PROGRAM TO BE STORIA CENTER DEMOCRATIC PLAN

ORGANIZES FOR FIGHT ON PROVISIONS OF THE MELLON BILL
POSITION IS OUTLINED BY SENATOR ROBINSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. (AP)—The Mellon tax program will become a story center in congress under plans of Democratic leaders. They are preparing for a fight on the Mellon bill in the Senate. The program is to be a half of the present maximum surtax rate of 50 per cent and in several other respects a reduction in the tax on small incomes than has been proposed by the treasury secretary.

At the same time, Senator Robinson made public a letter to Senator Cavanaugh, Republican, Michigan, in which he urged a maximum surtax of 35 per cent. Mr. Mellon declared it was not those who have the capital who are hurt by the tax but the whole country who would benefit by its productive use.

Let us have diagnosis, not autopsy and verdict, the secretary said in concluding his letter which was in response to one from Senator Cavanaugh. The Michigan senator had written Mr. Mellon that the secretary's communication on the subject of a reduction in surtaxes did not seem to contain evidence that the reduction proposed would be for the good of the country as a whole.

Senator Robinson declared that while the proposed reduction in the surtax rates on large incomes was desirable in order to promote the industrial and commercial enterprises.

From what evidence does it appear, he asked, that a maximum of 40 per cent levied on incomes above $20,000 will not have a similar effect on the country as a whole as a means of reaching income from tax exempt securities without considering the constitutionality question suggested by the committee on transfer of inheritance taxes which distinguished between securities which have a preference for the life time and securities of the same class which do not.

Senator Robinson declared that while "propagandist influences" undoubtedly are at work behind the Mellon plan, the sentiment in favor of the program is based on justice and sound economic principles.

The Weekly Exposure: One Jump Ahead of the Sheriff

EDITORIAL POLICY. This being the second week of the life of "The Exposure," we feel called upon to say a few words in commemoration of our second issue of this little Gem of Truth.

In the first place we want to thank our readers who have made it possible for us to get out this second "spasm." I have looked up the statistics of the Newspaper Business and I find that 92 per cent perish after the first issue. The "Exposure" follows the plan of the subscriber when the Bill comes in after one Edition. So we are among the 8 per cent who are able to go to the 2nd in the second issue.

Now, let's get down to bed rock and find out what has kept us among the elect 8 per cent. Just one thing, and that is Truth. We are staking the Reputation of our Periodical on the assumption that nothing in Public Life (or out of it, for that matter) is any good. Now what we have set out to do is to find the worst. It's no trouble to pick out the Bad but I tell you, Readers, when you sit down to pick out the Worst, you have set Some Task for yourself.

The issue this week will be known as the Lament Number, or Hearts and Senses Week. The week just past has been the saddest of any known to all alleged Humorists, Paragraphers, and Stage-Comedians. When I picked up my morning Paper one day recently and read one of the Headlines, my Wife had to pour water on me for 20 minutes to bring me to The Headline read, "Henry Ford not to run for President." Here I had been laying awake nights stacking up Ford jokes and I felt better fortified for the coming campaign; this a "Prize Fighter" with a Rock hidden in his Glove.

I had some Gags that I had never pulled. I was just auring them along, until the head of the Campaign came and then I was going to cut loose with them. Well, that announcement just knocked me Cuckoo. It was just like taking away a Man's bread and Butter. You take a Ford Joke away from an Article or a Monologue and you have just about ripped the Backbone out of it. I tell you people, you don't know what they mean to you until they are taken away.

sets to be President. It's what you might call a Long Shot office, and you can't condemn a Man for not investing in Campaign Literature. So, in closing, let us say that the Country not only lost a Good President but his decision spoiled some of the best jokes I ever had in my life. But there is one gleam of hope on the horizon. While Mr. Ford fell down on us Comedians, our next best standby, Prohibition, furnished More Than his Quota.

Narcotic Users Here Made Desperate By Smashing of Ring

Users of narcotics in Wichita Falls have grown desperate in the past week, Chief of Detectives May said Saturday in discussing recent arrests, which are stamined by officers who have broken up one of the largest dope rings which was operating in this city.

Four people are being held in the county hospital, one of them in the rooming room, the other three in a private home. It was impossible for officers to be made to relieve them of the dope habit. A half dozen other addicts are walking the streets in a half dazed condition, hopeful that they may find some "peddler" with tales of inspiring troubles because of their failure to secure the drug.

Members of the sales force of the Archonold Auto Supply Company enjoyed the annual banquet of the company at the Kemp Hotel Saturday night at 1:30 o'clock. Twenty-four plates were served. What One Sees in Walk Through Capital of the Austrian Republic Tells of Cathedral and Human Fly

A Trot Round the Ringstrasse—Where Music Is Born—in the Footsteps of the Hapsburgs—Empress Elizabeth and Her Swimming Pool—Francis Joseph's Ten Dollar Bed—Schonbrunn and Its Holiday Visitors—A Million Dollar Estate Which Rents for $200 a Year.

(Copyright 1924, Carpenter World Travels)

VIENNA—Come with me this morning for a walk through Vienna. You will have to take your foot in hand for the city is big. It has more people than Philadelphia, and it covers almost as much land as the city of London. Its electric car lines put together would reach as far as from New York to Baltimore, and its streets are two-thirds as many as those of Chicago.

But we can ride a part of the way. There are hundreds of one or two-horse cabs that will charge us 50,000 kronen an hour. Don't shiver! That amount would have meant $10,000 before the war. It is only sixty cents now. Or we can go about in style in a taxi and be charged by the meter. The register is the same as that used before the world war and we shall have only to multiply the figures by 7000 to know the right fare.

CARPENTER This will give you some idea of the currency we shall use on the trip. I have a bag half filled with it, for I have just drawn $100 at the bank and the cashier gave me 7,000,000 kronen for that amount.

The money was in skin-plasters with green backs the color of the American bank notes. Some of the bills were of a half million each and a good handful or so were of one hundred thousand kronen each. The one-hundred kronen notes are as big as the size of a playing card. Each is worth one-seventh of a cent, and this is enough to satisfy the ordinary beggar. There are still smaller notes going down to ten kronen and one kronen. It takes seventy of the ten kronen notes to equal one cent, and seventy thousand of the one kronen notes to equal a dollar. Anything under one-seventh of a cent is here known as chicken feed and we can throw it out by the handful, and not lose very much. I have never really felt rich before.

I may say also it makes me feel poor. My hotel bill for the week came in this morning. It was over 500,000 kronen, or what when I had Vienna ten years ago would have been $1,000,000. Think of spending a million gold pieces for a week at a tavern. But after all this only seven dollars a day, and it included two fine rooms and two baths and the breakfast for myself and secretary.

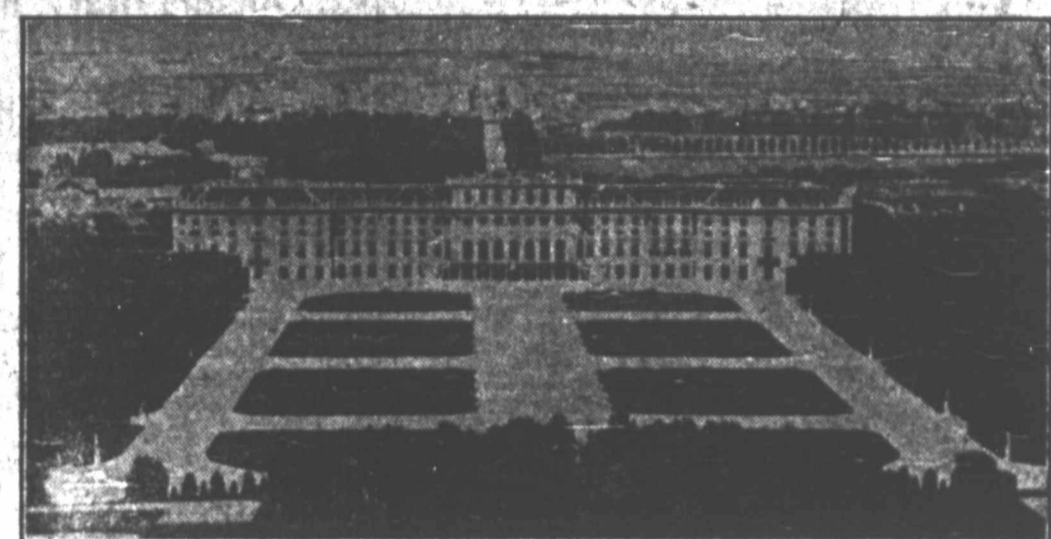

The Beer and the Fly
I find I have to watch my hotel bills. I laboriously count the great sheets of bank notes when I arrive, and the accounts are now the same. So far I have found none in my favor. I had a queer experience last week in Munich. It is as you know, famous for its good beer and to sample the beverage I ordered a glass. It came in a pitcher that contained a quart. I had worked my way down through the foam, and drank one of two gulps. When I discovered I was floating about under my nose, I called the head waiter and showed him the fly. He threw up his hands, grabbed the pitcher and ordered the waiter to bring me another one. I drank some of that, and when the bill was brought in, I found that both glasses were charged. I protested but the waiter said I would have to pay. But said I:
"The first glass had a fly, and the head waiter took it away."
"The fly was not in it when I brought it out of the kitchen, and shall have to charge for both glasses," said he.
"Go and ask the head waiter," said I.
He did so, and came back saying would have to pay for the two glasses. I protested, but he said that one glass had a fly in it. He objected, but seeing that I would not pay otherwise and he would give the five cents in question, he did so and I have that bill as a relic. It reads: "I glass filled with fillets 1500 marks." The two items made 1500 marks and today means just ten cents American.

St. Stephen's and the Human Fly
But Vienna is waiting. We shall begin our walk at St. Stephen's Place in the heart of the city, a spot well known in history. It had houses in the days of the Romans and there were stables here when Charlemagne was a baby. In the days of Maria Theresa and long after the time when Napoleon occupied Vienna there were great walls running round this place as a center. The walls were almost 300 feet wide, and were three miles in length. Several years before our Civil War they were taken away, and in their place are circular streets, which are now being run off from St. Stephen's place like the spokes of a wheel. The city in fact is a gigantic spider-web with St. Stephen's Place in the center.

But what is that crowd on the corner of this street? It is the mighty cathedral stands. They are looking up at the spire, which is a gigantic stone finger pointing towards Heaven. The Gothic proportions are clear to its tip. We take our glass and look up. Some daring man is trying to climb the great structure. He looks a little more than a bug away up there in the blue.
But there are steps inside the tower. They number only 523. We go in and walk round and round through the darkness, past the great bell of the second story, which weighs twenty tons, and finally come out with all Vienna before us.

Vienna from the Sky
We look to the four points of the compass. That great stream at the right with long strings of barges, mere log-boats in the distance, is the mighty Danube, which rises in the mountains of Germany and winds its way north to the North Sea, and on down through Hungary, Jugo-Slavia, Bulgaria and Roumania to the Black Sea. It is a thousand miles longer than the Rhine and is navigable all the way from Germany until it flows into the sea that mighty body of water which washes a great part of South Russia and gives access through the Bosphorus to the Mediterranean and thence to the Indian Ocean.
The Danube is one of the great highways of water traffic of Europe and I may say of the world. It is already connected by canal with the Rhine, and plans are under way which will join it to the Elbe and the Oder so that the North Sea and the Baltic will add to the traffic.

New turn around and look to the west. With the glass you can see the Alps, but you cannot distinguish the passes which show that Vienna is on the great trade route from Italy, by which much of the goods necessary for the city and the northward traffic goes to the north.

The Palace of Schonbrunn was once the summer home of Emperor Franz Joseph. It is now the holiday resort of the people. Schonbrunn has a park of five hundred acres, and is known as the Versailles of Austria.

The darkest hours of Vienna's starvation, the opera and concerts were held right along, and now that the city is again so full of good music it is to be found everywhere.
In the Footsteps of the Hapsburgs
The art, music and education of Vienna form a part of the unearned increment which the new republic has from the long reign of the Hapsburgs. Kings and emperors have their advantages in that they construct mighty buildings, establish opera houses and theaters, and gather paintings and sculptures that are practically free to the people. In addition to these public institutions, Vienna now has the chief industrial centers all the way to the sea, with the treasures which have accumulated during the ages.

The Hapsburgs were only one of the oldest of the royal houses of Europe. The first of them, an old robber-baron named Rudolph, took the throne of Austria more than 200 years before Columbus discovered America. It was in 1212, when the family began to live at the expense of the people and they have fed at the public crib from that time to this. And how will they have fed one may know by going through these mighty palaces every part of which is now open to all. Francis Joseph's Ten Dollar Bed
I visited this afternoon a little summer palace which you will not find in the guide books. It was built by Francis Joseph for his wife, the Empress Elizabeth, who was stabbed to death in Geneva by an anarchist three or four decades ago. Afterwards it was used as a sort of hunting lodge by the family up to the time of the war. This palace consists of a cream-colored brick building of the dimensions of a seaside hotel and it has about it a tract of 1,000 acres of forests with magnificent lawns and long winding paths and roads. It is filled with beautiful paintings, and one great hall has some splendid furniture, including beds as wide as the great bed at Ware, and also a plain simple room which was the emperor's own. This room was that of a hermit. Francis Joseph had no frills and furbelows about him, and his bed was of three quarters size and made of sheet iron. I can buy any number just like it in any town in America for ten dollars and up.

I asked in vain for the bathroom and was told there was none. This was notwithstanding the fact that the building is lighted by electricity. I am told I am the first newspaper man who has ever gone through this establishment. I had to go to it through the present leasee who tells me he gets it at a bargain, paying what an American money is just two hundred dollars a year for the great house and grounds.
The Show at Schonbrunn
The great palace at Schonbrunn and the vast structures occupied by the emperors in the heart of Vienna are now thrown open to sightseers who tramp through with hats on or hats off as they please and stare at the pictures. The government charges a fee except on certain days.
Schonbrunn was where the emperor lived in summer and it was accessible only during his absence. It is now the great holiday resort of the people. There were thousands moving about through the grounds when I went there last Sunday. The swimming pool covers at least half an acre and is so deep that any one but a giant like Goliath, who was said to remember nine feet and nine inches tall, would drown in it. I found it filled with men and women swimming about at an admission fee of a few cents per head. This pool was sacred to the empress, and she had it made deep for she was one of the great royal athletes of her time. She loved to hunt and ride and swim; and I venture if she could have had a fair chance at that anarchist he would not have been able to accomplish her death.

The palace of Schonbrunn has a park of five hundred acres of woods surrounding its magnificent gardens. The palace stands on the site of a hunting lodge erected in 1570 and the present building was erected in 1584. Maria Theresa often lived there, and the present form was largely the result of her planning.

Where Music Is Born
These Viennese are a strange people. I have talked with all classes from the statesman and banker who are running the politics and money matters of the republic, down to the man of straw who works at so many kronen per day for their bread. I have asked them about the future of their city, and what they had to still be done. They talk at first about trade, but a moment later drift into boasting of Vienna as an art and musical center, and of the things which the whole world should see.
It seems to me they are more proud of their musical attractions than anything else. The whole city breathes music. You can hear in almost any important street any night, a concert of opera, or music from a large orchestra in any large city of the United States. There are a half dozen opera houses, and no end of small theaters where music is the chief feature. There are big concerts in the parks, and almost every house has excellent music at dinner.
Some Famous Musicians
The two great opera houses here are famous the world over. The Imperial Opera, which is partly supported by the government, has as its conductor the famous Giuseppe Verdi, the People's Opera which is also noted, is conducted by Felix von Wegener, who only a few years ago conducted the opera for Richard Strauss does not come of the famous Strauss family, headed by Johann Strauss, a native of Vienna to whose music all the world waltzes. It was he who was known as the Dance King and it was he who wrote the Blue Danube waltz. Richard Strauss is a native of Munich but his great compositions were composed in Vienna. Here was also the home of Gluck, Mozart, Beethoven and Brahms. It was here that Mozart composed Figaro and Don Giovanni, and Beethoven lived for 35 years and in that time composed almost all his great works, and it was Schubert, who though born in Hamburg, said that Vienna was an ideal place for the composition of symphonies. Here today Franz Liszt is living in the house where the Merry Widow was written and here modern light music may be said to have originated and to have had its development. In

SENATOR BORAH IS FOR TAX REDUCTION AND AGAINST BONUS

DECLARES THIS ISSUE CANNOT BE AVOIDED OR SIDE-STEPPED.

DELIVERS ADDRESS BEFORE NATIONAL REPUBLIC CLUB

Outlines Views On Various Public Questions Involved In 1924 Campaign.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 (AP)—Declaring himself in favor of tax reduction and opposed to the soldier bonus, Senator William B. Borah of Idaho, in an address today before the National Republic Club of New York said this issue could not be avoided or side-stepped.

"One is either for tax reduction or he is against it," he said. "One has a right to be for the bonus or he has a right to be for tax reduction. But he cannot be for both."

"You cannot take off a temporary burden of $148,000,000 or $150,000,000 and lay on a permanent burden of obligation of $4,000,000,000 to $4,500,000,000 and call it a reduction. It would be a dangerous political experiment. It would defeat any party that would undertake it."

Senator Borah quoted figures indicating the rate of increase of taxes in the last eight or ten years, declaring that "the situation is most searching tragedy of American life."

He said that the "most serious danger" in the government was the "mad scramble for spending."

"What do such tax burdens mean," he said, "to the millions of people who are being impoverished and whose children are being kept from school?"

"Have we the courage to do our plain duty?" Senator Borah asked. "I beg the people to understand that it is not alone a question of reducing the taxes. It is also this: Can we throw off the national disease of extravagance and waste?"

"Congress is the center of fire in the tax cut controversy," he said, "but the Congress alone is divided on this issue."

"It seems to me that the administration is not presenting a unified front," he said. "At a time when we need the cry of the masses for relief, the administration is divided."

"Expenses Not Necessary," he said. "As I understand it, there is nearly $100,000,000 additional for military and armament purposes being asked for. I do not think the additional expenses are necessary or justifiable."

"If we build up our economic power, give life and energy to our farmers and business men, make it possible for the average citizen to get ahead, to have something, to educate his children, we will be far more invulnerable than if we have great armies and a nation crippled economically."

"The administration has done a fine, inspiring thing in putting out a call for tax reduction, for the curbing of expenditures. But nothing has discouraged the supporters more than the grabbing for public funds by the different departments of the government. Who can deny a soldier boy and send him to share with his country the question of the matter of the depression or prosperity of the spread savings are to be eaten up by wasteful burdens?"

"The great obstacle to tax reduction, it appears to me, is the proposal for a bonus for ex-service men. If we consider the bonus purely in the light of material or financial aid, and if our real purpose is to assist the soldier in that way, I can think of no greater benefit for these men than that which would be derived from a betterment of the economic conditions throughout the country."

"It is five years since the war. These young men are back in civil life. They cannot succeed in business, industry and agriculture if embarrassed or discouraged. The

PARTY CONVENTIONS TO DEVELOP WHIRLPOOL OF REACTIONS

Will Involve Platform of Parties Successful Candidates and Pending State of Legislation in Congress

By MARK SULLIVAN
Political Correspondent of New York Tribune and Wichita Daily Times.
Copyright, 1923, by the New York Tribune.

When the national conventions meet in June and July there is going to be a curious whirlpool of reactions involving the party platforms, the successful candidates for the nominations and the pending state of legislation in congress.

For example, if the bonus bill has already been disposed of by the time the conventions meet, presumably it will not figure in the party platforms. But if the bonus bill is still pending there will be demands upon each party that it go on record on this subject in the same way, if Coolidge is the Republican candidate for the nomination, the Republican platform will almost necessarily adopt a plank coinciding with Coolidge's opposition to the bonus. On the other hand, if Johnson should be the Republican nominee, the party platform presumably would reflect his attitude on the bonus. It is the same as to immigration, railroad transportation and practically all other subjects of pending legislation.

As to all these and all other subjects of pending legislation, decidedly the most popular prophecy is on the side of delay. It is almost always the rule for congress to be slower in action than is anticipated at the beginning.

And this rule is even more true of the present congress than of previous ones. On the day this week when congress had been in session one full month it was remarked that its record of actual legislation consisted of one bill, and one only, passed by the senate. That was a bill introduced by Senator Overman, of North Carolina, to equip the several thousand inmates of the federal prison at Leavenworth with machinery for making shoes for the army and navy. There is ample time in the statement frequently made that the present congress has already been slower, and given promise of continuing to be slower, in getting down to actual roll calls on important measures than any previous congress for several years.

In the same direction it is also true that, except for the war congress, when speed was achieved by voluntary acquiescence in the necessity of what was almost executive dictation—except for that, a greater quantity of important legislation is on the program of the present congress than in any previous congress for a long time.

If congress has not passed on the bonus by the time the national conventions meet in June and July there will thereafter begin to work against the bonus. In each party most infinite. It is not as if it were a squarely framed issue between reducing the taxes or doing nothing about them. If the issue were that simple it could be brought to a vote within a few days, and probably not one member of either house would vote against reduction. But the complications are countless. There will be differences of opinion about the extent of reduction to be granted in the case of smaller incomes and in the case of larger incomes. There will be an attempt to lead to debate, to recess the excess profits bill and another attempt to change the inheritance tax. Aside from these and other major aspects of the bill, there are literally scores of administrative details that will involve debate and amendment or attempted amendment.

To make this tendency toward delay even greater the purpose of most of the changes being made in the rules are in the matter of organization and in the direction of giving to individual members of congress greater power to propose amendments, to call for debate on the floor and to demand roll calls.

The enactment of tax reduction, or the undue postponement of reduction, or a reduction badly balanced as regards the large surtaxes—all these and all other aspects and prospects about tax reduction will have an effect on that psychological aspect of public feeling which is called "business times." And prosperity or the lack of prosperity, the hope of prosperity or the fear of depression, all these will have a large part, possibly a preponderant part, in the campaign.

One might suppose that everything possible to say about the evils of high taxes has already been said. But the writer heard recently from a business man an additional objection. It is to the effect that high taxes tend to bring about and perpetuate monopolies. Let us suppose that a corporation in any line of business—steel, cotton, wood or what not—is exceptionally prosperous. Some one observing this prosperity would like to start in the same line. But when he approaches capitalists of sufficient means to finance any new corporation on a modern scale the capitalist replies somewhat to the following effect: "You ask me to put half a million dollars in this business. I admit it looks promising, and under ordinary circumstances I would invest. But under the present rate of taxation on my income I am restrained. If I invest and the new enterprise falls I lose everything. On the other hand, if the new enterprise is successful the government will take away from me 50 per cent to 60 per cent of my profits. What the government says to me is, in effect: 'Heads, I win; tails, you lose.'"

These high income taxes put a penalty on investment in new enterprises. The result is an artificial protection for enterprises already existing, a protection which enables them to charge and get high prices without fear of temporary competition. And so we arrive by a new route at the old truth, namely, that high rates of taxation increase the cost of living.

For a time and in a way protected monopoly creates one kind of prosperity. Freedom of competition creates another. And to repeat what every politician knows, prosperity or the lack of it has more to do with the outcome of most elections than any other one factor.

One measure which it is imperative to enact by June 30 is the permanent immigration restriction bill. At present immigration restriction is accomplished by an emergency agency measure, which will expire on June 30. This creates the necessity for the enactment of a permanent bill before that date arrives. The new immigration measure, like all the other important bills before congress, will involve a certain amount of debate and attempted amendment, but the opposition in favor of drastic immigration restriction is probably stronger, more nearly unanimous, than sentiment on any subject of any other pending subject in congress. Presumably this permanent immigration restriction bill will have been enacted by the time the conventions meet. If this bill should be delayed it will be necessary to re-enact the existing emergency measure. Congress certainly will not permit it to happen that the country should be without any immigration restriction legislation.

If the permanent immigration restriction bill is enacted before the conventions meet, and if it is sufficiently drastic to satisfy the prevailing sentiment of congress on this subject, that will go far toward relieving the conventions and the two political parties of one of their greatest embarrassments—namely, the Ku Klux Klan.

If the Ku Klux Klan and the kind of agitation that accompanies it continue to be as active as they now are that subject will make a world of trouble for the platform makers of both parties. Within the next few months there is a condition which might result in disruption by six months from now. On the other hand, it is possible that next June may find the Klan still going strong.

About the present vitality of the Klan there can be little doubt. It is possible to distinguish between, on the one hand, the leadership and basis of organization of the Klan and, on the other hand, the motive which leads men to join the Klan because of ideas in their minds. Ignoring the Klan's leadership and basis of organization and looking only at the motives, the ideas in the minds of many individuals who lead them to join the Klan—from his latter standpoint—one can doubt the vitality and widespread appeal of this organization.

Some one the other day made an assertion, frankly meant to provoke argument to the effect that the Klan is more powerful in America today than any fraternal society of any political party or any church. The assertion was meant to be sensational and, on a basis taking in all the facts, could not stand up against argument. But it is necessary to admit that for the moment probably more persons are joining the Klan than are joining any fraternal society or any church or any political party during the same length of time. The number of persons who have joined the Klan is variously given at from 1,000,000 to 4,000,000. If 2,000,000 are correct, that is a rough estimate. There are of course many churches which have more members, and each of the two great political parties has more adherents. But it is also true that there are religious denominations that have been active in America for over 200 years, but none of many who join the Klan and membership as the Klan has within a few years. Of course, the permanence of the Klan, as compared with the religious denominations or the political parties, will tell a different story.

As regards political parties, much must be admitted on the side of the greater vitality, for the present at least, of the motives that lead men to join the Ku Klux Klan. There is no part of the United States where people are joining either the Republican party or the Democratic party in as large numbers or with as much zeal as many persons are joining the Klan. Every person who joins the Klan pays an entrance fee of $10. If there are 2,000,000 members that makes an aggregate of $20,000,000. There has never been a campaign in which either party has been able to get into its treasury as much as half of $20,000,000, even with the most energetic effort by the party managers. The Republican party today has hardly any money in its treasury. It is only within a few months that the Republicans have been able to pay off finally the debt hanging over from the 1920 campaign. The Democrats actually have not yet paid off their 1920 debt. They still owe nearly $200,000 on notes indorsed by some party leaders.

A large part of the motive which lead men to join the Ku Klux Klan can be grouped under the general heading of anti-alien sentiment, a fear of alien influences, which is based on the feeling that more and more, and particularly kind of aliens, have been coming into the United States recently than the country can assimilate comfortably. If the permanent immigration measure that congress is now considering should be sufficiently drastic

Republicans who favor the court for Democrats who want to worry the divided Republicans to conduct a campaign on the floor of the senate designed to bring the world court issue into the open.

As regards the Democrats, there is probably no one leader except Wilson—who has any confidence thought as to just what his party platform should be in the coming campaign. Wilson presumably would stand on the faith of 1920 and ask the party again, as he did before, to go to the country on the issue of joining the League of Nations. But if Wilson still has this position—and it is sometimes whispered that even he has modified his attitude, after observing the actual operations of the league for three years—there is hardly any other Democratic leader who would go this far. Ex-Governor Cox of Ohio, who was the Democratic candidate in 1920, is believed to be willing to go a considerable distance toward the platform of 1920 and to propose that for

PERSONAL REMINISCENCES OF CHARLES A. CULBERSON

SHORT LETTERS No. 6. WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—In 1924, having received much encouragement to do so, I became a candidate for the nomination for governor of Texas. Among others who tendered me their support early in the campaign was Judge John H. Reagan, who had resigned from the senate of the United States to become chairman of the railroad commission. I had called on the railroad commission to consult with them about the commission case, in which the validity of the law was assailed, and when I arose to leave, Judge Reagan, in the presence of the commission, said to me in effect that he noticed from the press I probably had an ambition to be governor; that he felt I was justified, and that I had his support. After the campaign progressed to some extent, Judge Reagan was requested by a number of people to enter the race. He declined to do so, stating that he felt I was justified, and that he was pledged to one of the other candidates; upon which, after re-

Ubiquitous

Noah Webster defines ubiquity as "existence everywhere at the same time." While the power is not given to mortals, its closest approach is given to you through the activities of such a newspaper as this. The activities of men, the progress of events, the new discoveries in science, philosophy, invention, the latest revelations of art and letters, the manifestation of nature, all over the world are brought to you through the far-reaching facilities of the newspaper. In every land, on every sea, in the air and underneath the earth and waters, the newspaper gathers for you the news of the times, the lore of the past.

The wings of the wind, the flash of cinema, the spark of electricity are all potent powers the newspaper employs to bridge time and space for your education and the most marvelous machinery evolved from the brain and ingenuity of man have been adopted and adapted to your service. News, editorials, advertisements, cartoons, illustrations and maps all contribute to your fund of knowledge, your better living, your health, your gaiety and the moulding of your mind and character. And all for 65c per month. Such value and service is not to be purchased elsewhere in the world than is given to the subscriber of this newspaper.

Such value and service gains its own reward. It has been manifested in this paper by its rapidly growing circulation.

Indications Point to a Long and Severe Winter

And it is poor economy to stint along with a few little worn out heater stoves. If you are overtaxing their capacity they will burn out in a few days. Your gas stoves should be amply large to assure required amount of heat without over-heating the stove.

Although we have had a wonderful stove business, we still have a nice assortment of standard makes of gas stoves and ranges of every description.

We recommend that you get in touch with us at once to arrange to have your heating stoves rearranged with the addition of one or more larger and better heaters placed in the rooms, where they are needed most.

Remember we have expert engineers in charge of this department, and no house is too large or complicated.

We are the Round Oak representative and have a full line of Round Oak Heaters and Furnaces on hand, and ready to install at once.

Many Improvements Are Planned for City Parks Next Spring

The spring of 1924 promises to bring to Wichita Falls a decided change in the way of improvement of the parks and recreation centers. A carload of trees and shrubs has been unloaded and the contents are now being distributed for planting in the various parks in the city. Charles Dunneberg, park superintendent, has had a corps of men at work since the Christmas holidays replacing the trees and shrubs, which failed to withstand the summer drought, with new and attractive shrubbery.

A large part of the new trees and shrubbery will be used in completing the plans for Testoma park on the Iowa park road. The park will be replanted and a number of trees and new shrub beds will be added to the already splendid start which was made when the park was opened last year.

An entire rearrangement of the Kemp library park is called for in the program which is being undertaken by the park department. Cement walks will replace the gravel paths now in the park; the shrub and flower beds will be arranged in a more attractive fashion and the general appearance of the park improved.

Scotland park, the largest and only natural recreation park within the city limits, will undergo a general change and improvement if the proposed plans materialize. Driveways through the park will be changed and put in good condition. Last year the park was used as a tourist camping ground, but present plans call for a new camp site next year and flower beds and other features which will add to the attractiveness of the park will be installed.

The block across the street from Huff McGregor park and directly behind the Seventh street fire station is being converted from an unwholesome marsh into an ideal spot for a tourist camp site and present plans are to use it for that purpose. Surplus soil taken from the streets being excavated for paving is being used to raise the entire plot about two feet. The site is accessible to gas, water, lights, and all city accommodations and an effort will be made to get the city council to designate it as the permanent tourist camp site. J. S. NICHOLS IS CANDIDATE FOR COMMISSIONER

J. S. Nichols, a prominent real estate man of this city and a resident of Wichita Falls for the past nine years, has announced his candidacy for nomination as road commissioner of precinct No. 1.

Mr. Nichols has resided in Clay and Wichita counties for the past 25 years, being a pioneer citizen of this section of the country. He has been associated with J. L. Jackson in the real estate business and is cognizant of all matters pertaining to public contracts, having spent 25 years in the general contracting business.

In announcing his candidacy Mr. Nichols said: "I have never been a candidate for, nor held public office, and if elected I will devote my efforts to securing the minimum tax rate that is necessary. The tax rate of the county and state is excessive and I believe that public officials should collect the delinquent taxes without the necessity of farming the same out to private individuals on a contingent basis. If any gift of public funds in the form of taxes should be made, I believe it should be given to the ones, rather, owing the taxes."

"I promise to give the county an economical business administration if selected."

FLEAD GUILTY TO THE THEFT OF CAR DOORS

Three men entered pleas of guilty Saturday noon to charges of petty theft, paid fines and were released. It was charged that they carried away three railroad grain doors and placed them in their house. According to the special agent of the railroad company, the entire performance was witnessed by him. He placed the men under arrest and turned them over to county authorities.

In fact, if you wish it to tell the correct time, it will be necessary to add something to your savings every single day. While the clock is an excellent timekeeper, a nickel, dime or quarter must be deposited every twenty-four hours to keep it running. Pennies and bills can also be inserted but neither will operate the clock. The coin controlled clock makes saving simple and sure. It quickly establishes regularity in savings and builds successful bank accounts when all other means have failed. We have a Coin Controlled Clock for YOU.

Sousa's Band to Appear at Palace Tuesday, Jan. 29

Palace Theater Under Auspices of McConnell Brothers

J. Warren Kerrigan and Lois Wilson in "The Covered Wagon"

The greatest bandmaster in the world without doubt is Lieut. John Philip Sousa, who brings his famous band to the Palace on Tuesday, January 29, matinee and night. The greatest bass drummer in the world on the authority of no less an authority than Sousa himself is August Helmcke, who with his big bass drum for the past fifteen years has been going up and down the land reflecting in every beat of his mighty instrument the rhythm and the spirit of the stirring Sousa marches.

Several years ago, after much experimentation, Sousa had made for Helmcke what is believed to be the largest bass drum in the world. As everyone knows, drum heads are made from the skins of animals and are susceptible to weather conditions. Wet weather or excessive humidity even when there has been no rainfall causes the pores in the skin to fill with moisture, dulling the sound of the drum. Temperature changes or extremes of temperature frequently cause drum heads to split. The manufacturers were told to spare no expense in evolving the kind of drum head which would be most likely to withstand the rigors of a Sousa tour. They found that a sebra skin was the thing they wanted. So they watched the fur and skin markets of the world for a year or more until the desired skins were obtained. Then the drum was made and Sousa received it and a bill for $3,500. But the sebra skin drum heads have withstood a dozen tours, in Vancouver and Palm Beach in rain and sunshine, Helmcke's drum beats true.

There is a story behind the cymbals with which Helmcke punctuates the Sousa marches. Several years ago Helmcke visited China. There Li Hung Chang, the famous Chinese statesman, presented him with the cymbals. They had come from Manchuria and had been the property of a Manchurian executioner who on execution days by crashing them together announced that he waited for the condemned.

"The average layman does not realize the importance of the bass drummer to a band," says Sousa. "He has a general idea that the success of the band lies primarily in the trumpet, trombone and clarinet sections. I sometimes think that no band can be greater than its bass drummer, because it is given to him, more than to any person except the director to reflect the rhythm and spirit of the composition. This is particularly true of the march forms of composition. Marches primarily are written, to be marched to. One does not march to trombones, the trumpets or the clarinets, but to the bass drum. And no one who has watched and heard Helmcke with my hand playing a march will differ with me when I declare that my bass drummer has the spirit and the soul of a great artist."

Eight Popular Victor Artists Coming Jan. 17

Booked in again! The "Eight Popular Victor Artists," those pleasing entertainers who were brought here last season by McConnell Brothers are to return under the same local management to the Palace theater on Thursday, January 17.

Everything on this year's program will be new except the artists themselves. Henry Burr is with them and his tenor voice is said to be better than ever, probably due to the fact that he regularly gives his vacation periods to rest and careful study. Albert Campbell, another tenor of the group, is famous for his dust work with Burr. John Meyer, baritone, and Frank Croxton, bass, will be heard in new selections and will unite with Campbell and Burr to form the Peerless Quartet. The Sterling Trio, composed of Campbell, Burr and Meyer, will also be programmed for several "harmony" selections.

Billy Murray will be on hand with his "million dollar smile" and will have his original humorous ways of introducing the artists. In addition to acting as interactor, Murray will sing several of the latest comical ditties. Monroe Silver, monologist, has a store of new "Cohan" stories and comedy songs, and will cause many laughs during the evening. The instrumental part of the program will be handled by Rudy Wedoert, saxophonist, and Frank Banta, pianist and accompanist, both of whom have demonstrated their ability to please and entertain. The program will be announced in a few days.

Modern Marriage Strand Attraction Starting Sunday

"Modern Matrimony," the Victor Heerman production starring Owen Moore with Alice Lake, which opens at the Strand Sunday, offers that rare combination of straight comedy, farce and drama which is so often attempted by motion picture producers but seldom attained. The story has to do with the trials and tribulations of a newly married couple who start on their matrimonial voyage with little more than their love for each other and unbounded courage and optimism.

After several heartbreaking, though humorous, experiences in apartment hunting, they are lured by the advertisements of a realty concern which point out the foolishness of paying rent when you can pay a little down and then go on paying monthly, "just like rent," until some day you awaken the proud owner of a home.

Enticing, too, are the advertisements of the Cheerful Credit Company, which furnishes your home completely, also for a slight initial consideration, and the most modest monthly installments. In the case of our newweds, Chester and Patricia Waddington (Owen Moore and Alice Lake), both the real estate manager and the proprietor of the furniture company agree to waive even the first payment, deferring it until the fifteenth of the current month, when Chester is to receive a check for commissions earned, over and above his rather meagre salary.

They move to their country home and the complications which ensue offer a splendid evening's entertainment. The director has wielded his megaphone to good purpose and his touches of pathos are most deftly woven into the story, and you find a lump rising in your throat even as a hearty laugh is dying from your lips.

An exceptional supporting cast has been provided which includes Mayme Kelso, Frank Campana, Kate Lester, Victor Postel, Salls Edwards and that inimitable ebony-hued comedian Douglas Carter. "Modern Matrimony" is an original story written especially for the screen by its director, Victor Heerman, one of the younger school of directors who, has forged to the front rank through sheer ability and hard work.

Short glides in the air were made by a man named Elmer, as early as the reign of King Harold of England. In one flight, the intrepid flyer struck a cross air current and fell to the ground. Both legs were broken.

'The Fair Cheat' Mission Theater Starting Sunday

Queen Victoria of England, a few years prior to her death, urged the mothers and fathers of English girls to give their daughters practical education. She considered that girls' accomplishments meant nothing compared to a girl's ability to earn her own living, and that every girl, despite untold wealth and social position, should be capable of providing for herself, unaided. This was the spirit in which the picture "The Fair Cheat" was made. It is a picture that has been heard of by every boy in the country. She had not been together for ten years. Mrs. Shaw is one of the leading motion picture actresses of England, where she has lived for the past decade. She was accompanied to this country by her daughter, Edna Plungrath Shaw, who is a popular English film director. Shortly after her arrival, Mrs. Shaw was engaged by Metro Pictures Corporation to direct the picture "Rouged Lips," which is the attraction at the Gem Sunday. "Rouged Lips" was written by Alvin Dwan. Since the Days of

"The COVERED WAGON"

The name "McCLURKAN" has stood for quality and honest value in the minds of Northwest Texas families.

IN THE days of the sturdy plainsman, when the Wichita Falls of today was an unrealized dream, W. B. McClurkan & Co., represented the trading center of the cattleman, the cowboy, and settler.

Here the ranchman outfitted his family from head to foot, purchased the supplies he would need for the winter months, and returned over the long trail to his homestead, possibly a "good two-day" ride" away.

A trip to "McClurkan's" was an event long looked forward to in those days. It meant an opportunity of renewing old acquaintanceship with fellow plainsmen and neighbors, swapping stories around a crackling wood fire, and enjoying good fellowship. A social center where genuine hospitality and a warm welcome could always be assured.

While many of them have passed on to the great frontier, we still cherish the memory of the friendships we made in those days, loyal ties and friendships that have stood the passing of time and have ripened into genuine affection.

We are proud of the niche we hold in their esteem and have tried always to merit their confidence and good will. It's a far cry from the "McClurkan's" of those "old days" to our present institution, but the ideals and policies founded then have remained intact throughout the years. The same management conducts the business and the same welcome is always available.

We've made many friends, good friends and valued friends in the passing of the years, and not the least of these are the friends who knew us 17 years ago as "McClurkan's."

SPEED WAGON

The "Covered Wagon" of today Seventy Years of Progress

THE PICTURESQUE but slow moving Covered Wagon of yesterday, with its team of oxen, required months to travel from the little trading posts of the Mississippi Valley to the Pacific Coast. Twenty miles a day was a good journey.

Today, instead of a cumbersome, slow, heavy Covered Wagon, crudely made of oak and hickory and ash, and drawn by plodding oxen, industry uses the modern Covered Wagon—the Mighty Speed Wagon. Self propelled by the superpower of the phenomenal Reo engine, riding swiftly and comfortably on pneumatic tires, the Speed Wagon influences history today no less importantly than did the Covered Wagon of '49.

Instead of twenty miles, or less, as a day's journey, the mighty Speed Wagon carries its load two and even three hundred miles between dawn and nightfall. It does this day after day and month after month, with a minimum of attention and at an operating cost far below that of the twenty-miles-a-day Covered Wagon of history's yesterday.

Nearly 100,000 Speed Wagons are saving time and money by their unswerving dependability.

Yesterday—

In the days of the Covered Wagon the handling of money was very different from today. True there were banks but the method of doing business was very much in contrast to the present day procedure. People migrating from place to place in wagons, secreted their money in boxes, tin cans, among the food stuffs, or tied to a money belt on their person. Banks of yesterday had very crude ways of handling the money entrusted to their care—the vaults were strong but not burglar proof—the figuring and bookkeeping was all done by hand in a tiresome and lengthy manner. Modes of transportation were few and means of transferring money from one point to another was practically impossible.

Today—

Today is also the day of the covered wagon—the automobile. Bank methods of today, although built on the same principles of yesterday, have enlarged and improved themselves with the progress of the advancing civilization. People traveling from one point to another—by train, auto and many times by airplane merely have to have cashier's or Travelers' Checks to identify them wherever they go. Improved banking conditions in modern bank construction for safety—the invention of labor saving bookkeeping machinery—and more added facilities for the service of patrons—have made banks of today leading institutions in the step of progress from yesterday.

Twenty Years Growth Sees Mammoth Church Develop From Small Body Of Methodists in Wichita Village

Twenty half a century ago six people gathered in a residence at the corner of Fifth and Lee streets and organized in the little village of Wichita Falls a Methodist church.

REV. C. M. SIMPSON, Pastor

Twenty years later a little church was built at the corner of Scott and Tenth, the structure comprising working hard and earnestly to raise the necessary funds.

In the pastor's report for the first Methodist Church, South, given last week at the close of the year 1923, membership of nearly 2500 was reported and in a few weeks work will begin within a block of the location of the first little church.

During these years of development and growth the church has expanded in point of service and activities until its efforts are felt not only locally and in this state, but in many far corners of the earth.

Total collections for the year amounted to the large sum of $12,000, this being used for the maintenance of the local work, functional and centenary movements, missions, both home and foreign, and other efforts for the benefit of the church.

It is planned during the coming year to complete the pledge of the Christian education movement, the $10,000 subscription of N. H. Martin and the $50,000 pledge of W. E. Hamilton and J. J. Perkins to the Southern Methodist University having been finished in 1923.

The centenary movement, to which this church has already contributed more than $25,000, will also be completed. It is expected that special assistance will be given in the raising of the ten-million dollar fund for superannuated preachers.

A half dozen consecrated, able men and women are devoting full time to the work of the church, including the pastor, Dr. Claude M. Hamilton, the Rev. J. D. Pinkston, director of religious education, Mr. E. C. Hucks, financial secretary, Mrs. E. C. Hucks, devotes much time to the direction of the large and splendid choir, with Miss He Cook as organist and Mrs. J. W. Akin, Jr., as assistant organist.

The Sunday school, that valuable and far reaching means for the development of a native, vigorous and better and more intelligent church organization, has a membership of 1100 and raises more than $5,000 for all activities the past year.

The Rev. C. P. Eberhouse, who supported as missionary in Korea and the Rev. J. E. Carter, who is responsible for the support of a kindergarten in Gotoji, Japan, which is named for Mrs. E. E. Humphries, a member of this church and the oldest person in the church from a standpoint of membership.

The attendance of the Sunday school is so large that the entire church is occupied, as are adjacent buildings, with the presence and a downtown theater.

The "Key Bible Class," taught by Judge John C. Kay and consisting of 150 men, is one of the big features of the Sunday school, meeting in the Strand Theater every Sunday.

Among other organized classes there has been outstanding the Business Girls' Club, which does a big and valuable service for the business women of the city; the E. O. P. Class, consisting of a group of young married men who started the class under present name many years ago.

There are three chapters of the Epworth League sponsored by the church, and under the direction of Miss Glenora Fisk she carrying out a well defined plan of activities which reach more than a hundred girls.

The new building, for which the blue prints have been drawn, will consist of an auditorium with a seating capacity of 2500 and a Sunday school equipment adequate for 2000 pupils.

Jobs are scarce for the Physically Run-Down. THE DOOR of opportunity flings wide its portals only to the man who is up and doing—who is filled with pep and punch—with rich, red blood tingling through his veins.

Where is the employer who seeks the man who is physically run-down?—The man without stamina to withstand the knocks and gaffs of the hurrying, scurrying world of business?

TOM McILAM SEEKS RE-NOMINATION AS COUNTY TREASURER

T. W. (Tom) McIlam, one of the best known residents of Wichita county, has announced that he will be a candidate for the office of county treasurer, an office which he has occupied, subject to the decision of the Democratic voters at the July primaries.

During his residence in the county he has served the public in the capacity of an official for many years and his records stand as an endorsement of his qualifications.

HEALTH OF CITY IS EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD IN DECEMBER

Wichita Falls was in exceptionally good condition from a physical standpoint during the month of December, according to the report of Dr. A. C. Deagles, city health officer. Very few cases of contagious diseases were reported and the year closed without an epidemic of any nature.

During the month 20 cases of contagious diseases were reported and families quarantined. During the same month 12 old cases standing at the beginning of the month were released.

A total of 113 loads of trash and garbage was disposed of during December and 10 animal bodies were disposed of.

The department inspected 233 food establishments during the month and 20 dairies. A total of 113 cattle were tested.

Eighteen pounds of beef were condemned and 225 gallons of canned fruit were also ordered destroyed.

The laboratory made 21 chemical tests and 11 bacteriological tests during the month.

Collectors for the month from all districts $104.57.

O. L. (RED) GIBBS ASKS FOR SECOND TERM OF OFFICE

O. L. (Red) Gibbs, who was elected to the office of justice of the peace of the Wichita Falls precinct, place No. 2, by the voters of this precinct and took office on January 1, 1923, announced Saturday that he would be a candidate for re-nomination.

Mr. Gibbs has been a resident of this city for the past 25 years and served in the capacity of street car conductor and motorman for the local traction company for many years during which time he won for himself a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

PIGGLY WIGGLY

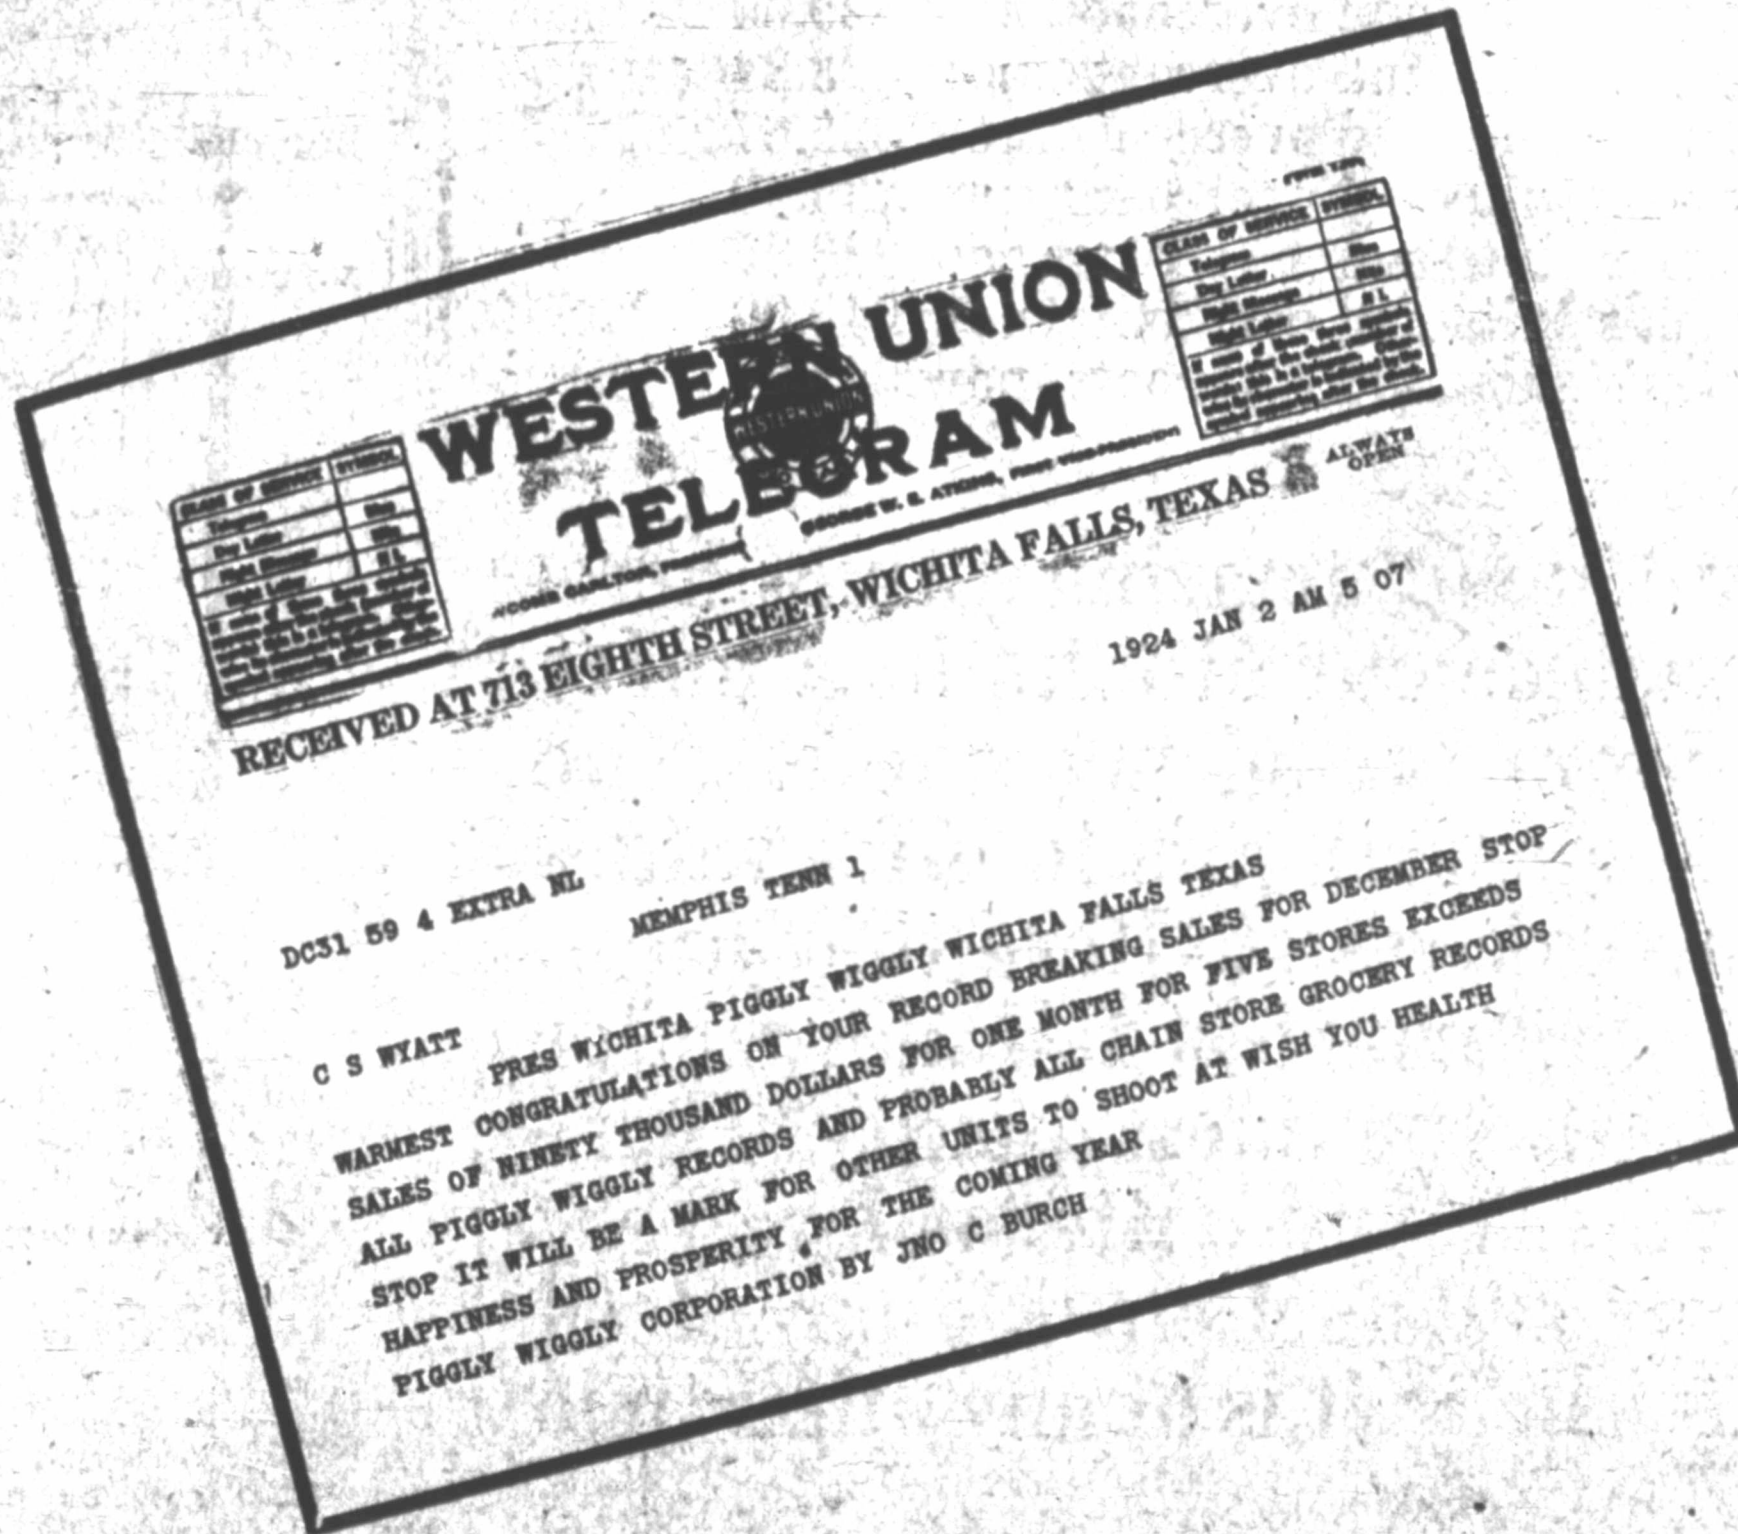

WICHITA FALLS COMPANY

A Wichita Falls controlled organization employing forty two Wichita Falls People, who live in Wichita Falls, spend their money in Wichita Falls, some owning property in Wichita Falls, producing sales that is causing Wichita Falls to be heralded in PIGGLY WIGGLY circles throughout the larger cities of America as America's greatest. We are proud of Wichita Falls and proud of the people who live in and near Wichita Falls who helped us in this great achievement.

REMEMBER WHAT BARNUM SAID:

"You can fool all of the people some of the time, and some of the people all of the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time."

So there must be a reason for PIGGLY WIGGLY'S continued growth from 1 store 1250 stores in 6 months

People come forty miles from points in Oklahoma and Texas to Wichita Falls, to buy groceries from PIGGLY WIGGLY stores and this naturally creates business for the druggist, hardware man, department stores, theaters, banks, cafes, etc. Therefore, PIGGLY WIGGLY is an asset to Wichita Falls, other than just being able to sell nationally known groceries at lower prices.

Piggly Wiggly does away with the so-called service of waiting on you in the stores, delivering your purchases, carrying your charge account and collecting the money. The grocer calls this "service." He charges it to the cost of doing business. This should be properly termed "the cost of selling you," because you pay for it. Out of every dollar you spend under such a system, from 15% to 25% goes to pay for extra clerk hire, delivery service, bookkeeping and other expenses. Why should you stand this expense?

Piggly Wiggly has overcome this useless waste by eliminating this unnecessary service. You wait on yourself in the Piggly Wiggly Store with much pleasure and certain profit. You pay for your purchase in Piggly Wiggly, take it home with you, you have it when you reach home, no waiting—and then perhaps receive something you didn't buy. Try Piggly Wiggly for a week and you will never again buy groceries in the old way.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

WILLYS-OVERLAND BREAKS MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD

Announcement by President John N. Willys of the Willys-Overland Company of the production of more than 200,000 cars on December 15th capped the climax of the most remarkable year that Willys-Overland has had. A year replete with sensational success that has turned this organization to its place in the forefront among the leaders of the motor industry.

Mr. Willys coupled this announcement with the statement that Willys-Overland expects to break every one of its 1923 records in 1924 with a production which at present indicates a probable sale of 200,000 cars.

Willys-Overland created the first of its series of unusual announcements in 1922 with the appearance of its new Willys-Knight Coupe-Sedan at the New York show.

The enthusiasm which this car occasioned here was duplicated at every motor display in the country and in every Willys-Overland dealer's show room, with the result that within thirty days after its announcement almost every possible motor car purchaser in the larger centers of population had inspected this unusual model.

The new product was a novelty in automobile manufacture—not a coupe, not a sedan, not a coach, but a distinctly original and individual creation in motor car design; the first of a series of refreshing departures. Willys-Overland's career for the past twelve months.

Red Bird Another Success

Another important message was sent forth early in spring—the new Overland Red Bird, a novel creation in Mandaray Maroon, and glistening nickel, set off with khaki-colored top and extra equipment, in a totally new price class. Its success was instantaneous and country-wide. This in a limited measure duplicated in the Willys-Knight line by the building of the Country Club model, a beautiful touring car in Cavalier Maroon, also specially equipped. Both of these cars filled a long-felt want for the most appealing to the buyers of the so-called "sport" types.

Shortly after the original announcement, the Red Bird was further stressed by an entire month of demonstration and display that greatly increased its popularity. But the height of motorizing activity was reached in mid-fall by the announcement of the new Overland Champion, a closed car of unique design, actually introducing to the public something radically fresh, said to be the most divergently designed car so far. It was equipped with the highest grades of materials and without sacrifice of rigorous inspection and test, at less cost than hitherto. The Overland Champion, Overland's last reduction in September brought this model down to $495.

F. O. B. Tanked also among Willys-Overland achievements of the past year has been the growth of its dealer organization, which today is practically twice that of 1923.

Able merchandisers of motor cars in practically every community have been obtained to sell Willys-Overland products and in practically every instance the success of the factory in Toledo during the past twelve months can be attributed to the remarkable cooperation extended by Willys-Overland merchants.

The Millionth Car

One more spot of pleasant memory that the past year holds is the production of the millionth Willys-Overland car, an event properly and fittingly celebrated not only by the factory organization at Toledo, but by the entire dealer body.

Sales classes held by hundreds of Willys-Overland merchants in an effort to train new selling talent have been supplemented by a remarkable series of "service clinics," which have been conducted at central points during the past months. These courses have been in charge of specially trained factory men who have been entrusted with the task of teaching and training dealer mechanics and service men in the latest and most efficient methods of taking care of Overland and Willys-Knight motor cars. Willys-Overland feels that it possesses the leading dollar-for-dollar value in automobiles; it is our persistent aim to back this product with the best obtainable service.

Sales records for the past year indicate that, even in a year of careful buying, Willys-Overland value has been solidly appreciated and men who have paid more for a motor car in the past have been attracted to Willys-Overland because they have appreciated the company's efforts to build good values. One hour in the Willys-

Closed Cars, Balloon Tires and 4-Wheel Brakes Will Be Biggest Features in Motordom This Year

By ROY C. HAYES

U. S. Special Correspondent.

DETROIT, Jan. 4.—Only twice during the year does the spotlight of motor interest move away from Detroit. Detroit's loss is New York's gain this week, as the attention of the motoring world is fastened on the national automobile show which opens in the metropolis tonight for a run of seven days.

Trend and fashion which will rule in motordom during the coming months bowed this evening before a select audience in the great Bronx armory. The public is sure to receive them with favor because they are the results of public demand.

Many of us may be given to the belief that automotive engineers are not designers, but we want to ask you to ask us to try it.

On the contrary every innovation, every improvement, every advance in motor car building is a composite picture of the make-up that you and I and 15,000,000 other motorists require in the car we have in mind as our next purchase.

Engineers, designers and manufacturers are merely the executors of our wishes and requirements, in the way of cars.

Satisfy Individual Needs.

They find it profitable to build automobiles to satisfy our individual transportation reforms. Their business is building units of transportation to suit the needs of the individual.

The closed car is an example. Closed car production in 1923 totaled 1,233,000 units, or 55 per cent of the total output for the year, which was 4,614,000 cars and trucks. Because of the increasing demand for the closed car, output of standard open-top cars probably consumed about 45 per cent of this year's production. The public is demanding them. Factories are trying to meet their needs.

In order of interest next come the cars equipped with four-wheel brakes and balloon tires. Four-wheel makers are using four-wheel brakes. Ten are offering balloon tires as optional or standard equipment. Many other makers are preparing to add balloon tires.

Before the end of the current year, the majority of makers will be offering both, either as optional or standard equipment, according to the present outlook.

Another feature that will interest the showgoer is the value that he can get for his money in the late offerings. Prices have taken a full step downward and quality has not suffered.

Lowest Average Prices.

Record-breaking production and added economies which necessarily followed have made this possible. The average retail price of automobiles made during 1923 was $1111, the lowest on record. Another year will see even this materially reduced.

Increasing production lowering

Overland factory would convince the most skeptical that Willys-Overland is following the most rigorous standards of manufacture, which has been responsible for the remarkable wave of popularity that has gained Willys-Overland its present position.

With this series of achievements now a matter of history, Willys-Overland faces the New Year with a determination to improve even on this record. The Willys-Overland factory in Toledo expects to beat every month of 1923 during 1924. It is estimated that the production requirements will exceed 200,000 cars.

OLDS WHICH MADE HIGH GEAR RECORD FEATURES SHOW

The famous Oldsmobile six which recently completed the first coast-to-coast trip ever made by any automobile in high gear will be one of the features during the Automobile Show week in New York. Following the New York show the "one-gear" car will visit several other of the larger cities throughout the country where shows will be held during the next two or three months.

The wonderful record established by this absolutely stock car on its long jaunt from New York to Los Angeles has opened the eyes of the motoring public to the possibilities of the small bore, high speed, high efficiency, six-cylinder engine.

Driven by "Cannon Ball" Baker, the famous race driver, the Oldsmobile six left New York on October 2, after all gears except high had been removed from the transmission and the gear box sealed in the presence of prominent New York automobile and newspaper men. After 123 days of driving time, Baker pulled into Los Angeles 3,674 miles from New York, without mishap of any kind and with a record of having pulled every gear on the long grid in high gear with ease.

In spite of the many hardships encountered while passing through the Kansas and Oklahoma flood areas, the car averaged 32.7 miles per gallon of gasoline for the entire trip; and only one and one-half pint of oil were consumed.

Arriving in Los Angeles on October 26th, the car was immediately driven around Beverly Hills track at an average speed of 66 miles per hour. Absolutely no adjustments or changes were made on the car—it was driven to the track by Baker immediately upon his arrival at Los Angeles to prove that the car had unusual speed as well as great pulling power in high gear.

Baker and his sturdy Olds car remained on the coast about a week during which time numerous road runs and mountain climbs were made, including a record run from Los Angeles to San Francisco and a climb of Mt. Hamilton—in high gear of course.

On its return trip east, the car stopped at several of the bigger cities and was placed on exhibition by Oldsmobile distributors and dealers. It created much comment wherever it was shown and was always the center of interested crowds whenever it was parked along the curb.

"Cannon Ball" Baker on his return to his home in Indianapolis was full of enthusiasm over the performance, stamina and all-around quality of the Oldsmobile six. In Baker's own words, "She's the greatest little boat I ever drove."

Three days before Christmas, Baker walked into Sales Manager Peasley's office in Lansing and handed him a check for a new six sedan—a Christmas present for his wife. He said, "I told my wife so much about my little Old Six after I got back from the west that she became as much sold on the car as I was. I figured I owed her a reward for keeping the home fires burning while I made by record-breaking drive from New York to Los Angeles, so I decided that one of the wonderful Oldsmobile pieces would be just the thing."

Increasing result in sales during the last year, C. J. Nephler, general sales manager, sees no indication of a lull in business which will curtail the proposed Oakland production schedule.

His Alarm Clock. Hughes: How do you know when it is time to get up? Proud (?) Father: When I have got the baby to sleep.—ANSWER (London).

OAKLAND FACTORY PLANS TO PRODUCE 75,000 CARS 1924

Oakland sales during the last quarter of 1923 were three times as large as the sales during the same quarter of the previous year and within three hundred cars of the record last quarter of 1919—the previous high mark.

The sales of Oldsmobiles in both November and December of 1923 were the highest for these months in the company's history.

To produce the 75,000 cars planned for the calendar year of 1924, the company expects to attain a monthly production of 8,000 cars, starting February 1.

So well sustained has been the demand for Oakland cars since the announcement of the new line early in September, that the factory has not yet been able to accumulate any surplus of cars for spring delivery when the demand is the greatest of any period of the year.

This is attributed to the increase in the dealer organization with the increasing result in sales during the last year, C. J. Nephler, general sales manager, sees no indication of a lull in business which will curtail the proposed Oakland production schedule.

AMAZING RECORD OF PRODUCTION AND SALES FOR 1923

"If anybody had predicted a year ago that 4,000,000 automobiles would be produced in the United States within the twelve months of 1923, he would have been laughed at by even the most optimistic leaders of the industry," says D. L. Fritz of the Fritz Motor Company.

"As a matter of fact, there were few at that time who believed it possible that the record of some 2,600,000 cars and trucks turned out by American manufacturers in 1923 could be exceeded this year, and of those few none was rash enough to predict a total of more than 3,000,000. And the automobile industry is not lacking in optimism, either.

"Therefore in the face of an output of 4,000,000 calling for new investment could have established itself so rapidly and so firmly in public favor.

"The American people have found that the saving in time and increased personal efficiency made possible by the automobile, and justify its place in the world today, not to mention its broadening influence in promoting wider contacts and its part in promoting the health and happiness of the nation by opening up new avenues of recreation.

"Any attempt to forecast the limit of automobile production and, as to future, it has proved so in the past and is just as much so at present, as borne out by the year just ended. Time and again have the wisest and gravely established "saturation point" in automobile sales, but the American people and the automotive industry have gone hitherto ahead with the buying and producing of motor cars without regard for the prophets. Some of these predictions of a few years ago sound laughable in the light of present-day statistics, and show how limited is the imaginative faculty of the human mind, even in the age of progress.

"Surfing it to say that with the astounding total of 1,400,000 cars registered in the United States today, the replacement demand alone must amount to some 3,000,000 vehicles, annually. Be that as it may, the army of first buyers who come into the market with each succeeding year, and whose numbers have been the upsetting factor in all carefully calculated predictions of the past.

"And while it does not seem possible that the amazing record of production and sales in 1923 can be exceeded in the coming year, it glances back over the prophesies of earlier years and refuse to commit myself. I will only say that locally our establishment will continue to do its share in providing and maintaining the highest type of individual transportation for the people of this continent.

Be a Safe Driver Watch the Person Crossing the Street

By HENRY A. RENDINGER

Allenstown, Pa. Vice President, National Safety Council

There have been instances of cars in the hands of drunken drivers attempting to use the sidewalk, but for all practical purposes the pedestrian is safe until he steps off the curb. Then he must look out. All accidents could be avoided if everyone used caution and common sense. Education has done much, particularly among the children, but five minutes' observation at any busy corner will show how much is still needed.

The day-walker we have always with us. He wears out the motorist's nerves and brake linings. He probably gives his life to the fact that more than one motorist had his eyes open and was quick with the brakes.

Equally negligent of his own safety is the ostrich who buries his head in an umbrella, a newspaper or in deep thought while crossing the street, or the arful dodger who disregards the traffic signals to save a second or two.

In seeking both ways is equally important, whether you are crossing a street or a railroad crossing.

Don't loiter in the middle of the street just for the fun of making the driver slow down, he may maintain his speed for the joy of seeing you jump.

Do not place too much confidence in the other fellow; you must depend on yourself for safety.

Complete Program for N. A. D. A. Convention Announced Includes Many Nationally Prominent Men

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Forecasting business possibilities and problems of 1924 and reviewing progress made in 1923 in the solution of many perplexing things in the automobile dealer field are the outstanding features of the program for the seventh annual convention of the National Automobile Dealers' Association in Chicago, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 29 and 30. Executives of the N. A. D. A. assert that it is the most ambitious program ever offered to the automobile industry. Interest in the program already is widespread and indications are that the attendance will be double the record breaking figures of the 1923 convention.

The complete program announced today by the national headquarters contains the names of men who are outstanding in the automobile industry and several figures of national prominence in other business.

Production figures as forecast for 1924 and the problems which will confront the dealers and manufacturers in marketing a large increase in the total of new cars produced will be covered by J. H. Collins, manager of the research department of the Chilton Publishing Company, Philadelphia. Collins is conceded to be one of the most competent and authoritative economists and statisticians in the automobile industry. His forecasts have for many years been the basis for business plans within the industry. In his analysis for 1924 he will bear on the maintenance departments and the increased costs in the retail selling of motor vehicles. He will review the growth of the demand for repairs and maintenance, and interpret the influence of these things on the automobile dealer establishment.

Five Per Cent N. Profit.

Tying up very closely with the forecast by Collins will be the discussion by Charles E. Gambill of Chicago, vice president of the N. A. D. A. Automobile distributor in Chicago. Recognized as one of the few truly successful big merchants in the industry, Mr. Gambill's discussion of the possibilities of a dealer showing a five per cent net profit in the retailing of automobiles is expected to attract as much interest as any other subject on the program.

John A. Nichols Jr., sales manager of Dodge Brothers, Detroit, Mich., is one of the most popular men in the industry. His address will deal with the policies which his company has used in building a dealer organization and the efforts that have been put forth to aid and build up the automobile dealers handling the Dodge Brothers cars. The adaptation of merchandising methods and public relations has been one of the high lights in the industry for the last several years.

"Shakespeare as a Salesman" is the subject of the address by William D. Burrows of Kansas City, a sales consultant. It is the application of common every day ideas and impulses to the business of selling merchandise at retail. It is considered one of the most inspiring talks on salesmanship of the present day.

Sales Force Building.

On the night of Tuesday, January 29, will be the annual banquet and frolic in which will be featured G. H. Abernomb, sales manager of the Fuller Brush Company, Hartford, Connecticut, on "Building a Sales Organization."

"N. A. D. A. Records for Dealers' Dollars," by Harry M. Fancher of Denver, will put before the convention the successful methods of sales analysis, cost analysis and cost finding as made possible by the N. A. D. A. merchandise profit records. This will be the first complete exposition of the N. A. D. A. accounting books and will contain much of essential instruction and fundamentals of keeping accounts, and the necessity for them. Mr. Fancher is secretary-treasurer of TomBottrell, Inc. of Denver, and formerly was connected with a nationally known public accountancy firm. He is himself a certified public accountant. He is the designer of the N. A. D. A. record and conference classes in accounting in the University of Colorado.

The major portion of time Tuesday will be used for the "Used Car Forum."

Complete details of the two national efforts to relieve the used car losses of the automobile dealers will be presented. James E. Apply of the Percy Chamberlain Associates, Inc. of Detroit, C. F. The green seal plan of Cleveland is essentially identical with the N. A. D. A. Green Seal Used Car Merchandising plan. This plan will be presented by Lynn M. Shaw, assistant general manager of the N. A. D. A., who has been conducting a two-year study of user car conditions and who is presenting the N. A. D. A. plan to dealer organizations in a nation-wide effort to bring about profitable methods of handling used automobiles. He will review the successful execution of the method of operation in the plan known in the industry as the "Apply plan." Mr. Apply has been in the industry for several years and is a capable and entertaining speaker.

New Rollin Car Exhibited in Gold Ballroom of Hotel

The social roster of Cleveland was well represented at the Wade Park Manor on Saturday last in response to engraved invitations, by The Rollin Motors Company, to inspect the new Rollin cars.

The private view was of the cars and chassis which constitute the Rollin exhibit on the main lobby floor of the Commodore Hotel during New York show week.

Features were a stripped chassis, a five-passenger sedan, the five-passenger touring car and the three-passenger sport coupe.

Invitation list was limited to four hundred. Buffet lunch was served from 11:30 to 2:00.

The exhibition was artistically staged in the gold ballroom of Cleveland's exclusive hostelry. Not only was the response to the invitation nearly one hundred per cent but the high grade was in which the affair was conducted gave unquestioned evidence that the Rollin organization can not only build good cars, but that it also knows how to advertise and how to merchandise a big idea in a big way.

A CAR WORTHY OF ITS NAME

Taking America Off Its Feet!

Overland Success is the Talk of the Country

Great strides ahead—conspicuous leadership—warm words of praise on the lips of people everywhere—all these things focus on one big, vital fact: Overland motor cars have the right stuff in them. Worth shines out far above price.

The year ended was the greatest of all the fifteen years of Overland history. A great year made by great cars—the greatest Overlands ever built. Greatest in looks, power, comfort—money's worth!

The big record-breaking success of these cars is the direct reflection of the bigness and heartiness of public interest everywhere.

Look at the new Overland Champion, for instance. It brings a quality closed car with features and utilities hitherto unheard of within reach of every purse. America's first all-purpose car—conceded to be the most useful motor car on wheels.

The price of the Champion—$695—is a champion price. And even if the new Overland Champion did not have the many unique features that make it famous, it would still be a remarkable value at its price. It is the only quality closed car seating more than two passengers ever sold under $700.

The Champion and all Overland models have the bigger Overland engine—brute power with extreme economy. And the buoyant riding ease of patented Triplex Springs. And the extra-sturdy Overland rear axle.

Leaders in economy—leaders on the road—leaders in the many satisfactions they bring to owners. See them. Sit in them. Ask for a sample of their performance. Ten minutes looking or ten minutes riding will tell you why these fine cars are multiplying so rapidly on the streets of America.

The 1924 Model Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car $995

The unprecedented popularity of the Studebaker Light-Six can be traced to the fact that it represents a degree of automobile value that the public has sought for years.

It is built complete in the great Studebaker factories.

By manufacturing complete motors, transmissions, axles, frames, bodies, tops, castings, forgings, and stampings, parts-makers' profits are eliminated from costs, and one profit only is included in Studebaker prices.

90 PER CENT FIRST MILLION DODGES STILL PERFORMING

"It seems like a surprisingly large number," said J. H. McFall, local Dodge Brothers dealer, in commenting on the fact that over 90 per cent of 1,000,000 Dodge Brothers cars are still in service.

"But when you consider the number of faithful old-timers to be seen everywhere you go, on the country roads, in cities and villages, you begin to wonder if these Dodge Brothers cars ever wear out. As a matter of fact, I don't believe they do—or, at least, I haven't heard of any."

"Just as a matter of curiosity, when this latest Dodge Brothers advertisement came out, telling about 90 per cent of 1,000,000 cars still in service, I interviewed all the junk dealers I could find."

"They confirmed my opinion absolutely. Or all the old cars they take in, the Dodge is the least numerous. Some of them have never received the same care as most of the few that do come in have figured in accidents so disastrous as to make them worthless."

"So it is more than simply a case of long life. It is long service that the owner values in his Dodge Brothers car. Nobody is going to cling to an old car just because it is a relic. They do that with heliographs that have passed down from one generation to the other, but not with motor cars. But if the car continues to give the same dependable service year after year, without undue expense for parts, replacements and frequent overhauling, it becomes the most valuable possession that a man can possibly get. You can figure that by distributing the original list price of the car over the number of years of service. When a man has owned a car five, six or seven years, as is often the case with our owners, his annual investment is reduced to ridiculously small proportions."

"It has always been Dodge Brothers' conviction that dependable performance, more than any other attribute, is important to the owner. Combined with the quality of long life, it enables him to do exactly what has just been pointed out, namely, distribute his investment over a period of years and thus reduce his transportation costs to the minimum. With this in mind, Dodge Brothers have always been exceptionally particular in the selection of materials and in the quality of their workmanship."

"The fact that they have now built more than 1,000,000 cars and that 90 per cent of this million are still in service, proves conclusively that they have held steadfastly to the original ideal. Even when quantity reached the million mark, quality still has first consideration—and will continue to have, as long as Dodge Brothers cars are built."

POSTPONE ARRANGEMENT GOVERNOR OF INDIANA

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 5.—The postponement until Saturday, January 13, of the arraignment of Governor Warren T. McCray on the indictments returned against him recently by the Marion county grand jury, was announced today. The governor was to have been arraigned next Monday, but a delay was granted because of the illness of James W. Nola, his personal attorney.

The average weekly earnings of men employed in factories in New York state are about twice as high as those of women workers, according to a report of the state department of labor.

A Word to the Wise

"In March I was called to the bedside of my sister in Brewton, Alabama. She was given up to die and was almost dead. Talked to a whisper. Doctors said nothing but an operation would save her and she was too weak for that. Her color was yellow as a pumpkin and she was filled with gas. That day I heard of May's Wonderful Remedy and went and got a bottle for her. In three weeks she was able to be about and walked a mile to church. I am praising your medicine to everyone." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. TRAFFIC SHOWS MORE CONGESTION, NOT SATURATION

Traffic in cities and on fine days on the highways, has become so congested that many believe there can be no room for more.

Will figures just compiled by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce show the situation isn't as bad as all that. There has been greater congestion, but not to the extent of saturation.

The increase of new automobiles produced in 1923 has been only 50 per cent above that of the year before. Which isn't as great a degree of increase as the 60 per cent rise in 1922 production over that of 1921. However, here's the anomaly:

While the 50 per cent increase of 1923 production over that of 1922 amounted to 1,254,326 autos and trucks, the 60 per cent increase of 1922 over 1921 was much less—957,314.

What queer tricks figures do play!

Take the production of closed cars, too. Thirty-five per cent of the 4,616,967 new cars in 1923 were enclosed. Thirty per cent of the 1922 new cars, which amounted to 2,655,623 were enclosed. Yet this apparent increase of only 5 per cent in proportion, was an actual increase in enclosed cars of from 715,598 in 1922 to 1,235,000 in 1923.

Cheapest Commodity?

That's only an introduction to the interesting facts brought out by the N. A. C. C. figures. These go into finances connected with automotive production, registration of motor cars, the auto's relation to other industries, and many other related subjects.

For instance, conclusions of the N. A. C. C. statisticians show that the standard dollar buys more than its worth only in the case of automobiles and their closely allied products—gasoline and tires. Taking the 1923 dollar as the basis, it now buys 113 cents worth of automobile, 101 cents in gasoline and 123 cents in tires.

Yet, in most other commodities, the 1923 dollar buys only about 60 cents worth of goods.

The average retail price of automobiles has gone down to $111 in 1923.

An Auto Nation.

The law of supply and demand has worked true to theory at least in this case.

Other figures showing the importance and popularity of the automobile in this country are these: Registration of automobiles in the United States is approximated at 4,500,000—85 per cent of the total registration throughout the world!

Tire production in 1923, 46,000,000; 1922 production, 46,331,000.

Total wholesale value of parts and accessories, exclusive of tires, $1,310,000.

Gasoline consumed by motor vehicles in 1923, 4,041,584,000 gallons, about 1,000,000,000 more than 1923 consumption.

BUREAU REPORT ON WINTER VEGETABLE SEASON FOR TEXAS

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 4.—The winter vegetable season of Texas is beginning to catch its stride, according to a summary of markets issued today by the state department of markets and warehouses. Should the cold wave kill nearby gardens a volume movement of spinach, cabbage and the smaller vegetables may be expected with the progress of the month, said the summary.

The report continues in part: "Spinach: Approximately a hundred cars of spinach have been shipped to the first of the year this season and this is very much higher than would have been the case had not weather hindered harvesting. As yet supplies on outside markets have not been of quotable volume, but within the state considerable offerings brought 10 cents to 15 cents per pound from the retailers, with consuming demand reported good. The first cars rolled from the Laredo district and mostly for 65 cents per bushel basket on a cash truck basis, Norfolk, Virginia, on car lot usual terms sales at the present time is getting mostly $1.75 per standard, cloth topped, barrel. RAIN AND SNOW HAVE HANDICAPPED TEXAS FARM WORK

Most of the cotton now coming in is snags and bolls with bales light in weight.

Wheat, Oats, Barley, Rye: The small grains are in very good condition, better than in any winter since 1915. The volunteer wheat is especially good and has furnished much pastureage.

Trucks: Truck areas are marketing mustard, onions, parsley, radishes and a number of other small vegetables found a good clearance the past week from valley points, although heavy weather interfered with harvesting to some extent. As high as 10 cars a day were rolled.

HOUSTON, Jan. 5.—Both rain and snow have hindered Texas farm work in the last two weeks, according to the bi-weekly crop letter issued by W. H. Schultz, agricultural statistician. The report said:

General crop and weather conditions: Rain and snow with temperatures varying from below to above the seasonal average marked the weather of the past two weeks. Farm work has been hindered by the heavy rains, particularly in the east half of the state.

Cotton: Picking is practically finished in all but the northwest and west district. The recent rains and snow have greatly retarded the work. Most of the cotton now coming in is snags and bolls with bales light in weight.

lishes, turnips, beans, cabbage, cucumbers, eggplant, peppers, squash, green tomatoes. Rains have interfered with transplanting and harvesting.

Fruit: Shipments of grapefruit, oranges and lemons continue from the Rio Grande valley. Apples and hickory pears are also being marketed.

Sweet Potatoes: The markets are well supplied.

Livestock and Pastures: There has been too much rain for cattle, sheep and goats and some shrinkage has taken place. Weeds are growing quite well, but grass is securing little benefit from the rains. Good spring grazing is assured.

Economical Heating by Natural Gas

HEATING by natural gas is far more convenient than any other method and should be fully as economical when correctly done.

Gas heating appliances have been developed to a high state of efficiency. They are so much more economical than converted coal or wood furnaces or stoves that in comparison they will often pay for themselves in a season.

Gas furnaces cost just about one-third as much to operate as coal furnaces equipped to burn gas. Gas room heaters are the most economical form of heating yet devised.

The economical manner of heating is with a gas heater of the radiant type in each room, using only enough gas to maintain an even temperature. Shutting off some of the rooms in extreme weather would materially reduce gas bills.

All such heaters should have outside flue connections to carry off the gases of combustion, and they should be located so as to be protected from cold drafts. Then they are safe, economical and satisfactory.

ELABORATE PLANS ARE COMPLETE FOR G. OF C. BANQUET

PLENTY OF GOOD FOOD, SPLENDID ADDRESSES AND ENTERTAINMENT PROMISED. MEMBERS WILL ELECT FIVE NEW DIRECTORS

Review of Activities of Past Year and Plans for 1924 Will Be Announced. More than 400 members of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce are expected to attend the annual banquet of the organization at 7 o'clock Tuesday night, January 28, in the basement of the First Baptist church.

All plans are practically complete for the annual dinner of the members and the election of officers. Five new directors for the organization will be elected from the membership and officers will be elected by the directors for the coming year. Plans for the work of the chamber of commerce during 1924 will be discussed and decided upon by the members.

Speeches will be few and short, and although due attention will be paid to the resume of the year's work and plans for the coming year, entertainment will be the keynote of the evening. The more formal program will consist of addresses by Luther Hoffman, a review of the work of the past year, and addresses by W. W. Jones, "Plans for 1924," and John W. Shurtel, prominent attorney and business man of Oklahoma City.

Chamber of commerce officials are hard at work collecting data and material for the banquet. Plans are practically complete and everything will be in readiness when the dinner is held. Official word will be sent to the organization to make their reservations immediately, in order that the last minute rush may be avoided.

Wilford Harrison Is Pictured As the Modern Druggist of The Southwest in Magazine Article

The praises of a prominent Wichita Falls business man are being sung in an article headed "Wilford Harrison, Modern Druggist," which appeared in the January issue of the Crowder Drug News. The article is written by Walter Cousins, life-long friend of Mr. Harrison, especially for the Crowder Drug News, which is published in the interest of the retail druggists of the southwest by the J. W. Crowder Drug Company of Dallas.

The article, illustrated by a photograph of the interior of the well known Wichita Falls drug store and a portrait of Mr. Harrison is especially well written and the subject of the issue is devoted to the article and pictures. Mr. Harrison is described as one of the modern druggists operating one of the finest stores in Texas.

The article reads as follows: "Not near a rugged mountain, nor beside a winding stream did the subject of this sketch first see the light of day. He has never climbed the Mayflower and he does not know whether 'our set' is a suburb of New York or a hamlet in the mountains of the West. He did not get his first optical slant at the world from Fifth avenue nor did he study the anatomy of the eye amid mountain wilds. As for being born with a mouth full of silver spoons, he simply was not.

"A mental heavyweight, a gentleman to the manner born, and a sound for work. A thinker, a deep thinker, four squares to the world, open faced with a southern exposure, Wilford Harrison is a typical, every-day American whose family bequeathed him the whole continent of North America in that success or failure. Look him up and you can get of that of that determining which of these he has done.

"That palace of polished mahogany, crystal mirrors, old oak and burnished silver, in the heart of Wichita Falls, is a monument to the efforts of a young man still in his thirties. It breathes the stillness of the quiet prairie town that once was, up to the wild, metropolitan of petroleum, when it made its first glance that the policy of the place is the crystallized thought of a man who has mastered the game down to its minutest detail.

His home is in Wichita Falls in all stages, from the quiet prairie town that once was, up to the wild, metropolitan of petroleum, when it made its first glance that the policy of the place is the crystallized thought of a man who has mastered the game down to its minutest detail.

CORLISSES TO BE GIVEN FAREWELL SERVICES SUNDAY

Farewell services for Ensign and Mrs. L. F. Corliss, local commanders of the Salvation Army, will be held at the citadel Sunday, at 11:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m.

Ensign and Mrs. Corliss will leave on Saturday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock for Chicago, where Ensign Corliss will take charge of Chicago Post No. 1 of the Salvation Army, the largest post in the central division and one of the largest posts of the organization.

Ensign Corliss came here from Kansas City, Mo. six months ago, expecting to remain the regular three-year period, which is the average time for an officer to remain in one appointment. On December 1 word was received of his promotion to take charge of the post in Chicago. His many friends were glad to hear of the promotion, but Ensign Corliss will be sorry to leave many friends in Wichita Falls.

A special meeting of the Texas Shrine Council will be held at the Driehill Hotel in Austin at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, January 12, was called Saturday by Walter D. Cline, president of the council.

The four Imperial Council representatives from each of the ten Shrines Temples in Texas will attend the meeting of the council. President Cline's invitation is joined in by Potentate George S. Dewell of Ben Hur Temple of Austin, and that temple will be host to the meeting.

It is probable that a resolution will be adopted at this meeting fixing a date for all of the Texas Temples to increase the initiation fee of the Shrine from $75 to $100, Mr. Cline stated Saturday.

Save Time for Tax Collector and Yourself By Knowing Number of Voting Precinct; Receipt Will Show

Holiday festivities and unfavorable weather did not have as disastrous an effect on building as was anticipated and building permits issued from the office of the city clerk during the first week of the new year ran above the $11,000 mark. The amount is decidedly below the average, but is a good record, considering the severe weather and holiday celebrations.

SPECIAL MEETING OF TEXAS SHRINE COUNCIL CALLED

A special meeting of the Texas Shrine Council will be held at the Driehill Hotel in Austin at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, January 12, was called Saturday by Walter D. Cline, president of the council.

The four Imperial Council representatives from each of the ten Shrines Temples in Texas will attend the meeting of the council. President Cline's invitation is joined in by Potentate George S. Dewell of Ben Hur Temple of Austin, and that temple will be host to the meeting.

It is probable that a resolution will be adopted at this meeting fixing a date for all of the Texas Temples to increase the initiation fee of the Shrine from $75 to $100, Mr. Cline stated Saturday.

In addition to Mr. Cline, the Imperial Council representatives at the Austin meeting are: Potentate L. G. Hawkins of Vernon, Mayor Frank Collier and W. W. Gardner.

The local post is in excellent condition, according to a recent audit of the books. Funds for the 1924 work are in the treasury and all bills for 1923 have been paid. The staff of workers will remain practically the same and all bills and inventories have been completed.

TRACTION COMPANY MADE DEFENDANT IN DAMAGE SUIT

In a damage suit for $1,250 filed Saturday in the 7th district court, the Wichita Falls Traction Company was named as party defendant. The suit is brought by H. D. Jones and his wife, Oma Jones.

The petition recites that on the evening of April 14, 1923, the plaintiff, Oma Jones, boarded a street car, operated by the defendant, at Collins and Brook street, and that her destination was the business section of the city. She states that she carried her 13-month-old baby in her arms.

Arriving at Thirteenth and Burnett streets, the petition complains, the motorman informed her that it was necessary for her to transfer, because of some paving work that was then in progress.

It is alleged that the employee of the defendant carelessly and negligently stopped the street car in such a position that when the plaintiff alighted she had to transfer, in an effort to prevent injury to her child she strained her body in such a manner as to cause her great physical pain.

She recites that because of this injury it was necessary for her to go to Galveston to undergo a serious operation and that as a result of the injury her health is impaired for life. She asks $25,000 damages, $150 for doctor's fees and $240 for hospital bills.
