Fourth Cutting of Alfalfa Hay This Week

The farmers in the irrigated district who have alfalfa hay are busy this week cutting and baling. Carload shipments were being forwarded this week. The hay is bringing about $15 per ton. We understand that Wm. S. F. Matthiesen is making about a ton and one-half to the acre this time. The Muleshoe country is adapted for alfalfa and the price is always good and the demand is great. Some day this crop alone is going to bring many thousands of dollars to the farmers of the irrigated district.

Musical Program Set for Sep. 6

Seven years ago Mme. Maude Powell, the late famous violinist, was in Texas and discovered a courteous young musician with talent. She offered him the position of accompanist on her tour which he accepted and made a big success.

After seven years of experience which has carried him to the four corners of the nation, the young artist, Francis Moore, formerly of Lubbock's sister city, El Paso, Texas, is coming back to his native state for a tour and he will be in Lubbock to give a piano recital Tuesday, September 6, during the South Plains Teachers Institute.

The artist is coming to Lubbock under the auspices of the South Plains Music Teachers Association. Miss Mary Dunn, president of the organization, has announced that the program will be held at the Texas Tech Pavilion, Over 2,000 teachers from 18 surrounding counties will be in Lubbock for the institute and a majority of the teachers will be expected to attend in addition to Lubbock and South Plains music lovers.

"His debut recital established Francis Moore as a pianist well above the rank and file," the New York World stated October 11th, 1921, following the recital which took the artist from the accompanists rank to a popular concert pianist. Other press comments written by the critics from the Evening Sun, Tribune, Herald, Evening Mail, Globe, Times, American, Evening World and other New York City papers paid high tribute to the success of the new artist.

The Times said: "Francis Moore had often assisted other artists here. Up to six months ago he was one of the many who wear 'the ball and chair' as accompanists, and for life. But he has become a popular soloist, if last night's spontaneous ovation may be believed. What obviously did take place was that Mr. Moore last evening played his program with rare finish, artistic poise and astounding success. An audience that packed New York's hall call him back for swift encores.

Poultry Show at Wichita Falls Attractive

Wichita Falls, Texas.—The special poultry catalog of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair has been issued and is going distributed to interested poultry exhibitors. These catalogs will also be mailed to anyone desiring same.

The poultry show at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair has come to be one of the biggest in either Texas or Oklahoma. At the first Exposition, five years ago, there exhibited only 386 birds. Last year there were 1,226 and indications point to approximately 2,000 entries this year. In addition to the Poultry Show there will be the turkey, the pigeon and the rabbit divisions. In each of these several hundred dollars in cash awards will be made.

Tri-State Exposition For Week Ending September 17th

Visitors to the Tri-State Exposition in Amarillo, starting Sunday, September 11, and ending the following Saturday, will be entertained absolutely free by one of the highest priced light opera companies now on the road—an organization which will cost the Exposition Management $8,000 for performances.

Directors of the Exposition have decided that Earnie Youngs Review, a musical comedy entertainment numbering between 80 and 100 people, mostly comely young women who sing and dance—and how! shall be presented free to grand stand spectators each evening.

This means that the three thousand seats in the huge amphitheatre at the fair grounds will be free—first come, first served. The only admission fee will be the 50c a head at the main gate to the grounds.

Boxes in the grand stand are to be reserved for season buyers for both matinees and evening, and the usual 75c admission fee will be charged in the grand stand for the Automobile races, but for Earnie Youngs' extravaganza each evening the amphitheatre will be free.

Young, being an authority on pulchritude, and knowing what the public wants in girl shows and reviews like he produces and puts on the road, sends word to the Fair Management that his 1927 edition is the niftiest thing he has ever brought out—colorful, tuneful, full of action, elaborately costumed and propped and with such a bevy of girls as he has never before assembled in any troupe.

The Exposition Management also has extended invitations to Gov. Dan Moody of Texas, Gov. Dillon of New Mexico and Gov. Johnson of Oklahoma to come to Amarillo for the inauguration of the Fair. Congressman Marvin Jones, Earnest O. Thompson and officers and directors of the Exposition have extended the invitations. It is anticipated that these executives will all be present when the Fair is launched September 11th.

Board of Trustees Announce Superintendent and Faculty

The Muleshoe school will open its doors on Monday, September 5th, for the beginning of the 1927-28 term under the superintendency of J. C. Jenkins, who will be supported by a faculty of nine teachers.

The board of trustees has been diligent in its efforts to secure a full faculty of men and ladies who are fully equipped and highly recommended as masters in the profession of teaching, and who come to us filled with enthusiasm and a desire to maintain and promote the high standard the school has already attained.

There can be but one more requirement necessary to keep the school on this high plane and to lead it on to still greater achievements and to make it one of the brightest stars in the constellation of schools of our great state. That requirement is the unqualified endorsement and co-operation of the patrons of the school. This we feel assured will be forthcoming and trust there will be not one individual who will cast the least hindrance in the way of any member of our new faculty.

The Journal proposes to be constantly on the job and to do all in its power to encourage and support the teachers in their efforts and to foster and promote the good will and co-operation of the patrons.

Following is the list of teachers and their respective places: Superintendent: John C. Jenkins.

Principal, D. L. Kendrick, Abilene.

English, Miss Grace Chapin, Petrolia.

Home Economics, Miss Annie Woods, Seymour.

Sixth and Seventh Grades, Mrs. H. Jay Wyre.

Fourth and Fifth Grades, Mrs. John C. Jenkins.

Second and Third Grades, Mrs. Ivan B. Mardis.

First Grade, Miss Edgar Mae Mengel, Clarendon.

Piano and Voice, Mrs. D. E. Keeney.

The board of directors are: Levi Pressly, president; R. J. Klump, secretary, treasurer; I. W. Harden, F. C. Skeeters, H. C. Henington, W. T. Black and J. J. Scribner.

Muleshoe Elevator Making Improvements

T. E. Arnold, manager of the Muleshoe Elevator Co., started a bunch of workmen Monday morning on the construction of his bins at the elevator. He is announcing that they will carry a full line of coal and dairy feeds. Chicken feeds in season.

Mr. Arnold is trying to keep abreast of the times by carrying everything the farmer is in need of in his line. See his ads in this issue of the Journal.

Oil Find in Mullican No. 2 Proves Shallow Oil Field

The grass roots sand of the Hale Center wildcat oil field topped Monday morning in the Mullican No. 2 with a fine showing of oil sand dispelled all doubts as to the actual oil find in the field. A shallow field is proven in the oil find in this well which is being drilled by the L. L. Donnel Petroleum Company, John Kegan et al., on the Mullican Ranch, being located in the north part of Section 21, Block B., R. M. Thompson survey. Just one location north and two west of the Mullican No. 1 or about 680 feet northwest.

Interest in the well is due to the striking of the same sand as was encountered in the Mullican No. 1 at approximately the same depth. It has convinced the oil fraternity that there is a shallow sand underlying that territory that gives very promising evidence of a pay sand either at that depth or at a lower depth. Major companies are buying protection acreage in the field and although there is no large acreage being purchased they have instructed scouts to keep close watch on developments and protect their interests. Leases are changing hands and major companies have expressed their confidence in the find by buying leases. The Gulf, Sinclair, Humble and others have each purchased or signed contracts for the purchase of leases in the territory.

The No. 2 Mullican which struck the sand at 405 feet has been drilled nine feet into the sand and every foot of this has been very promising, oil and water have been bailed from the hole and although it has not been determined as yet whether there is sufficient oil to be of commercial importance it proves that the No. 1 well did not encounter a pocket but that a sand exists at that depth at least several hundred feet in area lying between the two wells.

Underreaming is going on in the No. 2 today with a view of sinking the eight inch casing to the sand, cutting off the water and giving a firm seat so that a thorough test can be had. The well was cased to a depth of 335 feet when the sand was encountered, leaving an open hole to the sand.—Plainview News.

Good Rain Falls Over Part of County

The farmer and stockmen in the West Camp community and at Lariat are rejoicing over a splendid rain the first of the week. Muleshoe and the greater part of the county received a light shower. Indications as we go to press are fine for a rain. Let it come. All crops are doing nicely with the exception of corn, and it needs rain.

Whicker Reports $30,000 Oil Deal

According to recent advices from W. L. Wade, the Whicker Land Co. of Littlefield, closed one of the biggest oil deals the first of the week in the history of the West Plains. In the deal an undivided one-sixteenth royalty from 6000 acres of the Whicker holdings in the Landon Ranch was sold for a consideration of $30,000, or $5.00 per acre. The instruments to be recorded in connection with the deal had not arrived in Morton Wednesday evening, and it was impossible to get all of the full particulars of the deal, but it is understood that a Mr. Russell and other interests of Abilene, Texas, are the purchasing parties in the contract. A drilling contract was also included in the deal, but the probable date of the beginning of the test could not be ascertained. Mr. Wade says that he understands that the test will be started soon though.

This deal is epoch making in the oil history of the plains, and it was undoubtedly made possible through geological information obtained from the test last year on the Whicker holdings. This test was plugged at a depth of slightly over 1600 feet with a very promising formation in the bottom of the hole. J. C. Whicker, the senior member of the Whicker Land Co. has been a tireless worker for the past two years in his effort to get a thorough test of the West Plains. When the former test was abandoned, Mr. Whicker went immediately to Kansas City and began to work on getting another test started, and he is to be congratulated on the success with which his efforts have been rewarded.

The announcement of this deal comes at a time when it is probable that the most extensive oil play known in this territory is just beginning. Sunday announcement was made that one of the major companies had made a location and was shipping derrick material for a deep test in Bailey county, immediately north of Cochran county. Only last week the state of New Mexico sold a large body of leases across the line from Bledsoe with a drilling contract which assures a real test in that part of the country. Three other probable tests are now under consideration in Cochran county and the interest in the tested areas to the south and east is steadily increasing and advancing in this direction. Only last week the Mullican No. 2 struck the oil sand in Hale county at slightly over 400 feet to confirm the fact that a shallow pool exists in that area. Simultaneously a large gas well was brought in in Terry county, southeast of Bledsoe, in a heretofore unexplored area.—Bledsoe News.

Car Cantaloupe Shipped Saturday

Kay Nagamoto, Jap farmer on the Wm. S. F. Matthiesen farm, shipped a car of choice cantaloupe to an Amarillo firm Saturday. The Muleshoe cantaloupe is making a big hit this season. Orders are being received from all over the country. When they get one taste of the famous Muleshoe melon they never forget it. The greatest trouble with our cantaloupe project is the acreage is far too small to supply the demand.

City Making Big Reduction in Water Rate

Ivan B. Mardis, city secretary, is making the announcement in this week's paper of a substantial reduction in the water rate of the city of Muleshoe. The cut rate is effective now, it began the first of the week. There will be no excuse for the people in Muleshoe not having a beautiful yard and a good garden.

Lets take advantage of the cheap water rate and make Muleshoe the prettiest city on the Plains.

Will Muleshoe Have Exhibit in Show

Wichita Falls, Texas—Prospects are bright for twenty to thirty county exhibits at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair to be held here October 1st to 8th inclusive. Five counties have already assured Secretary-Manager R. E. Shephard that they will exhibit. Cash premiums in the county exhibit division total $3,000. In addition there will be other special awards. Total premiums for the Fair this year are approximately $13,000, while a larger amount is being spent for amusements. Thavli's band of fifty-two pieces will be one of the outstanding features in the entertainment program.

This is my auto, I shall not want; It maketh me lie down in muddy roads; It leatheth me into trouble; It draweth on my purse; I go into the path of debt for its sake. Yea, though I understand my car perfectly, I fear much evil, lest the radius rod or the axle break; It hath a blow-out in the presence of mine enemies. I anointeth the tire with a patch; the radiator bolleth over. Surely this thing will not follow me all the days of my life, or I shall dwell in the house of poverty FOREVER.

They Arrived at
Farrow Street
By ROSE MEREDITH
(Copyright.)

AMY FARROW was waiting for the last trolley car home. She had been spending the evening with one of her friends on the outskirts of the city, and had stayed later than she intended. Now she blamed herself for being so late—it had been a mistake to leave her grandmother alone, though Phoebe Riddle had promised to spend the evening with the old lady, and Phoebe was their best friend and next-door neighbor.

When at last it came she got in and settled down in a corner, for it would take fifteen minutes to reach the street where the Farrow lived.

The conductor thrust a grimy hand forward and Amy dropped a nickel in it, and went on thinking about Jane Mason, whose wedding presents she had come out to see this evening. Jane was to be married next week and the girls had been full of the coming event. Now that Amy was alone, her thoughts reverted to her own affairs—she might have been planning her own wedding if she had not broken her engagement to Billy Wakefield so long ago. It was perhaps a year since her father's sudden death at a critical point in his business affairs had brought utter ruin to the family—and when they had had to sell the large house and all of its contents and go to live in Granny's old-fashioned house, Mrs. Farrow had mourned so over her husband's failure and death that her own fragile health was weakened, and it was not long before she, too, joined her departed husband. That left Amy all alone with Grandmother Farrow in the old Farrow homestead.

Amy was very proud in those days, and because she could not bring money with her love, she had broken her engagement to Billy Wakefield, who was the son of the richest man in the state! Billy did not go near Amy again. She had taken a teaching position in a fashionable girls' school in the town, and she and granny lived comfortably enough.

At this point in her musings, the conductor came around for another fare and this time it was a different hand that was presented for payment—a clean-skinned, brown, muscular hand, wearing on the little finger a true lover's knot of twisted gold and platinum. It was a ring just like the one that Amy had given her lover when they became engaged—and which he had never returned to her.

Amy pulled the ten-cent piece from her purse, it slipped from her fingers and bounced out of the seat and fell somewhere on the floor.

"Oh, that is all I have!" declared Amy, looking up at the conductor, and then, starting fascinated, for the hands, some good-looking face was that of Billy Wakefield!

As for Billy, he stared at her from deep blue eyes, as if he could not speak.

"That is the last cent that I have with me," declared Amy in a faltering voice.

"Never mind—we will find it in the morning," and he fetched out the proper amount and put it in his pocket, as he rang up the fare, handing her a bright nickel in change.

"Thank you," said Amy. "You are quite sure that you can find the ten-cent piece in the morning?"

"Sure as can be," he said, and touching his cap went to the front of the car.

After awhile the last passenger got off, and Amy was left alone. As she sat there, she wondered why Billy Wakefield should be working for the trolley company—she had not heard that Mr. Wakefield had failed.

Just then, Billy Wakefield, looking so smart and trim in his new dark blue uniform, came down the car again and removed his cap.

"There is another fare due, Miss Farrow," he said in a low tone, and then Amy, her eyes hidden under long lashes, dropped the nickel in his extended palm. His hand closed on her small one and he bent over the seat.

"Amy," he said tensely, "are you happy, dear?"

"No, Billy, never without you!" she said with a little sob in her voice.

"Then," whispered Billy, slipping into the seat beside her, "will you marry me, Amy?"

"Yes, Billy," she whispered, her tear-wet cheek against his.

"You don't mind my being a trolley conductor?"

"I just don't care at all—about anything except you!"

"You haven't asked once why I am on this car," accused Billy after awhile. "Have you heard that the Wakefield fortune is a thing of the past?"

"No! I hadn't heard!" declared Amy. "I am sorry for your father and mother, Billy—it is hard for old people to be deprived of—"

"Futsh, my love," declared Billy. "The Wakefield millions still stand, firm as a rock—I am doing this job on a bet with dad who is a big stockholder, and all the money I earn goes into the trolleyman's union fund! Next week I have to go back to the office again—do you still love me, Amy?"

"Always—Billy, I cannot help it," she confessed, and then the motor-man rang out—

"Farrow street!"

So Amy could dream of wedding him, all over again!

The Shrieking Paper Dollar

ANDREW MELLON HONORS ALEXANDER HAMILTON

By ELA J. JOHNSON

FOR the second time since Alexander Hamilton, first secretary of the treasury, established our currency system, a radical change is to be made in the size of our paper money, according to orders that have been issued by Andrew W. Mellon, present secretary of the Treasury.

The other change occurred in 1861 when the smaller bills of Civil War "rain-plaster" fame were introduced. These smaller bills, however, were used only a short time and then the regulation size was resumed. Now the size of all bills is to be reduced again and they will be a third smaller than they are today and somewhat different in design. The present size of paper currency is 7 1/2 by 3 1/2 inches. The new size will be 5 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches.

There are two main reasons for the change in size. One is convenience and the other is economy. The smaller note will generally fit into pockets without being folded, a thing which is not possible with the present bills. It will also be easier to handle since it will fit more neatly into the hand of the counter, without cramping the hand, as the present bills do, and can be manipulated more rapidly. The economical reason is a double one. The frequent folding and creasing of the present size currency eventually breaks the fibers of the paper and makes it deteriorate more rapidly. But the principal reason is the saving in manufacture. Under the present system of printing money, the faces of the backs of eight notes are engraved on one plate and printed at one impression. The new size currency will require 12 notes to be made from one plate and 12 can be printed on the same size sheet of paper which formerly printed only eight. Mr. Mellon estimates that this will mean an annual saving of $2,000,000 in the manufacture of money.

Back of this contemplated change there is an interesting story, for the advantage of the smaller-size money was discovered by accident. Twenty-five years ago, when Spain ceded the Philippines to the United States in the treaty which ended the Spanish-American war, it became necessary for our government to furnish the Philippines with a distinctive currency. For some reason which has never been explained, the government bureau of engraving and printing designed a currency in which 12 bills could be printed from the plates from which were printed eight of our bills. The Filipinos were satisfied with this handy currency and it has been supplied to them steadily for the last quarter of a century. During the many years of American occupancy of the Philippines many of our people who have been sent to the islands, civil and military officials, school teachers and the like, have handled the Philippine currency. When they returned home and began using the clumsy bills which they found here, they were struck by the difference, and almost invariably they uttered a protest that the Philippine size was better than our own. So frequent were these protests that at last the Treasury department began to take notice of them, and two years ago when a treasury committee began a study of currency problems, the first thing it considered was a change in size. Bundles of paper were cut up in the Philippine size, and these dummy notes were distributed to federal reserve banks for experiments by tellers and other officials of the banks. The result was that the federal reserve banks reported unanimously in favor of the smaller size bank notes. The bureau of engraving and printing also favored the change because of the economy in manufacture already noted. The result was the order issued by Secretary Mellon recently.

and as a result we now have five different kinds of $10 bills. Under the new plan the national bank notes will be done away with. Silver certificates are to be used for $1 bills only, and there will be no silver certificates of any other denomination. The United States notes, which are the greenbacks of the Civil War period, will be merged into $5 bills of the new currency and there will be only one type of $5 bill. Gold certificates and federal reserve notes will be used only for the higher denominations, the $10 bills, the $20's, $100's and $1,000's. Still another change will be in the matter of the pictures used on the bills. On many of them are portraits of people unknown to the public. More than that, the same picture may be on a $1 bill and on a $20 bill. This causes confusion and sometimes leads to mistakes. Under the new system the pictures of Presidents only will be used. For instance, Washington is to appear on the $1 bills, Lincoln on the $5 bills, Jefferson, probably, will be on the $10 bill, Grant may get the $20 one, Cleveland the $50 bill, Roosevelt the $100, and Wilson the $1,000. That will not take place, however, until next summer. Government manufacture of money is a complicated process and the dollar bills make up more than half of our paper currency. Some 800 tons of them at present are distributed each year. The bills of this denomination will be the first to appear in the new size. Next will be produced the $20 bills and the government will work up and down from these two, but it will take two or three years to replace all of the revised denominations in circulation. Treasury experts state that there are always about a billion bills in circulation. On an average these bills last a year before they wear out and have to be replaced. Of course, the $1 bills wear out most quickly, so that by starting the new system with $1 bills and sending them out to replace the worn-out $1 bills, the first step in introducing the new currency will be taken. The treasury has warned the public that advance specimens cannot be furnished since the new bills are released simultaneously in all parts of the country.

Hearty Meals in Java

When you dine in Java you have the "rit-travel" (rice table), which starts with a deep dish partly filled with rice and ends with such a sense of rejection that one is apt to be unfit for any activity for several hours. After one's plate has received its portion of rice, there comes a big parade of native servants, each bearing something in a dish. There are fish of various kinds, eggs—fried or omelette form—beef and birds, peppers, nutmeg, coconut, chopped nuts, curry and many other delicacies. The Hollanders who rule Java eat the "rit-travel" daily and survive.

Bandits Change Bus Routes
Harassing Bedouin bandits are interrupting auto bus services across the Syrian desert. Reports that they were active near Damascus caused the proprietors of the Beirut-Bagdad line to detour to Palmyra. Heavy rains on the Lebanon mountains caused another shift to the Beirut-Tripoli-Palmyra-Tarabul-Bagdad route, a much longer distance. With the melting of the snows the route will be changed again, but the Bedouins still keep the busses from direct travel between Damascus and Iraq. Many travelers fear to venture on the route.

How Ceylonese Pearl Diver Gathers Oysters

The lot of the ceylon pearl diver is not an easy one. Stones are suspended on a diving rope over an outrigger projected from the boat's side in such a convenient position as to allow the diver to place one foot within a loop affixed to the stone.

The diver having placed himself with one foot on the stone, with a net around his neck to hold oysters, draws in his breath, closes the nostrils with one hand, and raises his body with a give force to the descent.

This done, he jerks the rope, which is pulled up by the man up in charge, and the contents of the net are discharged into the boat; the diver meanwhile rises to the surface.

The Muleshoe Journal

R. B. BOYLE, Editor

$1.50 per year

The crop condition in Bailey county and adjoining territory is very promising at this time. In spite of the late spring rains and the delay in planting, crops in general are looking fine. Sudan harvest has started. All the grain sorghums are late but looking fine. Light rains have fallen over the greater part of the territory and corn is looking better. A good rain will make a bumper crop for us. Truck gardens and irrigated products are looking fine.

Many acres of land have been planted to wheat, and thousands of acres are ready for the drill. We were informed by our implement dealer that all the wheat drills he could get were sold and delivered. The Muleshoe country is rapidly gaining ground as a real wheat producing country. Watch our reports next spring when the harvest starts.

Schools all over the county will begin Monday. Let every man and woman that can possibly get away from his or her work go and help make a good opening. We would like to see every school in Bailey county start off with full co-operation of teachers, parents, children and board of directors. Let's go to school Monday.

Interest over the county in oil leasing has taken on new life since the Humble-Fuqua announcement came out week before last. This test will spud in during the next few days. Bailey county is due quite an oil scare this fall and winter.

The recent reduction made by the city cads in the quantity water rate should be an encouragement to every home owner in our little city to plant shrubs, evergreens, shade trees, hardy vines and roses, and grow a lawn this fall. With an abundance of cheap water Muleshoe can be made as beautiful as Roswell, and it is up to those living here to make the start now—THIS FALL. Nurserymen advise us that fall planting is far better than spring planting.

Communities and individual farm booths must be spoken for not later than September 20th. The building and grounds committee must know how many booths to have ready. Let us know so you and the committee and the public will not be disappointed.

Do You Make This Mistake

One of the worst mistakes of which people are guilty is that of acting without giving a matter proper consideration. So much of importance may be involved in the very least things we do that it pays, even in small decisions, to use thoughtful and deliberate judgment. The thinking must come first, however. It's too late to change after the thing is done.

Have you ever failed to consider properly just what you should do for your home newspaper when you have a chance to help it or hinder it? After all, what is a town without a good newspaper? That needs no answer. It just wouldn't be a town—that's all. Then isn't it the duty of progressive citizens, interested in their town's welfare, to boost and help the newspaper when it doesn't bring extra cost to them, but merely requires that they stop and consider properly? We believe so. The Journal has been on the job in Muleshoe four years. Not only have we always sought to give the people a good newspaper, but we have established a record for doing expert printing, fine job printing at prices which harmonize with the peoples idea of economy and good service. Why not stop and consider this properly when you have printing of any kind to be done? By doing so, it will strengthen your town's newspaper, without which no town would ever go very far.

Next time you need printing have it done by the Muleshoe Journal.

It Used to be "Long Green;" Will be "Short Green" Soon

Speak of "long green" and nearly everybody will know you are talking about money—those one dollar and five dollar bills which Uncle Sam issues as his promise to pay in gold or silver, as you prefer. But it won't be long now until the term "short green" bill have to be substituted for the more familiar name, because for the second time since Alexander Hamilton established our currency system a radical change is made in our paper money.

Of course, this new money may not be any easier to get than before, but after you get it, it's going to be easier to count and easier to handle. And if you'd like to know why it will be, as well as many other interesting facts about money which you may never have known before, don't miss the illustrated feature article, "The Shrinking Paper Dollar" by Elmo Scott Watson, in this issue of the Journal.
