All phases of homemaking work will be offered which will include sewing, cooking, furniture refinishing, upholstery and copper work, according to Miss Strong, and she urges those interested in any of this work to be present, so that plans can be completed for classes to begin in the near future.

Rev. Walters to Attend Baptist Board Meeting

DALLAS—V. D. Walters of Cross Plains is a member of the Texas Baptist executive board, which will meet in Dallas Tuesday to consider a record $11½ million annual mission budget and plan other denominational activities for the coming year.

The 191-member board, composed of pastors and laymen from over the state, will also hear a report of a committee which has set goals in evangelism, stewardship, Christian education, church growth and missionary activities for the six-year period from 1959 through 1964. The latter year will mark 150 years of organized Baptist work in the United States.

FARMERS TO MAKE IMPORTANT DECISION IN WHEAT REFERENDUM

Texas wheat farmers will help make an important decision when they vote June 20 in the national wheat marketing quota referendum. Searcy M. Ferguson, chairman, State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.

If at least two-thirds of the growers who vote in the referendum approve quotas for the 1959 crop, Ferguson explained, the 1959 wheat program will include acreage allotments, marketing quotas (with penalties on "excess" wheat) and price supports at a minimum national average of $1.81 per bushel, or 75 per cent of parity.

If the quotas are not approved by at least two-thirds of those voting, there will be no marketing quotas or penalties, but allotments will remain in effect as a means of determining eligibility for price support. The price support rate would be about $1.20 per bushel, or 50 per cent of parity, as provided by law.

Chairman Ferguson pointed out that wheat marketing quotas and acreage allotments operate only in commercial wheat states—those with allotments of more than 25,000 acres. Texas has an allotment of 4,099,094 acres for the 1959 wheat crop.

Growers eligible to vote in the referendum are those who will be affected by the wheat quotas if they become effective. Thus, farmers who will have 15 acres or less of wheat for harvest as grain in 1959 and those who are taking part in the 1958 feed wheat program are not eligible to cast ballots in the 1959 wheat quota referendum on June 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Pancake and family of Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn Davidson of Monahan visited in the L. W. Pancake home over the week end.

Mr. Davidson died suddenly of a heart attack while mowing the lawn at his home here Friday afternoon, May 23, about 6 o'clock.

Highway Patrolman Cecil Weems of Baird said the automobile went out of control and left the road, whipped back on the highway, skidded about and overturned one and one-half times to land next to the fence on the opposite side of the road.

The Colorado City man, who was traveling alone, was thrown about 14 feet from the car, also landed near the fence. The 1949 Dodge was a total loss.

Philosopher Finds His Plans and Ike's Have Habit of Failing to Pan Out Financially

Expenses are a little more than I figured on, income is a little less, and by the end of the year me and the national government are in about the same shape. It's a funny thing, but I can always see fewer expenses and more income than ever results. Just like President Eisenhower couldn't have been expected to see a mild recession coming, I couldn't see that tractor tire I was going to ruin. It was a good tire, lots of rubber still left on it, and I figured it was good for two or three more years at the least. I got two dollars on it in a trade-in.

The same thing was true about that piston rod, that cow that got sick and died, the roof that blew off, the fence that fell over, my wife's breaking her eye glasses, those relatives that piled in on us. . . I tell you, you never know what's going to turn up next on this farm or in the White House.

Of the two jobs, though, I believe I prefer this one. It's one thing to have your wife nagging at you when you take off on a little vacation, but another thing to have the entire United States population to answer to.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Your Social Security

Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of articles on your Social Security program compiled by C. M. Vaden, Jr., Field Representative of the Abilene Social Security Office. The fourth article will cover "Who gets Social Security Credits." It will appear at a later date.

The last article covered "quarters of coverage" and explained how this measure of Social Security coverage is obtained.

Now, how many of these quarters do you need to be eligible for payments?

To be eligible for Social Security when you reach the retirement age, you must be "fully insured." In order to be fully insured, you need quarters of coverage equal to one-half the time since 1950 (or since the year in which you reached 21 if that was after 1950) up until you reach the retirement age or up until the time of your death.

These quarters may have been earned at any time after 1936 or at any age, so long as the total is equal to half the time since 1950 (or age 21) up to the retirement age or death.

A person reaching the retirement age now would need 14 quarters of coverage. Next year at this time he would need 16, the year after 18, etc. The minimum requirement in any case is 6 and the maximum is 40 quarters or 10 years.

The retirement age for women is 62 and for men it is 65. So any man born 1906 or later and any woman born 1909 or later will need 40 quarters of coverage to get retirement benefits.

Some death benefits are payable when the worker is only "currently insured." You will be currently insured if you have at least six quarters of coverage out of the 13 calendar quarters ending with the quarter of death.

"Fully insured" and "currently insured" are explained fully in the booklet called "Your Social Security." There is also a handy chart from which you can determine how many quarters you need. Write for your free copy—Social Security Administration, P. O. Box 1641, Abilene, Texas.

SIGHTS TO SEE IN TEXAS

There's plenty to see in Texas, wherever you may roam on a holiday jaunt or on a vacation trip. Clockwise from the lower left hand corner, some of the impressive sights to see in Texas are: The Big Bend, some of the most striking scenery in the state; Guadalupe Peak, highest point in Texas at 8,751 feet; the Palo Duro Canyon, camping grounds for Indian tribes in frontier days; East Texas oil fields, biggest of them all; the 570-foot San Jacinto Monument, commemorating decisive battle of Texas history; Gulf Coast Beaches, some of the finest in the world; the Alamo, "Cradle of Texas Liberty," and in the center of the state, Texas Longhorn Cavern, biggest cave in the state and third largest in the world, one of Texas' most spectacular natural wonders. Sightseeing is fun in Texas.

Visitors Spent More and Stayed Longer in 1957 Than in Previous Years

AUSTIN, Tex.—Visitors to Texas spent more money and stayed around longer spending it in 1957 than during any previous year, so indicates the Tourist Industry Report released by the Texas Highway Department this week.

D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer, pointed to statistics in the Report which show that expenditures per person per day jumped to $8.22 in 1957, as compared to $7.71 in 1956. "Moreover, the typical tourist extended his visit to 6.3 days in 1957, as compared against 5.5 days the previous year," Greer observed.

The Report defined tourist dollars as new money earned elsewhere and brought into the community where it is then spent and respent into the local business cycle. Specifically, tourist dollars to the tune of $531 million made music in Texas cash registers and jingled in the pockets of Texas jeans last year. This whopping amount was cleared from tourists traveling by automobile. Greer pointed out that this was an impressive increase over 1956's intake of $379 million. The Report says that approximately $98.9 million was spent also in 1957 by tourists visiting Texas by air, rail, bus, and ship.

Largest part of the tourist dollar in Texas is spent for food, lodging, and car upkeep. To serve those basic needs, the Report estimates, 25,520 established businesses with 192,265 employees are required. The final figures are increased many times when the retail stores, amusement spots, gift shops, and other places where the remainder of the tourist dollar is spent are considered.

Tourists themselves provide the records from which the Highway Department obtains the statistics in the annual Tourist Industry Report. Greer remarked. Survey cards, to be completed and mailed back after the visit in Texas, are given tourists stopping at the Department's seven Highway Travel Information Bureaus located on major highways entering the state. Last year the Bureaus played host to 174,000 such out-of-state guests.

Need some weights for your throw lines or trot lines?

If you'd like to have some extra weights, fer free—even an anchor or two, maybe—then here's a tip. Next time you see a new home going up, bricks being laid, or concrete being poured—drop in for a visit. Ask the boys to let you have the left-over "mud".

Then, here's what you do with it.

Get some old syrup buckets, paint buckets, or what have you—anything from gallon size on down, that will hold concrete.

Next, find some old metal clothes hangers and cut them into strips of varying lengths—depending on your needs. Bend the wire in the middle to make a loop. Take the two loose ends and twist the wires around each other a few times, about two or three inches below the loop. Then fan out the loose end at right angles to the loop. This should give you a piece of wire shaped like a "T" with a loop in the top end.

Now, stick the cross-bar part of the inverted "T" into an empty can and pour in the cement. Adjust the "loop" to a sufficient height above the concrete so that there will be ample room in "the eye" for whatever size rope you plan to use.

Let the "mud" sit overnight. In the morning you'll have a home-made weight—or anchor, depending on its size—made of solid concrete, and at the cost of but a little time.

Use a smaller can, you can make whatever size weight you'd like for your throw line, or trot line. Larger cans make excellent weights for anchoring the boat while fishing, or peaching.

If the can is so large that a coat hanger may be too light to withstand the weight of the concrete, use an abandoned piece of heavy, galvanized clothes line, or a small chain.

Eventually the can will rust away. But you'll still have your anchor of poured concrete, just as long as your wire "loop" remains intact. So, select as strong a wire for that purpose as you can find—and one that is as rust-resistant as possible.

If you want to get fancy with your home-made anchors here's something else you can do. Punch two holes in the side of the bucket, directly across from each other and some two inches from the bottom. Through these holes insert a piece of iron rod, such as is used to reinforce concrete. Let this rod extend out from the sides of the can about three or four inches.

Next, punch two more holes on opposite sides of each other, but at right angles to the first rod and an inch or so above it. Then place the second rod through the can. This gives you two iron rods at right angles to each other and only a short distance apart.

Now when you pour in the concrete you will have an anchor with four prongs extending outward. So, when you drop anchor and the boat begins to move with the wind or the current—and the anchor tips over—the prongs "dig in" and hold the boat in position.

DEAD MINNOW BAIT—Do you throw away your dead minnows?

Most fishermen just toss out dead minnows that fail to survive in the old minnow bucket. However, we've encountered a few old-timers of likely spot and just sit back and relax for a while. If they haven't had a strike after five or ten minutes they reel in slowly and take a look at the bait, just to see what's going on down there.

Next cast is made in another area. They say the biggest strikes come when things are real quiet. But they do get an occasional strike while reeling in. Catfish in the first instance; bass in the second. And with dead minnow bait.

TIPS BOOKLET—A postcard to Airex Corporation, 411 Fourth Avenue, New York 16, N. Y. will bring you an interesting 24-page, multi-colored booklet. Just ask for their "Tips and Tackle" booklet. It's free.

For example: To clean your salt water reel Airex suggests "Add half a cup of vinegar to a pail of water and slosh the reel well."

To start fishermen they find that they can use an empty milk bottle as an accessory on the beach. The rod rest while you are hooking and it protects the reel from sand and grit.

Fresh water spin fishermen are given several pages of hints for better fishing.

LICENSES—Many Texans find that they can use a license for $2.15 which will permit them to fish in either fresh or salt water. This is the same fee paid by Texans who reside in their home counties and use a rod with a winding wheel.

State Capital NEWS

By Vern Sanford

VERN SANFORD
 News Press Association
 A fresh task force is organized by Gov. Price Danto attack the state's monetary production still hovering low and a prime source revenue partially throttled, government is, for the time least, "living beyond its means."

Calvert, Auditor C. H. Cavness, Budget Officer Jess Irwin and Col.
 J. T. Ellis Jr. of the governor's administrative staff.
 They are expected to work cooperatively with the State Tax Study Commission, a group of legislators and outside experts who have been surveying the state's fiscal position for some months.

Under the present spending patterns, it is estimated the next legislature would have to scratch up upwards of $100,000,000 in new revenue to balance the books.

As in a family that comes up short at the end of the month, the state's advisors, both official and unofficial, are divided between those advocating getting more money and those favoring less spending.
 Governor Daniel urged his executives to try both angles. Specifically, he suggested exploring:

1. Every possible economy in use of state funds.
2. Possible elimination or combining of duplicating services among state agencies.
3. Compilation of a list of non-recurring expenses in the present appropriation.
4. Every possible source of additional state revenues which may be available without the levy of additional taxes.

OPEN SEASON—Most major candidates have held their opening rallies and will be campaigning with little let-up between now and the July 26 primary.

But in many areas of the state an even more intensive struggle is going on at the grass roots for control of the precinct conventions. They'll be held right after the primary, on a small-time battle with big-time stakes. Whichever group of the Democratic party gets out the "mostest" to the precinct conventions will control the state convention in the fall. This means taking over the official machinery of the party for the next two years—leading up to 1960 and presidential nominating time.

Governor Daniel has said he will personally lead "conservatives, moderates and all other Texas Democrats who believe in majority decisions." He's been assured of vigorous opposition from the liberal Democrats of Texas led by Mrs. Frankie Randolph of Houston, Texas' national committeewoman.

DOT will have a state-wide rally in Austin May 31 to draw attention to its efforts to oust the governor from official party leadership.

For the average citizen the precinct convention poses a more ticklish problem than primary voting. It may mean voting, publicly, against a neighbor who is running for precinct chairman.

"WARS" WATCHED—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson says his office is keeping close check on the gasoline and milk price wars that have broken out in major cities.

LAWN MAINTENANCE AIDED BY PROPER MOWING

College Station—Constant care and attention are necessary for the maintenance of a beautiful lawn. One of the basic factors involved, says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist, is mowing.

Improper mowing is responsible for the deterioration of many lawns. Mowing too close encourages the thinning of the turf and shallow rooting, resulting in lower resistance to drought, diseases and invasion by weeds. Setting the mower too high results in many of the same problems, says Trew. Excessive soil drying and baking and heat damage to the lawn grass during the summer also result from too close mowing.

The leaves of the lawn grass not only produce the green color, but also manufacture the food required for the entire plant. When too much of the leaves are clipped, the entire plant suffers, points out the specialist. No more than a half-inch of the leaf tip should be removed at any one mowing.

Creeping types of grasses can withstand closer mowing than bunch types. Bermuda should be mowed at a height of one to one and a half inches; St. Augustine, buffalo and zoysia, one and a half, while bluegrass and ryegrass should be mowed no closer than one and a half to two inches.

Many lawn enthusiasts like a dense mat of turf, but such a buildup of stems and leaves eventually leads to trouble, cautions Trew. The mat acts as insulation; new roots from stems must penetrate it to get to the soil, and it increases the disease hazard.

Proper mowing, advises Trew, requires a sharp, well-adjusted lawn mower. The mower should be sharp enough to cut the tips of the leaves without bruising or crushing them. The height of the bed knife should be determined by placing the mower on a flat surface and adjusting the set screws or bolts so that each end of the bed knife is exactly the desired height. Uniform mowing requires that the mower be adjusted at regular intervals, says Trew. For more information on home lawns, Trew suggests that a copy of B-203 be obtained from the local county extension office.

In some areas gasoline prices dropped as much as 10 cents per gallon below normal, and milk has been sold at a fraction of the usual charge.

"Texas anti-trust laws do not prevent price wars which are the free warning of competition," Wilson commented, "but they do prohibit agreement or conspiracy to fix or cut prices and selling below cost to eliminate competition."

MORE BUILDING—Effect of the drought's end is being seen in more building in smaller towns dependent on agriculture for prosperity.

UT's Bureau of Business Research reports a 10 per cent rise in the January-April building volume for towns with less than 10,000 population.

BBR's report reflected a fairly general brightening of the building picture. Construction authorizations for April were up 3 per cent from March and 22 per cent from a year ago.

Home builders were found to be cautiously optimistic. Most, BBR reported, hadn't actually experienced much of an increase in home sales. But they were busier than they'd been in months building up a supply for an expected pick-up in buying by fall and next year.

Easier credit and, in some cases, lower costs of materials are expected to make house buying more alluring.

MORE SALVAGE—Sale of some municipal bonds owned by the bankrupt US Trust and Guaranty Co. has brought another $144,000 for the company's creditors.

An earlier distribution of $2,181,000 represented about 31 per cent of the amount owed some 9,000 persons.

Meanwhile, Insurance Department employees are working against a May 31 deadline to complete an operation designed to prevent such fiascos in the future. They check the annual statement of each company doing business in Texas. If any questionable transactions are uncovered, the company is required to straighten them out before being re-licensed.

During the past year, a period of tightened regulation, there has been no large-scale crack-up in the industry. Many younger companies have merged to strengthen their positions by combining assets.

GUN SELLING LAW—Whether Texas law regulating sale of pistols is constitutional is being considered by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Case in point involves a Houstonite who was sentenced for sale of a pistol to a minor. Attorney for the defendant contends the law is too vague and confusing to be valid.

Texas penal code has two separate and sometimes conflicting sections on sale of firearms, forbidding their sale to minors, persons "under heat of passion" and persons convicted of felonies.

SHORT SNORTS—Texas Employment Commission has announced the first substantial drop in unemployment claims this year. After weeks of tabulating steady increases in joblessness, TEC reports claims had slid from 90,913 to 86,528. Total benefits paid dropped $143,070 for the week. Accompanying this good news, TEC announced 1,127 new jobs created in the state by the opening of new businesses. Largest was a garment factory in Temple employing 200.

INCREASE PECAN CROP BY CONTROLLING CASEBEARER

In most commercial pecan producing areas of the State, possibilities are good for a crop this year, says B. G. Hancock, extension horticulturist. But, he warns, pecan nut casebearers are already on the job and unless control measures are applied, the crop could be a small one.

South Texas producers are spraying and those in all other areas in the State are warned by Hancock to be ready to apply the needed insecticides any day. The usual pattern of casebearer development is off schedule and the smart thing to do, says the specialist, is to watch the orchard every day.

The three essentials in obtaining satisfactory casebearer control are listed by Hancock and C. F. Garner, extension entomologist, as correct timing of spray application, proper application of spray material and use of the correct insecticide.

To be sure of timing, the specialists urge pecan growers to check the nut clusters closely and regularly for the appearance of the casebearer eggs. The eggs are usually deposited singly on the tip or blossom end of the small nuts; are pearly white with a bluish cast and about a third the size of a pin head. They hatch in four or five days. After hatching, the small worm moves down below the pecan cluster and feeds on the buds in the leaf axil. The buds are hollowed and the tell-tale webbing and black frazz around the bud can be seen. After four or five days of bud feeding, the worm now much larger, moves back to the cluster and bores a hole at the base of the pecan and enters to feed.

Because of the short period of time the worm is exposed, timing of control measures is of the utmost importance. Long residual sprays can be applied when a number of eggs are found in the orchard. If fairly short residual sprays are used, it is best to wait until some of the eggs have hatched and worms are found feeding in the buds.

Proper application of the insecticide must include a thorough wetting of the nut clusters and the stems immediately below. Hancock urges pecan producers to check with their local county agent for details on a good control program.
