At least two Friona businesses that we know of are celebrating their 25th anniversaries in Friona this year.

Foster's Dry Goods, and Taylor & Sons Welding each began in business in Friona in February of 1946.

So here's a tip of the hat to these two local business firms, as they start their second quarter-century here.

In reminiscing about his 25 years in Friona this week, Wesley Foster said "In one way it hasn't seemed like it's been that long, and in another it seems like a lifetime."

Both the Fosters and Taylors agreed on one point, and that was that time passes in a hurry. And to that, most of us have to add a hearty "amen."

Looks as though wintertime is just getting "wound-up" in our area, as the snow is swirling at this writing.

We're just not wintertime fans, and if this happens to be the last snow of the season, we won't grieve too long.

According to a report we saw this week, the average worker in 1971 "only" has to work two hours and 37 minutes each week to pay for their federal, state and local taxes. This is reportedly down somewhat from 1970.

The report also said that food and tobacco required one hour and 30 minutes of the weekly shift, with housing accounting for one hour, transportation for 38 minutes, medical expenses for 23 minutes and recreation 19 minutes.

The small decrease was due, the article said, to the fact that the "recession" has reduced the work week for many, hence the number of hours required to pay taxes is lower. It's still frightening, at best, we think.

The Dimmitt Bobcats looked good in winning the regional basketball title last weekend, and here's wishing our neighbors to the southeast good luck at the state tournament this weekend.

We were privileged to see their semi-final regional game against Ballinger, and it was as fine a game as you'll ever see in playoffs. Dimmitt won, 60-58, and the game was not decided until the last two seconds.

The Bobcats had scored a come-from-behind 61-60 win over Morton in their playoff for the district title. Dimmitt trailed by five points with a little over a minute left in that game, but didn't give up.

We'd like to see Coach Kenneth Cleveland's cagers win the state championship. They were in Austin in 1969 with a team we thought was the best in the state, but had to settle for second.

We might be mistaken, but it seems that no one from our district has won a state title since 1964, when our Friona Squaws turned the trick. It's time we had another state champ from our balliwick.

Gleaned from a church calendar: an item titled, "Seven Steps to Stagnation:"

1. We're not ready for that.
2. We've never done it that way before.
3. We're doing all right without it.
4. We've tried it that way and it didn't work.
5. It will cost too much.
6. That's not our responsibility.
7. It just won't work.

Outland Heads Cancer Chapter

A Parmer County chapter of the American Cancer Society was organized at a meeting in Friona Monday night.

Elected as president of the organization was A.L. (Jake) Outland. Mrs. Calvin Talley was elected vice president; Mrs. Jerry Hinkle was named secretary, and Mrs. Jack Nelson was re-elected as treasurer.

The chapter is to hold a brief meeting next week, at which time the chairman of its five sub-committees will be appointed.

The committees are composed of medical, public education, service and rehabilitation, publicity and campaign.

David LaFleur

LaFleur Is Promoted

David LaFleur, 39, has been appointed executive vice president of Missouri Beef Packers. He fills the corporate vacancy created when J.C. Walker was named Missouri Beef's president in December 1969.

LaFleur was made a vice president in September 1969 and has served as general manager of Missouri Beef's Friona division since joining the company in 1968.

In his new position, LaFleur will supervise the company's day-to-day plant and production operations, according to Walker. When the new Plainview plant comes fully on stream, Missouri Beef's sales will be running at an annual rate of $300,000,000.

LaFleur has some 20 years of experience in the meatpacking industry. He had been with Armour, Iowa Park Co., and Iowa Beef Packers in several capacities.

Windmobiles Harness Area's #1 Commodity

Wind is, without doubt, the most plentiful commodity in West Texas.

Thus, when the early settlers found that a water supply was available and they could secure it by using windmills, they had hit upon a cheap source of power.

A Friona teenager has applied this theory to propelling a small "Windmobile," and while the device may do little to scare the oil and gas industry, it is at least furnishing a good deal of entertainment during the windy days which punctuate spring on the High Plains. James Stevick, the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn C. Stevick of 704 Summit, is the young pilot-inventor. Young Stevick converted an old go-cart into a windmobile, by the addition of a sail and making some additional modifications.

The sail was constructed out of heavy ducking fabric, such as farmers use for tarps in irrigating. It took seven or eight yards of material to make the sail. James welded some steel pipe together to serve as the "mast" on the unusual land contraption, and he was started toward a means of transportation.

"James is a pretty good welder. He helps his father out quite a bit in his shop," says Mrs. Stevick, indicating that he spends a lot of his spare time in the shop, "piddling with an idea." He has been interested in making things ever since he was a small boy, she said. Windmobiles are not a new invention for the Friona area, as it may be recalled by many residents that back in 1950 Ray Landrum received considerable publicity on a contraption he put together and "sailed" all the way to Amarillo up Highway 60 during one of our typical windy days.

Landrum and his windmobile were photographed many times on the trip, and he was written up in Popular Mechanics magazine.

"Actually, we had just started out to sail over to Black and get a coke," Landrum recalls, pointing out that Raymond Euler and Ralph Smith made the Amarillo trip with him, taking turns riding in the windmobile. A car was taken along and driven alternately by the one not riding in the windmobile.

"We were going so well when we got to Black that we just decided to keep on," Landrum says. The trio stopped at Hereford for lunch. They let the sails down halfway and put the brake on. "We just let the engine idle while we ate," Landrum jokes.

"We hit a top speed of 60 miles per hour, and when we started from the stop light at Hereford, the wheels actually spun," he states.

It apparently was quite a sight, because many people ran for their cameras when they saw the weird means of transportation coming. Motorists along the way stopped for double takes. "We must have had our picture taken 100 times that day," Landrum recalls.

Paramount News, which made the weekly newsreel for motion picture houses, came to Friona and took some film of Landrum and his invention. The windmobile also made many daily papers, it was recalled.

Landrum received inquiries from as far away as London, and South America. The letter from South America was under the impression that Landrum headed a company that manufactured the windmobile. The writer asked "what else he manufactured."

The Landrum vehicle measured about eight by 12 feet, and uses three standard automobile tires. It has two tires in front and one in the rear, which acts as the steering mechanism.

Perhaps Landrum and young Stevick should consider manufacturing their product. Besides the savings it would effect on gas and oil, think of the ecological benefits. The windmobile is noiseless, and dispels absolutely no air pollutants.

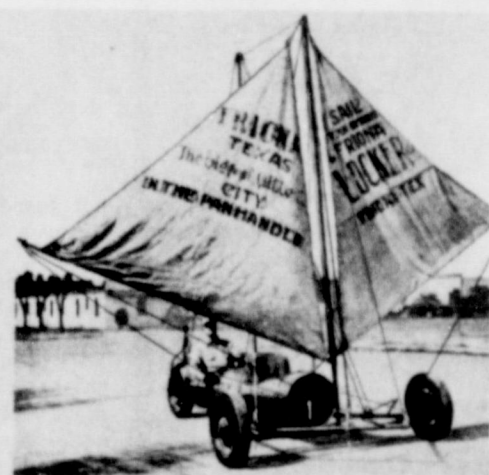

Deadline Near For AFS Home

Superintendent of Schools Alton Farr announced this week that the deadline for applying for the privilege of hosting an American Field Service exchange student in your home for the 1971-72 school year is March 15.

The school has one applicant, but the AFS requires that there be at least two applicants per school before a school can be considered for an exchange student.

EARLIER MODEL. . . Ray Landrum's windmobile, which made the headlines in 1950 when he sailed from Friona to Amarillo, is shown above as it appeared in Popular Mechanics magazine. Landrum received many write-ups and mentions about his windmobile in the early 1950s.

AT CAPITOL

Frionan's Brother Describes Bombing

Lt. George Reid, who is the brother of Mrs. Nelson Lewis of Friona, was shown looking through a demolished door in the Capitol hallway after the bomb blast.

Lt. Reid has been on the Capitol police force since 1948.

In a telephone conversation with the Lewises, Reid said he was called in shortly after the 1:30 a.m. blast did upwards of $300,000 in damages to the U.S. Capitol.

Reid told how the blast, which apparently came from a large amount of explosives blew doors off hinges a great distance down the hall from where the blast occurred.

"People were carrying off bricks, pieces of plaster, etc., for souvenirs. If it had been allowed, the souvenir hunters would have cleaned up all the debris," Reid told his brother-in-law, who authors the weekly "Pause and Reflect" column for the Star.

The Capitol policeman also said that before the day was over on Monday several publicity seekers had come forward, "confessing" the crime, hoping for some notoriety. However, no arrests had been made in the mysterious bombing, which reportedly was in protest to the U.S. support of South Vietnamese operations in Laos.

Beardain No-Billed In Grand Jury Action

Four indictments were returned and five charges were passed by the Parmer County Grand Jury, which was in session on Friday, February 20.

An indictment was not returned against Rex Beardain of the Rhea Community, who had been charged with the murder of his father. A "no bill" was the result of the Beardain case.

Also included in the five cases which were passed was Mrs. Ann Horts of Lazbuddie, also charged with murder. The four indictments returned by the Grand Jury were against Jimmy Broyles and Danny Baize, burglary; Mario Garza, burglary; Floyd Robinson, Jr., burglary; and Alex Telles, receiving and concealing stolen property.

Girl Scout Week Begins March 7

National Girl Scout Week begins Sunday, March 7. Local Girl Scouts have planned to attend church to mark the beginning of the week. This year's observance marks the 59th year of Girl Scouting in America.

There will be two Father-Daughter box suppers Monday evening. Brownies and Senior Scouts will have their supper in the Junior high cafeteria. Juniors and Cadettes will have theirs in the high school cafeteria.

The box suppers will be followed by a program in the Junior High Auditorium.

Theme of the program will be "This Is My Country."

Chamber Kicks Off Membership Drive

Dues statements have been mailed by the Friona Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture to launch its 1971 membership drive.

Billy Jones, manager, states that initial response has been exceedingly good, and that he hopes that the trend continues.

As of Tuesday, several new members had joined the Chamber for 1971 by paying their dues. The Chamber needs 100 per cent participation from the business firms and individuals in the Friona area, in order to carry out its program of work. With an expanded staff, including a full-time manager, the chamber's budget needs have grown from this same time a year ago.

Jones urged residents of the Friona area to join the Chamber by paying their dues for 1971, and be a part of "What's Happening" in 1971.

Voting memberships in the Chamber run $60.00 for businesses or farmer-businessmen. Employees or individuals may purchase individual memberships for $36.00 per year.

Anyone may purchase as many memberships as they desire, and they receive one vote in the Chamber for each membership. The Chamber reminds that if an individual so desires, the Chamber will draw a draft for their dues, based on a calculated amount each month, if they do not wish, or do not feel they are able to pay the full year's amount at this time.

For further information, contact the Chamber of Commerce office, 247-3491.

Candidates File For Two Local Elections

Wednesday was the deadline for filing for two elective races in Friona, and there had been no stampede to sign up for either the school race or city race as the Star goes to press.

With three two-year terms and a one-year unexpired term on the City Council race, there had been just five candidates file.

In the council race, Troy Young, Nelson Lewis, Walter Cunningham and Dr. Robert Alexander had filed for regular places. Gary Brown filed for the unexpired term.

Latest Blast Hits City With Two-Inch Snow

The second blizzard-type snow within nine days struck the Friona area on Tuesday, bringing additional snow, although as in the snowfall of a week earlier, winds caused the snow to drift and not lie on a level.

An estimated two inches of snow was received in Friona, which actually was one of the larger amounts in the Panhandle.

In the official gauge, only .05 inch of moisture was recorded due to the blowing snow, but since it was of the "wet" variety, it should have contained .2 inch of moisture where drifting was not so bad.

AN EDITORIAL

Have Americans Lost Art Of Doing Nothing?

Have we, in America, lost the art of doing nothing? This question was posed in a recent issue of the National Parks Magazine by Mr. Elmer Shaw, a research assistant in the Library of Congress in Washington.

Mr. Shaw accurately points out that for large numbers of our citizens, "life has become too ultra-modern. Like automations, we are controlled by clockwork. We have forsaken the vastness of mountains, prairies, and forests, for a cubicle deep in the city. We swarm in the streets like bees in a hive. We are all John Doe. . . ."

But, wrote Mr. Shaw, "When we grow weary of speed, schedules, and smog," there is relief at hand; ". . . the great quiet places of the earth; the deserts, the forests, the mountains, and the shores of the sea. Here, time itself seems to sleep and clocks are forgotten; once again, almost without effort, we learn to do nothing, to play in the sand, to dream westward with the sunset, to live as only a child can live--free and unfettered."

Having indulged in the luxury of a few moments' soliloquy on the lost art of doing nothing, we had now better get busy--or there will be a number of irate readers who will have nothing to do but telephone us to inquire as to the whereabouts of their favorite newspaper.

Pause and Reflect

By Nelson Lewis

The day after tomorrow, Saturday, March 6th, will be the one hundred thirty fifth anniversary of the Battle of the Alamo. All Texans are familiar with the story of the old Mission-Fortress that played such a serious part in our history.

There is one feature of the siege that is so like the voice of today's silent majority as to bear reviewing. "On Feb. 24, 1836, 11 days before the final storming of the Alamo, Colonel Travis dispatched an appeal for aid which, while failing to bring support to the little band at the Alamo because of slow communications, did much to rally Texans to the cause of freedom. Seemingly, Travis wrote several copies and dispatched them by courier to different points. An original in Travis' handwriting is in the State Library, Austin. This letter, among the most heroic of all historic documents, is printed below.

Text of Letter

Commander of the Alamo-- Bejar, Feby. 24th, 1836--

Fellow citizens and compatriots--

I am besieged, by a thousand or more of the Mexicans under Santa Anna--I have sustained continual Bombardment & cannonade for 24 hours & have not lost a man--The enemy has demanded a surrender at discretion, otherwise, the garrison are to be put to the sword, if the fort is taken--I have answered the demand with a cannon shot, & our flag still waves proudly from the walls--I shall never surrender or retreat. Then, I call on you in the name of Liberty, of patriotism & everything dear to the American character, to come to our aid, with all despatch--The enemy is receiving reinforcements daily & will no doubt increase to three or four thousand in four or five days. If this call is neglected, I am determined to sustain myself as long as possible & die like a soldier who never forgets what is due to his own honor & that of his country-- Victory or Death.

WILLIAM BARRET TRAVIS, Lt. Col. Comdt.

P.S. The Lord is on our side--When the enemy appeared in sight we had not three bushels of corn--We have since found in deserted houses 80 or 90 bushels and got into the walls 20 or 30 head of Beeves.

TRAVIS,

On March 6, 4,000 to 5,000 Mexicans charged the Alamo to the strains of the "Deguello," signifying no quarter to the defenders. Their great number enabled the Mexicans to enter the Alamo and surrounding buildings. The Texans died fighting to the last man.

Does that not sound familiar? A cry for help that falls upon deaf ears. Aid to the Alamo was not forthcoming because, to quote the Texas Almanac for 1970, "the provisional government was at odds with itself, the council being arrayed against the governor."

This March 6th finds millions of loyal Americans trapped in a maze of bureaucratic red tape.

The elected officials are too busy playing next years politics to heed their pleas for help!

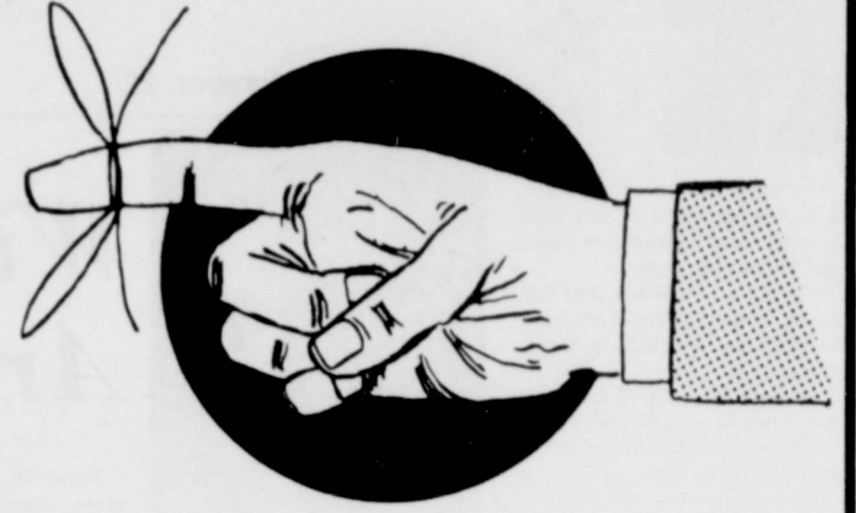

Must we always learn the hard way?

GRAYVILLE, ILL., MERCURY-INDEPENDENT: "No matter how compulsively Americans spend money, it's not likely they will be able to deplete the government's supply. Printers in the treasury at Washington daily combine 40,000 pounds of paper with two and a half tons of ink to produce $50 million in currency."

Friday night there will be a "hot time in the old town." At 8 p.m. most of the prominent citizens of Friona will lose their reputations, and maybe their tempers as well, at the high school gym. The faculty will play the townsmen in a volleyball game for the benefit of the Parent-Teachers Association.

35 YEARS AGO--MARCH 6, 1936

J.L. Landrum, who owns both the Friona Drug Company and the J.L. Landrum grocery and market on Main Street, was quite busy during the early part of this week placing both stores under one roof. Goods and equipment from the drug store were moved from the T.J. Crawford building adjoining the post office to the J.G. Weir building adjoining the City Drug Store, where the grocery and market business has always been located.

Friona's scarlet-clad basketballers, champions of District I of the Girls Basketball League of Texas, left Wednesday morning for Waco where they will take part in the state tournament to be held March 6-7-8. Taking the place of the Wayside Lassies, winners of the meet last year, the Squaws have the favored position in the tournament. Making the trip to Waco are R.L. Bates, coach, Miss Reba Jenkins, sponsor, H.T. Maigness, school board; Edna Brown, Betty Ann Taylor, Wynell Thompson, Wynona Hill, Frances Massey, Betty Mae Massey, Jean McFarland, Jacquelyn Wilkinson, Frances Buchanan, Christine McKenzie, June Msaure, Yvonne McFarland, and Florence Baxter, manager.

Changes in management and service at the Ira Benger Field northeast of Friona and owned by Carl C. Maurer of this city were instituted when Elvie T. Jennings took over last week as manager, machinist and flight instructor. Mr. Jennings has recently been discharged from the Army Air Service, where he served as mechanic and flight trainer, and is therefore expert in both.

A locally-owned gin is assured for Friona and the surrounding territory as a result of purchase this week of a Hardwick-Etter 4-stand gin. Wright Williams and Pete Buske, spokesmen for a local group of men making the purchase, said the gin appeared to be the ideal type for operation here. Concentrated efforts to secure a gin were commenced after cards mailed to cotton growers were returned to the Chamber of Commerce indicating some 11,000 acres to be planted in cotton in the immediate area.

15 YEARS AGO--MARCH 2, 1956

The worst sandstorm in four years rolled over the Golden Spread last weekend, bringing winds with gusts up to 90 miles per hour on Friday, according to the weatherman, and accounting for a toll of accidents and property damage. Cars along Highway 60 were stopped during the height of the storm, but cars were still involved in accidents. Worst injury was to Mrs. Joe Hromas of Bovina, who suffered lacerations on her face from striking her car windshield.

Ground was broken Monday for Friona Country Club's golf course, work on the bases for greens of the nine-hole course has been progressing since then. The club will continue to work for more members. Sincerely Yours

BY REV. ALBERT LINDLEY

I heard a radio editorial, or something, the other day that has really put me to thinking--and that's no small task. . . .

The whole bit that was presented pointed to a fact--that I have decided really has some meaning behind it--and that is that we all live in a kind of a relationship that seeks out assurance. We want assurances that things are alright, that we are alright, that our ideas are accepted or understood at least, or so that we can know what kind of relatedness we have with each other.

Just think about it for a few moments. Have you ever noticed how a small child will watch the face of a person? They are looking for "feedback." They are searching for a clue to the way things are going.

"Feedback" is the word which really gives us the proper understanding of what I'm trying to say.

We can even have "feedback" with things. Don't you listen when you start a car to see when to disengage the starter? Ever listen to the sound produced when pouring something into a container, to tell when it is nearing the full capacity level? Rough running engines and unhappy wives all have a sound of their very own, which behooves the man to get busy and correct the malfunction--or suffer the consequences.

I'm sure you are in the spirit of the thing now and can see that we are greatly dependent upon "feedback" to assist us in knowing just where we stand in relationships--both with people and things.

With this bit of knowledge we are also able of sending back "feedback" ourselves, to notify someone of their actions--proper or improper.

This is often known as responding to a certain event or circumstance--all of which is simply "feedback."

Now, my contention, as the editorial I heard, is that we are dependent upon the "feedback" of people and things.

There are different kinds of "feedback." The minister got a free look--see at what his worth might have been when one day, while working in his yard the earth caved in and he found himself to be at the bottom of an old abandoned well. In response to his loud calls for help a neighbor came to his rescue, but was rather leisurely about it.

"Hurry, hurry!" frantically called the minister. "What's the rush, parson?" asked the slow-moving rescuer. "This is only Thursday and we won't be needing you till Sunday."

Question marks, laughter, shopping or attending some performance, all have an element of "feedback" present.

I hope I haven't bogged you down in so many ideas, witticisms or personal personality quirks that you will miss my evident challenge for your participation in a "feedback" relationship.

It is my conviction--which is really not an original thing with me since it comes out of the Christian Faith--that what life is all about is one gigantic, total "feedback." I mean, how else can you spell out the whole event of creation unless you enter into a real understanding of what relationship is--with each other and with God?

Now where things really get interesting is the persuance of so many different kinds of feedbacks. We all have our thing and how well we carry it out is itself, feedback. There are even times, you well know, that our "feedback" is to really not do anything--to not feed back.

My point is this. Add it anyway you like it, the thing that is most valuable is to feed back to God what he seeks.

That's only the beginning because he then has some "feedback" of his own. . . . This is the Hope and Assurance that beeps up this ole' life of mine and it is so for you, too.

Just as a thought, have you really considered an acceptable "feedback" for God, recently?

Hereford Man Lands Top College Post

Wayne Thomas, Hereford attorney, was named last week by Governor Preston Smith as the new chairman for the Coordinating Board for Texas Colleges and Universities.

Thomas, 42, received the appointment after the Texas Senate had rejected the appointment of Manuel DeBusk of Dallas to the board. DeBusk had served as chairman for a little more than a year.

The coordinating board has the responsibility of planning and coordinating the future of 22 senior colleges and universities and 43 junior colleges in Texas.

"With the full awareness that this task is beyond the capabilities of any one individual and with the complete assurance of the assistance and wisdom of the board and staff, I accept this challenge," Thomas told other members of the board in Kingsville, where they met last weekend.

"The quality of higher education in Texas will not only, in a very large measure, determine the effort and destiny of the younger generation, but it will also determine the social and economic growth, development and effort of all the citizens of this state," Thomas said.

Sixteen other men are on the coordinating board with Thomas. All are highly influential men in their communities. All of the board members without exception pledged their support of Thomas, which aided in his decision to accept the appointment.

The Senate had rejected DeBusk's appointment to the board Thursday afternoon, and within three hours Smith appointed Thomas as the new chairman. Thomas and three others also came up for confirmation before the Senate on Tuesday, and their appointments were approved.

Thomas received the appointment in the form of a telegram which was waiting at his room when he arrived in Kingsville for the board meeting. He learned from other board members that Governor Smith had polled them on the selection of the new chairman.

Industrial Meet Slated Here Monday

E.H. Sheffield, industrial development consultant for the Texas Industrial Commission, will be in Friona on Monday to explain the TIC's computer program for industry.

The meeting will be held at the Community Room of Friona State Bank, beginning at 3:15 p.m.

Also at the meeting, Sheffield will present the Governor's citation to those who helped compile the data for Friona's "print-out" on the program.

Sheffield will discuss the uses of the "print-out," which will be left with the local chamber, and will discuss other uses of the computer for Friona.

Members of the chamber's industrial committee, and others who helped with the project, are invited to attend the meeting.

Tierney To Lead Baptist Revival

John Tierney, Scottish-born evangelist, will be the featured speaker beginning Sunday for the First Baptist Church during its revival crusade which runs March 7-14.

Tierney, who appeared at the local church in 1964, will come to Friona directly from Nigeria, Africa, where he has been preaching to thousands of responsive people as a missionary.

A former businessman, school administrator and pastor, Tierney has preached in more than 516 churches in 46 states. He has held city-wide and associational campaigns. His future invitations are taking him into many of the great pulpits of America, Canada, Spain, Scotland, Portugal, British West Indies, Africa and Ecuador.

Tierney has just returned from a successful campaign in Haiti. He has just completed his second term as president of the Conference of Southern Baptist Evangelists.

Felix Snipes, a native of Atlanta, Ga., will lead the revival choir.

Two services are scheduled each day, at 10:27 a.m. and 7:27 p.m. Sunday services are at 10:50 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Charles Broadhurst, pastor, says that the general public is extended a cordial invitation to attend any or all services during the week.

HOT LUNCH

To vary their noontime routine, the girls Mrs. Daley works with in Colorado purchased a large electric skillet. Instead of a sandwich for lunch they bring a cooked hamburger, pot pies, macaroni and cheese, leftovers—the possibilities are endless—securely wrapped in aluminum foil. About 1/2 hour before they are ready to eat, all the foil packages go into the skillet to get warmed up. Lunch smells as good as it tastes, and thanks to aluminum foil there are no pots or pans to wash.

Your attitude toward money is likely to influence the attitude of your small child, reminds Mrs. Doris Myers, Extension home management specialist.

Boys and girls develop their attitudes concerning making and receiving money and its use at an early age. Parental values and goals are most often the ones children will adopt.

Young people must acquire a philosophy and a pattern of spending from experience, Mrs. Myers says. They need money for necessities as well as for extras. By making choices in the way money is used, children grow in their ability to manage it.

If your child has an allowance or a job that pays some money, he will have the opportunity to learn. Even if you dole money out to your child as he requests it, he should have some freedom in the way it is spent in order to learn to make wise choices.

When a child first begins to handle money, limits should be set on the amount. If he faces situations with not enough money, he will realize when he makes a mistake in judgment.

A child will make many mistakes, Mrs. Myers says, but these are learning experiences. The lessons are necessary early in life to avoid wrong decisions later that could become disasters.

Help your child learn that there are some expenditures he must take, and that he has obligations to himself and others. If you let a child learn through experience, Mrs. Myers suggests, he will grow up to be happy about his money management skills.

This recipe is a favorite of Mrs. Larry Potts of the Rhea Community.

RIPE CUCUMBER PICKLES
8 lbs. cucumbers (large one peeled, seeded, and sliced in finger-sized pieces)

Place in stone jar and cover with a solution of 2 cups slacked lime to 2 gal. water. Soak 24 hours. Rinse well (3 times at least). Cover with cold water and soak 3 hours. Drain well and cover with the following solution:

2 qts. white vinegar
10 cups sugar
1 tablespoon salt
2 tablespoons mustard seed
1 tablespoon celery seed

Do not heat. Cover pickles and let stand 12 hours. Simmer 40 minutes and can.

Former Resident Will Be Honored

Hubert W. Hillin, a federal meat inspector, stationed at Deming, New Mexico, has received an award from the U.S. Department of Agriculture for outstanding performance.

Hillin was cited by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service for "sustained superior performance in carrying out responsibilities covering all phases of meat and poultry inspection," according to Dr. W. H. Irvin, southwest regional director of the federal meat and poultry inspection program, Dallas, Texas. A cash award was attached to the citation.

He is one of a corps of federal inspectors stationed at meat and poultry plants throughout the country to insure that meat and poultry products consumers buy are safe and wholesome.

While the Hillins lived here, he was employed as a meat inspector at Missouri Beef Packers, Friona and Wilson & Co. at Hereford. Mrs. Hillin, whose given name was Juanita, was employed by the elementary school. The couple have two sons, Lonny and Doug.

Prospects Said Good For Good Beet Year

Prospects for the highest returns in history per ton of sugarbeets grown in the Texas panhandle were announced at a meeting held recently in Hereford by officials of Holly Sugar Corporation and the Texas-New Mexico Beet Growers Association.

James W. Witherspoon, executive secretary of the grower's association, and Holly President John B. Bunker, said the beet contract agreed upon in December carries a potential of the highest returns in history per ton of beets for Texas-New Mexico growers.

The two said there is "a real possibility that total cash returns to growers for the 1971 crop could exceed $18.50 per ton of beets with improved sugar content, based on current sugar prices and recent market trends."

The average Texas price plus Sugar Act payments was about $14.00 per ton in 1970.

Witherspoon, principal spokesman for the growers, said the new Holly agreement, "all factors considered, is one of the best for growers of any in the United States."

Bunker said that the Holly agricultural staff is launching an all-out campaign this year to seek improvement in sugar content of beets by working with growers to hold down excessive nitrogen levels in the soil.

"Too much nitrogen," Bunker said, "has been proven to lower—not raise—sugar content in beets."

To aid in the beet quality improvement program, Bunker said that Dr. Donald D. Dickenson, director of agricultural research, had been transferred from California to the corporate offices in Colorado Springs to be more readily available for consultations with Texas-New Mexico growers.

Bunker pointed out that there are no acreage restrictions imposed on growers this year so that High Plains growers were free to grow as many beets as the Hereford factory could handle.

"With sugarbeets returning to profitability, Holly is studying the feasibility of expanding its Hereford factory to handle any increases in local acreage," Bunker said.

He pointed out that banks in California have been urging farmers to switch to sugarbeets from other crops because of the assured high returns enjoyed by beet growers.

Both Witherspoon and Bunker were high in their praises for the Sugar Act and the benefits it has brought to processors, growers and consumers.

The Sugar Act regulates sugar consumed in the United States. The current act is due to expire December 31, 1971, unless renewed by Congress.

However, according to Bunker, there is reason to hope that the present Act, last amended in 1965, will be extended.

Both Witherspoon and Bunker pointed out that a Texas-Congressman William Poage of Waco, who heads the House Committee on Agriculture—will have a great deal to say about whether the Sugar Act is renewed this year. His committee has jurisdiction over sugar legislation.

Poage has gone on record as liking the Sugar Act in its present form and sees no reason for basic changes in the Act.

"I think we have a basically good Sugar Act. I think that our idea of manipulating the supplies to meet demand at a reasonable price is a sound approach and I think it is a good approach from the standpoint of the processors, the producers and the consumers."

"I think it has given us a degree of stability that we can't get otherwise, and I see no reason for basic changes in the Sugar Act. There will be, of course, some changes but I would assume that we could probably go on with the same basic plan or program that we have at the present time," Chairman Poage has said.

Bunker pointed out that the United States sugar program is one agricultural program that not only works but makes a profit for Uncle Sam.

"The Sugar program is self-supporting and doesn't cost the taxpayer one cent. In fact, to date the program has paid into the U.S. Treasury more than $611,000,000 over what the program costs, including all payments and the costs of administration by the government," Bunker said.

Witherspoon added that most countries have laws similar to

LOCATING VEGETABLE GARDEN IS CRITICAL CHOICE

Raising a vegetable garden can save on grocery money as well as supply an abundance of fresh, crisp and nutritious food. But before planting those vegetable crops this spring, carefully consider the location of your plot.

Too often vegetable gardens are located next to a field of cotton or grain sorghum. And problems arise when the crop is sprayed for insects during late spring and summer. In many cases the garden may be directly sprayed when the cotton and grain sorghum is treated.

Also, insecticides can easily drift onto the vegetables and contaminate them. These vegetables can be consumed safely if the particular insecticide that was used is also labeled for use on the vegetables involved. However, often the consumer may not know when the vegetables were contaminated or what material was used. Certain insecticides labeled for use on cotton or grain sorghum are not labeled for use on vegetables.

So, to avoid the possibility of contaminating garden produce the family garden should be planted as far as possible from field crops which may require insecticidal treatment during the growing season. Especially avoid planting gardens immediately adjacent to grain sorghum or cotton.

Consideration should also be given to the direction of the prevailing wind (south to southwest) when locating a garden near field crops. The garden is much less likely to receive spray drift if it is located upwind from the crop being sprayed. If you are unable to relocate your garden, keep a close check on it when spraying surrounding fields and keep an accurate record of the date and the insecticide used. If the applicator knows the location of a garden in relation to the field crop being treated, excessive drift onto the garden can usually be prevented.

The Panhandle Economic Program (PEP) will sponsor a program entitled "Efficiency in Agricultural Production" on Thursday, March 11, 1971. It will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the Quality Motel on Interstate 40 East, Amarillo, Texas. This program is in support of "3,76 in '76," which is designed to raise agriculture income one billion dollars by 1976. Featured on the program will be discussion of minimum tillage, double cropping, improved cropping practices, cattle crossbreeding and semi-confinement cow-calf operations. This program should be of interest to both the farmer and the livestock producer in this area.

our Sugar Act which regulate production of and trade in sugar.

He said that the Act also contains many social legislation features. It provided for the first realistic minimum wage in agriculture, was the first agricultural industry to prohibit child farm labor and included provisions to encourage the small grower.

Bunker pointed out that 60% of all sugar consumed in the nation is domestic while 40% is imported. Beet sugar accounts for 60% of the domestically produced sugar.

Specialist Gives Tips Against Greenbugs

The key to keeping greenbug damage in grain sorghum to a minimum is to keep the insect population below damaging levels until natural enemies of the greenbug can take over. That's been the findings of research conducted by James R. Cate, Jr., research entomologist at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center north of Lubbock. Cate is working with other entomologists at the Center in a long-range research program on greenbug control.

"Generally, greenbug infestations occur in grain sorghum about two to three weeks before populations of beneficial insects can build up to ward off the aphid pests," explains Cate. "So, producers often have to resort to insecticidal control to prevent crop damage. However, we've found that the use of reduced rates of certain insecticides when greenbug numbers reach damaging levels not only controls the greenbug but also allows the buildup of beneficial insects."

Materials used in test plots, included demeton (Systox), trithion, ethyl parathion and disulfoton (Di-Syston). Demeton and trithion were applied at one-fifth the normally used rates while the other two insecticides were applied at one-half the normal rate. "There was no reduction in the degree of greenbug control with these reduced rates," points out Cate. "In fact, the four materials provided 95 percent or more control for three weeks after application."

Of special interest in the tests was the selectiveness of the insecticides. Demeton, in particular, had only a slight effect on two types of lady beetles and green lacewings, the major predators of the greenbug in grain sorghum. Parasitic wasps also survived the treatment of these low rates of insecticides.

"The key to using these low rates of insecticides is proper timing," the entomologist emphasizes. "In all the tests, insecticides were applied to sorghum in the preboot stage (18 to 24 inches tall) only after enough greenbugs were present to kill more than the two lower leaves of the plant. Last year, this occurred on July 18 in our field tests."

According to Cate, greenbugs present in the sorghum before spraying did not affect the plant enough to reduce yields. Furthermore, by delaying treatment until greenbug numbers were approaching damaging levels, one treatment provided sufficient protection

AT IDALOU

Weather-Plagued Track Team Competes Saturday

The Friona Chieftains will open their track season on Saturday--weather permitting--when they participate in the Idalou Relays.

The Chieftains have been hampered since workouts started by snow and blizzard conditions, and have had only about three decent workouts in two weeks.

Following the Idalou meet, the Chiefs have on their schedule meets at Abilene, Hereford, Dumas and the District 3-AA meet at Littlefield April 7.

Coach Larry Dyess has some 22 varsity boys out for track, including Wesley Clark, the defending district champion in the high jump and pole vault. Also back is Rommie McPherson, who placed second to Clark in the high jump last year at district, and participated in the regional meet.

Coach Dyess expects the sprint relay foursome to be fairly strong. It is composed of Danny Vera, Jimmy Harvey, Wesley Clark and Lewis Lee. Distance runners include Bill Bailey, Larry Nickel, Rex Minshew, Charles Bentley, Mike Martin and Mike Royal.

The shot put and discus throwers are Terry Mabry, James Weatherly and Kevin Wiseman.

Hurdlers are sophomores Johnny Bandy and James Bartlett,

FURNISHED FOR CITY. . . Fire Chief Ralph Shirley, right, presents Mayor R.L. Other pieces of major equipment are also shown, including a fire truck and pick-up.

Bond Goal For '71 Announced

County Bond Chairman Frank A. Spring announced today that the 1971 United States Savings Bond sales goal for Parmer County is $100,000. January sales were $4,037 with four per cent of goal achieved. During January Texas sales amounted to $17,375,765--an increase of 9.5 per cent over the total January 1970 sales of E & H and Freedom Shares. This is 10 per cent of the annual dollar goal of $181.9 million. Nationally, Savings Bond sales for January 1971 were $430 million for 8.9 per cent of the national goal of $4.8 billion. Sales were 13 per cent above January 1970. Cash value of Bonds and Freedom Shares outstanding on January 31 reached an all-time peak of $52.6 billion.

In front are Mrs. Howard Fleming, Mrs. Milton Evans, Mrs. Waymon Wilkins, Mrs. Bill Nazworth, and Mrs. Sam Richards. Not present was Mrs. Bob Owen.

Fire Dept. Presents City With New Unit

Fire Chief Ralph Shirley presented R.L. Fleming with the keys to a 1971 Chevrolet station wagon--the latest of three major units which the fire department has purchased through sales campaigns and rental from its banners at Maize Days. The station wagon would retail at around $5500.00, but the Fire Department was allowed to purchase the unit at cost by Reeve Chevrolet, at a good savings.

The new automobile is termed as the "Chief's Car," and contains smoke masks, a respirator and oxygen. Shirley explained that by having a car so designated, and containing required equipment would result in a saving of one-half cent on the city's key fire insurance rate.

The station wagon purchase was aided by the drive the firemen made last fall in which it sold its old panel truck through a drawing conducted and climaxed during Maize Days.

Through similar promotions, the Friona Volunteer Fire Department has purchased units and equipment valued at around $20,000 and saved the taxpayers of Friona that much money.

In 1962 the department purchased a Chevrolet fire truck, which along with its equipment is valued at around $6,000. In 1968, the local firemen conducted another drive and purchased a pickup with appropriate equipment, valued at $3,500.

Besides these major purchases, the department has purchased coats and helmets for all members, costing $2,000--and an air compressor which cost $1,500.

The citizens of Friona are very fortunate to have a hustling volunteer fire department, which turns out at every alarm to extinguish a blaze. The firemen even go the "extra mile" in purchasing much of their own equipment.

That must be what it known as "beyond the call of duty."

Mills Termed "Satisfactory" From Around The Country

It was reported this week that Alfred Mills of Bovina, who was seriously injured in the wreck at Black on Sunday, February 21, is now in satisfactory condition at High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo.

Mills underwent surgery on Monday. He sustained a broken hip, cracked pelvis bone and compound fracture of his left leg from the accident.

Mills also experienced difficulty in breathing, due to foreign particles in his bloodstream, stemming from the broken bones.

From Washington comes the word--'Hold the line.' This is good advice and until this is done. . .inflation is going to keep rolling upward. Jan Wallis Speaks To Club Members

Highlight of the Wednesday afternoon meeting of Friona Woman's Club at Federated Club House was presentation of a lecture depicting life in Australia by Jan Wallis, American Field Service exchange student from that country.

Roll call was answered with a report on international affairs or a bit of information about Australia.

Mrs. Dave Moseley presented a report on comparison of life in America to that in Thailand, which was originally presented by a foreign exchange student who spent one year in Hereford.

Repetition of the club collection in union and a question and answer session, during which Miss Wallis answered questions about her native country, completed the program.

During a brief business session, which was presided over by Mrs. Ethel Bengler, Mrs. Dave Moseley was elected delegate to the Caprock District Federated Club Convention, which will be held in Plainview March 19 and 20.

Refreshments of party sandwiches, tea and coffee were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Dave Moseley, and Mrs. Bee Westbrook.

Guests were Miss Wallis, Mrs. E.G. Phipps and Mrs. Carl Schlenker. Thirteen members were present.

MR. AND MRS. KENNEY BAILS

Double Ring Vows Unite Miss Mast, Kenny Bails

A double ring ceremony was repeated by Miss Chrissy Faye Mast and Kenneth Lee Bails Friday evening in the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bails of Friona.

Don Stone of Fritch, former minister of Bovina Church of Christ, read the ceremony before twin candelabra intertwined with ivy.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Rita Mast of Bovina and Art Mast of Valley Center, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Bails.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, A. B. Wilkinson of Bovina, the bride wore a white street length dress featuring leg-of-mutton sleeves and a high collar.

She carried a bouquet of white orchids with satin streamers atop a white Bible. Something old was a pin belonging to her great-grandmother and something new was an opal necklace, a gift from the bridegroom. The white satin Bible was borrowed from her mother and a traditional blue garter completed her ensemble.

Cathy Mast, twin sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Brenda Dyer was bridesmaid. They also served as candlelighters.

The attendants wore identical dresses of aqua blue with elongated waists and pleated skirts. They carried white carnations.

Serving as best man was Don Timms of Friona, brother-in-law of the groom. Gary Pope of Friona was usher and groomsmen.

The bride's mother was attired in a lime green knit dress with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue knit dress with black accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Water Leader Named Man Of The Year

Gordon Fulcher, chairman of the Texas Water Quality Board, was named Man of the Year by the Texas Water Conservation Association at the organization's annual convention in Austin on February 26.

The 27th annual convention of TWCA was dedicated to Fulcher and the honor was announced at a Friday luncheon when a plaque was presented to him in recognition of his outstanding work for water conservation in Texas. The presentation was made by Josiah Wheat of Woodville, president of the association, who said of Fulcher, "His concern for our environment is deep and sincere."

Fulcher is one of the Water Quality Board's three lay members appointed to six year terms by the Governor. He was named to the post by Governor John Connally in 1967 and was elected to a two-year term as chairman by his fellow Board Members in 1969.

Publisher of the Citizens Journal in Atlanta, Texas, Fulcher was managing editor of the Austin American from 1929 until 1941 and editor of the Austin American-Statesman until 1946. He began his college education at Wichita Falls Junior College where he started his newspaper career on the daily Record-News. Later he went to Austin where he attended the University of Texas and began his long career with the Austin dailies.

Leaving newspaper work for a time, he entered the construction and timber development field in 1926, and in 1963 purchased the Atlanta newspaper.

He also is president and publisher of the Texas Star, a new Sunday magazine supplement soon to be released in 26 daily newspapers throughout the state.

Keeping The FAITH

"I cannot understand why anyone should fear death. Life here is more cruel than death. Life divides and estranges, while death, which at heart is life eternal, reunites and reconciles."

"We are given knowledge of heaven to fit us better for earth."

Statements such as these occur throughout the fascinating book My Religion by the late Helen Keller, the story of the spiritual awakening of a great woman.

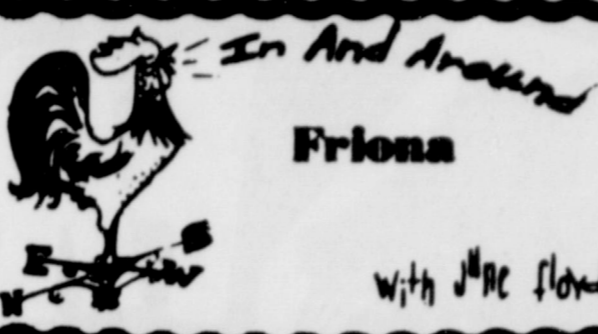

Miss Keller, according to the publishers, writes of the birth into existence, with which we have nothing to do, and the birth into life, which is a matter of choice.

"There is among us a distressing indifference to all things of faith, and an impatience at any effort to explain the laws of life in spiritual terms. The only really blind are those who will not see the truth—those who shut their eyes to the spiritual vision. For them alone darkness is irrevocable."

Now in paperback form and including an introduction by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, this inspirational volume can be obtained by sending $1.25 to Swedenborg Foundation, Dept. P, 139 East 23rd Street, New York, N.Y. 10010.

Monday we had a beautiful sunny day. Tuesday was quite different. The temperature dropped rapidly early in the evening and by midnight snow had begun to fall. Of course, that is typical of West Texas weather. Those of us who have lived here a long time are never surprised at such sudden changes. Maybe that is one of the reasons we like living here.

As of Tuesday afternoon snow was still falling and livestock men were having trouble with cattle all over the country. In fact, I doubt that all of the problems from the week before had been solved before new ones were created by the weather.

Since it has been so terribly dry here, none of us complain much when anything wet falls. Wouldn't it be nice if we could remember 1971 as "the year we had so much moisture?"

Yesterday's spring flowers, which have bloomed out profusely in some sheltered places are covered with snow to-day.

Neighbors and friends of Estis Beaton were saddened late last week to learn of his death. He was the father of Winette Parr of the Black Community and lived here several years before moving to Willcox, Arizona.

When a lot of our residents migrated to Willcox a few years ago, Estis and Winnie Beaton; Sam and Glindeen Bailey and children; Lee, Gertrude and Dickie Lee Renner; Bill and Edith Hamrod; Charles and Joy Beaton and maybe others moved out there.

Mrs. Beaton is a sister of Wright and Tee Williams.

City and school elections are coming up real soon. Let's all exercise our right to have a voice in our government by showing up at the polls.

Really, none of us have a real good excuse for not voting in local elections. If we don't know the persons who are running, we should become acquainted with them.

Too many of us criticize "them" for what "they" are doing when we really should be thinking in terms of "we." School board members and city councilmen are really servants of the community and we should support and cooperate with them in matters concerning our school and town.

Let's stand up and be counted at the local elections!

"Texas," a musical romance of Panhandle history by Paul Green will soon be having try-outs for parts. This will be the fifth season for the production. It is produced by the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, a non-profit corporation, in cooperation with West Texas State University and plays in the Pioneer Amphitheatre.

As of yet we have not had a Frionan in the cast, but surely we will have soon.

Try-outs have been scheduled and the cast will be chosen in the not too far distant future. Perhaps some of our talented young people would like to try out for a part.

Persons who are interested in objects which were necessities to our great-great-grandparents but oddities to the new generation, should visit Aubrey Rhodes and his new place on the south side of Highway 60.

Rhodes and his wife, who is a third grade teacher, have long been interested in collecting and re-finishing antiques and he has a number of interesting objects in his office, which was formerly occupied by Gifford-Hill Western. Go by and see them and if you are under 30 you will probably have to have someone identify part of them.

If you haven't got a food freezer or a refrigerator-freezer combination, poultry and meat should be used within one to seven days (depending on the kind of food and design of refrigerator). Store them in the coldest part of your refrigerator and, if possible, keep them just below freezing.

To keep large slice leftovers, cubed steaks and prepared sandwiches fresher, longer... use a Tupperware plastic Square-A-Way food container. Indefinitely reusable, Square-A-Way holds fourteen ounces, stacks neatly in little refrigerator or freezer space, and seals airtight for locked in taste goodness.

Potatoes, hard-rind squashes and eggplant should be stored uncovered in the refrigerator. Carrots and beets with tops cut off can be kept for long periods in plastic bags or containers at refrigerator temperatures. Leafy vegetables, washed and dried, should be stored in refrigerator crisper or covered plastic container. Tomatoes should not be refrigerated until fully ripe.

Chris Tannahill Receives Promotion

Chris L. Tannahill, who is a graduate of Friona High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Tannahill, was recently promoted to the rank of First Lieutenant in the United States Air Force.

Tannahill, who received his wings from flight school at Fort Rucker, Alabama on December 15, 1970, attended essential medical training for medical service corps aviators from January 15 to February 12 at Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

At the present time he is assigned to the 283rd Medical Detachment, Helicopter Ambulance, and is based at Tuy Hoa, Vietnam.

His wife, the former Glende Creech of Midland, and son, Jimmy, are living in Friona.

Promotion Underway On Texas Grain-Fed Beef

"The next time you buy your favorite steak or other cut of beef, you will probably be made aware that it was produced in Texas": this is the objective of the Texas Grain Fed Beef Promotion Committee that met in Austin recently. The organizations represented on the committee will be working with restaurants and retail grocers to identify and promote Texas grain fed beef.

Don Workman, Vice President of The First National Bank of Lubbock and the representative of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was elected Chairman of the group.

Workman said, "Many people here in Texas are not aware that the excellent beef they are eating is produced here in the state. With the unified action of the organizations represented on the Texas Grain Fed Beef Promotion Committee, we hope to establish a program that will make Texas beef recognized and appreciated."

The committee has adopted two major slogans for promotional purposes, "Tenderness is Texas Grain Fed Beef" and

"Real Eating Pleasure... Texas Grain Fed Beef."

W. Price, Jr., Executive Vice President of the Texas Restaurant Association, explained that "the beef coming out of Texas feedlots and processed by packers here in Texas is the finest beef that can be bought."

Frank Brooks, Meat Specialist for the Texas Department of Agriculture, added, "The committee hopes to make everyone in Texas aware that the finest beef in the world is produced right here in the Lone Star State."

Lloyd Bergsma, Executive Vice President of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association said, "Texas now ranks second in the nation in the number of cattle on feed and we are rapidly gaining in Iowa, the number one state."

Jack Springer, Executive Vice President of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce who acted as Secretary for the committee, emphasized that beef always has been an important part of our Texas economy. Springer pointed out, "Even with urbanization and industrialization of our state, we have more cows in Texas today than people." The latest census shows slightly more than eleven million people and more than twelve and a half million cows.

Other members of the committee and the organizations they represent are: William H. Brigham, Texas Retail Grocers Association; Jack Carothers, Texas Cattle Feeders Association; Lamar Holley, Texas and Southwest Meat Packers Association; Jim McNease, National Livestock and Meat Board; Elbert Harp, Grain Sorghum Producers Association; and Don C. King, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, Inc.
