AAA MEMBERSHIP DRIVE TO BE MADE SATURDAY BY HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Students to Be Divided Into Groups. Drive Will last 2 Weeks; Over 100 Expected.

A drive will begin Saturday of this week for new members for the South Plains Automobile Club, which is affiliated with the American Automobile Association. The drive will be made by the High School students and a percent of the membership fees will go to the Athletic Association.

The students are to be divided into groups, each group having a captain. Each group will have its quota of members to secure for the Club, and it is understood that the group finish-first will be given a big chicken dinner.

There are already some thirty or more Three-A members in Muleshoe and surrounding territory, but for the benefit of those who are not familiar with the Club or its benefits we give the following information:

At all AAA Stations, discounts on purchases are allowed as follows: Gasoline, 2 cents per gallon; oil, 5 cents per quart; tires, tubes and accessories, 10 percent. Besides this discount on purchases you are given a $3,000 Travel Accident policy, written by an old line company. There is also towing service, legal service and numerous others for AAA members and the fee is only $12.00 per year. The discount on gasoline and oil alone is well worth the price of membership, so don't get the idea that you are making a donation to the students, for you are getting your money's worth.

The drive will last two weeks and there should be at least an additional one hundred automobile owners here to take advantage of this opportunity to help the High School students while helping themselves save money. We wish to call your attention to the AAA advertisement which appears elsewhere in this issue of The Journal.

FRANCE HAS AIR POLICE

A decree creating an air police force has been signed by the President of France. Airplanes will be employed by this new branch of the police service under the Minister of the Interior. Certain duties are to "Report on infractions of pilots, warn, identify and pursue delinquents, and constrain them to land." The police plane will make use of black smoke signals to inform the delinquent pilot to follow the police plane to the ground.

High School Team Will Play Next Game at Friona

The football squad of the Muleshoe High School will go Friona Friday, where they will play their next scheduled game. The boys are getting into fine shape and are playing a good brand of football. All fans who possibly can are requested to make the trip with the team. Other games at early dates are:

Sudan, November 1st; Dimmitt at Muleshoe, November 8th; Muleshoe at Vega, November 15th.

Mrs. D. B. Doak of Lubbock spent Sunday with Mrs. W. B. Hicks.

Miss Lottie Huke of Amarillo spent Sunday with friends here.

REDS' STOCK JUMPS

Stock of the Cincinnati National league baseball club, of $50 par value, which recently jumped from $30 to $125 a share after it was rumored Jack Hendricks might be replaced as the Reds' manager, reached a record high at $210 when Hendricks tendered his resignation.

LADIES MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Ladies Missionary Society of the M. E. Church met at the home of Mrs. Douglass with twelve members present. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Mardis as president, Mrs. Hicks being absent.

There being no business to come before the society, the lesson in our study book was taken up and enjoyed by each one. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Johnson. The hostess served hot coffee, sandwiches and wafers, which each one enjoyed very much and as each departed they declared the hostess a fine entertainer and each enjoyed the afternoon very much.

The next meeting will be at Mrs. Hardin's in the country.

LAZBUDDIE MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Lazbuddie Missionary Society held their regular meeting at the school October 23rd with twelve members present. Our program was short but we are taking up the study of 1200 Bible questions by J. J. Hill, and I think we will all be more interested. Although we are new to the work, we are a very live society. We have sent in our quarterly report and we think it is very good. Mrs. C. E. Merriott as Superintendent of Social Service reports:

One box of piece goods and toilet articles valued at $20.00 was sent to Virginia K. Johnson Home and Training school for girls at Dallas, Texas, and also $2.25 cash was sent to the same place.

We met October 8th and quilted two quilts for Buckner's Orphans Home in Dallas, valued at $15.00. We have paid sick calls taking with us dainties such as oranges, jelly, peaches, grapes and flowers. Every member please be present at our next meeting October 24th. Boost the W. M. S.

Land Cultivated By T. M. Hester Yields Big Crop

Levelland, Texas.—Land that T. M. Hester plowed from ten to twelve inches deep three years ago on his farm near Cobland, Hockley county, made twice as much corn per acre this year as land plowed shallow at that time. The land has been handled the same and has grown the same crops since that time. W. T. Magee, county agent, states:

Wheat on the deep plowed land was six inches taller and much heavier than that on ordinary land. Mr. Hester follows the practice of listing his land early, from 10 to 12 inches deep the first time, and then plants in the middles after busting rather shallow. Such fields have withstood the droughts very well.

Word has been received here of the death of Clinton Jackson, 17-year-old son of S. P. Jackson, who was a former resident of the YL community. Cary, younger brother of Clinton was also near death the first of the week, but is expected to recover. Clinton and two other boys were killed almost instantly when at truck in which they were riding collided with a freight train on account of an elevator building close to the crossing.

The Jackson family lived here for several years and had many friends in this section of the country who will be sorry to hear of this misfortune.

JIM AND "MA" HAVE PLATFORM; SHOULD THEY RUN FOR GOVERNOR?

A statement from Jas. E. Ferguson for publication is to the effect that they have received many requests from the people suggesting that either he or Mrs. Ferguson make the race for governor next year. Mr. Ferguson also states that they have no desire to run for public office, but in the event that they did, they would advocate radical changes in some of the existing laws of the state. The platform in part is as follows:

"A business administration that will be in the interest of all people without special privilege to anybody to oppress the masses. To this end I would veto any liquor legislation whether urged by the anti to repeal present laws or by the pros to pass new laws.

Lubbock, Texas.—Ten thousand West Texas fans are expected to be in Lubbock Saturday, October 26, to see Coach Francis Smith's T. C. U. Frogs and Texas Tech's Matadors play their annual game. It is the first time that the purple and white machine has ever journeyed to the South Plains, and from all indications a crowd even greater than the Tech-A. & M. game three years ago will be on hand for the initial kick-off.

Lone Star Theatre Building New Play House in Muleshoe

Work started this week on the building of the Lone Star Theatre, preparatory to installing talking pictures. Numerous changes are necessary in the building in order to get the best sound effects and this part of the work will be completed possibly this week.

C. C. Brooks, owner of the show, informs us that the contract calls for completion of the installation by November 15th. The mechanical work is being done by the Kippo Radio Corporation of America, and it is understood that workmen will come to this place from Littlefield, where one of the same machines has been purchased.

After the new machine is put into operation, it will be possible for Muleshoe to see and hear the same talking pictures as are shown in the city show houses. The Kippo Radio Corporation equipment is as good as the best and local citizens are promised some good programs.

The usual show will be given this week, and for Friday and Saturday, "The Wolf of Wall Street."

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER X—In the hospital, recovering, Athol learns from Doogan, a fellow patient, that Berna is in the greatest danger from Locasto. Athol steals from the hospital and goes to the Win-klestein cabin. There he faces Locasto but is unable to save Berna. After a long convalescence Athol learns that Berna is still living with Locasto as his mistress, and he goes to the dance hall. Locasto having left Dawson, in the Trovit dance hall Athol finds Berna.

... all over but the shouting. From my calculations we've cleaned up two hundred and six thousand dollars. That's a hundred and three between us four. It's cost us about three to get out the stuff; so there will be, roughly speaking, about twenty-five thousand for each of us."

"How jubilant every one was looking—every one but me. Somehow I felt as if money didn't matter just then, for I was sick, sick."

"Why, what's the matter?" said the Prodigal, staring at me curiously. "You look like a ghost." "I feel like one, too," I answered. "I'm afraid I'm in for a bad spell. I want to lie down awhile, boys. . . . I'm tired. . . . The first of June, I've got a date on the first of June. I must keep it, I must. . . . Don't let me sleep too long, boys. I mustn't fail. It's a matter of life and death. The first of June. . . ."

Alas, on the first of June I lay in the hospital, raving and tossing in the clutches of typhoid fever.

CHAPTER X

I was lying in bed, and a heavy weight was pressing on my chest, in spite of my struggles, I could not move. I was hot, insufferably hot. The blood ran boiling through my veins. My flesh was burning up. My brain would not work. I was all cobwebs, murky and stale as a charnel house. Then came the dreams. There was always Berna. Through a mias of grinning, green-colored faces gradually there formed and lingered her sweet and pensive one. I struggled to go to her. She was waiting for me, breaking her heart at my delay. Then the fever, the ravings, the wild thrashing of my pillow, all passed away, and I was left limp, weak, helpless, resigned to my fate.

I was on the sunny slope of convalescence. As I turned and twisted on my narrow cot it seemed as if the three would never pass. All I wanted was to get better fast, and to get out again. Then, I thought, I would marry Berna and go "Outside." I was sick of the country, of everything.

I was lying, thinking over these things, when I became aware that the man in the cot to the right was trying to attract my attention. He had been brought in that very morning, said to have been kicked by a horse. He was in great pain, but quite conscious, and he was making stealthy motions to me.

"Say, mate," he said, "I piped you off soon's I set me lamps on you. Don't you know me?" I looked at the bandaged face wonderingly. Then, with a great start, I saw it was the Worm.

"I ain't no horse done me up," he said in a hoarse whisper; "I was a man. You know de man, de worst devil in all Alaska, Black Jack. Bad luck to him! He knocked me down and give me de leather. But I'm goin' to get even some day. I'm just laying for him."

The man's eyes glittered vengefully between the white bandages. "Twas all on account of de little girl he done it. You know de girl I mean. Black Jack's dead stuck on her, an' de farder she stand him off de more set he is to get her. Youse don't know dat man."

"Tell me what's the matter, for Heaven's sake."

"Well, when youse didn't come, de little girl she got worried. I used to be doin' chores round de restaurant, an' she asks me to take a note up to you. So I said I would. But I got on a drunk dat day, an' for a week after I didn't draw a sober breath. When I gets around again I told her I'd seen you an' given you de note an' you was comin' in right away."

"Heaven forgive you for that."

"Yep, dat's what I say now. But it's all too late. Well, a week went on an' you never showed up, an' meantime Locasto was pesterin' her cruel. She got mighty peaked like, pale as a ghost, an' I could see she cried most all her nights. Den she gives me another note. I said she could lay on me dis time. I was de hurry-up kid" an' I starts off. But Black Jack must have cottoned on, for he meets me back of de town an' takes me wid takin' a message. Den he sets on me like a wild beast an' does me up good and proper. But I'll fix him yet."

"Where are the notes?" I cried. "In de pocket of me coat. Tell de nurse to fetch in me clothes, an' I'll give dem to youse."

The nurse brought the clothes. There were the notes, folded very small, and written in pencil. There was a strange faintness at my heart, and my fingers trembled as I opened them. Fear, fear was clutching me, compressing me in an agonizing grip. Here was the first.

"My Darling Boy: Why didn't you come? I was all ready for you. Has anything happened to you, dear? For Heaven's sake write or send a message. I can't bear the suspense."

"Berna."

Blankly, dully, almost mechanically, I read the second.

"Oh, come, my dear, at once. I'm in serious danger. He's grown desperate. Swears if he can't get me by fair means he'll have me by force. I'm terribly afraid. Why have you failed me? Oh, my darling, have pity on your poor little girl. Come quickly before it is too late."

It was unsigned.

Heavens! I must go to her at once. I was well enough. I was all right again. Why would they not let me go to her? I was strong, so strong now.

Hal! there were the Worm's clothes. It was after midnight. The nurse had just finished her rounds. All was quiet in the ward.

Dizzily I rose and slipped into the frayed and greasy garments. There were the hospital slippers. I must wear them. Never mind a hat.

I was out in the street. I shuffled along, and people stared at me, but no one delayed me. I was at the restaurant now. She wasn't there. Ah! the cabin on the hill.

I was weaker than I had thought. Many times I stumbled, cutting myself on the sharp boulders. The way seemed endless, yet stumbling, staggering on, there was the cabin at last.

On my hands and knees, I crawled to the door and hammered with clenched fists. There was silence within, then an agitated movement. I knocked again. Was the door ever going to be opened? At last it swung inward, with a suddenness that precipitated me inside the room.

The madam was standing over me where I had fallen. At sight of me she screamed. Surprise, fear, rage, struggled for mastery on her face.

"Berna," I gasped hoarsely. "Where is she? I want Berna. What are you doing to her, you devils? Give her to me. She's mine, my promised bride. Let me go to her, I say."

All at once I realized that the air was heavy with a strange odor, the odor of chloroform. Frenzied with fear, I rushed forward.

Then the Amazon roused herself. With a cry of rage she struck me. Savagely both of them came for me. I struggled, I fought; but, weak as I was, they carried me before them and threw me from the door. I heard the lock shoot; I was outside; I was impotent. Yet behind those log walls. . . . Oh, it was horrible! Could such things be in God's world? And I could do nothing.

I was strong once more. I ran round to the back of the cabin. She was in there, I knew. I rushed at the window and threw myself against it. Crash! I burst through both sheets of glass. I was cruelly cut, bleeding in a dozen places, yet I was half into the room. There, in the dirty, drab light, I saw a face, the fiendish, rage-distorted face of Locasto.

"He turned at the crash. With a curse he came at me. Then, my hand hung half in, half out of the window, he clutched me by the throat. Using all his strength, he raised me further into the room, then he buried me ruthlessly out onto the rocks outside.

I rose, reeling, covered with blood, blind, sick, speechless. Weakly I staggered to the window. My strength was leaving me. I felt the world go blank. I prayed; I clutched at the walls; I felt.

I had lost!

"No, no, I'm all right. Really I am. Please leave me alone. You want me to laugh? Ha! There! Is that all right now?"

"No, it isn't all right. It's very far from all right, my boy."

It was in the big cabin on Gold Hill, and the Prodigal was addressing me. He went on:

"Now, look here, kid. I'm giving you a straight line of talk. Ever

The Trail of '98

"Yes, I know; there was that girl. As I cumped there by your bedside listening to your ravings, and getting a struggle-hold on you when you took it into your head to get funny, you blubbed on the edge of your ears. Oh, boy, why didn't you tell your uncle? Why didn't you put me wise? I could have given you the right steer. But you kept mum as a mummy. Wouldn't even tell your old pard. Now you've lost her."
 "Yes, I've lost her."
 "Did you ever see her after you came out of the hospital?"
 "Once, once only. It was the first day. I dragged along wearily, leaning on a stick. I was thinking of her, thinking, thinking always. Then suddenly she was before me. She looked like a ghost, poor little thing."
 "Yes, what did she say?"
 "Say? she said nothing. She just looked at me. Her face was cold as ice. She looked at me as if she wanted to pity me. Then into her eyes there came a shadow of bitterness, of bitterness and despair such as might gloom the eyes of a lost soul. It unnerved me. Then she drew a great, gasping breath, and turning on her heel she was gone."
 "She cut you?"
 "Yes, cut me dead, old fellow. And my only thought was of love for her, eternal love. But I'll never forget the look on her face as she turned away. It was as if I had lashed her with a whip. My God!"
 "And you've never seen her since?"
 "No, never. That was enough, wasn't it? I went back to the ward; then, in a little, I came on here. My body was living, but my heart was dead. It will never live again."
 "Oh, no! You mustn't let the thing down you like that. It's going to kill you in the end. Buck up! Be a man! If you don't care to live for yourself, live for others. Anyway, it's likely all for the best. Maybe love had you fooled. See now how she lives openly with Locasta!"
 I rose and looked at him, conscious that my face was all twisted with the pain of the thought.
 "Look here," I said, "never did God put the breath of His spirit in a better girl. There's been foul play. I know that girl better than anyone in the world, and if every living being were to tell me she wasn't good I would tell them they lied, they lied. I would burn at the stake upholding that girl!"
 He looked at me thoughtfully.
 "I say, old man, do you ever hear from your old lady?"
 "Every mail."
 "Why not go back? That's your proper play; go back to your mother. She wants you. You're pretty well healed now. You'll be comfortable; you'll devote yourself to the old lady; you'll be happy again. I hate to see you go. I'm really sorry to lose you; but it's your only salvation, so go, go!"
 "Never had I thought of it before. Home! how sweet the word seemed. Mother! yes, mother would comfort me as no one else could. She would understand. Mother and Garry! A sudden craving came over me to see them again. Home! that was the solution of it all. Ah me! I would go home."
 "Yes," I said, "I can't go too soon; I'll start tomorrow."
 So I rose and proceeded to gather together my few belongings. In the early morning I would start out.
 Jim came in and sat down quietly. The old man had been very silent of late. Back in Dawson, there was a man whom he hated with the hatred that only death can end, but for the peace of his soul he strove to conquer it.
 "I've been a-thinkin' out a scheme," said Jim suddenly. "An' I'm goin' to put all of that twenty-five thousand of mine back into the ground. I can't quit this minin' business."
 "What's your scheme, Jim?"
 "It's just this: I'm goin' to install a hydraulic plant on my Ophir creek claim. I'm goin' to begin a new era in Klondike minin'!"
 "What are you going to do?"
 "Well, I've written out for piping an' a monitor, an' next spring I hope I'll have the plant in workin' order. The stuff's on the way now. Hullo! Come in!"
 The visitors were Mervin and Hewson on their way to Dawson. These two men had been successful beyond their dreams. They were offensively prosperous; they reeked of success.
 As I went on with my packing I paid but little heed to their talk. What mattered it to me now, this babble of dumps and dust, of claims and clean-ups? I was going to thrust it all behind me, blot it clean out of my memory, begin my life anew.
 Then all at once I pricked up my ears. They were talking of the town, of the men and women who were making it famous (or rather infamous), when suddenly they spoke the name of Locasta.
 "He's gone off," Mervin was saying; "gone off on a big stampede. He got pretty thick with some of the Peel River Indians, and found they knew of a ledge of high-grade, free-milling quartz somewhere out there in the Land Back of Beyond. So he's off with an Indian and one companion, that little Irish satellite of his, Pat Doogan. They'll be away all winter."
 "What's become of that girl of his?" asked Hewson, "the last one he's been living with? You remember she came in on the boat with us. Poor little kid! That was a good little girl before he got after her!"

 Hewson growled like a wrathful bear, but Mervin smiled his cynical smile.
 "Oh, you mean the Madonna," he said; "why she's gone on the dance halls."
 They continued to talk of other things, but I did not hear them any more. I was in a trance, and I only aroused when they rose to go.
 "Better say good-bye to the kid here," said the Prodigal; "he's going to the old country tomorrow."
 "No, I'm not," I answered sullenly; "I'm just going as far as Dawson."
 He stared and expostulated, but my mind was made up. I would fight, fight to the last.
 * * * * *
 Berna on the dance halls—words cannot convey all that this simple phrase meant to me. For two months I had been living in a dull apathy of pain, but this news galvanised me into immediate action.
 For although there were many degrees of dance-hall depravity, at the best it meant a brand of ineffaceable shame. She had lived with Locasta, had been recognized as his mistress—that was bad enough; but the other—to be at the mercy of all, to be classed with the harlots that preyed on the Man with the Pike, the vampires of the gold camp. Berna—Oh, it was unspeakable! The thought maddened me.
 Bidding good-bye to the big cabin, with my two partners looking ruefully after me, I struck off down Bonanza. All I thought of was Dawson and Berna.
 I would make Berna marry me. I cared nothing for what had happened to her, I might be a pariah, an outcast for the rest of my days; at least I would save her, shield her, cherish her. The thought uplifted me, exalted me. What did it matter if physically they had wronged her? Was not the pure, virgin soul of her beyond their reach?
 I was just in time to see the last boat go out.

 to maintain the outstanding quality and dependability of The Chevrolet Six

In spite of the fact that a million Chevrolet Sixes have already been placed in the hands of owners, and have proved their performance and stamina by billions of miles of service over every type of highway the nation affords—the Chevrolet Motor Company continues to take new Chevrolet Sixes from the assembly line at the factory and subject them to pitiless testing on the roads of the General Motors Proving Ground! This passion for proof—this consistent refusal to accept any tests as final—is one of the fundamental reasons for the overwhelming popularity of Chevrolet cars. For in no other way is it possible to make the Chevrolet Six so sound in design and materials—so dependable in performance—and so economical to operate!

If you are considering the purchase of an automobile, come in and see the new Chevrolet. You will find that it is more than a Six in the price range of the four. In every way it is a finer car than you ever thought possible in the low-price field!

This week the Texas Utilities Company joins with other large organizations and the country as a whole in honoring Thomas A. Edison.

Getting nearer home, however, a word of praise is due the organization which has helped to make the Plains country what it is today.

Electric service of the very best is one of the greatest inducements to prospective settlers, and a large part of the credit for the rapid building up of the Plains is due the Utilities Company which has served the communities so faithfully.

UNBALANCED DIET COSTS MATADOR MAN 75 TURKEYS

Matador, Texas.—It cost a farmer in Matador county $200 recently to learn to feed his flock of 200 turkeys a balanced ration, according to M. P. Learning, county agent.

An abundance of blister bugs were discovered by the turkeys and being starved for animal food they cleaned up the insects. The next morning the young turkeys were sick and drooping and within a week more than 75 had died.

PECAN OIL FROM WASTE

Pecan oil, described by chemists of the United States Department of Agriculture, as of very mild, agreeable, and characteristic flavor, is one of the latest additions to the long list of products manufactured from what were formerly farm wastes.

Fine nut fragments accumulated at the pecan shelling plants. Chemists have made experimental pressings of this waste and determined the properties and composition of the oil. This oil is of excellent quality and can be used for making salad dressings or other edible products.

Travis County is to have a new court house to cost $600,000. The old structure which it will supplant is one of the ancient buildings of the State capital.

GIRL, 8 YEARS OLD, IS MUSIC PRODIGY

English Maid Has Composition Published.

Bexhill-on-Sea, England.—Life is becoming just one child "phenom" after another. Novels, poems, long stories, short stories, biographies, fake biographies and what not from, or alleged from, the hands and heads of child "phenoms," ranging from four to sixteen years, are being published every few days.

Her name is Ruth Gipps. She is eight years old, which is rather aged compared to most of the child prodigies who have broken into print, but she was making herself heard, literally and figuratively, when she was three years old and she demonstrated that she was a true child "phenom" when she submitted a story for publication at seven.

There is nothing of the "prodigy" about Ruth's temperament. When she was introduced to her publisher she was in a bathing costume, playing with a bucket and spade on the sands at Eastbourne.

Sword of Franklin Is Discovered in Paris

Paris.—The long-drawn-out polemics and discussions as to whether Benjamin Franklin ever wore a sword at the courts of France and England have been solved by the discovery of the weapon in the private collection of M. Honoré Hequet d'Orval, a descendant of P. J. Cahanis.

It was presented to M. Cahanis by Franklin shortly after the conclusion of the treaty of peace by which Great Britain recognized the independence of the United States of America.

Rust-Proof Steel Easy to Weld, Says Expert

Washington.—Rustproof steel is easily welded by the acetylene-oxygen process and is even more rustproof after welding than before, due to loss of carbon, silicon and manganese during melting. These findings by W. Hoffmann, German metallurgist, have just been announced by the national advisory committee for aeronautics here.

Philanthropist Buys Camp for Students Who Work

Springfield, Mo.—L. A. Jones of Beistow, Okla., millionaire oil man and philanthropist, has purchased a 1,000-acre tract of land to be devoted to boys who work their way through school. The tract, purchased in the Ozarks, will have a large administration building, dining hall, dormitory, and several cabins situated on it. A large lake and swimming pool are also to be built.

French Court to Reform Bandits With Marriage

Bourg, France.—Will marriage reform a bandit? Three bandits think it will and the justice of peace of this town has decided to give them their choice of hymen over a prison cell. The ceremony was performed in the town jail. The bandit trio married three sisters whom they have courted off and on between raids around the countryside.

Secretary Gets $5,000

New York.—The Merchants' association announced that it had been making a survey to discover what salaries clerks, stenographers and secretaries made in New York and that the highest salary in this class, paid to a man who was principal stenographer and secretary to an officer of a bank was $5,000.

NO LIMIT TO AMOUNT OF FUR ONE MAY HAVE ON THE CLOTH COAT

Fashion places no limit on the amount of fur one may have on the cloth coat—it is simply a matter of expenditure. Furthermore there is no reason to expect to see one fur play a more important role than another.

It is impossible to overdraw the picture of this season's fur-trimmed cloth coats. In them the extreme of luxury and display is attained.

Among the legions of furs which are in immediate favor, beaver registers as one of outstanding value. Like all furs which enter into the scheme of things, it is handled in a very delicate way, a point aptly demonstrated in the picture.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS. To the Sheriff or any Constable of Bailey County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon James Gaston by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Bailey County, to be holden, at the Court-House thereof, in Muleshoe, on the third Monday in November, A. D. 1929, the same being the eighteenth day of November, A. D. 1929, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 16th day of October, A. D. 1929, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 508, wherein I, M. May Gaston, Plaintiff, and James Gaston, Defendant, and a brief statement of plaintiff's cause of action, being as follows:

That, on or about the 22nd day of August, A. D. 1926, defendant, was legally married by the plaintiff, and continued to live with him as his wife until on or about the 28th day of March, A. D. 1929. That at the time of said marriage plaintiff and defendant were inhabitants of the State of Texas, and have remained as such ever since.

Within about a year of this said separation, the defendant commenced a course of unkind and harsh treatment of the plaintiff, and refused to support either the plaintiff or their child, plaintiff further alleges that she was forced to work for the support of herself and their child. Wherefore the plaintiff prays the Court that she be granted a divorce and answer this petition, and that she be granted a divorce dissolving the now existing marriage between this plaintiff and defendant.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Muleshoe, Texas, on this 16th day of October, A. D. 1929.

AIR MAIL FATALITIES FOUND TO BE LOWER

The mortality rate of airplane pilots during the first six months of 1929 in contract mail operations was one to every 1,063,283 miles flown, according to figures made available by the American Branch of the Department of Commerce. This was a decrease of 50 per cent under the rate for the first half of 1928, a comparison of figures showed.

The number of miles flown by contract mail operations in the first half of 1929 (6,379,776) nearly equals the mileage for the entire year of 1928 when 7,846,296 miles were flown, and seven pilots and nine passengers were killed, the Department stated.

Edison's Golden Jubilee

St. Louis, Missouri, October 14, 1923

To All Managers of Texas Utilities Company,

Gentlemen:

Scenes that tell the past and foretell the future will greet President Hoover when he visits Henry Ford's historical village October 21 to participate in the ceremony memorializing the achievements of Thomas A. Edison, according to news stories sent out by the Associated Press telling about the "community of yesterday" which has been created by the purchase of many historical buildings in various parts of the country and restored to their original condition and placed on foundations by Henry Ford in his historical village at Dearborn, Michigan.

As the Edison Day jubilee is to honor mainly Thomas A. Edison, the chief interest will, of course, be centered around Edison and his achievements which have moved civilization forward by leaps and bounds.

The utility industry has a well prepared nation-wide program for the purpose of calling attention to the experiments, work and wonderful accomplishments of Edison.

There will be interest, too, in Henry Ford and his achievements as a manufacturer, financier, business executive, and beyond question the "world's greatest industrialist."

Texas Utilities Company appreciates the opportunity to honor Thomas A. Edison and at the same time recognize the outstanding achievements of his intimate friend and admirer, Henry Ford, who said in referring to the achievements of Edison, that mass production would be impossible without electric power.

It occurs to the writer that because Ford is rated as the largest user of electricity among the manufacturers of the world, the public will be keenly interested in his viewpoint as to the best means of promoting the development of the electrical industry of the country, and for that reason call attention to some of the recent statements of Ford in an interview published in Forbes Magazine on September 1, 1923, which are in part as follows:

"I am not afraid of what the newspapers call the Power Trust. I would welcome a real Power Trust. And, as sure as shooting, the country by and by will have a real Power Trust."

"By that I mean that all the power resources of the country should be linked together under one control and every part of the country supplied from the logical distributing point. Power is all-important. You cannot do a thing without power."

"The very best power now is power distributed by big concerns. But we should and must and will go much further. There are now hundreds, not to say thousands, of different power-plants scattered all over the country."

"The whole power of the nation should be generated under one directing organization. It should be thoroughly standardized. All the plants should be connected together."

"No, I am not a bit afraid that a Power Trust would gobble up everything and everybody. There never will be anything without potential competition. Besides, the people will always assert themselves; whenever things get out of balance, and will effectively demand and get fair treatment."

"A lot is being said about the profits made by those taking part in the power merger now going on. People shouldn't worry too much about that. Money keeps on flowing. The question is not 'who gets the money?' but 'what tangible asset is left to the people?' The people always get the real gain, even though some man or groups may get the passing profit. The main thing is to get the power resources of the country put on a more scientific basis. After all, it is the actual results achieved which count most. These people won't be able to take their money with them, and they will leave behind them a country more efficiently equipped with power."

"What they are doing is helping to have the country become more conscious of the importance of what electricity can do for them. Only a beginning has been made in making electricity do the work of the world. The ground has only been scratched."

"Power can revolutionize the lives of the people of this country. It can lift the burdens from the backs of the workers. It can abolish most of the tasks of the housewife. It has already made a beginning on the farm—where its possibilities are perhaps the greatest of all."

While Texas Utilities Company does not claim that the unlimited supply of dependable electric service which it has furnished is the sole or even the chief reason for the unparalleled development in West Texas, nevertheless it has every reason to be proud of the part it has played in the development of the territory which it serves.

Everybody knows that every city and town in the Plains country located on the copper highways of Texas Utilities Company, is receiving 24-hour service which is as dependable and satisfactory in every respect as any metropolitan electric service.

There will be interest, too, in the achievements of Texas Utilities Company, and in the rapid growth of the territory which it serves. As a part of the plan of Texas Utilities Company to participate in the Edison jubilee, the company is pleased to announce a reduction in residence and business lighting rates for all cities and towns in the South Plains served by the Texas Utilities Company.

The reduction in residence lighting means that all residence consumers will get a reduction of 14 percent on a consumption of 25 K. W. H. or less per month; a reduction of 10 percent on 30 K. W. H. per month, and a reduction of 30 percent on all current used per month in excess of 50 K. W. H. Heating, cooking and refrigeration in residences will be on a rate of 4 cents per K. W. H. on the new schedule. Reductions in the commercial or business schedules for lighting service range from 11 percent to 15 percent. This is the eighth substantial reduction in electric rates that the Texas Utilities Company has made within the past four years.

In reviewing the history of the phenomenal development of the electrical industry in West Texas, the following facts should be noted:

That as late as October, 1924, one of the great banking institutions of the country expressed the opinion that any attempt to finance the requirements of the Texas Utilities Company by issuance and sale of first mortgage bonds would not prove successful, giving a reason for such opinion that the territory served by the Texas Utilities Company was too scattered and also too remote from said bank's retail bond market.

That in October, 1923, a party of leading investment bankers from Boston, New York, Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis, and other Eastern cities, visited West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. The citizens of West Texas arranged and conducted the Eastern bankers on a tour of the Plains country which was in every sense a decided success. It proved to be mutually helpful to the visitors and local people. The bankers, at various receptions and banquets given in their honor by the citizens of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico, promised without qualification to finance all of the requirements necessary for Texas Utilities Company and New Mexico Utilities Company to take care of their share of the development of the Plains country. The Eastern bankers have made good every promise made to the citizens of the Plains country.

That today, Texas Utilities Company, New Mexico Utilities Company, and Southwestern Public Service Company are owned and operated as a combined or interconnected property by the same group of individuals as a direct result of the visit of the Eastern bankers and the cooperation of the citizens of the Plains country.

That since the visit of the Eastern bankers to the Plains country in October, 1923, the management of Texas Utilities Company has, by merger, acquisition of property as an entirety or the construction of transmission lines, built up an electric utility supplying electric service to sixty-three towns in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico covering a territory equal in area to the State of Pennsylvania, with approximately one thousand miles of transmission lines in operation and, or under construction at this time.

That Texas Utilities Company management takes pride in the fact that cooperation on the part of the citizens of the Plains country has made it possible for the company to carry out its building program in advance of the rapid growth of the territory which it serves, and at the same time make so many substantial reductions in rates.

That the advantage of the policy of Texas Utilities Company for the development of the Plains country by building transmission lines and operating interconnected power plants, is clearly reflected in both the quality of service and reasonableness of rates in all the towns located on the lines of the interconnected plants.

While Texas Utilities Company has regarded itself as an integral part of every community served by it and is proud of the productive power and the material greatness of the territory developed, nevertheless the company has at all times bottomed every investment made upon its abiding faith in the spirit of fair play and cooperation manifested by the citizens of the Plains country. Every town on the lines of Texas Utilities Company and New Mexico Utilities Company in the Plains country has recently granted a standard 50-year statutory electric franchise, and with one exception, every town in the Plains country is being supplied with electric energy to do its city pumping and street lighting service under a 20-year statutory street lighting and city pumping contract.

It was the spirit of fair play manifested by the people of the Plains country, and not the potential possibilities of the territory served, that caused the Eastern bankers to publicly commit themselves on the occasion of their visit in 1923, to furnish all the money necessary to enable Texas Utilities Company and New Mexico Utilities Company to do their full share in the development of the territory.

Texas Utilities Company management has always recognized and appreciated the fact that the spirit of cooperation on the part of the citizens of the Plains country was due in a large measure to the constructive leadership of the press of this section. This appreciation has been acknowledged from time to time by literature circulated throughout the country by Texas Utilities Company.

The future growth and development of the Plains country depends very largely upon the vision of the press published in the territory, and the continuation of the practical spirit of cooperation on the part of the people of the Plains country which has been the chief factor in the rapid growth and development of the entire territory served by Texas Utilities Company during recent years.

Texas Utilities Company takes great pride in recording the fact that a market was found for the sale of all bonds and securities necessary to meet its requirements as a result of the visit of the bankers to the Plains Country.

Yours truly,

I. R. KELSO,

President, Texas Utilities Company.

..WE CAN CONTROL VOLATILITY!

"There's been a lot said about the weather but very little done about it—until Phillips 66 was perfected. Here, at last, is a motor fuel in which the volatility of each gallon is controlled to fit the season and the climatic conditions of the locality in which you buy it. The result? Instant starting—any weather. Quick warm-up. Easy acceleration. Mileage and power that gratify. All this at no extra cost! For best results try a full tank of Phillips 66 . . . or 66 Ethyl.

CONTROLLED VOLATILITY

WHEN THE THERMOMETER GOES DOWN THE VOLATILITY GOES UP. Gasoline must vaporize before it can be fired in the cylinders of your motor. Volatility refers to the ability of gasoline to vaporize. With volatility controlled, Phillips 66 vaporizes as quickly in cold as in warm weather.

LONDON SUGGESTED AS SITE FOR NAVAL CONFERENCE

London would seem to be a likely place for the five-power naval conference which is to be called for January, according to an oral statement by the Secretary of State, Henry L. Stimson. Mr. Stimson said he knew no reason why France and Italy would object to holding a conference there.

Secretary Stimson also stated that he had held frequent conversations with the Japanese and Italian diplomatic representatives in Washington and had talked with the French Ambassador, Paul Claudel. He explained however, that his talk with M. Claudel was not the opening of direct negotiations with France regarding the naval conference.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS, To the Sheriff or any Constable of Bailey County—GREETING:

You are hereby commanded to summon C. G. GAY, by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next term of the 64th District Court of Bailey County, Texas, to be holden at the Court House thereof in Muleshoe, Texas, on the 23rd Monday in November, 1923, the same being the 18th day of November, 1923, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 7th day of December, 1923, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 477, wherein J. H. Paul and F. A. Paul are plaintiffs, and H. O. Cassle, R. B. Ivey, C. G. Gay and J. C. Paul and K.T. Martin are defendants. Said petition alleging that on the 24th day of December, 1924, defendant H. O. Cassle executed in favor of plaintiffs his certain Fifteen (15) Vendor's Lien notes, numbered 1 to 15, each for the principal sum of $118.00 the first of said notes being due and payable on or before January 1st, 1926, and one due hereafter on the first day of January of each succeeding year until all are paid, and bearing interest at Six percent per annum until maturity, and Ten percent per annum thereafter, and providing that a failure to pay said notes, or any of them, or any installment of interest when due, should, at the election of the holder of said notes, mature all of them, and providing for the usual and customary Ten percent attorney's fees, whereby defendant H. O. Cassle promised, became bound and obligated to pay plaintiffs said sum or sums as represented by said notes. That said notes are secured by a Vendor's Lien and a Deed of Trust Lien upon the North half (N 1/2) of Labor Seventeen (17) out of League One Ninety-nine (199), Original Grantee Lubbock County, Texas, containing 88.25 acres of land situated in Bailey County, Texas. That thereafter on or about the 18th day of July, 1925, defendant R. B. Ivey expressly assumed and agreed to pay the notes herein-above described, the said R. B. Ivey on said date becoming bound and obligated to pay the said notes as they matured and the interest accruing annually thereon from January 1st, 1925. That thereafter on October 1st, 1924, defendant C. G. Gay expressly assumed and agreed to pay said notes, and that on said date the defendant C. G. Gay became bound and obligated to pay said notes as they matured and the interest accruing thereon annually from January 1st, 1925, as provided in each of said notes. That defendants H. O. Cassle, R. B. Ivey and C. G. Gay, and each of them, failed and refused to pay said notes, or either of them and all installments of interest thereon, and plaintiffs have elected to mature all of said notes. That on January 29th, 1926, defendant C. G. Gay executed and delivered to defendant K. T. Martin, or to K. T. Martin & Company, a Deed of Trust covering the above described land to secure the payment of a certain promissory note for the sum of $193.65, dated January 29th, 1926, and payable to the order of K. T. Martin & Company; that any interest of the said K. T. Martin, or K. T. Martin & Company, in the premises aforesaid, is inferior and subordinate to the interest of the plaintiffs in said property. That defendant J. C. Paul is a trustee in the Deed of Trust given on the 16th day of December, 1924, to secure the payment of said fifteen notes; and the plaintiffs pray recovery for judgment for their debt, principal, interest and attorney's fees on all the notes aforesaid, for foreclosure of lien or liens on the above described property; and for such other relief as they may show themselves entitled to.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, but have you before said Court on the first day of the next term hereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

WITNESS, J. L. ALSUP, Clerk of the 64th District Court of Bailey County, Texas. Given under my hand and seal of said Court, in the Town of Muleshoe, Texas, this 16th day of October, A. D. 1923.

J. L. ALSUP, Clerk of the 64th District Court, (Seal) Bailey County, Texas. By Lola Lipscomb, Deputy.
