Great Demonstration Is Staged at Moscow Protest British Note

INVESTIGATION OF LETTERS STARTLES NEW YORK SOCIETY

NINE FAMILIES BROKEN UP BY MYSTERIOUS "POISON PEN"

OTHERS PROMINENT ARE IN AN INSANE ASYLUM

One Man Dead From Shock As a Result of Activities Past Ten Years.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Nine New York society families have broken up, one man dead from shock, and a score of other prominent persons in the insane asylums—this is the price paid by society for the satisfaction of a ring of human vultures got out of writing 147 "poison pen" letters through a period of 10 years.

MOSCOW, May 12.—All Moscow stories and government institutions were closed this morning to permit the employees to take part in a great demonstration against the British note. Surging crowds early began to fill the streets of the city. The intent of the demonstrators seemed to be peaceful, but it appeared evident to make the demonstration an impressive one.

Deputy Foreign Minister Genetsky's declaration to the Moscow council of trade unions yesterday that although Russia is willing to confer with Great Britain over the differences between the two countries, she "cannot accept such an ultimatum" as was set forth by Lord Curzon, is taken here as an indication of the trend of official opinion toward the British note. Genetsky told the council that the soviet government desired no break with Great Britain. "We say to England," he asserted, "let us talk the matter over. But do not dictate."

Genetsky's statement that "Russia is against those who want to assuage her" found a reaction in the resolution passed by the council announcing that Russia is ready if necessary to respond with armed force to those who try to infringe upon her independence.

The starkest revelation is brought to light by District Attorney Banton of New York county in connection with the indictment of George Maxwell, president of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers and American agent for an Italian operatic publishing house, for being the author of the letters.

Maxwell, it is thought, is just one of the men involved in the ring. Picture a group of well to do, middle aged men, many of them the respected members of conservative and aristocratic clubs of this city, men admitted to the homes of the wealthy and accepted as "first citizens."

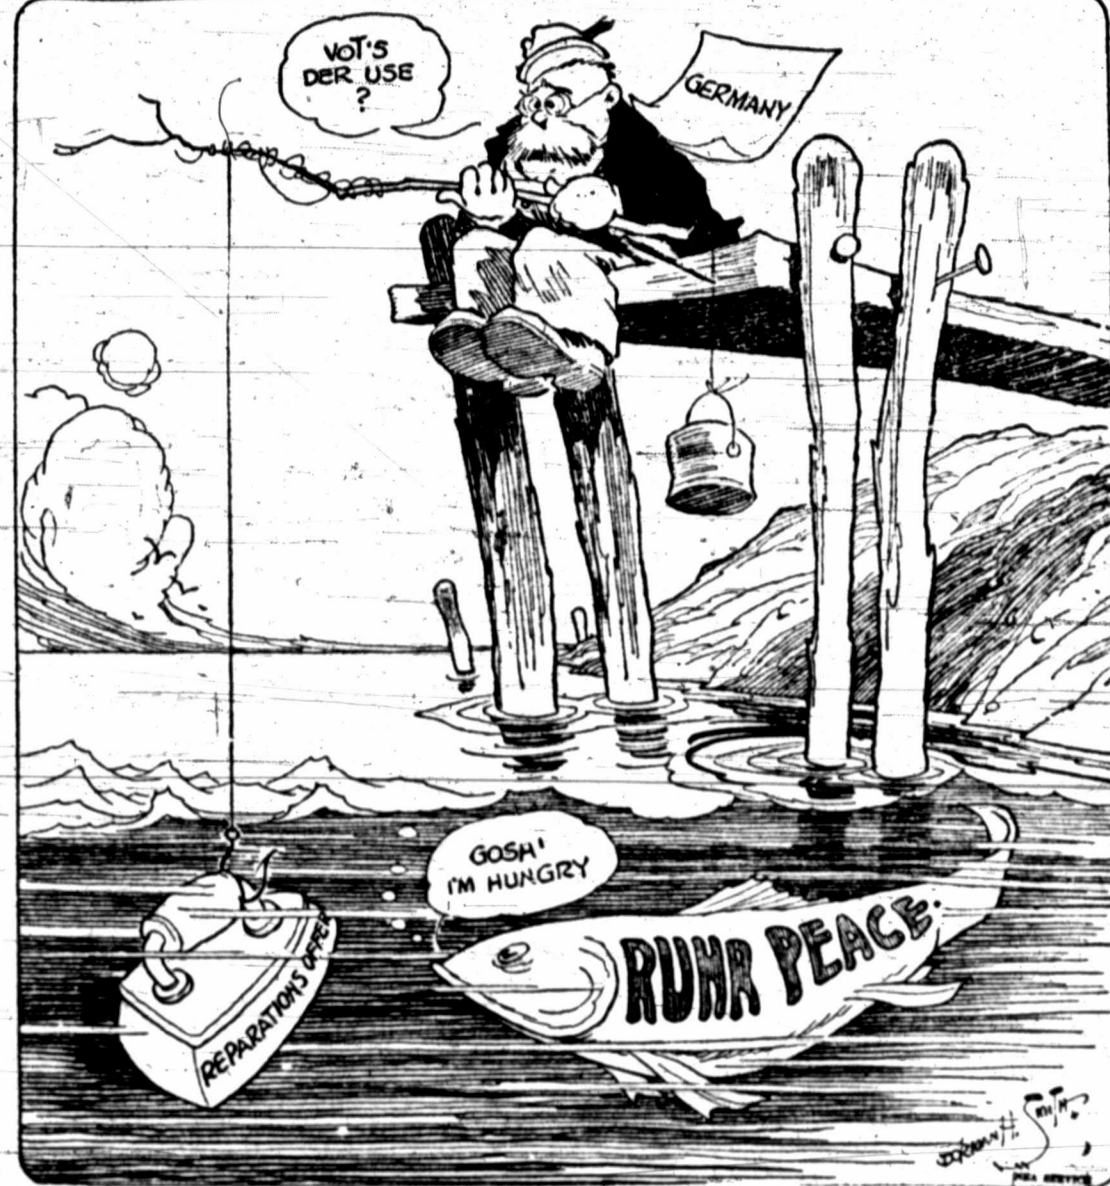

Then imagine that same group turned into a vicious association, preying on the good names of their hosts and hostesses, the sending of more than a hundred unappealably scurrilous letters.

The letters which precipitated Maxwell's indictment were received by Allen A. Ryan, financier. In them the name of Mr. Ryan's wife was linked offensively with that of Maxwell himself.

Maxwell, suave, exquisitely dressed, perfumed, well mannered, a familiar figure in New York dining rooms, married and posing as a bachelor, is considered an authority on matters musical. The society of which he is president includes among its officers such men as Victor Herbert of composition fame.

Mr. Ryan, not knowing that he was one of many victims of the "society jackals," took the letters to the district attorney. Officials discovered that the envelopes with the envelopes was identical with that on other envelopes containing similar attacks four years ago.

THE WRONG BAIT

TWO NEW ANGLES DEVELOP IN CASE LEIGHTON MOUNT

STATE ATTORNEY HAS ORDERED ROUNDUP OF 41 FORMER STUDENTS

RESULT CHECK UP OF GRAND JURY EVIDENCE

Statements Made By Mills Also Feature in New Move Of Officials.
CHICAGO, May 12.—Two new angles in the investigation of the mysterious disappearance of Leighton Mount, Northwestern University student, who vanished 20 months ago, developed last night, causing Robert E. Crowe, state attorney, to order the roundup of 41 students who left the university within four months after Mount disappeared and to request New York authorities to conduct an inquiry for the basis of a check up on grand jury testimony given by J. Allen Mills, former student.

The gathering of former students was ordered under the theory that some of the 41 might possibly be able to furnish clues that would solve the mystery that since a skeleton seemingly identified as that of Mount was found under an Evanson pier nearly two weeks ago has puzzled authorities. Another purpose of the order was to check a statement made by Mrs. J. L. Mount, the boy's mother, that President Scott of the university told her 16 students were expelled "after the fact" after Mount was injured fatally by accident. President Scott, before the grand jury, denied that any students were dismissed as a result of the affair.

A transcript of statements made by Mills, admitted leader of the freshmen during the class rush, when he was questioned by authorities in Akron, Ohio, his present home, prompted State's Attorney Crowe to ask District Attorney Banton of New York to question Miss Katherine Hotchkiss, Mills' friend.

Attorney Crowe said the statements made by Mills at Akron, varies with his grand jury testimony here, which contains reference to letters written by Miss Hotchkiss from New York to him, in which she referred to "his terrible experience that night" and to his evident expressed wish to "get clean with two or three boys who led him into it."

Officials believe that the statements in Miss Hotchkiss' letter refer to the night Mount disappeared, presumably, September 1, 1921. Mills was not questioned about his correspondence with her when he was here before the grand jury, as the transcript of the Akron testimony had not then arrived.

The grand jury ended a week's work on the Mount case yesterday, and reports indicated, was no nearer a solution of the mystery than when it began its inquiry. Next week only morning sessions will be devoted to the Mount case.

ATTORNEY GENERAL OF STATE WILL NOT ACT IN TEXT BOOK CASE

WIND, RAIN AND HAIL DO DAMAGE OVER LARGE AREA

AUSTIN, TEXAS, May 12.—Attorney General Keeling, in a letter to the speaker of the House of Representatives and lieutenant governor today notified the legislature that he would not defend and uphold state officials in refusing to recognize contracts let by the text book commission, as directed in resolutions adopted by both houses. He further declared that he could not, under the constitution, institute suit to prevent carrying into effect the contracts in controversy.

To institute suits for cancellation of the text book contracts might operate a breach of the contract, and on such grounds the contractors might obtain damages against the state, the letter stated.

Two hundred persons living in the northern part of Neosho, Mo., were forced to flee to higher ground when rain fell in torrents, flooding their homes. Stores in the business section on much higher ground also were damaged by high water which at one time stood more than two feet deep. Hail is reported to have caused heavy crop damage.

A high wind at Galena, Kan., carried away a portion of the roof of a school house, uprooted trees, broke windows in business houses and swept motor cars from their parking places. So far as known no one was injured. More than an inch and a half of rain fell in Joplin, and at times during the night the city was in darkness.

SIXTEEN ARE HELD BY CHINESE BANDITS LATE PEKING REPORT

FOURTEEN ARE MEN AND TWO ARE WOMEN, SAYS DISPATCH

FIVE AMERICANS ARE INCLUDED IN NUMBER

Believed That Payment of Ransom Necessary to Secure Release.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—State department officials today from the American Legation at Peking said it was believed the foreigners still held by the Chinese bandits in Shantung numbered 14 men and two women.

The American prisoners are J. B. Powell, editor of Weekly Review; Shanghai; Leon Friedman of the China Motors Corporation, Shanghai; Lee Solomon, of Shanghai; and Major Robert Allen and Roland Finger of the United States Army.

Payment of ransom or compliance with whatever other terms the Chinese train bandits of the Shantung hills might demand for the return of their foreign captives seemed today more than ever the only feasible move, in view of the letter urging such a course received here from Major Roland Finger, one of the two American army officers who were taken to the outlaws' stronghold with the other passengers of the Shanghai-Peking express train after it was derailed near Suchow last Sunday.

Not only was the letter from Major Finger dispatched here from the bandits' retreat today, but the son of Major Finger, Roland Jr., was also. He came in company with another boy, Robert Allen Jr., and the son of Major Allen, an American officer held for ransom.

The Finger and Allen boys reported two women still in the hands of the outlaws. They were unable to identify the woman, but from their descriptions it is believed that one is Senora Anna, a Mexican. There is no surmise here as to the identity of the other woman mentioned by the boys.

Keeling's communication was in answer to simple resolutions adopted in both houses, directing all state officials not to recognize the text book contracts which have been in controversy since early in the regular session of the legislature. The legislative committee report recommended that steps be taken to annul the contracts.

NEW YORK, May 12.—An agreement eliminating a drawn out lawsuit by the government of obtaining an injunction in federal district court restraining the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange and its clearing association from dealing in futures was reached today between counsel for the government and the defendants.

Mrs. W. L. Gibbs, employed at the Club Cafe is a patient at the Wichita General Hospital, in a serious condition as the result of injuries suffered Friday night in an automobile accident on the Thornberry road near Eribera.

Late Saturday morning it was reported that the woman was still unconscious and that in addition to numerous cuts and bruises about the body she was suffering with an ugly scalp wound. An examination revealed no fracture of the skull.

The automobile, a Cadillac touring car, was completely wrecked, and its condition indicates that the occupants were fortunate in escaping with their lives. According to reports Mrs. Gibbs was pinned under the wreckage when the car overturned while the other three were thrown clear of it.

It was stated that the accident occurred on the highway near the automobile skidded in a patch of loose gravel and then turned several times at the side of the road.

A writ of habeas corpus was recently obtained in England for O'Brien.

J., was called.

A colorful gathering of society beauties and other notables were grouped in the ringside stands. Kermit Roosevelt son of the late president was among the onlookers. The first preliminary fight was Jim Corbett, former heavyweight champion, and Mike McTigue, newly crowned world light heavyweight title holder.

FIVE CITIES WANT PIGGLY WIGGLY CO. MEETING IS HELD

MEMPHIS, TENN., May 12.—At least five cities have sent out "feelers" to entice the headquarters of Piggly Wiggly, Inc., Clark Saunders, president of that corporation, stated last night before leaving the city for an unannounced destination where, he declared, he would "talk turkey" to business interests this morning.

The decisive stage in the negotiations—out members of the "pool" which supported Mr. Saunders in the recent "day on Wall Street" with Piggly Wiggly caught a number of persons "short" and following which the stock of the corporation was ruled from the exchange just as it had been arranged with local banking interests for today and the outcome of the conference, according to members of the "pool" may be that Atlanta, New Orleans, Nashville, Buffalo, and Chicago, mentioned as the receptive cities will be disappointed and the most officers of the concern will remain in Memphis.

BURKBURNETT, TEXAS, May 12.—Two fires during the past 24 hours caused considerable property loss in Burkburnett. A barn, belonging to A. F. WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

CHICAGO, May 12.—As the major league baseball season nears the end of its fourth week all the pre-opening predictions, with slight reservation on the Philadelphia Athletics in the American and on the Cincinnati Reds in the National, are holding truer to form than in many years. The Chicago Cubs in two out of three games, taking the rubber game...

The Spudders were being fought desperately by Cleveland and Detroit for leadership in the National League. The Philadelphia Athletics are out in front in the National League, with Pittsburgh following. The Chicago White Sox might be taken as a failure of the experts, but predictions concerning the Sox were largely hedged by...

Friday was a hard day on the pitching tribe in all circles. The Spudders were made to look as nothing, when the Bears scored twenty-one times against the Steers and the Phillies counted twenty times against the Cardinals.

When Cy Williams hit three home runs off St. Louis pitching, he brought the Spudders to the top of the list. Pete Schneider of the Steers altered this impression in the eighth, scoring two runs in thirty-four runs. He did not hit five home runs. On his sixth trip to the plate he got a mere double, but it was enough to bring the Spudders to the top of the list.

There was quite some bit of far away whaling in the Texas League. The Spudders were made to look as nothing, when the Bears scored twenty-one times against the Steers and the Phillies counted twenty times against the Cardinals.

Damon Runyon Says

Willard's attempt to come back in a strange adventure for man of his years. NEW YORK, May 12.—Middle age, settled, with streaks of gray along his temples and deep lines in his face, Joe Willard goes for Saturday afternoon against a lad young enough to be his son. A strange adventure for a man of Willard's years.

The immutable law of the boxing game is "they don't come back." Many men who were greater fighters than Willard at his best have tried it and failed. Perhaps this was because they tried it against the wrong man. Willard's opponent, Joe Johnson, the young lion, who will attempt to block Willard's return from Hasbrouck.

Willard has trained long and faithfully. The writer is convinced that Willard's return from Hasbrouck will be as well physically as he did back in 1915 when he took the championship of the world from black Jack Johnson. Experts generally pick Willard to beat the youthful Johnson inside of six or seven rounds.

Not particularly because Floyd Johnson is Willard's opponent does the writer think the old ex-champion is to fail in his quest, but because of what Johnson represents—youth.

The writer believes in young fighters, young business men, young athletes, young boys. He has seen many of them succeed and many of them fail. He has seen many of them succeed and many of them fail.

WILLARD TO WIN BY KAYO OR JOHNSON ON POINTS IS JIM CORBETT'S PREDICTION

By JAMES J. CORBETT. NEW YORK, May 12.—If the Joe Willard-Floyd Johnson battle ends in a knockout it is my thought that the victor will be the veteran ex-champion.

But if the bout goes the entire fifteen rounds I believe that Johnson will triumph on points. If Willard were ten years younger—or if he really has achieved the stamina and endurance which he knew ten years ago—he'd be an absolute certainty to put away Johnson within a short time. For his great natural strength, coupled with his boxing power, necessary to cope successfully with even so aggressive a youngster as Johnson, but his internal condition is something going over the fence by inches and was good for two bases.

FLORAL HEIGHTS OVERCOMES EIGHT RUN LEAD TO WIN

Overcoming an eight-run lead with two big innings, each of which was worth seven runs, the Floral Heights Methodists won a ragside victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in a twilight game Friday afternoon in a Twilight League contest. The Methodists gained a 14 to 3 verdict. Both clubs hit hard, but the Cardinals' first inning proved the deciding factor.

The Utility gang routed two pitchers in the first two innings, scoring four runs in each frame. Floral Heights came back and bunched hits with errors in the third for seven runs and seven more were made in the sixth. Captain Hale of the Methodists tied up the game in the sixth with a home run with one man on and Farn's triple sent in the winning run.

WHY THEY RUN.

Susie Hetlock, 23, claims the dishwashing championship of the world. Susie works in the kitchen of the Pantall Hotel in Puxantown, Pa. Between meals, the kitchen help get talking about the marathon dancers—and why a marathon is rarely attempted at some useful task. Susie began boasting about how long she could perform with dishes and soap. Bets were made. Susie washed dishes 31 hours straight without stopping. She needn't worry about her laurels. No danger of marathon dishwashing or any other kind of household becoming epidemic. The question that started Susie performing remains unsettled. Namely: "Why do endurance contestants almost without exception waste their energy on such trifles as dancing and running, and rarely at useful tasks?" Trying to figure it out, you become mired to the neck in psychology. Probably it's because a useful task nearly always involves some sort of compulsion, against which we all have an instinctive spirit of revolt. Not many centuries since most of our ancestors were slaves of one sort or other. Freedom was a delusion, with the peasant toiling to support monarchs or other so-called nobility in grand style. (Modern monarchs are alarm clock and cost of living.) Instinctively we resent even the rulership exerted over us by nature—her making it compulsory for us to work if we want to survive. The less compulsion, the less spirit of revolt. That's why pleasant working conditions and liberal pay increase the average person's efficiency—theoretically, at least. Revolting against compulsory tasks, we gladly welcome anything that doesn't involve compulsion—for instance, recreation or amusement—regardless of how much labor is involved. Remember how Tom Sawyer induced his pals to whitewash the fence for him? He made the task recreation by removing the compulsory feature. Willie will toil until ready to drop in his tracks, building a shanty or tramping with the Boy Scouts. But he groans when asked to go to the corner store or carry out the ashes. Considering our instinctive aversion to compulsion, it's a psychological mystery that we submit to any form of authority—political, industrial or home. Wherever we abide by rulership, it's merely acceptance of the lesser of two evils.

Auto captured in Florida was designed for rum running, and said to be about 40 white mule power. Three women gagged in Atlantic City were gagged by robbers instead of their husbands. Louis Harmon, of Texas, skated 40 hours without stopping, so Louis is a pretty good skater. Illinois woman has 13 husbands. Pennsylvania man has 22 wives. We suggest the two be punished by marrying each other. Dr. Abbot, astronomer, says the sun is cooling off, but maybe Dr. Abbot just has a new straw lid. Frisco wants both party conventions in 1924, showing Frisco is not afraid of earthquakes. Paderewski, the pianist, made $460,000 this season, and all the man did was play around. Seattle society woman has a lion for a pet, and we just wondered if hubby puts it out every night. The children may enjoy learning an Evansville (Ind.) teacher was arrested for whipping a boy. After being pickled, 12 New York cops were canned. Thousands of husbands today owe their lives to the fact that women shoot with both eyes shut. Judge an auto by its hood and you may be hood-winked. France uses pressed straw bricks, and Frenchmen living in straw houses should not keep cows. Sugar is high enough for this to be a canning season. Honolulu has the world's most efficient phone system, which need not be so darn efficient. There are more ducks in China than in all the rest of the world, but not more smart ducks. Farming is a great life, but a bum occupation. Russia grants divorces for 20 cents, many not being worth it. It is easier to collect a crowd than to collect from a crowd. Time flies. It's fly time. A pound of phosphorus will tip a million matches, which is enough to smoke a nickel cigar. Frogs eat nothing unless it is alive, and this is a sure way of getting fresh meat. Doctor is a man who tells us not to worry about anything—and then sends a bill that worries us. Some of our girls are born pretty while the others get that way by being pretty wise. Devil is always pictured in red clothes. Bet a bad bull has a devil of a time when he dies. The height of something is a sick man optimistic while the depth is a well man pessimistic.

The Year 3000

Did you ever find an old arrowhead or other Indian relic in the woods or in a farm field turned up by the plow? No childhood is complete without this thrill. In the accompanying pen-picture, Artist Satterfield shows a boy finding an arrowhead. Imagination—which is strongly developed in all children and which virtually disappears in the maturity of most people—reconstructs the past for the arrowhead finder. He pictures the plowed field when it was a dense forest, alive with deer, wild turkeys and other game. For days after, the lad will "play Indian," longing for the outdoor life of the savage. The boy would trade his marbles or prize top for the secret locked up in the past—how the arrowhead happened to fall where it did, whether shot at deer or man. The life, of which that arrowhead was a part, is almost forgotten now though relatively few years have passed. It makes you wonder how long until our civilization will also be forgotten. The Indian who fashioned this arrowhead thought it was a marvel. So it was, by his standards. It seems crude to us, with our high-power rifles that have replaced the arrowhead. And the tools we use in our civilization will seem equally crude to people of the future. Change is eternal. Our most "perfected" devices are only in the first stage of development. That's why opportunity is always present—if we can only "see" it.

TWO HAVE ENTERED FOR GUBERNATORIAL
RACE IN LOUISIANA

NEW ORLEANS, May 12.—George Seth Guion, first assistant attorney general, and Lieutenant Governor Hewitt Bonchaud yesterday formally announced their candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor of Louisiana in the primary to be held next January. They were the first formal entries of the half dozen or more scheduled. The campaign is expected to develop into the most bitter in the history of Louisiana because of the Ku Klux Klan issue. Mr. Guion, who opposes the Klan, took a leading part in the investigation of the Mer Rouge affair in Morehouse parish and will have charge of the prosecution of the score or more persons against whom charges have been filed. He is a son of former United States Senator George Guion, and is a 32nd degree Mason. Mr. Bonchaud, president of the Louisiana constitutional convention, is a Catholic and also is opposed to the Klan. It is not yet known whether the Klan will have an avowed candidate in the field or whether the organization will pick one of the contestants and lend him its support.

A PUZZLE A DAY

Can you discover a word in the English language that contains the five vowels A E I O U, in their alphabetical order. Each vowel must appear but once, and in the order shown above.

Yesterday's Answer.
A ten-pointed star would be necessary to make the number of points on the Turkish emblem divisible by both four and six. Twelve is the smallest number divisible by both four and six. There are ten points on the star, and two points on the crescent, thus making twelve points on the emblem.

THREE DWELLINGS
DESTROYED BY FIRE
SATURDAY MORNING

Fire of unknown origin broke out in the home of J. W. McCormick, 1508 Seventh, Saturday morning at 12:30 and spread to the homes of J. M. Williams and Linn A. Boyd; all three homes were a complete loss. The residence of J. B. Glass and L. B. Stone at 1204 and 1212 Seventh were badly damaged from water and heat from the flames. On account of the high winds, the flames for a short time threatened the entire block and the property across the street. Loss on the five residences and furnishings is estimated at $25,000; the loss is partially covered by insurance. The Williams home was occupied by E. E. Everetts and the Boyd residence was occupied by Jimmie Jones, athletic director and coach at the high school. McCormick were away from home and the alarm was turned in by a young man who was returning from the lake and noticed the blaze. The fire was well under way when the alarm was given there was only one plug in the district that could be used. A general alarm because necessary and the equipment from all stations was called into service. Two additional plugs about 1,500 feet from the scene of the fire were used when the other departments arrived. Rapid and efficient work on the part of the firemen kept the blaze well under control as soon as water was obtained. The high wind which swept the flames across Seventh street kept residents across the street from the fire busy on their roofs with water and brooms to prevent further damage. The intense heat from the flames caused firemen some worry on account of the hose on Seventh street; hose approximately 50 feet from the fire burst from the heat. Individual estimates of damage and insurance had not been reported to the fire department Saturday morning but a report from the insurance agent who carried the property estimated the loss at $25,000. Loss on the three homes that were destroyed and damage to the other two is estimated at $17,500; loss and damage to the furnishings and contents of the five homes will not exceed $7,500, it is said. One of the homes destroyed was not covered by insurance; the other residences and contents were well protected, it is reported. Wall canvas and wallpaper. Decorators—adv. Floor varnish and stains. JURY DISCHARGED AFTER
ANSWERING PART OF ISSUES

The jury in the case of A. G. Peck against E. H. Pigg was discharged Saturday morning by Judge L. W. Napier of the 78th district court after it reported that it was an impossibility to arrive at answers to several of the special issues on which the case was submitted. Several of the issues were answered. The plaintiff sought an equity in some of property which he contended was purchased by the defendant with partnership funds. Floor varnish and stains. How to Make a Kite Reel
Every boy knows what it is to lose a favorite kite on a telephone pole or church steeple because of tangled string that could not be let out or pulled in fast enough. A kite reel is very simple to make. It will carry more string than the old-fashioned winding stick, letting the kite go higher in the air. There are two parts to the kite reel shown in the drawing above: the actual reel, and a frame to hold it. The frame is not necessary, as the reel works very well by itself, but it is best to use it if you fly box kites, or other heavy kites. In the hand reel shown at the left, the shaft F, the string running to the part I is a loose sleeve held on the shaft L by a washer and screw to guide it back and forth while it is a piece of 3/8" hardwood dowel. The spool, parts K and J, is fastened to the dowel with a screw. To make the arrangement right, if you can get a radio wire spool you handed, fasten parts B and C as will not have to make one. The crank is fastened to the shaft with a screw, and the handle P to part O with a bolt. The sleeves and spindle are first made square, the center bored and then whittled to shape. To operate, tie the string to K, hold I in the left hand and turn the crank with the right. The rack, or stand, is easily made. The empty spool G fits loosely on the shaft F, the string running to the part I is a loose sleeve held on the kite being threaded under the spool.

The Texas Oil Fields

Perhaps oil men will say that there are some things in the story that are fantastic and not true to life in the oil fields. This is doubtless true, but all will admit when they have read the story that it is filled with vivid action and gripping force. It will be remembered that before writing the story Mr. Beach spent several weeks in the oil fields around Wichita Falls and the names of Wichita Falls, Burkburnett and other oil centers appear frequently in the story.

A Letter from Mrs. Ward Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Springfield, Ohio.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proved a splendid medicine for me before my fourth child was born. With the first three I had been sick and nervous most of my life. I had had headaches twice a week. I couldn't keep enough food down to do any good, and my work was left undone many a time. My sister-in-law told me to take the Vegetable Compound when I began to have the same old dreadful sickness and headaches and was so worn out. Since then I have only had two headaches, had a good appetite and scarcely lost a meal. I have a fine, healthy baby girl who has never had a sick day. The nicest part is that I am healthy, too. It did me a lot of good, and if I should ever have another headache I will take your medicine at once."—Mrs. BESSIE WARD, 1027 Park Avenue, Springfield, Ohio.

MERCURY EXPANDS UNDER SUMMER SUN AND HITS 100 MARK Under the impelling influence of a mid-summer sun, supplemented by a dry, hot wind from the south, Wichita Falls experienced a touch of hot weather Friday afternoon and the mercury in the thermometer bulb was expanded to such a point that the 95 degree mark was reached. The south wind continued throughout the afternoon and at times reached an estimated velocity of 25 to 30 miles an hour. This strong wind was supplanted at 11 o'clock Friday night by an equally strong one from the north and as a result the temperature suffered to some extent. The minimum point reached during the night by the thermometer was 61 degree, while points north on local railroad lines reported temperatures Saturday morning as low as 44 degrees. Partly clouded skies were also reported from this direction with high north winds. Agents from all points in the district reported a north wind and it was evident that the strong wind with its load of dust and sand would continue at least for the next 12 hours.

GUIDE POSTS of BUSINESS

RIDING along an unfamiliar road, you depend upon the sign posts to guide you. Whether you're hitting the thank-you-mams in a flivver or soaring along in a costly car, they do their work equally well.

To-day, as you spend your money to fill your needs, advertisements are waiting to direct you. They are the guide posts of business. They point the short, straight road to satisfaction in buying. They will serve you well, whether you spend much or little.

Do you stop to read the advertisements? They are published to tell you exactly where to go for what you want. They lead you to values of which you would never know were they not there to guide you.

And remember that advertising always points out goods of unquestioned value. When a store or manufacturing concern puts its name on goods and tells you about them, you may be sure that they are worth consideration. It does not pay to advertise unworthy merchandise.
