

Pretty Things that are Made at Home

Seeing that the holiday rush is a thing of the past, the good housewife wisely sets to work to take inventory of the house furnishings, preparatory to a campaign of household replenishing. New curtains for the guest room, more bed linen needed, Samark runner for the library table, and, oh yes, sofa cushions! Several of them! This runs the list along.

A "picture pillow," such as is shown at the top of this illustration should prove a very timely suggestion, for embroidered pictures are the rage, whether framed or used for footstool or pillow tops. It was Madame de Maintenon, who, during the days of Louis XIV made tapestry needlework so popular among the ladies of France. Now as in days of old this form of handwork holds an irresistible charm for the woman who loves to do fine stitches.

The fancywork departments make it easy for the would-be embroiderer in that they carry picture-stamped outfits which include the stamped canvas done in colors indicating the exact color of yarn to be used, also a supply of woolen yarn in selected colors, also the satin foundation, cut proper size for the pillow. It does not take long to embroider one of these pictures, for the work is simple, proving a fascinating pastime for leisure hours.

It comes somewhat as a surprise, no doubt, to learn that the round pillow is made of crepe paper. And if you think they are not durable, make one and see for yourself. The trick is that the paper cushion top is covered with sheer chiffon in this wise. First, flowers are cut out of fancy patterned crepe paper and pasted on crepe paper in any chosen solid tint—pale blue, pink, rose, light green, yellow as will accord with the furnishings in the room. Next, a layer of chiffon in neutral tint, flesh color or cream, is pasted over the flowers, bordered crepe paper circle. This is then fastened on a layer of cotton batting, just as are usually prepared for quilting. The pillow top is then quilted exactly as one does ordinary quilt work. The quilting is not worked through the bordered part. When finished the flower design, veiled as it is with the chiffon, gives the appearance of exquisite hand-painting. Of course the pillow need not necessarily be round, for square and oblong shapes are equally as effective. The quilting may be done by hand or machine.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE

THE STATE OF TEXAS,
COUNTY OF BAILEY.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN That by virtue of a certain Alias Execution issued out of the Honorable District Court of Lubbock County, of the 10th day of January, 1930, by Clerk of said Court for the sum of six Hundred seventy-three & 20-100 ($673.20) Dollars and costs of suit, under a Judgment, in favor of J. G. Hall and Tom Jones in a certain cause in said Court, No. 3188 and styled J. G. Hall et al vs Sam S. Denman, placed in my hands for service, I, H. A. Douglass, as Sheriff of Bailey County, Texas, did, on the 10th day of February, 1930, levy on certain Real Estate, situated in Bailey County, Texas, described as follows, to-wit:

178 of the Motley County school lands situated in Bailey County, Texas, containing 177 acres of land, and levied upon as the property of Sam S. Denman and that on the first Tuesday in March, 1930, that same being the 4th day of said month, at the Court House door, of Bailey County, in the Town of Muleshoe, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said Alias Execution, I will sell said above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said Sam S. Denman.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Muleshoe Journal, a newspaper published in Bailey County.

NEW USES FOR COTTON INCREASES CONSUMPTION

WASHINGTON—Recent reports by the Departments of Commerce and Agriculture of their investigations into new uses of cotton show that very remarkable results have been attained in finding new channels for that commodity.

As a result of departmental work and the interest stimulated by them a great deal of cotton has been going into entirely new avenues of usefulness. Cotton and cotton blends are being used in automobile tops, awnings, basic road construction, ceiling materials, building linings, paper and many other important lines of industry.

It is also being used in the making of an artificial silk which is rapidly taking the place of that commodity and building up a great industry in the South.

Congressman Marvin Jones of Texas, the author of the measure under which this work has been done, has received favorable editorial comment from many papers throughout the South. He was presented by President Coolidge with the pen which the President signed the measure.

Mr. Jones is highly pleased with the report of the work done by the Departments and the Textile Institute, and is optimistic as to their plans for the future.

THE TEXAS CAPITOL

Our magnificent Capitol building is shaped like a Greek cross, fronting south, with a projecting center and flanks, having a rotunda and dome at the intersection of the main corridors. The corner stone of this immense structure was laid on March 2, 1885, and the completed building was dedicated on May 16, 1888. It was built at a cost of 3,000,000 acres of land of the state, taken from the public domain. This land today is worth about sixty million dollars.

The dimensions of the Capitol building are as follows: Length, 556 feet 6 inches, inclusive of porticos; width, 228 feet 10 inches at widest point; height, 311 feet from grade line to top of statue on dome—seven feet taller than the dome of our national Capitol.

The building contains 258 rooms, 900 windows, and 500 doors. The exterior walls are built of Texas red granite from the inexhaustible quarries of Burnet County. Seventy five miles of railroad lines were built to haul the materials of granite and of stone.

The vainscoting is made of oak, pine, cherry, cedar, walnut, ash, and mahogany, the aggregate length is about seven miles. The building, proper, covers three acres of floor space.

The work of construction was begun on February 1, 1882, and the building is second in size only to the Capitol at Washington. It is seventh largest building in the world. The grade line is 600 feet above the level of the sea.

On the right side of the broad pavement leading to the main entrance to the Capitol have been erected the Confederate and Alamo monuments, and on the left are the Firemen's and Terry Ranger's monuments, and the John B. Hood Brigade monument on the east side of the Capitol, where the Capitol green houses are also located. The Texas cowboy statue is located on the west side of the Capitol building.

FINDS STATE BANKS WELL SUPERVISED

Bankers Body Sees Less Politics in Banking Departments With Better Facilities in the Hands of the Responsible Officials.

A survey of state banking departments by the State Bank Division, American Bankers Association, discloses a distinct tendency the past five years to take bank supervision out of politics, to increase the discretionary powers of bank commissioners, to lengthen their terms of office, to supply them with adequate forces of qualified examiners and to relieve banking departments from political interference to banking, says a recent statement issued by the association.

"We have consistently urged that the office of bank commissioner be a free from partisan politics as the judiciary itself and that it be divorced from all other functions of state government," the statement says. "Further, that his term of office be made more secure and lasting, with sufficient salary and power granted to attract and retain the services of men of outstanding executive ability, courage, resourcefulness and successful banking experience.

"Five years ago the first survey of state banking departments by the division demonstrated the need for improvements. On the basis of data now in hand it is evident that, through the revision of statutes in many states, rapid steps are being taken in the right direction. One by one the states are coming to recognize the primary importance of strong, competent banking departments. The demand for increasing the effectiveness of banking departments is beginning to met."

How Bank Commissioners Are Chosen

The office of bank commissioner is now operated as an independent department of state government in thirty-four states, the bankers find. In two states the bank commissioner is elected at general elections; in one he is appointed from eligible lists of the civil service and in another, he is selected by the banks. In one state the bankers' association elects a list of five names from which the governor appoints one as superintendent of banks; in another he is appointed by the State Corporation Commission and in another by the State Banking Board.

"Terms of office of bank commissioners have been lengthened in several states during the last five years," the report says. "In 23 states the term is four years, in one, five years, and in three it is six years and in some the term is indefinite. A short term is condemned on the grounds that the commissioner has insufficient time to become thoroughly conversant with his field work. A longer term permits his rendering useful service through capitalizing his experience. Five years ago the average length of service was less than three years, while now it has risen to five years.

Higher Standards Required

"Signs of an awakening to the necessity of making successful banking experience a qualification for bank commissioner are evident. While eleven states report no banking experience necessary, the majority require experience of this sort, ranging from seven banking credits, with powers ranging from acting in an advisory capacity to full power over all state banks to issue and reject charters.

"A healthy sign is the number of reports which disclose that the commissioners have full power to appoint bank examiners or that these appointments are made from civil service lists. This power is now granted to the commissioner by twenty-seven states. Three require that selection be from civil service lists. Complaints are still made in a few states of political pressure in the appointment of examiners, but the contrary seems to be true in a growing number of states. The most capable commissioner cannot successfully perform his duties unless he is able to command the services of efficient, honest examiners. The safety of depositors is dependent on their work, and their appointment, fitness and compensation are highly important. The number of examiners has increased 25 per cent in the last five years."

BANKERS TO HOLD GREAT CONVENTION

Cleveland, Ohio, has been designated for the 1930 annual convention of the American Bankers Association. This organization, which numbers about 30,000 banks with $65,000,000,000 in assets, is annually the nation's most important financial event. The attendance ranges between five and ten thousand.

Cleveland is especially significant in the history of the Association's educational traditions since it was in this city, when the organization last met there in the year 1899, that the original resolution was presented looking to the formation of an educational section. This subsequently resulted in the American Institute of Banking in which are now enrolled 35,000 bank men and women engaged in the study of the technical and scientific phases of the business.

A bee census (made by accurate estimate) shows 425,000 colonies of bees in Texas, producing annually about 10,000,000 pounds of honey. Uvalde is the capital of one of the largest honey-producing areas in the United States.

"Diversity of Texas production of raw materials is shown by the fact that sixty-five different raw materials contributed in a major way to the state's income in 1929.

Awful Neuritis Is Put To End By New Konjola

New Medicine Soon Banishes Pains Of This Dread Malady.

MRS. SAM STAHL

"I suffered intense agony for eight years with neuritis," said Mrs. Sam H. Stahl, Sibleton, Mo., near Sedalia. "For seven years I was unable to wear my rings and for three years one of my arms was of practically no use. My knees, too, were attacked by this painful ailment and for weeks at a time I could scarcely walk. My kidneys were unhealthy and brought added misery through pains across my back. No medicine I tried did me any good. "The sincerity of the testimonials about Konjola caused me to give this medicine a trial. In just a few short weeks the pain and suffering of nearly thirty years has completely vanished. There is no swelling in my arms, hands or knees, and the sharp stabbing pains never occur. My kidneys have become normal and I am free from the dull pains which made me suffer so for days. I get about without trouble and enjoy life. What a medicine Konjola really is!"

Konjola is sold in Muleshoe at McCarty drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

CIVILIANS START WARS

Civilians start wars; soldiers stop them. This in substance is the declaration of Major General W. G. Everson, chief of the militia bureau, who recently left the pastorate of an Indiana Baptist church to take his present position. He has served in two wars himself, besides devoting much time to the national guard of his state.

The general's remark was intended to be a refutation of the often repeated charge that military men are the cause of wars. He also said: "No soldier wants war, but it is foolhardy to think of disbarring our forces and giving no heed to preparedness."

It is true, as General Everson says, that decisions for war are made by civilian officers of governments. The armies and navies only come into the picture after war is declared. It is only natural that military men, upon whom the responsibilities for ending war must fall, desire to have adequate personnel and equipment with which to combat the enemy when their civilian masters say the word. They also believe that preparedness is the best means for averting aggression on the part of other nations.

It may be that military authorities sometimes recommend a greater expenditure for war preparations than is necessary, but they do not advocate war itself. Clovis News-Journal.

CHIEF KEPT HIS WORD

The story of Chief Joseph, doughty Nez Perce warrior who made plenty of trouble for United States troopers some decades ago, and the faithfulness with which he kept his word when finally constrained to give up the war-path, are recalled by a recent writer.

On the spot in Montana where he surrendered to General Miles more than 50 years ago has been erected a monument to his memory, on which the following is inscribed:

"Chief Joseph was a military genius, courteous and humane. Presenting his rifle to General Miles, with right hand upraised, he proclaimed: "From where the sun now stands, I will fight no more forever." He kept his word."

Although many would class Chief Joseph as a savage, he had a high sense of honor. His word, once given was inviolable. It would be a wonderful thing for this old world if it should develop that the so-called civilized nations which signed the Kellogg peace pact shall, like him, keep their solemn word.—Clovis News-Journal.

HELPING TO BUILD TEXAS

Texas has preferred to preserve the names of its heroes in its nomenclature of towns and counties rather than Indian names such as many states more largely have used. Cherokee, Commanche, Nacogdoches, Pecos, Panoia and Wichita are the only names of Indian tribes used in Texas county names, although the name of the state itself is of Indian derivation—from the Tejas Indians.

It was decided to entertain our husbands Saturday night, Feb. 22, instead of Monday. This change was made on account of the revival meeting being in progress at Muleshoe.

Indian Chief Accuses Custer

Charges that the battle which ended in the famous Custer massacre was deliberately provoked by Gen. George A. Custer, were sworn to in Washington by Chief Iron White Man, one of the survivors of the famous battle. The chief's affidavit was made in connection with the filing of suits for $600,000 by members of the Sioux tribe as compensation for land lost as a result of Custer's invasion. The photograph shows Chief Iron White Man (left), who quade the charges, and Chief Standing Bear.

STATE DRIVE FOR LEGION MEMBERS MARCH 17 TO 23

AUSTIN—The week of March 17-23 has been set aside by the American Legion in Texas for a state wide observance of "Past Department Commander's Week" it was announced to day by Department Adjutant R. O. Whitaker, following a conference held at Department Headquarters last week. During this week set aside in honor of its eleven Past Commanders, the Post Commanders and Adjutants and other past officers, the Legion in each of the five divisions of the state will engage in membership competition in a final non-up drive for the State's quota of 34,388. In every community a search will be made for every World War Veteran who formerly was active in the Legion and is now inactive and he will be encouraged to realign himself with the active forces of the Legion in his community. An effort will be made to enroll every Veteran in the Legion to carry on its program for the disabled, the orphan of the Veteran, and to give peace time service of many different types.

The past Department Commanders of the Legion have volunteered to lead the different Divisions in the friendly membership competition. A special citation will be given both the Division and the Commander enrolling the most 1936 members during the week. The eleven past Department Commanders and the years in which they served are as follows: Claude Birkhead, San Antonio, 1919; Henry Hutchins, Dallas, 1919-20; Jay A. Rosetter, Houston, 1920-21; Wayne B. Davis, San Antonio, 1921-22; John C. Townes, Houston, 1922-23; R. M. W. Sherwood, Temple, 1923-24; Mark McGee, Fort Worth, 1924-25; Dr. W. T. Dunning, Comanche, 1925-26; R. C. Winters, Abilene, 1926-27; Walter D. Hood, Harlingen, 1927-28 and Rufus Scott, Jr., Paris, 1928-29.

Every Post of the Legion has been urged by Department Headquarters to designate the week of March 17-23 as Past Post Officers' week and to call a special meeting of the Post for the purpose of honoring all past officers and former members. The Posts are expected to co-operate with Department Headquarters in a drive for members in a special effort to enroll all former members and all Veterans of the World War to complete the quota of the Post during this week.

During the week that has been set aside one or more meetings will be held in each division at which all former Division Commanders, Executive Committee members, Assistant Executive Committee members, Post Commanders and Adjutants will be urged to attend and one of the Past Department Commanders will speak at each of these meetings.

ARMAMENT PARLEY FACING A SERIOUS STAGE, IS REPORT

LONDON—The five power naval conference today faced a situation which London evening newspapers were describing pessimistically as "serious". France's demand for naval tonnage of 724,470 has brought from a British spokesman this warning—in substance—to France:

"If you persist in your attitude we must consider the necessity of revision of our own requirements, which are virtually settled in agreement with America."

In particular, Great Britain is disturbed by France's claim to the right to build up to 70,000 tons of cruisers so as to compete with the new German super-cruiser type. British observers declare that this would entirely alter England's agreement to reduce the number of her cruisers to fifty from seventy, and might also preclude reducing the number of her battleships to fifteen in agreement with the United States.—Cloviss News-Journal

WHAT A DIFFERENCE

When a plumber makes a mistake, he charges double for it. When a lawyer makes a mistake, it is just what he wanted, because he has a chance to try the case all over again. When a doctor makes a mistake he buries it. When the judge makes a mistake, it becomes a law of the land. And when a preacher makes a mistake, nobody knows the difference. But when the editor makes a mistake . . . GOOD NIGHT!—Vega Sentinel.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY, M. E.

The Ladies Missionary Society of the M. E. church met at the home of Mrs. Hardin in the country, with fourteen members and three visitors present.

The meeting opened by singing "Footprints of Jesus," then the president read the 103 Psalm, and Mrs. Johnson led in prayer. Each one present answered roll call with a scripture verse. Mrs. DeFord joined our society which we all appreciate very much.

As each guest departed she declared the hostess a fine entertainer.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Hobbs in the country. Let each member be present as this is our missionary society program.

The society closed by repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison.—Reporter.

Mrs. E. E. Looney and daughters, Trullid and Norma, of Burkburne, Texas, visited her sister, Mrs. T. L. Eason, Saturday night for the first time in more than twenty-one years. As time waits for nothing, the hour hand had passed the two-o'clock mark before the lights were turned off.

A. B. Sparkman and family of Colorado were prospecting here last weekend.

Mrs. J. E. Wright of Ropesville, Texas, spent the weekend with her daughter, Mrs. T. L. Eason.

American Gets World's Largest Private Yacht

The magnificent Orion, called the largest private yacht in the world, after being launched at Krupp's Germania shipyards at Kiel, was turned over to and accepted by Julius Foremann of New York. The ship is said to have cost nearly two million dollars. It has two Diesel motors of 3,500 horse power each, and can go 16 knots an hour. A crew of 50 is needed to run the ship.

MOST DASTARDLY CRIME IN HISTORY OF FLOYD, REPORT

On last Saturday one of the most heinous crimes in the history of Roosevelt county was reported to have occurred near Floyd in which two strangers bound and assaulted Mrs. Bettie Louis Steel.

Mrs. Steel reports that two strangers drove up in a large sedan and asked for a bucket of water for the radiator.

On starting to get the bucket, the strangers followed her into the house and one made a grab for her.

She started to jump out of a window, but was grabbed and dragged back into the room, where the strangers stripped her of her clothing and bound her to the bed with wire.

This occurred about 2:00 o'clock and the strangers remained until 4:30, shortly before her husband returned home.

Mrs. Steel gave a clear description of her assailants and stated that they had a large German police dog in their car with them.

She was bound to the bed with wire. The sheriff's and district attorney's office got busy, sending the description over the country, and several suspects were held, until they could prove their identity and whereabouts at the time of the crime.

On Monday a car with a German police dog was seen in Clovis, the dog was held and the car watched, but while confining the dog, the owners drove away, and were located later at Raton, N. M.

On Tuesday, Sheriff Jernigan, in company with Mrs. Steel went to Raton where Mrs. Steel was given an opportunity to identify the strangers.

Strange to say, that while this car was parked for 2 1/2 hours, it was seen by none of the neighbors nor by anyone passing.

Sheriff Jernigan returned from Raton on Wednesday night and reports that Mrs. Steel failed to identify the strangers held at Raton. — Portales Valley-News.

CO-OPERATIVE BUYING

One hears a great deal nowadays about co-operative selling, but not quite so much about co-operative buying. The latter has been tried in a number of cases and very often it has been managed profitably to the advantage of those who bought.

For example, the Department of Labor recently called attention to the remarkable growth of co-operative oil stations, which were first tried in 1921 and of which about 400 are now in operation in the Middlewestern States.

Five reasons are given for the growth of these stations. Nearly everybody consumes petroleum products, the business can be financed on small capital, gasoline stations can be easily operated, there is a good margin between buying and selling prices, and stations already in operation have met with large success. One of the most successful examples is that of a company in Greeley, Colo., of which the following information is given. It started in business in 1922 with 800 members and $4,000 capital, which has now been increased to 1,400 members and $14,000. The association has a surplus of more than $100,000 and has returned nearly $300,000 in dividends to its members; the dividend in 1928 amounting to 26 per cent.

This record may not be duplicated in many communities but in almost any community there is sufficient demand for gasoline and oil for co-operative company to render a very vital service to its members.

BILL INTRODUCED PROPOSING TAX ON CHAIN STORES

AUSTIN—Representative Polk Hornaday of Harlingen recently introduced a bill in the house proposing to levy an annual license tax on chain stores, in addition to the taxes they are obliged to pay under existing laws.

The annual license fee upon a single store would be $3, upon two stores or more, not to exceed eight stores, $12 each, upon each store in excess of eight, but not to exceed 16, $40 for each additional store; upon each store in excess of 16, but not to exceed 24, $200 for each additional store; upon each store in excess of 24, $500 for each additional store. The bill would provide that any person, firm, or corporation desiring to maintain or operate a store in this state shall apply to the state comptroller for a license.

HELPING YOUNG FOLK TO BECOME BANKERS

Through the American Institute of Banks, which is the American Bankers Association's educational section, the banking profession is educating 25,000 bank men and women in the technical and scientific departments of their work. These students are enabled by this institute, which is entirely non-commercial in its operations, to obtain a grasp of the finer points of banking without interrupting their employment or interfering with their earnings, in their bank jobs.

The courses given, including banking economics and law and bank administration in all the departments, have been worked out under the direction of senior college educators and the lectures are always given by practical men, such as lawyers in the legal courses, experts in banking operations and college professors in the economics courses. There are chapters with meeting rooms in over 200 cities and also a number of smaller study groups are fostered with correspondence aid.

It has been said that the A. I. B., as it is familiarly known throughout the banking field, is the greatest adult educational organization in the world and is supplying the banking business with the largest supply of trained workers each year that any comparable line of business is receiving. The organization holds an annual convention attended by hundreds of young bank workers as well as senior bank officers actively interested in furthering the institute's educational work, at which numerous technical subjects of practical banking application are presented and discussed. This year's convention will be held at Denver, Colorado, June 16 to 20.

Great Changes In Highway Building

Writer Tells of Immense Advance Which Has Been Made.

Research Fostered by Material Men Has Helped Greatly.

Dallas, Texas.—The "science of road-building" has undergone such radical changes in recent years, in response to ever growing demands for economical highways capable of bearing the constantly increasing traffic that it may be said to have been newly created. And in embarking on its big highway building program during the past three years, Texas is having the benefit and will continue to have the benefit of all this progress.

Such is the conviction of E. J. R. MacIntosh in his second article in The Texas Monthly, surveying the highway situation in Texas. "Better and Straighter Roads" is the title of the article, and he declares that such is the present object of everybody connected with the business of building highways.

"That the highway department is determined to carry forward Texas construction program under conditions which shall embody the best practice in the line of fully tested experience," writes MacIntosh. He points out the fact that at the present time a committee of leading engineers is completely revising the department's standard specifications. This committee, which was chosen to perform this important task by Chief Engineer Gibb Gilchrist, and which is headed by A. F. Hollins of Dallas, has been at work for several months, and already has submitted three drafts of the new specifications to all interested parties, including engineers, material manufacturers, contractors and others, for suggested revision.

MacIntosh points out that the committee has had the active co-operation of material manufacturers, contractors, and all others concerned with road building. The new specifications, he says, will embody the collective experience of all of these, and they will measure up with the best in the country.

Research Has Helped
"It is a fact," he writes, "that the various interests concerned with road building have vied with each other since the rise of motor traffic to contribute toward the solution of the various problems which have been encountered. The manufacturers of the major materials in the United States—cement, asphalt, brick, sand and gravel, crushed stone—have been national organizations which have fostered constant research which has been richly productive of new ideas which has been one of the chief driving forces toward the goal of better roads. The more economical highway building has been selfish, it may be said, and the primary object in each case has been to promote the interests of the particular industry involved. But the public, nevertheless, has been the chief beneficiary of this progress, and Texas will be the beneficiary in carrying forward its great highway construction program."

Some Important Changes
Enumerating some of the changes which have taken place, MacIntosh writes as follows:
"First of all the increased traffic and the greater distances habitually traveled have made the location of the road—the course of the right-of-way, so to speak—of much greater importance than it was in the past; then the necessity of roads of uniform strength to bear certain volumes of traffic, up to a maximum, has made absolutely essential a uniformity of the materials going into the building of every foot of a given road, and this need has been met by a revolutionary change in the character of aggregates—sand, gravel, and crushed stone which go into the base of any high type road. Today aggregates are graded as carefully as cotton and any given quantity of a certain grade will run uniform throughout."
"There is a better knowledge of the character and use of all materials today than ten years ago, or even five years ago, an improvement which the manufacturers of those materials have done most to achieve. For example, practically nothing was known of the physical properties of asphalt, whereas today it is an accurately known and controlled product. Moreover, practically in the past ten years we have developed in Texas a natural asphalt product, the limestone rock asphalt mined in Uvalde county. Concrete today is immeasurably superior, and the methods of road construction with this material have been revolutionized, largely due to the research fostered by the cement manufacturers through the Portland Cement Association."

Straighter Roads Needed
"Ten years ago one-way bridges were universally regarded as adequate in Texas, whereas today the highway department has established a minimum requirement of 24 feet width of roadway on all bridges. Wider right-of-ways for highways are now insisted upon by the department, the minimum being fixed at 100 feet, whereas until recently 60 feet was regarded as ample. Ten years ago we built roads so narrow that they sloped upward to the middle to an elevation of six inches, now the 'crown' is only one and a half inches high."
MacIntosh emphasizes other improved practices. He emphasizes, however, that straighter roads, following the shortest route between main points, will be one of the greatest advances if they can be obtained through the co-operation of the people. They will save millions of dollars a year to Texas motor traffic, he says.

The reporter ran, slyly into the office. "Well," said the editor, "what did our eminent statesman have to say?"
"Nothing."
"Well, keep it down to a column."

MEXICAN POLITICS

In a country where church and state are competing for supremacy, it is not surprising to read that churchmen have been arrested for conspiring to effect the death of a ruler who defies the edicts of the clergy. Last week two hours after Rubio had been inaugurated president of Mexico, a young man shot him through the jaw. Later two brothers of the assailant and a priest were arrested as conspirators to effect his death. In a country so torn by ecclesiastical meddling it is unsafe to aspire to political preference. Rubio had just been a guest of the President of the United States, where he was received with distinction. He is a descendant of a race of Indian kings. He has long been distinguished in Mexican politics, having been a judge, a governor of Michoacan, and a member from that state to the congress of Mexico. He also held many government and military positions, besides being a brilliant writer and engineer.

At Tampico the incoming and outgoing mayors were assassinated as they celebrated the inauguration of the new executive. The assassin escaped. The jealousies of ardent church men seem to be the incentive for crimes.—London News.

THE EARTH'S SHAPE

If asked who first conceived the idea that the world is round, many would give the credit to Columbus, because his belief in the spherical form of the earth led him to undertake the famous voyage which resulted in the discovery of America.

The fact is, however, that the true figure of the earth was known to astronomers long before the birth of Christ, although the spherical theory never gained wide acceptance among the ancients.

Erastosthenes, a Greek geometer and astronomer who flourished in the second century before Christ, is generally credited with being the first to discover the principles whereby the earth might be measured. Although his actual results were inaccurate, his method was sound.

Centuries before Erastosthenes some astronomers regarded the earth as a sphere, but generally considered it to be the center of the universe. It is said that Pythagoras, born in 582 B. C., was the first to declare that the earth revolved around the sun, but that he only taught this secretly to a few chosen disciples.

Many persons today do not believe that the earth is round. Among these may be mentioned Overseer Volvia and his religious community at Zion, Ill., although Rev. Volvia is a college graduate, who employs modern scientific appliances and is an ardent radio fan.

The Automotive Pie of 1929

In the old days we were accustomed to graphs which showed Ford car production as constituting half of all car output. But when Model A came into being naturally Ford production fell below that of many other makes.

The old ratio is returning rapidly.

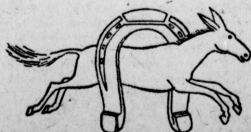

Expressed otherwise, it means that during the year Ford output reached 37 per cent. of total production of all makes of cars and it is certain that the percentage will greatly increase during 1930.

The total Ford production for 1929 was 1,591,092 cars and trucks—an increase of 138 per cent over 1928.
