A Genuine Money Saving Sale

Every Article is Standard and Guaranteed

There is No Limit to the Quantities You May Buy During This Sale

What a REXALL One-Cent Sale Is

It is a sale where you can buy at the regular price, then another item of the same kind for one cent. As an illustration: The standard price of Klenzo Dental Creme is 50c, you buy a tube at this price and by paying 1 cent more, or 51 cents, you get two tubes. Every article in this sale is a high class standard piece of merchandise, just the same as is sold every day at the regular price.

This sale was developed by the United Drug Co. as an advertising plan. Rather than spend large sums of money in other ways to convince you of the merit of these goods, they are spending it on this sale in permitting us to sell you a full size package of high standard merchandise for 1 cent. It costs money to get new customers, but the sacrifice in profit is justified, knowing the goods will please you.

BALL GAME HERE FRIDAY

The fans of Spur will have a real thrill next Friday afternoon when Jayton and the local teams cross bats at the Fair Park. Jayton is coming with the pep to win, while the Spur boys are determined to give them a race for the honors.

Mr. Mrs. J. C. Hindman and children, of Paducah, are here this week the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hindman, north of town.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Dickson and children, Ray and Lillian Grace, are leaving Friday for College Station to attend the commencement exercises of the A. & M. College.

To Re-Stock Texas With Song Birds

Not long since more than 100 song birds, which had been seized by representatives of the State Game Warden were released in San Antonio.

So in furthering a program of protecting wild song birds in Texas we are not only taking measures that will add to the beauty of the out-of-doors, but we are also doing something that will add to the wealth of Texas by protecting crops from insect ravages.

'The Collegians'

'My Home Town'

Friendly greetings to Wichita Falls, and to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce:

It is in that sense especially that I am here at the instance of the citizenship of Spur, and to convey to the largest Regional Chamber of Commerce in the United States, our affectionate, neighborly regard for the one, and a pledge of continued loyalty to the other.

Spur feels it would be unfaithful to whatever finer sensibilities it may have, and to its high regard for sectional civic pride, were it not represented here today.

'My Home Town' is grateful for the opportunity of acknowledging its indebtedness to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and of paying this meager tribute to the officers and members of an organization which has been for so many years such a potent influence in the advancement of the commercial and educational interests of West Texas.

In bringing this simple message of friendliness and co-operation, Spur wishes to say of itself but little in detail. True it shares with other towns in this favored section many advantages common to us all and of no particular interest, we take it to any but ourselves. Suffice it to say it has all the basic advantages in the way of natural and artificial resources that a growing, successful community requires.

Spur, infant though she may be in age, is known to the scientists the world over, because of the valuable specimens found near.

In 1920, Prof. E. C. Case, paleontologist for the University of Michigan found near Spur a sub-order historic reptile unknown to the scientific world, its finder called it 'Spurensis' for Spur; it was 18 feet long and in a remarkable good state of preservation, showing a form of life that inhabited this section of the country millions of years prior to the mastodon age.

Spur, situated on an elevation looks out on every side on gently sloping plains where not long ago roamed large herds of buffalo.

The scene of the best story ever written of the extermination of the buffalo 'The Thundering Herd', by Zane Grey, was laid here.

Frank Tenney Johnson, one of the best known modern artists, has portrayed many beautiful scenes for the coming generations, but none more beautiful, than the horses painted at the Spur Ranch, a copy of which adorns the back of Zane Grey's books.

It was a portion of the present Spur Ranch that comprised O Henry's historical map drawn by him while a draftsman in the General Land Office at Austin. On the left hand margin of the map appears a rattlesnake under a chaparral bush, coiled ready to strike; a coyote chasing a prairie dog into his burrow; and in the distance grazes a herd of long-horn cattle.

George Patullo, prominent war correspondent for The Saturday Evening Post, used many incidents, characters and settings found here in his stories.

And it may be of interest to know that, Emerson Hough, the eminent writer of the great out-doors, found at Spur, inspiration for his work.

In the early days the site where Spur now stands was only two miles from General McKenzie's base of operations, located at Soldier Mound. While it was at what is now the Spur Ranch, that the engagement with the Indians was fought, in which Captain Robert Y. Carted, of the 4th U. S. Cavalry, received the wound, which compelled his retirement from active service.

We have a town destined to grow because of the wonderful resources of the broad and fertile valleys surrounding it, as well as the zeal and enterprise of its citizenship. A town rich in historical and scientific setting. One renowned in fiction and art, do you wonder that I come before you today and sing the praises of My Town—the coming town—the town of the West—"Spur".

TEACHERS ARE AWAY ON THEIR VACATIONS

With the closing of school those teachers who do not reside in Spur have gone to their respective homes for the summer months. Miss Maude Morgan left Friday for Greenville where her parents reside and where she will spend the summer probably with the exception of a few visits she may make.

Miss Ada Dabney left for Blanket, Mr. Thomas goes to Weatherford, Mr. Woods to Temple and Mr. Granberry to Sinton. All of these teachers will probably spend vacation visits in other places or take summer courses in some college. Miss Kate Anderson remains here a few weeks longer to assist in the summer school, then will go to Richland for a visit with her people and to secure a rest from school work.

It has been reported on good authority that all of these teachers will be back for work in our schools next year. Spur people should be glad of this, as all of them have made fine records the past year. They can do a little better work next year as they are acquainted with the situation and understand the student body much better than at the beginning of the last term of school.

It is understood that many of the resident teachers will take summer work in colleges. It is not yet learned what is their program but have expressed their wishes to study.

BAPTIST STANDARD REPRESENTATIVE HERE

Rev. J. R. Hillman, representing the Baptist Standard at Dallas, was in our city the first of the week looking after the interest of that publication. Rev. Hillman lives in Abilene and has been actively engaged as a pastor until a few weeks ago when he was forced to have some teeth extracted which caused an impediment in his speech. As soon as he is able to wear a plate he states he will go back into pastoral work. He is now open for a call.

Miss Alma Thorp, form Stamford, is visiting her cousin, Miss Cap Garner, this week.

AN INSTITUTION AT HOME FOR HOME FOLKS

In the days when our ancestors gazed from a rocky cliff into the valley below, their thoughts were on self-preservation. This was the ultimate thought in the then, undeveloped mind.

As the years flew by, crude methods of combat against destruction were invented. Simple as they were, they assisted man in his ascent to a broader vision of God's plan, of His volition and ultimate goal in life.

Out of this broader outlook on the world, grew the institution of private property. This institution is comparatively young. From the dawn of history, which has been but a short time, government has been bothered with protection of private property.

Can the government protect the debts of individuals? Indebtedness must be paid or else money is expended to no avail. What can insure creditors against loss?

The Spur Mutual Life Insurance Association has been constantly operating as an institution for the protection of the estates of over one thousand people for over five years. It has paid into this locality nearly $60,000 during this time. This money has gone into homes of individuals when it was most needed. It has rendered service to such an extent that, "SPUR MUTUAL", has become a household word throughout West Texas.

Fred C. Haile, Field Manager for the Spur Mutual says, that there are $2,125,500 of insurance in force at this date. This means that the locality within a radius of fifty miles of Spur, Texas, is enriched to this amount.

People in general are realizing more each day, the necessity for protecting their estates. They are showing this by their interest in Life Insurance. They are also buying protection at the cheapest rate. This is only the mark of foresightedness. It is with keenest interest that Bankers, Merchants, Lawyers, Doctors and all other men and women of commercial enterprise are directing their attention toward this kind of protection.

WE THINK THIS IS FOOD FOR THOUGHT.
SPUR MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE ASSOCIATION
—C. C. HAILE, Secretary.

ONEITA HOGAN PASSES AWAY

Oneita Hogan, ten year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hogan, died at the sanitarium last Friday. She was stricken down by acute appendicitis the first of the week and underwent an operation, but the disease had advanced too far. Peritonitis developed as a result of the abscessed condition which proved fatal.

Oneita, while young, had made a profession and joined the first Baptist Church here. She was a member of the various young people's organizations and took a great deal of interest in the Junior B. Y. P. U. work. All of the children of near her age were her friends and the demonstration of flowers and otherwise proved their appreciation of her.

Funeral services were conducted at the First Baptist Church, Sunday afternoon by Rev. I. A. Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church. The large auditorium of the church was crowded to its fullest capacity with the throngs of people who came to pay their last respects to the deceased. Interment was made in Spur cemetery.

They had been called here on account of the recent illness of Mr. Biggs, but as he has practically recovered and they had enjoyed a good visit with him after he was able to be up, they felt they must return to Galveston.

J. A. Brown, of Elton, was in our city Tuesday and stated there was a nice rain fell in his community Monday evening. Plenty for planting purposes and enough to make the moisture meet was the way he stated it.

C. Barton, of McAdoo, was in our city Saturday looking after business affairs and telling the people of the fine rain they had Friday evening.

TEXAS NEEDS DAIRY LAWS

Why have cooperative creameries failed in Texas? Many attempts have been made in Texas at cooperative creamery operation but they have all found themselves finally in financial insolvency. What is the cause? Does the dairy business in Texas embrace any peculiarities that preclude a successful operation of a system of dairy marketing that has done much to build up the industry in other states Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois and Minnesota? Obviously to us who have studied the situation, there are certain handicaps which have made impossible the successful operation of these plants in our state and not until some of these are removed will cooperatives ever play their logical part in our continued development.

The manufacturing of dairy products falls into two types of plants—centralizers and cooperatives. Our industry in Texas has up to recent times necessarily been built up around centralizers due to the sparse cow population and the consequent wide area over which dairy products must be gathered. These plants have played a great part in our development, but this participation in progress does not entitle them to stand in the way of still further development that offers one outstanding means of establishing permanent prosperity on our farms.

The cow population is becoming sufficiently dense in some sections to warrant the operation of cooperative creameries. Texas dairy leaders have been aware of the need of cooperatives, and have attempted them, but the sad fate that awaited them has been—failure. This failure ordinarily has come from poor management, lack of raw products, undercapitalization, and the dominating and domineering attitude of the centralizers. Cooperatives and centralizers are as oil and water, and truly cooperatives are in a measure a hazard to centralizers, and these central plants are not going to see a cooperative succeed without the most dogged resistance. They can't afford it, but it happens that at this point their will does not conform to the best interests of the producer.

Absolute freedom in the manipulation of butterfat prices is exercised among the purchasers of our raw product in this state. Variations amounting to more than ten cents per pound in the price of butterfat of the same quality within a radius of 40 miles have been noted. Certainly this is working a hardship on someone and if a fat of quality that will make 90 score butter is worth 40 cents to one farmer it is worth equally as much to another. If someone is being paid too much someone else is being underpaid for his product, for the manufacturers maintain a price average that will enable them to operate on a margin of profit.

This is the practice that becomes operative when the cooperative is attempted, and not until this situation is rectified will it be possible for cooperatives to succeed in Texas. The cow population of a number of sections now justifies cooperative plants, but it is no less than suicide for the dairy interests to attempt such a plan. Immediately upon opening for business, butterfat prices may be advanced to any point that the centralizer purchasers wish to put it in the immediate territory, and with a corresponding artificial depression in other sections, in order that the general level may be maintained over the large territory served by the central plant. The coop gathers its products over a small area, and is helpless to defend itself against such unscrupulous business competition. The history of such experiences is that the membership of the cooperatives remains loyal for a period of time, and the struggle does not end immediately. It is continued until finally people become impatient of seeing the producer outside of the cooperatives getting a better price than the man in side who has been led to believe that he will be paid a premium on his butterfat. What we need is a uniform dairy law in Texas which will require that butterfat be purchased on a uniform price basis for the same quality, taking into consideration transportation costs. When this legislation becomes effective, Texas will then be in position to assume the place in dairy production that her resources merit and her farm conditions demand. No greater service can be rendered dairy farmers of Texas than the enactment of such a measure. Such legislative protection is given the producers of other states and Texas must have similar protection to eliminate the greatest hazard to sane marketing of dairy products.

Certainly no one should overlook the development that has been built up around the centralizer plants. They have been pioneers that we have developed, but we have sectional development that has advanced beyond this prevailing method of marketing. Such a measure will also give these centralizers equal protection in competition among one another as it does the cooperative plant. Those counties which have pinned their fate to the dairy cow deserve all that the dairy industry can bring them, and their dairy program is not complete without locally operated plants where production justifies them.

ONE DAY POULTRY SCHOOLS SCHEDULED

County Agent Fred Reynolds has planned a series of one-day poultry schools throughout the county. The work will begin Monday, May 30, and continue throughout the week. The main features of the schools will be demonstrations on culling the farm flocks and canning. The following is the schedule:

Monday, May 30, at the home of Wednesday, June 1. No school.

Thursday, June 2, at the home of Elmer Rogers, Croton community.

Friday, June 3, at the home of B. F. Middleton, Afton.

Mr. Reynolds stated that he would extend the work into other communities that were interested if they would let him know. He is willing to go on with this work until July 10, when the time of year makes it necessary to stop it.

In connection with these schools there will be discussions and plans relative to the formation of an "Anti-Theft" association. There has been some activity of stealing chickens in the county and the farmers are making preparations to make it interesting for the thieves. It is hard to believe that any one in this country would stoop to stealing chickens, but the farmers say that somebody has been doing it. There has been some action taken in regard to the anti-theft organization in the McAdoo community.

SPUR MUTUAL SETS GOAL

According to statement by C. C. Haile, secretary and general manager for the Spur Mutual, that organization has set their goal for three millions of dollars in business by June 1. The organization had two and one half millions some weeks ago and the field force is working diligently to fill the program complete.

Fred C. Haile, field representative, was in Aspermont one and one half days last week and landed thirty thousand in business for Spur Mutual.

If the three million goal is reached by June 1, it means an asset to the country of that amount. The business world today considers insurance

FOR WORKING PEOPLE

The best of workers get out of sorts when the liver fails to act. They feel languid, half-sick, "blue" and discouraged and think they are getting lazy. Neglect of these symptoms might result in a sick spell, therefore the sensible course is to take a dose or two of Herbine. It is just the medicine needed to purify the system and restore the vim and ambition of health. Price 60c. Sold by

Firestone Dealers

Have Purchased 100% More GUM-DIPPED TIRES

[This Year Compared With Same Period Last Year]

THE demand from car owners for Gum-Dipped Tires has given Firestone Dealers a large increase in volume enabling them to sell these tires to you at the lowest prices in history.

On the cars of motorists everywhere, these wonderful tires are delivering unheard-of long mileage with greater safety and comfort.

The Firestone Balloon Tread, scientifically designed three years ago, and unchanged today, follows the contour of the tire carcass with no excess rubber at the edges to cause "shoulder breaks". Narrow rider strips permit the tread to yield to depressions and cling to the road, preventing skidding. This tough, pliable tread has the wear-resisting qualities for thousands of extra miles.

Such a tread must be placed on a carcass with the qualifications to withstand the terrific flexing that this design permits. The Firestone carcass is made of cords dipped in a rubber solution which not only saturates and insulates every fiber of every cord, but unifies sidewalls with carcass, avoiding separation under the extreme flexing.

Many Firestone Dealers are prepared to offer you a liberal allowance for your old tires, on a new set of Gum-Dipped Tires to start the motoring season.

To meet a demand for a low price tire and tube, Firestone designed and manufactures, for Firestone Dealers only, Oldfield Tubes and Tubes, which carry the Standard Manufacturers' Guarantee.

COUNTY AGENT GIVES CULLING DEMONSTRATION

County Agricultural Agent Reynolds gave a demonstration in culling farm flocks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Allen near McAdoo, last week. There were some 25 families represented that took much interest in the work. Mr. Reynolds instructed those present on the good points of farm birds and explained the defective points in non-laying birds.

The same day Mr. Reynolds gave a demonstration in caponizing cockerels. There were 65 cockerels in Mr. Allen's flock that were caponized. Many farmers present stated after the work was done that they expected to caponize the cockerels from now on and make a good income in this manner. Capons usually sell on the markets from 25c to 40c per pound, and they grow in size from eight pounds to fifteen pounds each. An old rooster that ordinarily sells for fifty cents, if properly caponized would bring from two dollars up. It is no more expensive to raise capons than it is to raise just common roosters.

Mr. Reynolds stated that people are becoming more interested in the work, and that it would be only a matter of a year or two until all the farmers would be caponizing the male birds.

ROTARIANS ENJOY GREAT MEETING

Aside from reports by different members in regard to the Chamber of Commerce Convention at Wichita Falls, the Rotary meeting last Thursday was filled with a boy scout program. A. H. Watts, Scout Commissioner for the South Plain Area, was present and complimented the business men of Spur for the interest they are taking in the boys.

Visitors present at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Watts and little daughter, Mrs. Clifford B. Jones, B. L. Jameson and daughter, Miss Velma Jameson, who very ably represented Spur in the speaking contest at Wichita Falls Monday and Tuesday. The Rotarians were favored by Miss Jameson's subject, "My Town", which they appreciated very much. Miss Jameson was complimented very highly for the able manner in which she represented Spur in the contest.

The Rotarians will meet at the Spur will be something of interest there. The Rotarians always have a good program and a delicious luncheon.

LADY FROM PEACOCK UNDERGOES OPERATION

Miss Wilma Montgomery, of Peacock, underwent an operation at the Nichols Sanitarium here last Friday for appendicitis. Miss Montgomery arrived at the sanitarium before any serious complications set in, and is getting along fine at this writing. Her father, W. C. Montgomery, is here with her until she begins gaining strength again. He commended the Nichols sanitarium and spoke highly of Dr. Nichols as a surgeon.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH ADDS IMPROVEMENT

The First Christian Church has purchased the two lots just south of the present church building and will use them in the future for additional building sites. Since Rev. Abbott has assumed the work with the church the congregation has increased and the present building will be inadequate to take care of the work. The lots were purchased with a view of extension later on.

Last week this church finished a string of concrete walk across the front of the lots. The walk is 75 feet long and is a great improvement to the property. The congregation is planting grass and flowers on the church property and are otherwise improving the looks of the site.

MRS. WILL H. NICHOLS UNDERGOES OPERATION

Mrs. Will H. Nichols, of Afton, underwent an operation at the Nichols Sanitarium last week for complicated conditions. She is getting along fine at this time. Mr. Nichols spent several days here with her and incidentally visited some friends at his off hours.

LAWN PARTY

The Junior Class of 1927 entertained the Senior Class of 1927 with a Lawn Party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Harris, with Miss Elnora Morgan and Eleanor Harris acting as hostesses. After a number of games of Bunco, Bridge and Forty-two, was played, a salad course was served to the following: Misses Velma Denso, Verna Davis, Helen Newman, Dorothy Williams, Nig Lisenby, Addie Giggs, Virginia Elliot, Allie Biggs, Ethel Cox, Vera Shepard, Charlie Hayes, Sybil McDaniels, Minnie Fae McMeans, Tommie McAdams, Ora Fifer, Lorene Burnham.

Messrs Jack Hogan, John A. Davis, Richard Gipson, Wallace Bingham, Clarence Wood, Mac Watson, Dewey Grandberry, O. C. Thomas, Crate Snider, Mac Gilfer, Doga Putnam, Weldon McClure, Horton Barrett, Hub Hyatt, Curtis Harkey and hostess.

INSTALLS NEW EQUIPMENT

Adams Studio has installed a new light cabinet which has added much to the efficiency of that studio. This is Mr. Adams' own invention and if purchased from the factory would have cost around $250.00. With the use of this new machine more light and better light can be secured which brings out the various features. It also enables the fine work on ladies clothing to be made more distinct.

The larger studios in the cities have similar cabinets but there are very few towns of the size of Spur that have them installed. It just means better photo work for the people in this country in the future.

Members of the Junior Class of Spur Schools enjoyed a supper and picnic at the Dickens Springs last Thursday evening. Not all members of the class were present as some were detained in town about other things. Those enjoying the picnic were: Allie Biggs, Virginia Elliot, Addie Biggs, Sadie Harrington, Sibyl McDaniel and Jim McDaniel.

SHIPMENT OF LIVE STOCK

On June the 2nd there will be a car of live stock leave Spur; either hogs or cattle, and if you are interested please write me not later than May 30. We will be glad to handle your stock for you.

FRED S. REYNOLDS County Agent

Rev. Wayne Grizzle, of Watson, was looking after business affairs in our city Saturday. He stated they were beginning to need rain in his community.

A RIVER OF SORROW

The spectacle of a mighty river gone mad is one to appall and awe the nation. Death and destruction ride high on the flood waters of the Mississippi; disease and desolation follow close in their wake. Already the river has claimed half a thousand lives and has demolished half a billion dollars in property. The heart of the country is opened to the sufferers. Relief money is pouring toward the stricken districts. But relief money is not all that is needed. The problems of rescue, of salvage, of reconstruction are important; but after them—it should have come before—comes the matter of prevention. The tragedy of the Mississippi should never occur again. The subsiding of the waters will end the crisis but it will not end the danger. The forests that once lined the upper reaches of the river are down. There is nothing to hold the spring waters in check as these forests once did. The Mississippi will continue a menace to all along its banks until man made reservoirs are substituted for the former natural ones.—Dearborn Independent.

Mr. and Mrs. Orwin Lambert, of Pitch Fork Ranch, were greeting friends and doing some trading in our city Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Crump, of Watson, were greeting friends on our streets Saturday.

DAILY THE ENGINEER

Railroads are reaching back into history in a spirited attempt to make themselves gay and attractive. From the days when stray rails, wood fuel and billowing smokestacks were common, they are plucking a token for the present. The oldest railroad in America is giving names to its new passenger engines—picturesque names that will vie with those of the pullman cars it hauls. More than this, it is painting the engines a vivid olive green, with red and gold striping for esthetic effect. Another line is painting its locomotives a battleship gray. A western road is using a brilliant Venetian red, striped with gold.

All this, of course, smacks, loudly of publicity. It is reminiscent of that story of a years ago, wherein one railway had equipped its locomotives with whistles whose dulcet notes rivaled those of the soft wood-winds of an orchestra. But, even if it is publicity, it is good publicity. Anything that helps brighten up a dreary world is a boon to mankind. And nothing was quite so dreary as the railroad of another day, with its sooty engines, its grimy coaches and its cindersmudged car windows.

A GOOD TURN

Efficient work of Boy Scout Robert Lawhon, of Geneva, Ala., in applying a tourniquet of the leg of a little girl who had been severely cut while playing near her home in the mill district recently, drew the commendation of Dr. J. W. Beasley, who was summoned by the Scout. The doctor stated that the Boy Scout had saved the girl from serious consequences and possibly from permanent injury by his knowledge of first aid.

You must shave your expenditures until they are less than your income, then save the difference by putting it into the bank, or in other words, put a part of your income into the bank regularly and live on the remainder. Buck Jones

Tells Secret About Horses

Boys and girls in all sections of the world who have wondered how Buck Jones succeeds in getting his horses to do unusual stunts need marvel no longer, for the Fox Films favorite explains that one little word is the keynote of the entire business.

"That word," said the Western ace, between sequence of "Whispering Sage," "is 'love'—and that's all there is to the explanation. You treat a horse right and if he's the right kind of a horse, he'll treat you right. 'Eagle' and 'Silver Buck' and all my horses are just plain horses. I've never claimed they were anything else. They're not superhuman; they're simply dumb things, dependent upon man, and subject to the usual limitations.

"But say, pardner, how they worship you when you treat 'em as they should be treated! nearly all the tricks we do were learned first-hand. I mean, I won't allow anyone to teach my horses tricks. I do that myself. Then we understand each other."

Buck Jones and his wonderful horse, "Silver Buck" will be seen at the Lyric Theatre Saturday.
