

YMCA Week Observance Starts In Midland Today

PRACTICES HIS PREACHIN'—Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. tries out the Midland Central YMCA jogging track after proclaiming today "YMCA Sunday" to launch "YMCA Week" here in connection with a nationwide observance.

Today is "YMCA Sunday," inaugurating YMCA Week in Midland, by proclamation of Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. in connection with a nationwide observance.

Special activities during the week will include a membership drive and an open house at the Central YMCA, according to Bob Auringer, executive director at the Y.

The weeklong celebration marks the 128th year of YMCA, which has spread to 85 nations since its founding in 1844.

Concerning the week-long open house at the Central Y, Auringer issued an invitation to the general public, saying:

"We urge those who haven't been to the YMCA to drop in and discover what we have in program and facilities.

"Even for those not planning to join, we would like to show what services we are providing the community."

Other activities on the calendar include a Feb. 5-15 news media racquet ball tournament, a singles racquet ball tournament Thursday through Saturday, a Feb. 8-10 Hinder Club singles tourney, a Feb. 10 West Texas YMCA Swim League Meet and a Feb. 23-24 YMCA district basketball playoffs for men's and boys' teams.

It would be appreciated if you could inform me and other interested citizens and taxpayers why there were no public hearings or requests for names to be considered by the Midland Independent School District board prior to naming the nine trustees for Midland College. Also, what educational background was required for the trustees? And why were they appointed to terms of up to six years instead of only until the next election?—R.L.M.

Your questions were posed to school board president Gilbert C. Tompson, whose response can be summarized as follows:

State law requires the long-term appointments, giving no option for interim selections until an election. The same law specifies that appointees draw for length of terms, with one-third of the board to be up for election in each even-numbered year.

The requirements for serving on the board are about the same as those for voter registration, according to the law. There is nothing said about "educational background," but all the appointees selected have college degrees or at least have attended some college or university.

"Frankly, it never occurred to us that public hearings would be either desirable or that many people would participate in such a hearing had there been one," Tompson said.

"We received dozens of suggestions from a number of groups and interested parties," Tompson said, "and there was no need for additional names to be dropped in the hat, as we knew of a great many qualified persons and more names only would have compounded the selection problem."

Tompson said the board appointed the four Midlanders who had served on the Permian Junior College System board, "because, number one, the voters had showed strong support for what they proposed, and number two, because the board needed some members with experience."

"As for the other appointments, the majority of these were suggestions by school board members — of necessity, because, since we were the ones charged with the responsibility, we had a natural preference for people whom we knew personally that we could depend on, even though this did mean passing over some excellent people not known personally by board members."

"We tried to pick people with a knowledge of the community and a demonstrated interest in developing a community college, and people whose backgrounds and contacts would help them make the best possible contribution to the college."

The result is a college board comprised of two oil company executives, a minister, an attorney, a church neighborhood center worker, an independent oil operator, a petroleum products distributor and two bankers — altogether, eight men and one woman.

Patteson Plans Race For City Council

Brad Patteson, 1904 Oak Lawn St., announced Friday that he will be a candidate in April for one of the three available positions on the city council. In addition to Angelo's win last year, Patteson, finished third in the 1972 mayoral race as an 18-year-old candidate behind Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. and Councilman Pat M. Baskin.

He said Friday that he would file his candidacy for one of the three posts on Feb. 5 with City Secretary James McCullough. Patteson is employed by KNAM radio station and is attending classes at Midland and Odessa colleges.

Mexico Returns Ransom To Haiti

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Mexican government says it has returned to Haiti the $70,000 ransom paid for the safe release of a U.S. diplomat, but authorities have not decided whether the three kidnapers will be granted political asylum.

Clinton E. Knox, the U.S. ambassador to Haiti, was freed Wednesday after being held with another embassy employee in the ambassador's residence. They were released in exchange for the money, release of 12 prisoners and a flight to Mexico City for all 15.

TO WASHINGTON IN '63, BACK 10 YEARS LATER—

Valenti Makes Second Trip Aboard Air Force One

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Jack Valenti of Houston was aboard that Air Force transport in 1963 that carried the new President Lyndon B. Johnson and the body of President John F. Kennedy from Dallas to Washington.

Valenti, now president of the Motion Picture Association of America, was aboard that same Air Force plane Wednesday when it flew to Washington from Austin with the body of Johnson.

"I stood beside that coffin and marveled that any box could contain this huge avalanche of a man," Valenti told the Associated Press about Wednesday's flight.

"Perhaps I expected that it was only temporary for it seemed incredible that the energy and the great heart of LBJ could ever be stilled."

November 1963 Remembered
"I remember, my God how I remember, that November day in 1963. He (Johnson) knew the nation and the world was full of fear, fear that hung like a gray aroma over the nation. He knew this. He knew he had to demonstrate beyond any doubt that the nation could shed its doubts."

"I remember how he (Johnson) looked on Nov. 23, how he talked. He gave no evidence, not the smallest jot, that he may possibly have felt tormented or hesitation. Air Force One that day was awash in hysteria, grief, puzzlement and the possibility of ruin."

"Within hours, days and then weeks, the nation breathed again. The hand on the helm was firm. The leader had no fear..."

"On that November day, by the enormity of an event she and here could hold back the tears and the savage sorrow that Lyndon Johnson had left their life as he had departed his...
"Some of the same people who were with him in Dallas...
"Liz Carpenter, so vital and bounding in 1963 and unable to resist a jest or comic line, slumped heavily in her chair, and no woman who was there Marie Fehmer, LBJ's impertu-

...rable secretary, so efficient, so silently-available to do his bidding on that November day in 1963 was now gazing with opaque eyes at the sameness of the thin blue-white horizon.
"And so we flew on. We had been with him at the very beginning and now we were riding with him to the very end."

Greenwood Slates Open House Today

The Greenwood Independent School District (GISD) will conduct an open house in its new junior-senior high school complex beginning at 2:30 p.m. today.

The structure, which adds nine classrooms, a gymnasium, two laboratories, a shop and a cafeteria to the existing building, has been in use since December. The school is approximately 10 miles east of town on Cloverdale Road.

Melvin Williams, superintendent, said he expects the school to be accredited for a full 12-year program next year. He explained the GISD school board decided to expand the program because doing so seemed the most economical solution to the district's educational needs.

In the past, Greenwood students have attended Midland schools after the eighth grade. The school serves approximately 200 students.

225 POUNDS OF POT — Texas Highway Patrolman Archie Crenwelge of Sonora sorts through a portion of the 225-pound haul of marijuana that he confiscated Thursday morning in Sutton County while investigating an auto accident. The marijuana, along with another 135 pounds seized in Sonora Friday, has been transported to the Midland regional offices of the Department of Public Safety.

Drawings For DPS Building To Be Shown During Banquet

Unveiling of drawings for the building will be about 2½ times the size of the facility presently leased here by the DPS. The State of Texas will own the new building.

The new headquarters will provide space to substantially enlarge capabilities of the regional laboratory allowing it to do much of the work which area law enforcement agencies now send to Austin.

Other features of the new building will range from a disaster-proof emergency operations center to a helipad.

Tickets were selling briskly Friday for the banquet, scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the County Activity Building.

More than 650 tickets had been sold for the event, which is open to both chamber members and the general public.

Deadline for ticket purchases at the chamber office, 211 N. Colorado St., is 5 p.m. Wednesday, according to banquet committee chairman Martin L. Allday.

Headlining the dinner will be an address by George Bush, the new chairman of the Republican National Committee. Bush is a former Midlander who recently concluded a term as United States Ambassador to the United Nations.

He also is a former congressman from Harris County.

During the 11 years he lived in Midland, he was a founding director of the Commercial Bank & Trust Co. and helped organize the Midland YMCA. Bush founded Zapata Petroleum Corp. in 1953 in Midland and later formed Zapata Off-Shore Co.

He is a past recipient of the "Five Outstanding Young Texans" award, given annually by the Texas Jaycees.

William J. Mewhorter will be master of ceremonies.

The banquet will honor 1972 chamber president C. J. Kelly and the retiring directors.

Charles H. Priddy, 1973 president, will present the incoming directors.

Pills Confiscated Near Big Spring

BIG SPRING — Department of Public Safety officers arrested two men Saturday morning and confiscated 13,040 pills worth a reported $1 each when sold separately on the black market.

Robert Eugene Chambers, 28, of Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and Leonard Lamar Long, 34, of Chattanooga, Tenn., were arrested after the truck they were in was stopped for a traffic violation on Interstate 20 about 11 miles east of here shortly after 10 a.m.

Each man was charged with possession of dangerous drugs for the purpose of sale, a felony, and Long also was charged with driving while under the influence of drugs.

The men, who told officers they were on their way from El Paso to Georgia, remained in Howard County Jail Saturday night.

Chambers' bond was set at $15,000 and Long's was set at $15,500.

The truck was stopped by highway patrolmen Kenneth Maxwell and John Ferguson of Big Spring.

They reported finding 5,000 pills believed to be amphetamine capsules in the cab of the truck and 8,040 tablets believed to be tranquilizers in the back of the vehicle.

The pills will be sent to the DPS laboratory in Austin for analysis.

Draft Boards Not Closing Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Contrary to popular myth we're not going to close down draft boards around the country," a Selective Service spokesman said Saturday in commenting on the end of the draft.

Men will still be required to register during the period 30 days before and 30 days after their 18th birthday. And a lottery will be held for the men turning 19 years old this year.

Unless Congress rewrites the law, Selective Service will be required to continue this way in the years ahead. The only thing due to expire next June 30 is one sentence in the draft law authorizing the President to draft men.

The law now specifies that when an all-volunteer military is achieved, Selective Service must maintain a capability on a standby basis to draft men quickly if necessary.

The Selective Service said the main question being debated is how many men from each lottery should be processed, which means giving them classifications.

Also being discussed, a press officer said, is whether to give

Burglar Strikes At Garden Center

Four microphones were taken from two telephones at Midland Garden Center Inc., 4615 Sinclair St., between 7:30 p.m. Friday and 9:30 a.m. Saturday, police reported.

The burglar cut a hole in a box covering an opening and then reached inside and unlocked the door, Patrolman Clint Lovejoy reported.

An undetermined amount of change also was taken from a cabinet drawer, police were told.

Federal Panel Recesses Here

The federal grand jury investigating a gambling case here last week recessed Friday afternoon without announcing what action had been or would be taken.

The panel may not report before Feb. 8, the next time U.S. Dist. Judge W. D. Suttle of San Antonio is scheduled to be in Midland.

The grand jury was empaneled Monday afternoon and went immediately into session.

Private citizens and law enforcement officers from Midland, Odessa and Monhans and other West Texas cities were called before the panel.

Officers had confiscated cash, gambling paraphernalia, football schedules, weapons, address books and lists of telephone numbers in raids in Midland, Odessa and Monhans.

Investigating officers received permission from Judge Suttle to tap telephone lines and, after that, they obtained search warrants from U.S. Magistrate Noel Cason in Midland.

The search warrants are filed in the U.S. district clerk's office here but there has been no official document filed to show how many witnesses were subpoenaed.

Musical Program Entertains Lions

A musical program highlighted the meeting of the Midland Southside Lions Club Friday noon.

Mike Wolf, Jodi Kaplan, Jan Swinehart and Larry Millican, all Lee High School students, gave their interpretation of several country and Western songs made famous by contemporary artists.

The program, which attracted rounds of applause, was arranged and introduced by Darrell Doss, program chairman for January.

President C. E. McCain presented new member kits to Roger Stinson and Morris Howland.

Military Lifts Job Freezes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon Saturday lifted a freeze on all civilian job hirings and promotions for both military and civilian personnel effective next Thursday.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Kenneth Rush notified the armed services and various Pentagon agencies in a memorandum.

He indicated that what he called the "austerity of the funding levels" in President Nixon's budget for the coming fiscal year will require that hirings and promotions be limited to those "which are essential to the conduct of approved programs."

The temporary freeze was ordered into effect in mid-December.

"In resuming recruitment, priority consideration should be given to career employees affected by actions eliminating or transferring their jobs," Rush said.

"Temporary appointments should be used to the maximum extent feasible in order to stockpile vacancies for career employees who may be displaced in the same geographical areas."

Tax Reduction On Telephone Service Begins

Hard as it may be to believe, a tax reduction on one common household item has been in effect for almost a month.

"It may seem that old taxes never die, but one has been sentenced to a slow death, beginning Jan. 1," says Fred Kester, district manager for Southwestern Bell.

It's the 10 per cent federal excise tax on communications services, a holdover from World War II.

Kester pointed out that a one per cent annual reduction in the tax began this year and will continue through 1982, when the excise tax is due to be terminated.

The 10-year reduction schedule was established by the federal Excise, Estate and Gift Tax Adjustment Act of 1970.

Starting Jan. 1, Southwestern Bell customers are paying only nine per cent federal excise tax instead of 10 per cent. Under the federal law, the tax will drop to eight per cent on Jan. 1, 1974; to seven per cent on Jan. 1, 1975; etc., until the 1982 cutback which is scheduled to totally eliminate the tax.

"For years," Kester said, "the Bell System has urged repeal of this tax which applies only to communications services and not to other utilities. We are gratified to know that the end of this burden on our customers is in sight."

Legislature To Get Down To Work

By GARTH JONES
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas' new legislature, delayed by pomp and ceremony both happy and tragic, gets down to serious lawmaking this week.

Debate on the first legislative bill of general interest, the so-called "open meetings" bill, is set for Monday in the House.

Both the House and Senate have a long list of important committee meetings scheduled Monday through Wednesday.

During the week Gov. Dolph Briscoe will present his specific anti-crime legislative proposals, including measures on wire-tapping, oral confession, strict punishment for drug pushers and the death penalty.

Briscoe's aides said it was not definite if the governor would present the proposals in person or by a message.

Legislative procedures have been delayed, first by a week of festivity and ceremony concerning the inauguration of Briscoe and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and a second week by the mourning and services following the death of former President Lyndon Johnson.

A joint memorial service for Johnson was held Thursday morning, then a majority of the 181-member Senate and House rode buses to Stonewall, 65 miles west of Austin, for interment services.

The open meetings bill, by Rep. Carl Parker of Port Arthur, had been scheduled for debate last Monday but was postponed until Wednesday.

Then on Wednesday, after Johnson's death, it was delayed again until Jan. 29.

The vote to postpone the open meetings bill last Monday was 72-70 following protests from some legislators that their local officials feared it would hamper government at the city and county level.

Supporters claim the open meetings bill will stop many city councils and school boards from holding so-called informal luncheons and cocktail parties before scheduled public sessions at which the actual decision on important issues are made. Then only the final vote is taken in public.

The House also is scheduled to consider Monday a bill that would restrict conference or compromise committees in actions on tax and appropriations measures already passed by both houses.

A House committee will take up four separate resolutions to set up a commission to suggest revisions in Texas' constitution, a proposal that has already passed the Senate. House and Senate committees are also expected to vote on a $900,000 appropriation to pay for the commission that will prepare the way for the 1974 Constitution Convention.

A Senate committee will hear arguments on a proposal to limit Texas governors to two successive four-year terms in office. Voters agreed last November that a governor's term should be four instead of two years but made no other limitations.

Texas GI Spends Last Day On Earth Fighting

LINDEN, Tex. (AP)—One of the last Americans to die in Vietnam before Saturday's cease-fire had visited his Linden, Tex., home over the Christmas holidays.

The visit Christmas Eve in pine-scented Linden came as a surprise to the parents of Air Force Sgt. John Rucker. They hadn't expected him home for another two months when his Vietnam tour of duty would be completed.

SGT. RUCKER—nicknamed O'Neal by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rucker—spent most of that seven-day leave visiting friends and hunting in the forests around this East Texas town.

Mrs. Mae Rucker, a small, soft-spoken woman, recalled Saturday that she "got a little aggravated that he didn't spend more time with his mother but she understood."

At the time, that disappointment was only a small one for Mrs. Rucker. O'Neal left his camera and a number of personal items at home and expected to be back himself before long.

RUCKER SAID HIS son wasn't a complainer and kept any troubles to himself. "I didn't care much about him going over there," the elder Rucker said, "but if you're in the military, you go where they tell you to go."

Asked about the significance of being one of the last to die, Mrs. Rucker said she really didn't know. "It just sort of numbs you so much."

The 21-year-old sergeant enjoyed coming home. Mrs. Margie Manning, his sister, said he came home at every opportunity when he was stationed at Wichita Falls and Shreveport, La.

MRS. MANNING said Rucker loved the Air Force. He enlisted Feb. 1, 1971, and was planning to make a career of it.

Rucker knew his parents worried a lot, Mrs. Manning said, so he would write them letters de-emphasizing the bad side of his experience in Vietnam.

The Ruckers have two pictures in their modest home of O'Neal in uniform—in one he is wearing a moustache, apparently grown in Vietnam.

At times, the Ruckers' eyes would become misty with tears as they talked about their son, but they maintained their composure.

THEY RECENTLY received a letter that Rucker mailed Jan. 16 from Vietnam. In it, he said he "really enjoyed his trip home and was looking forward to getting out and being with us."

Their son's body will be brought back in about a week. He will be given a military funeral and buried in a small cemetery about three miles from Linden.

He was killed Saturday in a rocket attack.

Midland Wife Awaits Husband's Return

pose, but it doesn't worry me. "I've thought about it all and I could be wrong, but..."

Sitting down on her couch and curling one foot underneath her, Kay Makowski brushed her hair back and rummaged through six years of memories of life without her husband.

The only letters she received—and was able to get delivered—were through an anti-war organization in New York, the Committee of Liaison.

"We both had to print everything, so (the North Vietnamese) could read it, I guess. I suppose they would have had a lot of trouble with normal handwriting," she smiled.

"The spaces we had to write on were so small," Mrs. Makowski sighed, and holding her thumbs apart, "so little space, we had to write as small as possible to get as much as possible on one card."

Virtually all of Makowski's mail to his family arrived in Midland stuffed full of "End the War" propaganda and anti-Nixon pamphlets that were included by North Vietnamese mailmen.

During 1971, she received "only about three or four letters. Last year, I think I probably got about one a month. "He sounds fine and he writes like he talks. It sounds like Lou."

No letters were ever received through normal postal channels, she added.

Besides the infrequent letters, Makowski's wife has kept his memory alive among his children with seven-year-old photographs and daily doses of conversation about him.

A career officer in the Air Force with more than 20 years service, Makowski moved his family to Midland in July 1966 from Maxwell Air Force Base in Montgomery, Ala., where he had been attending Staff and Command School.

Mrs. Makowski's brother, Carl Roberts, lives at 2614 Boeing St. and her mother, Mrs. Rose Roberts, has been living with the family since Makowski left Midland for Vietnam during the last week of July six years ago.

The Makowski home that awaits the Vietnam veteran is neat, attractive and was sometimes briefly chaotic last week as 13-year-old Matt's neighborhood friends ran in and out of the house, slamming doors and shouting at each other.

During the interview, Kay Makowski finally decided to stop trying to talk over the muffled sound of TV dialogue in the background, Mrs. Makowski commented that her three children are taking in stride the most recent news of the settlement of the war.

The news of the agreement between the U.S. and North Vietnam was released while Matt and Cheryl, 16, were at the basketball game between Midland High and Lee High rooting for the losing Bulldogs.

"I had talked with the two oldest before they went to the game and told them that it looked like there was going to be a settlement. None of us were really surprised. I was thinking, 'This has to be why they're coming on TV.'"

"I'm kinda numb that he's finally going to be home. You know, after six years..." Rhoda seemed the most excited as the early news came in about a father who hasn't seen her since she was a year old. "Rhoda's been talking about it for two weeks," her mother smiled. "All she can talk about it is what she'll wear the first time he sees her. "Her friends are all talking about it at St. Ann's; I think they're nearly as excited as she is."

As her husband's return to Midland edges closer to reality, Kay Makowski's faith that her government has always done the right thing in winding down the war remains unshaken.

"I can't see the overall picture. President Nixon has advisers—and he did what he thought was the right thing to try to win the war."

Participating in organized efforts with other POW wives has never appealed to her because "I'm not a real outgoing person. It's very hard for me to speak before a group of people; and also, there's so much to do around here—raising three children—I felt more needed at home."

Glancing around her home and thinking about 19 years of marriage, Louis Makowski's wife let out a barely audible sigh and tried to put the last six years into one breath. "I'm just happy that the war's over and everyone's coming home. And not just my husband, everyone."

News Bad For Many Families Of POWs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Angus, Capt. Paul Gordon Brown, Capt. Lawrence Victor Friese, Lt. Col. Jerry Wendell of war list provided by the North Vietnamese were re-leaked Saturday night by the Pentagon.

Other families were being notified if their relatives were dead. The list included the names of four members of the Air Force: six Marines and 13 Navy men.

These were the first men that the Pentagon had confirmed that their next of kin had been notified by military notification officers with either a personal visit or a telephone call.

The Pentagon said it would continue releasing additional names once it had confirmed the notification of next-of-kin.

The first identified as on the POW list given the United States by Hanoi in Paris earlier in the day were:

Air Force—Capt. Edward A. Brudno, Major Thomas E. Collins, III, Capt. James E. Sehorn and Capt. William J. Henderson. Marines—Capt. William Kerr

MOTHER'S GRIEF—A tearful mother is comforted by a son as they lay to rest an older son, a South Vietnamese army lieutenant who was killed in recent heavy fighting. (AP Wirephoto.)

Many Civilians Not Listed By N. Viets

The State Department official, Frank Sieverts, a special assistant handling prisoner affairs, explained some of the discrepancies between the two lists.

The North Vietnamese roster includes a number of non-Americans, some Americans already presumed dead by the United States, and names no prisoners at all in Laos and Cambodia.

named 27 U.S. civilians as captured in South Vietnam and who are to be released. The highest ranking U.S. government official among the 27 is Phillip W. Manhard, a career diplomat who was a civilian advisor at Hue in Northern South Vietnam.

He was captured by the North Vietnamese during the February 1968 Tet offensive and has been a prisoner for five years.

'Peace' Doesn't Stop Battles In S. Vietnam

Church bells rang out in Saigon to signal the start of the cease-fire, and some traffic stopped during a minute of silence.

All four crewmen aboard the downed planes, a Navy F4 Phantom and an Air Force OV-10, were listed by the U.S. command as missing. Spokesmen said they were shot down at about the same time.

The cease-fire was underwritten by orders from both sides for a halt in fighting. These orders reflected the peace agreements signed in Paris about a dozen hours earlier by the governments involved in the 11 years of war.

During the 24 hours preceding the truce, the Saigon command reported 334 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attacks across South Vietnam. Allied officials described this as a land-grab attempt to fortify positions.

The number of attacks was the highest ever reported in the war for a 24-hour period. "Ninety minutes before the truce began, a score of rockets crashed into Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Air Base and the surrounding area."

COLD—

By early afternoon, visibility dropped to less than a quarter of a mile in the Dalhart area in the Upper Panhandle. Drifts were two feet deep.

Snow rapidly mounted to three to five inches. Snow and sleet were reported in other parts of the Panhandle, and although highways still were open, the Highway Department warned of hazardous driving.

The Associated Press reported the South Vietnamese Division were in the hamlet and an adjoining one. Grenades exploded and the staccato exchanges of M16 and AK47 automatic weapons fire rattled and reverberated.

As bullets whined past, the inevitable old Vietnamese man slowly rode his bicycle up the road into the embattled town, and emerged uncashed a few minutes later carrying some possessions forgotten in the earlier flight.

Jets thundered distantly overhead and some of the refugees looked up apprehensively. But this time the targets were of higher priority than last October and there were none of the napalm and high explosive bomb strikes that had obliterated Xom Suoi on that occasion.

As the battle wore on, however, a artillery fire from a fire base north of Xom Suoi began impacting in the hamlets, and one

Last Day No Different

On the highway, the bodies of two more North Vietnamese soldiers lay where they had been dragged by rope along Highway 1, 30 miles northwest of Saigon. "I'm the refugees and South Viet- I'm the last guy here," he said.

The tanks were trying to move up the highway to Tay Ninh, where Viet Cong troops reportedly had taken over a temple compound and were firing in the streets, but their way was blocked by a rear-guard handful of enemy soldiers.

Waiting to move forward with the tanks, the South Vietnamese soldiers sought the shade of the bamboo trees and wooden sheds of a small farm. On the stone porch, their commander haggled with aides over radio traffic and sipped from a glass of hot tea.

On the last day of the war at a bridge 10 miles north of the old imperial capital at Hue, the body of a North Vietnamese soldier was covered with explosives he had carried and wrapped in fuse wire, ready to be blasted to bits.

If you listened hard enough, you could maybe hear peace coming.

"That's incoming, Hiep!" he

Poultry Disease Appears In Texas

DALLAS (AP)—Poultry in southwest Hidalgo and south-east Starr counties has been quarantined following positive laboratory diagnosis of Exotic Newcastle disease in a flock at Los Ebanos, near the Rio Grande, a U.S. Department of Agriculture spokesman said Friday.

An emergency task force operating out of McAllen has been moved to Mission to trace and isolate cases of the disease.

Exotic Newcastle disease is so contagious and so often fatal to birds that owners of all poultry and pet birds in the lower Rio-Grande-Valley are advised to watch closely for any further spread of the disease.

CLC Investigates Phase 3 Violators

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Cost of Living Council is investigating several companies that have announced intentions to raise prices in apparent violation of Phase 3 price standards, the council's outgoing director says.

Farah Workers Veto Union Bid

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—With less than one-third of their 373 workers voting, personnel in four departments of the Farah Manufacturing Co. Friday rejected the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America as their bargaining agents.

In a 71-32 vote, workers of the machine shop, building maintenance, machine parts and mechanics departments, voting as a unit, turned back a union bid for a foothold in Farah operations in El Paso.

However, not voting because of challenges by Farah, union and national Labor Relations Board officials, were 270 workers whose eligibility to vote must be determined through a lengthy investigation and appeals process.

Wounded Man's Bar Burglarized

Placido Villanueva, 55, owner of a Midland bar, was shot five times Friday afternoon at his residence. Villanueva was taken to hospital by Thomas Ambulance at 4 p.m. Friday after receiving gunshot wounds to the head, abdomen, groin and left arm. The shooting incident occurred at 604 S. Atlanta St. A 58-year-old woman was taken into custody by police at the scene of the shooting, although no charges were expected to be filed before Monday. As Villanueva lay in critical condition in the intensive care unit at Midland Memorial Hospital, his bar, the La Bonita, was burglarized and several cases of beer stolen. The burglary was reported to police at 11:21 p.m. by Toni Ortiz, an employee at the bar. Police found both the juke box and the pool table in the bar had been broken into and the all previous records in the area, according to a late October 1972 government report, beer also was missing.

Edward G. Robinson Dies At 79

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Edward G. Robinson, famous for his tough-guy film roles and expensive art collections, is dead at 79. A family spokesman said the veteran of more than 40 plays and 112 films died Friday of cancer at Mt. Sinai Hospital. His wife, Jane, was with him. Funeral services are scheduled for 2 p.m. today at Temple Israel, with burial in New York on Monday. The family spokesman said actor Charlton Heston, who costarred in Robinson's most recent film, "Soylent Green," will deliver the eulogy during services here.

Though famous for his sinister gangster portrayals, Robinson played that role in only about 10 of his films. His portrayal of a mobster in the film "Little Caesar" made him a star, but other memorable roles were the patient scientist in "Dr. Ehrlich's Magic Bullet" and the hard-driving managing editor in "Five Star Final." Off the screen, he was known as a quiet art collector and political liberal who could converse in six languages. In 1962, he suffered a heart attack on an African movie location and was hospitalized for three weeks. The stumpy, thick-lipped actor dismissed the seizure as a "heart episode" and said of it: "It was a rude affront. It's one of those stumbling blocks that you encounter along the way. The only thing to do is to kick it aside and keep on going." Born of Romanian-Jewish parents in Bucharest as Emanuel Goldenberg, Robinson came to the United States at age 10 in 1903. The actor was educated in New York, studying at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts and taking courses in arts, languages and philosophy at Columbia University and New York City College. In the late 1920's, he appeared in his first movie, a silent film called "The Bright Shawl." He came to Hollywood in 1930

Knights Templar Official Honoree - At Dinner Monday

A dinner meeting will be held at 6 p.m. Monday in Midland for Sir Knight James D. Berry, eminent grand warder of the grand commandery Knights Templar of Texas.

Berry will report during the meeting on two charities sponsored by the Knights Templar, the Educational Foundation and the Eye Foundation.

The dinner will be in the Masonic Temple, 1600 W. Wall St. All Knights Templar in the area are invited to attend.

Since the organization's educational program was started in Texas, 7,163 students have received loans totaling more than $2 million for financing education beyond the high school level. In 1972, 84 loans were awarded amounting to $58,570.

The Knights Templar Eye Foundation objectives include research, surgical treatment and hospitalization for persons suffering from eye diseases and injuries. The most recent research grants were for $50,000 for specialized research for the Ophthalmology Department of the Illinois Masonic Center and a $25,000 grant to the Institute of Ophthalmology of the Presbyterian Hospital in New York City for development of an artificial cornea.

125 Registered At Lamesa College

LAMESA — About 125 persons have registered for classes at the Lamesa Community College Center, insuring that several classes will be conducted here this spring.

Howard County Junior College officials voiced optimism at the conclusion of registration and indicated that several classes would definitely be offered although not as many as first anticipated. Registrar L. L. Lewis said that nine classes were assured and that others were possible.

Among those classes which will probably be offered (as determined by the number of persons expressing interest in the course) were Freshman Composition, Introduction to Psychology, two sections of the Principles of Accounting I, History of the United States, Police-Community Relations and Elementary Welding.

Men's Coffee Hour Continues Monday

The second weekly men's coffee hour is scheduled at 10 a.m. Monday in the Senior Services Center in the First Christian Church fellowship hall.

Mrs. Marion Fisher, director of the center, said the men's coffee event was started last week at the suggestion of some members and good interest was shown at the first one last week.

Mrs. Fisher said, "That's the way many of our programs will be devised — having enough people show and interest in an activity."

Another new event at the center for Midland's senior citizens is a pot luck luncheon set for noon on Wednesday. Interested persons are invited to bring a dish. Entertainment will be provided.

Mr. Lee served as best man. Patricia Cox of Lubbock was the maid of honor. She wore a carpet-length gown of maize or ganza. An overlay of medalion patterned Venice lace fashioned a bibbed effect on the Empire bodice, encircled the stand-up neckline and formed wide cuffs for the full, puffed sleeves. Side and back gathers created fullness in the dirndl skirt. She carried a colonial nosegay.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of satti peau and Chantilly lace in traditional styling with fitted bodice and full sleeves. Cameo motifs and velvet ribbon trim enhanced the gown. The cathedral train, detachable at the waist, repeated the lace trim. Her headpiece was a cloche of lace with attached tiered, silk illusion veiling. She carried a princess cascade of Snowflake mums and yellow roses showered with satin streamers.

Health Institute Expected Actress

SPARTANBURG, S. C. (AP) — When she arrived at the National Institute for Health at Bethesda, Md., recently, faces really dropped, says Mrs. Helen Hayes of Spartanburg.

"They were all expecting Helen Hayes, the actress, and I was quite a disappointment to them," she said. "They even had an elaborate room ready for me. However, when I returned home the other day after a month's stay at the institute and saw the look of happiness on the faces of my family, I realized I was as important as the other Helen Hayes."

Linda Gaines, Virgil Burge Wed In Candlelight Rites

Linda Kay Gaines, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles R. Gaines, became the bride of Virgil Wayne Burge, in a candlelight ceremony at 6:30 p.m. Saturday in the First United Methodist Church. Dr. Timothy Guthrie was the officiant for the double ring rites.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland V. Burge, 1602 S. Colorado St., are the parents of the bridegroom.

The bridal scene was enhanced by candelabra entwined with emerald greenery and holding white tapers. Garland Burge, brother of the bridegroom, lighted the candles.

Guests were escorted by brothers of the couple, Robert B. Gaines and Ernie Burge.

Mrs. Carol Hall, organist, and Vanice Johnson, soloist, presented the bridal music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a formal-length gown of white crepe and re-embroidered Alencon lace.

The Empire bodice with overlay of Alencon had a high jeweled neckline with deep V enhanced by seed pearls and sheer full, widely cuffed sleeves of the lace. The re-embroidered lace was repeated on the chapel-length train. A demi-bonnet of crepe appliqued with lace and topped with pearl etched lace flowerettes held her bouffant veil of pure silk princess illusion. The bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white Butterfly roses with white satin streamers tied in love knots.

Sally Bernard was the flower girl and Jimmy Burge, brother of the bridegroom, carried the rings.

Janie Gaines was her sister's maid of honor and Bruce Willis was the best man. Miss Gaines wore a gown of royal blue crepe with Empire waistline accented with white lace trim and blue velvet ribbon. She carried a colonial bouquet of shattered blue lace carnations with matching blue satin streamers.

A reception in the church parlor followed the formal ceremony. The five sisters of the bridegroom formed the house party. They are Mrs. C. G. Sanders, Mrs. Jerry Henley, Mrs. Terry St. John, Donna and Becky Burge.

The bridegroom, graduate of Midland High School, is stationed with the U.S. Army in the Military Police. He will be joined in Germany by Mrs. Burge when she completes this semester's work at Amarillo College. She formerly attended Southwest Texas State University.

Club Recognizes Mrs. J. T. Young

Mrs. Howard Cherry of the YMCA presented a program on proper exercises.

It was announced future meetings of the club will be held in Christ Presbyterian Church. Weigh-in will be held from 6:15 to 6:45 p.m. and the meetings will start at 7 p.m.

Debora Crawford, Blackaller Wed In First Christian Church Chapel

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Edward Blackaller, who were married Jan. 3 in the chapel of the First Christian Church, are at home in Norfolk, Va., where he is stationed with the U.S. Navy.

The bride, the former Debora Kay Crawford, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Crawford, 209 W. Cowden St. She attended Southwest Texas State University. Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Blackaller of 1913 Hughes St. are the parents of the bridegroom, who also attended STSU.

Dr. Ray Bristol performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Loyd Sanders was the organist.

Attending the bride were her sisters, Mrs. Dave Swenson, matron of honor, and Donna Crawford, maid of honor, and Ramona Preston, bridesmaid. Randy Wilson was the best man. Jim Hill and Rick Maroney were the groomsmen, and Robert Brown and Joe Hill were the ushers. The flower girls were Jayle Ann Crawford and Lucretia Crawford.

Decorating the chapel were a branched candelabra and an arrangement of pink carnations, white gladioli and burgundy Sweetheart roses.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white lutesong with white lace ruffling on the sleeves. She carried a bouquet of white stephanotis and baby's breath.

The matron of honor wore a pink formal gown and the other bridal attendants had burgundy formal gowns. They carried pink gladioli and stephanotis.

The parlor of the church was the setting for the reception.

Administrator Speaks To Group

Wayne Ulrich, administrator of Midland Memorial Hospital, was the speaker for a meeting Thursday of the West Texas Dietetic Association in the library of St. Ann's School.

Ulrich spoke on "The Relationship of the Dietetic Department to the Total Facility." He pointed out that the Department of Dietetics does more than prepare a standard three meals per day — all departments in the hospital relate directly or indirectly to the dietary department and benefit by its services. The department, he said, also provides services to the community in the areas of service to patients' families while they are in the hospital and to outpatients through counseling by the dietitian on the doctors' prescribed diets.

In addition to the 15 members attending, there were 15 guests, many of whom are enrolled in the Food Service Supervisors Course at Midland College.

Cherry Topping

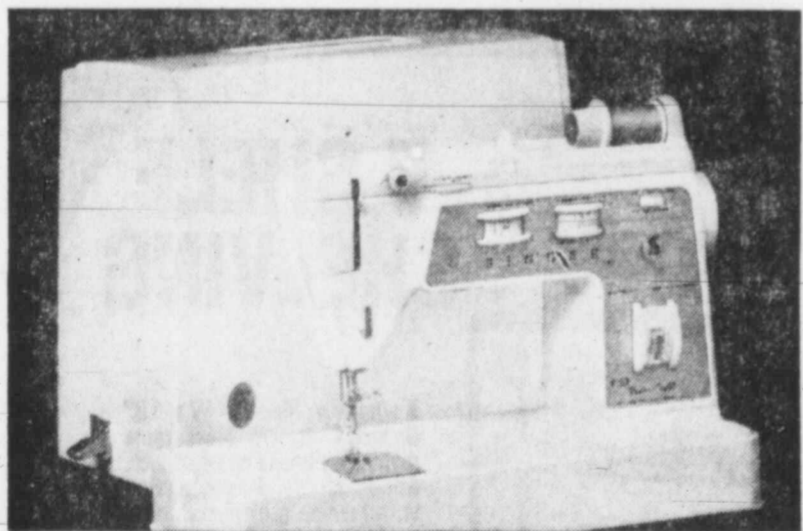

To make a cherry topping for a cheese pie, mix together one-third cup of sugar and two tablespoons cornstarch in sauce pan. Drain one can of cherries (20 ounces); gradually stir cherry liquid into sugar mixture. Place over heat and cook, stirring until mixture is thick and clear. Remove from heat. Stir in cherries. Use red souppitted cherries.

Dear Abby 'Jane Roe' Scraps Pseudonym, Tells Story To Baptist Press

Have Problems Sent To Dear Abby Changed?

—By Abigail van Buren

DEAR READERS: I am frequently asked, "Has your mail changed much over the years since you've become Dear Abby?"

Yes. And one of the greatest changes is the increasing number of letters I receive asking, "Shall I put my elderly parent in a nursing home?"

Recently, I read an impressive editorial in a medical bulletin concerning that problem. It was written by Dr. Graham Gilmer Jr., an Orange, Cal. physician. With his permission (and my minor editing), I want to share it with you.

(From the diary of a woman we shall call Jane)

July 5, 1972
DEAR DIARY: Today, my 80-year-old father, Henry, came to live with us. Not that it's such a big deal, it's only that I should have known it wouldn't work out. When Mother died suddenly two years ago, Dad insisted that he could live alone in the home he and mother had built for their retirement. He seemed to be managing nicely until one day I found him sick in bed with the flu, alone with nothing to eat.

My husband agreed that we should build an apartment for Dad over our garage, adjoining our house. That way we could look after Dad and he would have a little place of his own.

July 15, 1972
DEAR DIARY: I don't know how much of this I can take! Dad comes over here at least 40 times a day asking me what day it is, and when is Mother coming home? Today he put his arm around me and called me "Mildred." — thinking I was my own mother.

He babbles constantly and sometimes he makes no sense at all. He wets his pants and even messes in his bed and his trousers. What a chore! Why didn't I put him in a nursing home? It would have made life so much easier for us. Meanwhile, my brothers and sisters keep telling me what a "saint" I am, but they don't offer to take him off my hands. I have my own life to live and Dad is 80. Dear God, help me!

July 24, 1972
DEAR DIARY: I am so ashamed, I can hardly write this. Today I unpacked a trunk Dad stored in my attic after Mother died. Among the things Mother had saved was a packet of letters Dad had written to her over 50 years ago when Mother left Daddy and me to return to her hometown to help her own mother care for her ailing father.

I will quote parts of Dad's letters to Mother.
January 19, 1920
My Darling Mildred,
You'll never know how much I miss you. It seems I've done nothing but change Jane's diapers since you left. She babbles constantly, but is completely unintelligible. Hope you'll be back soon. — Your Loving Henry

January 26, 1920
My Darling Mildred,
Jane is progressing some, but sometimes think she's retarded. At 19 months shouldn't she be toilet trained? Sure hope you'll be home soon. By the way, where do you keep the extra diapers? Jane soils them faster than I can launder them. — Lovingly, Henry.

August 5, 1920
My Precious Mildred,
It was so wonderful to have you home for those few days. Maybe if we had brought your father here to live with us he would have lasted longer. Even though he was senile you seemed to calm him down. Maybe the "Poor Farm" was not the place for him to have gone.

In your absence, my biggest problem is Jane. She jabbles constantly at two years old, asking the same questions over and over. She still soils her pants. I am counting the days until you come home to stay. I need you desperately to help me care for DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The "Jane Roe" who won her case against Texas abortion laws before the U.S. Supreme Court Monday, invalidating such laws in 20 states, has shed her legal pseudonym and told why she took her case to the courts.

Norma McCorvey of Dallas first sought legal counsel about three years ago when she was unemployed, pregnant and greatly depressed.

In an interview with Robert O'Brien of the Dallas Bureau of Baptist Press, Southern Baptist Convention news service, Miss McCorvey said, "I was a woman alone with no place to go to work, but now it's my turn to repay him at the end of his life for what he did for me at the beginning of mine."

Someday, he may yet best fit into some nursing home, and when (and if) that day comes, I will consider his own best interests. Until then, his letters to Mother will haunt my innermost soul. JANE no one showed her any compassion except her doctor and lawyers. Dallas attorney Linda Coffee, then 27 and just a year out of the University of Texas law school, filed suit in federal court seeking overturn of the law.

Miss McCorvey, now 25, said

Miss Coffee and co-counsel Sarah Weddington of Austin contended in the suit that the State of Texas had no right to interfere in a doctor-patient decision.

Pleadings drawn by Miss Coffee said also that Miss McCorvey—or Jane Roe as she was called in the suit—sought an abortion "because of the economic hardship which pregnancy entailed and because of the social stigma" involved in bearing an illegitimate child.

The suit said Jane Roe had only a 10th grade education and no well-paying job which might provide sufficient funds to travel to another jurisdiction for a legal abortion in a safe, clinical setting.

A three-judge federal court in Dallas overturned the Texas abortion statute in June 1970, but declined to issue an injunction preventing the state from enforcing the law, pending appeal, Miss Coffee said.

While Miss McCorvey's attorneys appealed the failure to grant an injunction to the U.S. Supreme Court, she bore the child and placed him for adoption.

She hailed the 7-2 decision handed down by the high court as a "wonderful thing."

"Childbirth itself is hard on a married woman, but twice as hard on an unmarried one," Miss McCorvey explained. "I'm glad the court decided that women, in consultation with a doctor, can control their own bodies."

The decision ruled that the state cannot interfere in a doctor-patient decision on abortion during the first six months of pregnancy.

Ex-Surgeon General Says Cigarette Use Now Climbing Again

HOUSTON (AP) — Dr. Luther Terry, former U.S. surgeon general who released the report in 1964 which warned of the dangers of smoking, said here Friday that cigarette consumption is going up again.

Terry, consultant on tobacco and health for the American Cancer Society, said at a news conference, "The per capita consumption of cigarettes, which has shown a steady drop since 1963, is beginning to rise again. I'm afraid ... we are facing a genuine upward trend."

"The cigarette industry is making predictions this trend will continue and that by 1980 per capita consumption will be back at the level it was in 1963."

Terry was here for the society's 1973 National Volunteers' Meeting for Education and Crusade.

He said, however, that fewer people are smoking now. "We have hard evidence that since the time of the report 30 million Americans have stopped smoking."

Other statistics show, he said, that while fewer adults are smoking the percentage has gone up among women and teen-aged girls.

"Not only are they starting earlier smoking in greater numbers and smoking more heavily, they are finding it harder to quit."

Terry said he feels that television advertisement for small cigarette-like cigars will be banned from the airwaves, along with cigarettes, possibly by the first part of next year.

"It's the little cigars and not the big ones that bother us," he said. While they're wrapped in tobacco, their yield of nicotine and tars makes the little cigars basically the same as cigarettes. They have an acid base that makes them closer to cigarettes than cigars.

"So when a person buys a box of small cigars what he in effect has are brown cigarettes, and tv ads always show a great burst of inhaling to make that point absolutely clear."

Returning POWs To Use Johnson Hospital Suite

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — an excellent proposal for the fifth the Johnson family's returnees," said Israeloff, who lessing, the Army will use the carpeted 10-room suite of the man during the POW operation Lyndon Johnson for American prisoners of war who will be treated at Brooke General Hospital here.

The disclosure was made Friday by Col. Joseph Israeloff.

The suite has eight beds, tufted chairs, two console televisions, two desks for taking care of personal matters, a kitchen, domestic effects such as pictures and clocks and a tiled sun deck.

It is on the hospital's seventh floor, the top floor.

"A call was placed earlier his (Friday) morning to Mrs. Johnson informing her of the plans to use the presidential suite and she thought that was said, 'I hope so.'"

AT MONTHLY SESSION— UT Regents Issue Tribute To LBJ

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — University of Texas Regents have issued a statement honoring the late President Lyndon Johnson and expressing sympathy to his family.

"During all his private and public career he expressed concern for education not as a formal process but as a continuing challenge to self-realization and fulfillment in each American's life of obligation as well as opportunity ..."

Mrs. Johnson, a member of the board, was unable to attend the monthly regents meeting.

The board met on the University of Texas at Arlington campus and devoted much of the session to routine business.

Regents approved the sale of $3.5 million in bonds for the building of the fine arts complex at UTA and also gave the go-ahead for two new bachelor of arts programs at the university.

They also approved funds for expanding fuel storage facilities at UT-Austin and UT-Dallas to name buildings on that campus after three benefactors. The three are former Dallas Mayor Erik Jonsson, Eugene McDermott and Cecil H. Green.

A department of Medical Computer Science for the UT health science center in Dallas also won approval.

The regents accepted an $8.6-million grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for use in the construction of a new $25.9 million San Antonio dental school.

They announced preliminary plans for a new $2-million baseball field for UT-Austin and approved a construction contract for a $7.4-million college of education building there.

U.S. Judge Rules Against Former Uvalde Teacher

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — Former Uvalde, Tex., elementary school teacher Josue Garza is not entitled to monetary damages because he was not rehired by the Uvalde school system, a federal judge has ruled.

Garza claimed the Uvalde school board discriminated against him.

His dismissal was followed by a walkout of numerous Mexican-American pupils in the Uvalde school system in the spring of 1970. The walkout itself was followed by another suit, apparently not settled as yet, which charged the school system discriminated against Mexican-American pupils.

U.S. District Court Judge John Wood said in his judgment on record here that the decision not to rehire Garza "was based on an internal dispute between the plaintiff and his building principal relating to his performance of his duties as a cooperative member of the faculty of Robb Elementary School."

Wood said the decision was not "arbitrary and capricious and was not based on constitutionally impermissible reasons."

Odessa Attorney Bar Post Nominee

FORT DAVIS — Lucius D. Bunton, Odessa attorney, is a nominee for vice president of the State Bar of Texas.

Bunton is immediate past chairman of the State Bar board of directors and is a member of the executive committee.

Also nominated for the No. 2 post was Angleton attorney Wilcox Thomas, former president of the Brazoria County Bar Association.

Nominations were announced here Friday afternoon at a meeting of the board of directors by the Bar's executive director, H. C. Pittman of Austin.

Election by mail balloting will be held in April. The vice president will take office in July along with Leroy Jeffers of Houston who will succeed Jim D. Bowmer of Temple as president.

A native of Del Rio, Bunton has practiced law at Odessa since 1960. He received his academic and law degrees at The University of Texas and was admitted to the bar in 1949. He practiced law at Uvalde and Marfa and for six years was district attorney.

Shah's Ultimatum—

Jackson visited Iran, Saudi Arabia and other Middle East oil areas late last year. Upon his return, Jackson said in both Kuwait and Saudi he believes there is too much Arabia was approaching the optimism about the security of million-barrels-a-day mark.

"The desire of the nations of Co., on the one hand, and the Middle East to control their consortium known as the Iranian production and downstream Oil Production was back to 187,000 barrels a day by the end of that is greatly underestimated by year, exceeded 700,000 in 1957 the oil industry and the U.S. and broke the million-barrel government," he said.

Iran nationalized its petroleum industry in early 1951 when the then premier, Mohammed Mossadeq, evicted the British from the billion-dollar Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. At the time, Iran was the Middle East's leading oil producer at 700,000 barrels a day. By the time the Mossadeq regime fell in 1953, Iran was in financial chaos, was in danger of falling under the cold war influence of Russia, and her oil production was down to just 19,500 barrels a day.

SAYS McKAY— Pros Seeking College Coaches

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — John McKay, coach of the national champion Southern California Trojans, said the pros are going with college coaches because they want "rah-rah" among the players.
"Before, pro owners said they wouldn't hire a major college coach because professional players didn't want too much rah-rah stuff," McKay said here at a Kodak Coach of the Year coaching clinic. "Now they're firing coaches who don't have any rah-rah."

Dirt, Squirt & Quirt

Farm, Dairy And' Ranch News

Winter aimed another blow at Midland County this week, forcing area cotton farmers out of their fields once again, according to Charles Green, Midland County agent. However, most of the 1972 harvest has been completed.

Transporting livestock calls for numerous safety precautions at all times but even more so in the winter when low temperatures and adverse weather conditions present additional hazards. Green lists some pointers to consider in transporting livestock safely to reduce losses and injuries:

1. Allow animals time to recover from the stress of sorting and driving before loading them. Nervous, excited animals are hard to load.

2. Be sure to give the vehicle a thorough check. Ventilation is especially important and should be adjusted to the weather. In cold weather, drafts should be eliminated.

3. A non-skid floor in the vehicle cuts down livestock bruises and other injuries. It also eliminates the need for bedding although shavings, straw, sawdust or similar materials may be added to absorb moisture.

4. Partitions are important in longer vehicles or with mixed species and sizes of animals. They help prevent piling of the animals in case of a sudden stop and also discourage hogs and lambs from instinctive piling up to keep warm.

5. The loading chute should be solid and sturdy. This is important in reducing the loading stress of animals. Poor loading conditions increase the chance of "downers" and subsequent bruising, crippling or even death.

6. Use the right kind of persuaders and use them properly. Improper persuasion creates excitement (emotional stress) and results in excessive shrinkage, loss of market bloom and increased physical damage.

7. Avoid overloading the vehicle.

8. If the animals are to be hauled a considerable distance, stop at regular intervals and check the load.

Winter and early spring are the seasons most favorable for external parasite infestations in cattle. Green suggests that all animals be treated when the need arises for the control of these profit takers.

Lice, for example, can cause heavy economic losses in the form of loss in condition of the animals, a drop in milk production and if left to their own, they can in some cases cause the death of animals. Loss of hair, dark, dirty appearance of white areas, rubbing and licking are indicators that lice are present.

The pests can be controlled by the use of sprays, dips, dusts or rubbing devices, points out the county agent. But, he adds, it is of the utmost importance to use the proper concentration of the insecticide as recommended by the manufacturer.

Because of the restrictions on the use of chemicals in agriculture due to residue and other problems, Green advises stockmen to come by his office for a copy of MP-691, "Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry."

Soil tests are now available for certain micronutrients, says the county agent. Soil samples can be tested for zinc, iron and manganese at laboratories operated by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University and at the A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock.

In micronutrient tests, soils are rated as low, medium, or high for each nutrient, points out Green. If a deficiency is detected, suggested corrective measures will vary with the soil, crop and production potentials. For example, zinc fertilizers can be put in the soil while iron is generally added by foliar applications. On the other hand, most soils test high in manganese and few problems are encountered.

Although considerable variations exist, most soils generally have adequate supplies of zinc, iron and manganese. Yet, a confirmation on the status of micronutrients through a soil test will relieve the uncertainty a producer may have about the need for these plant nutrients, notes Green.

To have soils checked for micronutrients, special tests must be conducted in addition to the regular soil fertility tests. Thus the fee is $5 for each sample, rather than the $2 for a regular soil fertility test.

Information sheets and instructions for collecting and submitting soil samples are available at the County Extension Office, 201 Courthouse Annex.

Black Colleges Seek Students - Many Scholarships Available. Predominantly Negro colleges, especially church-related ones, always have been, and always will be, institutions of higher learning that are relevant to the academic, social and religious development of black people, according to Donald Webb, director of the Recruiting Cooperation Admission Center (TADC) which is located in Braniff Tower-B-116, Dallas. Willie Sanders Jr. is a recruiter for the center.

According to Julia Scott Reed, a black columnist for The Dallas Morning News, "both of these men recognize the plight of black colleges in a survival struggle against the onslaught of junior colleges and state supported institutions."

Disadvantaged black, white, brown or red youth who perhaps would not have an opportunity to attend college because of scholastic standing or financial status, especially those young people living in West Texas and Southeastern New Mexico, may contact this column, care of this newspaper, for more information.

Bob Tieuel

The colleges where many financial aids and scholarships are available now are: Bishop College, Dallas; Jarvis College of Hawkins; Paul Quinn College of Waco; Texas College of Tyler and Wiley of Marshall. All are fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and offer a liberal arts education through programs that lead to either a bachelor of arts or bachelor of science degree in a number of areas of study.

"Hill Fast to That Dream" Letter Recalled at Johnson's Death: As we drove over familiar trails from West Texas to Eastern New Mexico a few days ago and our car radio beamed the tragic passing of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, like millions of other Americans, we were stunned. Then we remembered a letter we had penned to the then President Johnson when he was at the height of his unpopularity because of his strong convictions on human rights, the war and other issues. We predicted then that "unborn generations would rise to call him blessed." This open letter will be published here soon. We still do.

From the Ghetto Line: Bell-ringers in the Midland-Odessa area report that plans are under way again to observe February as Race Relations Month with exhibits, teas and soul food tasting events. Afro-American History Week will be observed by many groups throughout the Southwest and the nation in February with Hobbs, N.M., getting a head start. Retired educator and civic leader of Hobbs and Dallas, Mrs. Eloise Valley Hatchett, was the featured speaker at a race relations meet last Sunday. She is to be our guest columnist here soon. Watch for it.

Urgent: Librarians in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico report that plans are under way again to observe February as Race Relations Month with exhibits, teas and soul food tasting events. Footnote: The Association for the Study of African-American Life and History will announce a much improved program of study and research in July. This non-profit organization started in D.C. 58 years ago. Don't forget, too, Soul Brothers and Sisters - this is black literature time. Visit your library and we are on our way to LBJ Library as we pen these lines.

Bulletin: The Clovis branch of the NAACP will have installed new officers by the time bell-ringers read this. Thanks for the invite, fellows.

Men Of 1776 Dreamed Of An Unique Future

One experimented with a kite and invented a stove, one designed the swivel chair and his famous home, one aptly described himself as often "obnoxious and disliked."

These are familiar associations with the men who wrote the Declaration of Independence: Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson and John Adams.

Midland Community Theatre's "1776," which opens Feb. 2, brings to life onstage the vitality of their personalities and their parts in this episode of American history.

Timely Maxims

Franklin's maxims in "Poor Richard's Almanac" are as timely today as when he wrote them: "There was never a good war or a bad peace."

He may not have actually spoken the opening lines of "1776": "I have come to the conclusion that one useless man is called a disgrace, that two are called a law firm and that three or more become a congress!"

GIBSON'S HAS SOMEONE WORKING FOR YOU

I'm Carolynn White, Gibson's Consumer Counselor

Have you ever wondered if stores really listen to what their customers want? Do you wonder if they care? Well, Gibson's cares!

Since going into business, we have strived to improve our stores and make them a better place to shop. You can cash your personal checks at our check stands and your payroll checks at our service desk... without making a purchase. You can use your BankAmericard or Master Charge card to charge any purchase, or use our convenient layaway plan. You can return any purchase that does not completely satisfy — even if you just change your mind. That's really caring about what the customer wants. Now, we are doing even more. We have organized a consumer panel to evaluate customer suggestions and criticism.

Gibson's wants to listen to you!

We want all our merchandise and services to be oriented to what you really want. We want you to speak out! We want to serve you pleasantly and efficiently. If we don't, please let us know! We take pride in setting goals to improve — just for you.

You may drop your suggestions in the boxes placed at convenient locations in our stores, or mail directly to General Offices, 405 W. Indiana, Midland. You may also call me at this number: 563-2234. If I'm not in, your suggestion will be recorded, and it will be given prompt attention with either a written reply or a phone call. Remember, I work AT GIBSON'S, but I work FOR YOU.
