WITH HANDS TIED WOMAN FORCED TO WITNESS FLOGGING

MACON, GA. MAN IS SEVERELY BEATEN BY UNMASKED BAND.

HAVE LICENSE NUMBER OF CAR THE MEN USED

Victim is Given Twenty-Four Hours in Which to Leave the City.

MACON, GA., April 5.—Lynn Wood L. Bright, who was severely flogged near Macon last night by a band of unmasked men, conferred with his attorneys today to determine whether to prosecute three of the men he is said to have recognized in the band that administered the punishment.

MACON, GA., April 5.—Her hands tied by her assailants, Mrs. Fredricka Pace of New York, late last night witnessed the severe horse-whipping of her companion, Lynnwood Bright of this city, after both had been kidnaped from their automobile by eight unmasked men and taken to a secluded spot about four miles from here.

With the license number of the kidnapers' car in their possession, officers today were searching for the marauders.

Bright said he had been given 24 hours in which to leave the city. Mrs. Pace told officers that the kidnapers said they respected testimony of a negro witness, Bright's divorcee against Mrs. Bright last Monday.

Bright said he was not known by him at a late hour Thursday morning when he was taken to the place where the appointment would take effect just as soon as he could arrange the matters of the district attorneyship and tender his resignation as such and be sworn in as a district judge.

This appointment leaves Wichita county without a district attorney and an assistant.

It is quite likely that a new district attorney will be appointed within the next week or ten days as it is imperative that the district have one promptly.

It was understood Thursday morning that there would be a large number of applicants for the position which will be vacated soon by Mr. Schenck.

After relating the incident to the police Mrs. Pace was taken to her hotel and Bright left without stating his destination.

Mrs. Pace lives in New York City. She recently figured in a suit brought by Mrs. Bright for alienation of her husband's affections. The case was settled out of court.

WALTER F. SCHENCK, of Graham District Attorney Walter F. Schenck, of the 60th judicial district, received his appointment Wednesday night as judge of the new 22nd judicial district comprising Young and Stephens counties.

Mr. Schenck was notified of his appointment. A telephone message from Graham at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening advised him that he had received a telegram from Austin pointing out the new judge of the newly created district. This district will remain in effect for two years according to the bill which was passed creating it.

Mr. Schenck stated after he had received the appointment that he would accept and would wire the board of acceptance Thursday. He left for Archer City Thursday morning where court is now in session.

Just when Mr. Schenck will assume his new duties was not known by him at a late hour Thursday morning when he was taken to the place where the appointment would take effect just as soon as he could arrange the matters of the district attorneyship and tender his resignation as such and be sworn in as a district judge.

TWO OFFICIALS OF KLAN SURRENDER IN ANSWER TO CHARGE

WARRANTS SWORN OUT ALLEGE EMBEZZLEMENT OF FUNDS.

HAVE SCHEDULED TRIAL FOR SATURDAY MORNING

Deputy Sheriffs Remain in Charge of Palace Pending Court Decision.

ATLANTA, GA., April 5.—E. J. McKinnon, chief of the investigation department, and N. W. Furney, cashier of the Ku Klux Klan, surrendered themselves today in answer to warrants sworn out by E. J. Jones, an associate of Emperor Simmons, charging larceny after trust. McKinnon was charged with embezzlement of $27,000 and Furney of $1,000 of funds belonging to the Klan. They were released on bonds of $1,000 each. Both are officials under Imperial Wizard Evans.

Trial of the two officials was set for 3 o'clock Saturday morning before Judge T. O. Hatchcock. Attorneys for Emperor William J. Simmons and Imperial Wizard E. J. Evans announced they were ready for the hearing this afternoon before Judge E. D. Thomas in the controversy over the Klan which is head of the Klan.

Headquarters of Emperor Simmons reiterated the announcement today that Captain J. K. Skipwith, cyclops of the Klan in Morehouse parish of Louisiana, was in the city today as a delegate of Louisiana klansmen and were supporting Emperor Simmons. The statement was also made that while delegations of Klans from several parts of the country were in Atlanta no formal convention of the Simmons supporters was planned.

Meanwhile deputies of Sheriff Lowrey remain in charge of the Imperial palace, general headquarters of the Klan, which were on duty throughout last night taking turns standing guard.

EMBEZZLEMENT OF FUNDS OF KLAN IS CHARGED

ATLANTA, GA., April 5.—Sheriff J. L. Lowrey of Fulton County, today is in charge of the Imperial palace, headquarters of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, while counsel, chief of the investigation department, and Dr. H. W. Evans, imperial wizard, prepared for further hearing of their dispute for official control of the order before Judge E. D. Thomas in superior court this afternoon.

Meanwhile arrest was momentarily expected of E. J. McKinnon, chief of the Klan investigation department, on a charge of embezzlement of $25,000, on a warrant sworn out yesterday by E. J. Jones, an associate of Emperor Simmons. The dispute between Evans and Simmons arose when Evans issued a proclamation to Klan members that any support of the order of Simmons, a similar organization, would result in banishment from Klan membership.

Simmons secured control of the Imperial palace for a day on a temporary court order but lost it yesterday when Evans brought counter action and attempted to show that he had custody of the palace. Delegates from all sections of the nation were here to watch results. Among them was a delegation from Morehouse parish, Louisiana, headed by Captain J. K. Skipwith, exalted cyclops, who accompanied him and his fellows here in behalf of Emperor Simmons.

Discover 'Tut' Tomb Dies From Blood Poison Result of Insect Bite

VICTIM INSECT BITE

EARL OF CARNARVON

By Associated Press. CAIRO, April 5.—The Earl of Carnarvon, discoverer of the tomb of Pharaoh Tutankhamun, died early today at a hotel here after a stubborn battle against blood poisoning and pneumonia following the bite of an insect.

Although Carnarvon, who made a hurried trip to Egypt from London by airplane and by sea, was at the bedside a daughter and a son, Lord Porchester, were also present.

The first word of the earl's illness came on March 19 when it was said that he was suffering from an infection due to the insect bite which he had received at Assuan, he was then brought to this city where physicians found that he throat and tonsils were affected.

The patient rallied from the first attack of illness but on March 23 there came a serious relapse with a recurrence of high temperature and the extension of the infection to the lungs. Both lungs became affected and he grew rapidly worse. The end came at 2 o'clock this morning.

Although medical science will attribute the earl's death to such an accident as might befall any one who ventures himself to this climate, there are thousands of natives who firmly believe that the vengeance of the Pharaohs was visited upon the explorer who so patiently sought out the treasures of ancient Egypt. Superstition has it that he who tampers with the tombs of the dead is doomed by a curse of the ancients, and consequently the earl's illness was pointed to as a fulfillment of the old legend.

There are also those who believe that the earl, in his work in Tutankhamun's tomb, accidentally came in contact with a poison left there 35 centuries ago to safeguard the king in his last sleep.

After a two week's search through the mountains of San Juan basin in southeastern Utah for renegade Plateau Indians who revolted and clashed with white settlers, United States Marshal J. On their part, the roads will have an extraordinary number of good order locomotives and cars available in the fall to have all coal intended for railroad use in storage by September 1 to restrict the transportation of railroad supplies to the minimum during the fall rush, and to help keep every car moving.

LITTLE HOPE FOR CHILD HURT WHEN MACHINE IS UPSET

There has been no change in the condition of L. J. Tackett, the 2-year-old son of Mrs. J. W. Tackett, 717 West Park, who was probably fatally injured Wednesday afternoon when the car in which he was riding overturned on the Iowa Park road, about seven miles from the city.

Mrs. J. W. Tackett, mother of the injured child, who is lying in the car at the site of the accident, attempted to turn from the Iowa Park road into the dirt road leading to Burkhardt's. At the short turn, Mrs. Tackett lost control of the machine and it was thrown into the ditch, pinning the child under the car. Mrs. Tackett and three other children who were in the car at the time of the accident escaped with minor bruises.

The Tackett child was brought to General Hospital about 2 o'clock for medical attention. The flesh was torn from the left side of his face, the jaw and face bones were crushed and it is believed that he is suffering from a fractured skull.

Physicians in attendance Thursday morning held little hope for the child's recovery, though he has been little or no change in his condition since Wednesday afternoon at the time of the accident.

J. W. Tackett, the child's father, was in Frederick, Oklahoma at the time of the accident, he was notified of the child's condition as soon as it was possible to get in touch with him.

Public Wedding Will Be Feature Of Shrine Circus But Identity Of Couple Is Mystery So Far

By FRANK A. REID, Publicity Chairman.

Things are certainly working fast in the plans for Massad Temple Shrine circus. Put a piece in the paper the other day about a public wedding during the Temple week festival, everything got the bride and groom, and a fellow came bustling it up to Al Miller's office and said he had a couple who had been dating over 10 years and who were not the first to get married in your bid and get enough fixings for you up in housekeeping.

Now the question is, who is the couple? There are some things that are going to be kept a secret for a while and they are of them, because maybe this prospective bride and groom don't want to know right away, but it is sufficient to say they are well known and have a host of friends. Later on you found out who just thought it over and didn't act, can glance about in the different store windows and see the beautiful things the merchants are doing to give the bride and groom, and wonder why you didn't act.

Nothing is certainly going to see that nothing is left undone to give the couple a right start in life. Of course they can't prosper the fudge for them, but they can start them off on the right track.

Free tickets, free rings, free minutes, free bridesmaids, free free cars, free everything. What more could they want. This is a wonderful time to get married. That's why they acted when they did.

We'll have more to say about this later on.

MASKAT MEMBERS PAY BOWIE SHRINE VISIT WEDNESDAY

A delegation of about 50 Shriners from the city of Chicago, Ill., will be the guests of the local Shrine club at the carnival given by the club Wednesday. The band and control and chapters, under the direction of A. H. Douglas, II, A. Robinson and Paul Von Altman, accompanied the delegation and took part in the program. The demonstration given on the street by the band, patrol and chapters was witnessed by approximately 2,500 people.

The party left this city in a special coach Wednesday afternoon and were greeted in Bowie by Judge Paul Donald and Dr. Lawson, president of the local Shrine club.

The next day trip planned by the local patrol and chapter will be taken Sunday. It is expected that 50 Shriners from this territory will make the trip to Vernon with the entertainers for the concert to be given there Sunday afternoon.

The delegation will leave this city Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

FIRST OF DAMAGE SUITS IS WON BY RAILROAD COMPANY

The first of a number of damage suits which grew out of an accident at the railroad crossing on the Iowa Park road last August 15 when four people were injured and one man killed resulted in a victory for the defendant railroad companies.

The first suit tried in the 74th district court was the one brought by E. A. Hatcherley against the M. & T. Railroad, the Fort Worth and Denver City Railroad and the American Railway.

Judge E. W. Napier gave an instructed verdict for the Katy Railroad and the jury found for the other two defendants.

The jury retired at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and was out only five minutes when it returned a verdict in favor of the two railroad defendants. The case was submitted on approximately 40 issues but the first issue determined the entire matter and the jury reported.

IF SICK TODAY! TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Real Guarantee

I discovered a vegetable compound that does the work of dangerous, sickening calomel and I want every reader of this paper to buy a bottle for a few cents and if it doesn't straighten you up better and quicker than salivating calomel just go back to the store and get your money back.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your thirty feet-of-bowels-of-the-sour-bile and constipation poison which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable.

I guarantee that one spoonful of this harmless liquid liver medicine will relieve the headache, biliousness, coated tongue, acid, indigestion, sour stomach or any other distress caused by a torpid liver as quickly as a dose of vile, nauseating calomel, besides it will not make you sick or keep you from a day's work.

Calomel is poison—its mercury—it attacks the bones often causing rheumatism. Calomel is dangerous. It sickens—while my Dodson's Liver Tone is safe, pleasant and harmless. Eat anything afterwards because it can not salivate. Give it to the children because it doesn't upset the stomach or shock the liver. Take a spoonful tonight and wake up feeling fine and ready for a full day's work.—ad.

CALL UPON TRUSTEE CANDIDATES TO TELL WHAT THEY WILL DO

Interest in the school board election of next Saturday was approaching the boiling point Thursday. A letter from W. M. Statement From Judge Chauncey Relative to School Superintendency

Editor, The Times: I wish you would be kind enough to publish this statement so that the people of this city may know some of the reasons why a majority of the school board decided to elect Dr. J. W. Cantwell as superintendent in the place of Mr. Lee Clark. A considerable number of people have asked me to give a statement but I have refrained thus far from doing so for the reason that it might tend to disrupt the schools and to destroy the harmony which has heretofore existed in our school system, but I have been reminded that the people are entitled to know just why the action was taken and I make this statement for the reason that I am interested in the schools of this city and that I wish to advance the school instead of retarding their growth.

TIGHTWADS
What is a tightwad? Uncle Sam, in a booklet, defines him as "a man who saves 60 cents out of every dollar, and expends 37 cents of the balance for living expenses, and one cent each for education, recreation and alms."

That description might hold true in some cases. But how about the rich? Thousands of them would find it next to impossible, no matter how extravagant, to save less than 60 cents of the dollar.

You can't define a tightwad. It depends on the income of the individual, so it naturally varies. A poor man, ambitious to get ahead and accordingly saving 60 cents out of each dollar that comes his way, is a fox, not a tightwad.

The trouble is, too many of us save without a definite motive. The motive—indeed—usually exists until we are comfortably fixed. Then frugality is so firmly established as a habit that it becomes an obsession, form of mania.

Always interesting subject, this matter of how much we should save. Uncle Sam's booklet says that the normally thrifty man saves 20 cents out of each dollar, spends 50 cents on living expenses and 10 cents each on alms, recreation and education.

Strikes us as a sensible system. If you want to keep books—go on a budget basis—you might go about it this way: Decide to save 20 cents out of each dollar you receive. The scientific way to spend the balance, according to economists, is to divide each dollar you spend, like this:

- For food 43 cents
For shelter 18 cents
For clothing 15 cents
For fuel and light 5 cents
Other expenses 20 cents

USUAL PRACTICE IN FOGGING CASES REVERSED.

There are exceptions to any general rule. This is justified in the filing of complaints against five at Taylor, Texas, among them being the chief of police at that place, following a court of inquiry into the fogging of a traveling salesman there recently.

In commenting upon the fogging of a witness following his testimony at Denton last week, this paper observed that if the usual practice was followed charges of some kind would be filed against the man fogged. No report of such charges being filed has come from Denton. And now comes the report from Taylor of an apparently real effort being made to bring foggers to justice.

And this observation may be offered: marked foggers cannot operate where there are independent, courageous officers, and where fogging does occur it is safe to say that they have the connivance of the very officials whose sworn duty it is to prevent such outrages.

HORSE RACES AT THE DALLAS FAIR.

The news that horse racing is to be restored as a feature of the Dallas Fair will be welcomed by the thousands of lovers of that sport.

Horse racing is indeed "the sport of kings." More than that it is the sport of the people. There is something in the sweep and dash and verve of the horse race and the attuning of muscle and the mind and heart of the horse and his driver on the race course that no motor contest can take the place of.

Place an automobile race and a horse race side by side and the great crowd would be found watching the horse race.

The directors of the Wichita Falls fair have taken a good step in ordering the building of a race track at the fair grounds here. Wichita Falls can and will have as good races as the Dallas Fair and with Wichita Falls, and Dallas providing a start a great racing circuit may be organized in the Southwest.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE PACE-MAKER.
Carlos Martyn, in his biography of Woodell Phillips, said that this inspiring man was "a citizen of the Twentieth Century sent down to us as a sample of the Nineteenth!" so far were Phillips' thoughts, his visions, ahead of his time.

It is an inspiring thing to see a business man make his plans years ahead. It is said that the late Dr. W. R. Harper, while president of Chicago University, had made plans fifty years ahead for the school.

There are men living today whose business interests are so vast that there is much questioning as to what will happen when they are gone. But it is easy to speculate. What they have built will not crumble in a short time. For such men plan ahead.

History has always had its pace-makers. So has business, art, science, literature.

But of all pace-makers, the most inspiring are those who make us pace-makers for ourselves—those who love us and believe in us. Mothers, for instance!

Who runs ahead and says to us who follow, "There, there—there is the goal! Now well worth fighting for—make it, I know you can!"

Who would stretch many a muscle, strain an eye or nerve under such a spell of leadership?

How fortunate that there are pace-makers all about us. The ocean, the thick woods, that little home set back among the trees, abode of one bogged and humble; that great locomotive plowing across a continent, the sun, the moon, the stars, and trees, wide roads, and towering buildings, bridges—

And you, who daily lead yourself into higher planes of action and achievement—you are a pace-maker for countless others!

JUST FOLKS

THE LIGHT OF FAITH.
When the dark days come and the clouds grow gray All men must brave them as best they may.

With never too much repining; And bravest is he, when the shadows fall, Who sees in the gloom of his darkened hall The light of his faith still shining.

In those lonely days when his heart shall ache And it seems that soon shall his courage break.

There is only one place to borrow, One place to go for the strength he needs; He must bind with his faith every wound that bleeds, And cling to his faith through every sorrow.

For a man forlorn in the man who weeps Though his dead lie buried in floral heaps And friends his path are lying; And a pitiful creature he's doomed to be If he cannot look through the gloom and see The light of his faith still shining.

More war need. Let your widow marry. Wall Street's "get-away." $1,000,000 by mismanagement.

The Jewish Telegraph agency reports street fights in Moscow between Poles and Jews.

News dispatches from Warsaw tell of attacks on Jews by Poles in connection with the execution of the Roman Catholic Vice General Rutenkovich by the soviet government.

It will do good to read these. As though there were not enough seeds of war in Europe, the worst of all religious hatred must be added.

Lady Northcliffe, widow of the great British publisher, was married yesterday to Sir Robert A. Hudson.

Northcliffe, wise in newspaper and other respects, advised his wife to marry again, and even, it is said, to marry a man he thought as likely to marry.

Picking out the man must have been the difficult part of it.

A man asking his wife not to marry, at his death, is not so far removed from the man who would ask to have his young wife buried alive with his oldest car.

Nothing reveals character so much as the foolish statement in a man's will. "My wife cannot have anything if she marries again."

This is "get-away day" in Wall Street, some of the wise speculators have said. And many gentlemen who try to find prosperity in stock gambling believe it.

"Get away day" is the day in which the racing being over horses and jockeys move onto the next track.

Vendetta begins between Michael Savers, noted criminal, and Sir Norman, once a beautiful household name, saved him from Sir Norman by shooting dead the man who arrested him. Savers' rescue, Lord Kintrealey and his daughter, Beatrice, who had broken her heart when they took him as chauffeur to Boston.

Michael learns that Janet is about to wed Sir Norman so he decides to take a more direct action. He takes a job as a valet in the household of Colonel Beattie, he steals a pearl necklace given to Janet by Sir Norman and escapes with her.

Investigating, Beatrice asks permission to go into the city and find out the man who has been helping her. Michael gives the pearls to Beatrice, who takes them to Janet.

It has always been my custom, as a reporter, to make up my mind after a complete change of character and circumstances. I established myself in modest rooms at the back of the hotel, and a brass sign of office at the top of a block of buildings in Holburn, had cards and stationery printed, and a brass sign of office at the top of a block of buildings in the metropolis of my fancy as Mr. Sidney Buxton, jobbing lawyer.

My operations made very much impression upon the trade which I had adopted. I transferred a thousand pounds to my credit at a small London bank, wrote myself several letters a day, which I sent to the subject of my advertisement, called out with a small black bag soon after 10:30, and with the exception of a leisurely hour for my breakfast, the rest of my time in the safe seclusion of the British Museum.

I reestablished a new hobby. In the afternoon I went to my office, where I knew quite well, for instance, that half of the advertisement in the personal column of the "Morning Post" was intended, by a meaning utterly different from the serious one, for example, one after another, to have a series of sheets of paper and an immense amount of ingenuity. I was able at first to read the messages, conveyed under this absurd medley of words:

"Charles. What you may require may be found in 118. Laughing Eyes bids you have courage. Bring James."

With only one word of the alphabet at first clear to me, I extracted a message.

I topped bottle in the kitchen, and the other arrangements for the entertainment, with considerable satisfaction.

I must say you're not quite the sort of chap we expected to find—his name, Lizzie's man remarked as he seated himself heavily and perforce, wonderful conversation with his napkin. "I thought all your lot were water-drinkers."

I smiled.

"We've often misunderstood," I ventured.

We settled down and took stock approvingly at my tie and studs. I have made it a rule never to be without a supply of the right sort of clothes.

"I'm sure, if I may say so, it's much more agreeable to do business with a gentleman," she said.

"Makes one feel so much more at home."

"Cocktails, too," her companion exclaimed cheerfully as the waiter approached with a silver tray. "You're doing us proud and no mistake," said the man.

I bowed and drank their health. A verbal but cryptic silence ensued to me to be my best role. I had always felt that the best way to show a man arriving before the business part of our meeting had been broached, so as soon as the effect of the wine had begun to show themselves in some degree, I ordered another bottle and learned confidentially forward.

"You've brought the documents with you?" I asked.

"You don't think we are out to make an April fool of a gentleman like you?" she had begun to show a languishing glance. "But I would like you to understand this, Mr. Martin," I suggested.

HELP FOR GIRLS WHO WORK

Mrs. Lodic Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Tyrone, Pa.—"A friend told my husband how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped his wife, so my husband bought me a bottle because I was so run-down, had a nervous weakness, no strength in my body and pains in my left side so bad that I could hardly do my work. Before I was married I used to work in the factory, and I had pains just the same then as I have had since I have done my house work. I would not go without a bottle on the house now. It has stopped the pains all right and I have found out that it is a wonderful body builder, as it has made me well and strong, it is going to be the 'old reliable' with me hereafter, and I am always willing to tell other women who it has helped me. You can use this letter as you wish as I can honestly say that my words are true."—Mrs. M. Lodic, R.F.D. No. 4, Box 40, Tyrone, Pa.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments affecting taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

American Flyers Will Endeavor To Wrest Honors From French In Aerial Voyage Around The World

By WILLIAM P. FLYTHE, Universal Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Before Captain Bunt and his flying circus are well on their way to girdle the globe in the name of France a party of Americans will hop off in an effort to wrest this honor from them, it was learned today.

This expedition is planned by Brigadier General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service and the coteries of flyers who recently at Dayton, Ohio, have unshamed, most established records in the contest of the world.

General Mitchell hoped that he would be able to make the start before the Frenchman got away. He is not, however, discouraged. Many things may happen that the Americans may overcome the handicap of a start of as much as a month.

The French have selected a long and a tedious route. The start was actually made Sunday when Captain Bunt jumped off at Marseilles to cross the Mediterranean. He is using three Gondron-Leaure monoplane and two Spad-Herberstotter.

The route is from Nice to India in a easy stage, from India to Japan, to Nome, Alaska, thence down the Pacific to Chile, across the Andes to Argentina and up the coast to Pernambuco, Brazil. From there they will fly over the South Atlantic to Dakar, French West Africa, and work their way back overland to the original starting point.

This last jump is the longest over seas flight they will have. It is 1,632 miles. A British flyer covered a greater distance than this 2,000 miles in a flight from Newfoundland to Ireland. Lieutenant MacReady, an American flyer, has more than doubled it.

General Mitchell plans to use the T-1, the plane which MacReady flew, to head the squadron. This plane is a modified biplane, with three engines, which is being built by the Army Air Corps at Dayton, Ohio. It is now being tuned up for a test flight across the continent.

Unlike the French the American flyers will not be compelled to take the roundabout overland route, which is certain to bring any number of delays as the terrain over which they fly is equally as hazardous as flying over seas in the longer jumps, taxing the planes to the utmost mileage they will carry. The Americans have not abandoned hope of yet overcoming the lead the French have taken by the earlier start.

General Mitchell's proposed expedition is a long and arduous one. It will require a number of planes, a number of flyers, and a number of support planes. The expedition is being organized by the Army Air Corps at Dayton, Ohio.

THE UNITED STATES, Intervener

RECEIVER'S NOTICE

WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, March 31, 1923.

TO ALL PERSONS INTERESTED IN THE RED RIVER RECEIVERSHIP,

GREETINGS:
WHEREAS, by the supplement of March 12, 1923, to the partial decree of June 5, 1922, in the above entitled cause it was provided:

On consideration of the several stipulations, suggestions and supporting briefs relating to the entry of a further decree to supplement the partial decree entered June 5, 1922, under the opinion delivered May 1, 1922. It is ordered, adjudged, and decreed:

1. This supplemental decree relates only to the bed of the Red River, and to lands bordering on the north side of the same, between the 98th meridian of west longitude and the mouth of the North Fork.
2. The several interveners who, under patents or Indian allotments by the United States, own lands bordering on the north side of the river are severally the owners of so much of the bed of the river as lies in front of their lands and north of the medial line of the river, except as is otherwise stated herein.
3. Where, under grants from the United States, the state of Oklahoma owns lands bordering on the north side of the river the state has the same riparian rights in the river bed that an individual owning the same lands under a patent or Indian allotment would have.
4. The full title and ownership of so much of the bed of the river as lies south of its medial line are in the United States.
5. In the sense intended herein, the medial line of the river is a line drawn midway between the northerly and southerly banks of the river, commonly called cut banks, save that, under a stipulation between the parties affected, to which full effect must be given, this line, in so far as it reaches and is in contact with patented or allotted tracts which are within what is now the bed of the river, shall be regarded and treated as falling no farther north than the southerly line of such tracts as the same were represented by the official survey according to which they were patented or allotted.
6. Where tracts on the north side of the river, which were not riparian when surveyed, were patented or allotted after they had become riparian, such disposals carried the title to the medial line of the river, unless other tracts between them and that line had

NEW MASK PROVIDES PROTECTION AGAINST WAR GAS OFFENSIVE

By Universal Service. WASHINGTON, April 5.—A new gas mask, just perfected by the army, sets at rest the fear of American's extinction in this type of warfare, it was learned today. As the name, the general American A. Price, head of the chemical service, pointed out that this country's defenses are, at present, hardly adequate to meet the gas offensive. He says that the powers of many gas are highly exaggerated and they do not possess the potency claimed for them. The strange gas Lewisite, for which it was said that a single drop would kill a man and that the productiveness of a large area of soil, is really no more deadly than mustard gas, he says of 25,000 opposed to mustard in the world war, he says there was only one fatality. In addition to the gas mask which makes these dangerous fumes harmless in breathing, he announced that a fabric for clothing has been perfected which will protect the skin. In the event of hostilities there would be available for civilians as well as soldiers.

General Price points out that while wholesale destruction may be caused by an airplane squadron dropping gas bombs on an unprotected city, that the air and gas defenses of this country would make such an enterprise out of the question.

"From Nefertiti to Isobel, or the Reincarnation of a Profile." London Critics Assert That the Features of Isobel Elsom, English Actress, Carry the Same Lines as Those of the Ancient Head of the Pharaoh Beauty.

The Queen Who Taught Cleopatra How to Charm

She Was Nefertiti, Mother-in-Law of Tut-Ankh-Amen, and History's First Successful Monogamous Wife, Who Invented Gowns, Festivals and Ballets, That Still Fascinate.

THE difficult art of holding a husband's love is by no means the exclusive problem of Mme. Nouveau. Read the rules set forth by Queen Tiy, the beautiful and beloved, to help little Nefertiti, "Beautiful Excellence," the wife of her son in days when the Nile was young and the Southern Cross blazed above an Egypt of romance:

Lifted from the tablets of an ancient tomb, they are changed only to a language we know best:

All things to your beloved you shall be: all women in one woman, changing like the desert winds as the mood of your lord changes.

You shall practise the arts of the courtesan in his lighter moments, remembering that beauty holds the eye and gayety gladdens the heart.

You shall become the religious when your lord wraps himself in philosophic thought, casting his eyes toward the sun in worship of warmth and light.

When his body grows weary and beset by pain, then shall you become a perfect nurse, serving him tenderly.

When his mind is darkened by clouds of depression, you shall shine like the light on desert sands, remembering always the cheerful word.

When Other Women look upon him with speculative eye and his attention is drawn to hair of red or a baby stare, then must you cultivate poise, never by so much as a change of voice acknowledging jealousy.

And these were the rules by which Queen Tiy, the illustrious, insured for her small daughter-in-law the Perfect Marriage and helped to write upon the tablets of history the Sweetest Story Ever Told.

The beautiful Nefertiti was the daughter of a Syrian king, and history gives a first glimpse of the child as she lived with her father. She came to the brilliant court of Thebes where Queen Tiy and King Amenhotep the Magnificent ruled. There she so attracted Tiy that the Queen decided she would make a good wife for her son, the young Akhn-aten.

So the romance of the Egyptian boy and the Syrian girl (for they were only children then) began and blossomed until Nefertiti reached womanhood and gave the imprint of her personality to that time.

Her life gives us the record of the first successful monogamous marriage.

She instituted dress reforms and styles in gowns that have endured to modern times.

She invented many of the arts of fascination which the Cleopatras, "Sireeners of the Nile," utilized later to charm the militant and philosophic Caesar and the debonair Antony, the gay blade of ancient Rome.

She invented dances and ballet forms which became a part of Egyptian life and were preserved on friezes to be revived in these modern days.

And when she was devoted to her frail, intellectual husband, Akhn-aten, nursing him and caring for him when he was ill and striving valiantly to stave off the disaster that finally overwhelmed him. The engravings on the walls of their palace, still standing, show Nefertiti propping the young King up with pillows, his feet on a cushioned footstool. Others show her pouring wine through a strainer for him, her head lowered to him gently.

At Left—Margaret Bannerman, Famous English Beauty, Another Modern Adapter of the Modes of the Pharaohs. Below—Another Cinema Scene of the Resplendent Life in Cleopatra's Day.

The Glory and Grandeur That Was Egypt Revealed in a Film Version of "Cleopatra."

All this 3000 years ago, when the Nile was young and the courts of the Pharaohs were most resplendent. But the story of Nefertiti comes down to us—a modern woman in ancient times—with the fragrance of perfume from an Egyptian jar suddenly unsealed.

"Tell me that you love me." So the young Akhn-aten whispered in the ear of the girl from his mother's harem as they sat on the shores of the lake of the queen-mother.

And the black eyes of the dusky Nefertiti sparkled, her dusky cheek flushed with joy as she slipped her arm around his neck and whispered her answer.

Day by day, history tells us, they played together on the shores of this beautiful lake, which had been built for the queen mother by her adoring husband. It was a mile long and a thousand feet wide and its banks were arranged in undulating hills.

The next time we hear of the dusky Syrian beauty and the young heretic king they are married and Nefertiti has taken her place as one of the outstanding queens of ancient Egypt.

Her feat of making herself the one wife in her husband's life is the more astonishing when it is remembered that the custom of the day allowed him as many wives as he wished.

There was no social censorship demanding the monogamous marriage as there is today, and King Solomon in the home of monotheistic religion, even several hundred years later, was proud of possessing 300 wives. Akhn-aten's private letters show that he speculated on the charms of others, but in spite of this Nefertiti held her place unchallenged throughout his brief, hectic life.

Perhaps Nefertiti's greatest stroke of genius was in making a friend and ally of her mother-in-law, Queen Tiy. Time after time when neighboring kings sought to press their daughters on Akhn-aten as wives, Nefertiti, backed by Tiy, kept them from appearing on the scene.

What did she do, storm and rage and "put her foot down"? No, she kept the King loyal by her "infinite variety"; she became all women in one. She was thinker, philosopher and coquette, achieving the combination which taught Cleopatra to enthrall so successfully at a later date.

When the king was wrapped in philosophic thought she shared his ideas or brought in a band of blind singers to chant his favorite hymns. When he was discouraged she arranged special ballets of a sort he had never seen before. She invented festivals that outdid the native Egyptian efforts.

Her simple gowns, which she designed herself, and which also were new to Egypt, fascinated the king and led to changes in the fashions of that day. Hundreds of years later, in the great Napoleon's time, these gowns were to prove the basis of another woman's fascination.

The astonishing Mme. Recamier adapted the Nefertiti mode to her needs and so graced it and was so graced by it that Napoleon Bonaparte complained that she drew the eyes of the French people away from his illustrious self. Tradition says that the arts of Nefertiti enabled Recamier to hold the affections of the melancholy and taciturn Chateaubriand from the time he met her until his death.

Nefertiti had but a very short time in which to leave her vivid imprint on history. Her iconoclastic young husband differed with the priests and the religion of his country. He did not believe in armies and he disbanded his own.

Nefertiti saw disaster coming and tried to reorganize the state, attempted desperately to arouse her husband. But it was too late, enemies overwhelmed Egypt and the reign of the Pharaohs ended.

Akhn-aten, called the first radical and pacifist, was killed, and Nefertiti swept aside like a bright puff ball. At the age of 25 the little Syrian beauty disappears. She is supposed to have died in her old nurse's home of a broken heart, leaving behind several daughters, one of whom married the famous Tut-Ankh-Amen, whose tomb was recently discovered by English scientists.

CHAMPION

GIBBONS AND MRS. GIBBONS WANT HIM TO FIGHT DEMPSEY

By THOMAS L. CUMMISKEY, Universal Service Sports Editor. NEW YORK, April 5.—Popular boxer Tom Gibbons, who is a prize fighter to Spartan mothers.

As boxers fight in the ring today, women worry at home, calling on their courage to sustain them against dread and fears, as did Spartan women centuries ago.

Strange then, that a wife should desire to have her husband fight Jack Dempsey, the "man killer" springing the most virulent hitter in the history of the ring.

Yet it is just this which Mrs. Thomas Gibbons, wife of Tom Gibbons of St. Paul, brought to the Minnesota boxing commission to try and accomplish.

"Do all you can, won't you, to get Tommy a Dempsey bout," she said to William J. Saylor, secretary of the commission. "He wants to meet Dempsey, and I want him to realize his ambition."

And she is a woman, and of considerable accomplishments as an artist of the brush.

Saylor appealed to Chairman Muldoon of the New York boxing commission on behalf of Gibbons, being supported by the Minnesota commission and came out of the conference happy.

Muldoon stated his willingness to sanction the battle if Gibbons first disposed of Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight champion.

Previously Muldoon had declared Gibbons was too small for Dempsey, when the bout was proposed.

Muldoon said he would like to uphold the fight, but the money involved would be too great, and an offer drawn back in the 16 round limit to bouts.

New York is considered the logical place for it.

Saylor says he wanted to know just how Gibbons felt about Dempsey. Tommy told him:

"Well, I'm a better boxer than Dempsey, and I'm a pretty good hitter. I've only been fighting some so-called bums lately, but I can't get anybody else to fight me. Some 'bums' are not so easy, either. I feel I might hit Dempsey a hard one, and I'd like to have a good chance to win."

Mexican Beauty Provided Thrills For Home Folks

By Universal Service. MEXICO CITY, April 5.—Marina Vega, the 25 year old beauty who sought notoriety by unceremoniously taking up her abode in Charlie Chaplin's bed room in Los Angeles, has furnished thrills a plenty during her residence in Mexico City.

She is known here as "Mad Josephine," and her almost daily diversion is sensational attempts at suicide.

"The woman has a good education and is described here as 'a more beautiful than Pola Negri.' Her husband, Jose Rivera, is a prosperous rancher near this city. But she grew tired of farm life and has devoted the past few months to her favorite indoor sport—love, attention, caresses and wine."

Funny World, Comments Runyon, Says Dempsey, Ruppert And Bull Montana Help Make It So

By DAMON RUNYAN, Universal Staff Correspondent. (Copyright 1923.)

NEW YORK, April 5.—The world is certainly full of a number of things. Jack Dempsey once went into a ring at Oakland, Cal., with his temperature at 104, and fought a tough fight. He suffered no ill effects afterward.

You—and this writer—would probably have been in bed surrounded by hot water bottles, dosed with medicine and squeaking for a trained nurse.

A few years later a boil on his arm tumbled Dempsey into a sick bed. You—and the reporter—would have thought much less of the boil than the fever, would perhaps have continued work with one arm.

Walter Hinds, a brick man from Maine, the manufacturer of lotions designed to improve the complexion of women—a man who would give the girl, it seems—examined Dempsey's arm. The arm was set with poisonous matter.

"Wait a minute," said Hinds, who is an old friend of Dempsey's. He found an empty bottle, steamed it inside and out, slapped it on the infected portion of the arm and the bottle immediately filled with the discharge of the boil.

Very interesting, remarked a doctor when the writer told him of the circumstances. "Very interesting—and like all home surgery, very dangerous."

You who are perhaps mentally disturbed by a financial matter of no greater weight than the rent is involved, probably find a close finish to a ball game highly entertaining.

LYNCH OUTPOINTS MIDGET SMITH AND GENARO ALSO WINS

CHICAGO, April 5.—Joe Lynch, bantamweight champion, again vanquished an old foe when he outpointed Midget Smith, of New York, in a thrilling ten-round boxing bout here last night, and Frankie Genaro, the American flyweight champion, shaded a first time ring acquaintance when he left-handed Bud Taylor, of Terre Haute, Ind., to defeat in another ten rounds of the all-star card.

Champion Lynch started out as if he outclassed Smith, but a right cross flush on the chin sprawled the titleholder for a nine count in the second round. From then on Lynch fought carefully, jabbing and stabbing with his hands left for the winning points and taking refuge behind it and an elevated shoulder when Smith threatened.

Taylor began fast against the little flyweight champion, and ended in the same manner. But in between the first and tenth rounds he took a severe left hand combine and in three rounds spat out some punch loosened teeth, one of the compactly built Genaro's punches accounting for a bridge carrying all the incisors between the eye teeth.

The champions were protected from losing their titles by the weight conditions. Smith coming in two pounds over the bantamweight limit, and Taylor three pounds too heavy for a flyweight.

EL PASO IS ELIMINATED IN CHICAGO TOURNAMENT. By Universal Service. CHICAGO, April 5.—The National Intercollegiate basketball tournament entered its third phase Wednesday.

Morton High school, champions of the Chicago Suburban League, defeated Bangor, Maine, 25 to 19. This was the largest score made in the tournament so far.

El Paso, Texas, High school was defeated by Scott High, of Toledo, despite its great rally in the second half. At the intermission the Texas team trailed 29 to 6. Lozano, with his spectacular dribbling, led his team in scoring ten points in the second half, while holding Toledo scoreless. The final score was 39 to 25 in favor of Toledo.

Rockford, Illinois, was too big for Pine Bluff, Arkansas, and won 35 to 17.

Westport High of Kansas City, Mo., proved too much for Birmingham, Ala., Kansas City won 21 to 24.

Fargo, N. D., and Kansas City, Kansas, staged a brilliant battle, the latter winning 47 to 23.

Statement From Mr. Priddy On School Superintendent Issue

Editor The Times. Will you be good enough to allow me space in your paper to inform our people, especially the taxpayers, something about our school situation. Many people have wondered why members of the board have not made public statements through the papers, but the superintendent's reports, but he yesterday released me from this request, and I feel it my duty to correct some of the false reports being circulated and repeated. I have no personal feelings against Mr. Clark and regret it seems necessary for me to make this statement in order to place the interests of our city and our 6000 school children above the interests of an individual.

1. I must deny the "cow story." This is untrue and absolutely untrue. Mr. Clark had no cow. I did not even know Mr. Clark had any cows. 2. The "tax story" is without any foundation. I have been constantly fighting any increase in our taxes. I believe our taxes are too high and some plan should be worked out to reduce them just as fast as possible. Not one dollar of tax money has been used to pay for the salaries given the teachers at the beginning of each year, or for the salaries to which the principals and supervisors have been invited. This money has been paid without the use of one dollar of tax money. I have made constructive suggestions for our school system and help the board work out some of the school problems.

3. Those who are opposed to my reelection have been circulating the report that I am a member of the Ku Klux Klan. This is not an issue and there is no reason for raising this question. However, I cannot afford to sail under false colors. I am not a member of the Ku Klux Klan, but I have never been invited to join.

4. Also it has come to my attention that those opposed to my reelection have been circulating the report that I am a member of the Ku Klux Klan. This is not an issue and there is no reason for raising this question. However, I cannot afford to sail under false colors. I am not a member of the Ku Klux Klan, but I have never been invited to join.

5. It has been reported that the board had no legal right to elect a superintendent until after the election of 1921. This is a false and misleading statement. There is no law on the subject. On February 1, 1921, the board elected Mr. Clark as superintendent. In April, 1922, the board elected Mr. Clark as superintendent. In April, 1923, the board elected Mr. Clark as superintendent. In April, 1923, the board elected Mr. Clark as superintendent.

6. It is also reported that Mr. Clark never notified the board that he would not be an applicant. Our chairman, Judge Carrigan, stated in a regular board meeting that he had been personally notified by Mr. Clark that he would not be an applicant for reelection. We felt it would be a courtesy to Mr. Clark to permit him to notify us rather than take any action without giving him this opportunity. In taking the matter up with Mr. Carrigan and offering him the place, we informed him that Mr. Clark had notified us he would not be an applicant for reelection.

7. A report is being circulated that I have criticized Mrs. Clark's housekeeping. I recall having been in the house only once. Mr. Clark had made application to the board to have the house enlarged, repapered and re-plastered. Judge Carrigan appointed a committee of three to inspect the house and make a recommendation to the board, which they did, and I am sure the report correctly described conditions as they found them. The report in brief stated that the house needed repairing, repapering and painting, but did not recommend remodeling and enlarging. I am sure I could not be criticized for making a report of conditions as found by the committee.

8. I became a member of the board, I found that Mr. Clark was using two of his daughters in the school system. This is contrary to good business and our "schools should not be made a family affair." I was informed this had been going on for some time. In a regular board meeting I objected to this and several members of the board first suggested, then requested and finally had to insist that Mr. Clark withdraw his daughters from the school system. I withdrew one who was teaching at that time but continued to use one of his daughters as his secretary, and after a short while put the other one back in the schools as a teacher and they have appeared since that time. I have personally investigated a number of these complaints and in my opinion they were justified.

not been assigned to their subjects, no definite course of study arranged for the new junior college students, and nearly $1,000 per day running expenses with the whole school system suffering for lack of advance planning and forethought.

3. During the summer we saw that the new Carrigan school and San Houston school would not be finished ready for opening. The board authorized and requested Mr. Clark to arrange for temporary quarters to take care of the children so it would not be necessary to transfer them later. He did not do this and several days after the schools were supposed to be in operation, we found no arrangements had been made and in the case of the San Houston school, two members of the board went out there on an inspection trip about a month after school opened. Finding the school badly crowded, upon taking the matter up with Mr. Clark he asked his secretary if she had written a letter to a certain party. He has requested her to write about three weeks ago, showing very quickly he had given the matter no thought.

4. The board made a careful study of the same surrounding the school system. This is contrary to good business and our "schools should not be made a family affair." I was informed this had been going on for some time. In a regular board meeting I objected to this and several members of the board first suggested, then requested and finally had to insist that Mr. Clark withdraw his daughters from the school system. I withdrew one who was teaching at that time but continued to use one of his daughters as his secretary, and after a short while put the other one back in the schools as a teacher and they have appeared since that time.

I have not mentioned many other reasons for this change, some of them I would not care to publish in the papers and your space is most too valuable for me to discuss them. COLD NORTHEAST WIND BRINGS SHARP TINGE WEDNESDAY

A cold-northeast wind that sprang up late Wednesday afternoon threatened to send the thermometer to a low point during the night but shortly after nine o'clock the wind lost its strength and although a chilly atmosphere remained during the entire night the lowest point reached was 42 degrees. During the afternoon Wednesday the highest mark reached by the thermometer was 72 degrees. The skies cleared off late in the afternoon and Thursday morning the same conditions existed over the entire district, touched by local railroads. On the north end of the Wichita Falls district of the M. K. & T. railroad a low temperature reading of 32 degrees was reported. A heavy dew was deposited during the night Wednesday but disappeared shortly after the sun rose Thursday morning.
