Cottonwood Cemetery Fund Receives $190

The Endowment Fund of the Cottonwood Historical Association received $190.00 during the months of December, 1972, and January, 1973, according to a report from Mrs. Norman Coffey, secretary-treasurer of the organization.

The fund is being solicited to provide perpetual care for the old and new cemeteries at Cottonwood.

Mrs. Coffey also reported that the total of the endowment fund now stands at $8,288.42. Goal of the association is a minimum of $10,000.00. The $190.00 was received in eight donations, and contributors and the respective amounts given, as reported to the Review follow.

Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Williams, Jr., in memory of Truett and Wendell Holley, $10.00; J. H. Childs $20.00; Mr. and Mrs. Fonia Worthy $20.00; Higginbotham's of Cross Plains, three $10.00 donations for the following services: Corbett Joy, Truett Holley and Willie Wilcoxon; Mrs. Jess Womack, $10.00 and Miss Hazel I. Respass $100.00. The secretary-treasurer also noted that interest accrued to date on the endowment fund totals $488.68. That money was placed in the maintenance fund for current upkeep of the two cemeteries at Cottonwood.

Persons wishing to help in this endeavor are urged to send contributions of any amount to Mrs. Coffey at Cottonwood Rural Station, Baird, Texas, 79504. Acknowledgement will appear in columns of this newspaper periodically.

Buffettes Win 10-A Crown; In Playoffs

Buffettes of Cross Plains High School are undisputed District 10-A queens. The squad won that distinction Tuesday night of last week by defeating Bangs 78-33 in a make-up game.

The local sextet were seeking the bi-district crown at Ballinger Tuesday night at 7:30. Opponent was Eldorado girls, a team the Buffaloes lost to in 1971, last time the local girls unit has won a district crown.

Buffettes, 9-1 in conference battles and 25-3 on the season, were seeking an upset of the Eldorado team which has won the 9-A diadem for at least the past three seasons. Eldorado swept through league play with a 12-0 record.

Winner of the game on Tuesday night will participate in the Region II tournament at Denton this week end. Arthur Boyle, Buffette mentor, said Tuesday that information he had received pointed out that the tourney will be held on the campus of North Texas State University. He explained that brackets of the regional meet could be drawn until Wednesday, but it was his belief that the Cross Plains-Eldorado winner would not play until Saturday morning. Winner of that four-team meet will tangle with three other sextets in the state tournament at Austin the following week end.

Twice Cross Plains has vied in the state meet, in 1966 and 1967. Buffettes were fourth in the first year and second in 1967.

Cross Plains humbled Bangs

78-33 in the district championship game. Terry Edington exploded for 56 points on field goals and 10 of 10 free tosses.

Rising Star, also a district champ in Class B, defeated Buffettes 53-50 in a practice game here last Thursday. Margie Dun led local scoring with 28 points.

Buffaloes ended the season with Bangs, dropping a 63-32 decision.

Bisons were frigid, but trailed only 23-17 at intermission. Donny Dillard led Herd scoring with 10 points. Others tallying were Tony Golsen 6, Larry Tatom 5, Ricky Kirkham and Randy Hunter 4 each. Jerry Lewis 2 and Roy Merrill 1.

Half Peanut Seedlings Being Lost To Diseases

Central Texas farmers may be losing at least a million dollars annually from seedling and ground diseases infesting over half of the 136,000 acres in peanuts, according to John C. White, Commissioner of the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Fifty-nine peanut farmers in Comanche, Eastland, Erath, Brown, and Callahan Counties participated in a survey conducted by the Texas Department of Agriculture to determine the amount of acreage affected by diseases and the types of diseases prevalent in the five-county area.

Farmers reported that 57 per cent of peanut acreage has a disease problem. Because of good weather at harvest time there was a slight decrease in the percentage of irrigated acreage with diseases, but the figures still show that 67 per cent were infested. The dry land acreage having ground diseases increased from 26 per cent in 1971 to 33 per cent in 1972.

Southern blight and pod rot proved to be the most widespread diseases, affecting 75 per cent of the acreage reported. Both increased from five to ten per cent in 1972.

Rhizoctonia decreased from 31 per cent to 25 per cent in 1972. Fusarium, although minor in total percentage, rose from 4 per cent to 8 per cent in 1972.

Commissioner White stated, "Results from a field trial conducted by the department's De Leon Peanut Research Laboratory showed that 13 per cent of the seedling plants had died by the time they were 4 days old, mainly because of the seedling disease rhizoctonia. By the end of the trial, 49 per cent of the plants had died from southern blight and pod rot."

One of the main problems in curtailing the infestation is in identifying them and finding a means to control the diseases that will be effective, yet will not damage the environment. About 18 per cent of the farmers reported ground diseases but couldn't identify them. Only two are visible without laboratory equipment.

Research by the Texas Department of Agriculture in peanut diseases is only two years old. Field men at the department's De Leon laboratory conducted the questionnaire survey in 1971 and 1972 and are testing various chemicals on selected acreage in De Leon.

The lab is also holding training sessions in identifying the diseases for department scientists from the East Texas area so that an intensive examination can be made on peanut diseases. These efforts should help peanut farmers throughout the state to learn to recognize the diseases and work with the control chemicals which are available.

Central Texas contributes over 22 per cent of the 478,800,000 pounds produced in Texas annually. Callahan County produced 3,613,000 pounds in 1971, and when production figures are in for 1972, an increase is predicted. That yield could be higher with research and recognition of the problem, Commissioner White stated.

"The department will continue to support research and education programs. Great strides have been made in recent years by the seed industry, but much remains to be done in providing protection to the seedling peanuts after they are planted. It is time now to pay proper attention to the seedling and ground diseases of peanuts so that they, like leaf spot, can be brought under control," Commissioner White concluded.

Telephone 725-2341 to report fire in Cross Plains.

BIG SNOWFLAKES—Like other things in Texas snowflakes are also big as is proven in this picture. These odd-shaped, five-sided figures caught floating to the ground are actually snowflakes which fell here the night of January 10. The photo was taken by Mike Moore in front of his home on North Main Street. A flash bulb was used, and the resulting light reflections made the snowflakes appear as giant-sized pentagons.

Arledge-Roach Vows Said In Church Here Saturday

Nancy Jane Arledge and James Weldon Roach exchanged marriage vows Saturday evening in a candlelight ceremony in the First Baptist Church in Cross Plains with the Rev. Luther J. Helm, minister of the First United Methodist Church in Cross Plains, officiating. The altar was decorated with an archway entwined with greenery and pink ribbon, and two candelabra. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Arledge of Cross Plains, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Roach of Rising Star. Organist was Mrs. Vera Pearl Bunnell of Cross Plains. Matron of honor was Mrs. Ronnie Walton of Coleman and bridesmaid was Mrs. Franklin, Cox, sister of the groom, of Rising Star. Best man was Jack Clark of Rising Star, and groomsman was Monty Howard of Dallas. Dalton Hughes of Lubbock and Larry Smith of Houston, brother of the bride, seated guests. Flower girl was Laura Lyn Cox and John McCabe III was ring bearer. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a high rise waist gown of white sata peau with Nottingham lace forming the yoke and sleeves. A ruffle of lace edged the yoke. The full A-line skirt, scattered with lace motifs, extended to a chapel length train and the hem and train of the gown featured a deep Nottingham lace flounce. Her three-tiered veil of illusion fell to the elbow from a matching lace camelot cap. She carried a cascade of pink rosebuds and baby's breath. Her attendants wore gowns of pink miramist with ruffles at the neckline, wrists, and rounded yoke and accented at the empire waist with rose velvet ribbon. They carried nosegays of pink roses and baby's breath. The reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the Church immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was decorated with a centerpiece of pink roses and baby's breath. The white three tiered cake was decorated with roses and doves and a miniature bride and groom. An additional heart-shaped layer was on either side of the cake. Pink punch, nuts and pink and white heart-shaped mints were also served. Members of the house party were: Mrs. James Bonser of Bangs, Miss Saralyn Butler of Rising Star and Miss Beverly Tatom of Cross Plains. Miss Penny Odom, also of Cross Plains, registered guests. For going away the bride chose a pink knit dress with matching coat and beige accessories. Her corsage was taken from her bridal bouquet. The bride is a 1972 graduate of Cross Plains High School and the groom, a graduate of Rising Star High School, is currently attending Tarleton State College.

Cold Rains Last Week Guage .80

Slow, cold rain which fell over the Cross Plains area last Wednesday and Thursday measured .80 of an inch according to records maintained by F. C. Newton, official weather observer here.

Newton also recorded a trace of snow on Thursday. Although cold, the fluffy white stuff melted almost as fast as it hit the ground.

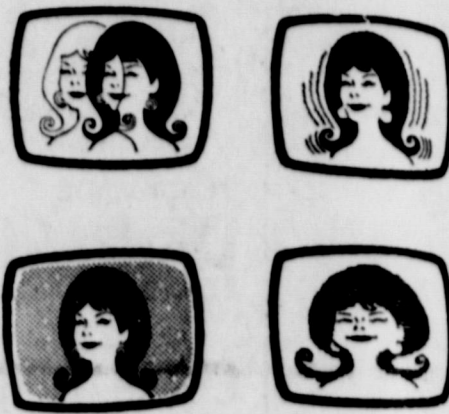

The .80 of an inch is the only moisture recorded in Cross Plains this month, however, rain, sleet and snow which fell during January amounted to 2.84 inches. Total moisture measured here during the first 43 days of 1973 has totaled 3.64 inches, according to Newton's records.

That is far above the normal amount of moisture for the first month and a half of a year.

Rev. Dick Hollis, pastor of Greenfield Baptist Church, Odessa, visited relatives and other friends in this area during the week end.

CAPITOL REPORT

 more than three weeks of the 63rd Legislature, a time used in sessions by the Speaker and make commitments, the Texas Representatives was working on bills crucial to the movement.
 Many hours of debate and numerous attempts to add amendments, a revision of open meetings law was filed. House Bill 3 was overwhelming support by House in a 132 to 13 vote. Approval of the law making stages of governmental open to the public was toward implementation of the newly-elected Speaker reform program.
 Postponing the mandatory system in public schools until the 1975-76 school year passed the House and was sent to the Senate. It has been referred to the Education Committee. My indicated great interest in this legislation, there would like to devote a column to this subject.
 Present time, courses for a full school year are worth one full credit for one semester and worth half credit. House Bill 92 states that in 1975, schools have to institute some changes in their curriculum. The nine month school year will be divided into three semesters rather than the present two. This will mean that in two semesters, each lasting six months, will constitute a school year. A three month semester of summer school will be optional. Courses will then be given on a one-third, two-third or three-third credit basis, the one-third being equal to one credit and being given for courses that encompass the entire school year, or three semesters. An amendment, which I supported, was offered to leave this decision up to the school district; however, the amendment received only a vote of the 151.
 Bill 200, a bill to reinstate the death penalty for certain murders and I am a co-sponsor, came before the Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence this week. Testimony offered gave evidence to substantiate theories both for and against retaining the death penalty. The leading arguments of opponents seemed to be the fact that the death penalty has been declared unconstitutional and that there is no evidence showing the death penalty to be a deterrent to crime.

 Professor Daniel B. McGee, professor of Religion at Baylor University, stated that the death penalty is unjustifiable and morally indefensible, while Austin attorney, Frank Maloney, testified that in his opinion it would be impossible to write a bill that would comply with the Supreme Court decision. Other opponents testifying included Professor Alan Sager, professor of law at the University of Texas, testifying on behalf of the American Civil Liberties Union and the Texas Civil Liberties Union, and Dr. Harold Hyman, professor of Constitutional History at Rice University.
 Proponents speaking for this legislation were ready with equally convincing testimony. Houston District Attorney, Carol Vance, testified that murders have increased more than 100 per cent in Houston since the U.S. Supreme Court declared the death penalty unconstitutional, the increase being attributed mainly to armed robberies. The District Attorney from Beaumont, Tom Hanna, continued this line of testimony, stating that a national poll showed that 57 per cent of all Americans would like to see the death penalty restored.
 Committee members voted to ask for an attorney general's opinion on the constitutionality of this bill after which testimony will be continued.
 Mr. and Mrs. Jay Kirkham visited her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Don Thornton, Gayla and Steve, in Fort Worth last week end.
 Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Tyson visited in Brownwood Sunday afternoon with her mother, Mrs. H. L. Evans, Sr.

Some gardeners, Mrs. James Reynolds and Mrs. Warren Price had been putting out onion plants and others have studied seed catalogs during all the bad winter weather.

It will be a race between the Apricot trees and cold snaps to see which one wins, but we hope the fruit trees can wait awhile to show off their colorful blooms. Apricots are really delicious to eat along
