CITY MARSHALL OF SPUR DIES SUDDENLY FRIDAY NIGHT

W. Denson, city marshal of Spur, died very suddenly on the night of Friday evening. Mr. Denson was with Constable E. L. Smith, Night Watchman Sam McCreary had just returned from performing some official duty and they were talking about another duty they had to perform when Mr. Denson threw his hands up and remarked that he was passing out. He lowered his head and then fell limp, he gasped a time or two and was dead.

When Mr. Denson remarked that he was going, Mr. Smith ran into the City Drug Store for a glass of water. Dr. Blackwell followed Mr. Smith to the car and applied an ammonia solution. Mr. Denson's body was then taken into the drug store and Dr. Blackwell used adrenalin Chloride injected into the walls of the heart, but no results in reviving him could be obtained.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist church Sunday afternoon. Rev. A. P. Stokes, who has served as pastor for the last several years, delivered the funeral oration in the presence of one of the largest congregations ever assembled in Spur. Interment was in Spur Cemetery, Webber Williams acting as funeral director.

Mr. Denson was a son of E. Denson who still survives. He was a native Texas having been born in Williamson County, December 27, 1871 and would have been 60 years of age his birthday next December when he was 17 years of age and lived with his parents to Haslemore in the year 1888. In 1893 the family moved to Ardmore in what was then Indian Territory. Here he resided ten years.

In 1894 Mr. Denson was married to Miss Callie Vernon and made his home in the Indian Territory, living there until 1903. Of the large family of children there are five sons and three daughters living. They are: O. J. Denson of Houston; F. E. Denson of Spur; S. V. Denson of Houston; E. L. Denson of Floydada; Carl Denson of Panhandle; Mrs. H. P. Pendleton of Borger; and Misses Flora and Leona Denson of Spur.

In 1903 Mr. Denson moved his family back to Texas and settled in Haskell County. He lived there until 1916 when he moved to the Highway community in Dickens County where he resided up until about five years ago. He was engaged mostly in stock farming and cattle raising during his life. Five years ago he sold his farm and moved to Spur where he erected a beautiful home on North Avenue and where he resided at the time of his demise.

In 1896 Mr. Denson made a profession of the Christian religion and became affiliated with the Missionary Baptist church. He was baptised in the Washita River in Oklahoma when he joined the church. He was true to his conviction and lived a consistent member of the church since his conversion. He enjoyed singing and when he moved to Haslemore he served as choir director in the Baptist church there. His faithful wife stated that while his boys were small that Mr. Denson always took them to Sunday school.

As a citizen Mr. Denson's word of honesty was never questioned. He served in the capacity of a peace officer on several different occasions, and it has been said by those who knew that in the performance of these duties that he saw no difference between friend and foe. It was a matter of duty to him and he was faithful in his post. He was always conscientious in his belief or actions, and while he may have been wrong sometimes no one ever doubted his sincerity.

Mr. Denson leaves to mourn his departure his aged father, Edd Denson; his widow, Mrs. Callie Denson; his eight children; two others, T. L. and H. C. Denson, both of Spur; and one sister, Mrs. Owens of Ardmore, Oklahoma.

These with their immediate families were present for the funeral Sunday afternoon.

Other relatives and friends present for the funeral were: C. A. Denson and family of Sagerton; Rufus Denson and family of Guadalupe; Raymond Denson and family of Rule; Horace Denson of Rosebud; Comie Hisey and family and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pope and family of Spur; Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Vernon, parents of Mrs. Denson; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Sloan, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. English, all of Spur; Rev. H. C. Draper and family of Plainview; Rev. W. F. Markham and wife of Seminole; Mrs. Jack McGargal of Lubbock; Mrs. R. W. Herron and children, and J. F. Pinkerton all of Haskell; Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Graham of Ralls; E. Mitchell and family of Ardmore, Oklahoma; Morris Vernon of Petersburg; Sam Vernon of Leveland; Rev. and Mrs. Victor Crabtree of Roaring Springs; Bob Davis and son, Raymond, of Lamesa; Barron Chapman and family of Borger; John Smith and Will Kitley of Rule; F. F. Vernon and family, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert English, Mr. and Mrs. Tramel Turner and Mrs. T. E. Howze and children all of Spur.

Pal Bearers were: M. L. Jones, E. L. Smith, Sheriff W. B. Arthur Boney Scott, W. M. Malone and J. W. Nichols. Mr. Denson had worked with all of these men as a peace officer.

Flower girls were: Misses Mavis Stafford, Nellie Mecon, Willie Maud Scott, Evelyn Ivey, Dorothy Carson, and Elouise McCrary.

In the going of Mr. Denson his wife has lost a faithful companion; his children, a loving father; his friends, a loyal associate; and the community a useful citizen. Having been one of the early day cow boys of West Texas, his friends were numbered by hundreds.

MOTHER IS GONE

MRS. VICTORIA STARCHER

Born June 16, 1865 Died May 13, 1931
Barker Co., W. Va. Supply, Oklahoma

We wish to dedicate the following little poem to the memory of our dear, dear mother, of whose death we learned just as we are going to press.

She has gone from earth to glory,
Armed by faith and winged by prayer;
All her trials on earth are over,
God's own hand has borne her there.
God has closed her earthly mission,
Now have passed her pilgrim day;
Hope has changed to glad fruition,
Faith to sight and prayer to praise.

We thank our many dear friends who so readily and willingly offered their services and words of sympathy when we learned the sad news. Words do not express our gratitude for the many dear friends we have. We realize that this is one time when the comfort of friends mean much to us, and we want you to know we appreciate you.

(Note: Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Starcher left Wednesday afternoon to attend the funeral services at Tipton, Okla., at 5:00 P. M. today, Thursday.)

THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE RED CROSS

There are many people who have a vague idea of what the order of the Red Cross means, and as this month marks the 50th Anniversary of the Red Cross of the United States, we think it fitting for the public to be informed of what the Order of the Red Cross has been, what it has done in War time, and peace; what it is doing at the present time and what it aims and hopes are for the future.

The underlying idea and the foundation of its activities is nothing more than FAITH, HOPE, and CHARITY.

The year 1886 was perhaps the first year in which the Red Cross, as an organization became recognized in its service in caring of the sick and wounded. The next time it was called into service was during the Franco-Prussian War. The two countries appropriated approximately sixteen million dollars, with over twenty five hundred committees which cared for the wounded, which numbered over one-hundred thousand.

The next war which demanded the service of the Red Cross was 1896 to 1898, in which a total of over thirteen million dollars was expended.

Perhaps the first opposition the Red Cross found was with the Turkish soldiers, which regarded it as a religious organization.

In 1888 Queen Victoria instituted a decoration known as the Order of the Royal Red Cross to be conferred on women for their services to sick and wounded soldiers.

The national Red Cross of America was incorporated under the laws of the District of Columbia, October 1, 1881. It was re-incorporated April 17, 1895, and re-incorporated by the Act of Congress June 1900. "For the relief of suffering, by war, pestilence, famine, flood, fire, and other calamities of sufficient magnitude to be deemed national in extent."

The development of the National Red Cross in the United States was chiefly due to Miss Clara Barton. The National branch has no sub-societies or committees, but patriotic and sympathetic men and women as individuals, or united in societies, are at liberty to assist with the Red Cross in raising money, and in providing nurses for what ever the service requires.

Civic League Holds Meeting

The Spur Civic League held a meeting Friday night to discuss matters relative to the cleanliness of our town. During the meeting a resolution was passed adopting the Red Verbena as the city flower.

Tuesday and Wednesday, May 26 and 27 was set as days for hauling off rubbish. All persons who own or are renting property are requested to clean their premises, including the alleys, and to place all old tin cans and other rubbish in a convenient place in the alley where it can be hauled away.

It is the request of the League organization that the cleanup period be before the days of hauling away the rubbish. If put off until the last day many people will neglect to cleanup their premises. It will cost nothing for the hauling. If the owner of the property does not have time, there are many people about town who are wanting the job. Give them work through the Welfare League and assist in this work.

DICKENS SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT ON THIS WEEK

The Commencement exercises of the Dickens School began with the baccalaureate sermon last Sunday evening. The sermon was delivered by Dr. Batsel Baxter of Abilene.

Monday evening Mrs. J. W. Henry presented her class in recital in a very fine program. The graduating exercises for the class at Dickens will be held Friday evening. There has been a very fine program arranged and Supt. Dowell and the teachers are cooperating with the class to make this the best graduation exercise in the history of the school.

NEW GRAND DAUGHTER

Word was received the last of the week stating that Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shelby Clay of Abilene, are the proud parents of a girl baby. Mr. and Mrs. Clay once lived in our city and have many friends here. Mr. Clay is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Clay, this city, and Mrs. Clay is a daughter of Frank Goff, one of the early settlers in West Texas.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK FOR SPUR SENIORS BEGINS SUNDAY WITH SERMON AT PALACE

HERE IS YOUR CHANCE TO GET A GOOD START

Geo. S. Link, manager Bryant Link Co., Spur, announces in another part of the paper that they will give a $50.00 stove to a couple to marry in their store.

He questions the nerve of the young people of this generation. We always thought that this was a nervier group than in the days gone by. Here is a chance for some young couple to get a start to keeping house. Who'll get the stove.

BRYANT-LINK COMPANY

When we came to Spur there was not a substantial building in town. We started the first brick in 1909. There were no permanent roads. Going from here to Dickens we went by way of old Escuela and hoped we could get across the creeks that way. There was only three automobiles in the county. You could stand on the hill just north of Spur and count about six houses in the country. Farmers came to town in their wagons and spent the night in the wagon yard and had a good time talking of the progress of the country. For only a few months before they had to go to Stamford or Abilene to sell their cotton and buy supplies. The trip sometimes took three weeks, for the rivers were not bridged and often they had to wait for streams to run down so they could ford them.

There were a few antelope here that had escaped the bullets of the hunters but they soon disappeared. There were prairie dogs by the millions. The Swenson interests spent some $65,000 poisoning the prairie dogs and so they too passed away. White-faced cattle grazed into the city as they became acquainted with civilization and the proverbial town cow searcher every farmer's wagon for hidden hay or a sack of flour that she seemed to enjoy white washing the streets with.

The Commencement sermon for the Class of '31, Spur High School will be delivered next Sunday by Dr. Gary L. Smith of Abilene. The services will be held at the Palace Theatre for the reason that it has the greatest seating capacity of any auditorium in town. The entire Senior class will participate in these services. There will be fine music, and this part of the services will be in charge of Rev. M. H. Applewhite, who has selected a choir from all the churches in town.

It is understood that all morning services at the various churches will be dismissed in favor of the Commencement Services.

Programs will be used to announce the various selections during the services. Superintendent Hall will be in charge and feels that programs will be the proper method to use.

The auditorium at the Palace will accommodate approximately 1000 people. However, there have been people present for the Commencement services who could not get accommodations in any building in town. If former records are held, even the Palace will not be large enough to accommodate all the people.

GIRLS TENNIS CLUB ORGANIZES THIS WEEK

A girls Tennis Club was organized Monday of this week with about twenty members.

These members are girls of this city who are interested in tennis and who would like to learn to play a good game.

A tournament will be held in about two weeks to determine the best players in singles and doubles.

Only a small assessment is paid each month so anyone wishing to join see Miss Velda Crouch, Pres., or Miss Charlie Hayes, Secretary. Nearly every member has her partner and are starting practice soon so turn in your name and begin at once.

Crockett's Produce & Hatchery made a fine shipment of eggs and chickens Tuesday. The market is going down in this respect just now, but may be better later.

VISITS FRIENDS HERE

M. Y. Hill and W. M. Reynolds of Portales, New Mexico, were in our city the last of the week visiting friends. Mr. Hill once lived in our country and has a brother living in Steel Hill community now.

He stated that Portales shipped 387 cans of cream on one train one Saturday and this amount did not include what was shipped by trucks. He stated that Portales farmers had inaugurated a diversified farm program a few years ago, and while times are hard just now, yet they were not feeling the effect of the panic so much as people in other sections of the country. He stated that if they did not make a go of one crop they would make it on another one.

OPENING A NEW CAFE NEXT WEEK

Bill Kyle, who has been with the Bell Cafe for the past two years, is arranging to open a cafe of his own within a few days. The location will be in the building just east of the Spur Drug Store which once was occupied by Bull's Cafe. The building is being overhauled and new fixtures are being installed at this time. The opening will be about Wednesday or Thursday of next week. Watch for further announcements.

SPUR TEACHER ELECTED AT WOLFE CITY

H. L. Barber, principal of the Junior High School here, has been elected Superintendent of City Schools in Wolfe City. Mr. Barber's election was over some forty applicants.

Mr. Barber came to Spur from Oklahoma where he had a splendid record as an educator. This is his first year in Spur schools, and it had been the hopes of many people that he would remain in the schools here. His ability as a teacher and a school man is needed here, but the advancement at Wolfe City probably will take him away. He has not said whether or not he will accept.

Joe Kellam returned Monday from Madill, Okla., where he had been looking after business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Darby, of Duke, Oklahoma, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Whitener the last of the week. They returned home Sunday.

"OLEO" CONTENT NOT FROM FARM

Now what is oleomargarine- How is it made? Does any man want to feed his children on it? Let's see.

Oleomargarines are made from skimmed milk, coconut oil, or tallow, and salt. The main ingredient is skimmed milk, which has not fat or life sustaining substances. Now let's look into the other ingredients. Many margarines are advertised as 'white meat of the coconut'. Coconut oil such as used is made from copra. Copra is dried coconut meat, but let us see the conditions of this stuff before it is refined.

Copra comes from the Philippine Islands. The coconuts fall from the trees, are broken open and the meat dried in heaps under tropical suns. This is called copra.

When dry, the copra looks and smells like stable manure, or worse. When the stuff is ready for shipment, swarms of half naked malays

Flying Hostesses Serve Lunch to Air Transport Passengers

PASSENGERS on Eastern Air Transport planes operating between Newark Airport and Washington, D. C., now have more to appeal to their artistic tastes than beautiful scenery. Each plane is accompanied by a beautiful "flying hostess" who serves light luncheon consisting of tasty sandwiches and Torex beef bouillon.

load it on ships, tramping it in the holds of the vessels with bare feet. An army of naked Malays sweating under tropical heat, tramping copra that is going to be made into the poor man's butter. Think of it!

When copra arrives at American oil mills, it is run out of the ships with conveyors. Generally it is piled in the open air where it attracts millions of flies and looks exactly like piles of stable manure and smells a darned sight worse.

The copra is then ground and pressed between steam heated rollers. The raw oil is the most rancid and evil smelling thing in the world. Until recently it was used exclusively for soap grease. Scientists discovered ways of refining it. The process is simple. First, the oil is heated to a very high degree. It is then placed in vats and large quantities of sodium injected. The rancidity attacks the sodium solution and is eaten away. The oil is then treated with ether, which process solidifies the oil. And this is the stuff they advertise as "The White Meat of the coconut." Here is a recipe for making 1,000 pounds of oleo.

American Radios Are Favorites In Far-Away Corners of the World

American radios are generally regarded abroad as superior to the great majority of foreign makes, according to Lawrence D. Batson of the U. S. Department of Commerce, in an analysis of world markets.

The United States is today the world's largest exporter of radios, Mr. Batson disclosed, with an exportation of the first ten months last year of $17,800,000. The American exports for the whole year of 1929 he shows amounted to more than $23,000,000.

Selectivity is a primary requisite in radio sets designed for use in Europe, according to Mr. Batson.

The tremendous task of supplying the world markets with the best of American radio is indicated in a recent statement from the Atwater Kent Mfg. Co., which in addition to shipping to all parts of the United States and nearby Canada and Mexico serves 41 foreign countries.

In South America the radio sets made by Atwater Kent bob along on the backs of patient llamas. In Mexico many of them fly by airplane. In the far North, winter delivery is by dog sled.

In China, Atwater Kents can be seen joggling in jirikishas behind tireless coolies. In North Africa they cross the desert sand on camels. Probably their longest journey is to New Zealand, on the other side of the world—10,000 miles—the last inhabited spot this side of the South pole.

Another interesting statement in the government report is that there are more than 24,000,000 radio sets, throughout the world today. Forty-five percent of this world total, or 10,500,000 sets, is in the United States. Mr. Batson places the value of world radio sets at $1,500,000,000, with $976,000,000 as the amount invested in sets in this country.

World investment in broadcasting stations the government report places at $29,000,000, with one half representing American investments.

Forman Bonds Reach Mark of Ten Millions

Small investors in every part of the United States and in several foreign countries have turned in a total of $10,000,000 in George M Forman & Co. bonds, to be exchanged for bonds and shares of the George M Forman Realty Trust, according to William G Lodwick, of Chicago, Trust head. CAR'S INTERIOR ATTRACTS WOMEN

Upholstery May Enhance Comfort, Smartness and Ultimate Value of Car.

WHEN it comes to selecting the family automobile, a good basis of procedure is that adopted by the sight-weary American tourist who said to his partner when they came to the next important cathedral: "You do the inside and I'll do the outside." The average woman is quite content to have her husband concern himself with the body of the car, the wheelbase and general mechanics, provided she may have something to say about the inside. The car's clothing, as its upholstery may well be called, is equally important with the rest of the car, for upon it depends much of the comfort, smartness, beauty and ultimate value of the car.

In choosing the upholstery for the interior, a number of distinct features should be considered—good appearance, smart design, pleasing color, wearing quality, riding comfort, cleanliness and economy. The only material that can be depended on to embrace these important features in one fabric is velvet mohair, otherwise known as velmo, and made from the lustrous fleece of the angora goat. Because of its original snowy whiteness, mohair can be dyed any shade, however subtle. Its lustrous sheen and soft, silky texture leave nothing to be desired in the way of beauty and luxurious appearance, while the long wearing quality of pile mohair, as contrasted with that of flat fabrics, is undisputed. A velmo upholstered car will be fresh and inviting long after the rest of the car has lost its good appearance or even given itself up to the infirmities of age. Because of the smooth surface of individual mohair fibres, discernible only under a microscope, dirt does not readily adhere to nor penetrate them, and the material is easily cleaned with a whiskbroom or by vacuum. Actual grease or dirt spots are removed by washing with pure soap and warm water.

Easy riding, an important feature when taking long trips, is assured with mohair velvet because there is no slipping and sliding about, as with smooth fabrics, and each fibre of the pile fabric acts as a resilient spring to absorb shocks. It is easier on the clothing, too, as the reduced friction avoids rubbing and subsequent shininess.

Added to these advantages is the additional one that they all add materially to the trade-in value of the car when the time comes to get a new one. In fact, it has been conservatively estimated that anywhere from fifty to two hundred dollars' difference can be looked for in a car whose upholstery is in perfect condition and inviting to the eye.

Offer Prize for Old Piece of Furniture

HAVE you a mohair-covered chair or sofa in your home? If so, you may be $250 the richer for it!

This paper is in receipt of a message from the Household Science Institute, Chicago, asking for help in locating the oldest piece of mohair-upholstered furniture in the United States. The style of the sought-for furniture, its use or non-use at the present time are not important, providing it is in good condition. Its owner will be awarded $250, and the piece itself will be exhibited with other old-time furniture during the World's Fair in Chicago in 1933.

Back of the Institute's offer is the desire of Grace Vaill Gray, its director, to ascertain the longevity of mohair. It is claimed that unless deliberately injured no instance has as yet been found of a mohair wearing through.

Readers who feel that they have something of interest should communicate with Mrs. Gray at the Household Science Institute, 7 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, giving the history of the piece in mind.

BRYANT-LINK CO.

Yes, we had hitch racks to tie cowboy's horses to when they came to town to spend a bit, seeing sights, buying a new sombrero and bandanna or maybe waiting for the Express which then could bring gin. Those days were not all bad but we feel these days are better and we expect the future to bring better and better days.

We ran a delivery wagon, drawn by a span of Spanish mules about as big as well developed jack rabbits. They went in a gallop all the day long. Yes, we had some excitement. Often a team would run away, right down the main streets. We would go down to the depot to see the train come in.

On Sunday evening cupid would work magic on the rocky hill just north of town. If these stories could talk they could tell some tales of promises made that may have been forgotten. Anyway, we did not have to smell gasoline in order to do our courting in those days. Bryant-Link Co. store too, was a place where Cupid worked—especially on Saturdays. Many matrimonial contracts were made in this first brick.

It surely was interesting to watch the young life sit here and there on counters and corners, saying not so much in words as in that expression that we all recognize yet cannot explain. We wish sometimes all those who met their sweetheart here would come and tell us about it.

One we had a wedding in our store and talk about crowds! We had them that day. We offered to give a $50.00 stove to the first couple who would marry in our store. Well, we will do that now and see if any of these modern boys and girls are game. It must be a secret as to who you are until the hour comes to tie the knot.

Yes, we had a barbecue occasionally and talk about good times! And once we had a balloon ascension and you know how we waited for them to make the gas to inflate her with.

Say, those times kids like Tom McArthur, Bud Morrison, Jim Fos-

Inland Waterways Shipping Aids U.S. Tobacco Trade With Britain

Tobacco from Old Kentucky

EVANSVILLE, IND.—British smokers are filling their pipes with Kentucky tobacco shipped by water all the way from Evansville, Ind., since the recently opened Mead Johnson water-rail truck terminal on the Ohio river here transformed this city into an inland seaport.

Two tobacco exporting firms in Henderson, Ky., the Imperial Tobacco Co., and the Charles T. W. Argue Tobacco Co., are now utilizing the new terminal in shipping their products via waterways to the British market. From Henderson the tobacco is hauled in hogheads over highways by motor truck eleven miles to Evansville. There it is transferred onto river barges at the Mead Johnson terminal and towed down the Ohio and Mississippi to New Orleans, whence it is shipped by ocean liners to Great Britain.

have grown a bit gray, a few wrinkles, a few less hairs on the top of your heads "de place where de wool oughta grow". Yet to us you are just as young now as then and we want you to know we believe in you and we also believe 1931 is going to be better, 1932 better, and 1933 better.

Let us all look for the good, for even what seemeth to us dire adversity may be just the purifying fire that will make us better fitted to enjoy the blessings that may come our way.

WTCC CONVENTION TO HAVE GREAT PROGRAM

Lubbock, May 13.—That the type of program which has been arranged for the thirteenth annual convention of the West Texas 1932 West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Lubbock, and all of them May 14, 15 and 16, and the various already waging aggressive campaigns and programs on it, are, indications are that this popular and of interest to large numbers of people in different parts of the 132 counties served by the regional organization, is evidenced by the reports coming in from affiliated towns to convention headquarters in this city.

Particularly is the enthusiasm for the six group conferences strong. These programs will be devoted to industrial development; highway and tourist development; the breeder-feeder movement; oil and gas problem; agricultural development and payment of the federal production loan. All of these items are of special interest to West Texas and indications are that they will attract a large attendance to the convention.

Many requests are coming in to Maury Hopkins, WTCC assistant manager in charge of convention headquarters for detailed information on different features of the program.

FOUR CITIES WANTING NEXT WTCC CONVENTION

Lubbock, May 13.—With four cities having announced their entrance into the contest for the convention of the regional organization here May 14, 15 and 16, will be one of considerable interest to both candidates last year at Abilene, when this city won the meeting for this year are here again bidding for the convention. Amarillo, host city to the big conference in 1926 is back again basing its claims on the marvelous growth of its population since the organization last met there, and Dallas, although not in the West Texas territory is energetically trying to get the convention, in order, officials of the chamber of commerce of that city say, to get West Texas better acquainted with them.

Voting in the convention on selecting the 1932 convention host will be by towns. Each community affiliated with the West Texas chamber being allowed one vote for each paid up membership in the body, and no town to have over 300 votes.

W. C. King, a live business man of Roaring Springs, was in our city Wednesday attending to business matters.

THE PRINTER

It may be sad, but still 'tis true, There's one thing all us humans do, And that is, blame the printer, He does his best, without our help, For all we do is stand and yelp, Then cuss, and blame the printer,

We write our manuscript by pen, To read it is beyond our ken, Yet we expect the printer, To do it out and get it right, We think not of his time or sight, If wrong—we blame the printer.

We hold our stuff until the last, Then try to rush it through so fast, The printer gets snowed under, But still we camp upon his trail, And prod him with woeful tale, Or rant and roar like thunder.

He shoots it through, the proof we get.— Hell's bells! the job is not right yet. We chop that proof to splinters. It takes two days before he knows Just what each hieroglyphic shows. A dumb lot are those printers.

The job's delivered. Some relief! To know we're through with rush and grief, We ought to thank the printer, But no! The poor gink's out of luck He overcharged us one whole buck, Once more we damn the printer. By EDISON S. DUNBAR

R. J. Murray and Miss Helen Mason, both of Lubbock, were married in Lovington, N. Mex., last Saturday. This event has been expected by close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Murray for some time, but the manner in which it was performed proved a surprise to all. He has served in many responsible positions in regard to civic activities the Chamber of Commerce, and in the promotion of highways. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Meason of Roaring Springs, and has proved a very popular lady both at Roaring Springs and in Lubbock. She was educated in Roaring Springs High School, at Texas Tech and graduated in a commercial course at Draughon's Business College. For the past several years she has held prominent positions, and just previous to her marriage was a stenographer in Mr. Murray's office.

FARM INCOMES GET $500,000 BOOST

The new Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation plant at Denison, Tex., the formal opening of which adds nearly half a million dollars annually to the revenue of Southwestern dairymen and poultry raisers.

This plant, and its feeder plants at Muenster, Tex., Moberly and Nevada, Mo., Emporia, Larned and Oswego, Kans., Carlisle, Ark., Monte Vista, Brush, Marino and Delta, Col., and Kimball, Neb., will consume an average of 200,000 pounds of milk daily and its egg powdering plant will use approximately 150 cars of 21,600,000 eggs a year for which Kraft-Phenix will pay Southwestern farmers over $500,000. The plant, located on a 12 acre plot of ground donated by the City of Denison, is of brick and reinforced concrete construction. It is one of the most modern food factories in the country and is the only cheese plant in the world housing such complete operations under one roof.

It will produce virtually the complete line of Kraft pasteurized and blended cheese, Philadelphia Cream Cheese, bulk cheese under the Elk-horn brand, Velveeta, macaroni, and French dressing.

J. L. Kraft, president of the Kraft-Phenix Corporation, declared at the opening ceremony that he saw in the plant a sign of the day when the Southwest would take its place as one of the greatest dairying centers in the world.

REDTOP AND CATFISH NEWS

Saturday, April 25th, Gene Fry and Edd Fuqua, both of Catfish, had a call from Judge Davis of Claiborne, Kent County, to come down there and help get the last preliminaries arranged prior to the much talked of dog hunt to be pulled off on the Paddle Ranch from the 4th of May to the 9th.

They expected a large crowd, some from quite a distance, to register the dogs on Monday. Then a big free barbecue Wednesday. We heard they were to have ten beavers and a large amount of other edibles. Of course, everyone was expecting a big time.

Last Sunday Ed Fuqua and wife, loaded up their truck with folks and hied away to lower Redmd, where they ate dinner with Mrs. George Grubbs, Mr. Fuqua's sister, then they attended the ball game in the afternoon and saw all their relatives living down there. Among the number going with him was little son, Ray Stoneman with trem were, Hubert Howell, and wife, Mrs. Riley Smith and children and Gene Fry. All unite in saying they had an enjoyable time.

Monday, Mrs. Garrison, Mrs. Howell and Mrs. Rankin, all of Redtop, motored in to Spur, marketing cream and trading with the merchants.

Wednesday and Thursday, these communities received more rain which everyone sure is glad to get. The truck from Calgary failed to come to Catfish, both days, to get the school children.

Thursday more wedding bells were ringing. Roy Earles the new dairyman of Redtop, and Miss Viola

Elkins of peaceful Hill, were quietly married, and are now keeping house at the Brantner place, of course, folks still think to chiveree the newlyweds and proceeded to make arrangements to that effect for Saturday night, but the bride and groom had an inkling to their plans and desiring to miss some of the rough treatment usually meted out to the newlyweds, had the musicians ready and when the crowd gathered let them dance and otherwise entertained the crowd till they forgot about the chiveree, and all hied away home wishing them a long and happy life.

Mrs. Howell, Mattie and Clark motored in to Spur Saturday. It was Council Day, being the first Saturday. But because it looked so rainy, all the officers were not present, nor did we get to hear the report from the Short Course at Canyon, but we cannot blame the ladies for not coming out and it looking so rainy, after Miss Osborne told us of the difficulties they had to meet and surmount when coming home from Canyon.

Mrs. Alice Harrell and son, Iva, of White River, mother and brother of Mrs. A. E. McClain and R. F. Harrell of Redtop, came down to Redtop Saturday evening and spent the night with them and Sunday also.

Mrs. Leonard Ward, two little sons and Mr. Ward's mother, motored in to Spur Saturday. Mrs. Leonard Ward visited the cemetery and worked on her father's grave.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim McArthur, with Sam Rathers, all of Redtop, were in Spur Saturday buying supplies of Bryant-Link Co.

Sunday afternoon, quite a crowd gathered over in Tom McArthur's pasture, where they cleaned and drug off a polo ground and played chase up in two teams of four quite a game. Just a home crowd each, Monk Rucker was referee, and Walter McKay's team won 4 to 0.

Mrs. Ruth Fry and children, were visiting Albert Fry's Sunday, but on learning Mrs. Fry was not at home drove back to Mrs. Ray Stoneman's and spent the day.

Ross Cannon, Newt Bingham and Buster Foster were visitors in Spur Saturday from the Bill Rucker camp on Catfish. Some of the Spur boys were at the party at Roy Earles Saturday night.

Matt Howell and family ate dinner with A. E. McClain's Sunday, the women folks going to Fount Harrell's in the afternoon and the men and boys on to watch the polo game.

Mrs. Tom McArthur and boys were out on the ranch Sunday and watched the polo game.

Dick King and family, who live east of Spur, were visiting in the Catfish community Sunday.

Tom Cross and wife of Calgary, were in the Catfish community Friday delivering planting seed to Matt Howell, Ed Fuqua, Ray Stoneman and others.

The weather stays so cool most of the men are afraid of planting yet, but some feed has been planted and quite a bit of garden is planted with some up and some plants being set.

Mrs. Ed Fuqua and Mrs. Riley Smith and children spent Sunday with Mrs. Hubert Howell, Mrs. Fuqua's daughter.

Mrs. Riley Smith and little son, spent Tuesday with Mrs. Ruth Fry, Mrs. Fry helped her with some sewing.

Tuesday night, Tom Williams and son, Carol, went down to the big dog race and to be there for the barbecue Wednesday.

Mrs. Ruth Fry and children, and Mrs. Matt Howell spent the day with Mrs. Ed Fuqua, Wednesday.

Well folks, ye writer did not get to turn this write up in last week's paper, so now we have a report to turn in on the dog race, some of the Catfish men were laughing, before hand, about them going to have so much better time on their encampment, than the ladies have on the club encampment, to the men it might have seemed more fun but we doubt if it was as uplifting and educational. There was something like 300 dogs on the ground but only 106 run for the money, some of them highly pedigreed and others just dogs.

There were lots of people, some from Oklahoma and they had several good races but did not catch a wolf. Then on Wednesday, came the big barbecue and the largest crowd of all, had plenty of barbecued beef for all and it was good too. The Catfish men came home Wednesday night so did not get to see the last race nor the awarding of prizes. One of Mr. Fuqua's dogs, they say, scored second at first but came home Wednesday morning. A dog from Mexia was ahead when the Catfish bunch left.

There was a state champion dog Tennessee Jack of Kentucky, a man from Jack County by the name of Elliott owned him. The Catfish men did not learn where the next meet would be held, but probably in some of these Western counties.

Several people of the Redtop community, are getting the seed in the ground.

Albert Fry of Catfish, was in Spur Friday marketing cream and trading with the merchants.

Matt Howell has all his land listed and relisted and some corn and cane planted, the way the wind is blowing every ones sand will probably be levelled up, but that all has to be put up with when we farm in the sand.

Mattie Howell spent the day with Mrs. Ruth Fry, Friday while Mr. Howell, wife and Gene Fry motored to town, they marketed

Waterways Gain

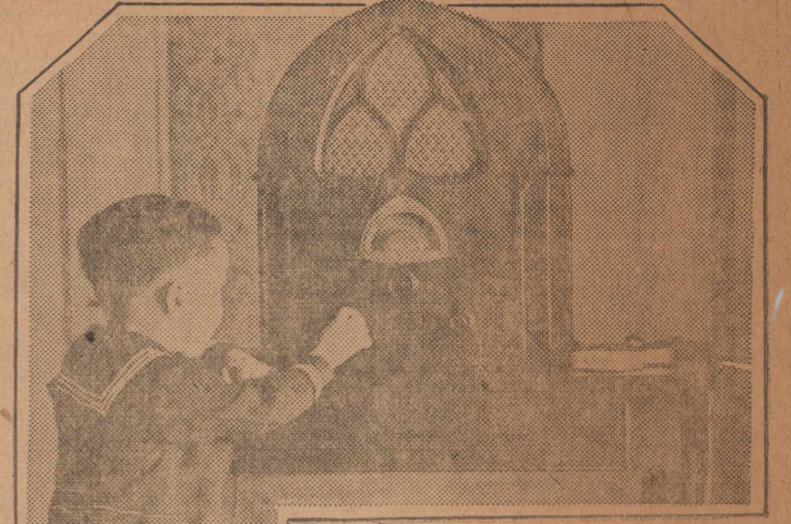

J. D. BEELER

EVANSVILLE, IND.—How low cost water haulage is increasing the distribution of commodities over rivers and canals is indicated by the fact that there are now 478 different transportation systems operating on inland waterways in the United States exclusive of the Great Lakes, according to J. D. Beeler, shipping authority and general manager of the Mead Johnson waterways terminal here.

"More than 200 of these waterways lines are common carriers," said Mr. Beeler, "offering a freight transportation service to the shipping public."

"The problem of coordinating waterways shipping with railroads and motor truck lines in cutting distribution costs is being met by the erection of terminals like the Mead Johnson terminal on the Ohio river at Evansville which provide facilities for handling and transferring freight from railroad cars and motor trucks to river barges, besides extensive storage space. With the facilities of a terminal and warehouse, distributors can take advantage of shipping large quantities of commodities close to their market."

Young Diplomat, Far From Home, Keeps in Touch Through Radio

Roberto Tuning In.

When he grows homesick for the sound of his native Spanish tongue, Master Roberto Perdomo, son of the acting minister of the Honduras legation in Washington, uses his new Atwater Kent compact superheterodyne to bring to him the lilting programs of Latin America.

For in spite of its size, the use of the powerful pentode tube in a special new pentode-superheterodyne circuit has made possible in this little radio set the qualities of range and power heretofore found only in large and expensive receivers.

The pentode tube, which is the heart of this new type radio, does the work formerly required of three tubes. It has twice the available undistorted output and six times the amplification of the usual three-element tube.

Roberto's compact set employs six tubes, three of which are screen-grid. There are five tuned circuits, a quick-vision dial, electrodynamic speaker and an antenna adjuster. In its design Atwater Kent has met, without sacrifice of power, sensitivity or tone-quality, the public's present demand for economy in cost, operation and space.

Science Now Credits First Broadcast to Hertz in 1887

Radio authorities and scientists are now uniting in giving belated credit to Heinrich Hertz for the first radio broadcasting.

"Heinrich Rudolf Hertz, inspired by his master the great Helmholtz, undertook and succeeded in experiments which realized the theory of James Clerk Maxwell," states Dr. C. G. Abbott, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution.

"Maxwell had gone far in the mathematical and philosophical theory of the electromagnetic character of radiation. If true, it implied that very long waves, but otherwise essentially of the same nature as light, could be produced and recorded by electrical means."

"Hertz not only produced and recorded long-wave electrically produced rays, but measured their wave lengths, their velocity of propagation, and their susceptibility to reflection, refraction and polarization in complete correspondence with the behavior of visible light."

"The first broadcasting was in a room in Karlsruhe, Germany, in 1887, according to Clarence A. O'Brien, Washington patent attorney, tracing the experimental work which led to radio broadcasting."

Mr. O'Brien gives first credit to Hertz. This first broadcasting, demonstrating the possibility of radio, is thus described by Hertz himself:

"When I placed the primary conductor in one corner of a large lecture room, fourteen meters long and twelve meters broad, the sparks could be perceived in the farthest parts of the room; the whole room seemed filled with the oscillations of the electric force."

Mr. O'Brien further explains that: "It was reserved for Hertz to discover and apply with marvelous ingenuity the necessary detector, a resonating circuit with an air gap, the resistance of which was broken down by well timed impulses.

A native of Hamburg, Hertz studied at Munich and Berlin, and later taught physics at Kiel, where he began the study of Maxwell's electromagnetic theory, which made his name famous. The experiments were actually made between 1885 and 1889, when he was professor of physics in the Polytechnic School of Karlsruhe, in Baden. He died in 1894, before Marconi developed the ground wire and antenna.

Ans. The days of strictly formal dance, entailing elaborate suppers, pretentious decorations and large orchestras has passed. In its place is the simple, enjoyable, inexpensive dance which at once is the delight of the guests and the pride of the hostess. Simplicity is the keynote of the modern dance. The charm of the house is no longer spoiled by over-decoration, because as the guests are assembled for dancing, space, a good floor plenty of fresh air, and only a small orchestra are all that is needed.

2. What responsibility does the boy have at a dance?
 Ans. The boy should request the first and the last dance of the girl escorted to the dance; then takes care that she has a partner for each dance, and that she is never left a wallflower while he dances with some other girl. At the end of the dance the boy thanks the girl for the dance and seeks another partner. The boy who can dance should not lounge in another room smoking and chatting, for this is very unfair to the girls. If you can dance and do not want to, I say, decline the invitation.

3. Should the girl seek her partner?
 Ans. No. Never, she should wait until he comes to claim her.

4. Is "cutting in" at a dance proper?
 Ans. Perhaps the custom of "cutting in" carries with it the merest suggestion of discourtesy, but when we consider the informal gaiety of the dance room, the keen and whole hearted love of dancing we can understand why the privilege is extended. Like many other privileges, it becomes distasteful when it is abused.

5. If the dance has not been very long in progress, and the girl wishes to continue with the partner she has, and some one "cuts in" what should she say?
 Ans. She may nod and say, "the next time we pass here". The dance continues and when the couple reach the same place again, the lady leaves her partner and finishes the dance with the boy who had cut in.

6. Should a boy and girl dance together very long?
 Ans. No. If they do, they will make themselves conspicuous.

7. What is the correct dancing position?
 Ans. In guiding the girl across the polished floor to the tune of a simple waltz or a gay fox trot, the boy encircles her waist half way with his right arm, laying the palm of his hand lightly just above the waist line. With his left hand, he holds her right at arm's length in the position most comfortable for both of them, taking special care not to hold it in an awkward or ungainly position. His face is turned slightly to the left, while hers usually faces front or slightly to the right. The girl should place her left arm on her partner's right arm. She must follow him and not try to lead the dance herself.

8. What style of clothes is more appropriate for the girl and boy to wear to a dance in Spur?
 Ans. Simplicity and harmony of color combined to give an effect that is wholly charming. Simplicity in dress has more beauty and effect than elaborate "creations". Of course, in a larger place elaborate "creations" are usually called for.

9. When should you honk a car?
 Ans. Never sound your horn wildly, for no other reason than to frighten the less fortunate people that rave to walk. The horn should be used to warn people out of the road, or when turning a dangerous corner. It should never be used to signal to a person that the car is waiting outside; especially a girl.

10. How to overcome self-consciousness?
 Ans. Self-consciousness is very hard to overcome. To overcome it you can go somewhere and wear something that you don't want to and do something that won't call attention to yourself.

HOME ECONOMICS CONVENTION AT LUBBOCK

The following article is an account of the Home Economics Convention that was held at Lubbock April 30, May 1-2 as Miss Haralson, Lois Law, Helen Power, Robbie Lee Abernathy and Evalene Hazel saw it:

Our First Day in Lubbock
 As most of you know, it was very muddy Thursday morning, but we, Miss Haralson, Lois Law, Helen Powers, Robbie Lee Abernathy and Evalene Hazel could not miss our trip on account of that, so Miss Haralson chaffered us to Lubbock. We felt very safe, as she was reared in the black mud country and got us there at 2:30, just in the midst of a rustle for cars to drive over the city, and were almost taken out of our own car, so that there would be enough room for others.

The Banquet
 We did not eat again until we went to the banquet; you see we wanted to be economical. Really it was not necessary for we had a most splendid banquet and all the good eats that goes with one, but the chicken was so tough and the space so small that we were not able to eat any. There was an interesting program that everyone enjoyed.

The Tea
 Miss Haralson chaffered a very nervous quartet to tea at the Practice House of Home Economics Girls at Tech. We finally got over our scare and giggles as usual. Robbie Lee, dignifiedly trying to manage her first pair of gloves picked up some sticky candy. We laughed until our glasses rattled on our plates, much to the embarrassment of Miss Haralson. About this time a tumbling noise was heard, and some one had arrived at the bottom of the stairs after a quick descent, head first. We left thanking our lucky stars that it wasn't Lois.

Thursday Night
 Sandwiches being all we had learned to order, we had them for dinner and supper.

Our greatest trouble with Miss Haralson was that she wanted to go to her room too many times so she could get the key from the office boy. Well, we will admit that he was good looking.

Since we had passes to the show we were in a hurry to get there so we could see it twice, but alas, Helen had fallen for an elevator boy and was riding up and down as long as possible. We found that the show was the same as we had seen at Spur, although we were eighty-five miles from home. After riding around a while we went to bed.

Up At Six
 Evalene and Lois decided that they should rise at six and study. Gee, but it was terrible to get up so early, for they waked everyone else and made them get up also. This was the big day, and everyone felt that they were going to win all the first prizes.

By seven o'clock we were ready to go to breakfast. We ate again at the Tech Cafe; all of the breakfasts were quite large and Evalene insisted that we eat everything so that we would get our money's worth! Indeed, we satisfied our hunger! Immediately after breakfast we went to the hotel to dress for the contests. Miss Haralson and Lois searched the hotel from top to bottom for a pressing room but none could be found. We decided that we would find one across the street or just around the corner and Evalene just would be economical. She hunted until she found one where she could press her own dress for nothing and the rest of us had to pay.

Just Riding
 Almost every boy in Lubbock from fifteen to thirty was on the roof of the hotel so you can imagine all the noise. After the banquet Miss Haralson and Lois went riding, while Evalene enjoyed herself by vamping Robbie Lee's new boy friend. At about twelve o'clock we went to our room and to bed at one.

Our Last Day
 Because of our late bedtime Friday, we were accosted with the wailing of Robbie Lee and Miss Haralson, which was easily overcome by a slight sprinkling of water down the backbone.

To Lunch
 We had chicken noodle soup, and Evalene said that she did not eat noodles that way at home! After lunch, Helen, Robbie Lee, and Evalene went riding. They fooled many college sheiks by making them believe that they were about to get a ride by almost stopping their limousine.

Shopping
 Miss Haralson and Lois went shopping. Lois had a very hard time keeping Miss Haralson from buying everything that she saw. Indeed, we were quite interested in baby clothes but that was because we were making a layette in Home Ec. II and we wanted to get all "the new ideas."

Reader
 Careful study and thought will be given your problems of preparing for a worthwhile position in life in the shortest possible time if you will but ask for DRAUGHONS BUSINESS COLLEGE
 Lubbock, Texas

At nine o'clock Evalene was shoved into a room with all the girls entering the "company dinners" and was given a family with a certain salary, to prepare a dinner for their guests. Of course she would have won but she could not ask any questions.

We really think Robbie Lee would have won had she not been placed in Class A schools, all through mistake. She should have been placed in Class B schools.

At ten o'clock Helen and Lois anked over to the Hilton; Miss Haralson met them about half way and informed Lois that she was supposed to meet and contest in a music store on Broadway.

Helen modeled her dress at the Hilton. Even though she did not win Miss Haralson still insists that her hose were all right, but the judge said they were too dark.

After pressing more dresses, as usual, we paraded to the Linsey Theatre. We were troubled quite a bit with the sprinkling of the rain as we had to walk about five blocks. We really had rather not mention how the contest comes out, for Spur was almost left out. Beaumont won first places than any other town represented and they were awarded an electric sewing machine. We believe after we hit the "ole home town" at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night and although we won no prizes, our year or two more of practice we will be able to win something, and hope to be able to send a large crowd to Mineral Wells next year.

Our dresses for affiliation were checked and we are expecting an affiliation. At 2:30 we started home and all at once a terrible noise was heard outside the car. Well, even though we wore girls, we got the tire changed in a short time and were ready to try our luck again. By the way, ask Miss Haralson how hard grease is to get off. Just as we got to Crosbyton what could be more disgusting than to have another blow out, and after much thinking and figuring we managed to get home with the aid of Mrs. W. B. Lee.

The Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. A. C. Gentry, May the 1st. There were eight members and one visitor present. Miss Osborne gave a talk on the three D's of Texas. A demonstration was given on renovating a garment. The next meeting will be at the Baptist Church, May the 15th. A demonstration on good and bad types of kitchen aprons will be given. —Reporter.

The Harvester-Thresher Savings Investment Plan

MAKES IT EASY FOR YOU TO OWN A McCORMICK-DEERING HARVESTER-THRESHER

Under This New Plan Every Responsible Grain Grower Can Pay for His McCormick-Deering Out of a Part of the Savings His Combine Will Make

CROP production cost figures compiled by McCormick-Deering Harvester-Thresher users show savings in harvesting and threshing costs of 20 cents or more per bushel when compared with government average costs for farms with similar yields.

We are so confident that thousands of additional grain growers can make proportionate savings with a McCormick-Deering Harvester-Thresher that we are announcing the McCORMICK-DEERING HARVESTER-THRESHER SAVINGS INVESTMENT PLAN, under which you or any other responsible grain grower can purchase a combine now and meet the first payment after harvest with just a part of the savings made possible by the new machine—with two more years to pay the balance.

Keep in mind that under this plan you get a time-tried and time-tested combine backed by 18 years of field experience with harvester-threshers. It is sold to you by a well-established McCormick-Deering dealer in your own community, whose stocks and service are supplemented by this large, permanently established International Harvester branch house right here in your own section.

In McCormick-Deering dealers' stores the repair bins are well stocked with genuine IHC repair parts. Thousands of these dealers maintain completely equipped service stations, offering factory-standard service on McCormick-Deering Harvester-Threshers and Tractors and all International Harvester equipment. Additional service stations are being established as rapidly as they are justified by business in the community. As a direct result, McCormick-Deering service is better today than it was last year or 10 years ago; our resources and reputation are your guarantee that it will be still better when the harvester-thresher, tractor, or any other machine you buy today is 10 years old.

Consider well the value of this superior service before you select a harvester-thresher. You want to buy where you get the greatest value; not just the day you sign the order, but through every day and every year you rely on your purchase for cost-reducing performance at home and in your custom work. RED CROSS did work in the Russian famine in 1892 and in Armenia in 1896. Next it did a wonderful service in Cuba during the War of 1898, and at the close of the war in order that they might continue their services, they received assistance from France, England, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, German, Italy, Denmark and Mexico.

The Red Cross also rendered sufficient aid after the following disaster: Jamestown flood, 1889; Galveston flood, 1900; San Francisco earthquake and fire, 1906; Cherry Mine Disaster, 1909; Chinese famine, 1910; Italian earthquake, 1908; Minnesota forest fires, 1910; Luzon eruption, 1911; and Titanic sinking, Mississippi and Ohio floods, 1912; Eastland disaster, 1915.

The governments of the different nations give no regular support to the Red Cross except in a very few countries. The membership of the Red Cross society before 1914 was approximately as follows: United States, 298,000; France 55,000; Austria, 52,209; Hungary, 42,041; Japan 894,814; German branch and affiliated societies, 300,000.

The American Red Cross was headed in May 1917 by President Wilson. His whipping this organization into efficiency and raising $100,000,000 for the Red Cross work during the week of June 18 to 25, was indeed marvelous. During the five months May to October the membership grew from less than 500,000 to 5,000,000, and the number of chapters from 682 to 2736.

We are all familiar with what the Red Cross did during those trying days from April 1917, to November 1918. In 1918 the membership of the American Red Cross was 20,648,103. Canteens and rest stations at 700 railroads and embarkments in the United States and 50 base hospitals had been organized of which 49 were sent to France. Over 32,000 nurses had enrolled and 63 convalescent homes were provided, for the relief work in foreign lands. The relief work amounted to 51,000,000 dollars during the year 1921, and ten million dollars was expended in behalf of the veterans.

The year 1930-31 the Red Cross and its activities have been felt more in this locality and appreciated more perhaps than any other organization that has ever rendered service in time of need. We should keep in mind that its activities are propelled by the unselfish desire on the part of sympathetic men and women to be of service to their fellows in time of need and distress. It is non-partisan, and non-religious. It is the spirit of mutual assistance having been instituted in the mind of man from time immemorial by the teaching of the greatest teacher in the universe. Let every man and woman be ever ready to contribute his or her dollar once a year that this spirit of assistance and sympathy may go down through the ages, and bring individuals and families who are in dire need and distress through the valley of depression, and point the way to the pinnacle of success and happiness.

We as a community want to thank the Red Cross and the people who are at the head of it for the efficient care of the many families in West Texas who have suffered from the drought and depression of the immediate past. Let us repay by becoming a member when the Roll Call time comes and remaining a member.

TO OUR FRIENDS

We wish to express our deep appreciation for the many kind words spoken and the many acts of kindness during our recent bereavement. We appreciate your thoughtfulness, the flowers, the interest that friends took, all of which were so helpful in assisting us to bear our sorrows. You will never know the good you did in this respect for you brought sunshine into a dark hour.

SENIORS ENJOY PICNIC AT MEDICINE PARK

Members of the Senior Class of Spur High, enjoyed a three days picnic at Medicine Park, Oklahoma,

Health In The Home Menu

Basic Foods and Simple Recipes for Healthful Family Diet

PLENTY of milk, fruits and vegetables every day, eggs several times a week, meat or fish or cheese once daily, with cereals, sweets and fats to make up the calories,—that is the simple recipe for a healthful diet. Nutrition is a complicated science but its findings are easily interpreted. For children there must be three or four cups of milk daily, and grown-ups need at least a cup. There must be fruit for every one.

Oranges, bananas or tomato juice certainly every day for the children. Oranges, bananas which are an all-year fruit are extremely rich in food value. But the bananas must be ripe—flecked with brown. In this condition they can be given even to tiny babies when the pulp is finely crushed. Cooked, dried and canned fruit may be used as well. Vegetables—potatoes each day and at least one green or yellow vegetable should be used liberally. The following economical but nourishing meal can be used as a base for all meals of the week.

- Breakfast: Orange juice with sliced bananas. Cooked cereal — or — Ready-to-eat Cereal. Poached eggs. Toast. Coffee. Milk for children. Luncheon: Soup. Baked bananas with Bacon. Cabbage and Pepper Salad. Bread. Butter. Milk for children. Gingercake. Dinner: Roast Shoulder of Lamb with Barbecue Sauce. Baked Potatoes. Scalloped carrots with onions. Caramel Custard with Toasted Marshmallows. Baked Bananas with Bacon. 6 bananas; 1/4 pound bacon. Peel bananas and arrange in oven proof baking dishes or platters. Cover with sliced bacon and bake in a hot oven 450° F. about fifteen minutes until bananas are tender and bacon is crisp. Bake at least once during the baking. Whole or halved bananas may be wrapped in bacon and cooked in the same way, or broiled. Barbecue Sauce: 1 small onion, 2 tablespoons butter; 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1/4 cup catsup; 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce; 2 tablespoons prepared mustard; 1/2 teaspoon celery seed; 1 cupful meat stock from the roast. Slice the onion lengthwise and saute lightly in the butter; add the other ingredients and simmer slowly for 15 minutes.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Cars left early Friday morning and arrived at Medicine Park about three o'clock in the afternoon where three comfortable cottages were ready for them. The wind ranged high and the sand sifted through the air, but the seniors went on and were glad they did.

Miss Lora Barrett, sponsor of the class, was in charge and everything was conducted in a fine manner. When the class arrived Miss Barrett gave just a few orders which were necessary for the general supervision, and after that no more orders were given—none were needed. The members of the class departed themselves in an orderly manner and won the admiration of the entire town for their nice conduct and fine manners.

Medicine Park is a beautiful little resort where people find an opportunity to rest, fish, look at scenery, climb mountains and enjoy themselves. A fishing license for a period of ten days can be secured, and Medicine Creek and the lakes about are full of trout, bass, crappie and many other species of fish. Furnished cottages can be secured at reasonable prices, and the mountain air is very invigorating. Just a short day's drive from Spur country.
