QUANAH Y. M. B. L. OFFICERS ELECTED LUNCHEON ENJOYED

ORGANIZATION HAS MORE THAN FIFTY YOUNG BUSINESS MEN.

COMMITTEES NAMED FOR THE ENSUING YEAR

Complete Organization of Rotary Club With Election of Officers.

QUANAH, TEXAS, April 28.—With the election of officers the newly formed Young Men's Business League has started into active service for the betterment of Quanah and community.

L. R. Magee was elected president of the organization with J. L. Miller, Jr. vice-president, and N. H. Lassiter, secretary-treasurer.

A luncheon was held at the Quanah Hotel at which time the membership at large elected nine directors to transact the business of the organization.

The directors decided the use of the park and grounds for a Fourth of July celebration and assured the support of the association members.

Harry Koch, who has been acting temporary chairman since the organization was elected the first president of the newly formed Rotary Club, by the board of directors, shortly after the weekly luncheon Thursday at the Quanah Hotel.

Other officers elected by the board were: F. W. Kennerly, vice-president; Arthur Evans, secretary; Gus Jones, treasurer, and W. L. Gunzells, sergeant-at-arms.

The directors elected by the body in session yesterday were as follows: R. R. Gilliland, Jr., T. Prizzell, Harry Koch, Gus Jones, F. W. Kennerly, Arthur Keys, and Chas. Y. Welch.

Other business was taken up in perfecting the organization after talks had been made by the visitors present. Fred Hasket of Childress as a representative of the district governor of the Rotary Clubs, explained the details of the necessary business in the organization.

Golf Tournament Held. S. J. Bailey was the winner of first prize in a golf tournament at the Country Club Sunday.

Bruce Gibson of Vernon won first place in low nine holes, he having made the score of 41 in that.

Quannah had a long list of entrants. Those competing from Vernon were: E. C. Christian, H. E. Rogers, Rhodes, Bruce Gibson, W. H. Rogers, and W. K. Long.

President R. R. Gilliland of the club, reports that the next tournament will be a handicap affair for Quannah players only to establish a record for each individual player.

Baker-Hanna Men Here. Representatives from the various stores of which the local Baker-Hanna Co. is a part, were here this week to buy clothing supply for their stores from a number of dealers from the east.

The local store was represented by Manager S. N. Tawaters, F. W. Kennerly and D. R. Pope. Those from the out-of-town stores were J. A. Dickson and Mr. Truett from Vernon; Frank Graham from Childress; Fred Hanna of Altus, Ernest Pope of Claremore; Homer Hood and Ernest Stewart of Paducah, Ted Hanna of Childress, and Claude White of Sayre, Oklahoma.

County Superintendent Returns. Mrs. Honer reports much good accomplished at the meeting and it was well attended. While there she and a number of other jour-

Bellevue Notes

BELLEVUE, TEXAS, April 28.—Alvin Carnes O'Brien, age 42 years, five months and 22 days, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. O'Brien of Lone Star, five miles south of Bellevue Tuesday morning at 6:10 o'clock, after suffering with a complication of troubles extending over a period of some four years the last eight months of this period being deprived of his eyesight.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 5 p. m. at the Methodist Church, at Bellevue, Rev. H. G. May officiating. Burial took place in the Bellevue cemetery.

Mr. O'Brien is survived by a wife and six children, father, mother and one brother and numerous other relatives.

Four Inch Rainfall. Rumper crop conditions were assured this week when on Tuesday night a four-inch rain fell over this section of the country.

Win-Ball Game. A ball game between Henrietta and Bellevue fans last Tuesday resulted in a victory for Bellevue.

Personal Mention. Mrs. Ivy Moore and Will Welch of Gunter, Texas, were here to attend the funeral of Mr. A. C. O'Brien, Tuesday.

Endeavor of Henrietta will furnish several numbers and this together with special music furnished by home talent will insure all who attend a splendid treat.

Miss Nathan Erwin, a student in the college of Industrial Arts, at Denton, was in the city on business with the school board.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McNeil and children of Seymour, visited with Mr. McNeil's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McNeil, and the lady's father, J. C. Gowin and families, going on to Dallas where Mr. McNeil will attend the State Ginners convention. They were accompanied to Dallas from this place by Miss Delcy Gowin.

Miss J. N. Towles and daughter, Miss Ivy, returned first of the week from a few days' business trip to Dallas.

Miss Nora Little of Ranger, Texas, is here on an extended visit to her daughter, Mrs. H. G. May and family. She will leave for her home Monday.

suited in a victory for Bellevue. The score was 2 to 1. The game was interesting from start to finish and each team did some splendid playing.

Word has been received here that Miss Glennie Korsteter, former pupil and teacher in the Bellevue school, and who is teaching in the Chillicothe schools this term, has been re-elected to a place in the Chillicothe schools for the 1923-24 term at an increased salary.

Sunday, April 29, will be a big day for all who are interested in Christian Endeavor work. Miss Myrtle Shelton, president of Wichita Falls district of Episcopals, will give an address and the intermediate endeavor of Henrietta will furnish several numbers and this together with special music furnished by home talent will insure all who attend a splendid treat.

Miss Nathan Erwin, a student in the college of Industrial Arts, at Denton, was in the city on business with the school board.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McNeil and children of Seymour, visited with Mr. McNeil's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McNeil, and the lady's father, J. C. Gowin and families, going on to Dallas where Mr. McNeil will attend the State Ginners convention.

"Penrod" Expected to Be Feature Performance, Community Players

A full house is expected to greet the Community Players when the curtain goes up on "Penrod," the last production of the season, which will be presented at the Wichita Theater Friday and Saturday nights, May 4 and 5, with a Saturday matinee.

According to the various members of the organization who are in charge of the ticket sales, there is a good demand for tickets to the play, probably due to the success of the former productions of "Clarence" and "Nothing But the Truth."

Miss Adele Marcus, whose splendid work in past productions is well remembered, is directing "Penrod." Several beautiful stage settings are being arranged by the club, whose membership subscription several artists who are now devoting their time to the building and painting of the sets.

The play, by Booth Tarkington, an adaptation of his popular stories of "Penrod" which ran in the magazines for some time, is said to abound with real fun and clever action. Prominent in the parts carried are four Wichita Falls youths—Clyde Struss, James Fox, Aaron Kruger, and Sam Bashara. They are said to play their parts with the ease of professionals.

Roy Dees, a prominent young attorney of the city, who has done such creditable work with the Players Club, appears in "Penrod" as Mr. Schofield, the father of Penrod, while other important roles are Bill Bonneau, Charles Angle, Alan Montgomery, Paul Barnett and Joe Marlow. Mrs. J. J. Field, Mrs.

Mable Kavanaugh, Kathleen Londa, and Frances Ann Saunders. The reserved seats will open Friday at the theater.

Wanting Street Baptist. The revival meeting which has been in progress the past 19 days will be continued through the coming week. The Lord has blessed us wonderfully thus far and we are trusting Him for still greater results the coming week.

There have been some 20 conversions and re-dedications to date and about 25 additions to the church by baptism. We are not miserly with the Lord's blessing, and trust that every person in Wichita Falls who believes in an old-fashioned Gospel and old-time spiritual power will fall in with us this week and help win a notable victory against sin.

Herb K. M. Teakley, who is doing the preaching for us, announces that his subject Sunday morning will be "Home Sweet Home" and his evening theme "Moses' Choice." Friends who have kindly expressed an interest in his work are urged to be present. W. L. GIBSON, Pastor.

SAYS NEGOTIATIONS ASSURE PROSPERITY TO ALL OF MEXICO

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The American situation is convinced that an era of prosperity affecting the whole of Mexico will result from the negotiations which are being conducted with American firms, and thus add to the prosperity of the United States.

"A favorable solution of the long standing controversy would be of great advantage, not only to the United States but to Mexico as well," Mr. Hammond said. "If Mexico will agree to conditions that will afford full security to investments, without such security recognition would be of no value to the United States. I have every confidence in the personal of the commission."

DISCUSS INCREASE G. O. P. DELEGATION SOUTHERN STATES

QUESTION REVIVED BY SOME OF LESSER MANAGERS OF CAMPAIGN.

FEAR STATES HAVING PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY

Enough of Such States to Control Majority in the National Convention.

By JAMES R. NOURSE Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Will the solidly Democratic states of the south be allowed to have more delegates in the next Republican national convention than they had in the 1920 convention which gave Harding the nomination?

This question, which has been threshed out in almost every convention in recent years, has cropped up on the surface again in connection with the silent maneuvering already under way to give President Harding a second nomination.

It has been revived by some of the lesser managers of the Harding candidacy who are unwilling to overlook any contingency that might insure his nomination. It will be brought up when the national committee meets here in December to arrange the plans for the 1924 convention.

In the background, and mainly responsible for bringing up the issue of the southern delegation again is the fear of the states which have the presidential primary. There are enough of these states to control a majority in the convention—unless the southern representation of the Democratic states is increased.

The race for the 1924 nomination should develop into a real contest between the president and some other outstanding Republican. It may easily be conjectured that the president's opponent, if a strong personality, might go into the presidential primaries in the states where they are authorized and capture a sufficient number of delegates to make things decidedly dangerous for the president's re-nomination.

If Senator Borah would decide to become a candidate, he might do this, or Senator Hiram Johnson might do it, repeating the victory won in 1920 when he captured delegates in the very states in which a primary was held. Hence the suggestion that the southern representation might be increased to overcome, on behalf of the president's candidacy, any advantage that might be won by an entrant in the presidential preference primaries.

Every time the Republican national convention assembles complaint is made about the strong voting power possessed by states which select delegates. These are made that when the next convention time arrives the southern representation will be cut down. But that very thing has never happened. For the reason that certain "bosses" who control those southern delegations are unwilling to part with a single fraction of their voting power, because a "bunch of southern delegates" is always a mighty handy thing to have on hand for trading purposes.

This is by no means an aspersion upon the character or Republicanism of the men who make up these southern delegations. They are simply victims of a situation which they cannot help. Northern delegations have stormed in vain against allowing such a heavy vote to a section of the country which always rolls up a plurality for the opposition nominee, but the practice has been continued in spite of repeated promises by the party leaders to change it.

At the same time, it is pretty well understood that any proposal to increase the southern representation will provoke a new storm of protest from states where Republican victory is a settled habit.

It is not believed that President Harding, no matter how serious the contest for a renomination might become, would countenance any proposal to enlarge the southern delegations. Neither would such leaders in the party as Senator Watson, Lodge, Smoot and Curtis. The suggestion comes from politicians outside of the president's immediate circle of advisers, who have been peddling the idea among national committeemen in the hope of getting some favorable action on it at the December meeting.

National Hospital Day To Be Observed Here May 12

Wichita General Hospital

Visitors to the Wichita General Hospital will find many things to interest them on May 12th, National Hospital Day, when the hospital will join with some five thousand others throughout the United States and Canada in inviting friends and neighbors to come in and get better acquainted, says an announcement.

The hospital of today is an educational institution of prime importance, as it is the place where every full-fledged nurse learns the profession imparted by Florence Nightingale, on whose birthday National Hospital Day is observed.

While the main purpose of the hospital consists in alleviating suffering and prolonging life, the curative work is but one branch of hospital service.

The recent discovery of the insulin treatment for diabetes, for instance, resulted from study in a hospital laboratory.

MUST OVERTHROW TYRANNY OF SWORD SAYS LLOYD GEORGE

By Universal Service. MANCHESTER, ENGLAND, April 28.—"If the people are tired of liberty, God help them!" declared former premier Lloyd George in a speech at a liberal meeting here today.

Mr. Lloyd George was referring to the remark attributed to Premier Mussolini of Italy who is reported to have said that the people were tired of liberty and craved discipline.

"Our first duty is to liberalism," said the former premier. "We must overthrow the tyranny of the sword. Mankind cannot be taught where its passions and prejudices are concerned.

"There are dangers ahead. One of these is Fascism. But there is still another danger and that comes from socialism.

"The great task before us is to ransack the evils of modern industrialism."

Mr. Lloyd George urged greater cooperation between capital and labor contending that cooperation is the only way that the country can get the best from both.

FORMER PRESIDENT STUDENTS' SOCIETY ISSUES STATEMENT

WACO, TEXAS, April 28.—The disunion in the Students' Association at Baylor University last week, had its echo today, when John L. Boggs, former president, issued a statement directed at statements alleged to have been written by Rev. J. Frank Norris, in the Searchlight, Norris' paper.

The paragraph printed in the Searchlight, to which the officers of the former association object reads: "They demanded the resignation of President Brooks."

The disunion, according to Boggs, resulting in the resignation of himself and 23 other officers was because of the faculty's ruling forbidding the participation of certain students in intercollegiate contests.

The statement says in part: "The officers of the association did not resign because of the character of teaching done at Baylor University, for it is the best to be had in all this fair land of ours."

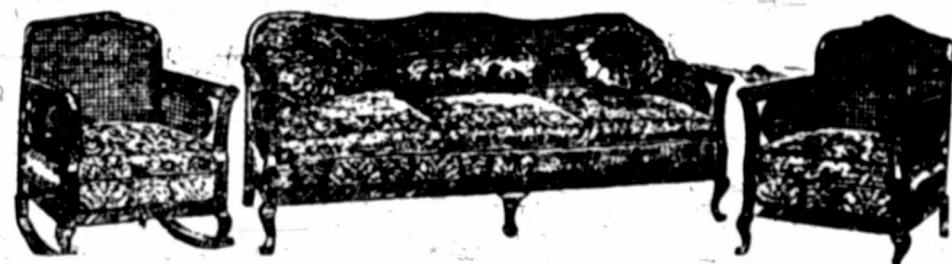

Neither did we demand the resignation of Dr. S. F. Brooks, for a quite well known that there is not a man in the Southern Baptist Convention who is more anxious to do that which will help Baylor University than is our beloved president."

CAPTAIN GEORGE'S MAJORITY. MAX ARRIVED AT ROME. ROME, April 28.—Captain George Madon, commander of the "round-the-world flying circus" organized by Captain Hapt, arrived here today, thus ending fears for his safety. He explained that he had been obliged to make a landing in the country. Italian airplanes and dirigibles had been searching for him.

Electrical Heat - Perfectly Concentrated

PERFECT cookery demands perfect concentration of heat. The electric units which concentrate the heat directly under the cooking utensil, thereby sending it all into the food, are exclusive features of the

Hotpoint HUGHES ELECTRIC RANGE

There is no open flame to waste the heat or to raise the temperature of the vessel except at the one point of immediate application.

You can boil, broil, stew, fry, roast and bake the Hotpoint Hughes way with the best results and greatest economy.

The Hotpoint Hughes oven, with its thick, insulated walls, retains all the heat, applies it evenly to the roasting of meat or poultry, and completes the cooking by means of stored heat.

"FREE FOR ALL" FIGHT IS STAGED AT BURKBURNETT

STARTS DURING TRIAL OF TWO MEN IN JUSTICE COURT.

CONSTABLE INTERFERES AND SUSTAINS BRUISES

Quiet Being Restored; Number of Fines Are Paid to Justice Walling.

BURKBURNETT, TEXAS, April 28.—A free for all fight was staged in Justice of the Peace C. O. Walling's court Saturday morning. Several participants involved in the melee sustained numerous bruises and scratches. It was found, after the dust from the conflict had settled, Constable H. L. White was in bad eyes and other evidences of his part in the fracas taken as a peace officer. Arguments were being heard by Justice Walling in the case of two defendants who were charged with fighting when the difficulties were renewed and the two men came to blows. Interference by Constable White and participation by bystanders brought about a condition in which a state of "every man for himself" existed and the real fun began which resulted in the many bruises and scratches sustained as evidence by all participating. After the melee when quiet had been restored court proceeded in the usual dignified way and several fines were assessed charging defendants with an affray.

GASSERS PROVE EASY PICKINGS IN SECOND GAME; SCORE 8 TO 2

Wee Willie Fincher Hurls Fine Brand of Ball, While Spudders Delight in Brewer's Offerings

Our valiant Spudders jogged into third place in the Texas League pennant procession by copping Saturday's frolic from the Gassers. The Spudders were never even forced to strike a trot to gain the decision. Wee Willie Fincher gave further evidence of being set for a great season when he held the Gas crowd to six safe whams.

Thomas marched out one of his long string of rookies to do his stuff before the Spudders, and Henry Brewer, a tall and slender right hander, was the unfortunate selection. Brewer looked good in spots and in others he didn't look so well. Anyway, he heaved too many of them wild to the bases and there he got himself in such a bad hole in the very beginning that there was little chance of his ever pulling out. Besides chucking three wild to the bases, Brewer gave up seven passes. He struck out five, if that will give the youngster any satisfaction.

Helped along by all of five misplays on the part of the Gassmen, the Spudders connected safely an even dozen times and scored until it ceased to be a pleasure to round the bases. Ace Elliott got so fatigued from making the rounds that in the final inning he got second base and was promptly called out when the Gassers returned the ball to the bag.

Bob Bescher and Buddy Tanner continued to be the leading lights in the Spudder attack. Bob is proving his worth as a leadoff man by getting to first with masterly regularity. Reaching the bag five out of five times Saturday, Robert made his average for getting to first a thousand times. Friday he started the home stay. Friday he got a hit and two passes in three times and Saturday he had three hits and two passes in five. Tanner whalloped three safe ones, but it was not all done by this brace of sluggers. Whitley came in for a brace of timely raps and Joseph Berger got himself a pair, both of which came with the same dispatch.

Somebody told Tom Thomas that Josephus was in the depths of a slump and he ordered Hook Cotter to walk to fill the bases, with Cotter next in line. Josephus, however, single into right just as pretty as you please and two more Spudders centered in. Yes, Tom, you were entirely right. Josephus was in the groove of a hitting slump. But Josephus is no more. He's started to pound them, and the old boy going to be hard to stop from here on out.

Wee Willie Fincher had one bad inning, the first, but he made the most of the situation. Half of the Gassers' hits came in this round and two of them were good for two bases. After that he pitched a single into right just as pretty as you please and a double to right center and Jackson followed it with a hot one past Tanner, scoring Jack and Elliott. Fincher pitched a hot one past Tanner, scoring Jack and Elliott. Fincher pitched a hot one past Tanner, scoring Jack and Elliott.

The Spudders promptly came back and tied it up in their half, but doing so in an uncontrollable way. Bescher walked to start and White fouled to Burns on an attempted sacrifice. Bescher then pitched a hot one past Tanner, scoring Jack and Elliott. Fincher pitched a hot one past Tanner, scoring Jack and Elliott.

HIPO HODGES, ZIP DUMOVICH, DENVER GHIGSHY, HOOK COTTER

The recent acquisition of four players from the Chicago Cubs has greatly added to the weight of the Spudder bid for the Texas League pennant. One scribe even went so far as to say that it meant the Cubs would have to beat the Spudders out, rather than the Spudders having to beat the Cubs. At any rate, at least half of the quartet is certain to stick around for the summer and aid Skipper Walter Salm materially in his drive for the championship.

STEERS HAVE ONE GOOD INNING AND DEFEAT PANTHERS. DALLAS, April 25.—Li Fincher was a morning glory today and Dallas won 7 to 3 in a seventh inning assault on the right hander, aided by his erratic support. Cotter was hit hard by Fort Worth but yielded few runs. Score: Dallas, 7; Panthers, 3.

WEISS AND ADAMS SEND CHEER MESSAGE TO FANS. PITTSBURGH, PENN., April 28.—Dear Friends and Fans: The season is on and the fellows are going at it strong. Wichita Falls has very bright prospects of winning the pennant in the Texas League. They are well taken care of at all positions and the pitching staff looks stronger than ever. We shall always be putting forth the Spudders, and under the management of Walter Salm they should prove a real contender. We have the watches running in fine shape and we are very proud of these handsome gifts. We wish to thank the management and fans and they shall always be remembered when we look at the Weiss. Respectfully, (Signed) "ART WEISS AND EARL ADAMS."

MURRAY PITCHES RED SOX TO WIN OVER YANKS, 5-3. BOSTON, April 28.—Murray held the champion Yankees to five hits today, Boston winning the rubber game of the series, 5 to 3. Score: Boston, 5; Yankees, 3.

BRAVES' ROOKIE DOWNS CHAMPIONS FOR SECOND TIME. NEW YORK, April 28.—New York lost the deciding contest of the three-game series with Boston Saturday by a score of 6 to 4. Joe Judge's team, however, won the year, won his second victory from the world's champions. Genewich was aided by three double plays.

PUBLIC LINKS GOLF PLAYERS URGED TO POST THEIR SCORES. Members of the Wichita Falls Municipal Golf Club are urged by Fred T. Kingery, chairman of the tournament committee, to turn in their cards at the clubhouse that the club may be able to compile a record of the players' scores. It is hoped the first annual municipal tournament may be gotten under way in the next few weeks, and the sooner the handicaps can be arranged, the sooner the committees will be ready to go ahead with the tournament.

MUSTANGS AND AGGIES PLAY TEN-INNING TIE. DALLAS, April 28.—The Mustangs and the Texas Aggies tied six and six in the ninth frame Saturday and the extra inning failed to win the game for either team. The game was called in the tenth. The Mustangs outlasted the Aggies, but the visitors recorded two runs in the first inning and four in the eighth. Matthews headed for the clubhouse after taking the game. Dodge and Given for the Aggies.

POND TWILIGHTERS TO PLAY AT BURK SUNDAY. The Pond Laundry Company team of the Twilight League will journey to Burk Burnett Sunday for a clash with the Livingston Oil Corporation club of that place. Buck Freeman, former Chicago Cub and Spudder hurler, is piloting the Livingston team. It is probable that he will do the harrying against the Ponders.

STELLBAUER AND SIMMONS SET PACE FOR LONE STAR HITTERS IN FIRST GAMES

A veteran and a youngster have proved the batting sensations of the Texas League after a week of hot play. Opposing teams are still trying to retire Bill Stellbauer, the silent outfielder for Fort Worth, who is making it hard for Ats to pick his gardeners this year, rambling left and right hand pitching alike for 18 hits in 30 times at bat, an average of .600. Shreveport, the young sensation in Simmons, has 259. Through Thursday night, 29 Texas League players were batting .300 or better.

Three pitchers have already succeeded in winning three games without a defeat in the short time that has elapsed since the opening here again. Bill Bailey, Houston's ancient left-hander, starting his eighteenth year on the hill, and Skippe Conley of Dallas, the oldest pitcher in continuous service in the league, ranged against a Dallas youngster, Bryan.

Do You Play Golf?

Golf has grown faster than any game ever introduced in America.

Notwithstanding that baseball is called our National Pastime there are more people playing golf in America today than any other game. This is so because Golf combines pleasure with healthy out of door exercise, which is a very happy combination.

THE NEW MUNICIPAL GOLF COURSE has put this game within the reach of everyone in Wichita Falls and we predict that nearly every one in Wichita Falls will take advantage of it.

We are GOLF SPECIALISTS and our equipment is selected by men who know what clubs the beginner should have, we are featuring now a COMPLETE SET OF CLUBS WITH A LEATHER BOUND BAG at

These clubs are correct and well selected. Purchased with the idea of giving the beginner the proper clubs at a POPULAR PRICE.

EBBETS IS WILLING TO SPEND FORTUNE FOR SHORTFIELDER

Uncle Charlie's Offer to Orioles Of $100,000 for Boley Indicates Robins' Owner Is After a Winner

By THOMAS L. CUMMISKEY.
Universal Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, April 28.—President Charles Ebbets, of the Brooklyn Nationals, confirms a report Saturday that he has offered a flat $100,000 for the star shortstop of the Baltimore Orioles, but that the offer had been refused.

"I believe this star would make Brooklyn as strong a team as any in the National League," Ebbets told the writer, "so I was willing to pay such big money. I was told by the Baltimore club that Boley would not let us know as it was after the consecutive pennant in the International League. They figure their chances would be jeopardized if they let him go."

"As we want the player now, and not next fall, I am now looking elsewhere for two strong major league players. They are naturally hard to get, but I have reason to hope I'll be successful."

The Lookout

By AL PARKER

The death of Paul Sentell, National League umpire, Friday in Cincinnati marks the passing of one of the best known and most colorful baseball men. While Sentell's name is known in only one of the major leagues, he was in professional baseball and he had been in this league continuously until a year ago when he graduated into the National League staff of arbiters.

BABE RUTH FORCED TO SHARE SPOTLIGHT WITH PRESIDENT

HARDING AND THE KING OF SWAT
As a usual thing, Babe Ruth is "the whole show" at the Yankex Stadium, but President Harding was somewhat of an attraction himself when he went to see the Yanks defeat the Senators 4 to 0. Babe was graciously welcomed the president to his province, and slammed out a homer for the edification of his distinguished guest.

Club Nicknames Often Changed Dallas Switches Again This Year

With the beginning of the 1923 Texas League season, all but one of the eight entries are known by the nicknames which they carried through last season. Wichita Falls will be known as the Spudgers, Fort Worth as the Spudgers, and the Dallas club as the Spudgers. Houston the Buffaloes, San Antonio the Bears, Galveston the Sandorabs and Beaumont the Exporters. But the Dallas men are to be known as the Steers.

Nearly all of the clubs in the league have labored under more than one name. Fort Worth is one of the exceptions. As long as the club is coping pennants, there is not likely to be any change from the Steers.

When Shreveport re-entered the league after the debacle of 1914 that club was christened the Gasers by a popular vote and the name has stuck ever since. In 1919 Shreveport won a pennant despite the handicap of its nickname. Since then the gas has appeared to be considerably heavier than air and the weight has kept the great victory close to the ground floor.

For the past several years Beaumont has been known as the Exporters, this having been substituted for Oilers. Since Beaumont is a seaport, it is not difficult to determine the derivation of the sobriquet.

San Antonio has operated under three distinct nicknames in recent years. Back in the reign of George Leidy they were known as the Bronchos and later they grabbed off an air service name and called the club the Aces. When the island being rich in pirate lore, there could hardly have been a more suitable nickname, but longer year in and year out, this name was tired of and Sandorabs was instituted. "Slow but sure" is the significance of the Galveston clubs have very nearly lived up to the first part of it.

Most of the major league clubs have rocked along for years under names rich in tradition, such as the Yankees, Red Sox, White Sox, Athletics, Cubs and Phillies. The Boston Braves have been known as the Braves, the Senators the Nationals, the Yankees the Highlanders, the Indians the Naps and the Athletics the White Elephants.

COYOTES DIVIDE FINAL TWO WITH AMARILLO TEAM

AMARILLO, TEXAS, April 28.—Amarillo high school won the championship of west Texas here Saturday when it split a twin bill with Wichita Falls high, winning the first game 13 to 4, and losing the second, 4 to 1. Both games were closely played. The scores—first game:

SHREVEPORT WINNER OF ATTENDANCE CUP WITH 7,636 CROWD

DALLAS, April 28.—The loving cup offered by J. Donk Roberts, president of the Texas League, to the team in the league which holds the season's opening attendance record has been awarded to Shreveport, President Roberts announced here tonight.

The Louisiana city reported a total of 7,636 spectators at its opening day contest.

DANGER LURKS IN PATHS OF LIVELY BALL SAYS CRITIC

By THOMAS L. CUMMISKEY.
Universal Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, April 28.—"That lively ball is apt to cause a lot of injuries," a veteran scribe made the remark as he saw Babe Marquard, the old southpaw of the Braves, barely get his glove up in time to block a terrific drive from hitting him in the face.

The incident happened in the just concluded Giants-Braves series. To thousands it passed as a mere incident. The "Rube" hadn't been hurt, only his hand, as it stood at a pitcher's elbow. On the other hand close observers of baseball were given several days' thought about the lively ball. Line drives through the box, more particularly those of vengeful pitchers, will be very dangerous. A line drive at a pitcher, no matter what "liveliness" the ball is a danger.

PENN IS FORCED TO BREAK RECORD TO BEAT OXFORD

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., April 28.—Plooding on through a curtain of rain in what seemed like a never-ending deluge, the Pennsylvania State College defeated the great Oxford team in the two-nights international relay championship at the Pegasus relay relay carnival here Saturday afternoon.

The game Britishers were conquered only after a terrific battle in which they forced the victors to Penn State combination to a new world record of 748-4-0.

Each of the Oxford team bringing up the rear were Georgetown, Boston College and Pennsylvania.

Saturday's defeat gave America the edge in the three international events which featured the carnival, the Oxford team having won the one hundred yard dash trials. Leconte took the final in 19 flat.

TEXAS LEAGUE GAMES TO BE HALTED DURING FUNERAL OF SENTELL

DALLAS, April 28.—All games of the Texas League will be halted for one minute in the third inning of the day next week to be held for the funeral of Paul Sentell, National League umpire and former Texas League manager and arbiter, who died Friday night at Cincinnati.

The honor is accorded Sentell because he made his start as an umpire in the Texas League and was chief of staff for Roberts in 1921. He is said to be the only minor league umpire ever bought outright by a major league.

In view of the remarkable lead in the National League, the question has been asked by some if this league does not have a more lively ball than the American League. We do not profess to know, but think it unlikely. The quality of pitching is more apt to be the cause.

Walt paper at Watson Paint Co., 807 Indiana.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Governor Neff has issued a proclamation ordering the observance of the National Day of Mourning for the late Paul Sentell, National League umpire and former Texas League manager and arbiter, who died Friday night at Cincinnati.

The proclamation, which will be read at the graveside of the late umpire, calls for a moment of silence at 12 o'clock on Monday, May 7, at all places where the public assemble.

BECHER WAIVES HIS CLAIM FOR HIGHEST OPENING DAY AVERAGE

Bob Becher showed that his heart is in the right place Saturday by waiving his claim for the highest batting average for Friday's opening game. He said he would accept the average of .300, which was his on one hit in one time up, but when the veteran Spudger glanced over the remainder of his statistics he decided it would be a bit "pigskin" to draw lots with Griggs for the suit. Becher, who has won three other prizes offered by merchants for feats of the day, the young Spudger called on Griggs Saturday and accepted the profits of the opening day.

MANY INJURED AS CROWDS FIGHT TO SEE SOCCER GAME

LONDON, April 28.—A thousand persons were injured and treated in emergency stations when 200,000, the greatest crowd in history, fought their way to the new Wembley park stadium to witness the professional football cup final when Bolton overcame Westham Saturday afternoon, 2 to 0.

Many women were crushed, one probably fatally, as thousands of late arrivals pushed the barriers and fought through the playing field. With the stands filled to their capacity, 137,000, two hours before the same time, officials sent frantic appeals to omnibus, tramway and railway companies to divert additional thousands who came from all directions to Wembley park. In many instances, compliance with this suggestion resulted in minor riots.

King George, after an hour before the contest began and several hundred policemen battled a clear way for his majesty to enter the stadium. The king appeared in the national anthem.

The song stirred those outside to renewed efforts to enter. One of the most serious incidents was a crash and the crowd that was in the vicinity converged towards it, going down under foot and receiving serious injuries. The stinging of the ambulance bells sounded through the crowd, but official attendants were unable to reach many of those hurt. The management, anticipating a record, had established first aid stations all around the park and at these stations hundreds received attention.

The game began, but the swirling obs still fought and surged about barriers which finally gave way and let the waves of humanity to the playing field, forcing the play to cease, when the field was again cleared the ball was kicked off again, only to have the crowd more attracted by a fresh wave of thousands sweeping in.

AMERICANS EVEN SCORE IN FIRST BRITISH MATCHES

By Associated Press.

RYE, ENGLAND, April 28.—Fine competitive spirit saved the American amateur golfers from defeat Saturday in their first battle on the English fairways.

In the morning they suffered a severe reverse, but in the afternoon they made a fighting comeback and ended the day all square with the stars of the Oxford and Cambridge Golfing society with whom they played a dozen foursomes.

Six four-ball foursomes were played in the afternoon of which the Americans won four, the British lunched under their belts and the will to win under their caps, the Yankees returned to the windy sand links in the afternoon and before losing a match won four straight, or sufficient to square matters with their hosts. The afternoon matches were two-ball foursomes.

One thousand spectators or thereabouts motored to this ancient town by the English channel to see the debut of the Americans and most of them walked in the wake of Jess Swatner, the American champion, who paired with Francis Outpelt, came away triumphant in both his morning and afternoon matches. They were the only Americans to win both before and after lunch.

PROMINENT PERSONS IN GOLF TOURNEY

By VINCENT RICHARDS.
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Civic and court celebrities will figure prominently in the municipal park tennis exhibition matches to be staged in Central Park next Wednesday. A greater galaxy of world's racket stars would be hard to gather than Wm. T. Tilden, national champion, Harry Babcock, second, and Arthur G. Cleverly, third.

When this trio competes on the clay courts of Central Park as the initial feature of the public park tennis committee of the metropolitan park department's campaign for greater park facilities, it is expected that they will have a crack at the first part of it in quality and quantity. The committee in charge has received assurances that Mayor Hyman, Murray Hulbert, president of the board of aldermen, Police Commissioner Enright and many other city officials will be present to watch the play and lead official sanction of the event.

70 DOGS EXECUTED DURING PAST WEEK BY CITY OFFICERS

Wichita Falls canine population was reduced by 70 last week. That number of friendless dogs were executed after being taken up by the dog catcher. A few of the captives were reclaimed by their owners.

The dog catcher and his wife, owners of a young collie, drove up to the dog pound to reclaim it late Saturday. Just a few seconds too late—the dog catcher's rifle had put its pet beyond their help.

NEW MANAGER OF COUNTRY CLUB CLUBHOUSE ARRIVES

Hamilton Davis, recently of Pennsylvania, has arrived to be manager of the new club house of the Wichita Falls Golf and Country Club. A. L. Kendall will continue on duty as club professional.

The new building is slowly being gotten ready for the formal opening some time in May, but the date will not be announced until it is certain there will be no postponements.

HUTCHISON AND BARNES WIN FROM SARAZEN AND HAGEN

RYE, N. Y., April 28.—Playing in a drizzling rain for the whole contest, Jim Barnes and Jack Hutchison defeated Gene Sarazen and Walter Hagen in a two-ball foursome Saturday, 5 up and 5 to play. The rain soaked course made playing difficult, but Barnes and Hutchison took the lead from the start.

FLORAL HEIGHTS M. E. AND TEXAS COMPANY BILLED IN TWILIGHT

Floral Heights Methodist and Texas Company teams of the Twilight League will clash Monday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock at Twilight Park in a regularly scheduled league contest. Monday's game will be the first for the Texas Company aggregation, while the Floral Heights crew has won its only start.

With several postponed games to be played, it is likely that a Twilight League contest will be reeled off each afternoon this week.

By MARK SULLIVAN
Political Correspondent of New York Tribune and Wichita Daily Times

There is a story known to all the older generation of the Ohio community in which President Harding was born and brought up, a story which became one of the legends of that neighborhood and which has a bearing on the present state of the world and Harding's relation to the world, and in which those who seek the key to some aspect of Harding's personality and philosophy of life may find interest and material for understanding some of his policies, as well as some of his silences and restraints.

SULLIVAN This doctor, as a young man, had come to the Miami Valley from Pennsylvania. He arrived among strangers, without means or reputation or friends, and a family which was known to him as soon as he could find any patients to treat.

A good many years ago, in the Miami Valley of Ohio, there lived a doctor who came to such a degree of fame and fortune as impressed all the youths of the community and put them upon inquiry as to the secret of his success. And the story, as it became known to Harding and all the other young men of the neighborhood, rested upon a definite and simple principle of life and conduct.

This doctor, as a young man, had come to the Miami Valley from Pennsylvania. He arrived among strangers, without means or reputation or friends, and a family which was known to him as soon as he could find any patients to treat. After a trying period of waiting the opportunity came which gave the young doctor a chance to show his skill.

It happened that one of the leading men of the community was sick, and his condition was such that it was thought he would never get well. The state of his health and the problem of curing him were of concern to everybody in the neighborhood. He and his family in their anxiety had called in every doctor known to them, until all the medical resources within a radius of fifty miles had been exhausted. When this patient was treated by the doctor in question, he was cured, and the news of it spread throughout the neighborhood. The doctor, upon studying the case, came to the conclusion that the patient had been "overdoctored" and "overmedicated." Having this conviction, the young doctor prepared a mixture of water, vinegar, salt and pepper and gave it to the patient. He also prescribed what included these ingredients: that the use of all other medicines should be stopped entirely; that the patient should be given a teaspoonful of the new "medicine" every two hours when he was awake, but that under no circumstances should the patient, when sleeping, be waked up for medicine or for any other purpose whatever.

With reasonable promptness, the patient, under the combined effects of freedom from drugs, rest and immunity from interruption to his sleep, improved gradually to the point of complete recovery and lived many years as a monument to the skill of the young doctor.

The latter, with this happy start and the continued practice of the same kind of common sense, not only became known to the whole Miami Valley, but actually became a national figure. It was the case of a man who founded a career on faith in the beneficent quality of the normal operations of nature.

This story is not a fable, but the actual record of a man who, before his death some years ago, was known by name and fame to the entire country. The tale was familiar to Harding as a young man, as it was to every body else in that part of Ohio. In fact, this is one of the homely stories which Harding occasionally repeats on appropriate occasions. It might be said that it is not fair to assume that his personal familiarity with this history of a life was an essential part of the education of Harding, and that after years and is a part of that philosophy of his which aspires toward "normality" and has faith that with time and rest and freedom from too much doctoring and tinkering, normality will come.

One part of this recipe for the cure of sick men, or a sick world, Harding will never practice. It would be repugnant to his nature to prescribe, as a responsible statesman, even for a beneficent purpose, the sort of thing which doctors write properly up under the name "placebo" or "bread pills," to satisfy the expectation of neurotic patients to be given some sort of medicine. But not making "placebo" or "bread pills," is one of the most obvious of his qualities, is a simplicity which includes both the unwillingness and the inability to "fake."

When Harding was conducting his campaign for the presidency from his home in Marion it was his custom each morning to call in his helpers and go over the accommodation of things to be attended to during that day, the demands from here, there and everywhere, that he do or say this, that or the other. Some of these things were complex and bothersome—bothersome to a degree which reduced some of Harding's less placid, more nervous, helpers to something like the condition of depression. Harding used habitually to end those morning sessions with a sigh which recognized the complexities involved in contradictory clamors from different leaders and different sections of the country, but always with the same: "Well, it won't be all right, anyhow." The present writer hap-

do. He would not if he could, and could not if he would. Men do not change their personalities at the age of fifty-six. Harding will go through to the end on his natural temperament of tolerance and patience on time. By that he will stand or fall.

Harding will not even practice art to the perfectly proper extent of going to it that the public gets an accurate impression of his personality and his ideas. That is what is meant when it is said occasionally that Harding should have a "publicity manager." It is almost universal with men placed as Harding is to avail themselves of every legitimate device for seeing to it that their ideas and the true picture of their personality get across to the public as they actually are. In the absence of such entirely legitimate devices as this and such completely proper care for making an accurate impression on the public mind—when this sort of thing is left to haphazard accidents that frequently occur—the result is a blurred and inaccurate impression of public men, much to the disadvantage of the public and to the advantage of the individual. Such an accurate impression on the public mind—as this sort of thing is left to haphazard accidents that frequently occur—the result is a blurred and inaccurate impression of public men, much to the disadvantage of the public and to the advantage of the individual.

It is a fact that the public mood on any issue frequently changes. We have had a recent example of it in a case of the highest importance. Last December, when it became known that the French would actually go into the Ruhr, the practically universal reaction of the public opinion in America was in favor of the French. That action on the part of Great Britain led to a hostility against her French ally which public that lasted for nearly a generation. The lesson of this is too fresh in the American mind to permit us to make the same mistake in relation to the present tenesness between France and Germany, or between France and Great Britain. The situation between these two nations must work out to its natural end. America will not intervene except upon an invitation in which both parties join, or as part of some broader settlement of world affairs.

As regards Great Britain's relation to France it is a fact that this situation, by virtue of the policy of the new prime minister, Bonar Law, is working out wholesomely. When France made its final determination to go into the Ruhr, the British government stepped aside, and ever since has refrained from tendering advice and from any other sort of action. As a result, the hostility between Great Britain and France, which ever since the war has been one of the world's worst spots, is now subsiding toward calmness and cure. Bonar Law is of the Harding temperament and the Harding philosophy. He is the sort of doctor who, as to events he cannot prevent, lets them take their course. The contrast between Bonar Law and his predecessor Lloyd George is the cause of the gradually approaching betterment of relations between Great Britain and France. The tension between these countries was largely due to the fact that Lloyd George had the sort of temperament that never let a situation rest. It was his constant talking and advising that irritated the French and provoked reprisals. Lloyd George could never let a situation rest. It was something about it.

It would be unfair and misleading to say these things about Lloyd George without admitting the contribution he made toward winning the war. But those quick, volatile qualities that made him useful in meeting and surmounting crises after crisis while the war lasted were precisely the qualities that made him less available as a leader in the period after the war ended. His contributions to actively were limited. He was a pretty strong contributor to the war, but his contributions to the world after the war were not so great. He was a strong contributor to the war, but his contributions to the world after the war were not so great. He was a strong contributor to the war, but his contributions to the world after the war were not so great.

Of course, it is possible for Harding, in going upon the theory that "the world is being overdoctored," to fall into precisely the error which he seeks to avoid. It is possible for this phrase itself to become upon the theory it implies, to become a cure-all of just the sort that Harding shirks from. You cannot at all times and under all conditions say that "the world is being overdoctored" and let it go at that. There are times and conditions when the world needs doctors who use strong medicines and deep-cutting surgery. The presence of some such bold doctor in 1914 might have prevented the war. It was audacious and much needed surgery on the part of Great Britain that took America into the war, and that extent worked a cure earlier than otherwise would have come.

Now the present may or may not be the sort of time and condition that calls for strong medicines and deep-cutting surgery. But the fact is that for good or evil, at the points of highest leverage in the world are now occupied by men who are going on the theory that "the world is being overdoctored," and that is a mistake.

and that any charges against him of inconsistency or instability were minor compared to his great service of somehow preventing the ship from sinking. In the effort to keep it afloat he regarded it as legitimate to stay on the bridge all the time himself and to take advantage of any and every wind that blew. But these qualities, and the recollection of his performance during the war, disturbed the confidence of the world in him and impaired his usefulness in a time when the world needed and longed for, not action, but rest. One of the wisest of living statesmen remarked the other day that the greatest landmark since the war ended, the definite turning point of the world toward peace and stability, was marked by the passing of Lloyd George and by the substitution for him of a man of calm temperament and less hectic activity—in the person of Bonar Law.

SACRIFICIAL OFFERINGS BY BAPTISTS URGED FOR MISSION WORK

Dr. O. L. Powers is making a special announcement to the members of the First Baptist Church, especially, as follows:

The Southern Baptist Convention meets this year in Kansas City, Missouri, on the 15th of May, and we are hoping that there will be a good delegation to go from Wichita Falls.

The books of the convention close the first of May and every Baptist should make a sacrificial offering to the work of the convention before that time. All of the work is included in the 75 million campaign—fund. It happens that this spring the most of our offering to this fund will go to the home and foreign mission boards. If these boards should come up to the convention in debt, the work of the convention would be greatly handicapped for another year.

Texas Baptists have been largely made by the home mission board and surely now, out of gratitude, we should come to the rescue of their work. Texas has more foreign missionaries on the field than any other state in the union, and this is the time for us to show our gratitude to God for calling them into His service in these benighted lands, and to show our loyalty to Him and them by sacrificial giving to their support.

The pastor urges every man, woman and child of the church to bring a sacrificial offering to go to these objects next Sunday, April 30th.

A very interesting film was run off at the Olympic Theater Saturday morning for the Gooder Wholesale Grocery Co. in representative and guests of that concern. The picture was a trip through the Proctor and Gamble products factory of Cincinnati and through their warehouses and loading stations at Chicago. The picture opened with an exterior view of the factory, a great

IT TAKES STRESS AND STRAIN AND HARD KNOCKS TO MAKE LEADERS JUDGE KAY TELLS HIS BIBLE CLASS

The qualities of leadership aren't easily obtained, nor easily retained, Judge John C. Kay told his Bible class at the Olympe Theatre last Sunday, in discussing the life of Moses. Judge Kay's lecture followed:

We are living in a day of biography and autobiography. Living biographies are published a lot of the lives of important men. There is a kind of literature now that has never before and is perhaps the most widely purchased literature at this time.

Now, Edward W. Bok of the Ladies Home Journal, has recently written his story. How many of you have read it? Now there are many where you are wrong. Everyone of you should have read it. It is a great book. I mention that Sunday that Professor Pupin of Columbia University, was writing his book. Some of you promised to read that. Now, why is it, once in a while when I ask you to read something, some of you slip back in the habit and look at the other? How many of you have ever read Shakespeare's story, "A Winter Tale"? It is a fine story. History is little else than the biography of great men. The early story of Texas is but the biography of Sam Houston, a Santa Anna, Crockett and all those fellows. Some of these fellows didn't like to have their story written. For instance, it was Kit Carson, pioneer and early settler. The newspapers and magazines sent people to Kit to get his story, but he refused to ever give them one word of his life. Why? Because, Kit said there were some chapters in it that it wouldn't do to publish. That's true of so many of us.

Now, this lesson is the biography, not written as such, but if it is the biography of Moses.

There are many words in our language that are not true. We use them, and we roll them under our tongues as sweet morsels, and we imagine that we are familiar with such words, but the words are not true. For instance: Steady, and unchanging, and unchangeable. Now, these are words that a bunch of angels might use, but we are unsteady to the needs and the experiences of humanity.

But, last Sunday we had Joseph, prime minister of Egypt, a man in the kingdom, sending down for his old father to enjoy the wealth and the food of Egypt; everybody happy and contented, happy, contented, all getting along. Now, what was it that happened to change all of this? The Duke says, "And at this time, there arose a Pharaoh who knew not Joseph." A new fellow came along. You know, it is important to us, when they change cashiers down at the bank. I don't know how I am going to come out with this new fellow, and when they change prosecuting attorneys and judges, it is important to somebody, to a great many, sometimes, in the community. But, here was a fellow who didn't know Joseph. Now, it doesn't mean that Joseph had been dead a long time. It means that he didn't look at things like that fellow who had made a treaty with Joseph. He was not in sympathy with the Hebrews who were down in that country. It means that he was working for his own aggrandizement and for the upbuilding of Egypt, and not for the people of Joseph.

I say, we sometimes imagine we have got things worked out about right, and we have got things fixed, and everything is alright. That is not true. It never, never can be true. There is always a Pharaoh down the road somewhere for you, and for me, and for all of us, that doesn't know Joseph. That doesn't understand your way of looking at things. That doesn't care anything about you. And, he is going to come into your life, and into your mind, and into your every day, somewhere. In other words, there must come into every life a time when there is a strain. That's the point.

These people were put down there in the land of Goshen, the land that was flowing with milk and honey, so to speak. They were told to bring all the little ones, and all the old folks, and everybody, and they were all going to stay there.

My father told me, after the Civil War, and after the negroes were set free, that the negroes would be sent out and every negro, every blind and unfortunate negro and set up and keep house with them, and take care of them. The negro didn't know what that would be an easy thing to do. But, they didn't know. It wasn't long before they threw out this extra heavy weight and it fell on the state, like it does now. These people, I say, met with the time of strain.

You have got to build up life strong enough for a storm. I can see one of these handsome sea captains, just as an expert, and as he goes to sea. He sits at the table with the most popular of his passengers and they eat that steamer food, with their hats, and their cutlery, and silver, and fine linen. Ah, what a fine fellow he is. But, it is all that that he is! No, he knows more than that. He is stronger than that. There comes a time when the great green mountains are rolling out in the sea, when the icebergs are all around with ice, when to go up on the deck is almost to be lost. There is no dress-up now. There is no fine linen. His gets out on the bridge for the day, and for the night, in the ice and in the storm, and he is able and he does bring it all very safely to his home port. Why? Because, he is educated, and trained, and built to stand a strain, when that strain does come.

You take this old French general, Foch. I can see him as a young man, as a lieutenant, dapper as he can be, strutting about the walks of St. Cyr, in France. I can see him working with the boys, and studying mathematics, and gunnery, and explosives, and strategy. Ah, but he was building up there a framework that would stand, and stand, when the storm came.

Now, can you folks get along when the storm comes? What are you going to do when some fellow who is strong enough to compel his degree, and says "Go down here and make brick without straw." What was it that strengthened Foch? We find him over there, when the German wedge was almost to Paris, two or three hours on his knees in the church, talking to God about it. That's where he got his strength. That's where Moses got his. That's where great men are strengthened, in order that they may stand the stress.

Now, there he starts out with these people to promised land, to a better day, that sounds like a long time ago, but all of us have that same promised land in view, even in this life. Not now! Not today! Not this week, but somewhere, somehow, there is going to be, for me, and I like to think, a pay day, a fine day, when my ship shall come in and my high hopes be realized. That is the promised land here on earth.

Now, man is the strangest animal in the world. There are some things about a man that nobody else has. There are some things that if he lived in some other world, he would have it. After these fellows had been down there, and they had made their two kinds of life had been embittered with their bondage, after they got out there and saw Pharaoh's army, coming, they said: "Let's get back. Let's give up. Let's quit."

They got over there in the wilderness and there was much to eat. They said: "Down there in Egypt, it might be that we had to make brick, but down there in Egypt, there are plenty of loaves and onions, and something to put in the pot. Let's go back down there and give up this unequal fight."

Now, what is it doing here? Just one man, a leader. Now what is meant by "leadership"? I know that it doesn't mean a good and there is had, and we are more apt to follow a bad one, than we are a good one. Why is it that you are more apt to follow a bad political leader than a good one? Ah, boy, boy. It's because he promises you more. There is no limit to what a liar will promise you. And, the next time you go to vote for a congressman, or senator, or some important office, if you would be intelligent, if you would be high, if you would be brainy, vote for some modest man who promises you the least. I don't know whether we are any better now than they were then. I sometimes think, if a man would be apt to follow a bad one, the best thing to do would be to promise everybody a forty-acre tract and a mule. There is one thing, though, they have quit promising you. There is one old lie that is worn to a frazzle. They have quit telling you that the taxes are going to be cut down. Nobody would believe it.

So, these people had leadership and all the weight fell on one man, all the work, all the planning, and that man happened to be a righteous leader. What kind of man are you selecting for leadership in church, in the school, in the court-house, in the legislature, everywhere? What kind? Are you picking men without fear?

Moses did not claim the credit himself, but when he brought these Ten Commandments, he did not claim that they were his commandments. Here's a politician says: "Why, I wrote that platform myself. I wrote that law myself." But, Moses said that the finger of God traced these Ten Commandments on the stone. That's the way he put it. He was modest, after all, and not a self-seeker. And, when he found out that he couldn't go to the promised land, he cared more for his people than he did for himself. You know, there are too many of us fellows who don't care who falls off the raft, just so we float. Now, I said something to you then. There are too many of us, I say, who don't care who falls off the raft, if we can float. I told you what a big thing Abraham said when they were quarrelling about the cows. Now, let's see another man. Moses said to the Lord after he had worked for these people and brought them out of Egypt, he says: "If these people were to the promised land, then let me die. I don't want to go either. There was a big man talking. There was a man who didn't care for himself, not thinking about himself, but thought about humanity and about the welfare of his people."

Her Neighbor's Advice Helped Mrs. Frick

"YOU can be just as healthy, strong and happy as I am," said one woman to her neighbor after listening to the description of her ailments,—"if you will take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My condition was very similar to yours, I suffered from those awful bearing down pains, weakness, backache, nervousness and headaches until I could hardly drag around. Today I am strong, well and happy because I followed the advice of a friend who had been greatly benefited by this old-fashioned root and herb medicine."

Nearly fifty years ago Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass. prepared from medicinal roots and herbs Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Its fame has spread from shore to shore. You will now find in every community or neighborhood some woman who has been restored to health by its use, or has some friend who has. Therefore ask your neighbor.

Mrs. Frick Tells of Her Experience

PEABESBURG, OHIO—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my sides all the time. I can't remember just how long I suffered but it was for some time. One day I was talking with a neighbor. I told her how I was feeling and she said she had been just like I was with pains and nervous troubles and she took the Vegetable Compound and it helped her. So then I went and got some and I certainly recommend it for it is good. Whenever I see a woman who is sick I try to get her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. ADA FRICK, R. Griffith Tells Why He Screened Film of Mystery

How and why D. W. Griffith, a foremost figure in the motion picture industry, came to make "One Exciting Night" one of the theatrical surprises of the season.

In the past, Mr. Griffith has always hailed his film stories upon a theme, dramatizing thought, rather than invoking pure dramatic for his efforts. And the success this has followed has proven the sureness of his touch, and the breadth of his imagination.

When he appeared with a smile to show the world "One Exciting Night," a United Artists release coming to the Empress Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, many could not quickly understand why so radical a change in the work of this producer. And here is the answer as Mr. Griffith gives it:

"I wanted to do a mystery story when I did 'Orphans of the Storm.' It was the time for mystery stories, the quick and popular reaction to the melodramas proved that.

"The public had been thrilled by the war. There was an appetite for thrills. And for the sake of this country it is a fortunate thing that this flow of thrill dramas has resulted. Thriller drama had done 'too strong' before the war but ordinary incidents now. It is not the same public that existed prior to the war; not so sensitive, quicker and franker.

"Before the war, the tragedy was a fatal element of a motion picture. The public said such things didn't exist and that it was gross brutality to present them on the screen. The war changed all that. What an astounding education it proved.

"The mystery play of course is primarily a thriller. It is almost as old as drama. For most of the early dramas were 'terror plays, where there was uncertainty. In these plays of course it was the characters who were uncertain of the source of peril. The modern quirk in it is to have the public uncertain. Since 'Jim the Penman,' the mystery play has been popular.

"The story of 'One Exciting Night' contains much that we did in pictures before. I had done nearly every one of the situations in previous pictures.

"Perhaps this picture appears like a hastily made one. It is the exact opposite. There is no more difficult thing than to put suspense and mystery in the screen. It requires an accuracy of time, the action and a resourcefulness in arranging the scenes that is intently more difficult than any straight drama.

"To make the taking of the picture more trying, we did the majority of the 'interior' scenes in summer, when the thermometer often registered under the lights from 94 to 117 degrees.

"The story is the conflict and most difficult single scene I have ever done in pictures. We had many as three and four hundred workmen preparing for it. The insurance man who was present informed me that the wind storm in which the action takes place, cost a ninety mile gale much of the time and a fifty mile gale in the less violent scenes.

"The trees that overturned weigh tons. I fear to estimate how many. The building that is blown through the air weighs nearly 1,500 pounds. That was estimated by the amount of lumber.

"Personally I think such scenes as the storm scenes are the special province of the film, the first medium that has been able to reproduce this elemental drama that is so tremendous. The action scenes are in us from ten thousand years of memories. A storm is magnificent beauty. It is great drama. How can you compare some picture of the sea with the scene of a tree that has stood for one hundred years steadily against the winds, suddenly being uprooted and tossed away to a drying death. We, of course, like to think our little affairs are important, but there certainly is something affecting in the destruction of a great healthy tree that was in its prime before we were born.

"I like 'One Exciting Night.' I like its comedy. I like several things about it. I like it because I feel that it will take many people out of themselves during the minutes they are seeing it. And anything that does that is worth liking."

ounce that owing to the length and nature of this unusual photodrama it is almost imperative that the spectator see it through from the beginning.

Performances will begin promptly at 12, 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10 and no one will be admitted except at these hours.

OLYMPIC THEATRE MONDAY TO WEDNESDAY

THEODORE ROBERTS, GLORIA SWANSON AND RALPH GRAVES IN THE PARAMOUNT PICTURE 'PRODIGAL DAUGHTERS'

Snappy Sub Titles Prodigal Daughter Olympic Feature

The sub-titles employed in Gloria Swanson's new Sam Wood Paramount picture, "Prodigal Daughters," are strong and powerful—a partial list follows:

New York City, proud metropolis of a thousand brass towers—Civilization's super-Babel of wealth and grandeur, of pomp and power.

There is no longer a Christian world. A hideous tidal wave is sweeping away the sacred ideals of society and its home. Modern manners and morals are battering against the floodgates of civilization. The revered traditions of propriety and conduct are but driftwood on the riotous torrents of evil. This is the age of moral chaos. The day of devastation is at hand!

A Bohemian party of unshackled females with butterfly souls—debutantes in aging gowns—earnest chorus girls with greedy eyes—fashion flappers flittering through flames, attended by aged cavaliers and sleek parlor pythons—bored society idlers and low voiced followers of pleasure—dancing male toads and two-carat emerald puppies.

A modern Garden of Eden where the fruit of the tree is the cup of joy.

All revolutions have had their wild songs of liberty, and today the world rocks with the rhythm of tribal music—barbaric jazz echoing of the jungle and its tom-toms.

"You make the Sheik look like a dumbbell."

"We have been weighed in the balance and found wanting—by a killog."

"If we're leading the world to ruin, let's smash it at once and get a new deal. Off with the old and on with the new!"

"We'll break the whole Ten-Commandments if someone will show us a new way to do it."

"The modern girl needs no defense. She is free, natural and unaffected. She wears natural, unrestricted clothing; and her grace of body is a dream of art come true."

"The woman of the Apocalypse is a dreamer's myth, scoffed at by all."

serious Bible students, and like Dr. Strong's prophecy, is a heritage from the Dark and Middle Ages—sorcery based on superstition and ignorance.

"One sees evidences of a lower standard of morals everywhere in women's immodest styles. In their speech and conduct, the jokes that girls laugh at, the books and plays they revel in and their views about marriage."

A Scene from "QUINCY ADAMS SAWYER"

Many Wonderful Scenes Shown in 'Omar, Tentmaker'

"Omar the Tentmaker," which is scheduled to start a three-day engagement at the Olympic Theatre on Thursday has been hailed as the screen's most colorful offering. Guy Bates Post is the star of the picture, which was produced by Richard Watson Tully and is being released as a First National attraction.

Here are some of the artistic settings it contains:

A rose garden, with fountains splashing in the silvery moonlight—poetic youth and a beautiful maid! The streets of golden Nalshapur, bustling with pilgrims, natives, vendors of everything imaginable, caravans of camels, bands of Bedouins on Arabian steeds—and beggars! A tavern, with bibulous youths roistering in the immortal manner! The mystic Temple of Zoroaster, its altar looming up in the semi-darkness of the interior, its minarets where the musing minstrel chant their call to prayer! The gardens of the governor, with slaves who cry out his slightest wish for his wish is law! The dungeon cells—"the home of ten thousand shadows"—in which the doomed await their execution, or the far greater dread of torture! The potter's shop, emblematic of the seal of the Maker of Mankind, and the clay on the wheel as the mighty Shah of Shahs, whose wealth can buy for his loving maid! The study of the philosopher—post, Omar, the Tentmaker, son of an artisan father, whose manifold talents compose the eternally beloved quatrains and invent a practicable scientific calendar—rooms where scrolls and spheres mingle with astronomical instruments!

to live up to.—Her little fist becomes a jail, her quiver jangles, while Jim's saving instincts seem designed merely to deprive her of a good time.

But Claribel, who is unhappy and envious of Laura's simple life and loving husband, persuades Laura to taste the high life, which makes Laura dissatisfied, with her own humdrum existence. Anxious to weigh in, and without the money, to buy a dress, Laura gets one "on time," intending to return it in the morning after the affair.

The party is wild and unknown to Laura, it is Claribel's own husband who tries to press his attentions on her. Laura escapes, and sleeps late the next morning. Waking, she finds that her children have cut up her costly gown!

Frantically she tries to make good finally taking Jim's savings. When Jim comes home to get the money, to buy a taxi for himself, it is gone. The quarrel, which ensues, sends Laura into the streets, and—into Blanton-Smith's arms.

How this story finishes wouldn't be fair to tell.

'Trailing African Wild Animals' at Strand Thursday

Martin Johnson, well known African hunter, who with Mrs. Johnson spent two years in British East Africa photographing wild animals, has the distinction of being the only man who made the entire trip with Jack London in 1908, on the famous voyage around the world. Mr. Johnson, whose photoplay, "Trailing African Wild Animals," is released by Metro and comes to the Strand Thursday, recently told of his adventurous life in an interview.

"I ran away from home when I was fourteen, and crossed the Atlantic on a cattle boat to England," he began. "For several years I tramped around Europe, living as circumstances made possible. I returned to America as a stowaway. In 1908 I joined Jack London on his famous trip around the world in a little 43-foot skiff. I was the only one who made the entire voyage with him. In two years and three months we covered seventeen groups of islands in the South Seas. I left the party and went on a tour of Australia, making motion pictures for Pathe. I next set sail for Europe and sailed 17,000 miles on a 37-foot schooner.

"We made our pictures and brought it back to the United States. It was released in three sections. The titles were 'Cannibals of the South Seas,' 'Captured by Cannibals' and 'The Borderland of Civilization.' When these were well on their way we returned to the South Sea islands with a moving picture equipment. On this trip we managed to get into the interior of the island of New Guinea, which we consider the most savage island in the world. Our successful invasion of the island was shown in three previous pictures. On the third attempt we were captured by cannibals and rescued by a British man-of-war. Here we secured the pictures which we released under the title of 'Head Hunters of the South Seas.'

"We returned to Australia and made a short trip across the continent. We then left for Borneo, spending two years in penetrating farther into the island than any other white people had hitherto dared. It was here that we made our picture, 'The Adventurers.' Next we visited the Malay states, following that up by a trip to Egypt. During this time I made the picture 'East of Suez,' which came back to America and immediately made arrangements for the picture's release.

"Following this came our recently completed African expedition. During which we visited sections of British East Africa where human beings had never before set foot. We had many exciting experiences photographing every variety of wild animal, and they are shown in my latest picture, 'Trailing African Wild Animals,' released by Metro. 'Mrs. Johnson has never been separated from me for a single day during the 14 years of our married life. She is a better shot than most men, and is not afraid of anything on earth—excepting me and tigers. She likes our nomadic and unusual life as well as I do, and she is just as eager to get back to Africa as I."

Cat as Hunter
PARIS, April 28.—Professor Lepinay, psychology shark, says he's trained a cat to accompany him on hunting trips and that Tabby is as efficient as any hound.

List of Noted Stars Seen in Gem Picture

Through the efforts of Arthur Sawyer of Sawyer-Lubin Pictures organization, which produced the Metro-SL Special "Quincy Adams Sawyer," at the Gem Monday, one of the most notable lists of screen players ever assembled for a single production appears in the film version of Charles Felton Pidgin's famous story.

When the initial preparation were being made or transferring this story of New England life to the screen, Mr. Sawyer announced that he would obtain the most distinguished cast possible. For six weeks he worked with Clarence G. Badger, director of the photoplay, to this end; and as a result secured the services of sixteen players whose names are familiar to every motion picture fan.

Among these sixteen is Blanche Sweet, who returns to the screen after an absence of almost two years. She enacts the leading feminine role, that of Alice Pettigill. John Bowers has the title part; Lon Chaney is seen as Obadiah Strout.

Coin's Toss Wins Nita Naldi Fame With the Movies

The toss of a quarter brought Nita Naldi, the girl which thousands of girls the world over dream of every night—a five-year contract with the largest producing company identified with motion pictures.

Miss Naldi was chosen by Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president in charge of production of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, as the ideal type for the role of Dona Sol, the Spanish vampire in "Blood and Sand." She was told she could have the part but that she would have to go to Hollywood to make the picture.

Now Miss Naldi is a New York girl, born and reared in the metropolis—and brought up on the bright lights of Broadway, entering her theatrical career through the chorus. Hollywood didn't seem to appeal to her, yet she wanted the job. So she tossed a quarter. Heads she would go to the coast, tails she would stay in New York. The quarter dropped on the floor heads up and thereby hangs this tale.

"I have no more superlatives than a Spanish peasant," explained Miss Naldi, "and I guess that is how it happened to toss the quarter." On the turn of the coin Miss Naldi played the role of "Dona Sol," created a sensation in it, and was given a five-year contract to play in Paramount pictures. Her first appearance since her success in "Blood and Sand" will be in an important character part in support of Alice Brady in "Anna Ascends," which comes to the Empress theater next Monday and Tuesday. An unusually fine cast of players was chosen for this production.

Hymen, in classical mythology, was the god of marriage; the original meaning of the word being "bridal song."

Can Modern Girl In Safety Shatter The Social Code?

In the modern, up-to-the-minute, emancipated, unfettered and untrammelled girl overdoing it? Can she carry her own latchkey, smoke cigarettes, keep late hours, ignore the conventions, smash the old ideals without at the same time smashing herself?

Or, in another way of putting it: Is the so-called "bold girl" necessarily a "bad girl"? A great many women leaders are beginning to suffer uneasy qualms and ask themselves this question: What is the answer? In "Prodigal Daughters," a Sam Wood Paramount production with Gloria Swanson as the star, which comes to the Olympic theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the answer is a smashing surprise that will make the audience gasp.

A frenzy of extravagance in which the thoroughly liberated woman of today is shown plunging full tilt into the maelstrom of reckless behavior, is followed by a climax that is unique in motion picture production.

Gloria Swanson as "Swiftie" Forbes, the young woman who seeks a new way to "break the Ten Commandments" is shown in a role strikingly different from anything she has attempted heretofore. Ralph Graves, regarded by many as one of the handiest actors on the screen, and playing opposite Miss Swanson, gives an effective presentation of the young man who elings to clean ideals and fights to preserve them. Finally, there is Theodore Roberts, veteran character actor, who is excellent as the successful and "lamey" head of a family that has, somehow, grown too modern for his old-fashioned understanding.

WOMEN HAVE PROMINENT PLACE IN THE GERMAN REICHSTAG

THEY NUMBER THIRTY FIVE AND REPRESENT ALL OF PARTIES NOW ACTIVE IN POLITICS OF NATION

Who They Are and What They Are—Teachers, Students, Socialists and Communists—From the Washtub to the Reichs-Council—A Visit to Parliament and a Talk With a Woman Chairman of a Congressional Committee—The Republic May Have a Woman President—No Sex in Brains—The New Woman in Germany and How She is Taking the Place of the Man.

CARPENTER'S WORLD TRAVELS.

BERLIN, GERMANY.—I have spent today in the Reichstag and my guide was a woman. Her name is Frau Dr. Schreiber and she is one of the live, active members of the new congress of the German Republic.

F. G. Carpenter

The Reichstag has four hundred and sixty-nine members, and of these thirty-five put up their hair on the back of their heads and wear petticoats. Their petticoats are short, however, and they wear common-sense shoes. They stand firm on their feet and walk with a swing. They are not figure-heads in the work of the chamber. They have places on almost all the committees and their voices are often heard on the floor. They represent every one of the many national parties. Two belong to the democrats, eight to the independent socialists, two to the communists, two to the Bavarian people's party, three to the German Catholic party and thirteen to the social democrats, who have, altogether, one hundred and eight members in the Reichstag.

Who They Are

All of these women are independent thinkers and the men look on them as coming up from the ranks. Of the whole number, only three have had a complete university education and two of these are Democrats. The three members of the German People's Party, one owns a factory and she is a good business woman, one has been divorced and has married again, and two were the teachers and principals of schools before they were elected to congress. Of the eight independent socialists, Gertrud Baumer is a well-known advocate of woman's rights and of woman's education, and Dr. Marie Leodora has long been at the head of movements for women. I am told there is one woman who served her term in a factory before she came to the Reichstag. The other three-fourths as much as the men, although in the Civil Service both sexes are paid the same salaries, if they hold the same position. For example, a married woman could not be a public school teacher, but by a new law she is admitted to every profession to which a man is admitted. She is even becoming president of the republic, in which she has the advantage of her sister of the Reichstag, in that she is married, single. It would be fine to have a bachelor maid in the white house. Indeed, they say that the young women are now getting acquainted in the college-bred girl than in one who is less educated, for they see in the former a possible future as a woman or high government official.

The Union of German Women's Societies

The Union of German Women's Societies has 250,000 members. It is the largest organization of its kind in the world. It has a place on the film censorship, and is pushing the movement to prohibit the sale of alcoholic liquors. It is also interested in the prohibition of alcohol. The women of the Red Cross also have a large organization, and there are many other associations of women in Germany.

Inside the Reichstag

But come with me to the Reichstag and see the new German stateswomen at work. We have walked through the Tiergarten, the great park in the heart of Berlin, and have climbed the sandstone steps of the gorgeous Parliament building. It covers more than three acres, and cost about the same as our National Library. We enter the bronze doorway by a compass of a soldier with 30 brass buttons on his blue coat and are directed by him to a messenger, also greatly befuddled, who leads us into a great dome lighted by a wheel of electric lights as big around as a haystack. The floor is covered with a red velvet carpet and a question of center place a huge statue of the old Kaiser, Wilhelm I, while paintings of German victories hang on the walls. It is here that we meet Frau Dr. Schreiber, the member of congress who is to show us the beautiful hall after another I comment on the splendour of the building.

In the German Parliament

Going on through lobby after lobby, we entered the gallery of the hall where congress was sitting. It is about as large as our house of representatives, and has the same rectangular shape. Its ceiling is of glass and iron, 50 feet above the floor where the members sit in concentric rows behind desks. The speaker has his chair on a high shelf at the back of the hall, and below him are the secretaries who act as scribes as it were, deciding the vote and taking the minutes. There are six secretaries and two of these are women. One sees the women members scattered here and there throughout the chamber. Each party has its own women and I am told that the members of a party are regarded as a whole and not as individuals. The women of each party insist on having representation of their sex among the candidates, and so every party elected must have its women members. When the women speak they go to a little rostrum, in front of a pulpit, and the secretaries are so good that they can easily make themselves heard. The men speak from the same place, and the women, in answer, in almost every respect like the men. They are live, active factors. They have a say in the work of the parties to which they belong and are in almost every committee. Many of them are good educators. They are all patriotic, and are bound to form a strong element in the Germany of the future.

Frau Dr. Schreiber, the leader of her sex in the Social Democratic party, is a remarkable woman. She was born in Vienna, she became a German by marriage and for years has been a live figure in the intellectual life of the country. She is a journalist, and was the editor of a Woman's Suffrage paper when she was elected to congress in 1920. She has won the honor of being the only woman chairman of an important committee. She is connected, also, with the most important of the suffrage movements of the republic.

woman is physically and intellectually the equal of man, and that her intuitions and reasoning powers enable her to deal quite as well with all public and domestic questions. Just now many important matters of legislation relate to domestic questions and they especially affect the interests of the people of our time to such subjects. We have the highest cost of living, the housing conditions, child welfare, education, and other such things in which we women are vitally interested and in which we can think as straight and decide as well as the men. Just now the economic situation here is one of life and death and it overshadows all other. If Germany were as it was before the war, we could devote ourselves more to the betterment of the social and moral life of the community, but today the great question is how to exist in the terrible strain which has been forced upon us.

The Future

"But can you continue to exist?" I asked. "What is to be the future of Germany?" "Dear Mr. Carpenter," replied Frau Dr. Schreiber, "if I could answer that question I would be the greatest woman in the world. The chief trouble with us here in Germany is that we are not masters of our fate. The decision as to things that will affect us is taken out of our hands. We are at the mercy of—I will not say our enemies—but of other nations, and our future depends upon them. I do not like that word 'enemies.' I like to think of the world as one, and to believe that in the bottom of their hearts all other peoples are really sympathetic with us. But as long as we can have no independent action it is difficult for us to do anything towards the betterment of ourselves in the future, and I might say, also, for the betterment of the world."

Frank G. Carpenter

The German baby crop is not only larger than France's says Mr. Carpenter, but is yielding a larger percentage of boys than girls. In his letter next Sunday he tells how desperately the Germans are trying to save their little ones.

CITY NATIONAL BOARD ADOPTS RESOLUTION ON DEATH OF O. T. BACON

Resolutions on the death of O. T. Bacon, for some years a director of the City National Bank, were adopted at a recent meeting of the directors of that institution, as follows: O. T. Bacon, a Kentuckian by birth, a Texan by adoption, lived for almost forty years in the city of Wichita Falls.

of Wichita Falls. He was a pioneer friend than O. T. Bacon. The stockholders and directors have at all times recognized that fact, and in his last days, when he requested that he be relieved, the stockholders in recognition of his long and faithful adherence to this organization, and as a final compliment to this local friend, re-elected him as a director, which position he held at the time of his death. Therefore, he is resolved by the board of directors of the City National Bank of Wichita Falls, Texas, that this testimonial be spread upon the records of this bank, and a copy of it furnished to his devoted wife and son, and that we record the high esteem in which he was held in his last days, when he requested that he be relieved, the stockholders in recognition of his long and faithful adherence to this organization, and as a final compliment to this local friend, re-elected him as a director, which position he held at the time of his death.

It was always a devoted husband and father, and a truly home-loving man and neighbor. For almost thirty years he was a director of the City National Bank of this city, and this bank never had a more steadfast or a more loyal member.

Now It's Marathon Dancing; Bring On The Revolution

BY WILL MOGERS

Well, the baseball season opened up for New York. Boston and Brooklyn put on their uniforms every afternoon, too.

New York broke the record with a crowd of 73 thousand people at a game. They have the largest grounds in the country. They had to make them large so they would hold all the Policemen. Counting the Policemen, there was easily a hundred thousand at the game. If you go to anything in New York, no matter if you pay 50 cents or 5 dollars, there will be a Policeman standing just in front of you.

This all happened on a Wednesday, a Matinee day; everything of any importance always happens on a day when we have to work in the Theater. I'll bet that when the World comes to an end it will be on a Matinee day and I will miss it.

I am trying to hold this article back as late as I can so I can tell you all who is the latest long distance dancer. There is a magnificent sport! What a proud feeling it must be for a fond Mother to point out her young hopeful daughter as "The longest winded dancer in the U. S." We only have one other degree of insanity which compares with it in this country and that is the filibusters that are held in the Senate and Congress at Washington. They sometimes go on for days talking, but, of course, we don't expect any more of them. But these girls that are doing this dancing seem from their pictures to be normal in ever other respect. It just shows you what this generation is coming to. I'll bet you the time ain't far off when a Woman won't know any more than a man.

Now I see a lot in the paper where they have investigated and found that this is a kind of a man that has happened for generations back to this continuous dancing thing. They say it always happens just before a Revolution. Now that is a wonderful thing; just think what a relief a revolution would be after a sleep of this dancing. Why, a revolution would be a blessing, following one of those things. So, after all, nature kinder events things up.

Married women haven't taken it up yet, as it would take too much time away from shooting their husbands.

Well, we have had quite a bit of excitement here in New York. Some bird in the state Legislature up at Albany accused the Police Commissioner of New York City of being the biggest Bootlegger in the United States. Now the Police Commissioner is suing this fellow for one hundred thousand dollars for flattery. Both Political Parties are kinder looking for a Candidate for the Presidency, and, if this Commissioner can prove that he is the biggest Bootlegger in the U. S., why there is your Presidential Candidate, right there.

There was another terrible thing happened here last week, too. Mr. Chas. Murphy, the Leader of all Tammany Hall Democrats—well, it seems that, during the War, a gang of low principled persons inveigled him into a scheme. He didn't know what it was. (He is just a big-hearted, trusting fellow.) Well, after they got him into it, he found out that it was a money making scheme. They were going to sell Glisac, or something, to make Beer out of, to the English Government. Well, naturally, the minute he saw what it was (being a good Irishman naturally he wouldn't want to skin the British Government out of a cent) he pulled right out of it. It only shows you never know who to trust nowadays. He thought, of course, that it was some Charitable organization he was lending his name to. Come to think of it, I'll bet you there is a lot of big men in Public Life get led into things like that, only maybe they are not as lucky as he was, to get out before they could give him any money.

I see where the Supreme Court of the United States decided that Women of the District of Columbia were not entitled to a living wage. It's the law in a lot of States. Some time the United States Government will annex that District. If they don't some other Nation will. I'll bet you there is a lot of big men in Public Life get led into things like that, only maybe they are not as lucky as he was, to get out before they could give him any money.

Of course, if these Chester people can get this Mandate over the District, the first thing they would do would be to get that Capitol out of there. Now, over in Turkey, when they take over these towns, the biggest problem they have is to rid the town of these bands of stray scavenger Dogs, who just wander around and live off the Town. Now that is the same condition they would be up against in Washington. They would have to police the streets and get rid of these stray scavenger Dogs, who just wander around and live off the Town. That would be their big sanitary problem—getting all those out of the way. The Harem System which prevails in Turkey is pretty well established in the District already, and would need very little encouragement to ever outlive Asia Minor.

Get all those Foreign Legations out of there. They are only underselling honest Bootleggers because they have no overhead at all. A foreign Government don't need to send a Diplomat to represent them any more; all they need to send is a Bartender.

Get Clark Griffith's Ball team out of there. They have been there 20 Years, and if you can't learn to play ball in that time you never will.

Now that is my scheme to get you people of the District into the

"It just shows what we are coming to. Bet you the time ain't far off when a woman won't know any more than a man."

U. S. by the way of a Chester Concession. Get him to get you so you can vote. It won't take long for him to learn you. All you have to do to vote is just check your Brains on the way to the Polls and then go cast your ballot.

The Supreme Court was divided almost in half on the decision. Talk about an International Court. How could we ever agree with a lot of Foreigners when we can't even agree among our own judges.

Well, I see where England is having another Royal Wedding. Americans are flocking over there to try and see it. That is one thing I will say for England—she is not mercenary. If she wanted to, she could charge Americans to get in to see these weddings and make enough to pay off their National Debt. That is the unfortunate thing about this Country, we have rich people over here who would pay to get into purgatory if they knew they were not waited in there. They are kinder worried about the Prince of Wales; he stands up with all these others that are making the leap but they can't get him to say, "I Do." Now, you mind what I tell you, there is a Young man that has got away above the average intelligence of those Kings, and a whole lot of Commoners.

Then another wedding over there last week that I was mighty glad to see was that of Matilda McCormick and Max Oser. That will relieve us reading about them every day now. He is the Livery Stable keeper that struck Oil. She is a very sweet appearing young girl. She used to come to the Show in Chicago last spring and good naturedly laugh at my little Jokes on her prospective Husband, the best of which was, "Miss McCormick says she has looked all over this Country but she can't find any one who compares to her Max. Well, I doubt if we have anybody in this country old fashioned enough to run a Livery Stable."

See where Princess Yolanda of Italy grabbed her off a commoner just on account of his Horsemanship. Maybe that's why the Prince of Wales is trying to learn to ride.

I tell you it is a great year for Horsemen. I have been displaying my ability around here thinking maybe I might land something worth while. But, up to now, all I have to show for it is a split lip trying to digest an opponent's Polo Mallet. Then once I fell off, but fortunately hit on my head and there was no hurt. So, take it all in all, the Prince and I both have had rather a disastrous and unsuccessful season.

Guess Mr. Harding is going to Alaska. I see where the Governor up there has made an appropriation to clear off the snow and put 'a Links. They are painting the balls Black, so on days that it goes snow, the day won't be entirely lost.

BUILDING PERMITS FOR 4 MONTHS PASS TOTAL OF MILLION

For the first four months of the current year the building program for Wichita Falls amounted to $1,618,000 against $1,000,000 for a similar period of the previous year. During the month of April, 1923, permits more than doubling the amount issued during the first four months of 1922, were granted from the office of the city clerk. In April, 1923, building permits totaling $1,875,785 were issued while in April, 1922, only $284,450 was spent for building in this city.

During the past week permits issued from the office of the city clerk amounted to $494,915. Fourteen permits were granted and with only one exception the permits were for the construction or improvement of residence property. Permits were issued to the following during the week ending April 25:

- C. M. Wagner, Fairview addition, repairs on residence, $200.
- A. B. Pitts, 1297 Eighth, repairs on residence, $200.
- Howard Weaver, 1561 Garfield, 4-room frame residence, $1,000.

Prodigal Promises Cannot Create Merit

Which is the "Best by Test" Gas Range sold in America?
Which uses the least fuel—responds most quickly and lasts the longest?
Attend demonstration next Wednesday and judge from the evidence—yourself.

That's Why We Say YOU FOLKS ARE ENTITLED TO IT!

Why Not Have It Now?

Compare the range you are using with this advanced product of art. Do the feed pipe and valves extend beyond the front of your range? Do unsightly pipes extend across the front or sides? Is the oven using too much gas? Does the broiler perform as a broiler should? Does it take too long to heat the oven? Entirely aside from the extra time and labor, consider the excessive expense of fuel waste.

Costs Less to Operate!

The Round Oak Gas Ranges, produced in variety of sizes, styles and trims actually cost less to operate because the oven is heated by a patented process which circulates and radiates the heat from all four sides—responds more quickly and requires less gas.

ROUND OAK GAS RANGES

Very Special Terms Will Be Given Refreshment Will Be Served Friday Afternoon

The baking top is larger, all valves and feed pipes are within the straight line front and yet the eighteen-inch range requires no more space than the standard sixteen-inch of other makes which do not possess these unusual conveniences. This means money saved every day, every week, every month throughout all the coming years. Could there be any more logical reason why this matter should be investigated promptly?

Request the large catalog which is free. Ask to see the range demonstrated. It will be attractively priced by

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

ANOTHER NEW HIGH RECORD IN AUTOMOBILE PRODUCTION IS SET BY FACTORIES DURING APRIL

By ROY C. HAYES
Universal Service Special Correspondent.

DETROIT, April 28.—When the industry closes their books for April, Monday night, another string of production, sales and shipping records will supplant those made up at the close of March business, which shattered every record. April output should exceed the March record of 348,000 by nearly 15,000, according to the present rate of production.

Max production schedules already arranged indicate that the coming month will witness a slightly greater output than April. Optimism reigns as orders continue to pour in. Not one manufacturer interviewed during the week sees any slowing down during the next few months. Production will continue at the present levels for nearly four months according to executive opinion. Facts as well as logic support the view when urban sales records a bit, as they may around June 15 farmers will just be getting ready to buy. The farm now looks like the most fertile field for automobile sales and with fine crops in prospect, a very sizable demand is expected from rural districts in August.

Nothing developed in the way of price changes during the week. Opinion voiced two weeks ago by this observer in regard to the price situation is being shared by a great many executives. No general increase in prices is looked for in the near future. A very few increases are expected during the coming month including a low priced car which will be advanced May 1.

No change is noted in the labor and material market. An acute shortage of plate glass is hampering production of closed cars to some extent. As is usually the case at this time of the year drive ways are playing a big part in the delivery of cars. Nearly all deliveries within a 500 mile radius of the factories are going over the roads.

Manufacturers of cars selling for more than $1000 are displaying special interest in the four wheel brakes and I am told by at least two executives that the majority of the better cars will be so equipped next year. The safety factor dominating the trend.

Discussion of "eight-in-line" engines is common in motor circles. With Packard, Cadillac and Paige mentioned as those who may try the newer type. These firms like other progressive manufacturers are doing extensive research work constantly and the fact that some may be experimenting with a new type is of course no reason to suppose that they will go into production on it.

Cadillac, I am told, does not contemplate the "eight-in-line" engine. Officials of the company are well satisfied with the V-type eight cylinder principle.

Beginning Tuesday Ford will start on a daily production schedule of 6250 cars and trucks which will be maintained during May. Production during the week ended Tuesday night was 22,513 cars and trucks. Daily production during May will be about 154 cars and trucks more than during April. Lincoln production for the week ended Tuesday evening was 139 cars. May schedule calls for a daily output of 137 cars. Hickenbacker with a daily output of 42 cars has reached a new high mark.

Maxwell smashed all records for a single day's shipments April 21 when 543 cars left the plant. Dodge Brothers set a new high daily production record April 22 with a total of 124 cars and commercial vehicles. Daily output now averages 730 cars. Old April sales are running 33 per cent better than March, the best previous month.

Buick continues to set a record pace. Orders on hand are the greatest in the history of the company.

Look or Comfort In Choosing Car For Tourist Trip

"As the warm days approach, people are beginning to plan motoring trips and vacations. One of the most important considerations is the car on a long motor ride, especially for the driver," declared R. A. Ebner of the Overland Motors last week.

"Amply leg room makes a long trip a joyous occasion and seats that have a comfortable tilt invite absolute relaxation and rest. These qualifications are combined in the Overland cars to a marked degree," Mr. Ebner stated.

"The Overland car is a most completely equipped machine with a sturdy, high speed motor, completely enclosed and protected from dirt and mud. It is further equipped with demountable rims, speedometer, rubber floor mat and sloping ventilating windshield.

"Other desirable features include the Auto-Lite system of ignition with starter, and a specially built, tastefully designed weather proof top and curtains that open with the doors.

"The all steel body which is unusual in case of this price adds to the beauty, riding comfort and safety.

"A combination of comfort, pleasure and good looks the Overland is a mighty safe choice," Mr. Ebner believes.

NEW 'ANTI-KNOCK' GASOLINE MIXTURE TO BE MARKETING

General Motors Corporation has organized a subsidiary, "General Motors Chemical Company," which will market through gasoline filling stations, refiners and large distributors of gasoline what is essentially a modified type of gasoline.

This new type of gasoline contains an "anti-knock" compound which has been developed by the General Motors Research Corporation at Dayton, Ohio.

Every motorist is familiar with the fact that when present automobiles are pulling under load, and especially at low speeds, as for instance up hills in high gear, there is a tendency for the engine to knock or detonate, which decreases the power. This new "anti-knock" compound tends to eliminate the knock, materially improves the performance of the engine and makes a smoother running engine.

TIRES WITH 500 NAIL HOLES LEAK NO AIR

Mr. V. A. Millburn of Chicago has invented a new puncture-proof inner tube, which, in actual test, was punctured 500 times without the loss of air. Increases your mileage from 10,000 to 12,000 miles without removing this wonderful tube from the wheel, and the beauty of it is that the new puncture-proof tube costs no more than the ordinary tube, and makes riding a real pleasure. You can write Mr. V. A. Millburn at 233 West Forty-Seventh St., Chicago, as he wants them introduced everywhere. Wonderful opportunity for agents. If interested write him today.—adv.

Says Much Can Be Saved by Caring For Tire Properly

"There is always a proper and improper way of doing everything," was the recent comment of E. V. Lesley, local Federal Tire dealer. "This applies particularly to the tire business. We are always glad to help any purchaser of tires to find out the correct way so that he may be able to get much greater mileage and satisfaction from both tubes and casing."

"One of the most important things to watch in putting new tubes into your casing is to see that they are not pinched under the tire."

"A sure way to prevent this is to inflate the tube slightly before inserting it into the casing. Always use the correct size of tire for the casing. Another thing to be careful of is that there is no dirt, sand or small stones in the casing. It should be seen that it is perfectly clean. Any dirt or grit will quickly cut the inner tube. Always see that the inside of the casing is dry. Dust in some soapstone, but not too much. Otherwise the soapstone will only be applied to cut the tube where too much is used."

"One thing to be remembered about the proper care of tires is that when a tire shows the slightest sign of giving away or develops a cut in the tread, take it immediately to an expert tire repair man. Very often if it has not penetrated to the fabric it may easily be made as good as new by the tread gum."

"These cuts if not given the proper attention, allow sand and water to accumulate under the tread and work into the tire between the tread and fabric. These are called sand blisters and often end in a blowout in a tire which is in perfect condition otherwise."

"Purchase tires which fit the rims of your car. The motorist should always bear in mind that there are many different kinds of rims and to get the greatest mileage his tires must be made properly, to fit snugly in a tire which is applied to the type of rim for which they are intended."

"One of the surest ways to shorten the life of a tire is continued driving in deep ruts and another bad practice is driving in the ruts of old tires. It will mean many added miles to the life of a tire if, when it is absolutely necessary, drive in these places the car be kept in the center as much as possible and get out of them altogether at the first opportunity."

Hudson Increases Enclosed Output Now 75 Per Cent

"The Hudson Motor Car Company is putting out over 75 per cent of its production in enclosed cars," Lloyd Weaver stated last week. "No other company in the industry is specializing on enclosed cars to such an extent," he declared.

"Although they are light, Hudson and Essex coaches are among the staunchest and strongest enclosed models made. One pleasing feature is the absence of the 'rattle' sometimes heard in heavier enclosed cars."

"This lightness is a big advantage. They are free from the sluggishness of a heavier closed style and are more economical in operation."

"Salesmen and other business travelers are especially pleased with the Essex cabriolet, which is

That comfortable feeling of safety is one of the prime factors in the Packard owner's deep satisfaction.

Such complete reliance is something that money alone cannot buy. For back of the product itself, there must be experience, tried engineering skill, and the highest manufacturing ideals.

A safe car must have brakes of the utmost efficiency. Packard Single-Six brakes operate with the minimum of effort. There is positive action without jerking or screeching, whether running light or fully loaded.

As with brakes, so with every other part. Standards of safety built into the Single-Six have been developed through twenty-four years of practical experience in which every engineering and structural feature has been put to the severest possible test.

PACKARD

THE MOTORISTS' PROBLEMS

By WILLIAM M. STEWART, JR.

Motor Department: When I try to light my side lamps on my Hudson coach, I hear a humming sound under the cover and the lights refuse to light. How can this be remedied?—B. L.

There is a short circuit or ground in the side lights. You must trace out the wires and locate the trouble. Once you have found the defective wire, then a little fire tape will overcome the trouble.

Motor Department: Would a 12 volt battery crank a motor. Will it light car better in cold weather. If so what size should I buy and how is it connected?—G.V.N.H.

A large six volt battery or two six volt batteries in parallel will help some.

Motor Department: What is the need of shock absorbers on a car with proper spring suspension? Which do you consider the best shock absorber on the market?—T. S.

The springs vibrate back and forth and the function of the shock absorber is to prevent excessive vibration. It improves the spring action of any car. As will be readily understood, we cannot pass on the merits or demerits of any device on the market.

Motor Department: Please let me know through your paper the best way to adjust the brakes on a Dodge car.—W.V.E.

Jack up both rear axles and see that each wheel turns freely. Then adjust each brake until the wheels lock when the brake is fully applied. Make sure that the brake engagement is equalized, so that the pressure on each wheel is equal. If one brake holds and the other does not, the car will skid. With an equalized braking effect, the tire wear will be lessened and the tendency to skid reduced to a minimum.

Motor Department: I have a 1923 Ford. When I go between 15 and 25 miles per hour there is a click that comes from the motor. What do you think it is and how could it be remedied?—READER.

A noise of this kind should be located by a mechanic while the car is operated under conditions to create the noise. Take a mechanic out with you and let him observe the engine while you drive. There are so many possible causes for a click of this sort that it is not advisable to guess at it.

Motor Department: In there any method of removing old grease from the differential of an old Ford without taking it apart?—C. N.

Place about a pint of kerosene in the case and operate the car for an hour or so. This mixes with the stiff grease around the sides and bottom and softens it so that it will run out. Refill with kerosene and operate another hour on level roads, as kerosene makes a poor lubricant. Drain and refill. After the third cleaning it should be drained thoroughly and filled with transmission grease to the usual level.

Motor Department: My car consumes three times as much gasoline as it used to, and if the oil gets low the engine develops a knock and weakens in climbing a hill. If filled full of oil there seems nothing wrong with it. Yet there must be something as it did not have this trouble until recently. Can you tell me the cause?—L. O.

There must be a leak somewhere, as you could not consume such an excessive amount without carbonizing the cylinders. Evidently there is a leak at some point when engine is working. This should be stopped immediately.

Motor Department: I have a four-cylinder car, compression perfect, cylinders smooth, rings fit fine. Climbs hills throttled down, can pull through sand on high, but oil gets by rings and out of exhaust without burning. Smokes when idle or slow; when up to 25 miles an hour, but oil comes out just the same. Spark plug wet with oil. Am using a medium grade oil, but changing all does not seem to help trouble.—E.A.H.

Try a heavier grade of oil. Also lower the oil level in crank case if possible. You might change the connecting rod oil dipper slightly to reduce the amount of oil reaching the cylinders.

Motor Department: The gasoline tank on my car is badly rusted inside. Is there a preparation that can be floated over the inside surface to cover the rust and prevent it from scaling off and entering the fuel and gas pipes? Thanking you in anticipation of your good advice.—J. M.

There is no preparation of this kind that we know of. Have your local tinmith clean the tank for you. Perhaps he can open up the connecting rod oil dipper slightly to remove much of the scale and rust.

Motor Department: I have a 1923 Buick. Drive it a month, took it to the service station and they said that I had sloppy pistons. They put in new pistons for me. What I want to know is this: In No. 1 piston the spark plug gets full of oil and fouls on me. After it gets warmed up it runs fine. It has been to the service station about every two weeks since. They cannot stop it from getting the plug. Can you advise me in any way? Maybe I can tell them what to do. It is just one plug that gets dirty and the oil that it uses until put in new pistons.—C. J.

See that the compression in No. 1 cylinder is good. Just as good as any of the other cylinders which give you no trouble. If the compression is good then try a new spark plug. Use only the Buick type plug. If the oil continues to pass the piston, then you may find it necessary to install a new piston and new rings. Of course the cylinder is scored or out of true, it will need repairing. Perhaps you can cut down the supply of oil to the cylinder by reducing that part of the connecting rod which picks up the oil from the crank case.

HELPFUL HINTS

Watch out for end play in the cam shafts. Many "knocks" can be traced to this point of the engine. Especially is this true where slight tooth gears are used.

Don't continue to crank your engine with the starting motor if it does not start after a few revolutions. Something is wrong with the ignition system or the carburetor. Locate and remedy the trouble before again cranking the engine.

Turning the engine over under such conditions will not help you start, on the other hand, it will exhaust the battery if continued for any length of time.

An engine should not be permitted to labor even if it can be kept going. When running very slowly the sudden blows of the explosions acting against the resistance of the slow-moving crankshaft set up tremendous stresses that are as dangerous as they are necessary.

Adjustments made on the engine while it is cold seldom are satisfactory in actual operation. The engine heats up when running and the metal expands with the warmth. It is best to make the adjustments when the engine is hot.

Some engines have spring tension on the forward end of cam shaft to absorb the thrust. You may find this spring too weak to prevent end motion and a resultant knock at certain engine speeds. While overhauling the timing drive be sure to eliminate all possible causes of trouble.

BATTERIES LIFE DEPENDS PROPER CARE SAYS RANDLE

"You wouldn't start to take a crowd to the ball game with a nickle in your purse, would you?" asked C. C. Randle last week.

"Well, it is just as foolish to start out with a car that has a battery down as to start out with a purse in your pocket that is almost empty," he declared.

"Too many people think that a battery man is just trying to do them out of another dollar when he says the battery in their car needs recharging. Because it will start the car they believe it is all right and go on until they are caught in an emergency and this practice is mighty hard on a battery, too."

"The troubles of any reliable battery are caused by car owners' carelessness. If they would follow the instructions laid down to them when a new battery is purchased, they would get two or three times as much service out of a battery."

Mr. Randle declares that the Faith battery which made its first appearance at the automobile show a year ago, has built up an enviable reputation in this short time. This is due to the fact that only the highest grade of materials are used in its construction, which enables this product to stand up to the tremendous strain to which any battery is subjected.

Ferguson City, New Oil Town, Ferguson City is a new oil town only three weeks old, located one mile south of the Freeman-Mampton pool. A switch and depot are going to be put in and the town site is located in proven dry territory, although surrounded by oil pools, which makes it a good commercial center. The town already has a dance hall, four restaurants, one butcher shop, two grocery stores, one filling station, two barber shops, one tailor shop and one bath house. There is no rooming house or hotel at present but a tent colony has sprung up. Come out and see the newest thriving oil town in North Texas.—adv.

The entire week beginning Monday morning, April 30, will be utilized by Judge P. A. Martin of the 5th district court for the trial of criminal cases now on the docket of the court.

Roland Treglode, charged with manufacturing whiskey in the first case to be called for trial Monday morning, followed by a case in which Mrs. Edith Barry stands charged with sale of intoxicants. E. C. Arbuckle will again be tried immediately after the Barry case on the charge of burglary. He was tried during the past week but the jury failed to agree.

The cases against Mrs. Roy A. Taylor and Roy A. Taylor in which they stand charged with violations of the Deam act, will also be called for trial some time during the week.

JURORS WHO FAIL TO REPORT STAND LIABLE TO FINE

Judge E. W. Napier of the 17th district court, to whom members of the jury panel for the week must report on Monday morning, issued a decree last Monday which will make all jurors who do not report hereafter liable to a fine from the court.

Last Monday morning a comparatively small number of the jurors summoned reports to the court for duty. The panel was an exceedingly small one. It was this time that Judge Napier stated that hereafter jurors who were summoned who failed to report would be fined.

Just what fine will be imposed will depend on circumstances without a doubt. In federal court which convened here five weeks ago, the fine was $10 for failure to report.

William Jennings Bryan's Weekly Bible Talk
Samuel's Last Counsel to His People
By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

In Samuel, judge and prophet, we have one of the most beautiful characters in the Old Testament; and in our brief review of his life this morning we shall consider three great lessons that his life holds for twentieth-century men and women everywhere.

First, let us consider the power of a mother's prayer. Hannah, the mother of Samuel, was a devout woman, one of the few wives of Eli. She longed for a man-child that she might consecrate him to the service of Jehovah, but she was childless and advanced in age.

When she went up with her husband to Shiloh to make the annual sacrifice, she prayed the prayer which the Lord heard, and she was answered.

Prayers innumerable have ascended to the throne of God for the sons of men, but in the prayers of Hannah we find the most precious factor.

What else can one do that is so valuable as to contribute a human life to the world and then so direct it to make it the most precious kind.

There is no influence so lasting as that which passes from one heart to another, running like an electric current through the veins of the race.

From that day Samuel grew stronger in the Lord's service and became one of the greatest of the prophets of Israel.

Old King Tut's Foresight Old King Tutankhamen believed in keeping his valuables in a safe place at all times. His jewels and other valuables were placed in his hidden tomb and the latter sealed so that marauding bands should never find them. And fully 3,000 years elapsed without the hiding place being discovered. You people of today don't have to go to the trouble the Egyptians did. For a small sum annually your valuables will rest securely in a Safety Deposit Box behind the strong walls of this institution—safe from fire, theft and destruction. Why not rent one today?
