Fire which was believed to have started in an overstuffed living room chair Saturday afternoon destroyed the chair, a large portion of the carpeting and one wall of the living room and heat and smoke damaged the entire house belonging to Parker Baum, located on East 8th Street. The loss was estimated at $750. to the house and was covered by insurance. Loss of furniture was not covered, it was said. The fire was discovered by the W. B. Strickland family who live across the street from the Baum home and they turned in the alarm and assisted in moving several articles from the house. ### Benefit Ball Game Friday Night Nets Over $75.00

A benefit softball game between a team of ladies and a team of men played at the Little League Park Friday night of last week, netted $67.61 in contributions from fans which together with profits from the concession stand gave the League sufficient funds to cover the cost of a new removable fence in the outfield of the new baseball park. The fence was purchased at a cost of $75 and is used when Little League teams play and is removed when the Pony League teams use the diamond. A large crowd was on hand to witness the benefit game which was won by the ladies by a score of 22-17. There was considerable complaining by members of the men's team about the decisions of the umpires. However, these fellows contended that they were calling the game fair and square and let it be known that they though the ladies were simply better ball players than their male opponents.

City Water Storage Tank Undergoes Extensive Repairs

The 67,000-gallon reservoir water storage tank belonging to the Cross Plains City Utilities has been completely overhauled on the interior, according to an announcement made the past week by C. F. (Pat) McNeel Jr., City Water Commissioner. He stated that the tank, constructed of reinforced concrete, developed a bad leak which necessitated draining it and relining it with a plastic material made for water storage tanks. City crews completed the work this week and have placed the tank in operation again. The obnoxious taste of water in city mains is said "to be coming from the 'tasteful' plastic material sold to the city for this use. Commissioner McNeel reported and it is believed that the taste will disappear soon.

PHILOSOPHER DOUBTS THAT WHITE-COLLAR FARMING WOULD BE LESS TIRING FOR HIM

Editor's Note: The Bayou Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses the future of work this week. We guess that's what he's doing.
Dear editor:
When a man doesn't know any more about what's happened in the past than I do, he hasn't got much business predicting what's going to happen in the future, but I'm always interested in what somebody else has to say about it. For example, I was reading an article last night in a newspaper a neighbor handed me earlier in the day because he said he didn't have time to read it, too busy working, that predicted that in 10 years "the ancient image of work as something manual and tedious will be fading rapidly and most workers will be wearing white-collars." This does not leave me altogether satisfied. I mean, while the ancient image of work as something hard may fade in the next ten years, I figure work itself will stay around quite a while longer. And as for wearing a white collar, this doesn't appeal to me at all. That is, I guess I could wear a white collar now, with a tie, but going up one row and down another on a tractor would still be the same. Even changing collars at noon, because the one you started out plowing in that morning is bound to be dusty by mid-day, still wouldn't fade any images of work, as far as I'm concerned. You can get just as tired from white-collar farming as you can from the open-neck kind. I'll admit the machine has eliminated a lot of work, but what some people don't seem to realize is that it's caused a lot of other work, too. I long ago noticed that a man who graduates from a tractor with two-row equipment to one with four-row equipment doesn't work half as much as he did before, he just takes twice as much land and still goes from sun-up to sun-down. I'm not equipped to figure it up myself, but it would be interesting to know how many hours of work scientists and inventors have put in perfecting labor-saving devices, how many hours workers have put in building them, and how many hours consumers have put in working to afford them. The way I see it, some sort of work is likely to occupy man for some time to come. Putting on a white collar doesn't fool me. I've seen bankers, druggists, doctors, store keepers, school teachers, etc., come home just as tired from work as a farmer. I don't believe science can invent the type of collar that'll keep a person from getting tired. Yours faithfully, J. A.

Voters of Burkett and Cross Plains to Ballot In School Consolidation Election Saturday

Qualified voters of the Burkett and Cross Plains Independent School Districts will go to the polls Saturday, June 6, to vote on a proposed consolidation of the Burkett District with the Cross Plains District, as set forth in a proposed merger by the Burkett school board. Polls will open here at the city hall at 8:00 a.m. Saturday and will close at 7:00 p.m. with Jack McCarty serving as election judge. Burkett voters will ballot there in their usual polling place during the same hours. All qualified voters of the two districts are entitled to vote in the election which requires a majority in each district for passage. The Burkett district will be divided if the election carries, with part going to Coleman and part coming to Cross Plains. School boards of the districts involved will divide the district along a line already agreed on which will give Coleman that part of the Burkett district situated south and west of the Bayou and Cross Plains will consolidate that part situated east and north of the Bayou, it was said. Students of the Burkett High School have transferred to Cross Plains and Coleman for the past two years. A grade school has been maintained by the Burkett district during these two years with Gilder Adams serving as principal.

It was so good to have him home for this occasion and his many friends and pupils that he taught in school indeed appreciate him for all that he had done for them through the years. Moody Laminack and his daughter, Charise, sang a duet accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Lawrence Kelley, the former Jessie King. # Entomologist Says Termites Can Be Controlled Now

Don't get panicky if you think you have termites in your house. They aren't going to eat it down right away. This advice comes from James H. Hawkins, extension entomologist.

First make sure they are termites, he says. It's easy to mistake ants for termites. Your county agent can help make positive identification. If they are termites, take your time in deciding what to do as termites work slowly. You will have to know where they are getting into your home so look for their mud tubes. Termites build these tubes as travel routes when they are forced to bridge over concrete, brick, or other non-wood surface.

Use a flashlight and an ice pick and look for termite signs under porch steps, around inside cellar walls, crawl spaces, or outside window sills. Look for mud tubes coming out of the tops of hollow concrete blocks. Jab wood that is in contact with masonry or beams which are near the ground level. If the ice pick goes in readily, it is a sign of trouble.

Several chemicals which are effective and long-lasting in controlling termites is applied properly are chlordane, lindane, and dieldrin, says Hawkins. He suggests using the oil or water emulsion concentrate forms of these materials or wettable powders. Dig a trench around the foundation of your home, dilute the insecticide with water, and pour it into the trench at a rate of four gallons to every ten linear feet.

If the termites are coming through a crack in a slab of concrete, it may be necessary to drill one-half inch holes, one foot apart and six inches from walls and pillars, through the slab. Then pour the chemicals into the holes.

Tackling a termite control job is hard, dirty work. Even if you have the incentive, in case of concrete slabs with imbedded heat pipes, better leave it to a reliable pest control operator, the entomologist advises.

State Capital NEWS

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN, Tex.—Between now and the middle of June the Legislature has only one goal to shoot at—getting the state "fiscally fit."

Gov. Price Daniel limited topics for the 20-day special session to (1) paying off the $65,000,000 deficit from the 1958-59 biennium, (2) passing an appropriation bill for 1960-61 and (3) passing a tax program to cover appropriations.

When these things are taken care of, the governor indicated he might submit such items as the Hale-Aikin school program and medical payments for the aged. He favors both these programs, said Governor Daniel, but believes in taking "first things first."

To cover these "first" needs, the governor is pushing a tax program very similar to what he proposed last January. This includes the "bookkeeping bill" to cut down the deficit by crediting more money to this year, a 3 per cent severance tax on natural gas, a higher corporation franchise tax and the abandoned property bill, under which the state would take over unclaimed bank accounts and property.

He is willing to revise the abandoned property bill to meet some of the objections that caused it to be defeated during the last session. Absolute deadline for getting the money problems solved is September 1, when the state begins a new fiscal year. Unless new appropriations are provided by then, the government, including schools, hospitals, etc., will grind to a halt.

HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL—Legislators are again asking the people for a pay raise—this time a more modest amount.

A proposed constitutional amendment, approved on the last day of the regular session, would give lawmakers an annual salary of $4,800. In addition, they would get $12 a day expense money for a 120-day session every other year.

Last November a proposal for annual salaries of $7,500 and annual sessions was decisively swatted down at the polls.

At present, both senators and representatives get $25 a day for a 120-day session, plus $25 a day for each called session. It's a minimum total of $3,000 for two years when there are no special sessions. Under the new proposal, the minimum for two years would be $11,040. People will vote on this plan at the general election in November, 1960.

"NO SWEAT" ELECTIONS—One of Texas' oldest traditions—scorching hot election days—is passing into history. Governor Daniel signed into law a measure moving primary elecschool instruction in basic English at the expense of the public school system.

STATE INSPECTION of livestock at auctions was provided. An amendment to assess livestock owners for cost of the program, estimated at nearly a half-million a year, failed.

INTERIM STUDIES have been authorized for the investment of the Teachers Retirement Fund, laws governing formation of water districts, financing of the Board of Water Engineers and fees charged by state agencies.

ADVERTISING PRICES as wholesale has been outlawed, unless the goods are intended for resale and a bona fide wholesale price is listed.

CALF ROPING CONTESTS will be legal under a new law. Unknown to many people, they apparently were not legal before.

A STATE ADVERTISING PROGRAM, under the joint direction of the State Highway Department and Texas Industrial Commission, was set up. An appropriation to get it going will have to come later.

16 SUCCESSORS to the governor were officially designated in a continuity of government bill passed to assure a living chief executive in event of atomic disaster.

CORN MEAL AND GRITS must be enriched with vitamins and minerals if they are to be sold for human consumption.

First Baptist Church Announces Goal for Summer Campaign

The First Baptist Church of Cross Plains is seeking to boost its summer attendance to an average of 237 per Sunday in Sunday School during June, July and August. It was announced this week.

Superintendent J. H. Balkum challenged the Sunday School workers to increase the summer attendance by 20 above the attendance for the same period last year which was 217. At the beginning of the Sunday School year in October, a goal of 25 above the 1958 average of 202 was adopted; and after nine months of the year had passed the Sunday School has averaged 229 which is a little more than the anticipated goal.

The highest average Sunday School attendance for any one month was reached in April of this year when the school registered an all-time high of 261, it was said.

The Sunday School workers have adopted a slogan to be used during June, July and August which is "Up 3 the Next 3." The slogan suggests that the school will seek to add three new pupils to each of its 10 departments making a total of 30 more people added to the Sunday School roll. The pastor, Rev. V. D. Walters, stated that "while often churches suffer a decline in the summer, and especially during a building program, our attendance has increased and God has blessed our efforts for Him even when we were delayed with the progress of our new building; the current campaign is an effort to 'slap the slump' of sagging attendance and to increase Sunday School enrollment," he said.

In an advertisement elsewhere in this paper the pastor's sermon subjects are listed for the next five weeks under title "The Ten Commandments As They Apply to Our Day."

A cordial welcome is extended to all worshippers, it was stated.

Veterans Information

The Veterans Administration can pay for ambulance service or other transportation of patients to its hospitals only when prior authorization has been given, the VA said this week.

In medical emergencies, the private physician who telephones a VA hospital to request emergency admission of a veteran may secure the travel authorization from the hospital by telephone at the same time.

The physician requesting the emergency admission should tell the hospital whether it is for an illness or injury that has been rated service-connected, and if it is not, whether the veteran can afford to pay for travel to the hospital.

Veterans admitted to VA hospitals for treatment of service-connected conditions are entitled to necessary travel to and from the hospital at Government expense, provided prior travel authorization is obtained from the hospital.

Veterans admitted to VA hospitals for treatment of non-service-connected conditions are entitled to this travel at Government expense only if they affirm under oath that they cannot afford to pay the cost of the travel and if prior travel authorization from the hospital has been obtained.

"Speed Mania" Is Cause of Many Highway Smashups

We all wonder what contributes to the "speed mania" of the person behind the wheel on the open road. Yet it's not so surprising.

The vacation and holiday traveler wants to get to his destination in time for a last minute swim in the lake, or the baseball game, or just a few casts of the old fishing rod before dark.

This same traveler got a late afternoon start, he stopped en route to visit friends or relatives and he must "make up that time" by crowding it a little. Just a little you understand, he's not going to take any chances.

What our "hurry driving" motorist friend fails to realize is that hundreds of thousands of other vacation and holiday travelers have added their vehicles to the normal highway traffic load.

We wonder if this friend of ours who is "making up time" on the highway knows that... Safety is everybody's job. Traffic safety is teamwork. Each individual driver must ask himself, "Can You Stop In Time?" He can if he will take time to Slow Down and Live.

"You can criticize a man about anything except his driving," is a statement we all must admit to be true.

Calmly you can reason with most men that they have picked the wrong profession, they have selected the wrong section of the city in which to buy or build a home, they should save more of their wages or they should wear Bermuda Shorts in summer.

But tell a man he operates an automobile carelessly... WOW...

he is ready to not only argue, but to fight if necessary.

Without exception every motorist believes that an accident is something that might happen to some other fellow but "not to me."

When you ask the average motorist, "Can You Stop In Time?" And, according to the Texas Safety Association, he will reply, "Certainly, and under any conditions." If you are him to "Slow Down and Live," he'll reply "That's for the other fellow."

Our job is to show every motorist that highway safety is EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS... Slow Down and Live.

Mrs. Ella Dillard and Mrs. W. W. Aishman left Friday of last week for Raymondville where they will visit for the next two weeks with Mrs. Dillard's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Bullard.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By VERN SANFORD
Catching catfish on a trotline is one thing, but taking them on a pole and line, or on a rod and reel, is something else.
We've talked about trotlining and have touched on other ways of catching fish, but here is some additional speculation about these fish that you can add to your store of information.

All this is going on the assumption that the more you know about fishing, the more you're going to catch. So you go out, loaded to the bald spot with piscatorial lore. Then, traditionally, the barefoot boy with cheeks of tan, and a worm can, fills up his stringer while you get skunked.
Or your wife outfishes you. Or some guy who came along for the ride is the one who furnishes meat for the frying pan.
Yep, it happens sometimes. But over the long haul, a guy who knows his fish and fishing is the one who gets the prizes.
Some years back, catfishing was a game strictly for trotliners and for the pole and line fishermen. But now, the sport is gaining favor as game fishing.
If you want to snag a big fish on a rod and reel, in fresh water, the catfish is as good a bet as any.
You can try for gars, and they come in king sizes, but they really are no good for eating.
There's many an ardent angler who doesn't eat fish. He fishes for the sport. But it's likely that for some fishermen, the pleasure of eating what they catch adds to the enjoyment of the trip. I belong to the latter school myself. I want to take something home for dinner, if possible.
So, all considered, the catfish is the best bet for the fresh water sportsman who wants to bring in a big, edible fish. Best of all, there's no limit as to how many the fisherman can catch and keep.
Construction of power dams in Texas has given catfishing a boost. When power is being generated, the turbines stun or kill thousands of bait fish, amounting to a giant chumming operation. Below the dams, catfish never had it so good.
If you want catfish, the waters below such a dam are good hunting territory. However, if there is no such dam near you, don't despair. There are catfish in nearly every river, creek, pond, and lake in Texas.
You should know about the three main kinds of catfish in Texas. They all look and taste pretty much alike, but there is a little difference in the way you fish for them.
Much has been said about "stink" bait. And especially about the smelly things that a catfish will eat.
It's all true, except that the yellow cat would prefer his food fresh and alive. If it's yellow cat you're after, a small live bream, not more than two and one-half inches long, or a big minnow, would be your best choice.
It's the blue and the channel catfish that want their food ripe and odorous, with exceptions. They will go for fresh chicken entrails, or a fresh shad that has been mashed in two, and sometimes—fairly often, that is—blues and the channels will go for live bait.

So you see, there's no rigid rule in these matters. In fact, the right procedure when you go catfishing is to carry along a variety of bait. If they don't take one, maybe they'll go for another.
Rig up your fishing equipment with a 1/0 long shank hook at the bottom, and a sinker about 12 inches above it. The weight of the sinker depends on the kind of tackle you are using. Above the sinker add a slip bobber. This, so you can regulate the depth where you think the cats are lurking. Put on your first choice of bait, and go to work.
As to depth, the bottom first. That's where catfish are most of the time. If you don't get any business down deep, move on up into the shallower parts of the water.
Give your bait a long cast. Let it sink to the bottom and rest there for a minute or two. Then start a slow retrieve. When I say slow, I mean S-L-O-W. Turn the crank half a turn and wait awhile. Hum two bars of "Dixie" and give her another half turn. And so on like that.
It will take some time to retrieve, if you're doing it right.
Fishing on the bottom like this, you're going to hang up once in awhile and lose your rig. But that's the way it goes. You can help the situation by the way you bait up. Covering the hook with bait, so that the point is not exposed protects you somewhat against hooking a rock or a submerged log.

It protects you somewhat—and that's all. Of course, you can save hooks, line and sinker, by fishing shallow all the time—with a bobber that lets your bait go down only about three feet. And you might catch some fish that way. But if the catfish are on the bottom, all you get is a suntan.
Another way to save hanging up is to let the bait alone, once you have cast it out there. You can catch fish that way, too. But you'll catch more if the bait moves a little bit once in awhile.
I know this from my own experience. I have been fishing with a buddy who always keeps his bait moving, no matter how slowly. While he is doing this, I let my bait rest on the bottom, lean back, and enjoy life.
He lands three fish to my one.
So, if it's fish you want, keep your hand on that rod and reel.
But do have patience. You need it for all kinds of fishing. But you need it especially for catfishing. Console yourself if nothing happens in the first hour or two. You are going to catch catfish after awhile. If not this trip, then the next, providing, of course, that you have selected a place where catfish are.
And as we said before, catfish are almost everywhere.

"As It Looks From Here"
OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C.—There is a growing menace of mail order obscenity. The sales of obscene literature and photographs by mail has now reached sales estimated at more than half a billion dollars a year.
The Postmaster General has emphasized that the absolute privacy of the mail is a basic American right. The Post Office does not and should not violate this right unless it has absolute evidence that the mail is being used for unlawful purposes. For the Post Office Department to reach this problem and prosecute offenders, they must rely on the complaints of an alert citizenry.
Until August of 1958 an additional handicap was on the Post Office Department. Obscenity laws had shackled the Government by permitting it to prosecute only at the point of origin of the mail. This meant that court actions occurred mostly in New York City and Los Angeles, but could not be prosecuted in the community where it was received. In the first place, the offense was difficult to prove by witnesses, and second, the standards of morality and decency are usually different in the place where this filth is received than from the cities where it is mailed.
In 1958 an amendment was enacted into law, which permits the Post Office Department to prosecute violators where the obscene material is received, as well as where it was mailed. During the past year, 14,000 separate investigations have been completed. About two-thirds of the investigations were based on complaints from American parents whose children receive lewd and obscene materials through the mails.
A child need not have indicated any interest in this trash to receive it. The peddlers of filth openly solicit young people whose names they can obtain by various methods. They have all sorts of schemes, such as an advertisement to purchase some innocent item such as a baseball bat, a doll or an air rifle. They receive the child's name and they are then on the mailing list.
In a recent raid by Postal Inspectors in New York City, one dealer in pornography had 17 tons of highly obscene printed and filmed material for mailing, and lists containing the names of thousands of school students, culled out of high school yearbooks.
The Post Office Department estimates that between 700,000 and a million children in American homes will receive unsolicited obscene and pornographic literature through the mails this year.
Undoubtedly the defiant peddlers of obscenity are contributing to the alarming increase in juvenile delinquency.
From investigations of armed robbery, extortion, embezzlement and forgery, authorities find that those guilty wire early collectors of obscene pictures and films.

The Post Office Department is urging an intense effort to stop this monstrous practice on the Nation's children. To achieve the greatest possible cooperation, those responsible for the enforcement announce a four-fold program which is:
1. Drawing maximum public attention to the menace of this racket;
2. Urging parents to help apprehend the mailers of filth to their children;
3. Helping mobilize community support behind adequate law enforcement of local ordinances of state laws;
4. Rallying public opinion behind new and stiffer legislation on obscenity.
Parents into whose homes obscene material is mailed are urged to save all materials received, including the envelope and all enclosures, and to report the matter immediately to the local postmaster.

CHEVY BESTS

Independent experts and official facts and figures prove Chevrolet's ahead of its field in seven big ways.

BEST BRAKES . . . In direct competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NAS-CAR*, Chevy out-stopped both the other leading low-priced cars—and why not: Chevy brakes are far larger, built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. BEST TRADE-IN . . . Check the figures in any N.A.D.A.† Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." BEST STYLE . . . Popular Science magazine sums it up: "The fact is, in its price class the Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling . . ." It's the only car of the leading low-priced three that's unmistakably modern in every line. BEST ECONOMY . . . No doubt about this: two Chevrolet Sixes won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car. BEST ROOM . . . Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.‡ make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hip room is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars. BEST ENGINE . . . Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As Sports Cars Illustrated puts it: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price." BEST RIDE . . . You'll be able to tell this yourself, instantly. But Motor Trend magazine expresses it this way: ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

Make sure you get the most for your money—see your local authorized Chevrolet dealer!

More Changes Forecast for Farming and Rural Living

The old distinctions between farm and city are rapidly disappearing, said Reagan Brown, extension rural sociologist. Rural nonfarm people now outnumber farm people by a ratio of five to three and it appears certain that more nonfarm people will live in rural areas.

More than a third of farm operators work off their farms 100 days or more per year. In 1957, about 40 per cent of net income of farm families was from nonfarm sources, he said.

Family operated farms will increase in size since technological improvements are by no means complete. Agriculture, said Brown, appears to be only in middle of revolutionary changes both in size and capital structure. Larger farms mean larger investments, not only for land and buildings but for all the machinery and non-agricultural supplies needed in modern farm production. Based on present trends, investment per commercial farm by 1957 may amount to over $80,000 in 1958 dollars compared to a little less than $40,000 now, he said.

Various new financial devices may be worked out to meet the need, some based upon methods now common in industry. One development already underway is the use of land-purchase contracts under which the title of the land remains with the seller until all or a specific percentage of payments

Betty Browning Attending Girl Scout Training Course

Miss Betty Browning, a teacher in the local ward school, and active member of the Girl Scout movement is at Camp Wood Lake at Lake Brownwood where she is attending a one-week training course for all staff members. The camp will open June 7, and will run six consecutive weeks, according to Mrs. Walter Heimecke, council camp committee chairman.

This is the fourth year of operation for the camp. The Heart of Texas Scout Council launched a campaign for the development of the camp in the spring of 1954.

Ninety-five per cent of the members of the staff during the opening weeks and plans to attend the National Girl Scout Round-up at Colorado Springs, Colo., which begins the last week in June.

Miss Browning will be a member of the staff during the opening weeks and plans to attend the National Girl Scout Round-up at Colorado Springs, Colo., which begins the last week in June.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bayley of Goldthwaite visited Friday and Saturday of last week in the Jack McCarty home. The Bayley's and Mrs. McCarty and Kay were in Glen Cove Friday to visit in the Jess Helms home.

Commercial family farms will probably continue to be the dominant form of organization in American agriculture. Labor requirements have not increased with the size of farms except in some limited areas. For the bulk of farmers, efficient operation seems likely to require no greater labor force than has been needed in the past, he added.

State Health Notes

There is a brand new wrinkle in the mosquito killing business.

Early reports suggest that the pesky household critters can be done in with the fume and bother-or health hazard-of old-fashioned fit guns or mist bombs.

The new method has been described in the May issue of "Public Health Reports," the monthly journal of the U. S. Public Health Service. It consists simply by putting a bag of insecticide in the room during the mosquito season. It was discovered like this:

Scientists at the Communicable Disease Center laboratory in Savannah, Ga., left work one afternoon. Inside the large lab room when they left was an unopened bag of insecticide.

Also in the room were some adult mosquitoes on which the scientists had been conducting tests and experiments, as part of the constant international struggle against malaria and other forms of mosquito-borne disease.

When the scientists reported for work next morning, most of the mosquitoes were dead. Immediately they suspected that the sealed bag of insecticide—of rather the fumes from it—were responsible for killing the mosquitoes.

In days following they confirmed their theory. They found that the fumes killed the mosquitoes even when the insecticide was enclosed in a paper bag with a polyethylene liner. Subsequent work showed the method worked even in well ventilated rooms.

The most effective chemicals tested were malathion and DDVP, used in combination or separately. Both have been widely used against mosquitoes in recent years.

More study will be required and specific techniques will have to be worked out before the method can be generally used, investigators say.

But once the technique has been perfected and proved safe, it may greatly simplify control of mosquitoes. Meanwhile, you'll have to go along with old methods if you're interested in a summer relatively free of mosquito deprivations.

Despite being more costly and difficult, the old methods do work. They consist of spraying inside the house with aerosol bombs, and keep-

SCD NEWS NOTES

A field day will be held on Thursday, June 9 beginning at 1:30 o'clock on the C. L. Brandon farm which is located one mile east of Putnam on Old Highway 80. Results of a field trial on fertilizing of Blue Panic grass will be observed.

Approximately 45 acres were seeded to Blue Panic during 1957. During February of this year, commercial fertilizer was applied to two acres of Blue Panic at the rate of 150 pounds per acre.

This field day will be concluded on the John D. Isenhower Ranch two miles south of Putnam. Results of rootplowing and seeding of rangeland which was done in March will be observed.

A grassland management program will be discussed by technicians of the Soil Conservation Service. The Lower Clear Fork Conservation District is sponsored this field day.

was counted and will be used to defray the expense and the balance will be turned over to the cemetery fund. The people of the community would like to express their appreciation for the donation and are sincerely happy that you could be present and hope that you can say that you are glad you were here.

A bountiful meal was spread under the tabernacle on a long table and after the blessing was offered by Truett Dawkins, we enjoyed the meal together and the visitation with not only our neighbors but also former neighbors.

We received cards and letters from many who expressed their desire to be present but for one reason or another were unable to do so. Several ministers who had been invited to have a part on the program, but were unable to do so due to their duties at their church, responded to the invitation. Among those were Rev. Herman Boyd, a Methodist pastor at Cleburne; Rev. Sherrill of West, Tex.; Rev. Marvin Boyd of Lubbock and the Rev. T. N. Minix Jr. of Dallas.

A card and donation was received from Mrs. Ella Duke Saddler of California sending her regrets that she could not be there, but hopes to attend the next homecoming.

There are always many, many people who have done many things to make an occasion such as this pleasant and we would like to extend our appreciation to Mrs. John Fruet of the Fruet Flower Shop in Cross Plains for the lovely flower arrangements she sent and also our thanks to Mrs. Cloris Webb for the lovely flowers she brought from Cisco.

Also, we want to thank all the homefolks who helped and worked so faithfully in making this homecoming day one long to be remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Boyles and family of Howe are here to spend the summer with relatives.
