

My Work At Short Course

CLARA RICH
McAdoo 4-H Club

I want to express my appreciation of my trip to the Short Course by telling some of the interesting things I did and saw while there.

We arrived at the Main Building to register Sunday afternoon after our visit with Miss Pratt's parents at Willis. We were assigned to rooms in Law dormitory and we were certainly glad to reach our rooms and unpack. Our meals were served in Mess Hall. The girls were divided into groups and each group had a sponsor or coun- cilor, who went with her group.

Each morning the boys and girls went to general assembly in Guion Hall. Here the president and secretary presided and there were new speakers each day. Miss Mary Wilson led the singing.

After this assembly the editors and reporters reported to Mr. Neal Douglass at the Main Building. Here we worked from 9:00 until 11:00. The staff of the "Daily Star," a paper put out by the boys and girls each day, consisted of eight editors of the different divisions. Each editor had about four reporters who collected materials and wrote reports. I was editor of the Home Making Department. My four reporters were sent out to attend the meetings and see the exhibits. When their reports were in I checked them and turned them to the managing editor. We usually completed our work on the paper in the morning and attended the regular programs with our groups in the afternoon.

The eight editors that were appointed this year were elected for next year and will receive a trip to

We wish to thank the people of Dickens County for the splendid vote given George Mahon on the 28th of July in his race for Congress in this district and ask for their continued good will and support. To those who did not support him in the first Primary we invite your consideration and support of his candidacy.

If elected to Congress George Mahon will represent ALL the people of this District. He is honest, capable and qualified to be the personal representative of every citizen in this District in any worthy undertaking.

the Short Course next year. Next year we plan to have a real newspaper that will be put out in the press rather than with the mimeograph as it was this year for it was an experiment this year.

While the editors and reporters were working on the paper the other boys and girls were enjoying talks and exhibits that were being given at various places. I enjoyed especially the talks and stories of the demonstrators and cooperators and the Gold Star winners.

Tuesday night I attended the banquet given in honor of the county winners in the girls' bedroom work. The banquet room was beautifully decorated and everything was so nicely arranged. Each of the district winners was asked to tell the story of her bedroom then the toastmistress asked for a few volunteers to tell about the most interesting thing in their bedroom. I told of my study table.

I wish that each club member in the county could attend the short course and really see the work being done for the good of the home. You are surely filled with enthusiasm to come home and make your club bigger and better.

State Winner Tells Of Short Course

MRS. R. C. ALEXANDER
Prairie Chapel Club
The twenty-fifth annual Short Course was the best of the three I have attended. It seemed like everyone tried to make it the best of all. I don't believe I ever saw a happier crowd assembled than the 5,000 at College Station last week. Perhaps I was just enjoying every minute and getting so much good from it that everyone else seemed to be too. When I attended the inspirational meetings each morning and heard so many important speakers from over the state and from Washington it made me feel that the farm is a happy and profitable place in which to live.

periods each afternoon where the folks really did what they were being taught. I was sorry I could not make a quartette of myself and attend that many programs each afternoon. But instead, I helped Mrs. Bernice Clayton, Home Improvement Specialist, with the tufted bedspread demonstration by helping her instruct the class each afternoon. I enjoyed the work as I learned so much more about the work by helping others. There were 71 tufted spreads, a lounging robe, some window draperies, and several pillow tops in the exhibit. There was one spread over 200 years old. The tufting was somewhat different from the way we do it but it was a very beautiful spread.

Another interesting feature of the Short Course was the Rural Pastors and Laymen's Conference which met at the college at the same time. This was the first meeting but they plan to meet each year during short course. They had their programs and conferences each day when we were busy but they conducted a vesper service each evening on the lawn at President Walton's home that we could attend.

The Rural Work Center was a real attraction. This center was a model to be used in the rural rehabilitation program of the Texas Relief Commission. It consisted of three units, a main building containing a canning kitchen, a work room and an office library; a syrup mill, and a mill center containing feed and grist mills. It was quite interesting to watch the people working there; some were cutting meat for curing, some making hollow tile for sub-irrigation, some sewing, others making mattresses, ropes, or basket, others making rugs and mats, some making hickory chairs others resinating worn chairs. In the canning unit they made grape juice, canned meat, made peanut butter.

The tours of the buildings on the campus with the various departments furnishing entertainment were very interesting as were also the horse show, band concert and community singing at the stadium three evenings during the week. When the club boys and girls would go marching by on their way to attend their programs I could not keep from being thrilled, thinking of the wonderful things they were learning and how much it was meaning to them. The trip is worth every thing to a boy or girl. But the greatest thrill of all was when I heard my name called as first place winner in the state wardrobe contest for demonstrators class II. My heart missed a beat or two and I don't know just how I made my way to the platform or how I made my speech of thanks. I am very happy over my Singer sewing machine but I am still happier over the way I won it for I enjoyed working with the people cutting and fitting patterns and doing other work in my wardrobe demonstration. If I had not won in the county or state I should still have felt many times repaid for my work. I hope we can send an even larger group to short course from our county next year. There is so much to see and hear and the association with farm people from all over the state is a joy. It is an ideal place to spend a vacation and forget there ever was such a word as the BLUES.

Will You Let Your Child's Eyes Limp Through Life?

NOTICE the next time you are in a crowd of people just how many of them are wearing glasses. Why is it that so many eyes are defective? In a great many cases it is because of poor lighting and improper use of the eyes in childhood. If you permit your child to read, to study, or even to play where there is not enough light or where there is blinding glare you are making a mistake that may be disastrous. Take care now to prevent your child's eyes from limping through life. Good light cannot be obtained from bare lamps, or lamps improperly shaded. Use good light to eliminate harsh contrasts—between bright and dark areas. Enjoy the benefit of plenty of light, for it is inexpensive, and new eyes cannot be bought for any price. Let our home-lighting specialist tell you how to arrange your lamps, and get the full value of the light you buy. This service is free.

offered, left $140,233,275 in Wisconsin. From this it may be seen that the claim the Texas Centennial will cause at least $640,000,000 to be left in this State is highly conservative. This for the reason there will be an attraction perhaps the greatest ever staged in America, and the further reason that Texas has a much larger season in which to attract visitors.

"In the last seven years Texas has spent probably more than $200,000,000 for the building and maintenance of a high class system of roadways. They connect the cities and towns, the seashores and the mountains, the wheat fields and the fruit orchards, the oil fields and the ranch country.

"Before the Centennial has ended much more will have been expended. With this vast expenditure, why should not Texas spend just an infinitesimal percentage of that amount in attracting to this State, for a season, millions of people who will use these highways, contribute through the gasoline tax toward the payment of the bonded or other indebtedness against them?"

"From every business standpoint the Centennial offers a way out for the business community of the State, and it offers substantial returns to the government of the State itself in the maintenance of its highways and its schools.

"Every parent in Texas ought to be a Centennial booster, if for no other reason because it offers this additional revenue to the public school system, assuring by millions of dollars the lengthening of terms and the bettering of facilities.

"And another thing, the tourist crop once attracted to Texas and shown the State, will return each year in large volume. It is the one crop that drouth and flood, storm or hail will not seriously affect. It is one of the most dependable crops in which Texas can place a small investment for its development."

The bride is a daughter of A. M. Shepherd and has spent most of her life in Spur and Spur community. She attended the Spur schools where she has a great host of friends. The groom is a young business man at Crosbyton, being engaged in the market business. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart carry the wishes of all their friends here for much happiness and prosperity in life together. They are at home at Crosbyton.

RANDOLPHS HOLD ANNUAL REUNION
The Randolphs held their annual family reunion the second Saturday and Sunday of August, that being their regular or set date for each year at Riverside Camp grounds, Leuders, Texas. A record performance was set this year, being the largest since it was made an annual affair about five years ago. The first year only about 30 attended, last year 80 and this year 112 were present and next year it is expected to be even larger. A beef was butchered for the occasion that with 75 loaves of bread and a few hundred pounds of ice and well filled baskets of cakes, pies, fruits and meats that each family brought from home (also plenty of black coffee) furnished the feast for all. Swimming, domino games, checkers and 42 games were some of the sports, but most of all enjoyed just the meeting and talking best of all and all are looking forward to the same date and place next year. Among those from Dickens County attending the reunion were: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Randolph and children of Afton, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Randolph and children of Afton, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Randolph and children of Dumont and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ritchie and son, Jimmie, of Spur. Show Card Inks, Stencils and writing ink at the Times Office.

L. C. PARKER, Mgr.

WALTER CLINE CITES FIGURES SHOWING CENTENNIAL BENEFIT
More than $10,000,000 additional revenues for schools and highways of in Texas will result from the holding of the Texas Centennial in 1936. This is the opinion of Walter D. Cline, Wichita Falls, member of the Texas Centennial Commission, and chairman of its executive committee. Mr. Cline bases his estimate upon the proceeds of a crop which he asserts has been long neglected by Texas. It is the tourist crop, which in a season, in less favored states and without the incentive of a great celebration, has dropped millions of dollars into the till of diversified interests. "Texas for too long a time has neglected the tourist crop," Mr. Cline asserts. "Get them once started this way, show them the great diversity of climate and attractions Texas has to offer and they will come back year after year, and thus the movement started by the Texas Centennial will continue to bring prosperity to the State through the years to come.

"A few figures should serve to open the minds of the people to the potentialities of the Centennial celebration. Before citing these figures let me say, however, that I am doing so solely that the business man and taxpayer may know that he is faced with no additional expense in the holding of the Texas Centennial. Insofar as the celebration itself is concerned it will be on a plane depicting the cultural, historical, religious, educational and material progress of Texas, with all reverence paid the patriots of other days.

"But there will be material advantages accrue as a result of such celebration, and the secondary celebrations to be held over the State, and it is these advantages I want to discuss at this time. "Colorado in a season, with no special event, with nothing to offer except its mountains and its climate, attracted 1,390,000 tourists. They remained there an average of fifteen days, during which time they spent $4.58 each per day, a total of $68.70 per person for the fifteen days. Of this amount 20 cents of each dollar was spent for oil, gas and car upkeep, 20 cents went to hotels and tourist camps, 25 cents was spent in retail stores, 21 cents for food supplies purchased directly by the travelers, 8 cents for amusement and entertainment and 6 cents for sundry other purposes.

"It is estimated that the average stay of the out-of-state visitor to the Texas Centennial will be around thirty days. It goes without saying there will be many times 1,390,000 visitors. It is estimated the number may run to 20,000,000. Assuming half this number for purpose of explanation and you will find a staggering amount added to the trade channels of the state as well as to the fund providing good roads and maintaining the public schools. From these figures alone it may be seen the Centennial will be a high class financial investment both for the State and its taxpayers. Incidentally it will be a fine investment for the Federal Government, which now is levying one cent in taxes upon all gasoline sold in the State.

"But figures from other States are just as convincing. Wisconsin has a tourist season of only 100 days. Visitors are attracted there by the State parks and lakes. Reports of the Highway Department of that State show that in a season it attracted approximately 5,000,000 visitors. Among other things they consumed 80,000,000 eggs, over 7,000,000 pounds of butter, more than 60,000,000 pounds of potatoes, peas, cabbage, beans, etc., they drank 75,000,000 quarts of milk. They ate over 250,000,000 meals in Wisconsin. The tourist season in the short period, with no unusual attractions

"HOUDINI, the master magician who could make a woman disappear in thin air, would be the first to endorse the modern 'disappearing' woman styles in dresses which New York fashion experts create to make the larger woman look slender," says Mrs. Lillian Stamm. "Houdini performed his trick by making use of the scientific laws of optical illusion," says Mrs. Stamm, who is stylist for Lane Bryant, a nationally known retail and mail-order house. "He would be pleased to see how clever designers use the same laws to make a size forty-six woman look size forty-two—a difference that all women appreciate." To get his effects, Houdini used mirrors. On a stage draped in black, he would cause a woman to disappear in thin air. Actually, he hid the woman behind a screen of mirrors which reflected the drapes. Fashion stylists use lines instead of mirrors. Their effects, however, are no less startling and convincing. By the proper cutting of a dress, by making use of diagonal and vertical lines correctly and by minimizing the use of conspicuous colors, they create dresses that give the illusion of making the wearer seem a size or two smaller. One of these line illusions was demonstrated to a group of New York fashion writers who called at Lane Bryant's recently. A chart was shown on which were two vertical lines. The first line was finished off with arrowheads, and the second line with arrowheads in reverse. The second line, though exactly the same length as the first, appeared considerably longer. The fashion writers were shown the dress pictured above in which the effect of this optical illusion was actually used. A suggestion of the reverse arrowhead at the upper end of the line appears in the V-neck of the dress and the lower reverse arrowhead is suggested in the kick-pleat of the skirt.

THE PEOPLE OF SPUR MADE THE CONVENTION A SUCCESS

The newspapers of Spur never could have made the West Texas Press Convention a success had it not been for the excellent co-operation of the people of Spur. It seemed that everybody in town wanted to do something for the convention and to make the guests in Spur enjoy themselves to the fullest.

It was quite a problem to solve many activities, but as soon as the people learned what was to be done there were more volunteers than there were places. The West Texas Utilities Company furnished the banquet the first day, and there was nothing lacking at that banquet. The newspapers of the town had planned the chicken barbecue for the evening after the guests had made their visit to the Experiment Station, but the Chamber of Commerce and Supt. Dickson said, "No," and took that privilege away from us. Then to make the occasion more pleasant the Dr. Pepper people unloaded several cases of their delicious fruit drink and said it was to be used at the barbecue, and the Spur Creamery donated several packers of that delicious Espuela Ice Cream, made from the cream produced by Dickens County cows, and the people were told to eat to the extent of their appetites.

Then came another surprise when Clifford B. Jones, manager for the Swenson interests here and Doc Ellis, the ranch manager, stated that the convention would not be complete without a real chuck wagon dinner to represent the ranching interests of this country. It was so ordered, and Lee Kelley, that famous chuck wagon cook, marshalled his forces, with many others again offering their services, and it proved a dinner that will be an historical epoch in the West Texas Press. Beef barbecue, dutch oven hot rolls, and everything else to make it complete served by the cowboys dressed in their chaps, boots with spurs and with a surrounding typical of a real chuck wagon dinner. Mr. Jones, Mr. Ellis and those cowboys will never know just what that dinner will mean to the press of West Texas.

Then there were those who left their businesses and gave of their time and service just to make everything convenient and to see that the guests who came were happy and contented. Many assumed the responsibility of entertaining at the reception, others assisted at the barbecue and the chuck wagon. It is difficult to tell just how much you added to the success of the convention and how you relieved the responsibility of the newspaper. Thanks, folks, thanks a whole lot for your unlimited efforts in every respect.

THE ANTI-SALES TAX LEAGUE

There is certain literature being sent to the press today over the caption of the Anti-Sales Tax League, which brands the Hon. Tom Hunter as favoring the sales tax. This is just some more political harangue that is not worthy of the attention of good thinking citizens, and probably the Anti-Sales Tax League is made up of about fifteen or twenty off-side politicians who have no interest in the welfare of Texas more than to satisfy their own political wishes.

Tom Hunter has never stood for a sales tax. In fact, at Austin, when the sales tax conference was held, Mr. Hunter was there and spoke before the House of Representatives against the sales tax. This statement is verified by the Hon. Coke Stevenson, speaker of the House, who would have to grant Mr. Hunter permission before he could address the body. Mr. Hunter states that Texas is not securing one dime revenue by way of tax from the raw materials, natural gas and other products which are being shipped from the State. Yet our farmers and ranchmen are heavily burdened by a heavy land tax at a time when the land will not produce enough to pay the taxes. He is asking the privilege to be Governor of Texas to see if some of these products cannot bear a graduate uniform tax and relieve the tax on real estate to some extent. Mr. Hunter is advocating the rights of the masses of Texas voters. No one has furnished him an $8,000 radio hook-up over which to make political speeches, and when the expense accounts of the various candidates for Governor were made out at the close of the first Primary, the contributions to Mr. Hunter's expenses showed to be less than half of that of any other candidate. He is an excellent lawyer with good business judgment and good old common "horse sense" that will make us a very fine Governor. The fact that he carried his home county over two other gubernatorial candidates, getting more votes than both of them, should be good evidence that he stands well with his home people.

WE AGREE TO SAME

The Sunday issue of the Lubbock Avalanche carried an editorial in regard to certain candidates trying to work up an ill feeling against the City of Lubbock while making the campaign for the second Primary and stated that the location of a candidate should have nothing to do with his qualifications, nor should said location reflect in any manner on any city. We agree with the editorial and state that no candidate should ever try to be elected on sectional conditions. The chief qualification of any one as a candidate for office should be honesty and a clean record in life. If we have no respect for a man as a private citizen certainly the people could have little respect for him as a public official. Hence, we say that when you make out your ticket August 25, you should not let the location of candidates home have too much influence unless he carries the qualifications for the office to which he aspires.

A WORD FROM A READER

Dickens County Times,
As I see so much talk of politics and law publications and Republicans, Democrats and devils, I think it high time us Rabbit Twisters is having a little say. I think we need a little law and legislation.

One day not long since, I, myself who is President of the Rabbit Twisters' Association, after chasing one big blue-side jack rabbit for some three or four miles, and endured the heat, bare-headed and sore footed, just about had him caught. But he got under the fence and a neighbor who went join the association, stopped me and says, "Let that rabbit alone, it is my rabbit; it is on my place." So, he being fresh after I had run down the meat, he easily picked him up.

So I say you Congressmen and the rest of folks who make laws, if you don't do something, we are going to have you black-balled after you get down there. As ever,
The Royal Knight of Rabbit Twisters.

Eben Malouf, of Rotan, was visiting friends in our city Monday. Mrs. Hunter and daughter, Miss Marie, of Claremont, were pleasant callers at the Times office Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Golding returned from Dallas Friday evening where they had been buying new merchandise for the fall trade. It was Wholesale Trades week in Dallas and Mr. Golding was caught as one of the big buyers and his picture appeared in the Dallas Times Herald.

"Sing What They Like"

Says Gladys Swarthout - Fame Heightens Her Ambition To Please All Listeners

An immense repertoire and amazing memory for songs have helped Gladys Swarthout to accomplish the thing she considers of greatest importance for a singer - to include light or popular numbers that are "dessert for the audience." When she reached peaks of world fame, attained by few American women, she was still as anxious to include songs in every program that everyone would enjoy. The Firestone summer series of Garden Concerts in which she appears each Monday, brings out in a delightful way her unusual ability to sing songs fitting to the occasion and the season.

The program for Monday, August 13, with Miss Swarthout, the vocal ensemble and William Daly's orchestra at 8:30 P.M., E.D.S.T. over the N.B.C. Red Network, is as follows: "Oh Dry Those Tears," (ensemble); "Russian Lullaby," (orchestra); "Estrellita," (Gladys Swarthout); "Make Believe," (Margaret Speaks, soprano, and Fred Hufsmith, tenor); "With a Song in My Heart," (Margaret Speaks); "To Spring," (orchestra); "Oh Lovely Night," (Gladys Swarthout); "Pagan Love Song," (quartet).

Shields entertained with a picnic party honoring Arvella Rich of De Leon and Helen Vermillion of Westminster. Those in attendance were:

Anita Harkey, Miriam Reed, Ruby Cowan, Emily Cowan, LaNelle Fallis, Mary Barnett Johnson, Elizabeth Wolfe, Mary Louise McCombs, Evelyn South, Arvella Rich, Helen Vermillion, Mrs. Hattie Turvan and Miss Jennie Shields.

REPORT OF REVIVAL WHICH CLOSED MONDAY AT CROTON

Rev. H. T. Harris reports a real good meeting. Rev. W. T. North of Jayton, did most of the preaching, the pastor finishing after Rev. North left Thursday to begin a revival on the plains.

Large crowds were present for the services. There were 26 conversions, 27 additions to the church and about 45 or 50 reclamations. There were 4 conversions and 3 reclamations and three additions at the eleven o'clock closing service Monday. There were 19 baptized Monday evening with other baptisms to be made later.

Rev. Harris, who has served as pastor of the church for five years has baptized 110 members into this church. The membership was 45 when he accepted the work and now has around 150 members. Rev. Harris is in a revival at White Flat this week and asks the prayers of the Christian people for the success of the work there.

CONDUCTS SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL AT PEACOCK

Bro. Harris just closed a successful revival at Peacock two weeks ago 18 conversions, 18 additions to the church, 18 baptisms and 40 reclamations. A real good revival. Rev. W. T. North, pastor.

WRECKING THE RUINS FOR NEW HOME

The home of W. W. Fox on West Harris Street which was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago, is being wrecked this week and the rubbish cleared away for a new building. Just what type of home will replace the old one is not known, but Mr. Fox enjoys a nice home and in all probability he will erect a nice residence.

TOM HUNTER GUEST OF COWBOYS

Tom F. Hunter, candidate for governor, was guest of honor at an impromptu cowboy reunion at Plainview last week when he stopped in that city to speak on the courthouse lawn. Hunter, back in 1905 and 1906 was riding the range on the Two Circle Bar ranch as an ordinary puncher.

His old foreman was Claude J. Waterspoon. Waterspoon, still a rancher, called on the candidate at his hotel and brought some of his cowboys along. They recalled long hours of ranch work at less than $1 per day.

"He was a good cowpuncher," said Waterspoon, "and he will be a greater governor."

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Granberry and daughter, Jean, left Friday for Abilene where they visited relatives. Mr. Granberry returned Wednesday to take charge of the affairs at his office.

Voters of Dickens County

The claim that Hunter traded for the Ferguson-McDonald vote is false;

The 200,00 voters that preferred McDonald in the July Primary stood on a common plane with all of us, and are welcome in the Hunter Camp, but are not for sale.

Allred's false statements "explaining his failure to prosecute the (Open Bar, and Gambling Shop)" is losing him more votes than his Ferguson Bogey Man will turn to him.

In planning meals for summer try to save time and energy by making the best possible use of your oven when it is to be used. One can always find room for potatoes for a meal or a pan of apples which are good for supper or breakfast. Also plan some suppers which can be prepared while you are getting ready for dinner.

Breakfast: Poached eggs on toast, milk for children, coffee for adults.

Dinner: Rice scalloped with cheese, liver and bacon, bread, cucumber salad, ice tea.

Supper: Baked potatoes, prune soufflé, hot tea, milk.

Breakfast: Bananas with cream, bran muffins, jelly, coffee for adults, milk for children.

Dinner: Baked sweet potatoes, green beans, buttered beets, shrimp salad, jello with custard sauce.

Supper: Spoon cornbread, baked apples, ice tea, milk.

SHRIMP SALAD: Fresh or canned shrimp may be used, and for family use may be cut rather fine and placed on shredded lettuce. Cooked dressing is preferable when eggs are cheap.

Four eggs or the yolks of eight, 1 T vinegar or lemon juice to each egg, 2 T butter or olive oil if desired (can use as much as one-third cup), 1 t salt, 1-2 t paprika, 1 t dry mustard, 1 c cream whipped. Beat eggs without separating yolks and whites. Place in top of double boiler. Scald vinegar; pour slowly over eggs and cook until the mixture thickens, stirring constantly to insure smoothness, while hot add butter or olive oil and seasonings. Cool and add whipped cream. This dressing will keep two weeks if placed in glass jar, covered and kept in cool place, but the cream is added just before using.

PRUNE WHIP: 1-4 c dried prunes, 1-2 c sugar, whites of 4 eggs, 1-2 T lemon juice. Wash prunes and soak in cold water several hours. Cook in same water until soft. Remove stones and rub prunes through a strainer; add sugar and cook 5 minutes. The mixture should be of consistency of marmalade. Beat egg whites until stiff; add prunes and cook in moderate oven until the egg is set—about 10 minutes.

This dessert may be placed in baking dish or in individual custard cups, but should be placed in pan of water in oven to prevent over heating.

The whip recipe is given with the salad dressing recipe because it provides a means of using the egg whites when yolks are used alone to give deep yellow color to salad dressing. Another way to use yolks is to make a jelly cake with egg yolks only. This is excellent if eaten while warm and fresh.

SPOON CORNBREAD: Scald 2 cups of milk, stir in 1-2 cup corn meal; add 1 tsp. salt and cook in double boiler until of the consistency of mush (10 min.). Cook slightly, add 3 egg yolks well beaten; add 1-2 t baking powder and 1 T butter, melted. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs. Pour into greased casserole and bake in a moderate oven about 45 minutes. Individual pyrex custard cups may be used. If so, place them in a pan of water to prevent overcooking.

My Trip To Short Course

LIZZIE LOU BAXTER
Afton 4-H Club

We left Spur about 5:00 p. m. July 28 with Miss Pratt. There were seven of us including Mrs. Crockett's two children. We had supper on the road and left Mrs. Crockett in Waco with her sister. Saturday morning we had breakfast in Fairfield and arrived at Miss Pratt's home near Willis about eight Saturday morning.

I enjoyed my visit there equally as much as I enjoyed the Short Course because I had never been in East Texas before and the woods were beautiful. We enjoyed horseback riding and leaf collecting. Sunday afternoon we left for College Station and arrived there about 4:30. Here Cleo Smith, who went on the bus, joined us and Miss Pratt took us to our dormitory and left us with Miss Odessa Cook, our counselor. We, Clara Rich, Cleo Smith and I were fortunate in getting to room together and in having Miss Cook share our room.

The girls and boys marched in double file to the mess hall at each meal. Monday we elected president and secretary for the year. There were so many girls there that we divided into groups of 40 or 50 to attend the various programs except for the general assembly in Guion Hall each morning when the boys and girls had a joint meeting. Monday night everyone went on a tour of the campus. Of all the buildings we went through, the museum interested me most.

Among the interesting talks I attended were a talk on nature by Mrs. L. D. Robertson; Building a Personality by Miss Peggy Morris; Pictures for your home was an illustrated lecture by C. C. Clack; Flower arrangement for house and yard by Miss Onah Jacks; and Great Personalities by H. H. Williamson. Many of the programs were of a recreational nature as Pepping Up Your Club, conducted by Mrs. Chester Heinen; Easy-made play equipment; and sing songs led by Miss Mary Wilson.

Tuesday night I attended the banquet given in honor of the bedroom demonstrators. We had been looking forward to the banquet and felt that the best was over but learned that it was just beginning. At the banquet the district winners were announced and the state winners were awarded. Several talks were made by the winners and volunteers. The toastmistress was a club girl from Galveston County.

Wednesday night the boys and girls were given a party at the gym. Every one had such a good time. Thursday night the gold star boys and girls were presented and Friday night besides the band concert was the exhibit of all the things that had been made during the week.

Thursday afternoon all the girls met in Guion Hall for the bedroom exhibit and to hear the stories of the bedroom demonstrators. Friday morning the Washington trip winners told of their work. We learned so many new songs for each morning in general assembly part of the hour was given over to singing. Miss Wilson knows how to get people to sing too.

We arrived in Spur at one o'clock Saturday afternoon having left College Station at 10:00 the night before. I wish that each 4-H club member might have the privilege of attending the short course for it meant more to me than I can express. I am more than grateful to those who made it possible for me to go. It is my plan now to help send one or more members from my club next year. I hope I can go again too.

SMITH SUPPORTERS PLEDGE AID TO McCRAW

Austin, Aug. 7—(Special) Scores of Clyde E. Smith leaders and others active in the first primary campaign for the Tyler county candidate pledged their support and aid to William McCraw, who led the field in the Attorney General's race, as McCraw made a "victory march" through southeast Texas this week.

McCraw was hailed at every appearance as the rightful successor to the nearly 200,000 votes cast for Smith, who was eliminated in the first primary.

In making his appeal for the allegiance of Smith supporters, McCraw pointed out the similarity between his campaign and that of Smith.

"Clyde Smith and I stood for the same things and were the objects of the same attacks by the same interests who always will oppose able and sincere men," he said.

"In the first primary there were two lawyers opposing a politician. One of these lawyers has been eliminated and I alone remain to carry on the fight against the politician from Coleman."

McCraw urged that Smith supporters should be proud of the votes they cast for the Tyler county man, declaring, "Clyde Smith merited your ballots, he is a fine lawyer, a fine gentleman and would have made a great attorney general."

Smith leaders who introduced the Dallas candidate, declared McCraw to be the man who could carry out the principles and aims advocated by Smith.

"McCraw, stressing his platform, gave out little attention to Walter Woodward, his runoff opponent, whom he led by nearly 8,000 votes in the first primary.

He did, however, call attention to the fact that Woodward continued his inconsistency in the case of Smith.

"In this section he praised Smith, but when he got away from those who know better, he said Smith's record was a gooseegg," McCraw charged. "The senator from Coleman can't stand behind one statement for long."

In Woodville, Smith's home city, McCraw urged that "you remember that goose-egg statement when Walter comes back down here, if he does and starts his hypocritical hymn of praise for the man you supported."

As an indication of the esteem of which he is held by those who know him best, McCraw cited the three to one vote given him in Dallas county, where he has lived most of his life.

"Those with whom a man associates in his daily life are the best judges of him and you have seen the verdict of those who know me best," he said.

McCraw in reviewing his platform, emphasized his attitude in regard to the permanent school fund, taxation and control of the public utilities.

"By their vote in the first primary the people of Texas have shown that they consider my program constructive and progressive and I am confident that the runoff results will show that more vividly," McCraw said.

FOR YOU . . . Good Service at Fair Cost

THUS was laid the groundwork for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company of today . . . the parent organization of the 24 regional operating companies, of which the Southwestern Company is one.

Over more than 50 years of operation, the fundamental policy of the Bell group, as guided by this parent organization, has been to give good telephone service at a fair cost.

This policy has been adopted because we feel that, from your standpoint as much as from our own, it is sound and workable. It is based upon the belief that in an undertaking planned like the telephone service for the long pull, what is best for the telephone user becomes in the end the policy that will bring us the sounder, more enduring success.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company

In 1876 Alexander Graham Bell finally perfected his telephone. The first voice heard over wires was Bell's when he called through his instrument to his assistant, Thomas Watson, "Mr. Watson, come here, I want you."

Almost unnoticed at the great Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia, Bell realized his problem was but half solved. He had his telephone, but how was he to convince people they could send their voice over thin metal wires?

Bell wisely left that problem to his father-in-law, Gardiner G. Hubbard. Hubbard and a group of friends hit upon the idea of licensing other companies to use Bell's patents. In exchange, they accepted stock in these companies.

We like to have people know how the telephone works. If you would be interested in a peek behind the scenes, so to speak—in finding out how your telephone calls are handled—just drop by the telephone office. We shall be glad to show you through.
