It is the consensus of opinion of oil men, and larger corporations that oil can be found in paying quantities on the strata extending from Sayre, Oklahoma, to the Carson county district, and operators to Wheeler county district shows plainly that this will be the next Panhandle section to be developed.

The Whittington No. 1 Sanford, section 22, block 16, in Hutchinson county, 4 1/2 miles west of Sayre, is producing wells in Carson county continues to log with the producers, and is drilling near the pay sand which is expected to be encountered at around 1,000 feet. The Montgomery Oil Company No. 1, Johnson ranch, section 37, block 7, Hutchinson county, has completed the erection of the derrick, and will be spudded in soon.

In Carson county, between the Silk No. 1 and 2, section 23, the excavation for the 55,000 barrel storage tank has been completed, part of the masonry is on the ground and the erection of the tank is to be begun in the immediate future.

PUBLIC SPEAKING STUDENTS ATTEND BANQUET MONDAY

to enjoy the annual banquet of the public speaking department given by Miss Juanita Kinsey, instructor. After the 11 a. m. impromptu speeches were made.

Talks by various students, noted mostly for their brevity, were the main attraction of the evening. After several jokes were told—jokes that had seen their day a half century ago—it was voted that each speaker should give the signal at the psychological moment to laugh, that the assembly would not seem so dead. To some extent this proved to be an advantage. The main speaker of the evening was Gerald Coffee.

Music was provided by Misses Elizabeth Brown and Marjorie Winston. Courtney Howell acted as toastmaster for the occasion.

Following is a list of presents that will await the couple to be married Thursday night: Dave Paul, platinum wedding ring; Tipton's Drug Store, thermos bottle; Lewis-Tittle Hdw. Co., aluminum saw pot; Wichita Falls Electric Co., hot point electric iron; Salmons & Nutt, pair silk chiffon hose; Seals Grocery and Market, sack flour; Burgess Jewelry, set cut glass ice tea glasses; Palace Drug Store, two pieces of ivory; Kruger Jewelry Co., mantle clock; Harry's Cut Price Shoe Store, pair sandals; Art Jewelry Co., sterling silver tea set; Winston's Department Store, pair shoes to each; Francis Fortis Drug Store, two pieces of ivory; A. On the other hand, the manual training, domestic science, and art classes will have some interesting work to be shown, and the Latin department, as he has been the custom, will present miniature Roman siege guns, and other means of warfare. The history, civics, and Spanish departments will also have novel exhibitions.

REVIVAL CONTINUES AT WALNUT STREET CHURCH
The meeting began at the Walnut street Baptist Church a week ago has gained such headway that it has been announced that it will continue all of this week and take place of the spring revival formerly set to begin the second Sunday in May.

Saturday night a great service was held with perhaps a dozen tons of versions. Pastor W. L. Nelson had charge in the absence of other preachers. Sunday morning a lady who had been gloriously reclaimed in her home came to tell the church about it. Rev. J. L. Hays preached at the morning hour. Sunday night Rev. Conner Smith preached and though there was a good interest, no visible results were manifest.

Monday night Rev. E. M. Yeakley was back in the pulpit after spending Sunday with his Oklahoma church. There was one reclamation in this service, a railroad man who long had wandered in by-paths and shunned his Christian duty.

The Lord is blessing in the old-time way and folks who fall to attend these services will miss a great blessing from our heavenly Father who is the giver of every good and perfect gift. Come and be with us and get your share of the blessing God is showering upon us. E. M. YEAKLEY.

How to Keep Your Gas Bill Down

By NEA Service.
WASHINGTON, April 24.—Now that your winter gas bills are coming down and you've stopped storming at the furnace, turn your attention to your cooking range.
It is there that you can save from 25 to 50 percent on your gas bills—if you know how.
Miss Minna C. Denton of the Bureau of Home Economics in the United States department of agriculture, can tell you. In fact, she experimented with four kinds of gas stoves, seven ovens and varying gas pressures until she developed 19 rules for the most economical use of the cooking fuel.
Follow them, says Miss Denton, and you will be surprised at the reduction in your gas bill next month.
—Use of Burners
Here they are:
1.—Use the right burner. The biggest burner on your stove uses 50 per cent more gas than the others, and four or five times as much as the smallest burner. Use the big burner for a dish with very large bottom only. Use the smallest burner, the smallest to keep things boiling quick they're started on the biggest jets.
2.—Turn the burner down when the things have started to cook.

MISS MINNA C. DENTON

3.—Keep the burners clean and the jets open.
4.—Adjust the flame by moving the air shutter open or closed until the flame is blue, with a minimum yellow tip, and just touches the bottom of the pan. The blue flame is the hottest and makes the least soot.
5.—Set the burner about one to one and one-half inches from the pan. Long flames use more gas than short ones for the same effect.
6.—Use a fireless cooker properly. Heat the radiator just enough to keep the water boiling. There's no economy if it takes as much gas to heat the cooker as it does to cook the food.
7.—A pressure cooker will save money in cooking tough meats, vegetables and cereals.
8.—The hooded fireless burner, made by many manufacturers, is a fuel saver.
9.—See that the oven is tight and doesn't leak heat. Thick asbestos insulation about the oven walls will save heat.
10.—Bake where possible at low temperature, or in a slow oven. It takes less to keep the oven going at a low temperature. The difference in time between the "fast" and "slow" oven will not compensate for the

GET ONE OF THESE PARASOLS FOR YOUR SUMMER OUTFIT

By MARIAN MALE.
NEW YORK, April 24.—No accessory for this season is nearly so fascinating as the parasol.
In poking about New York's smartest shops I found a collection that seems unique.
Take the "Puritan." Is there a woman living who couldn't immediately develop the coquette complex as she grasped the carved handle? I saw this model with silk fringes, and another style that had a hand-knotted top with long hand-knotted fringe, mounted on a white linen foundation.
Parasols of Hawaiian paper, light and decorated and unbelievable in size were popular at the winter resort and will be standbys for beach use this summer.
The "Cleopatra" is just what you would expect—all hieroglyphics, lotus flowers and scarabs.
"Dream of Summer" looks like a well-developed powder puff. It is of delicate, pink ostrich feathers so loosely attached that they wave and sway in the summer breeze most charmingly. Portable and costly—but lovely.
"Madame Butterfly" came right over from the land of cherry blossoms and chrysanthemums. It is of paper and contains countless ribbons. The American copy is of Japanese silk embroidered or printed with Japanese figures.
The cretonne parasol is naturally going to be popular for the summer because it is so practical. The latest stunt is to have a cretonne hat to match the parasol and the rest of the costume pure white. The hat must be the very small, cloche type, so as not to appear to relieve the parcel of any of its mission.
Handles are short and chunky. Some of them are black with gold figures, the surface highly polished, giving the effect of lacquer. Others are carved or set with large colored stones. Occasionally one meets the plain handle of wood, painted to bring out the predominate color of the sunshade.

IMPROVEMENTS ON CITY HALL ORDERED BY COUNCIL MONDAY

BIDS TO BE ADVERTISED FOR: W. E. GEORGE IS NEW CITY RECORDER.

BIG SAVING SHOWN IN CITY'S FINANCES

Fiscal Year's Expenditures $60,000 Less Than Preceding Twelve Months.

W. E. George was appointed recorder of the city court at the Monday afternoon session of the city council upon the recommendation of Commissioner Young. R. L. Yates, who was appointed by the council several weeks ago, offered his resignation and was accepted by the council before the other appointment was made.

The city clerk was authorized to advertise for bids on the contract for the improvement of the city hall and the construction of three new cells in the city jail. An estimate submitted to the council Monday set the cost of the construction of the cells at $1,066.

On account of the absence of property owners the hearing on Taylor street to hear protests against the paving of that street, was continued until the next meeting date.

City Clerk W. E. McBroom submitted a financial statement of the city expenditures and operating expense during the past year, the comparative figures for 1921 and 1922 showed a marked reduction in the operating expense of the city during the past year. Tax matters and other routine business were discussed but no action taken.

Operating expense of the city for the fiscal year shows a saving of $60,467.23 when compared with the same expense for the previous year, according to figures compiled in the office of the city clerk and submitted in the council. Operating expense of the 18 departments in the city government for 1922 amounted to $270,275.44 against $330,844.67 for 1921. Ten of the sixteen departments showed a marked decrease in operating expense while six show a slight increase.

A campaign for strict economy in all city departments was begun shortly after Mayor Collier's introduction into office and has been pursued throughout his administration. The saving reported is the result of the campaign launched about a year ago and is extremely gratifying to the mayor and council. A list of departments and the expenditures of each for the past two years follows:

Department	1922-23	1921-22
Fire	$51,982.51	$65,370.93
Police	41,267.33	65,761.22

A statement of the additions and betterments to physical property during the fiscal year was submitted to the council at the same time. According to the report $106,639.28 has been spent during the year in additions and improvements to city property. Of this amount $61,703.21 was spent on the construction and equipment of General Hospital. $40,637.67 was expended on street improvement and $2,931.01 was used in sewer construction and extension. Furnishings for the city offices and equipment for the other departments called for the remainder of this amount.

NOT ALL HARMONY WITHIN RANKS OF REPUBLICAN PARTY

DETERMINED FIGHT IS BEING WAGED IN NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

1924 CHAIRMANSHIP OF ORGANIZATION INVOLVED

Strong Sentiment In Favor of John T. Adams, of Iowa, For Position.

By CHAR E. HAYDEN
Washington Correspondent Wichita Daily Times

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Despite surface denials that any change in the management of the Republican national committee for the 1924 campaign is contemplated some prominent Republican leaders are privately declaring that the next fall will see the passing of John T. Adams of Iowa as chairman.

Beneath an outward show of harmony within the national committee ranks there is now being waged a determined fight between those who would retain Adams and those who would elect a successor to him. Thus far, it is claimed, President Harding has not been drawn into the controversy to any appreciable extent but it is declared that when he is, as ultimately he must, he will side with the opponents of Adams and decrease change in the chairmanship.

It is not much of a secret in Washington that there is no love lost between Adams and the white house and the attitude of opposition which Adams has assumed towards the Harding-Hughes proposal for membership in the world court has not tended to re-quiet the breach. The national chairman has always been a hard-boiled irascible and he recently returned from an extended trip over Europe more determined than ever that the United States should not involve itself in their difficulties. It is pointed out that if President Harding is to make a fight for his international court proposal he will want a chairman of the national committee who favors the proposition, or at least is not vigorously opposed to it.

Visits White House.
Incidentally, Adams, upon his return from Europe, visited the white house for the first time since immediately after the elections of last November. What sort of a reception was accorded him is not known but the fact that it was the first visit in months has been the subject of some comment. Party leaders close to President Harding intimate that, so far as they are concerned, Adams has been weighed in the balance and found wanting as a chairman. They complain that he is not enough of an organizer and too much of an optimist. It is pointed out that last fall when practically all the Republican politicians were frankly agreeing among themselves that there was a decided Democratic reaction impending Adams stood practically alone peddling reports that everything was lovely and that the Republican party would win a tremendous victory.

It is understood that Adams personally carried such reports to the white house and that President Harding placed confidence in what was told him. It is admitted that Adams is far more economical in money matters and has succeeded in reducing the huge deficit created by Will Hays but the complaint is that he cannot organize for victory, the belief being that if he had realized conditions last fall and waged a different kind of a campaign results might have been different in many congressional districts lost to the Republicans. However, it is recognized it will be no easy task to unseat Adams. He has built up a strong following among the ultra conservatives and will have the united backing of the irreconcilables. These include some of the strongest Republican generalists, particularly from the eastern and middle western states. They will fight to hold him in this position and while they will bow to the will of President Harding are determined that he must express himself. This is the very thing that the friends of the president do not want. Accordingly, it is understood, a secret poll is now being made of the members of the Republican National Committee to find out the sentiment of that body for a change. If it appears Adams can be ousted without difficulty little or nothing will be done until the committee meets. But, should it appear that Adams' friends are in the majority a vigorous campaign may be looked for in a short time to convert enough committeemen to insure his defeat.

There is a possibility that Adams will himself take the initiative and with a view of preserving harmony either resign or signify, before the next meeting, that he will not seek reelection. However, at a recent conference with newspapermen he terminated the interview with considerable heat when asked if there was any truth in the reports that he intended to resign.

I Select the Cream of the Creams

HERE they come, the big Mistletoe trucks, the express depot, each one "loaded to the guards" with Mistletoe cans filled with rich cream from a thousand farms, to make Mistletoe Butter.

Now they arrive outside the plant and with a great clattering are unloaded onto a truck that rolls gently toward my station just inside the little door through which they are coming now—bright clean cans of the cream from which we make the best of butter.

For I am the Cream Grader at the Mistletoe Creamery. Long years of experience have made me a competent judge. By taste and smell I check every can that enters the creamery. By me must pass every drop of cream that goes into Mistletoe Butter. I select the best of the cream for only this is fine enough to make the high quality butter that goes out in Mistletoe cartons.

White—all of us at the Mistletoe Creameries are being constantly reminded of our responsibility to the end that we shall produce only quality butter, I am sure that I am never forgetful of the responsibility that is mine. I know that a single can of poor cream could spoil a whole churning of good cream. While the final test made after each churning would prevent it going to your table, yet my pride in my work would suffer a severe set-back to know that I had been negligent.

After the cream passes me it goes to the pasteurizer. That not only insures its purity but gives that rich, smooth, unvarying flavor and quality for which Mistletoe has been famous these many years.

With the onward progress of the cities, the cows have been forced further and further away. First, to the outskirts of the village and then miles beyond. And with increasing population comes an increasing demand for dairy products, especially butter, that boon companion of the staff of life.

Forced to depend upon their own immediate dairying facilities, large Southwestern cities would face a butter famine six months in every year. To meet this need, the Mistletoe Creameries have grown with the territory they serve. Cream is gathered from surrounding territory to make butter for the Southwestern states.

The story of this is being told in a series of advertisements of which this is the second. Watch for the man learn something of the industry that butters the bread of the Southwest.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

JOHN HOWARD PAYNE. June 7, 1791, John Howard Payne was born in New York. He was the sixth child.

As his popularity rose, his restlessness increased and at the age of 22 he sailed for London. It is said that "Life betrayed him with its kiss."

He gave up the stage, and devoted himself to writing. At the age of 32, his world-famous song, "Home, Sweet Home," was sung in his libretto of the opera "Clari," at Covent Garden in London, May 8, 1823.

This is the story, as credited to Payne himself, of how he wrote this wonderful song: "I first heard the song in Italy. One beautiful morning as I was strolling alone amid some delightful scenery, my attention was arrested by the sweet voice of a peasant girl who was carrying a basket laden with flowers and vegetables."

"I accosted her and, after a few moments' conversation, I asked for the name of the boy, which she could not give me; but having some slight knowledge of music myself, barely enough for the purpose, I requested her to repeat the air, which she did while I jotted down the notes as best I could."

John Howard Payne lived a brilliant, useful, painstaking, hard-working life. Though he was often penniless, he was never without friends. He died in Africa, April 9, 1853, while serving as consul at Tunis.

Payne never married, and the writer of "Home, Sweet Home" had no home that he could call his own.

To grow old, be gay. Learn a trade. Books, $1; gum, $27. "A fly's ear." Munsey.

Chauncey Depeew, confidential man of three generations of Vanderbilts, once president of the New York Central Railroad and United States senator, yesterday celebrated his 89th birthday.

A great thing is a trade. Every man should have a trade. It is the only way to get the people to read a few books which a majority don't do.

The Atlantic Monthly calls your attention to the fact that for one dollar spent on books in the United States, we spend $27 for chewing gum and $12 for perfume.

For "immortal books," they are justly identified. Their authors and sellers should be jailed. Such books, however, do not seek the readers.

What chance does President Harding think this country would have to get it back? He said, "If we were pushed into the world court and that court were allowed to decide the question for us?"

"What's the big excitement?" Gladie demanded in steeley tones. "I want to go home, Mr. Blase," he cried.

"It's home for you, little chief," he said. "It's home for me, too. Kildare lift the blind boy to his horse's back. Why did this man alternately hurt and befriend her?"

"You're slow," Bodine grinned nastily. "I had my talk with the law yesterday. There won't be any body touch that creek for 30 days at least. I'll see that my injunction is renewed, too."

of party loyalty and the organization of groups or blocs to serve group interests, and urged that the primary be made an agent of indisputable party expression rather than a means of party confusion or destruction.

Text of Address.
The address of the president in full follows:

Members of the Associated Press: During the closing days of the last congress I sent to the senate a communication asking its advice and consent to the adherence by the government of the United States to the protocol establishing the international court of justice. Out of this simple, natural, normal proceeding has developed so much of mystery, so much of misunderstanding, so much of protest and approval, so much of threatened muddying of the political waters, that I welcome the opportunity, on so appropriate an occasion, to reveal to the American people both the purpose and the motives impelling.

Our popular government through the agency of political parties and it must be so, made that the cut of the successful party which is at the same time the party, fairly charted by the platform of that party, and by the utterances of its candidates when appearing in public, is the party in power relative to the promotion of international relationships.

In 1904 the national platform of the Republican party stated: "We favor the peaceful settlement of international differences by arbitration." Four years later, in the national convention, the Republican party in its platform alluded to the progress made in keeping faith with the previous declaration and said: "The conspicuous contributions of American statesmanship to the cause of international peace no conference advanced in the history of our nation for just pride and gratification."

In 1912 the Republican platform made a very explicit declaration relating to an international court of justice. I quote from the party covenant of faith: "Together with peaceful and orderly development at home, the Republican party earnestly favors all measures for the establishment and protection of peace between the world and for the development of closer relations between the various nations of the earth. It believes most earnestly in a peaceful settlement of international disputes and in the reference of all controversies between nations to an international court of justice."

The next formal and solemn pledge was made in 1916. I quote again: "The Republican party believes that a firm, consistent and courageous foreign policy, always maintained by Republican presidents in accordance with American traditions is the best, as it is the only true way to preserve peace and restore to us our rights among nations. We believe in the peaceful settlement of international disputes and favor the establishment of a world court for that purpose."

In 1920 the question of our foreign relationship was very acute. The senate had rejected the Versailles treaty and the league of nations pact. The convention voiced its approval of the rejection but was willing to pledge adherence to the world. Therefore it said in its platform announcement:

"We pledge the coming Republican administration to such agreements with other nations of the world as shall meet the full duty of America to civilization and humanity, in accordance with American ideals, without surrendering the right of the American people to exercise its judgment and its power in favor of justice and peace."

As a participant in the making of some of these platforms and as the banner bearer of one campaign, I have a right to believe that I speak the party conscience so plainly that it is not easy to misconstrue.

Quotes From Address.
But there are other utterances which it is seemly to recall. I allude to the interpretation of the platform by the candidate in 1920. On August 28, 1920, speaking on the league of nations proposal, I said frankly and very definitely I did not favor the United States entering the league of nations. It was declared then that the issue, as defined by the candidate, "involved the disparity between a world court of justice, supplemented by world association for conference, on the one hand, and the council of the league on the other." Quoting further from the same address, I said: "The one is a judicial tribunal to be governed by fixed and definite principles of law, administered without passion or prejudice. The other is an association of diplomats and politicians, whose decisions are sure to be influenced by considerations of expediency and national selfishness."

On a government of law and one a government of men."
In that same address I commended the Hague tribunal. One paragraph is particularly appropriate to quote afresh: "I believe humanity would welcome the creation of an international association for conference and a world court whose verdicts on justiciable questions this country, in common with all nations, would be willing and able to uphold. The decision of such a court or the recommendations of such a conference would be accepted without sacrifice on our part or asking any other power to sacrifice one iota of its nationality."

So much for political party history. I have quoted it, because I believe in keeping the faith. If political parties do not mean what they say and candidates do not mean what they say, then our form of popular government is based on fraud and cannot hope to endure. In compliance with the pledge of the new administration which came into power in March 1921 definitely and decisively, I have no doubt for us. I have no unseemly comment to offer on the league. If it is serving the old world helpfully, more power to it. But it is not for us. The senate has so declared, the executive has so declared, the people have so declared. Nothing could be more decisively stamped with finality.

Treaty With Germany
In further keeping of the faith the administration made a treaty of peace with Germany, a just treaty, which so impressed our wartime enemy that when we came later on to set up a mixed claims commission to settle the claims of American nationals against Germany, that nation named one commissioner, we named one, and then for the first time in the history of international relationship, Germany asked us, as a contending nation, to name the umpire, the third member whose vote would decide all difficulties. I know of no like tribute to a nation's fitness in all the records of history.

Then in the fulfillment of the pledge of free conference, the international conference on the limitation of armaments was called, not in haste, not because some one was prodding, but as early as the barriers to success could be removed. The spirit of that conference and the achievement wrought have been written into history and will know immasurably beyond the almost universal popular favor already accorded. There was not alone the triumph in reducing naval armaments and ending competition which was leading to oppressive naval strength and adding staggering burdens to the treasuries of competing powers; not alone the removal of every war cloud and every reason for conflict in the Pacific, so that suspicion and fear had previously dwelt, but we gave an example to the world of the conference way to peace, which time will appraise as the supreme accomplishment.

Hardly had this gratifying work been accomplished before the administration began its endeavors for further fulfillment. Meanwhile an international court of justice had been established; it was an agency for peaceful settlement which had long been sought. Its establishment previously had failed because no agreement had been possible over the election of judges. The existence of the league of nations offered a solution. Almost all the member nations had signed a protocol establishing the court. The members of the council, in which the large powers have permanent representation, afforded one voting body with a veto on the members of the assembly consisting of representatives of all nations and member nations of the assembly could have a veto on the larger powers.

For mere eligibility to appeal to the court nothing was needed. But it didn't seem fair to seek its advantages without accepting all becoming responsibilities and here developed the stumbling block. Naturally we should wish to participate in selecting the judges and the electors designated were members of the league. We had no thought of joining the league, we sought none of its offerings and will accept none of its obligations. The president's proposal no solution to the difficulty; however, the world has witnessed in disappointment the spectacle of the executive proposition and the senate disposing. It was not desirable to make some proposals abroad that could not be carried out; indeed, none would be considered and it was not pleasing to think of asking the senate's consent to a program to which the nations concerned would not agree. Very informally and very discreetly, the situation was felt out over a considerable period of time.

represented in the council. Here was a device for electing judges which removed the heretofore unsolvable problem of a satisfactory means of selecting them. Not the council but the nation members therefore must vote in majority for the same candidates for which members of the assembly voted in a majority, else the election is void until a conference points the way to agreement.

Court Established.
The court was established and functioning. An American judge sits on the court, though we had no part in choosing him.

Under the provisions of its establishment, the United States can apply for a court decision on any justiciable question, even as any nation participating in its establishment. Perhaps the court is not all that some advocates of the court plan and would have it, but it is in a large measure the fulfillment of an aspiration we long have boasted. So I thought, and I still think, we ought to be a party to the agreement, assume our part in its maintenance and give to it the benefit of such influence as our size and wealth and ideals may prove to be.

For mere eligibility to appeal to the court nothing was needed. But it didn't seem fair to seek its advantages without accepting all becoming responsibilities and here developed the stumbling block. Naturally we should wish to participate in selecting the judges and the electors designated were members of the league. We had no thought of joining the league, we sought none of its offerings and will accept none of its obligations. The president's proposal no solution to the difficulty; however, the world has witnessed in disappointment the spectacle of the executive proposition and the senate disposing. and when satisfied that there was an appropriate course of action without connection with the league, provided the senate consented, I proposed adherence to the court protocol and asked the senate's consent.

Speak For Themselves.
The documents speak for themselves. It was pointed out that no rights under the league and no obligations of the league would be incurred but to make certain that we would not be involved the letter of the secretary of state suggested suitable reservations to afford ample guaranty.

This is the complete record. It is in harmony with platform pledges, candidatorial promises and, I believe, with American aspirations. The senate's decision was hardly to be expected amid the enormous pressure of business incident to the closing weeks of the short session. But I felt that the senate, the country and the friends of nations whose counsel we had sought were entitled to know that our gestures abroad were sincere, and our own (Continued on page 8)

People should know there are no secrets about our purposes at home, once they are matured. The league has been beset by the unwarranted assumption that it is a move toward league membership. Let them disabuse their minds, because there is no such thing as a secret. I have made my commitments abroad.

And the situation is likewise beset by those who shudder when the league is mentioned, and who assume entanglement is unavoidable. Any arrangement would require the consent of the senate, which is scarcely to be apprehended, and if by any chance the senate approved any arrangement, the present administration would not complete the ratification. If in spite of these statements uttered with full deliberation, there are still those who are unyielding, let them be assured that the league is a superpower, dealing with problems likely to arise in a member's national rights. I appeal to the great people who voted against this disparity of power in the league assembly, but in an appraisal I do not hesitate to say that the great powers can accept without fear the voting strength of the British dominions when they are without ties of alliance and suspicion, we ought in view of the natural ties of English speaking kinship feel ourselves free from danger.

Matter of Development
The perfected court must be a matter of development. I earnestly commend it because it is a great step in the right direction toward the peaceful settlement of justiciable questions, toward the elimination of friction which leads toward a surer agency of international justice through the application of law than can be hoped for in the arbitration which is intended by the prejudices of men and the expediency of politics.

We can do vastly more to perfect it in the capacity of an adherent than in an aloofness in which we arrogate to ourselves the right to say to the world we dictate but never comply. I would yield none of our rights, none of our nationality, but would gladly give of our influence and co-operation to a move forward and upward toward world peace and that reign of justice which is infinitely more secure in the rule of national honor than in national or international force.

I have indulged the dream, may I be justified, that out of the encouragement and sustained court might come the fulfillment of larger aspirations. In the proof of its utility and a spirit of concord among nations might come that voluntary conference of nations out of which could be expected a clarified, and codified international law to further assure peace under the law and bring nations to that understanding which is ever the first guarantor of peace.

I would not have it thought that I hold this question paramount to all other confronting our government. I am not a politician. I am not a party man. I am not a party politician. I am not a party politician. I am not a party politician. I am not a party politician.

Home Problems First
Our problems at home invariably call for first consideration. Our own house must be in order before we can be large contributors to world progress of measure. Little patience with the contention of those who believe large commercial advances will attend our withdrawal from the world. We are not engaged in bartering their trade advantages for larger fellowships. We do not do it ourselves and we need not ask what we do not give. Commerce is the very life blood of every people's existence and a nation's commercial opportunities are valued little less than the security of its citizenship.

A restored Europe with less consumption, in conflict and more production and consumption in hope of peace and banished hate, would add to the volume of world commerce. We would gladly acclaim such a change as a step toward a more helpfulness are ready when they will avail but we cannot intrude where we ourselves would resist intrusion.

Our position commercially is gaining in strength because we are freed from political entanglements and can be changed with world responsibility. In the making of new pacts and the re-making of old, we ask no more and accept no less than the equal opportunity we are ever ready to grant others, and the position unassailable. The nation which grants justice may confidently ask it and the world—social, political or commercial—will respond in judgment of its court, must practice justice in its daily transactions.

tion of the proposal to have less government in business and more business in government, but if we cannot get out of the shipping business in a practical way and be assured of privately owned and privately operated shipping, it is the business of the government to conserve our shipping assets and make for a more reliable sea.

One more thought, little expected on this occasion, I am sure, but particularly appropriate before this highly representative body of the American press. I know from experience how a newspaper man confidently prints opinions on public affairs. He has a marked advantage, because he is seldom called upon to make good, unless he happens to be elected president, and apparently no newspaperman was ever put to the test heretofore. You have been saying a lot about the failure of congress and the lack of team work between the executive and congress and many of you have deplored that some strong man is not in the white house to make congress do his bidding.

Change Takes Place
But a change has taken place, vitally influencing the work of administrative and legislative departments. This effectiveness is no longer influenced by war stress or presidential personality. The great change has come about unawares, and as molders of public opinion, you have ignored the fundamental reason. It is the change in our political system, the rule of the primary, the drift toward pure democracy and the growing impotence of political parties. We have gotten away from the representative system, we have reached a point where the rule of party loyalty has made party sponsorship in government less effective than it was. We have come to the time when a party platform is regarded by too many men in public life as even less important than a crap of paper, and many or blocs are returned to serve group interests, and many individuals serve their own, while contempt for party conference has sent party loyalty pretty much into the discard.

I believe in political parties. They were the essential agencies of the popular government which made us what we are. We were never perfect but under our party system we wrought a development under representative democracy unmatched in all proclaimed history and attending human advancement. We achieved under the party system where parties were committed to policies and party loyalty was a mark of honor and an inspiration toward accomplishment. Nowadays, in many states party adherence is flouted, loyalty is held to be contemptible, nominations for office are often influenced by voters engaged in a campaign for office. I believe in political parties. They were the essential agencies of the popular government which made us what we are. We were never perfect but under our party system we wrought a development under representative democracy unmatched in all proclaimed history and attending human advancement. We achieved under the party system where parties were committed to policies and party loyalty was a mark of honor and an inspiration toward accomplishment. Nowadays, in many states party adherence is flouted, loyalty is held to be contemptible, nominations for office are often influenced by voters enrolled under an opposing party banner and platforms are the insincere utterances of expediencies, influenced by nominees, rather than by advocates of principle.

No Fight on Primary
Let no one misconstrue me. I am not advocating the abandonment of the primary which gives to every voter a voice in nominating men for office and determining party policy. I would carefully preserve and safeguard it against the old time abuses which impeded its adoption but I would make it an agent of indisputable, party expression rather than a means of party confusion or destruction. I like the incalculable of loyalty, the pride of association and the inspiration to accomplishment where purposes are reached in the reasoning of honest representation, and I like a party which is commissioned to govern to strive in good conscience and all loyalty to keep the pledges which brought it popular approval.

Our drift today is toward pure democracy and no pure democracy ever long survived. We talk solemnly and earnestly about preserving the party system, but I have every confidence in its survival but it may be assured only by human kind, reaching the proper appraisal of the secure avenues of twenty centuries of progress. In our America we have the freest and best press in the world. In its power today only the press can sound the warning and reason to that conviction that the party system is the work of preservation.

Wall Street and Piggly Wiggly

Present Sales and Earnings

Our January sales of the present year amounted to $3,579,273.12, February sales to $3,615,889.39, and March sales to $4,425,173.43, which makes a total for our first quarter of the present year amounting to $11,620,335.94, and against which we realized net profits of $329,700.29, exceeding more than 50 per cent our dividend requirements at the present rate of $1.00 per share quarterly.

These earnings should be materially increased by the last quarter of the year, which, should this be the result, will enable us to pay a larger dividend by that time.

It was a big battle—a terrible one—and to come out victoriously over Wall Street is a good feeling. Prospects are fine for PIGGLY WIGGLY to be here a long time—too big a business—too good a business—too profitable a business to quit just because a bunch of gamblers sold PIGGLY WIGGLY stock "short."

To many real and worthwhile American citizens in this free country of ours to let it be said in case of PIGGLY WIGGLY "Tis the gambler that rules."

And this advertisement is addressed to that great body of men and women who say, "The gambler shall NOT rule."

Come, let's be partners together—all on the same basis and at the same price. Do it today, for tomorrow you may forget.

New Capital To Be Added

It is now proposed to increase the capital stock of this company to 500,000 shares Class "A" Common Stock, to be of the same grade and rights with that already outstanding, but with no increase in Class "B" stock.

This proposed increase in capital stock is to be voted upon by the stockholders May 1, 1923.

It is the plan of the management to have sold immediately after such authorized increase in Class "A" stock 50,000 shares for the purpose of providing the company with sufficient money to liquidate entirely all bank loans and for the further purpose of having sufficient capital to handle with ease and more profit the large volume of business of the company, and it is intended, as set out below, that no public offering be made of this new stock of 50,000 shares.

There will be noted herein a financial statement of the company which gives effect to the proposed sale of 50,000 shares of Class "A" stock.

The 250,000 shares additional Class "A" stock to be authorized is to be held in the treasury subject to sale by the board of directors as may be deemed advisable by them for the need and proper expansion of our business.

PIGGLY WIGGLY STORES, Inc. Capital Stock—Authorized and Outstanding

200,000 Shares Class "A" Common—No Par Value
50,000 Shares Class "B" Common—No Par Value

The Class "A" Stock is preferred as to assets up to $50.00 per share in the event of liquidation, after which Class "B" would be entitled to $50.00 per share, and then both would share equally in all further distribution.

Class "A" Common stock is preferred as to dividends up to $4.00 per share per annum, after which Class "B" is entitled to $4.00 per share, and then all dividends in excess of the $4.00 per share are distributable equally share and share alike on both classes of stock.

At the present time, however, Class "A" Stock has due $7.00 per share accrued dividends, which must be paid in addition to the regular dividends of $1.00 per share before Class "B" will be entitled to receive any dividends—and this means, too, that Class "A," with the accrued dividends of $7.00 share, would be entitled in case of liquidation at the present time to $57.00 per share before Class "B" would participate.

Both of these stocks have the same voting rights per each share. This Company has no bonded debt and no preferred stock, either outstanding or authorized.

Same Stock—Special Payment Plan

The writer is now offering, as an individual, to sell a limited number of shares of Class "A" Stock already outstanding for the purpose of reinvesting the money so realized in the new shares of stock to be authorized and sold so that there will not be a public offering of the stock at this time.

This is exactly the same stock that was listed on the New York and Chicago Stock Exchanges and is part of the stock which was purchased by me through those Exchanges while I was protecting the market against the "short sell," and the peculiar circumstances which makes it possible for this stock to be sold by the writer at the low price of $55.00 per share on a special payment plan is a rare opportunity to invest in a big business at a price and upon special terms that is not likely to occur again in many years.

$20.00 cash per share—balance of $35.00 per share, payable Sept. 1, 1923, without interest and with payment to the purchaser of the dividends due June 1 and Sept. 1 of $1.00 per share on these dividend dates.

The same terms will apply on a purchase of either 1 share, 5 shares or 100 shares.

All cash may be paid if desired and the stock delivered at once.

Remember this—that no one makes more than a small per cent on an investment if it is made after years of profit record, because then the price is too high, and it's only because PIGGLY WIGGLY is a new business that the opportunity is so great for a big profit on the present selling price of $55.00 per share for the stock.

To get on the ground floor of any big proposition is the opportunity that comes to a few, and then only once in a lifetime—that is that opportunity for you.

Most companies are owned and controlled by the rich stockholders, but in PIGGLY WIGGLY the President of this Company wants the small stockholders in thousands to own and control this Company. Let us make PIGGLY WIGGLY independent of the big rich and have it the business of the people, where its earnings will be distributed to all alike, instead of big checks to a select few.

There is immensity in such a plan—a great power for good to all in such a purpose.

HISTORY OF BUSINESS AND THE RECORD

The first PIGGLY WIGGLY store was established at Memphis in September, 1916. The next town to have a PIGGLY WIGGLY store was Houston, Texas, in May, 1917, and the next was Lake Charles, La., in December, 1917.

It was in 1918 that the larger development of the PIGGLY WIGGLY system was begun. These various units of stores were established by different companies under a regulation contract, so in organizing PIGGLY WIGGLY STORES, INC., it was necessary to purchase outright the several units of stores that composed our first operation in 1920, and to do this we had to purchase leases and the regular PIGGLY WIGGLY contract, as well as the store equipment and merchandise, and while the first two mentioned items may at first glance appear high in our statement, they could easily be sold at this time for at least double the amount shown as the book value for these items.

Even with the handicap of a new organization, made up of the several units of stores thus purchased, we make a good start with a profit, but within six months we had the terrible slump in prices which everybody can remember, and instead of making a profit for the first year we made a loss of over 1,000,000.00 and then bank loans were called and other troubles followed throughout the next year—1921. However, we finally made a profit in the last quarter of that year.

At the beginning of 1922 we had operating 331 stores, and at the close of business December 31 this number had been increased to 668 stores, and in addition thereto we had established five Variety Stores, new Bakeries, a Candy Factory and other necessary additions to our business. The major portion of this expansion was accomplished in the latter half of the year in anticipation of a further increase in our capital stock.

Our present plans contemplate the establishment of stores throughout the Eastern territory during the present year.

Our sales for 1922 amounted to $31,534,312.00 and our total gross income amounted to $5,300,492.10, which, after expenses, depreciation and federal taxes, left a net balance of $653,058.50, and a balance for surplus and undivided profits of $103,058.50, after the deduction of dividends on Class "A" stock, which were resumed again effective with June 1, 1922, of $1.00 per share, payable quarterly, and have been paid regularly since that time. The dividend dates are March 1, June 1, September 1 and December 1.

This Company was chartered under the laws of Virginia in November, 1919, but did not begin active business until January 1, 1920.

150,000 shares of the original issue of stock were underwritten by a group of New York bankers before active business was begun, with the provision that the writer, Clarence Saunders, the President of the Company, would have the privilege of disposing of one-half of the underwriting in the acquirement of stores and for cash.

The banking syndicate sold the stock they handled to others of a sub-group of bankers.

The writer disposed of every share of his allotment at exact cost to him—and in May, 1922, the writer disposed of the remaining authorized stock of 50,000 shares without any profit to himself for so doing and without any aid from a banking syndicate—the Company receiving the entire proceeds of the sale without any expense.

Those who invested in my first venture in the wholesale grocery business and who stayed with me till that business was sold realized more than 150% for the three years their money was in that business.

Those who invested with me in PIGGLY WIGGLY CORPORATION in 1917 have received regularly without interruption since that date 8% dividends annually in that Company, and received dividends in addition on Common Stock which was given as a bonus with the Preferred upon the basis of one share of Common with each share of Preferred and which Common has been selling from $80.00 to $100.00 per share.

And yet, neither the wholesale grocery stock referred to or the PIGGLY WIGGLY CORPORATION Stock was listed on the New York Stock Exchange and every stockholder was that much better off because the Wall Street gambler could not get by with his "short" selling tricks to ruin those stocks by fictitious sales made at low prices.

There is no trouble about maintaining a legitimate market on a stock of real value, as there is always somebody to buy at the right price if somebody wants to sell at the right price.

DEFENSE IN MOTEX MAIL FRAUD CASE TELLS OF DIVIDENDS

Dr. H. C. Markins, formerly a resident of St. Louis but more recently of this city and one of the trustees of the three Mo-Tex Companies remained on the witness stand in United States district court throughout the morning as a witness for the government in the case against S. F. Davis, charged with using the mails to defraud.

The government elicited testimony from Dr. Markins in an effort to prove the allegations in the indictment that Mr. Davis used the United States mails to promote the sale of stock in the Mo-Tex Oil Company, Mo-Tex Pipe Line Company and the Mo-Tex Refining Company and that the statements issued in the circulars and pamphlets so circulated were untrue and that Mr. Davis the defendant knew them to be false at the time he circulated them.

The indictment also charges that the companies in which stock was sold were not handled in a businesslike manner.

Dr. Markins testified among other things that the Mo-Tex Oil Company paid 55 per cent cash dividends and 400 per cent in stock dividends during the year 1915 and the early part of 1920.

The defense in cross examination of the witness admitted that he testified to show that one of the men who it charged was defrauded did not purchase the stock from one of the original stock holders in the Mo-Tex Oil Company.

The defense also introduced a number of dividend checks made payable to S. F. Davis, the defendant, which were issued at the time other stockholders received their dividends which showed that they had never been paid.

It was shown by the testimony of the witness Albritton, an accountant, that during the time that other parties were in charge of the affairs of the Mo-Tex Companies, shortly before the defendant went to the hands of a receiver that he made an audit of the affairs of the companies and that no attempt was made to conceal any of the transactions of the company.

The defendant was held in jail Tuesday afternoon that the case would not be concluded until late Wednesday.

NEW MEASURE TO NULLIFY AWARDS FOR TEXT BOOKS

AUSTIN, April 24.—Representative Pope introduced today a bill seeking to extend contracts for free text books in effect December 1, last, in effect nullifying the awards of the text book commission which have been under fire since that measure.

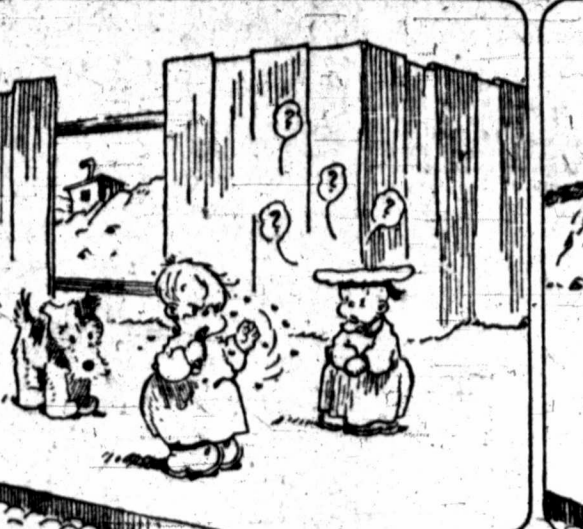

The measure provides that no new books shall be purchased before August 31, 1923, except when prices for extensions of expiring contracts would be too high or the books become obsolete or otherwise detrimental to the interest of school children.

Attempt to recall the resolution to visit the Eastland county oil fields failed in the house when a motion by Culp was defeated 23 to 14.

The house adopted the senate concurrent resolution of respect to the late Thomas Mitchell Campbell, former governor.

The Quad judiciary appropriation bill was set for special order of business tomorrow.

SHRINE CIRCUS HAS ENORMOUS CROWD AT FIRST PERFORMANCE

By FRANK S. REID
Publicity Chairman

The Shrine Circus has gone beyond the expectations of all. The opening night brought out a record breaking crowd.

The circus which Bob Morton has brought to Wichita Falls was not a disappointment in any way. The highest class attractions that he could gather together, has demonstrated that people want to see the best there is. Practically all of the talent have had years of experience with the largest shows in the country.

One of the star acts is Minnie Fisher, the last of the famous flying Fishers. In talking with her near the dressing tent last night, one could see how the lure of the new ring is still with her. While not a native born Texan, her home is in Beaumont, where she has a beautiful home, and is known in private life as Mrs. Thomas. Left a large estate, she has done a great deal of charitable work. During one of her performances with the Sells Floto Shows last year in New York City, she fell from the top of the three tent, and broke many bones in her body. Her right arm at this time, plainly shows the terrible ordeal through which she went yet she has sufficiently recovered to do her own law act, where she is pulled up to the top of the tent by her teeth and does some remarkable stunts hanging by her teeth. She has played before nobility in Europe, and at one time was requested by the late queen of England to play before her at her private theater. This is just one of the star attractions.

The Bob Morton Circus also has the youngest tight rope walkers in the world, twin sisters, seven years old who perform with their parents, the D'Orle family, on the slack wire. Their work brought forth a round of applause.

Another splendid feature of the circus is Conley & Conley. They do some wonderful trapeze work, while one member of the team is possessed of a strong jaw, holds a trapeze in his mouth, for the other member to act on.

Orville and Frank do some wonderful balancing stunts for 15 minutes a ladder, while the other performs stunts on the ladder.

Then Alice Johnson, the monkey man, who has made a specialty of this act for many years, getting his start on the slack wire just by a trapeze act. Johnson, the monkey man, who has made a specialty of this act for many years, getting his start on the slack wire just by a trapeze act.

In private life he is a farmer, owning a splendid farm in Michigan. Large & Morgner, two one-legged fellows, have been together since they were 14 years of age, doing some remarkable stunts in balancing that would test the strength of Goliath himself.

The three Vanerons, father, mother and daughter, delighted the audience with their wonderful horizontal bar act.

George O'Ret did a splendid unsupported ladder act on a table. Canton and Canton, ring trapeze performers also delighted their audience with their performance.

The Heckwith-Tood trio of men had the grand finale act. With a net stretched almost across the big tent, they performed evolutions in the air that were astounding.

DISTURBANCES OF VARIED NATURE IN EVIDENCE TUESDAY

A number of disturbances of a varied nature were reported by railroad agents Tuesday morning and the outlook as to probable weather conditions was dubious.

Locally a northeast wind was blowing with partly cloudy skies. The temperature fell to the 70 degree point during the night after it had reached the 49 degree mark again Monday afternoon.

The agent at Waurika reported a light shower Tuesday morning. He also stated that an agent on the Rock Island had reported a heavy rain and hail storm 15 miles northwest of Waurika. At Childress the thermometer suffered a big drop Tuesday morning and at 8 o'clock it had registered a temperature of 45 degrees.

Late Monday evening heavy rains were reported in spots in Archer county and in one or two instances the rain took on such a proportion that it was labeled a cloud burst.

Agents on the Wichita Valley reported heavy clouds Tuesday morning and stated that rain was imminent. Locally, a heavy dew was deposited during the night.

By Dr. D. M. Walker. The doctor had been called to the county farm due to the illness of Louis N. Jerling and while there it began raining. Rain fell for probably half an hour. On his return to the city, Dr. Walker had the experience of feeling his car slip into the ditch, due to the wet roads.

PAVING CONTRACTOR PLANS HOME ON TOWA PARK ROAD

J. P. Foly has purchased a 15-acre tract of land on the Iowa Park road, at a consideration of $250 per acre, and is planning for the erection of a handsome home.

Mr. Foly formerly resided in this city and has recently completed a big paving contract in Willbarger county.

The deal, which was consummated Monday afternoon, was handled by R. P. Johnson, local real estate man.

DAIRYMAN FINED $25 BECAUSE MILK SOLD BELOW REQUIRED TEST

W. E. George took his seat as recorder in the city court Tuesday morning following his appointment by the city council Monday. Mr. George succeeds R. L. Yates who resigned his position at the council meeting Monday. Walter Caldwell acted as special prosecutor at the Tuesday morning session.

A dairyman charged with selling milk which failed to stand the test for butter fat, was given the minimum fine of $25. Several charges of traffic violation and disturbing the peace were disposed of at the regular time of $5 and $10.

Spoonful for a Penny Brings Quick Relief

Prove splendid laxative properties of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin by test

SCIENTIFIC test has now proven what Dr. Caldwell of Monticello asserted many years ago, that constipation will slow you up fully 25 per cent. The laxative made by Dr. Donaldson Loma Linda upon four men in the prime of life who deliberately went without a bowel movement for four days. Within 48 hours the men had cooled tongue and foul breath, cankers in the mouth, no appetite, restless sleep, indigestion, headache, depression, nervousness, cramps. The blood pressure was up 25 per cent. It is just this that Dr. Caldwell has preached to his patients in private and to the public through the printed word ever since he began the practice of his specialty, diseases of the stomach and bowels, back in 1875.

After observing for years the satisfactory effect of his prescription for constipation, he placed it in drug stores in 1892, a simple vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. That was 30 years ago, and today over 10 million bottles are bought annually, the largest selling family laxative in the world. You will find it in any drug store you enter, a generous-size bottle costing you less than a cent a dose.

Every member of the family from the infant to the grandparent can use it with safety. It is gentle and mild. The formula is on the package. Mrs. Roy Cook of Bellefontaine, O., has been giving it to her 5-month-old baby, who now weighs 19 pounds; and Mr. J. B. Dawson of Brinson, Ga., declares it the best laxative his family has ever found. Try a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for constipation or any of its symptoms. The results will delight you. And the cost is only one cent a dose.
