McADOO TESTIFIES AT TRIAL OF MORSE; FRAUD IS CHARGED

TELLS OF RELATIONS WITH MORSE SHIP BUILDING COMPANY.

COUNSEL FOR VIRGINIA BUILDING CORPORATION

Not Interested Other Than As Member of Firm of Attorneys Retained.

WASHINGTON, July 17. (AP)—Wm. G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury in the cabinet of President Wilson, took the witness stand today in the trial of Charles W. Morse and his associates, charged with defrauding the government in their wartime ship building contracts.

The defense pleaded yesterday afternoon that Woodrow Wilson would not be called to testify in the trial, his physician having informed him that he believed Mr. Wilson's physical condition made inadvisable his appearance in court.

Mr. McAdoo was called to testify regarding his relations with the Morse ship building firm in 1918 when the law firm of McAdoo, Franklin and Cotton of New York was counsel for the Virginia Ship Building Corporation, a Morse subsidiary, building ships for the emergency fleet corporation at Alexandria, Va.

Wilton J. Lambert, associate counsel for the defense conducted the direct examination of Mr. McAdoo.

In reply to questions, the former secretary of the treasury testified that he was called into the Morse case in 1918. He stated that Gibbons, who was counsel for the Virginia Ship Building Corporation at that time, he said, requested him to look into a controversy between the company and the emergency fleet corporation.

CAUSE OF EXPLOSION NOT YET DETERMINED

Caused Investigation.

Before he accepted the case Mr. McAdoo said he caused an investigation to be made into the merits of the controversy and into the personnel of the board of directors of the company.

It never was determined in the Virginia Ship Building Corporation in any shape, manner or form other than as their counsel," he said.

"We proceeded to get the case before the shipping board at Washington," said Mr. McAdoo. "I presented it first to Edward N. Hurley, former shipping board chairman. I told him that we were advised that the corporation was in very serious financial distress because of delay in payments. When I returned to the financial exigencies of the company Mr. Hurley said he was willing to make a small payment on account and that he would direct payment of $100,000 of these claims."

LAW INTERPRETED REDUCES SALARIES

$2,500; district attorney, an amount not exceeding $2,500, not including fees allowed by the constitution and paid by the state; clerk of district court, an amount not exceeding $2,750; collector of taxes, an amount not exceeding $2,750; assessor of taxes, an amount not exceeding $2,750; provided the compensation fixed herein for sheriffs and their deputies shall be exclusive of any rewards received for the apprehension of criminals or fugitives from justice.

"Up to 1919 the county operated under another article, but the census of 1919 showed that the county had a population of over 27,000 and contained a city of over 25,000. On this basis article 2823 was applied for the payment of salaries of officials in this county. However, the statute is plain and specifically states, 'according to the census of 1919.'"

Under article 2823, under which the attorney general, in an opinion sent to the county auditor, stated that Wichita county should operate, the terms are: Governor's Office.

"In any county shown by the last United States census to contain as many as 25,000 inhabitants, the following amounts shall be allowed: Sheriff, $5,000; county clerk, $2,500; court attorney, $2,500; district attorney, $2,500; district clerk, $2,500; tax collector, $2,500; tax assessor, $2,500.

In both the foregoing articles the amount stated is the maximum salary allowed by the constitution and the $2,500 maximum state fees, which are due the officer in some cases, the excess fees of office after all expenses have been paid amount to $4,000, in which case the officer receives 25 per cent of the excess fees up to that amount.

"In the construction of the attorney general to Mr. Walsh in which advice was sought, the attorney general said: 'The statute states that under the statement of facts as to the population, Wichita county does not fall within the class mentioned in article 2823, because, according to the 1919 census the county did not have a city of over 25,000 inhabitants nor did the county contain a population of as many as 27,000, according to the 1919 census.'"

In another construction placed on the two articles the attorney general stated: 'Therefore, as the United States census of 1919 showed Wichita county to have a population of less than 27,000 inhabitants, it follows that the officers of that county would not be entitled to compensation under said article 2823.'

Article 2823 Applies.

On the other hand, since an opinion by the late Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, Mr. Brandeis, in the case of Wichita County v. Scott, 282 U.S. 122, 51 S.Ct. 271, 75 L.Ed. 118 (1930), it is held that the provisions of article 2823 do not apply to the county until after the 1930 census.

HEAVY DAMAGES AS RESULT CLOUDBURST STATE OF COLORADO

DENVER AND OTHER CITIES AND TOWNS STORM SWEEP MONDAY.

RESIDENTS OF VALLEYS MOVE TO HIGH GROUND

No Loss of Life Had Been Reported in District Yesterday Morning.

DENVER, Colo., July 17. (AP)—After an all night vigil, due to swollen rivers and creeks that threatened lives and property, residents of Denver and other cities and towns in the storm swept areas today, were estimating the damage. Rains that in some localities assumed the proportions of a cloudburst, descended upon Denver, Parkersburg, Franktown, Mabyn, Sully, Florence and Portland, and other points in such volume that creeks overflowed their banks, washed out highway and railroad bridges, and damaged scores of homes and business houses.

During the night it was feared that the Castlewood dam, southeast of Parker, would go out and precipitate on Denver and the Cherry Creek valley the worst flood in the region's history.

Residents all along the valley close to Cherry Creek, fled to higher ground. Those living in the town in the danger zone remained awake ready to flee for safety at the first warning from up the valley.

Two cloudbursts in the Parker district were responsible for the flooded conditions in this part of the state. Cherry Creek, passing through Denver, overflowed at many places, causing scores of persons to leave their homes and flooding some sections of the city to a depth of two and three feet. So far as had been learned this morning, there was no loss of life.

Arrest Man On Dallas Warrant Charge Forgery

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 17. (AP)—Martin 'Banker' Fannagan was arrested at Lancaster, a small town in the northern part of Los Angeles county yesterday on a warrant from Dallas, Texas, where he was said to be wanted to answer a charge of forgery.

WILL BE NO REDUCTION IN PRICE OF BREAD FOR AT LEAST SIXTY DAYS

CHICAGO, July 17. (AP)—Although wheat made a new low price record for 10 years and flour dropped again yesterday, bakers here declared there would be no reduction in the price of bread for at least 60 days.

Most of the bakers they explained, have on hand supplies of flour sufficient for the next two months, which they bought at high prices and which must be used before cheaper bread can be made and sold.

A campaign for a reduction in bread prices will be pushed at the expiration of that time, according to the city's high cost commission.

Morose know at once when they have a nervous rider.

Girl Posing As Man Is Held By Chicago Police

CHICAGO, July 17. (AP)—Another "girl-man," this time a girl posing as a man, was apprehended by the Chicago police early today and imprisoned.

Mrs. Richard C. Teamer, whose husband was shot and instantly killed by a girl bandit some weeks ago, was sent for in an attempt to identify the slayer of her husband.

Fred G. Thompson, the man who posed as a woman, was indicted by the grand jury yesterday for the murder of Teamer. It was only after a half hour of questioning during which time the supposed 17-year-old boy returned answers indicative of life in the slums that the police took off the prisoner's cap and the long tresses of a girl were revealed.

She gave her name as Blanche Voorhees. She said she had a husband in Danville, Ill.

Four young men were arrested with her and one has confessed, according to the police, that the band has taken part in numerous recent robberies of taxicab drivers.

The boys and the girl now are in custody at the police station.

VINCH SUSPENDED BY COMMISSION NEW YORK STATE

Sisters to Stage Legal Battle For Custody of Child

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 17.—A woman was expected to begin in the superior court today in the habeas corpus proceedings brought by Mrs. Louis Polian of San Francisco, Cal., wife of Captain Clinton Polian of the United States Army, against her sister, Mrs. Elsie Shoelitz, for the custody of a five-year-old girl named Jane.

Mrs. Polian told the court the child was born before she was married and that her father was Frank Nelson, an American soldier, who she said, was killed in France during the world war. She said she was the mother of her sister, Mrs. Earl Bhabhaizer, when the child was born and the report was given out that the latter was really the mother. She declared she wanted to take charge of the baby then, but her sister and the latter's husband, Charles Shoelitz, had not consistently refused to give up the child ever since, she testified.

Mrs. Shoelitz testified it was her husband, Shoelitz, and not Nelson who was the father of her sister's child and that Mrs. Polian held her child in custody. She stated her sister gave her the baby immediately after its birth to "escape scandal" and that her only reason for taking it and pretending to be its mother was to save her sister from disgrace.

American Prohibition Featured In Columns of Papers In London Quote From Ambassador Geddes

By JOHN T. BURKE
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.
LONDON, July 17.—American prohibition stands out in the news and editorial columns of British newspapers as the most interesting subject of the day, not excluding the Ruhr situation.

The government today issued a "white paper" in which Ambassador Geddes, at Washington, is quoted as declaring that American prohibition in the whole, has been effective in the forty districts and smaller towns throughout the United States.

The most significant facts in regard to the effect of prohibition as quoted by the ambassador is a 40 per cent increase in savings bank deposits, and increased efficiency among workers.

Prohibition is less effective, the ambassador declared, along the eastern seaboard and in the vicinity of the great lakes, where powerful organizations of smugglers carry on a regular traffic in liquor.

Rome brewing, he says, is largely in the hands of the clergy and one of the worst effects of the dry law is that men who drank sparingly before prohibition now drink in fits to social gatherings.

The anti-American, Tory Morning Post seizes the opportunity presented by the overwhelming vote in the house of commons in favor of Lady Astor's bill forbidding public houses to serve boys and girls under 18 with liquor, to denounce the measure as an attempt to restore the puritanism of the 17th century, which it charges, has America in its grip today.

The Morning Post cites the charges made in the Spectator by an anonymous American undergraduate of one of the older English universities: "That there has been more drinking in American colleges, universities and high schools than ever before is an unquestioned fact."

"Among the youth of the country not only drinking but drugkennes has become extremely widespread and immorality is on the increase."

The Morning Post adds that this condition is a result of prohibition legislation in America, bringing the same results that England saw in the 17th century.

"It is an interesting coincidence that this attack follows closely upon the speech of Lord Astor which urged the government to stamp out rum smuggling into the United States so as to give prohibition a fair chance."

The Franconia of the Cunard Line arrived at Liverpool today, it was reported that champagne and whiskey brought aboard the ship by travelers was freely consumed on the way across. Those who failed to provide their own liquor remained dry, as the ship's officers refused to issue any liquor except in cases of necessity.

CLAIMS EVIDENCE THAT DEAN LAW IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

AUSTIN, July 17.—Proof showing that the notice of publication of the prohibition amendment to the constitution voted on by the people on May 21, 1919, were not published three months prior to the date of the election, in 15 counties of the state has been obtained by Sam B. Dickson, Austin attorney, he announced today. Dickson says he will file these affidavits in the trial of several liquor law violation cases pending in the criminal district court here and in which he represents the defendants. Should this contention be sustained, the Dean law would be unconstitutional, it was stated.

An old woman, whose mind has lost the power of reasoning, a short time ago stood yelling as loud as her voice could be raised. The other patients seemed restless because the onslaught of profanity. Then suddenly the music began.

At first the old woman paid no attention to the soft strains, but gradually it penetrated into her consciousness and she listened intently. When the piece was con-

The Tangle

Let's see how the tangle is untangled. "His face was not stick together, that they never told a woman anything which would reflect upon their own sex, and here was Walter Burke telling his friend's wife that her husband had been paying court to another very pretty woman."

From under my eyelashes I watched Harry Ellington. He kept glancing our way, although he did not call the attention of his companions to us in any way. Finally he decided that I was the woman with whom Burke was flirting and I saw a look of anger go over his face as he came to the conclusion that I was using his wife as a chaperon in my nefarious designs.

"There you have it," said Jack as I told him this. "You see very well what it would mean for you to trot around with Ruth Ellington—I won't have it." "If you thought Mrs. Ellington was not the kind of woman for your wife to go with, why did you invite her here?"

"Oh, she's all right, only a little foolish," he answered, "and Harry, you know, is one of my oldest friends."

"Then you think Jack, it is perfectly all right for Harry Ellington to be seen in the smartest tea room in the city with a moving picture actress, while all the while his wife is staying home and eating her heart out?"

"I like Ruth Ellington, Jack. I have a feeling that she is going to be my oldest and best friend in the year to come."

"Would you believe it, little Marquise, Jack looked at me a moment in silence, then went out and slammed the door."

Tomorrow—Walt calls up Ruth Ellington—End of a flirtation.

FOUR POLICEMEN ARE DISMISSED IN EFFORT TO CUT DOWN EXPENSES

Four members of the city police force were relieved of their duties with the department Monday, in an effort to cut down the expenses of the department. No appointments will be made at present to fill the places of the officers who were relieved, Chief Hodgin said.

A decrease in the amount of petty cases and an attempt to keep the department within the budget was responsible for the dismissal of the four men, the chief explained. The men who were relieved were: Will Lay, detective; M. H. Mackney, motorcycle officer; and Knight, night patrolman, and C. B. McConnell, detail officer.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Be thou diligent to know the state of thy flock, and look well to thy herds.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

Governor Hinkle, of New Mexico, has pardoned Carl C. Magee, editor of the New Mexico State Tribune...

Editor Magee had charged the supreme court with being a member of a political ring...

These charges were true Editor Magee was performing a courageous public service...

"Freedom of the press is more of an ideal than a stairway fact...

There is little doubt but what New Mexico is cursed with a political machine...

Do you know how Wall Street got its name? Back in 1653, when New York City was known as New Amsterdam...

The wooden wall was only 13 feet high, with sharp points along the top...

New Amsterdam finally was captured by the forces of the Duke of York...

It gives you an idea of how primitive things were, less than 300 years ago...

Compare with modern fortifications and you will appreciate the wisdom of the old wall...

Use the progress made by the devilish ingenuity of man in the matter of military devices.

One large bomb, dropped from a modern airplane, would annihilate the old wall and most of the village it protected.

By another two years France expects to have 7000 military airplanes of high-power battle type...

The whole scheme and also the futility of armaments is graphically illustrated by the comparison of modern armaments with the wooden stocks from which Wall Street got its name.

Go back in history and you find men inventing shields that were impenetrable by spear or arrow.

Then came gunpowder and the bullet that would pierce shields. It's a merry-go-round system, alternately working out a means of protection, then a means to counteract the protection.

The steel industry one year perfects a battleship armorplate that no shell can penetrate.

Then comes a shell that penetrates anything existing to date. Then a stronger armorplate, next a more powerful shell—so on, generation after generation.

The armaments race goes on now, as in the past, thinly disguised. Somehow humanity cannot get the fact through its dense brain, that there is no perfect protection or defense and no last word in offensive weapons.

JUST FOLKS

—By— EDGAR A. GUEST

DANGERS. Away from the summer. Away from the heat. Away from the noise. And the din of the street.

Away from the auto. Which dash up and down. Away from the dangers. Which lurk in the town.

Out to the country. Where life is secure. (If only the water. And milk shall be pure). Where nothing can happen. Unless it should be one of the children. Shall fall from a tree.

Away from the auto. To watch them all day. At the edge of the lake. Where they venture to play. Where there is no danger. Whatever they do. Unless they stand up in the neighbor's canoe.

Now, children and danger. Are partners, I'll swear. Wherever you take them. Some hazard is there.

Away from the dangers. Which lurk in the town. We fly to the fear. That our youngsters may drown. (Copyright, 1923, by Edgar A. Guest)

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TRY TO WALK UPRIGHT.

Sometimes it's very difficult to keep our heads right up and straightforward.

There are things at times that take the very smile right off of our faces and we seem powerless to understand.

Perhaps that is the way you feel right now. Then try to walk erect! Your very attitude is bound to be a force of renewal and revival.

Just before dawn it is the darkest. For the moon is then farthest on the western horizon and the sun is still below the eastern horizon.

Longfellow in his "Tales of a Wayside Inn" has these beautiful lines:

"But the nearer the dawn, the darker the night. And by going wrong all things come right; Things have been mended that were worse. And the worse, the nearer they are to mend!"

By walking erect we advertise to the world our ability to work through—our desire to perform without complaint and to round out our task.

That which you anticipate usually comes to pass. Try to walk right into the thing which you hope to have as your own.

And walk on. There is nothing final. There is always something better beyond! But it becomes better only as you make the new better—and the thing which you now do, your best.

So, forward—walking erect! (Copyright, 1923, George Matthew Adams)

Beyond the Pale

By BERTON BRALEY.

I try to love my fellow man, I do in all sincerity! And it is very seldom that I fail.

I know that I have every need for tolerance and charity, and other folks are similarly frail.

I can forgive a lot of things, from forgery to homicide; Most every sin that history reveals.

But there's one sort of criminal who brushes all my calm aside— The bird who wields a lookpick after meals!

I can forgive some guys who live a life of deep depravity, But not the goof who probes in every tooth; Who tries to trace within his face the locus of a cavity;

He drives me to insanity in truth! I know that I have faint hopes—too many to be numbering—

So I cannot be harsh upon a sinner; But fit not upon the sort of man who shoves meals with lumbering!

The bird who wields a lookpick after meals! (Copyright, 1923, Braley)

TODAY

By ARTHUR BRUBAKER (Copyright, 1923, The Star Co.)

Says France to England—"I am the boss."

A rare old penny. War—the heaviest tax.

France none too politely tells England to mind England's business...

England tells France, "You have destroyed Germany, and Germany destroyed means ruin to England."

"Germany is not destroyed. In any case English industry does not concern France."

"Germany is not destroyed. In any case English industry does not concern France."

It's a tense, interesting situation. There's a little of nothing but honest official to fear from the quo warranto bill as it passed.

The governor could only recommend action to the attorney general.

Sheila G. Bushnell Hamlin, president of the White Publishing Company in Iowa, writes:

"I used to own a large gold American copper, coined in 1837. It had a chain of three loops around the outer edge, and in the center of the inscription."

The United States should receive a few hundred million of these copper cents and distribute them.

The French are not defying England recklessly, without knowing what they are doing.

Twenty years ago France might have hesitated to defy the British fleet.

When powder and bullets came into use they made noblemen and their medieval armor a joke.

The flying machine has done the same thing for the great British fleet, with its super-dreadnoughts.

France, for the moment, rules in the air.

What business have we, of the United States, with that European quarrel, based on the question, "how can Germany be made effectively stripped of her wealth?"

We don't want Germany's gold or territory. We don't want to take the place of a despotic monarch.

"Mind your business," ought to be stamped on every American coin and written across the face of every American bank note.

Patriotic newspapers that urged young men to go to Europe and get the war for their dear country, mourn when the cost of a bonus and war pensions.

Were there no question of ingratitude, decency and honesty involved in the pensions and bonus should be paid if only because these patriotic newspapers that hooted for the war, that war is costly.

You are informed by haggard, careworn profiteers, that the compensation for the war, in the form of pensions, will amount to $125 billions in the first fifty-seven years.

One hundred and twenty-five thousand million dollars in fifty-seven years sounds a great deal. But the money would be paid in the form of a small annuity.

Those patriotic newspapers that tell you, although it was nonsense, that if our young men didn't go over and get shot, Germany would be the face of every man after finishing the rest of the world.

To get rid of "taxation without representation," which used to be a slogan of the revolution, takes more than one revolution.

King George and his descendants taxed the colonies. The colonies fought a war to get rid of taxation without representation.

Then there are certain specialists in taxation. For example, an official food and drug commission estimates that drug peddlers collect sixty million dollars a year from their "customers."

And that special tax of sixty millions, in turn, is nothing at all compared with amounts collected by bootleggers.

It takes a rich country to spend the taxation that this country stands.

Pray Heaven that the cost of another European war, which upon the face of it might seem to be a national expense bill.

Not five, nor fifty, nor a hundred thousand million dollars are taken through the war that is coming.

It goes on at the start and again by bootleggers.

It goes on at the start and again by bootleggers.

Texas Viewpoints

The Titus County Case and the Quo Warranto Bill

Opponents of the quo warranto bill, passage of which by the Thirty-Eighth Legislature is expected, are pointing to the action in Titus county as proof of their contention that results can be secured without this legislation.

But under existing laws the move to oust can be expected to occur only when the situation has grown so desperate that the people of a county will no longer put up with it.

Whereas under the quo warranto bill, the governor and attorney general, neither subject one way or the other to local influences and friendships, can act immediately to begin showing signs of becoming bad.

If a majority of the people of a county are law abiding they can in times of emergency become really disgraced.

It is difficult to arouse until conditions become really disgraced.

Of common knowledge, which usually is a long time after the need for drastic action first existed.

DOPE FAILS TO WORK AS SPUDDERS WIN OPENER 6 TO 4

Old Time Punch Evident and Carlson Pitches Hopefuls To First Win Since Leaving Home

By AL PARKER. BEAUMONT, July 17.—If Beaumont beat San Antonio 2 to 4 and San Antonio beat Wichita Falls 2 to 1, how much did Beaumont beat Wichita Falls? You're wrong. The Spudders snapped out of it in the opener with Kitchens' team and won their first game in the last seven, 6 to 4.

The Carlsons, given splendid support from all corners, started the trick, though he wilted in the eighth and allowed the Spudders to come within one run of a tie. In the eighth he had allowed three hits, one of them a scratch. He came back in the ninth and the home team scarcely fouled one hand in the inning.

Combs and Hollis looked like a different pair at the bat, for the old punch in the batting order was there, as Abe Bailey, the former Pelican can testify. Few of the Spudders knock out Port Worth.

With some of the cripples falling in line, things are beginning to look up for the Spudders. They believe it is set for a winning streak that will more than offset the six straight losses.

Sport Sublights

One of the important links of the old time winning combination appeared in the Spudder lineup Monday. Bob Spencer was back and played a whole of a game. He connected safely twice and in addition lent his "moral support." Bob still has a perceptible limp but it didn't seem to bother him a great deal while on the plate.

Texas League clubs have come to realize the danger when Buddy Tanner, Joseph Berger will have nursed his injury to such an extent that it will permit him to return to the lineup. This will put the old winning chain back complete with every link.

Umpires seem to be having their share of trouble this year. Monday the president of the International League gave one of his arbiters his unconditional release. The president would not comment on the matter but stated that he had "sufficient grounds" to support his action. The other two umpires assigned to call the balls and strikes and watch the bases refused to perform as a result bench players were pressed into service. A meeting was called by all umpires of the league to consider a sympathy strike.

It is only natural that umpires will make mistakes just the same as players, but some of their decisions seem to border close on the sublime stage, beyond human comprehension. A sample of this sort of judgment was evidenced in Sunday's game between the Spudders and the Bears. With the bases loaded, Wheeler threw to the plate forcing the runner coming in from third and Hirschoff returned the peg to third. Tanner had the ball before the runner from second had reached a point four feet from the bag, but the wild umpire, who was in the shear, called the man safe, starting in an argument that ensued that it was no force out.

At Houston Sunday Umpire O'Hearn ran into some trouble, which nearly resulted in a riot. The game was delayed 20 minutes while officers were attempting to clear the field of irate fans and players. A unanimous report in arguing with O'Hearn about whether a hit ball was fair or foul, let fly his right which connected solidly with the umpire's jaw. Even though the ump was wrong, not stating that he was, such action on the part of a player cannot be commended. It hurls the great national emblem.

A writer and an ardent supporter of the Cubs learned the hard way that a "true confession is good for the soul" and consequently he appeared in print as saying that the Cubs although not up to the league had no business there. He even went so far as to say that had not ill fate befallen the Cubs, they would have been in the league.

Becher returned Monday and Berger will be back in a few days. That will complete the chain and nothing should keep the Spudders from a speedy march back to first place.

As that as it may, Fort Worth has in reality no potential winning individual make up what they have in a winning combination. The Spudders had such an organization until injuries forced the league to the game with others following. At that time in addition to having a winning combination, the club was composed of a set of players who showed pennant winning caliber both on the offensive and defensive.

Fourth Annual City Tennis Meet Will Soon Be Under Way With Hot Contests Certain in All Divisions

The annual city tennis tournament will soon be under way, according to the committee in charge of the event. The first preliminary matches will be played off the last of this week.

This is the fourth year of the tournament, and the committee officials in charge, Keener competition is expected this summer than ever before. The cup winners of last year hold a very unusual record in the title chair.

C. O. Gallencamp, singles cup winner for the past three years, is fighting hard to win the cup this summer. According to the rules of the tournament, if a player wins a cup for three consecutive years, he is allowed to keep the loving cup as his personal property. The singles cup was won by Tom Reichart, who played in the tournament, however, left the city the next year and this summer he is competing, thereby forfeiting his chances to the title.

He has been frightened by well meaning friends who tell him he is not ready to meet the champion of the world.

Firpo, "The Wild Bull of the Pampas," is now said to be hesitating about matching himself against Dempsey.

When Firpo begins to lose that belief in himself and listens to persons who believe more in some one else than they do in Firpo, he will lose a great asset.

Tom Gibbons believed in himself. No one else, not even Gibbons' close friends, believed in him when he talked of a match with Dempsey. They believed in Dempsey. But believing in himself, Gibbons made the match; still believing in himself, he made a tremendous stand against the world's champion.

Had Gibbons, like Firpo, listened to his well meaning advisers, he would have lost his belief in himself and he would not have remained no greater or better than he was.

"Jersey" Jones, bright young man, of analytical mind, writes a long argument that beef, not brain, is the key to success in boxing.

Jones cites that Firpo and Willard, aged, slow, cumbersome, ungraceful, and lacking in technique, drew the largest crowd that ever witnessed a sporting event in an enclosure in America.

Firpo's championship was involved. The result of the Firpo-Willard fight meant nothing in particular.

Bobby Jones Hailed Greatest Golfer In All The World Averaged Less Than 74 Strokes For 16 Rounds

By THOMAS L. CUMMISKEY. Universal Service Staff Editor. NEW YORK, July 16.—If Bobby Cruikshank, the brave, wee Scot, had not tied Bobby Jones no marvelously for the national open championship, the champion would not be a happy man today.

To the thousands who idolize the Atlanta youth, it should be interesting to know that he really did not want the title, after cracking under the terrific strain Saturday.

He is now rightly called the golfing genius of the age. Competent critics, here and abroad, including Harold Hilton of England, Jim Barnes and Francis Ouimet, have declared him the greatest golfer, pro or amateur, in all the world.

His total strokes for the four championships, 72 holes each, totaled 1,201, Jones 1,187.

Abstract, and you have Jones 14 strokes less.

Stonely Cruikshank won many of the titles which will admit him always. This Scotch boy on Grandstand in the Highlands, upheld the traditions of a fine race. His stockings were the plaid of the Club of Gungahmore.

"He was a worthy son of a Gunn." It is highly worth noting that three years ago, about six strokes less than the next man, Jack Hutchinson, with 30 for 72 holes in tying Jones. He made 17 holes in tying Jones. He made 17 holes in tying Jones.

Runyon Says-- "Try, Try, Again" Won For Bobby Jones. Gibbons Believed in Himself.

By DAMON RUNYON. Universal Service Staff Correspondent. (Copyright 1928.) NEW YORK, July 17.—Bobby Jones won the open golf title.

This is pleasing news. Bobby Jones is a fine young American from Georgia, a strict amateur.

His victory, scored under thrilling circumstances, shows that there is much in the ancient maxim, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

Bobby Jones, beginning as a boy, a prodigy played in many tournaments, meeting with misfortune that should bolster his patience the rest of his life.

He did not give up. He persisted, though that people would think he did not have the real grit was weighing on his sensitive nature.

Then, when Cruikshank did the almost unbelievable of a par four on the twentieth hole, a "birdie" three on the home hole, tying him, Jones rushed up to congratulate him. He was almost so pleased, he wanted to show he was not "yellow."

In the play off yesterday, Bobby Jones played the machinations of the Gods, got his chance on the home hole.

When he had had a tragic Saturday, with his nerves jangling as a people insisted on talking to him, while he waited for the chain to be loosened and the crowd pushed back to let him shoot, he yesterday shot a soul-stirring par. He made out through the rough to do it. His nerves were made to serve him true.

THE SCOREBOARD. CHICAGO, July 17.—It was a bad day for the Yankees in Cleveland yesterday. Not only did they lose to the Indians, but they temporarily lost Bullet Joe Bush, their star pitcher, who has not been seen since he was first for an out and returned from the game for at least 10 days.

In the opening game the Indians scored a shutout, winning 6 to 0, but the Yankees, who had played the game turned up for the remainder of the game. Smith and Plack scored homers.

Work to Begin at Once on Task of Bringing Water From Diversion Dam To Renew City Supply in Lake Wichita

Preliminary work on the task of bringing water from the diversion dam to this city to relieve the shortage in Lake Wichita will begin at once, following the decision of the council Monday night. By a unanimous vote the council authorized the expenditure of the amount necessary to supply this city with water as long as the emergency exists. It is estimated that the installation of pumps, motors and other equipment and the building of the small dam will cost the city approximately $11,000. Power to carry on the work will cost around $60 per day until the canal is thoroughly seasoned. It is said after that time it is believed that the electric bill will not exceed $50 per day. It will also be necessary to keep at least two men at work on the pumps after the job is completed, it was explained.

Foundations for the pumps and other preliminary work will be started at once. The more expensive part of the work will be postponed as long as possible to prevent unnecessary expense should there be sufficient rainfall to supply the demand. A new 10,000-gallon pump, recently purchased for use at the city plant, will be used at the dam in addition to a booster pump which the city also has in its possession. Power will be secured from the high line that is now being used by the Puget Sound Company on the dredge. It is believed that this company will release the line on August 1, by the time the city requires it. The water will be brought from Lake Kemp to the diversion dam; a rise in the river bed makes the building of a small dam necessary here. At the diversion dam it will be pumped over a 34-foot rise into the canal. It will be brought a distance of 80 miles in the canal to the terminus at Call Field, where it will be taken to the city plant.

College Car Line Opposed. When ordinance number 441, providing for a franchise for a street car line extension to the new Junior College by way of Giddings street came up for its final reading, it met with a storm of protest and ended with a threat to get out an injunction to stop the work. At public hearing at the last meeting of the council failed to bring any protest, but Monday night three residents of Giddings street objected to the passage of the ordinance and urged the council to route the line on Bell street, as the original petition for a franchise provided. The change was made on account of paving. The ordinance was passed over the protests, the objectors left the council room asserting that they intended to get out an injunction to stop the laying of the tracks.

Several Paving Contracts. Routine paving matters consumed much of the council's time Monday night. A contract for the paving of Eighth street from Plimora to Denver was let to the Plains Paving Company and the ordinance ordering the paving done was passed. Resolutions accepting the bid of this company on the paving of Eighth street from Plimora to Rose were also passed. Bids were submitted for the paving of Tenth from the end of the present paving to Garfield and on Denver from Seventh to Eighth streets. Public hearings on these two streets were set for August 6.

L. E. Whitman and company were awarded the contract for the paving of Lamar from Seventh to Eighth street.

M. A. Mills, assistant cashier of the Security National Bank, was appointed city treasurer to succeed Hugh Cotter. Mr. Cotter tendered his resignation as treasurer several days ago.
