

A POPULAR VACATION MONTH

Have you ever had to crowd under your heavily loaded car during a pleasure trip, trying to jack it up to change a tire? Remember your desire for a bigger vocabulary to express your sentiments of the hot sun, the soft squooshy mud—the water dripping down your neck, or the dust swirling up in your face while other tourists whizzed by?

We have in stock a new type car jack—merely hook it under your bumper and raise your car any desired height. No need to crawl under your car. This jack will save your tempo, your clothes, your time and add to your pleasure. See one today.

Railroad Boom In South Bailey Co. Improving Enochs

Again prospects of a railroad in the southern part of Bailey county are being revived. It is being reported that the Qanah, Acme & Pacific line may be run west out of Floydada to Littlefield and on to Enochs, in Bailey county. This road is part of the Frisco system and is said to be interested in a transcontinental line through this section, and, according to plans of the present route, when completed will have a coast to coast schedule short enough to make the passenger trip one and a half hours shorter than any other railway system now crossing the nation.

In keeping with the rumor, also because economic conditions are said to be improving, much improvement is now going on in that section and other plans are contemplated.

The Enochs Gin Co. is doubling the capacity of its gin plant. The Enochs Hardware & Lumber Co. are having their buildings improved and modernized. Estimates have been given out for several other new buildings planned for early construction, while much general improvement to homes and farm lands of that section is now going on.

It is said the proposed new railroad will strike across either to Artesia or Roswell, N. M., then probably southwest to El Paso before launching due west for the Pacific land.

RELIEF OFFICE HANDLES RR

Last week an order was received here by Director Pat R. Bobo, to turn over to state authorities all rural rehabilitation funds in his possession, and to write no further checks on same.

Last Monday a revocation order was received by Mr. Bobo ordering to continue functioning for RR until further arrangements could be made by the head office at Austin.

GAEDS ARE HONORED

Friday evening of last week Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burkhead entertained a number of friends at their home with a surprise wedding shower and chafarin in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Woodroe Gaede, newly weds.

The first part of the evening was spent playing games and looking at the many lovely and useful gifts.

A delicious refreshment course of ice cream and cake was served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. Buford Butts, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wilmon, Francis Gilbreath, Lester Garth, Morris Garth, Good Harden, Heron Gilbreath, Arthur Holt, Graham Chandler, "Red" Johnson, Misses Melzine Rockey, Loren Spence, Eunice Griffiths, Twila Farrell, Hazel Nelson and Myrtis Burkhead.

Mr. Gaede was carried to a water tank north of town and thrown in, and Mrs. Gaede was carried to the country by the girls.

CHILDREN FATALLY BURNED

A nine month old babe and a four year old sister, children of Mr. and Mrs. Berry Lyons, living in the northeast corner of Cochran county, were fatally burned Monday when an oil stove exploded, both parents being out of the house at the time.

The father was also seriously burned attempting to rescue his children, his condition being serious. The mother suffers from shock.

PENSION MEET AT RUDOSA

A two days picnic of proponents of the Townsend old age pension plan will be held in the Rudosa mountains, N. M., July 13 and 14, according to an announcement made here by Elmo Head.

There will be speaking both days and a picnic dinner Sunday noon. All interested in recovery and prosperity are invited to attend, said Mr. Head.

Declaration of Independence Upon The Soil and of The Right Of Self Maintenance Adopted at Dearborn

When in the course of the life of a Nation, its people become neglectful of the laws of nature and of nature's God, so that their very existence is put in peril, necessity impels them to turn to the soil in order to recover the right of self-maintenance.

These truths have long been self-evident, that all men are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. These rights constitute the inspiration of the immortal proclamation, the Declaration of Independence. But they are no longer sufficient. Now, as a part of the Divine Order of things, man is inspired to re-emphasize as additional thereto—the right of self-maintenance.

In order to enjoy and hold secure this latter right, man must recognize that his basic sustenance issues from the soil and not from merchants' shelves; that whenever industrial concentration causes harmful human congestion, and becomes destructive of the right of self-maintenance, man must turn again to the soil from which all new wealth springs except that from factories and mines. Otherwise the right of self-government cannot endure.

There are those who look with little favor upon this remedy for the evils of this day. They point to the distress that for more than a decade has plagued those who follow rural occupation. They contend there is already an unbearable surplus of the fruits of the soil in foreign markets. With candor they submit that of recent years, certain nations have been engaged in wars to their planted area and therefore have become self-sufficient or else, for reasons of political economy, they have shifted the source of supply of certain staple commodities from this country to other regions of the world.

For these regions and because of the domestic surplus thus created, the farmer, in recent years has been compelled to follow a policy of reducing his crops as an emergency measure.

To those whose patient sufferance on the farm deserves tribute, to those whose fertile lands during enforced idleness in urban centers commands praise and to those whose arduous labor in public affairs is commended; there is submitted this additional remedy which will enable man once again to enjoy the full fruits of his productive labor.

Through the timely unfolding of nature's laws, modern science has placed new tools in the hands of man which enable a variety of surplus products of the soil to be transformed through organized chemistry into raw materials usable in industry. No bound is set on the markets for such materials. The basic research has progressed sufficiently for the commercial application to begin without delay. Here lies a new frontier to conquer the challenges the genius of science, the courage of private industry and the productive capacity of agriculture.

It is nature's plan. Other than funds for continued research, it demands no appropriations from the public treasury. On the other hand, it will create new taxable wealth. It requires little new legislation. It depends upon individual initiative and sweat, and being protected in his savings, it will restore the purchasing power of the farmer and increase his consumption of manufactured products. In so doing it will create new work for idle hands to do, thus reviving American industry and aiding American labor.

It is the answer to the nation's economic distress for two reasons.

First, witness the fact that with rare exceptions, for over a generation the gross income of the farmer has been almost identical with the sum total of direct factory pay rolls for labor in the city. Except for taxes, interest and insurance, practically all of the farmer's income is spent for products of the city. The less he has to spend, the less the city sells, which in turn decreases the opportunity for employment of labor in industry. Restore the farmer's income to a normal basis and the wheels of industry will be taxed to capacity to supply his needs and the needs of the unemployed, thus returned to the ranks of productive enterprise.

Second, the history of past depressions discloses that they finally terminate and are followed by a return to prosperity because of two things; namely, expanding markets for old industries and the creation of new industries. In this depression through causes beyond control, certain past markets no longer exist. It is providential that this plan not only will replace with new markets the past markets that are gone, but will also aid in the establishment of new industries, the most important of which is chemistry on the farm.

Early civilization contributes an old definition of this new work of man. The two words "chemi"—or chemistry, from the black art of ancient Egypt, and "ergon"—or work, from the fount of knowledge of ancient Greece, when combined through elision coin the new word "Chernurgy."

The Genesis of progress from now on is the "Farm Chernurgy." It will enable the tiller of the soil to do much of the initial processing on his own farm, thus adding to the value of his product in the public market place. As a source of supply, it will enable man to depend more upon current income from the soil and to withdraw less of his capital from beneath the soil, thus preserving a fair share of the treasures of nature's store-house for future generations.

There are those who will contend that this new domestic source of supply of materials for industry will reduce imports from certain foreign countries, thus decreasing their purchasing power and in turn decreasing their consumption of export products from this country. It is submitted that domestic well-being must be restored before foreign trade can flourish on a sound basis. Man's first duty, when he can, is to provide from gifts of nature close at hand the prime requisites of human life—food, shelter, and raiment. Having thus first recaptured the right of self-maintenance, then in the natural order of things, confidence in himself and in life itself is restored; a surplus above the bare necessities begins to accumulate; his desire for conveniences, luxuries and abundance, which add wholesome flavor to his existence, demands satisfaction; and the markets in the most remote corners of the world become a bargaining counter for his commerce. It is submitted that thus, and thus alone, can foreign trade be restored on an enduring basis.

There are those who will contend that these new uses of the surplus of the farm will curtail the market for the products of certain existing domestic industries. Let them be reminded that this is no emergency that will perform miracles. It is a plan that will gradually develop in a steady and orderly fashion over a span of years. Therein lies its strength. Emergency measures never endure for long.

For those who are thus in opposition extend their horizons beyond the evening of the day and appraise the benefits that will accrue to their respective enterprises when normal production is again restored to the 40 million of citizens who occupy the farms and the villages and towns adjacent thereto. If they are not willing to surrender temporary passing advantage for the common good of all, then let them reconsider in the name of the 12 million American youths who, having reached maturity since the depression began, are restored to the meaning of a life which affords them no opportunity for honest work.

These are perilous days that call for high accomplishment. Men and women of the generation that determine the destiny of this nation. Their foremost task is to profit from the evils of the past and make the future more secure for those who follow after them. If they make this their very own true philosophy of life, no power on earth can destroy the fine heritage of citizenship which was theirs when they were born, and which they and their sons and daughters have the right to share.

We, therefore, as representatives of Agriculture, Industry and Science in convention assembled, humbly realizing that we are but tenants and transients on this earth, and appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by the authority of the fundamental philosophy of human experience, solemnly publish and declare "Man's Dependence Upon the Soil and Man's Unalienable Right of Self-Maintenance." And, for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection and approval of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other and to our country, our talents and our devotion to the high accomplishments of the purposes herein set forth.

Flies Cause Disease To Multiply Rapidly Get Rid Of Them!

Austin, July 9.—Flies spread disease. They are reared in filth and through life make frequent trips from filth to food. Germs causing dysentery and other intestinal disorders are transported on the hairy feet of flies. These insect pests are regarded as having played a leading part in causing food-borne epidemics of typhoid fever, stated Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer.

Flies multiply rapidly as soon as warm weather comes to stay. A female deposits more than a hundred eggs at a time in organic material such as manure or in an unsanitary outdoor toilet. The life cycle from egg to larva (maggot) to pupa, to adult male or female fly requires but ten days. A week later, fifty females, under favorable conditions, are ready to deposit a total of 50,000 eggs. During the summer season, nine generations of flies may result from one female that laid the first batch of eggs in the spring. It is estimated that if the offspring of a single overwintering female were to survive through nine generations, descendants in the fall would number over five and a half trillion.

Fortunately, modern sanitation and knowledge regarding the life history and habits of the house fly render possible complete control over the fly nuisance. Proper disposal of human and animal wastes in urban areas and on farms will prevent the breeding and multiplication of flies. Practical suggestions and methods of fly control may be obtained from the State Department of Health and U. S. Department of Agriculture.

this SUMMER GASOLINE

For the most vacation at the least cost, GO IN YOUR CAR!

But don't forget your motor. Every tankful of Phillips 66 is like a vacation for overheated engines. It stops the knocks and ends lost power.

As for economy—we built the reputation and sales of Phillips 66 by giving greater value for the money. We knew that no single, unchanging gasoline could do this all year round, as the weather changes from cold to hot and back to cold again.

So our research scientists worked out a brilliant innovation. Made Phillips 66 the gasoline with CONTROLLED VOLATILITY. Pioneered the idea. Developed it in the face of early skepticism. Today, Phillips 66 is recognized as the 100% custom-tailored gasoline. It meets the needs of your engine in any weather—up in the nineties or down below zero—because it is made differently for the different seasons of the year. Matched and re-matched to your weather every month.

Try a tankful of this cooler, finer, summer gasoline. You get sweeter running. And a real bargain, too, because you can Phillips up with Phillips at no additional cost!

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

A reproof entereth more into a wise man than an hundred stripes into a fool.—Proverbs 17:10.
No man ever became great or good except through many and great mistakes.—Gladstone.

THE WEED NUISANCE

One of the worst nuisances any community has to contend with at this time of year is weeds. Not only are they unsightly, but they are a menace to health. Doctors say one-half of the epidemics in this country during the summer months could be avoided by cutting the weeds.

Just why any Muleshoe citizen who values his own health and the health of his neighbors should tolerate weeds on his premises is not understood. They offer a breeding place for disease carrying insects which are capable of spreading disease and death throughout the entire community. The pollen from them irritates the nostrils of those subject to asthma and hay fever, or produces it in growing children who otherwise might go through life without the vexation of such ailments.

Last of all, weeds are unsightly and detract from the appearance of every house near which they are allowed to grow. Surely there is enough pride left among local home owners to see that they are cut if for no other reason than to add to appearances. A dozen or more indictments could be brought against weeds—and they would be convicted.

Being a general nuisance on any one of them. Now is the time to pronounce the death penalty; now is the time to carry it out and thus make your home town a prettier place and a far healthier place, in which to live.

POORLY PAID TEACHERS

According to a recent government survey, male teachers in rural districts are becoming few in number. The survey shows that seven-eighths of all teachers in rural schools are women, and it also shows that everyone around Muleshoe must surely know by this time, that rural teachers are among the poorest paid people in America. It is quite likely that this accounts for the steadily dwindling number of men teachers. They can't live on the salaries that are now being paid.

When one considers that the future of this community, as well as of the country at large, rests on the boys and girls of school age, the poor salaries paid those who are employed to educate them are inexcusable. The farmer pays good wages to the men who repair his implements, and for other needed work, but when it comes to providing an education for his children he is satisfied with any teacher so long as that teacher is willing to work for a few pennies above the actual cost of board and clothes. It is a travesty on the good judgment of the American people.

When you are sick, you want the best doctor you can get, for it means life or death to you. Then why not when education means the future life of boys and girls insist upon the best possible instruction for them? The only way to get better teachers is to pay them better salaries, and until that is done the school system of this country is going to remain far below par.

A TIMELY WARNING

If you feel that you must drive a car—then quit driving in the middle of the road. Get over toward the right hand edge of it—and stay there. Quit assuming that pedestrians have no rights. Realize that they have more rights than motorists, and especially on cross-walks. Quit driving carelessly where children are playing. Realize that a child may dash out at any moment, so always have your car under complete control. Quit passing other cars at street intersections, switching from one side of the street to the other or passing cars on the right-hand side. Quit making careless and abrupt turns at corners, at too great speed, and quit turning right from the inner lane and left from the outer lane.

Above all, remember that "the man behind can't read your mind." Give no sign, so he can tell what you intend to do. And your days on earth may be more numerous.

Too many Muleshoe people are entirely too careless with their driving.

A SUMMER ENEMY

With the picnic and outing season on, the danger of contracting a "dose" of poison ivy is at its height and guarding against this villain of nature is highly essential. Of course the best thing to do is to be able to recognize the plant and avoid it, even though you believe yourself immune.

Immunity is an uncertain thing at best, and the Muleshoe citizen who ventures into the woods and fields should not believe too firmly that they will escape.

If contact has been had with poison ivy from the plant—and that is what causes irritation of the skin—may be removed by a good application of ordinary laundry soap, but if the skin has absorbed the oil a more stringent treatment is necessary.

A cure is usually effected by applying a five percent solution of ferric chloride dissolved in equal parts of alcohol and water, or the same results may be obtained from a four percent solution of the familiar old snake-bite remedy, potassium permanganate.

Prairie dogs are generally helpless when high water comes along, and it is reported that people from some sections of the Panhandle who moved to Arkansas during the drought and dust storm period are now moving back. So as this editor is concerned we prefer drying up gradually to being drowned on short notice. We would rather have hay fever than malaria, and a fly crawling over our bald pate is more desirable than a bunch of mosquitoes sucking out our life blood.

There are plenty of places much worse to live in than the Plains area, besides there is plenty of rain now.

Most Muleshoe citizens greatly appreciate the fact that the City Commission is having the pavement of Main street repaved, but heard a woman complaining the other day that with holes out of the street she couldn't drive over it now and let the jolting action cure her baby's colic. Another case of not being able to please everybody.

The papers now days are full of reports of widows' spindles being kept in glass jars for curiously purposes. Perhaps there are other widows, not of the spider variety, but just as poisonous, whom it would also be well to confine.

Some of the women folks, close observers of beauty, declare the salt deposited on prairie lands during last winter's dust storms, has caused prairie flowers to be more beautiful than ever.

As summer advances and the weather becomes warmer, women's dresses become thinner and some men's eyes keener. It is observed.

It has been stated Muleshoe has a "would-be" Mussolini. Probably some of its "dangers" had better be on the watch.

A good paint job will hide the chiseling of Father Time on any Muleshoe woman, but it won't change the actual condition of her chassis.

Back in the time of buggy days President Roosevelt recently referred to, no one ever heard of that vehicle hitting a bunch of loose dirt and flipping over two or three times.

Most Muleshoe young men realize the girls are flattering them, but they love it just the same.

The more a Muleshoe citizen observes the things millions of people in this county fall for, the more he wonders why swindlers are so few.

"I WANNA GO HOME" — by A. B. Chapin

Some Muleshoe women are persons who think you should forgive her just because she isn't mad any more.

About the only pleasure some Muleshoe folks get is that of denying themselves happiness.

The average Muleshoe honeymoon is entirely over when the wife has to ask for the kisses.

There isn't much danger of Muleshoe folks' noses growing much longer while economic conditions keep them so close to the grindstone.

Older Muleshoe folks can recall when a telegram received by them put a scare into the entire family. Nowadays only congressmen get scared at them.

SNAP SHOTS

We sometimes wonder why it is that just because they haven't acquired the white man's pants, vices and diseases we call them heathens.

If you wish to know how many voters support a "principle," learn how many expect it to fill their pockets.

A man by the name of Danrich has recently been admitted to a porchouse in Illinois.

One important question now agitating the minds of American people is whether the scientist will be able to lengthen the span of life until all the installments on the auto are paid.

When it comes to the real test, there are very few people who don't put their biggest potatoes in the top of the basket.

Congress is still looking for a place that won't blister too much when it slaps on another tax plaster.

Success is a great thing! It lets one feel more respectable when they finally get to the point they don't have to knock their competitors.

We are still wondering which two billion dollars is going to be the cause of inflation.

Pavement Pickups
Philosopher Al Isaacs thinks that after all both Huey and Franklin's proposals may be only a scare-the-wealth plan.

A Muleshoe woman told us the other day she never in her life gave away a secret, though she does sometimes exchange them for others.

Tim Ingram wise cracks that since the Detroit negro defeated Carnegie for the heavyweight championship, he is not surprised that Italy is sending an army against Ethiopia.

It is reported that a Clovis baseball player will carry to the Supreme court the fact that Muleshoe won two games in one day, declaring such procedure to be unconstitutional.

A fellow drove a car into the Valley Motor garage the other day wanting to trade it is on a new one. Some one asked K. K. Smith what model it was. "It isn't any model," replied K. K., "it's just a horrible example."

Jeff White was explaining the other day that about the only way for a cannibal to get to heaven would be to first eat a missionary, and the Lord would have to take him in as a matter of justice to the missionary.

A stranger applied last week to Bill Mathieson for a job working on his truck farm. "What experience have you had in gardening," asked Bill. "I worked a whole month as waiter on the roof garden of the Adolphus hotel in Fort Worth," replied the applicant.

A passing tourist dropped into Vern Bearden's cafe the other morning for something to eat. "I want a good sized glass of orange juice," he said, "two strictly fresh eggs poached medium soft, on buttered toast that isn't too brown; coffee with no sugar and plenty of cream in it, and a couple of doughnuts that aren't all holes." Yes sir," replied Vern, "would you like to order any special design on the dishes in which this is served?"

Maetzel's soup
Toasted cheese
Scalloped tomatoes
Celery salad
Peach shortcake

You can get a very good vegetable soup full of flavor and meat stock and well-cooked vegetables which is hearty enough to satisfy us for an otherwise meatless meal. The toasted cheese which I am suggesting is an old family recipe of my own which needs besides the utensil in which it is cooked, only a fork in its preparation. I am also giving you my favorite recipe for scalloped tomatoes which nothing can be better if they are properly prepared. The large amount of bread used with them will make them so hearty that you may leave out potatoes if you like, although you may bake potatoes at the same time if you wish. While the cheese and the tomatoes are baking you will prepare your celery salad and get your shortcake ready to go into the oven. You may make up the dough for the shortcake or you may use satisfaction and as a time saver, one of the mixtures which needs only the addition of milk.

In making the shortcake I divide the dough into two parts and take one-half, spread it with salt and pepper and cover it with the rest of the dough which has been patted or rolled to fit the lower layer. When you combine the crust with the berries you will find that you can lift the upper layer easily

KAY

By ANNE CAMPBELL

If YOU meet a young girl with a spirit that shines
Like a heavenly light from her brave eyes of gray,
The life of your heart will be her one of the signs—
That's Kay!

She is like a small boat that bobs over the wave,
So sure that the storm will not sweep her away,
The faith of her fathers has power to save,
Says Kay!

Perhaps she has troubles, but nobody knows,
They're locked in her heart, and her laughter is gay,
"The world is no better for knowing my woes,"
Says Kay!

She's true and warm-hearted; she's happy, and sure
That the sun's never far from her eyes of today,
And her friendship is golden and it will endure!
That's Kay!

OVEN MEAL GOOD DINNER CHOICE

Actual Cooking Requires Little More Time.

By EDITH M. BARBER
AN OVEN meal is sometimes a good choice for the busy housekeeper who must prepare her dinner or supper in short order. While it sometimes takes a little longer to do the actual cooking, if your dishes take a short time to prepare, your total time will not be long.

The FAMILY DOCTOR

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES

THE DIETARY PROBLEM
I believe the time will come when DIET is reduced to an exact science, as it surely is destined to become. But not yet.

You will read all sorts of theories by which different ideas of all of which expressions are based on varying experience. It is in the frame of mind that I am writing you this letter. More than forty years of experience and observation are behind what I shall say here. Hence I am more practical than technical in these remarks.

Formerly the doctor cautioned his patient against "dark meats" of any kind. In this ancient custom I am a reformer. It is a weak brook, can cause a dry lump of asbestos, like breast of fowl, it seems to me he can digest a cedar shingle!

I advise giving of chicken instead of broast, when I want my patient to have real nourishment. To me there is no real food in the breast of fowl that there is in so much brown paper! I have heard much of war against the use of pork and in favor of the flesh of the ox. I prefer mutton to either, for the invalid. If well-prepared I have been a substantial advocate of ham and bacon when my patient needed strength.

There are very few cases where I permit half-rare beef steak. There are indeed times when actual blood must be introduced into the veins to sustain life. But that is not a strictly dietary procedure.

I have much of praise for crisped bacon in certain cases of debility I believe in meats being thoroughly cooked if the sick man be entrusted with them.

I am a friend of that easily-prepared, readily-digested, highly-potent dish, boiled ham. I have seen many "greens" for average cases in weakened, run-down conditions that cry for strength.

BUS SCHEDULE CHANGED

Because of the change in the bus schedule, mail will be carried to Lubbock and other points in that direction will have to be in the local post office at 4:30 P. M., to insure forwarding by bus, according to A. J. Gardner, Muleshoe postmaster.

Time of the east bound bus has been changed from 6:55 p. m. to 4:55 p. m., or two hours earlier.

Patrons who wish to remember mail to dis patch, will do well to stamp the change in time.

ACKNOWLEDGED BODY OF BOOKS

Josephus, the great Jewish historian, does not name the books of the Old Testament, but he limits the period of their production to the end of the Persian rule and gives the number as 22, the number of letters in the Hebrew alphabet. This was counting the five books of Moses one, the twelve minor prophets one, and certain other combinations.

The Old Testament books that survived were in the old classic Hebrew. Those that bore a later stamp were received with suspicion, if at all.

The other factor which tended to fix a canon, or acknowledged body of books, was the translation of the Old Testament into Greek by a group of scholars whose work began under Ptolemy, King of Egypt, about two centuries before Christ. In this translation, called the Septuagint, or work of seventy scholars, was included a body of sacred literature already in Greek, the books known to us as the Apocrypha.

These were a part of the Bible of Jesus and the apostles and were, of course, held sacred, as were also certain books from which the New Testament quotes, but which have not come down to us.

The Apocalypse of Enoch is an example. Jude quotes it in the first chapter of his little epistle, the fourteenth verse.

Thus, while certain books from the ancient Hebrew had come to be accepted before the lifetime of Jesus as entitled to special reverence, the fringes and margins of that collection were still open to dispute, and were, in fact, disputed vigorously for two hundred years. For instance, a very early bishop of Sardis who made a journey to Palestine for the express purpose of learning, if he could, precisely what books the Jews regarded as the Old Testament, King of Ezra, and Lamentations from his list. And the question of whether the two books, Ecclesiastes and the Song of Songs, should be accounted sacred was not settled until the Council of Jamnia, about 90 A. D.

The ancient sum it all up by saying that the many books which were most used and gave most inspiration survived and, by being translated, secured a place for themselves in "the canon. These include an out-and-out love song which has no religious motive; a book which is the Old Testament name of God, and another, Ecclesiastes which is very contradictory. But the selection, made by the process of survival and of the bias of those books which were best beloved, is probably much finer than it would have been if a group of men, however devoted, had set themselves at any one time to assume the whole responsibility.

So the canon of the New Testament. How were the New Testament books selected? Again, by the process of use.

BEANS
Set New Week-End Motif
SATURDAY night baked-beans, an institution as old as the ancestral bean pot for which Bostonians are famous, have become a week-end favorite—not only in Boston but all over the country.
Entertaining over the week-end has become a simple matter in homes where cupboards are well-stocked with canned beans and recipes such as these:
Beans in Summer Mode
Beans and Asparagus Salad: Drain the contents of a No. 2 can of all-green asparagus, one cup of canned lima beans and the contents of one No. 1 can of stringless beans. Peel two firm ripe tomatoes and slice one bunch of radishes. Marinate all of the vegetables separately in French dressing. Line a large salad bowl with lettuce and stand the asparagus tips up around the outside. Toss the rest of the vegetables lightly together and pile in the middle. Serve with mayonnaise. This serves eight persons.
Lima Beans with Shrimp Cover: Drain the contents of one No. 2 can of lima beans and turn into a shallow buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Drain the contents of one 5 1/2-ounce can of shrimps, remove the viscera and spread over the beans. Add two tablespoons of cream. Cook lightly with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven until brown on top. This serves four persons.
Buttered Beans: Heat the contents of one 10 1/2-ounce can of stringless beans in their liquor for about five minutes. Add salt, pepper and one and one-half tablespoons butter. Serves four persons.

Dr. William E. Thompson of Bethel, Ohio, celebrating his 100th birthday anniversary last Saturday, was honored with the present of a large number of the 1800 babies, now grown up, he had brought into the world.

A 20 per cent decrease in the spring pig crop of 1935 from the small 1934 crop and a marked reduction in the number of hogs over six months old on June 1 this year is the report of Department of Agriculture, Washington.

That people still patronize mail order concerns is evidenced in the published statement from Chicago that Montgomery Ward & Co., sales for June totaled $23,822,297, the highest for the month during the past five years, representing a business increase of 23-65 per cent over June, 1934.

The Department of Agriculture, Washington says static electricity is one of the principal causes of fire in cotton gins, and urges owners to see that their machinery is correctly grounded. That's the principal reason gins are classed as a fire hazard and insurance rates on them are high.

Early court tests of the Wagner labor disputes act, signed last week by President Roosevelt, are in prospect by major industries, they contending that manufacturing is not interstate commerce. Men in the steel, automobile and rubber industries have already given notice they intend to ask the courts to rule on the new law's constitutionality as applied to their relations with labor.

HUGGINS PROVES VALUE OF BROOMCORN CROP IN AREA

That broomcorn is a generally profitable crop for growing in this area, is the recent statement of several farmers of this section, based on past trials and it is understood that several small acreage tracts are now being planted, farmers saying such seed may be planted up to July 15 with reasonable prospects for good crop, since it takes only about 75 days for it to mature.

One concrete instance of the adaptability of broomcorn growing to this section is the experience of Carl Huggins, living near the Wm. Mathieson farm northeast of Mulshoe who, last year had eight acres planted in this crop.

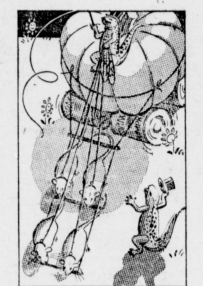

Huggins stated his crop was planted on the fourth and fifth days of July; that it yielded 3200 pounds of brush, he selling it at 10 cents per pound. Threshing, baling and wire ties cost him $8.00; other expenses connected with the crop production ran an expense up to a total of $30, the crop selling for $320, or a gross return of $40 per acre.

A child's sorrow is as intense as it is brief.

Wins—but No Highbrow

NEW YORK . . . Miss Beatrice Ann Frear, 16, (above), of Evanston (Ill.) Township High School, has just set sail for a tour of Europe, maintaining she is no "highbrow" despite the fact that she won the trip over 10,000 competing students in a League of Nations essay contest. Her ambition is to be a reporter.

Cinderella's Tale Incomplete

"CINDERELLA" has been accused of being one of the greatest stories of all time. Teachers of fiction-writing class most of today's happy-ending love stories under the head of "Cinderella tales."
From an epicurean's standpoint, however, there is just one thing wrong with this fascinating yarn. They don't tell us what she did with the delicious tastes of the pumpkin when they made that nice-drawn coach. That would cause pumpkin seeds to be a fascinating story.
Here are some of the delicious things that could have been done with the inside of this magic pumpkin, for folks who want to live happily ever after. And because pumpkin shells are hardly stream-lined enough for our coaches today, we advise that you buy canned pumpkin and save yourself a lot of labor.

Tested Recipes

Pumpkin-Raspberry Tarts: Add one cup sugar, one teaspoon salt and one teaspoon ginger to two cups of canned pumpkin. Then add three beaten eggs and two cups of milk. Heat in a double boiler and pour into tart tins lined with pastry. Bake, having the oven hot at first, and then lowering to 325 degrees until the mixture is set. Cool, spread with raspberry jam and cover with sweetened whipped cream. This makes about twenty-four tarts.

Pudding: Add four cups of milk, add one-half cup of cornmeal and cook for five minutes, stirring all of the time. Add three-fourths cup of sugar, one teaspoon allspice, one-half teaspoon ginger, one-half teaspoon salt and six tablespoons butter, and then add one cup of canned pumpkin. Add two beaten eggs and pour into a buttered baking dish and bake like a custard in a slow oven, 325 degrees, until a knife inserted comes out clean (about one to one and three-quarters hours). Serve warm with butter or cream. This serves eight persons.*

In Pacific Kidnapping

TACOMA . . . The court appointed a former mayor as trial lawyer for Mrs. Margaret Haley (above), 10 year old wife of Harmon Haley who was given 45 years for his part in the recent Westpacas kidnapping. Early evidence indicated she had small part in the abduction.

INDICATE CONDITIONS BETTER

That economic conditions in Bailey county are somewhat better than they were a year ago, is the indication from bank and post office reports.

Receipts at the local post office were slightly higher for the month of June this year than they were last year. While the local bank report shows a slight decline in deposits in its statement published this week over a corresponding statement a year ago, this is due to the large number of loans made to farmers, particularly for seed and feed during the spring months. Since the call for statement was issued local bank deposits have increased several thousand dollars.

Deposits in central points, such as Clovis, Lubbock and Amarillo, where correspondence accounts are kept by smaller town bankers, all show a big deposit increase.

FIRST RURAL ELECTRIC LINE RUN

The first rural electric line strung by the Texas Utilities Co., was a five and one-half mile stretch from Hereford to the D. L. McDonald farm last week. He will use the current for irrigation purposes. Several citizens living along the line will also receive current for lighting purposes.

This company is also planning running two electrical lines out of Muleshoe for the use of countrymen, under the Federal electrification plan.

NEW BULB CLUB MEET

The New Bula Home Demonstration club met at Mrs. Jeff Lowe's Wednesday, July 3.

The demonstrator gave a demonstration on canning fruit and vegetables, which interested everyone. There were 13 present. Our quilt will be on exhibit at Enochs this coming week.

- R. W. Tyson and family, H. E. Lindsey and family and John Woodside spent the glorious Fourth in the sandhills east of the Muleshoe city corporation. A feature of the day's celebration was a rope jumping contest in which Mr. Lindsey refused to take part, claiming he had eaten too much and wouldn't be good for his august corporeity. Mr. Tyson, 130 years young, and a little under seven feet long, won the contest easily, it is said by merely stepping over the rope as it came around. Tyson claims eating guinea meat is what keeps him so young and active.
- Mrs. F. A. Caruthers and Mrs. Louie Rice returned home to Muleshoe Saturday night from Mangum, Oklahoma where they attended the funeral services of Mrs. Caruthers son, Ross George, who was killed instantly in a car wreck the Fourth of July, 12 miles north of Mangum, while he and three more men were enroute to Oklahoma City. Their car was struck side ways by a car load of drunk people. Mr. George and the three men with him were all employees at the post office in Mangum. He is survived by his wife and two children. He had visited in Muleshoe with his mother about a month ago.
- Dr. A. R. Matthews, accompanied by his son from Dimmitt and his daughter from Canyon spent the week-end fishing on a stream near Umbarger. Doc says fishin' was pretty good. He made one cast, got a little one on the line and started pulling it in. When about half way in he stopped for a moment to light his pipe, and when he resumed pulling he could hardly move it. His son and daughter both got onto the line and with heavy tugging succeeded in getting it to shore. As it stuck its nose up on the edge of the bank, Doc discovered the little fish he had caught had been swallowed by another big one weighing close to 25 pounds. Umbarger is a Catholic community, and when Doc told some of the people living there about his whale of a catch, they told him he would have to go before the priest in the confessional, but Doc told them he was a Deacon in the Baptist church back in Bailey county where he lived and got out of it.

BAILEY CO GETS INCREASED SUMS ON WHEAT PLAN

Of $6,250,000 Coming To Texas, Bailey Gets $8,909.00.

A proclamation by Secretary Wallace last Monday established the minimum 1935 wheat adjustment payments at least 33 cents a bushel compared to the 1934 minimum of 29 cents.

Payments for both years, the AAA said, are subject to slight deductions for county administration costs.

Chester C. Davis, AAA Administrator, said the increase of four cents a bushel for the 1935 allotments represents additional income to cooperating wheat producers of approximately $14,000,000.

Under the new schedules, Davis asserted, producers will receive adjustment payments of at least $115,000,000 on the 1935 crop instead of $100,000,000 on the 29 cent basis.

No change was made in the processing tax rate of 30 cents a bushel. The AAA said the additional adjustment payments were made possible by reserves accumulated from the tax on wheat produced by farmers not under allotment contracts. The increased payment, it was said, will not result in any deficit in the wheat budget since available funds are sufficient to cover the increase.

Estimated payments by states on a 33 cent basis included $6,250,000 for Texas.

Of the total allotment for Texas on this new basis, $6,909.67 less administrative expenses, will come to the 22 wheat contract signers of Bailey county, according to J. B. Waide Jr., county farm agent. This is an increase of $909.97 over 1934.

KILLED OVER WEDDING

C. W. Dean, 54 year old Hockley county farmer, is in jail at Levelland in lieu of $2,500 bond charged with murdering R. D. Sinclair, 56, last Monday near Witharral, a few miles south of Littlefield.

The killing is alleged to have occurred over a wedding between the son and daughter of the two fathers.

Wheat Land May Be Sowed In Field After July 10th

Panhandle-Plains farmer can plant row crops in their abandoned wheat fields after Wednesday to raise a forage crop without violating the AAA wheat acreage contracts, according to John R. Edmonds, state wheat agent.

Seed is available without cost for planting in wide-row or strip crop planting from the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. The seed should be in the hands of all county agricultural agents on the Panhandle-Plains within the next few days. Some counties already have received the seed.

The only agreement connected with accepting the free seed is that the farmer will not plant more than 1½ pounds per acre. In the strip crop pattern as many as 10 rows can be planted in a strip.

Purpose of the program is to save Panhandle fields from erosion damage by giving it some vegetation to hold the soil and protection from the wind.

Farmers will be permitted to cut the forage for feeding stock, but none of it can go to seed. The fall frosts will prevent the row crops from heading out in practically all of the West Texas wheat belt, according to Mr. Edmonds.

The seed now available is maize, negira and kafir.

Favors National Lottery

WASHINGTON . . . We will soon all be discussing national lotteries, pro and con, if Congressman Edward A. Kenney (D.) of New Jersey (above), has his way. Despite shelving of his lottery bill at the last session, Kenney has presented a new bill with three choices of lottery plans, "anyone of which will bring the government $1,000,000,000 a year in revenues of "painless taxation," he says.

Troy's Site Settled

There was long controversy regarding the site of the famed ancient city of Troy but it is now generally accepted that the little village of His-sarlik stands where Priam once ruled. Hector died, and whence Aeneas fled. The excavations have uncovered nine different cities, the earliest of some 3000 B. C., and another the Roman A. D. The Homeric Troy was the sixth of these cities, dating from about 2000 to 1500 B. C.

TAKE CCC RECRUITS JULY 23

CLOCK... a thrill On the mantel in my farm home an old clock has been ticking away for more than 100 years.

The picture is of a scroll of paper headed with the words "The Constitution" and partly concealing an American flag, whose folds peek out from below the scroll.

As I look at the clock from where I am writing it gives me quite a patriotic thrill. One hundred years ago, or when ever this old clock was made, the Constitution of the United States was living, vital thing in the consciousness of every American.
