know if they were going to get their fare paid back to Philadelphia when the ship ended at Gloucester. The captain told them 'No.' There was some excited muttering and they passed for action. Then Henry King, our director, stepped in and told the men they would be provided with transportation home and trouble was ended.

"One night we were in so heavy a fog that you couldn't see the ship's rail. Our fog horn sounded as though it might be heard twenty feet away, no more. We barely crept along. Suddenly there was a terrible swishing and a big ocean liner passed so closely that we could almost touch it. A miss may be as good as a mile, but I can tell you I never want to get any nearer to Davy Jones' locker than that."

"In our fight on the boat, we had to be careful not to slip over the

Bargain Basement Soon to Move to Its New Location

C. M. Richardson, of Richardson's Bargain Basement, announces that they expect to be in their new location at 809 Indiana in less than a month.

Mr. Richardson stated that all of the departments of the store will be enlarged, particularly along the lines of ready-to-wear. Miss Nevada Houston will be in charge of the millinery department and Miss Clara B. Price will be manager of the ready-to-wear department according to Mr. Richardson.

Mr. Richardson expects to continue to feature wash dresses, suitable for the tiny girl, her big sister and her mother.

The Virginia Hart and the Dolly Pompon are two of the most popular lines of wash dresses according to Mr. Richardson, and cretonnes, gingham and crepes in all colors and combinations are being worn this spring.

Dramatic Story Comes Monday to Empress Theater

When Roddy Warren, son of Andrew Warren, millionaire steel magnate, married Natalie Lane, an artist's model, his father tried to break up the marriage, telling his son that he had married below his station in life. Roddy refused to give up his bride, and set out to try to support her and himself.

But the father was determined to interfere, and had detectives follow Natalie. One evening the sleuths reported to him that they had followed the girl to the studio of Birna Travers, a famous artist. Andrew Warren went to his son's home, and confident that he had at last discovered a way to dissolve the marriage, told Roddy that he could find his wife consorting with the artist.

Roddy rushed to the studio, and found the artist, shot, lying on the floor. While he was gazing, horror-stricken, at the victim, his father entered, having followed. At first the father believed his son to have slain the artist. Then out of a door walked Natalie. Roddy, believing his wife to be untrue and suspecting that she had fired the shot, dropped into a chair, heart-broken.

How the mystery of the shooting was cleared up, to the discomfiture of the father, indicating Natalie, forms one of the interesting episodes of "The Woman He Married," a first national attraction starring Anita Stewart, which begins a two-day engagement at the Empress Monday. It is one of the most thrilling dramas of the year and was directed by Fred Niblo, the creator of "The Three Musketeers."

Mr. Dixon of the Dixon Motor Company has the following suggestions for the care and adjustment of Buick cars, which are not only well worth reading by all Buick owners but by owners of other makes of cars as well.

Mr. Dixon declares that it is a matter of pride with many owners to preserve the appearance of their cars, and they take special pains through careful washing and cleaning to have the exterior retain a bright, lustrous finish.

DO YOU KNOW WHY THE GEAR-SHIFT IS DIFFERENT?

The design of Dodge Brothers gear-shift takes into consideration the natural inclinations of the driver.

Moreover, the transmission, developed and patented by Dodge Brothers, is so designed that the countershaft—used in intermediate speeds and in reverse—is disconnected when the car is in high. There are no gears in mesh. Power is transmitted directly from clutch to rear axle.

This exclusive feature prevents the loss of power through friction, reduces gear-box noises and eliminates a vast amount of wear.

That is why the gear-shift of Dodge Brothers Motor Car is different.

THE MOTORISTS' PROBLEMS

By WILLIAM H. STEWART, JR.

Motor Department: Why is it that some motor car builders use aluminum crank cases and others use cast iron crank cases? Is there any great difference in cost or strength? C. K.

Aluminum is used on account of its lightness. Cast iron is much heavier, but weighs considerably more. Aluminum has about the same strength as cast iron, but is about one-third lighter.

Motor Department: Is there anything that will restore the original finish on a headlight reflector, whose paint has had glass broken out for some time? READER.

There is nothing that will restore the original finish except refinishing, but the reflector may be improved by polishing with a good non-acid polish. Use a soft cloth and apply polish with a circular movement until all the surface has been covered. Then use clean soft cloth and polish surface.

Motor Department: Will you please tell me, can a motor fire 1-2-3-4 without changing the cam shaft or the cams on the cam shaft? If so, how? H. P.

With the cam shaft you have there are two possible orders of firing, namely, 1-2-4-3 and 1-2-3-4. Undoubtedly some of it is there and they must be adjusted before searching elsewhere. Adjust them to clearance of an ordinary visiting card. Then see if you can get a little more power by changing top and high speed adjustments of carburetor.

Motor Department: Would you kindly tell me what is the matter with my 1918 Ford? I have just cleaned out the engine and ground in the valves. I have plenty of power on level roads, but on the hills it seems to die right down. S. K.

You may have one or more of the following troubles: Poor compression, leaky valves, leaky inlet manifold, choked gasoline line, weak magnets, wrong carburetor adjustment, spark too far retarded, or these may be one. Most of them you may test for yourself. Have the magnets tested at the nearest Ford repair station.

Motor Department: What is the cause of vapor coming from the heater pipe after a short run. My engine will run or stop entirely at such times, and to keep it going I will the checks to give richer mixture. Oil tank case was cleaned and oil changed. Water cooling system was thoroughly cleaned, yet the trouble persists. G. W. K.

This is due to smoke and gas working down into the crank case caused by defective piston rings or scored cylinder. The cylinder must be removed and re-ground or the defects in the rings attended to. They may be ground by carbon scored, shots in the broken or worn.

Motor Department: Please let me know why I have to stop my engine to start it on magnets, but can start it on battery by simply pulling up on the starting handle. Can it be possible that the battery is over a half a year old and the magnet? I thought it was just the opposite. C.

The magnet gives a hotter spark than the battery when it is running at proper speed, but not when starting. The battery gives the same spark regardless of engine speed. When starting the engine on battery, the spark should be retarded, but when starting on magnet, the spark should be advanced. Try magnet with spark advanced and give a sharp quick turn.

Motor Department: On removing the cover of my magneto circuit breaker I noticed an unusual sparking when the breaker points opened. The spark at the plug seems to be good, and the engine runs alright. As the points did not spark that way at first, I wish to ask if it is anything serious. OWNER.

Sparking may be due to dirt-clogged points, improper contact, weak magnets, defective condenser, or loose condenser wire. As the engine has full power, your trouble is probably due to dirt or corrosion. Use a piece of fine sandpaper between the points several times and see if sparking has stopped. A magneto file is excellent for this work, but care must be taken to file the points evenly. Then they should be properly adjusted.

Motor Department: Recently my car has developed a peculiar habit. While going down hill on a direct drive, using engine and gears, the clutch invariably slips out, allowing the car to coast and almost run away, sometimes on level roads when the power is on, the clutch

ABBOT-BREEDERS DEPARTMENT

Conducted For The Times By J. M. Smith, 1203 Olive Street, Under Auspices of Wichita County Rabbit Breeders' Association.

Dutch Marked Rabbits One of the prettiest and smartest rabbits known in the fancy is the Dutch. It is one of the best of the rabbit family, and this no doubt, accounts for much of its success. Dutch is a very good breeder, and is a very popular in France, where they are known by the name of "Fleisch" and in England it is claimed that there are two specimens of Dutch bred to one of any other variety.

The Dutch rabbit is often compared to the Hampshire hog in color. The body color is dense black, and this is more common. A broad white ring around the neck and shoulders, looking like a "hood" or "hood" with white feet and one-half inches, the white on the face, "face blaze," should cover the more anterior half of the jaws, not reaching the crease, and should run up between the lines of the ears, joining the white band. "Saddles" which covers the anterior part of the body and front legs. The eyes should be black and matching body color in others, should be completely surrounded by the color, the white of the iris joins the white "saddle" below the ears should be erect and same color as body. The tail is black.

The body should be short and compact. The weight at maturity is slightly under 10 pounds. The Dutch is not particular as to its hutch. It is pleased with the open air hutch. In this situation it acquires more hardiness, its hair is thicker and forms a heavy and resisting cover. This rabbit is raised very well, however, in a hutch, but needs plenty of air. It is active, always moving; its motions are always light, graceful and lively; not a swift runner, however, and not a ravenous, tame. It does not fear the approach of man, whose presence does not disturb its agile frolic.

The females are very prolific. Litters have from 7 to 12 young. We have often counted 11 young in one litter. They are excellent milk-givers; they are used as foster mothers for the more delicate breeds and the less favored offspring. They are also of great value in the crowded hutches where it is necessary to divide up the large litters. They are of the exceptionally kind disposition and attend their young with the greatest care. We have seen some poor mothers having reached the last stage of gestation coming from the hutch and often in-bred, they are known the world over to the most hearty and healthy of all varieties. It is not likely that fancy exhibition Dutch will ever catch up with the demand as finely marked specimens are among the hardest to produce.

Rabbit Bites From Antipodes "Baby Bunting's father must be finding good hunting in Australia or else the present modes in woman's clothing have greatly encouraged the business of rabbit hunting in the Antipodes, for the Southern Pacific recently received a shipment of three carloads of Australian rabbit skins for delivery in New York," says a Southern Pacific bulletin. This shows there is a demand for rabbit skins and the people of Australia are aware of this demand, and therefore send these skins here. If the people of far off Australia can ship dry skins to New York, why can't the American people send to us at a greater profit? When he has a variety of domestic rabbits to choose from, many men who are bred for their value and need of which are better suited for this purpose than the White New Zealand rabbit.

The rabbit industry is confronting the same difficulties that the poultry industry did several years ago in the way of coping with the influenza epidemic. Nearly every month some rabbit magazine has something to say about the fad and threatens exposure. These frauds remind us of the victim who wrote to the man from whom he had bought a setting of what were advertised as "thoroughbred" White Leghorn eggs. The letter was as follows: Dear Sir: The setting of eggs which I received from you has been hatched and I am writing to express my surprise and delight at the result. From the 15 eggs set, I have one alligator, three peacocks, five ducks, two swine and one basket. I regret the fact that the other three eggs did not hatch. What they contained will forever remain a baffling mystery. Please send me another setting for which I enclose $25.00. Yours truly, H. B. H. H. H.

A gauge which can be reached by hand is good, since it may be moved up and down to see if it is free. It gives a striking object lesson when the oil basin has not been cleaned out for several thousand miles. On pushing the float down into the heavy oil muck at the bottom it sometimes sticks there, showing the need of a thorough cleaning.

Morals and patriotism would be taught in a special course of instruction in the public schools of Arkansas under a bill introduced in the state legislature by one of the two women members, Mrs. S. J. Hunt of Pine Bluff.

Some towns are so lucky. In Nashville, Tenn., an amateur music teacher moved away.

With this program of reproduction the families reach their maximum period which comes about August, and have a chance to rest from then until November. Dutch can be quartered in small hutches, 7 sq. feet of floor space, 4 feet high each about 12 inches.

Dutch excel all other varieties of rabbit for nurse does. They can be bred successfully the year round, weaning time for Dutch is from four to six weeks.

They mature very rapidly, at from five to six months. They are raised especially for: (1) pets for children, (2) for fur; (3) for meat.

Chevrolet 1-Ton Truck Is Received By Local Dealer

The local Chevrolet Company is one of the first agencies in Texas to receive one of the new 1-ton trucks which have just been gotten out by the Chevrolet manufacturers.

This truck is 4171 c. c. factory and is put out to compete with trucks of the same size and similar price. Electric lights and starter and cord tires are included on the truck. Mr. Lockhart stated, it has the same motor as the 1923 Chevrolet touring car.

Mr. Lockhart remarked that a telegram was recently received by the local company, announcing the manufacture of the millionth Chevrolet automobile.

He also stated that the Fuller Brush Company have made a statement to the effect that 33 per cent of their customers furnish their own cars. Out of the nine makes represented, a total of 335 cars, 107 of these are Chevrolets. According to Mr. Lockhart who believes that this is a mighty good evidence of the reliability of the Chevrolet automobile.

The number three was the perfect number of the Pythagoreans, who said it represented the beginning of the world.

William Jennings Bryan's Weekly Bible Talk JESUS THE WORLD'S SAVIOR

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

For the past three months we have dealt with Christ and His activities.

We have studied Him as the Great Physician, ministering unto the sick and healing every manner of disease; we have studied Him as a Teacher, presenting a philosophy of life, and illustrating it so that all could understand.

In the Prodigal Son He portrayed the patience of God and the tenderness of His inexhaustible affection for His children. He rebuked Dives for his indifference and praised Zacchaeus, another sinner, for his benevolence. He taught civic duty and immortalized a complete devotion. He exalted prayer and died for man's sin with forgiveness upon His lips.

We have reviewed Him from every standpoint and have seen His justified title given Him in prophecy: "His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The Mighty God, The Everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace."

Today, having the past lessons in mind, we consider Jesus as the Saviour of the world.

Does the World Need a Saviour?

First, does the world need a Saviour—the fact of the need depends upon the need. In 1 Timothy we are told: "This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners. These who reject Christ are united in the belief either that the world has never needed a Saviour or that Christ was not the Saviour needed.

Some who call themselves Christians have so interpreted the Bible as to discard the sacrificial character of Christ, and see in Him only an extraordinary man and a teacher of rare merit. These Bible talkers present the Bible as an inspired and infallible Word of God, and Christ as the teacher for the people from their sin—delivered from the bondage of the law and restored him to his lost estate.

The account of the fall of man is, of course, disputed by those who believe that man has been advanced from the animals and is now more advanced than any of his ancestors. Although no species in the vegetable or animal world has yet been traced to any other species, there are those who believe man a descendant of the ape. In many of these reject entirely the theory of an atonement and admit no possibility of improvement except by the slow process of accumulated intelligence.

Reason vs. Faith

If the Bible is the Word of God, it is not necessary that it should be confirmed by human observation or man-collected proof before it can be accepted as authoritative. To withhold confidence until such proof can be supplied is to reject observation and reason.

Our senses have a very limited range and are easily deceived; we shut ourselves up in a very narrow world if we believe only what we see or hear or touch, and our reason does not lead us into a domain much larger, for it, unaided by faith, soars neither high nor far.

We can, however, find confirmations that we gather from observation, even though we do not regard them as essential. In many words, reason may follow faith and confirm it, though it is unable to lead the way.

Man is the only created thing that does not live up to its possibilities—a fact that has been cited as proof that he once occupied a higher state. With power to choose between good and evil, he often chooses the evil in preference to the good. To all is natural; it is self-expressed in terms of human life.

The Lifting Spiritual Force

Just as an egg is drawn toward the center of the earth, so sin draws very heart downward; and just as a human arm can, according to its strength, overcome the law of gravitation and lift upward a body that gravity draws downward, so there is a spiritual force that can overcome the downward draw of sin and lift a soul toward its Maker.

This can be proven by a comparison of lives and by a comparison that can lift him up to an exalted plane, or even save him from sin's destructive power—but there is in him that which responds to a call from above.

What Christ Does

Christ can save and does save. He takes the sinner from the gutter where his own flesh and blood have abandoned him—yes, even when he himself is on the brink of despair; He takes the outcast from the haunts of vice; Christ washes each clean and fills his heart with a passion for service.

These reclaimed souls at any city mission; they find happiness in being helpful to those about them—they are an inspiration to the fallen; how can it be explained, except on the ground Christ can save?

Recently reported a case which shows how impossible it is for one to fall so low as to be beyond the reach of Christ's love and salvation.

The son of a moonshiner in the mountains was sent to a reform school as an incorrigible boy the age of 11; he afterward served nearly 20 separate terms in jail and penitentiary. After such a career of crime, he was converted. At the time the report appeared in the press he was traveling from penitentiary to penitentiary, putting the Bible into the hands of prisoners, and carried a letter from a president of the United States commending his conversion.

Pictures From Real Life

While the love of Jesus was thus transforming a hardened criminal into an angel of mercy, hundreds of young men, scoffing at religion, ridiculing the Bible, and speaking contemptuously of the Son of God, were rushing headlong from homes of luxury and halls of learning down to the bottomless pit—today.

The "well-born" who go to destruction in spite of family environment and education, prove the need of a Saviour—the reclamation of the ill-favored as well as the favored, proves that Christ's blood is sufficient.

These are not fanciful pictures, they are taken from real life. Scarcely an adult who reads these words but knows men and women, too, who have walked the downward way in spite of prayers and tears—as they have also known those who have passed through repentance to forgiveness and into the joys of a new life.

The Line of Human Life

If I had my audience before me I might present the thought on canvas.

I would draw a line from the upper corner of the canvas on one side to the lower corner on the other side, and then suggest that the line, extended upward, would reach the highest plane to which a human being can aspire and, extended downward, the lowest level to which a human being can fall. Every soul is somewhere on this line and traveling in one direction or the other.

The natural tendency is downward, but the God who by endowing man with free will, made it possible for him to descend to the lowest depths, also made it possible for him to rise to the most exalted heights. The Heavenly Father's love is the lifting power that pervades the world, and Christ was love manifested in the flesh. He can save all and save to the utmost; no matter to what level the individual has fallen, he can go back.

Any point upon the line can be made a turning point.

Lifting Man's Load

Man carried his sin on his back as he descends, and the load grows heavier as he travels, but the Christ who has power to forgive has power to lift from him his burden of sin so that all his strength can be used in the upward journey toward that perfection which is enjoined upon all ever highly trained.

Sometime the Bible because it tells the truth, it describes man's condition, but does not leave him helpless. Ours is a sinful world, a sinful world without a Saviour would be indescribable torment, the Redeemer Saviour was provided. A Saviour without forgiving power would only mock the tortured.
