Wool Incentive Program
 The agreement under an agreement with the American Sheep Producers Council. It is financed by deductions from wool incentive payments earned by growers under the national wool program.
 The agreement has been in effect since the 1965 marketing year, and if approved in the September referendum, will be continued for another three years. Favorable vote of producers having two-thirds of the volume of production represented in the referendum is required for approval.

 The referendum relates only to the wool and market development program. It will not affect the continuation of the payment program under the three-year extension of the wool act last summer.

We have a bumper crop of grain sorghums now in the process of being harvested in Callahan County as well as all over West Texas. Bill Bennett, soil chemist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says that an application of nitrogen to the grain sorghum stubble prior to plowing it under will prevent a nitrogen shortage for the crop that follows. An application of 20 pounds of actual nitrogen for each ton of residue to be turned under should be made just prior to the plowing. Where nitrogen is not applied and the stubble is left in the field until late in the year, the decomposition process will tie up the available nitrogen, causing a shortage for the following crop.

By using nitrogen and early shredding and plowing of stubble, this condition can be eliminated. Too, the nitrogen in the soil will be available for use by the crop which follows.
 Bennett cautions against the use of more nitrogen than the crop which is to follow can use. In no case, he adds, should more than 60 pounds of nitrogen be applied per acre. Generally about 30 pounds of nitrogen will adequately take care of the residue to be plowed under.

The most valuable crop coming from the farms and ranches of Texas is their young folks, reminds the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. These youngsters will

State Capital NEWS

By Vern Sanford

Austin, Tex.—During the next few weeks, young Texans by the thousands will troop back to their classrooms.

Many will be entering a brand new world. There'll be some 250,000 first-graders, some 28,000 college freshmen. In cities and towns across the state, children will take their last swim in the city pools. Parents will reset their alarm clocks and re-figure their budgets.

Parents of the incoming college freshmen—most of whom got their own schooling at rock-bottom depression prices—face what most will regard as an appallingly expensive future. Average cost for a Texas college student is $1,100 a year—not including a car, clothes, dates, etc. In the large cities it may run $1,500 a year.

For four years the average is about $5,000. But hardly any other investment can be expected to return such handsome dividends. Statistically, the college graduate can expect to earn $100,000 more in his lifetime than the non-graduate.

Aside from the student and the parents and teachers who are affected, "back to school" has a wider impact on the economy. Employment will jump as many of the jobs are absorbed into the operations of the dormitories, boarding houses, lunchroom. Retail stores look to the brisk sales since Easter in the annual re-outfitting that ranges from blue jeans to book satchels, calluses to crayons.

Real estate, customarily, also has a flurry as families try to "get located before school starts."

Why Go Back?—Why go back to school when you can stay out and earn some money?

Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles has some sobering answers. Its annual report shows that of 1,186 prison inmates released during the past year, only 119 had completed high school. Only six were college graduates.

Percentage is about the same for those persons still in prison. Overall, the Board feels that people who complete their educations and are therefore able to get useful, better-paying jobs are much less likely to run afoul of the law.

All But Three — Gov. Price Daniel signed the huge new state appropriations bill, but he exercised his constitutional prerogative to scratch out some items.

Daniel vetoed appropriations for: (1) a $216,000 home for old folks; (2) a $200,000 tourist advertising program by the State Highway Department; and (3) $1,033,500 for interim legislative expenses.

He vetoed the old folks home, said the governor, because "the hospital board does not have responsibility for seniles and . . . state policy should be to get these unfortunate people into private rest homes near their families rather than making them permanent patients of the state hospital system."

As to tourist advertising, the governor said that the Highway Department already is spending twice this much from other funds, and the appropriation would reduce activities.

Daniel said he saw no need for the interim legislative expenses money inasmuch as $330,000 had been appropriated in a separate bill for future legislative expenses.

Legislative leaders replied that perhaps the state isn't supposed to be responsible for housing the aged, but the fact is it has some on its hands. They're now housed in the 50-year-old Confederate Home in Austin. It has been labeled a fire trap.

Legislative expenses money was to be used to put a new carpet in the House, refinish desks and provide offices for House members. Rep. Bill Heatly of Paducah said he felt it was "unprecedented for the executive branch to tell the legislative branch how to finance itself."

Dividing It Up—Now that all state agencies know how much money they'll have for the next two years, governing boards have been busy deciding how to make the most of it.

State Hospital Board, with an appropriation that jumped 8.9 per cent to $84,142,340, plans to spend $4,500,000 for new buildings. This will include a new 300-bed unit at the Denton State School and a new home for older patients at Denton, a new ward building at Terrell State Hospital, a new recreation building and warehouse at the Austin State Hospital and numerous road building and renovation projects.

Texas Youth Council, with a kitty that jumped from $7,767,441 for the 1958-59 period to $10,112,450 for the new biennium, plans to add both dormitories and personnel to the two correctional institutions, Gatesville School for Boys and Gainesville School for Girls. Some new construction and personnel also is planned for the homes for orphaned children.

Texas A&M Board of Regents has allotted a substantial portion of the $1,969,000 increase in its $44,174,865 appropriation for salary increases on a merit basis. All in all, some 10 branches and services are a part of the A&M system. New student apartment buildings on the main campus are in the offing.

Vet Land Program Slows—Texas Veterans Land Program will have to be stopped down to a trickle from now until after Nov. 1, 1960.

State is running low on money to sell bonds to raise more money. But with the interest rate on the bonds limited by the law to 3 per cent nobody wants to buy the bonds. In the general election in 1960, the voters, may, if they choose, raise the interest the state can pay to 3½ per cent and make possible the sale of more bonds.

Of course, if the state has to pay more interest on its bonds, it will have to go up on the interest it charges veterans—probably to 4 per cent.

Under the plan, the state buys land and resells it to the veterans on a long-term, low-interest contract. It's the only "bonus" to Texas veterans. But it has resulted in the purchase by veterans of 1,997-

Suit Over Hay Seen—In the midst of plentiful rain, State Agriculture Commissioner John White has a problem arising from the 1953 drought-relief program.

White says the U. S. Department of Agriculture plans to sue Texas for some $162,670 which the USDA claims it overpaid for shipping hay to Texas farmers and ranchers.

White says the federal government agreed to pay 50 per cent of the cost of shipping the hay. About that time the railroad and truck lines reduced their rates 50 per cent for the drought relief feed shipments. White felt that this would mean that the federal government would then pick up the remaining 50 per cent of the tab. But USDA charges it should have paid only 50 per cent of the reduced rate.

Cross Plains Review — 5

Thursday, September 3, 1959

than the Department had predicted. He noted, however, that the forecast for the 1959 Fourth of July holiday—26 fatalities—turned out to be accurate.

"We would like to make a special appeal to the citizens of Texas to consider the facts about holiday driving and do their utmost to reduce the tragedy of death, suffering and economic loss next weekend," Garrison said.

"Department of Public Safety patrolmen and all other law enforcement officers in our State will do everything in their power to make the streets and highways safer by removing lawless drivers—but the statistics prove the main job is up to the individual behind the wheel."

He cited the following facts and figures on last Labor Day weekend, compiled by N. K. Woerner, Manager of Statistical Services:

Of the 30 traffic deaths in the State, 26 occurred in rural areas as the result of 18 accidents.

Ten of the 18 rural fatal accidents involved drivers who had been drinking.

Seven of the 10 drivers who had been drinking in rural fatal accidents were exceeding the legal speed limit.

Thirteen of the 18 rural fatal accidents involved only one motor vehicle.

In 12 of the 13 rural fatal accidents involving only one car, the drivers had no "other drivers" to blame. In the other case, a pedestrian victim was at fault.

"Perhaps the most significant thing in the analysis of last year's Labor Day statistics is that in every rural fatal accident, at least one violation was apparently a contributing factor," Garrison said.

"So it might follow that if we can stop the violations, we can stop the death and destruction on the highways of Texas."

The Public Safety Director said some 125 additional patrolmen from the Department's other uniformed services will augment the Highway Patrol force during the three-day "Operation Holiday" beginning at 12:01 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 5, and ending at 11:59 p.m. Monday, Sept. 7.

Mrs. Ponia Worthy and Mrs. Norrel Long were visiting in Abilene Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. V. I. Spivey and Larry recently visited at Sterling City with Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Barrett.

Humble to Broadcast Grid Games This Year

The most comprehensive coverage of football ever attempted in the Southwest will be broadcast and telecast this season by Humble Oil & Refining Company.

The Humble coverage includes live telecasting of a major college football game each Saturday afternoon, 20 radio broadcasts and 11 telecasts of videotape recordings of Southwest Conference games.

Humble will co-sponsor the National Broadcasting Company's live telecasts of football games as permitted by the NCAA, and will sponsor three live telecasts of Southwest Conference games, a total of 13. All games played by seven Southwest Conference members, Texas Western University, the University of New Mexico, Arizona State Uni. and the University of Arizona will be broadcast over the radio.

Announcers and broadcast supervisors will travel thousands of miles to the site of each game to bring the on-the-scene descriptions. One announcer will even travel to Honolulu where he will describe the University of Hawaii-Arizona State University game to fans some 3,000 miles away in the Grand Canyon State.

More than 180 radio and TV stations will be used to cover over a hundred urban and rural areas in cities and towns in the Southwest.

The leased lines, coastal cable, microwave and overseas broadcasting systems required would be enough to stretch two-thirds of the way to the moon.

To originate football broadcasts, Humble has a staff of 23 topnotch announcers, many with years of experience. Kern Tips of Houston, head of the staff, has been describing games for 34 years; Ves Box and Eddie Barker of Dallas and Dave Russell of Beaumont have been on the circuit more than 10 years. These announcers are thoroughly trained to give good accounts of the games. Each year they attend a seminar conducted by Tips and a Southwest Conference football coach. At the seminar they discuss new rule changes and all types of plays likely to be seen during the upcoming season.

Incidentally, these announcers "talk a lot of words" about football. Alec Chesser of Houston, Tips' color announcer for a number of years, once did some figuring. He estimated that Tips speaks some 246,000 words about football over the air each season.

What do listeners think about the football coverage? One year Humble asked for an opinion. Cards and letters poured in by the thousands to give a resounding endorsement.

In fact, a recent survey showed that on a busy football week end, well over 1.5 million people tune in to the radio or television broadcasts. This same survey says that most men will tell you that they
