Stover, Wife and hand that made history

Medical History Made; Dangling Hand Saved

Medical history is being made at Abilene as surgeons progress with a series of operations to save a Cross Plains man's right hand.

The following account of the surgical rarity is taken from a news story which appeared in the Abilene Reporter-News Sunday:

"A hand severed but for a shred, has been successfully reattached to the arm of a 42-year-old Cross Plains farmer, spokesman at Hendrick Memorial Hospital revealed Saturday.

The work, a series of operations performed on Donald Glenn Stover by a medical team at Hendrick, is described by Hospital Administrator E. M. Collier as "extremely rare."

"Stover's right hand was all but cut off when his wrist was caught in a V-belt in a farm accident near Cross Plains on November 12, 1962.

"The hand was attached only by the radial artery and a thumb-sized bit of skin, nerve and flesh—he was indeed 'holding his hand on'—when he was brought to the hospital.

"Twin cuts by the 'lips' of the belt pulley as they ground across the top of his wrist and another thick cut by the belt slashing into the underside of his wrist had severed all the bones, all the extensor and flexor tendons, the flesh, the ulnar nerve and the skin.

"Three major pieces of surgery have been performed and another is yet to be done, but Stover can now wiggle his fingers a hairsbreadth—he unconsciously wiggles his toes, too, when he does it, his wife says, for it is difficult.

"And doctors said Saturday, 'We have the makings of a good hand there.'

"The surgical feat is compared and contrasted by Hendrick officials with the 'Boston operation' whereby a child's arm was re-attached after being completely sliced off.

"In Mr. Stover's case, it would have been easier to reconstruct the artery than to clean up what we had," one of the surgeons on the team said. "But, if the artery had not been intact we probably would not have gone ahead and tried what we did." (Probably would not have gone ahead under the circumstances, because of the timing in the strange happening.)

Stover's accident happened early the morning of Nov. 12, as he was combining peanuts for a neighbor, Tom Flippin, a few miles southeast of Cross Plains.

"He was making an adjustment on his machine—I've done the same thing a million times"—when his right hand was caught in the V-belt.

"He yelled to the two men working with him, Flippin and Joe Bryson, but they were on the other side of the combine and did not hear him over the noise of the machine.

"Stover attempted to halt the belt's movement with his left hand—blistering it severely in the process.

"Unable to stop the machine, he used his left hand to tear his right hand and mangled wrist out of the pulley.

Surgeons Save Hand For Donald G. Stover

Walked to Car

"With his left hand (and, he is right-handed) Stover pulled the combine out of gear, told the men whose attention he had caught, how to turn it off, turned off the engine of his tractor parked nearby then holding his almost-detached hand in place, made his way with his companions to Flippen's car about 100 yards away.

"While Bryson went for the injured man's wife, Flippen raced with Stover to the doctor's office at Cross Plains.

"The doctor was not there. Flippen drove to a nearby service station to call a Higginbotham Funeral Home ambulance.

"When Mrs. Stover arrived at the station her husband was standing there waiting for the ambulance, holding his hand against his wrist so it wouldn't drop the rest of the way off."

"Accompanied by his wife and by Cross Plains Baptist Pastor Don Turner, who had heard the sirens and had come to the station inquiring, Stover made the ride to Abilene.

"He still had received no medication and received none until at the hospital.

"The ambulance driver wanted to apply a tourniquet but Stover refused, fearing the stoppage of the blood might lessen his chances to keep his hand.

"He was just as calm as he could be," Mrs. Stover says now. "All the way up here he kept talking to me, trying to keep me from being upset. But he warned me he'd probably lose his hand — they'd just snip off the little piece that was holding it on."

"Enroute Stover asked the ambulance driver at one point if he couldn't speed up a bit.

"I can make better time on my tractor than you're making," he told the driver.

"At that moment, Mrs. Stover says, the speedometer was rocking around 110.

"The 43-mile drive to Hendrick took 30 minutes.

"The accident was about 9 a.m. and Stover got to the hospital at 10:05.

"He arrived unannounced. As it happened, one of the surgeons who was to work long on the case was walking past the emergency room when he was wheeled in. After a brief examination, another surgeon was called in to help.

"Stover had his first surgery before he was taken to his hospital room.

"The operation lasted several hours — and was devoted largely to cleaning the wound and doing preliminary repairs on severed bones and tendons.

"The condition of the vast wound complicated the work for grease and dirt were ground into bone and flesh — as much as an eighth of an inch deep into the bone, one doctor said. Infection was a severe problem. But the radial artery, though battered and greasy, was intact and so were the radial and median nerves.

"This first surgery was followed by graft surgery whereby the remnants of Stover's wrist were 'sewed' to his abdomen, there to allow the skin to grow for some three weeks.

"All he wanted for Christmas was to be 'let loose from himself,'" Mrs. Stover says. And on Saturday before Christmas (his 42nd birthday was on Dec. 25) Stover's hand, with the skin grafted to his wrist from his stomach, was cut free.

"The third surgery, which took about six hours, was performed last Wednesday. The ulnar nerve was repaired, the flexor tendon was repaired, too, by means of tendon graft.

"Still to come is the surgery on the other tendons. Still to come, too, is the recovery of use of the hand.

"Exactly how much function (of the hand) he will have we cannot yet say," one of his surgeons reported Saturday. "There will be a lot of stiffness — but we have overcome the infections, we have the skin coverage, he has good circulation and sensation ... he has the makings of a good hand."

"The Stovers have now been at the hospital for two months, she constantly at his side, sleeping when his condition has allowed on a cot set in his hospital room.

"They're pretty happy about a lot of things. One is that they 'just happened' to come to Abilene rather than go to another, smaller town where they usually get medical attention. That other town lacks the supply of surgeons needed for this particular work, even though the Stovers didn't know that at the time of the accident. The ambulance driver suggested Abilene and they, at the moment, didn't argue.

"The Lord has just guided us through all of this," Stover said Saturday ... in the fact that artery wasn't cut ... in the fact we came here ... in the fact the doctors were standing right there when we came in ... in the fact everybody, nurses and doctors, have been so perfect ... Good surgeons made it possible for me to keep my hand ... Surgeons and prayer ... I know a lot of people helped us pray."

The Rev. Don Turner, local Baptist pastor, left Monday morning for Dallas to attend an evangelistic conference. He will return here Thursday.

"Stover says he understands the work done on him is rare — how very rare medically he does not know. "But it sure is unusual for me!"

"Their children, Reggy, a 15-year-old sophomore in Cross Plains High, and Vickie Lynn, a 10-year-old fifth grader, are staying with Stover's brother and his family, the J. W. Stovers of Cross Plains.

"Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's and birthdays for both husband and wife have come and gone since the accident.

"As yet they have no inkling when they will be able to return to their home, five miles southeast of Cross Plains (on Rising Star rural route 2) but they are not complaining."

Pioneer Ladies Ponder Money Making Method

By Jean Fore

The Club ladies met at the club house Thursday afternoon for regular meeting. Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved as read. The club voted for each member to make a gift to sell to raise some money for our club. After the meeting was adjourned the afternoon was spent quilting and visiting. Wintery Blast Vetoes Function At Sabanno

By Mrs. Edwin Erwin

We don't have too much news for this column this week, due to the severe cold weather which was by far the coldest of the winter thus far.

Due to the cold weather Friday night our party at the community center was cancelled until a later date.

Mrs. Lee Cumba and Mrs. Howard Hicks were co-hostesses for the Busy Bee Club last Wednesday. Most members were present. Two quilts were finished and tasty refreshments were served to a large group. It was voted to meet Wednesday, Jan. 16, in the early afternoon and quilt two "pay quilts." Visitors are always welcome and we enjoyed having two visitors at this meeting. They were Mrs. Mary Brandon of Clyde, mother of Gus Brandon. She is such a lovely little lady in her late 80's, but alert and ready with a smile for all she meets. Mrs. Fred Morton of Abilene was also a guest. We were happy to have Mrs. Bob Blackwell join our club. We believe we have one of the nicest clubs any community could have. Mrs. M. P. Wilcoxon, Jr. is our president and is making a good one.

Mr. and Mrs. Clois Webb and Lyndell of Cisco and the Edwin Erwins visited Mr. and Mrs. J. L. King Sunday afternoon.

Charles David Brandon of Abilene visited his grandfather, Gus Brandon and wife Friday night and Saturday.

Word was received here first of last week of the death of Mrs. James Westerman (Clara Harris). She passed away in a Uvalde hospital after a long illness. Interment was made in a Uvalde cemetery. We extend our sympathy to the family.

Rev. Jackie Mints of Abilene preached at the Baptist Church Sunday morning and night and will fill the pulpit again next Sunday. Everyone is invited to attend these services.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cumba were Brownwood visitors Thursday. Mrs. J. L. King was a subscriber to our paper last week.

COLD WEATHER DELAYS CONFERENCE SATURDAY

A meeting between a Fort Worth garment manufacturer and local businessmen scheduled last Saturday afternoon, to discuss the possibility of a plant being opened in Cross Plains, was postponed when the industrialist canceled the trip because of extreme weather.

The conference will be set up again soon, the Review was told.

Jack Mitchell Ingram, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ingram of this city, now lives at 1550 Fannin, Abilene, where he is employed by Sunset Motor Lines. The former local man dropped by the Review office Monday to extend his Review subscription for another year.

Cage Teams Open District With Wins

Cross Plains High School basketball teams opened District 10-A competition on a bright note in Ranger Friday night.

Three local teams took victories in the first round of league play.

The Buffaloes got their highest point output of the season with a second half burst that buried the host Bulldogs 57-32. Charles Barr poured 25 points through the hoop to lead the Bison attack, and Mendoza got 13 for Ranger.

The Buffettes jumped out to an early lead and coasted to a 60-32 win. Mary Wise pumped 21 points through the goal for the local sextet, and Sandra Trench scored 18 points for the hosts.

In a "B" team game Cross Plains took a 25-11 triumph behind the nine points of Kenneth Sowell.

Baird High School was to have invaded Cross Plains Tuesday night in what was slated to be a stern test for both local cage teams.

Friday the Buffaloes will travel to Eastland and Tuesday of next week Clyde will be here.

Council Explores New Gas Supplies

Obviously dissatisfied with the present supply of natural gas now coming into mains of the municipally-owned distributing system, Cross Plains City Council met Tuesday night with representatives of a firm which will open a processing plant in the Blake area, between here and Rising Star, and explored the possibility of buying elsewhere.

The city is currently buying from W. B. Evans of Lubbock, whose contract is to expire in May, 1964.

Rising Star, which also has its own gas system, is reportedly negotiating with the same individuals for a new source of supply.

George Hutchins Mobil, still in first place, takes on Higginbothams, in second place one game back, in the headliner this week.

Mobil's title drive was slowed last week when D. C. Lee Gulf defeated the leaders 3-1, and Higginbothams and third place Johnston Truck & Supply gained two games on the top quintet with like decisions of Mayes Flower Shop and Sisters Cafe respectively.

Mobil's Raymond Franke grabbed both individual honors of the night with a 196 third game in his posting of a new season high series of 554, an average of 184.

Dan Johnston, JT&S, rolled the second best game of 191, and Gulf's Benny Glover was runner-up in the series bracket with a 507, a 169 average. Johnston and Higginbothams' Wayne Graves both averaged 166 on even 500 aggregates.

Other than the Mobil-Higginbotham match, tonight's play will feature Johnston Truck meeting Mayes Flowers and Sisters Cafe battling Gulf.

DOUBLE FRONTIER STAMPS EVERY WEDNESDAY

A message from the Treasury of a free people

You, too, can help put down a threat to freedom

Uncle Sam has had some pretty conscientious help in the "freedom department" over the years. Some of the best-known contributors were an expert horseman named Revere . . . a group of amateur stevedores who made iced tea in Boston Harbor . . . and a party of revolutionaries who created an unsplit nation under the shadow of a cracked bell.

Today the freedom which those patriots won for us is being challenged. And freedom will always need brave men to defend and preserve it. Men and women, like you.

You can do your share toward defending freedom by buying United States Savings Bonds today. The dollars you invest this way go right to work for your country now, as well as for your future.

How about buying a $50 Savings Bond (the most popular size) next payday? The cost is only $37.50.

Best known for his midnight ride to Lexington, famous patriot Paul Revere also designed the first Continental currency, the first official seal of the Colonies, and the state seal of Massachusetts, still in use today.

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. Savings Bonds

The U.S. Government does not pay for this advertising. The Treasury Department thanks The Advertising Council and this newspaper for their patriotic support.
