Chairman Tunnell pointed out while the new Salk vaccine has curbed the crippling effects of polio, there are still 150,000 polio victims who must not be forgotten in their fight to regain a place among the able-bodied.

Tunnell stated that teams of volunteers will call at every home and business establishment in the city some time during the day, seeking contributions for this worthy cause, and asks that residents be ready and generous in their response to this annual appeal.

He stated that 250,000 children are born each year with birth defects, and 11,000,000 Americans suffer from arthritis and rheumatism. March of Dimes researchers have probed deep into the nature of human cells and the organisms which damage and destroy them.

Arthritis has plagued mankind since the beginning of time. Almost nothing is known about its cause. There is no cure, no preventive. Millions of people suffer silently with its pain and crippling.

The Reference Book, incidentally, lists only manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers. It does not include some of the service and professional businesses such as beauty and barber shops and real estate brokers.

Hemphill also added that during the past year 114 changes were made in the Reference Book listings of Callahan County businesses, including names added, deleted and changes in rating of continuing businesses.

Using the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book listings as a guide, it is interesting to review what has happened in the four principal Callahan County communities during the past year.

Survivors, other than her parents, are three daughters, Mrs. Virgie Eva Gibson of Amarillo, Mrs. Marilee Elledge of Pampa and Mrs. Elsie May Moore of Lubbock; one son, Bill S. Cooper, of Plainview; two sisters, Mrs. Virgie Patterson of Merkel and Mrs. Norris Line-weaver of Abilene, and five grandchildren.

Each Reference Book listing, which includes the rating, is a condensed summary of the information contained in the Dun & Bradstreet credit report. The report includes a history of the business (who owns it, who runs it and how long it has been operating); a description of what the business does and how it does it; a financial section which usually includes the latest financial statement, and a record of how the concern pays its bills.

While credit reports are primarily used by businessmen who want to evaluate the credit risk before shipping or selling, insurance underwriters also use credit reports to review risks, rates and coverage for fire and other types of insurance.

GOOD GULF PRODUCTS

By VERN SANFORD
 I told us quite some time at the happiest day in his life the day he bought a boat. "I added," and the next day was the day I sold the boat. "I said that in jest," later learned that he meant it.

Disch's Marine Service was a brand new 18-foot, Whitehouse fiberglass runabout and two 25 hp Buccaneer motors.

That rig made a beautiful job. It provided fun for the entire family, and boating, skiing and fishing pleasure for friends and business associates for months and months to come. All of us will remember that Christmas forever.

Fact of the matter, we were so happy that we printed "FREE BOAT RIDE" cards and distributed them wherever we went. Men and women were entitled to a 30 minute ride, children one hour, and grandchildren all day.

We had fun with that boat. Used it a lot in business entertainment, too. When our kids married and left, we sold the boat with much regret. . . . and settled for one of Whitehouse's 14-foot fiberglass fishing boats. It has provided worlds of fun, too. And food. You know fishing is one hobby that allows you to "have your fun and eat it too."

Last December Old Santa left us a 3 hp outboard motor. The little 32 pound, one cylinder Buccaneer is small enough for trolling and light enough to lift in and out of the water. We keep the motor in the trunk of our car, ready for a jaunt to the lake any time.

Nowadays when a fellow can rent a fishing boat for $1 or $2 a day, on most Texas lakes, it is mighty nice to own a small, easy-to-carry motor that you can store in the car until that moment when you're ready to head for the happy fishing waters.

You'd be surprised to discover how many car trunks contain outboard motors nowadays. Also how many Texas automobiles are pulling boat trailers. Next time you're on the highway, look for the tell-tale hitch on the rear bumper of the cars that whiz by. The percentage will amaze you. Most hitches signify a boat owner.

And, by the way, have you noticed the trend to "marking" the best fishing spots?
 First to come to our attention was the map prepared by Sid Wheelless, owner of the Redfish Resort Motel in Port Mansfield. Sid keeps a supply of mimeographed maps on hand for all who want them. The maps pin-point the best fishing spots for 15 miles in three directions from Port Mansfield—north, south and east—the Laguna Madre area and beyond.

Some of the choice spots for reds and trout are within three and four miles of the hotel and can easily be found by any fisherman. Now the High and Lake boys are becoming interested in a similar marking job. Marine dealers and top fishermen in the area have met and formulated a plan of identifying the choice spots on Lake Buchanan and the smaller lakes on the Colorado River.

Their program includes floating numbered buoys as markers. Maps of the area will be furnished free by the various concessionaires in the six-lake area.

Arkansas has gone all out to lure fishermen to the Ozarks and the Ouachitas. Shorelines at Lake Ouachita, for example, just out of Hot Springs, are marked with billboards carrying huge numerals—that indicate choice spots to fish. There are 50 such boards on this one large lake. They serve also to guide the stranger back to camp. Free maps are available at hundreds of places about the lake.

You'll be seeing more and more markers on Texas lakes as those that are marked lure the fishermen away from the not so alert areas.

KEEP RECORDS --SAVE TAXES

There is no time like the present to start a procedure that will aid you with next year's income tax calculations. That is to maintain a record of your income and outgo. Such a record can be simple and brief but it may save you tax dollars and many hours of work in filling out tax forms.

The average man who works for a wage or salary doesn't have to concern himself about keeping books and records—at least so he thinks. His employer keeps a reliable record of his earnings and Uncle Sam looks primarily to the employer for information on his earnings and for the withholding of various taxes out of his wages.

But whether or not you run a business of your own, you have a partner who each year is claiming a substantial interest in your personal income. And the law requires that you keep books for him in case he ever asks for an accounting.

Perhaps you own your home or are paying it out in installments. It's likely that some day you may sell that house. When you do you'll want to be able to prove whether you realized a gain or a loss on that sale. If a gain in capital resulted, it probably will add to your income tax. If a loss was suffered, it may possibly reduce your income tax.

You may have made certain capital improvements on the house while you lived in it, but unless you can show what out-of-pocket expense you incurred while making them, you may not get credit for them in your cost basis so as to prove that you had no capital gain or that you had a loss.

Or perhaps you received that little summer cottage on the lake as a gift from your father. If you ever sell it, you should be able to show Uncle Sam not only the cost of improvements you made on it while you owned it, but also what it was worth for tax purposes before Dad gave it to you.

It may be that you are receiving an annuity on an insurance policy. If so, do you know how much that policy costs you and how much of that cost you have recovered tax-free to date?

There are many kinds of transactions you enter into that may some day affect the computation of your personal income tax. The best proof of the cost of anything you've purchased is a receipted bill or canceled check. If one of these pieces of evidence relates to any transaction that may affect your income in later years, it's a good idea to keep it. Your "partner" may some day ask to see it.

GI Insurance Dividends to Total $256,000,00 in 1959

More than a million veterans holding GI life insurance policies are using their regular annual dividends to guard against the loss of their GI insurance the Veterans Administration said today.

The statement followed VA's recent announcement that $256,000,000 in policy dividends would be paid during 1959 to more than five million holders of participating GI insurance.

VA said GI policyholders may have these annual dividends held—with interest—by the agency as a credit to pay the premium monthly if the policyholder fails to pay it before the end of the 31-day grace period.

This policy-safeguarding procedure is followed automatically if the policyholder has not requested other disposition of his annual dividends, VA pointed out.

VA said two other dividend options were open to all holders of participating GI policies. They may direct VA to use their annual dividends to pay policy premiums ahead of time, or they may request that their dividends be paid in cash.

Holders of permanent policies also may authorize VA to hold annual dividends on deposit, with interest and subject to withdrawal on request. If not withdrawn, the money and interest will increase the value of the policy.

Washington, D. C.—As usual, the 86th Congress opened with ceremonial fanfare and with many big question marks in front of it.

After a few days in session, the first burst of activity accompanying an opening session of Congress dies down and the routine of assigning Members to various committees begins.

In the early part of any session there is a flood of legislation introduced, much of which will never see the light of day.

More than two thousand bills were introduced on the opening day. At the last check on the number, it had reached between 2,500 and 3,000.

In the two years of the last Congress there were about 20,000 pieces of legislation introduced, but only about 1,800 were finally passed to become law.

A committee chairman will naturally introduce more bills than an average Member, but it is with some degree of pride that all of the measures I presented in the last Congress, all were finalized into law.

Legislation generally is divided into two broad categories. One deals with peace and security, which comes under our foreign affairs, and the other is our domestic economy and social welfare.

As time goes on it will be my purpose to discuss the various issues as they arise, and seek the views of the people whom I represent in the Congress.

New Farm Bulletin Discusses Pricklypear

Pricklypear—good or bad? This is a question in the minds of many ranchmen who often ask if pricklypear should be controlled or kept as an emergency feed reserve.

For over a century pricklypear has been used for livestock feed. On Texas rangelands it usually is considered an undesirable plant but does have some economic value as supplemental forage for cattle and sheep during winter and drought periods.

Frequently, ranchmen burn pricklypear for a supplemental roughage for cattle during winter. Burning consists of singeing pricklypear spines with a hot flame from butane or oil pear burners. Pear burners are constructed and operate much like a blowtorch. The spines should be burned enough that they cannot be felt when the pad is touched. If pricklypear is burned excessively livestock refuse to eat it, but they eat it readily when it is burned properly.

Chemical analysis of green pricklypear parts usually consumed by animals follows: crude protein, 1.4 to 4.4 per cent; digestible protein, 0.5 per cent; fat, 1.55 per cent; potash, 3.04 per cent; phosphoric acid, 0.33 per cent; crude fiber, 8.65 per cent; calcium, 2.84 to 13.85 per cent; nitrogen-free extract, 57.85 per cent and water, up to 85 per cent. From this analysis it would be classed as a fair roughage.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has published a bulletin entitled "Pricklypear—Good or Bad." The bulletin contains discussions of pricklypear's forage value and its advantages and disadvantages as a range plant. It also has sections devoted to control measures and what management follows control.

This publication, B-906, is available free of charge from local county agents or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Publication Available for Small Fertilizers Users

Home gardeners often are faced with the problem of converting fertilizer recommendations into the proper amounts for small area use. Extension Soil Chemist W. F. Bennett has come to their rescue by preparing fertilizer conversion tables for lawns, gardens and flower beds.

The information is given in Extension Service publication L-169 and copies are available from the offices of local county extension agents or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Bennett points out in the leaflet that the best garden soil is a rich, deep sandy loam or loam with good drainage, good structure and water-holding capacity. But, points out the chemist, the addition of organic matter, such as compost or barnyard manure, and commercial fertilizer will make the good garden soil even better.

Bennett suggests that all gardeners take a soil test to determine the exact amount of fertilizer needed by the lawn or garden. Local county agents can supply information on how to take a representative soil sample and give mailing instructions.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Brown and Mrs. Buddy Hardin and son recently returned from a month's visit with relatives in California. Mrs. Hardin visited with Mr. Hardin, who is employed by a drilling company operating in Death Valley while the Browns were visiting with their children.

Stage Being Set for Lower Beef Prices

It appears that beef prices in 1959 may not be greatly different from those of 1958, though the average price in 1959 could be a little lower, predicts John G. McHaney, extension economist.

However, he adds, increases in cattle inventory are setting the stage for a price decline some time in the next few years. Any increase in cattle numbers sets the stage for a future price decline and one is very probable in some early year after 1959. But if the rate of expansion can be kept within bounds the drop will not be too severe.

McHaney says the average price received for slaughter cattle in 1959 may be slightly below that of 1958 and profits from feeding cattle may average less than in 1958, when returns were the largest of recent years.

The greatest price strength in 1959 will be in feeder and breeding stock, just as in 1958, the economist points out. The bumper 1958 feed harvest, the second in consecutive years, should keep the demand for feeders at a high level. The strong demand for young cattle, both for feeding and herd expansion, also will help keep the price of feeder and breeding cattle high relative to slaughter and fed cattle.

Consumers will have more meat to eat in 1959 than in 1958, McHaney says. It has been estimated that about 6 per cent more red meat will be produced in 1959. Most of the increase will be in pork, and a sizeable increase in pork supplies will tend to hold down cattle prices.

Higher grade beef from fed cattle will remain fairly abundant but

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Some cheered and some will soon forget the suspenseful opening day of Representatives of Carr received his victory-assuring 76th vote. A round of hand shaking, back slapping and congratulating began. Following the final count, a procession composed of Carr's family and supporters escorted the Lubbock representative to the rostrum to take the oath of office.

On With The Show—After the opening dust had settled, Legislators turned to their everyday concerns.

Most immediate and pressing problem was finding money to operate the Legislature. Since the state's main monetary cupboard, the revenue fund, was bare (worse still, in debt), there wasn't so much as a nickel on hand to pay salaries of the lawmakers and their helpers, nor even for stamps, stationery, phone calls and travel. A bill was offered to appropriate $2,300,000 that had accumulated in two special funds.

Several plans were being talked about to solve the even more vexatious long-term problem of overall budget balancing. To do so will involve finding money to pay off an expected general fund deficit of $65,000,000 plus some $130,000,000 in new money to meet expected expenses for 1960-61. Only alternative would be numerous and painful economies.

Generally, there seem to be two schools of thought developing on taxation: (1) those who hope to avoid a new tax by upping many present levies, such as selective sales taxes, removing several exemptions and re-shuffling funds here and there and (2) those who say the present tax blanket can't be stretched any further and that "pot shot, patch work" taxation should be replaced by an over-all plan to distribute the increasing cost of government among more people.

Panorama—Other items for the record of what promises to be an historic Legislature:

Senator George Parkhouse of Dallas is new president pro tempore of the Senate, and as such, third in line to the governor. An outdoor advertising executive, Parkhouse is beginning his third Senate term.

No free overtime, resolved Senators in one of their first official acts, a resolution to quit on the dot May 12 when the 120-day pay period runs out. House members cheered the announcement.

A famous name returned to public life as Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin took the oath as senator. Former Congressman Martin Dies Sr., long identified with the Dies Un-American Activities Investigating Committee, came to see his son sworn in.

"Baby of the House" is Rep. Jack Connell Jr. of Wichita Falls, youngest person ever to sit in the House. Connell was 21 years old plus 14 days on general election day.

A football star when he's not a lawmaker is Yale Lary, freshman representative from Fort Worth. Lary, a defensive back for the Detroit Lions pro team, was a college star for Texas A&M.

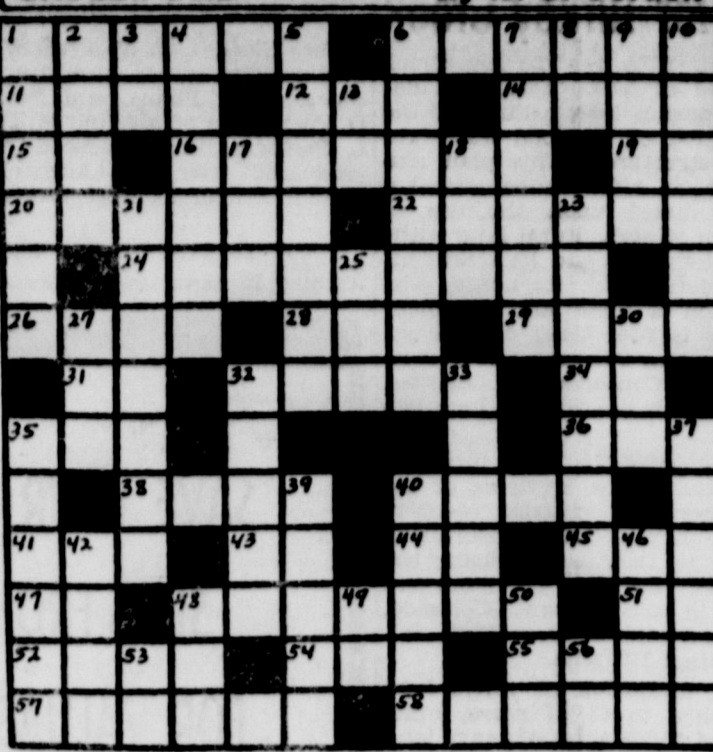

One governor's son succeeded another as W. P. Hobby Jr. was named parliamentarian of the Senate, a post held last session by Dan Moody Jr.

An early crisis was averted when the House sergeant-at-arms rushed a spittoon to the desk of snuff-dipping Rep. Jerry Sadler of Pecos. Spittoons, once a standard accessory, had gotten lost in the chamber's revamping.

Polks with money-spending ideas had best be armed with money-finding ideas when they come to the Legislature this year. This warning was issued by Senator William S. Fly of Victoria in an Austin address.

Third House has its own ceremonies this year as, for the first time, lobbyists are required to register under the new law. From the length and variety of the list, there's a lobbyist for practically everything and everybody—teachers, farmers, firemen, policemen, labor unions, industries and even church groups.

Governor's appointments — Gov. Price Daniel has appointed Secretary of State Zollie Stankley to a second term and promoted two assistants in the governor's office.

George Christian, former press assistant, becomes executive assistant, taking over non-legal duties of Jake Jacobsen. Jacobsen left to enter private law practice.

John Goldsman was promoted to administrative assistant and will take over Jacobsen's legal duties.

Pay For Secretaries Debated — One of the first issues for debate in the 56th Legislature was pay for secretaries of Senate and House members. Generally accepted rate is $14 per day for Senate secretaries and $10 for the House. But a resolution must be passed setting amounts of the salaries, at the beginning of each session. Rep. Obie Jones of Austin said House secretaries should receive $12 a day because the $10-a-day figure was embarrassing to House secretaries when they met their Senate counterparts during coffee breaks. Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria pointed out that the state can't afford the increase. "Maybe," he said, "we'll have to pay them out of our own pockets," and he pointed out that not all Senate secretaries received $14—that some of them were paid as low as $7 per day.

Good Farm Records Can Save Income Tax Dollars

Farmers may save several dollars on income tax by keeping good records, reminds C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist.

Small leaks are the ones that sometimes prove costliest, Bates points out. An oversight of only $25 in expense items may cost an additional $5 tax. So, records should include all items of expense and income that will help determine net profit or loss from the business.

To simplify filling out the tax forms, Bates recommends classifying various items in categories corresponding to the various headings used in tax forms. For recording sales, the following groups are recommended: (1) sale of livestock raised, (2) sale of produce raised, (3) other income, (4) sale of items purchased for resale and (5) sale of assets that may receive capital asset treatment.

A depreciation schedule should be kept on farm buildings (except dwelling, fences, machinery, equipment and purchased livestock used for dairy breeding or draft purposes. These items depreciate each year and this loss is deductible for income tax purposes at the end of the year in which it occurs.

Bates advises consulting your local county agricultural agent about your tax problems. The county agent also can provide a copy of the 1959 Farmers' Tax Guide which should be helpful in your tax management this year.

SCS Develops Work Plan for Turkey Creek

A work plan for Turkey Creek watershed of 59,200 acres was developed during 1968, calling for the construction of 12 flood water retaining structures. This plan also calls for an effective conservation program based upon the use of each acre of agricultural land within its capabilities and its treatment in accordance with its needs. The application of these land treatment measures is now being carried out by the Central Colorado and Brown-Mills Soil Conservation Districts. Turkey Creek lies within these two districts.

Developing of the work plan was in addition to the servicing of 426 soil conservation district co-operators as they applied conservation practices to their lands during the past year. These co-operators are located in the Central Colorado, Lower and Middle Clear Fork Soil Conservation Districts.

Proper utilization of range land was applied to 63,737 acres, while grazing of 19,526 acres of range land was deferred. Brush control was applied to 8,426 acres of native grazing lands, as a part of a co-ordinated soil, water, plant and wildlife conservation program.

Other conservation measures applied to the land were cover cropping, stubble mulching, strip cropping, fertilizing, range seeding, wildlife area improvement and fish pond improvement. Terraces, diversion terraces and ponds were constructed as part of a planned conservation program.

Soil conservation district supervisors giving of their time to promote conservation are C. M. Garrett of Cross Plains and John D. Isenhower of Putnam. Isenhower was elected as a supervisor in October of 1968.
