

Pecos, Crane Get Locations For Ventures

Exploration has been scheduled in Pecos and a wildcat re-entry is slated in Crane.

Monsanto Co. intends to drill No. 1 Bernice, an 11,000-foot venture in Pecos, 11 miles west of Sheffield.

Drillite is 2,000 feet from north and 1,500 feet from west lines of section 58, block A-2, TCR survey, abstract 5621, three miles northwest of Pennsylvania production in the Yucca Butte gas field and 2 1/2 miles east of the one-well Yucca Butte, West (Pennsylvania detrital) gas field.

Crane Re-Entry

I. W. Lovelady, Midland, will re-enter and plug back to 5,650 feet as a searcher for gas, at No. 1 Reynolds, former producer in the T. E. Bar oil field.

It spots 330 feet from southeast and 2,311 feet from southwest lines of section 22, block 8, H&TC survey, abstract 907, 18 miles west of Crane.

Tom Green Probe Site Set By TP

Texas Pacific Oil Co. has filed application to drill a 3,850-foot prospector in Tom Green County, 1 1/2 mile southwest of Harriett. It is No. 1 J. W. Johnson, et al.

It is 1 1/2 mile northeast of the Harriett (Strawn) field and spots 467 feet from south and 1,320 feet from east lines of section 18, Washington County RR survey, and 1/2 mile southwest of the firm's No. 1 Roberts, a scheduled 3,800-foot wildcat.

Ward Field Draws Seventh Producer

The War-Wink, South field of Ward County gained its seventh current Fusselman well and a 1/2-mile north extension to that pay with completion of Skelly Oil Corp. No. 1-24-18 University, nine miles northwest of Pyote.

Calculated, absolute open flow was 22,580 million cubic feet of dry gas per day, producing through Fusselman perforations at 17,769-17,862 feet, which had been acidized with 20,000 gallons.

Location is 1,867 feet from south and east lines of section 24, block 18, ULS.

Lea Prospector Flows Gas, Crude

HNG Oil Co. of Midland was making production tests at No. 1 Dogie Draw Federal, Lea County, N.M., wildcat, four miles southwest of Jal, and four miles south of the Jal, West (Fusselman) field.

It flowed gas at the rate of 1 million cubic feet per day, plus 360 barrels of oil and 35 barrels of water in 24 hours. Flow was through a 50-64-inch choke and perforations at 12,576-12,617 feet.

COLLISION SETS OFF EXPLOSIONS, FIRES

Ship Crash Kills 2, Injures 29

MARCUS HOOK, Pa. (AP)—An American tanker rammed into a Liberian ship unloading crude oil at a Delaware River refinery early today, setting off explosions and fires that left at least two dead.

Officials said at least 29 others were injured, and that 22 of the 43 persons aboard the Corinthos were unaccounted for. All aboard the American tanker Edgar M. Queeny were reported safe. It had struck the Corinthos broadside as it unloaded 425,000 barrels of Algerian oil, roughly 17.5 million gallons, at a BP Oil Corp. dock. It still held about 300,000 barrels when the collision occurred.

"The Queeny was trying to make a steering change, but it failed and collided," said Harry Schaefer, BP general superintendent. It had just picked up 30,000 barrels of kerosene from a Monsanto Co. Chemical plant near Paulsboro, N.J., across the river.

The explosions set fire to both ships and shattered glass in homes and other buildings in a 12-block area of this refinery town of 3,500 located 10 miles south of Philadelphia.

"This thing almost blew me right out of my house," said Delaware County Fire Marshal

George Lewis, who lives in Marcus Hook. "I didn't have to be telephoned about this one."

Oil spilled into the river and while Coast Guardsmen brought in booms to contain it, Marcus Hook Fire Chief Robert Sides said "it will probably burn all day."

Nearly half of the 100,000 barrels of crude oil aboard the Corinthos had been pumped off when the Queeny, a chemical tanker carrying a load of phenol and vinyl acetate and maneuvering to dock, rammed it amidship.

"There were three rapid explosions in a row," said George Warner, who lives a block from the refinery dock. Flames rose several hundred feet and could be seen for miles.

The 754-foot tanker split behind its center superstructure and the stern dipped into the riverbed beside the pier.

More than 300 families living in the area were evacuated as a precautionary measure.

"The entire main deck of the Corinthos was in flame," said the ship's chief officer, George Peroulakis, 28, of Karistos, Greece. "I saw two men completely engulfed in fire jumping over the side. I saw 20 other of my crew leap into the water."

"The water, like the main deck, was a mass of fire."

"I saw one man, who I think (See SHIPS Page 8A)

Agreement Made In 1974 Nullified By Judge's Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal judge ruled today that millions of documents and the White House tapes accumulated during the presidency of Richard M. Nixon belong to the government.

The decision nullifies a Sept. 7, 1974, agreement under which Nixon was to have partial access and control of his papers.

"There is no precedent which compels the finding that the 'presidential materials and tapes' are the personal property of former President Nixon," U.S. District Judge Charles R. Richey said in a detailed opinion.

At issue are an estimated 48 million documents and 3 1/2 years of tape recordings generated by the Nixon White House.

The judge did, however, set out an elaborate procedure for Nixon to attempt to recover items or tapes which he might claim to be private or personal.

Richey's decision, while keeping the Nixon documents in the possession of the government, also declared them out of bounds for unlimited public access.

Richey said that, while materials and tape recordings generated by most federal departments are subject to the Freedom of Information Act, the Nixon papers and tapes are not.

The Freedom of Information Act establishes specific means for members of the public to obtain government records.

The original agreement for disposition of the records of the Nixon era called for them to be stored in a facility near the former president's estate in San Clemente, Calif.

Two keys — one kept by the General Services Administration, the government's landlord, and one by Nixon — were to be required for access.

After Nixon resigned Aug. 9, 1974, then-Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski objected to the agreement between Nixon and the Ford administration.

Jaworski said he feared there would be insufficient access to Nixon's papers, needed for various prosecutions which continue today.

White House Counsel Philip Buchen subsequently agreed to give the special prosecutor's office temporary veto power over movement of any papers or tapes to San Clemente.

City's First Police Chief Found Dead

Hollis Tyson, 73, a Midland native and Midland's first police chief, was found dead in his home, 2104 Woodlawn St., early today.

Services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday at Resthaven Memorial Park under the direction of the Newline W. Ellis Chapel, with the Rev. Robert Boynton Smith, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating.

Justice of the Peace Robert H. Pine ruled that Tyson's death was caused by a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Tyson was born June 5, 1901. (See TYSON Page 8A)

State Employees' Pay Raise Ok'd

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' 125,000 state employees—from janitor to governor—have been guaranteed an emergency pay raise that will cost $93 million over the next seven months.

Legislators and Gov. Dolph Briscoe beat the deadline for assuring the raises will appear on end-of-February paychecks by completing action Thursday afternoon.

After signing the pay raise authorization, Briscoe, a multimillionaire who receives $63,000 a year for being governor, said he would accept his $174 a month raise.

"The cattle business isn't what it was last year," he told reporters with a grin.

State employees will get these raises:

- 13 per cent for those in job classification groups 2-12, now making $4,950 to $12,000 annually, and for non-classified employees earning less than $876 a month.
- 9 per cent for classified employees in groups 13-21, whose salaries now range from $10,512 to $23,200 a year, and for non-classified workers now earning from $1,267 to $1,935 monthly.
- $124 a month for non-classified employees earning between $876 and $1,267 a month.

—$174 per month for all employees making more than $1,935 per month.

The position classification plan, a schedule designed to provide "equal pay for equal work", covers most state agency employees. Non-classified workers include state judges, top state agency executives, state college and university teachers and staff members and state hospital directors.

Other features of a two-bill package include an increase in travel expenses from 12 to 16 cents a mile for private cars and from 16 to 21 cents for private or leased aircraft. Daily expense allowances for meals and lodging were raised from $18 to $22 a day.

The state's share of group life and health insurance premiums was increased from $12.50 to $15 a month.

Lawmakers took pains to minimize the pay raise's drain on the general revenue fund, the only fund over which the legislature has much discretion. They said agencies financed by special funds consisting of such things as occupation license fees and special taxes must reimburse the general fund. This would recoup from $25 million to $30 million.

Icy Glaze Threatens Roads In Panhandle

Snow and ice pellets mixed with freezing drizzle threatened to put a dangerous glaze on much of the Texas Panhandle today and showers or thunderstorms dampened most of the rest of the state.

State police reported, however, that all routes remained open and they know of no trouble spots this morning.

Adding to the generally nasty weather, patches of fog dotted most sections. It was thick enough to drop visibility below a mile in places near the coast.

Sometimes gusty north winds added to the unpleasant effects across the northwestern part of Texas, where steady south breezes fanned the other half.

Monotony continues as the name of the game in the Tall City temperature range, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport.

Overnight, the mercury fluctuated from the upper 40s to 50 at 2 and 3 a.m. Thursday's low was 49 and the overnight low was a mere degree lower.

Temperatures for both today and Saturday, says the weatherman, will remain around 50 during the daytime and in the 40s at night.

Intermittent showers also are continuing, with the precipitation probability decreasing to 50 per cent tonight and 30 per cent Saturday.

The Weather Service's rain gauge has collected .03 inch since Thursday, boosting the month's—and the year's—total to .53.

In the Panhandle's rain-snow mixture, Dalhart saw ice pellets accumulate one inch deep before being topped by freezing drizzle.

A cold front which arrived two days earlier was near a standstill across the state's (See WEATHER Page 8A)

American Among 41 Killed In Turkish Airliner Crash

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—all its foreign and domestic flights.

An American—a Bronx, N.Y., resident—was among the 41 killed when the Turkish Airlines jet crashed into the sea near Istanbul Airport during a city-wide power failure Thursday night, and none was believed to have survived, officials said today.

They said the plane sank and rescue operations were called off because of bad weather.

Turkish Airlines pilots immediately walked off the job and threatened to remain on the ground until better safety precautions were taken at the country's airports. As a result, Turkish Airlines had to cancel the flight apparently afraid of crashing into the terminal building in the dark, took off again probably to circle the airport until electricity was restored, officials said. But shortly afterward the control tower lost contact with the plane.

Aviation sources said that the airport emergency generators had been turned on with the delay of a half a minute after the electricity went off. Airport officials denied the charge.

Turkish electricity officials said the airport had been warned of the blackout, which was caused by a failure at a thermal power plant.

The cause of the crash was not immediately determined but officials theorized that a power failure in Istanbul, which also affected the airport, played a part in it.

Electricity went off at the airport as the plane was about to land on a flight from Izmir.

Move Planned To Block Bell's Proposed Increase In Rates

DALLAS (AP)—A Southwestern Bell Telephone intrastate increase has prompted preparations by the Texas attorney general's office to seek a temporary restraining order against the rate hike.

Southwestern Bell's Texas vice president Charles Marshall said late Thursday he would seek a meeting with Atty. Gen. John Hill to avert possible court action.

Just hours after Bell announced the proposed rate increase Thursday, Hill said he would go to court seeking a temporary order blocking it. He said he believes the rates "really are based on their (Bell's) financial difficulties" brought about by the delay of local rate boosts in several Texas cities.

"Certainly no case is made for reasonableness in their press release," Hill said.

In a press release issued by Marshall Thursday, the company announced the restructuring rates would go into effect March 1. The company estimated the increases would yield an additional $45 million annually. Several cities have delayed local rate increase applications because of allegations in a $29.2 million lawsuit against Bell. The suit, filed by a former commercial manager in San Antonio and by the family of the late president of Texas Bell operations, alleges the company has engaged in unfair rate-setting practices.

"There is no doubt in our minds that we have a valid need," the company said in a statement issued Thursday night. "We anticipated the additional revenues from this increase when we planned to spend a record high $705 million to expand and improve our telephone plant in Texas this year. We need to do this to meet customer demands for quality service."

The increases affect only intrastate rates, Texas' only unregulated phone rate.

They are part of what Southwestern Bell called a restructuring of its long distance tolls within Texas, including a reduction of the initial period from three minutes to one minute for direct-dialed calls. The company also proposed increases for statewide Wide Area Telephone Service (WATS).

Marshall's statement on increases said rates would drop on direct dial long distance calls within Texas of two minutes duration or less.

Increases would affect all customer-dialed calls lasting longer than two minutes as well as on all operator-assisted calls. In addition, the three-minute initial time period would remain on these calls. Bell said the costs of three-minute calls will increase from 5 to 50 cents, depending on the distances involved.

Marshall said the boost probably would encounter some disfavor and that would be amplified by the litigation in San Antonio.

He added, however, that "demand for good telephone service doesn't end because of supported allegations or a lawsuit."

Marshall said total expenses of the company's Texas operations have increased 20 per cent since the last intrastate increase in September 1973. Wages are up $139 million, or 34 per cent, and taxes have increased $54 million, or 24 per cent, he said.

Examples of the old three-minute minimum rates compared with the new one-minute rates include: Dallas to Longview, 75 cents to 36 cents; Fort Worth to Houston, 93 cents to 43 cents; El Paso to Dallas 10 cents to 43 cents.

He said the new rates are generally in line with rates in 16 other states that have been adopted or are pending.

Amnesty Program Given Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — The charges or convictions of thousands of military deserters still many experience difficulty in obtaining jobs, and in some cases, until they receive their records cleared, they must sign up for President Ford's clemency program. If they fulfill the clemency board's conditions, their records are amended to reflect scheduled to expire at midnight a presidential pardon or a clemency discharge, which presumably are less adverse than their prior records.

3,000 Sign Up
About 3,000 persons have signed up for this program. Some have been granted outright pardons or clemency discharges while others have been assigned public service jobs as a precondition.

Legion Disappointed
James M. Wagnon, the national commander of the American Legion, said the legion was "disappointed and dismayed" by the decision. He said the program, which began last September, had lasted long enough and that the government should help find jobs for unemployed veterans with honorable discharges.

The National Council of Churches, the American Civil Liberties Union and the Central Intelligence Agency have expressed their disapproval of the program. They said the program offered scant benefits and they urged a program of universal and unconditional amnesty.

Programs Offered
The Ford clemency offer has three distinct programs.

Some 120,000 convicted deserters and draft evaders can apply to the Presidential Clemency Board headed by Charles E. Goodell.

Most of these persons are leading normal civilian lives, but their military or criminal records reflect undesirable dis-

Oil Nations' Cash Buildup May Be Less Than Feared

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are increasing indications that the buildup of cash in oil-producing nations will be far less than originally feared, Treasury Secretary William E. Simon said.

The international financial aspects of the shift of funds to the oil exporting nations is manageable, he said.

Simon said new analyses show that the cash accumulation by the 13 members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries will total no more than $300 billion by 1985 instead of the trillion-dollar level feared last year when oil prices were quadrupled, Simon said Thursday.

But he told a Senate Finance subcommittee the ability of the oil exporters to spend their petrodollars does not eliminate the threat to the world economy posed by the continuing high oil prices.

Elsewhere on Capitol Hill,

Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board told the House Ways and Means Committee that the Fed will permit an increase in the money and credit supply to support recession-fighting deficit spending by the government, but not at unlimited levels.

"You can expect from the Federal Reserve System, as long as I'm there, that it will not release a new wave of inflation on this country," he said.

Burns indicated his opposition to several portions of President Ford's economic and energy program, although he favored swift action on a temporary tax cut to stimulate the economy.

He cautioned that a permanent tax reduction could contribute to continuing budget deficits even after the current recession has ended.

Aid Burns urged Congress to trim federal spending below what the President has proposed in order to keep the deficit at a minimum, adding that the Defense Department should not be spared in the spending cutback.

Burns was a witness before the Ways and Means Committee, which is considering multibillion-dollar tax cut proposals. Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., said voting on the package would begin Monday, with a goal of wrapping up committee work by the end of next week.

In other economy and energy developments Thursday: Gulf Oil Corp. and Sun Oil Co. announced sharply higher earnings for 1974 but said their profits for the last quarter of the year were down. Gulf reported a 33 per cent increase for the year, but a 20 per cent drop for the quarter from 1973. Sunoco listed a 64 per cent annual increase and a 28 per cent quarterly decline.

American Motors Corp. said it is extending production cutbacks to four more facilities next week, temporarily furloughing 11,350 workers. But Chrysler Corp. said it will recall 10,000 of the 12,000 employees it has on temporary layoff this week.

January sales by the nation's major department stores were generally lackluster, as rising unemployment discouraged consumer spending, retailers and analysts reported.

The New York Stock Exchange broke a volume record for any full week in just four days. Thursday's turnover of 29,740,000 shares brought the total to more than 121 million shares, surpassing the old standard of 110.62 million set during the week of Feb. 3-12, 1971.

Rains Swamp Parts Of Plains

By The Associated Press
Heavy rain swamped parts of the central and southern Plains today and the threat of heavy snow and ice was forecast for a broad area from the central Rockies to the Mississippi Valley.

More than 2 inches of rain hit parts of Oklahoma and Kansas through Thursday. A flash flood watch was out in Missouri, where the Blackwater River approached flood stage of 25 feet.

Rain and showers extended from Oklahoma and North Texas to Pennsylvania. Freezing rain glazed streets and highways in scattered areas of the middle Mississippi Valley.

A heavy snow warning continued in most of Colorado. Travel advisories were issued from the central Plateau and southern Rockies to the mid-Mississippi Valley.

The National Weather Service said snow with gusty winds was expected to spread rapidly northeastward today.

Isolated snow dusted the central Appalachians and interior sections of the Northeast. Fog again made travel hazardous along the Gulf Coast.

Clear skies favored the region between the northern Rockies and the Great Lakes, and parts of the Far West. An approaching front brought showers into the Pacific Northwest.

Unseasonably mild weather persisted over most of the eastern third of the nation.

China and pottery are products primarily associated with the Dutch town of Delft.

LO-VACA TO BENEFIT BY RRC RULING—

Lone Star Must Boost Gas Price

DALLAS (AP) — Officials of Lone Star Gas Co. estimate that an average increase of approximately $1 will be passed to the average consumer now that the company has been ordered to pay more for some of its natural gas.

The order said Lone Star would be entitled to share in new gas reserves added to Lo-Vaca because of the new price. Lo-Vaca was ordered to increase deliveries, which it had curtailed by more than half the contracted amount, to Lone Star.

The commission issued its order after Lone Star had refused for more than a year to comply with a suggestion from the state agency to pay more for the gas it was getting from Lo-Vaca.

"We believed in the sanctity of our contract with Lo-Vaca," a Lone Star spokesman said Thursday explaining the company's previous refusal.

The commission's order, in effect, means that Lone Star Gas which purchases about 10 per cent of its total supplies from Lo-Vaca, will now pay about five times as much as it was paying for Lo-Vaca's gas.

Under terms of an old contract, Lone Star has been buying gas from Lo-Vaca at a cost of 23.5 cents per thousand cubic feet (mcf), a company official said. Lo-Vaca, which went into receivership several months ago, is currently obligated to deliver to Lone Star 350 million cubic feet per day, but for the past year and a half has delivered only 125 million per day.

The commission's order specified that Lone Star now will pay the weighted average cost of gas plus 5 cents per mcf. Lone Star said the weighted average cost for Lo-Vaca in December came to $1.25 per mcf, a cost that other customers have been paying for more than a year.

The weighted average cost of other gas purchased by Lone Star is 44.9 cents per mcf. A company spokesman said the new rates will make the average cost for all gas bought by Lone Star approximately 54.9 cents per mcf.

Users Must Pay

The Commission said it issued the order because it found that "Lone Star Gas Co's rejection of the interim rate has created a financial burden for the Lo-Vaca customers that accepted the interim rate and has also adversely affected Lo-Vaca's ability to purchase new natural gas supplies."

Examiner Bill Fowler explained the agency's decision to allow Lone Star to pass on to the customers the increase in the cost of gas by saying: "The guy that uses the gas ought to pay for what he gets."

Nosy Police Spell Downfall Of Young Detectives' Career

PASADENA, Tex. (AP) — The case of the missing flower pot, and police, have led to the downfall of the Miracle Detective Agency.

"We thought it would be a miracle if we ever got a case. That's why we named it that way," said 13-year-old John Mengh.

$20 Investment

Young John and his partner, Cole Mayes, 13, formed the agency last Thanksgiving with a $20 investment spent for two authentic-looking badges, embossed business cards and a mail-order criminal investigators kit John called "a big E.P."

Nonetheless, the boys distributed business cards emblazoned with the motto: "We guard and investigate anything." Prospective clients could call Cole at the "North Office" his parents' home while John was reachable at the "South Office" his parents' home.

Predawn Caller

John's mother, Jesse Mengh, didn't object to the new business until a predawn caller asked one morning for a detective. "The caller was a man, not a kid," Mrs. Mengh said.

The boys' first case was to investigate the loss by a relative of a flower pot. But a suspicious apartment manager told the boys to run along. She called police after getting an eyeful of the detectives' badges and business cards.

Unfortunately, the boys had their cards printed at the same firm which prints official police business cards. The word "police" appeared on the cards.

A policeman showed up a short while later at John's "South Office."

"He told us we could help the police most by staying in school, to grow up and be men then we could drive in patrol cars," John said.

The policemen confiscated the badges and business cards but he was, real nice. He said we could get hurt guarding and investigating anything.

"I really don't like to hear kids call the police cops, fuzz and pigs," Cole said.

Undaunted in their enterprising spirit, the Miracle Detectives planned Thursday to start a small newspaper operation.

"But our mothers have signed us up for bowling lessons," John said, all dreams of a Mannix career smashed, along with their printing presses, by a bowling ball.

Coast Guard To Direct River Oil Spill Cleanup

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Coast Guard began today to organize a cleanup of oil puddled along the banks of the Mississippi River since Wednesday night, when a freighter, collided with a string of oil barges.

Gulf Strike Team members, the guard's pollution experts, arrived from Bay St. Louis, Miss., to discuss contracts for the river cleaning job.

Officials still weren't guessing how much Louisiana crude spilled into the river from the three damaged barges, but a Coast Guard spokesman said together the three vessels held four million gallons.

The spectacular crash sent burning barges ghosting for miles downriver in heavy fog and shut the Mississippi to ship traffic for 19 hours.

After the river was reopened Thursday, ships were cautioned to hug the west bank at a point 13 miles downstream and proceeded at a dead slow pace past a barge sunk 700 feet off the east bank.

The Coast Guard said the only ship damage reported was to the American Wheat, the empty grain freighter that collided with the three barges being pushed by the tugboat Mama Lere.

With a hole ripped in her bow, the 635-foot ship remained beached at Stingle Point, having been run aground immediately after the collision for fear she would sink.

The ship was seared from stern to stern by flames that even burned her lifeboats, but the fire was extinguished. The Mama Lere escaped unscathed.

The Coast Guard blamed the heavy fog for most of the damage and confusion, but said a court of inquiry would be assembled soon to discover who was at fault in the collision.

Raids Net 200 Mexican Aliens

HOUSTON (AP) — Agents for the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization have arrested 200 Mexican aliens in raids at Bay City and Tyler and they would go after more aliens if their tight budget permitted.

"East Texas is loaded with illegal aliens, but we don't have the money to pick them up," said R. W. Heston, district director for the bureau here.

Heston said the bureau had some extra money at the end of the month and decided to make the raids.

Woman Teaches Marksmanship

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The teacher of gun safety and marksmanship for teen-agers at Como Park Rifle Range is Mrs. Chris Ackerman, who is old enough to be their grandmother. Mrs. Ackerman has been shooting rifles ever since she took up the sport 44 years ago, when she married her husband, who is an avid shooter. Mrs. Ackerman said she is not interested in being viewed as an Annie Oakley despite her many years as a marksman. "I'm not a competitive shooter now, although I used to be," she said. "I teach mainly."

Mrs. Hardie Elected Club President

Seventeen members attended when the Women's Wednesday Club met recently in the Midland Women's Club, with Mrs. James T. Smith presiding. Officers for 1975-76 were elected. They include Mrs. Thorton Hardie Jr., president; Mrs. William L. Kerr, first vice president; Mrs. Alan Leeper, second vice president; Mrs. James H. Chapple, recording secretary; Mrs. Lewis Davis, treasurer; Mrs. G.E. Ramsey, director to the Women's Club, and Mrs. R.T. German, alternate director. Mrs. Phil Adams presented a review of the "Story of a Man and a Garden," which concerns the Callaway Gardens at Pine Mountain, Ga. A guest was Mrs. Sally Witt of Mobile, Ala. Hostesses for the tea hour were Mrs. Clark Stetsonberger and Mrs. Alan Leeper.

Female Publishes Cycle Magazine

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Sharon Clayton has successfully invaded the men's world. She not only rides a motorcycle but owns and publishes a motorcycle weekly. Her husband, Charles, is co-owner and functions as her editor. Mrs. Clayton said the publication has a weekly circulation of 100,000.

Dear Abby

—By Abigail van Buren

Her Obstetrician's Real Basket Case

DEAR ABBY: Recently, my son and his wife, Vicki, moved to Bakersfield, Calif. Being in a new area, Vicki looked in the Yellow Pages of her phone book to find an obstetrician to confirm her suspicions of pregnancy. She and my son wanted a baby very much. (Vicki is only 19.) What should have been a happy experience for her turned into a nightmare because of an idiot of a doctor. He asked her if she was financially prepared to take care of a retarded or deformed baby. Naturally, she asked him if he had reason to believe anything was wrong. He said no, but she was so young and immature he thought he'd ask. Vicki told the doctor that she wanted her husband with her during the delivery so they could share that beautiful experience together. He said disgustedly, "There is nothing beautiful about it! It's a lot of grunting." (Have you ever heard of such talk from a doctor?) He also said he delivered a headless baby to a woman whose husband nearly died. Abby, this doctor instilled such fears and doubts in Vicki. I could wring his neck. I don't want this to happen to another expectant mother. Is there someone I can report him to?

Nurses Schedule District Meeting

District 21 of the Texas Nurse Association will meet Tuesday, beginning with a hot supper at 7 p.m. in the Midland Memorial Hospital cafeteria. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will feature Dr. E. W. McCullough, who will speak on acupuncture. All area registered and licensed vocational nurses are invited to attend. Everyone attending is asked to bring a hot supper.

DEAR ABBY: Is nothing sacred? Here I am sitting with my boyfriend, watching television, when all of a sudden we see a commercial come on for a product that makes me want to crawl under the rug. Good grief! I felt my face getting hot as a poker.

Then, a while later another commercial came on for a medicine to treat a very embarrassing ailment which is not mentioned in polite company. Where can I write to complain?

DEAR RED: Regarding offensive TV commercials, write to the Federal Communications Commission, Office 1319 M Street, Washington, D.C. 20554.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for printing that letter from the woman signed "Restless." She confessed that she had the urge to run away from her family, and wanted to know if other wives experienced that feeling. I have. Many times I've wanted to run away from my husband and yes, my children, too, and start life all over again where no one would know me. I've been married for 28 years, and my children are gone now. I've had a fairly good marriage. By that I mean I've had more good days than bad. No marriage is perfect. My mother always told me, "You can't run away from your troubles, and you can't leave them behind. If you run away, you take your problems with you." She was right.

Tell "Restless" if she stayed with her marriage for 25 years, her good days have probably outnumbered her bad days, and that's not a bad average. Tell her not to lose heart. She has lots of company.

"B" IN LONG ISLAND

DEAR "B": You belong to a large sorority. You wouldn't believe the number of married women who wrote to confide that at one time they also had the urge to run away. One man courageously wrote, "Women don't have an exclusive on the urge to run away. I've had it, too, but thank God my sanity returned and good sense prevailed."

What's your problem? If you reply, write to ABBY in care of this newspaper. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Not Eggsactly Ecological... But!

Dear Heloise: friends, what street they lived on and their phone number. In the I could not stand to throw away back, I listed all of my relatives. the beautiful egg cartons made of styrofoam. They are just like new once you put the eggs away and it is such a waste to chuck them. I was trying to think of something else to use them for and came up with this idea. Wash and dry them. Then use them as gelatin molds! Cut the top of the carton and just spoon in the liquid in each egg cup. Put them in the refrigerator and let it do the rest. When you are ready to use them, just take a knife and run it down the middle of the carton. Turn it over and pop each one out carefully. The greatest thing is that they jell faster and there isn't much mess to clean up.
Heloise II
 Gals, there has to be a "million" other things we can use these for. So put your thinking caps on and let us know in care of this paper.

Dear Heloise: Recently I attended a covered dish dinner. One of the ladies opened a sack of bread and twisted the twistem around a button on her blouse.
Heloise II
 When clean-up time came, she knew just where the twistem was!

Dear Heloise: On a recent trip I discovered my new, worn-only-once patent shoes black-marked around the heels and sides. All commercial cleaners were at home. Soap didn't help. Then bingo! Toothpaste! It worked! I've discovered I even prefer it at home. Just put on dry cloth, tissue or cotton and rub away the black marks.

Winners And Losers
 Speaking of fashion, there are three types of women—those who have improved with the years, having found the secret of making the most of their looks—example Barbara Walters. Then there are those who have softened their hairstyles, improved their figures and wear casual clothes. But some of us strive too hard for youth and have too much hair, too many face lifts and too little weight. These are the losers!

United Nations Faces Problem On 1975 Women's Year

By GENE KRAMER
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — International Women's Year 1975 has arrived and its organizers at the United Nations have a problem. They need male involvement on a large scale.
 "I am very interested in seeing that enough men attend the Women's Year world conference from June 23 to July 4 at Mexico City, says U.N. Assistant Secretary-General Heivi Sipilä.
 Mrs. Sipilä, of Finland, has been named secretary-general of Women's Year and of its main event, the International conference.
 Male involvement is essential, she said recently, because "women alone can't change what has to be changed" to create true equality. Governments, run mostly by males, have to be influenced.
 "We are emphasizing that there should be both men and women attending," Mrs. Sipilä said. She said it was a good sign that many countries have named men to head their delegations. Ideally, delegations should be made up half of men and half of women, she said.
 Mrs. Sipilä began the year with trips to Western Europe and the Middle East to drum up support and funds for the Women's Year programs.
 U.N. officials hope to collect between $2 million and $3 million for Women's Year activities, including $370,000 for the conference itself. About $800,000 have been received, they said. The largest contributions are $500,000 from Sweden and $100,000 from the United States.
 Women's Year activity actually began Dec. 10 when Princess Ashraf Pahlavi of Iran presented Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim a declaration of support endorsed by 58 heads of states.
 Waldheim then proclaimed 1975 International Women's Year, declaring that "we must frankly admit" that there is still a wide gulf between the principle of equality of the sexes and the practice.
 "Despite the advances of the past 30 years," Waldheim said, "discrimination against women remains a pervasive fact of life in many countries and thus represents a major obstacle to real social, economic and political progress in the world."

Bags And Belts Big Spring News

By HELEN HENNESSY
 NEA Women's Editor

Accessories are big spring news—especially bags and belts. There are lots of shoulder bags in leather and fabric textures and clutches with hidden chains convert to shoulder carrying. One of the newest silhouettes is called "Dachshund"—long, and low in the shape of an elongated satchel. This is shown in a natural straw and Linstraw—a silky look.

Belts run the gamut of widths, but the news is in the sash and the wrapped waist "cbi" look in soft leather. The Buckener corded linen-look in belts with wood buckles looks great with the natural story, as does the bone leather Odyssey with the chino look. Chains still continue as part of the belt story.

20th Century Club Hears Program

The Twentieth Century Study Club met Tuesday in the Midland Woman's Club for a program, "Powder Puff Mechanics," presented by Jerold Cox, Midland College instructor. Mrs. Lester Morton introduced Cox, who gave pointers on "what to do until the mechanic arrives."

During a short business session, Mrs. R. L. Noah welcomed members and a guest, Mrs. N. R. Rousselet. Mrs. Jack Meagle led the reading of the club collect.

Introduced as a new member was Mrs. David Norton. Mrs. Carl Hyde, Mrs. Woody Adams and Mrs. R. O. Burkett were appointed to serve on the nominating committee. The committee will report at the Feb. 25 meeting.

Mrs. Noah announced Mrs. A. B. Cary will serve the remainder of the year as recording secretary, due to the resignation of Mrs. Glen Davis, who has moved from Midland.

The club's director to the Midland Woman's Club, Mrs. Robert Rike, announced a Mexican dinner will be served from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Woman's Club. A slide presentation will follow the dinner.

Mrs. R. L. Denton and Mrs. Robert Cox were hostesses to the social hour following the meeting.

Garter Belts Snap Back With Same Bite As Before

By JANE GLENN HAAS
 Copy News Service

All I wanted was a pair of partyhose, but the salesgirl insisted I see the latest in hoisery fashion.

With a shy smile she pulled a strange, lacy garment out from beneath the counter. From its beribboned cummerbund hung four elastic bands with strange appendages that writhed, wriggled and snapped at me.

"EEK!" I eeked. "Take it away before it bites!"

"It's absolutely the latest thing," she cooed. "It's called a garter belt."

"I know what it's called, I still have a permanent scar from the time I gartered myself to the belt and left my stockings at mid-calf."

"You'll never know how that scar pains, particularly on a damp day..."

The clerk smiled officiously and smoothed the garment on the counter.

"Men are bored with looking at legs totally stockinged. Besides, the garter belt fits right into the new fashion look."

"Men can be bored for all I care," I told her. "They never got whiplash kneecaps from fighting a garter belt attached to too-short stockings."

"Exquisite Pain!"

"You're not thinking of the sex appeal of a bare thigh between a stocking top and a garter belt," she told me.

"You're not thinking of the exquisite pain of a garter digging into all that flesh while you try to sit poised and calm as you're inaugurated as Taffy Apple Chairman of the PTA," I retorted.

"It's the latest thing that men are buying for their wives," she continued, undaunted.

"I'll take an electric can opener," I answered.

The clerk said all the young girls are looking for something new.

Return Of Seams
 She told me the hoisery manufacturers are even thinking about bringing back seams.

I told her if the hoisery manufacturers can't invent a nylon that won't run, they've got nothing to brag about.

"Do you realize we can put a man on the moon but it's taken us years to invent a pantyhose that doesn't cause instant strangulation between crotch and waist? It's taken most women years to learn how to get both feet into their pantyhose and pull up without popping them out."

"Do you realize that with all our technological advances, you want to go back to what my grandmother called 'underpinnings'?"

The clerk was not impressed.

"You'll wear underpinnings sooner or later," she promised.

And she's probably right. If they knock any more props out from under me, it'll take more than a garter belt to hold me up.

Offenders Appeal To Female Attorney

By SUSAN SANFORD
 MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)

When Emily Gassenheimer started law school in 1958, she knew exactly where she was going.

She also knew it was going to take her somewhat longer than the average student to get through her courses. Pregnant with her third child, and with a husband and two small daughters requiring much of her time, Mrs. Gassenheimer had to attend classes when she could fit them into her life. Now, 16 years later, she has reached her goal.

In 1974, Mrs. Gassenheimer graduated from Jones Law School and took the State Bar Exam—an experience she describes as "the most humiliating, demoralizing thing I've ever been through. All those bright-eyed young people, fresh out of law school, and there I was competing with them," she said.

"When it was over, my husband Irvin and my daughters and I had a party to celebrate. They were behind me all the way, and we were all glad it was over," she said.

In her office on Scott Street, Mrs. Gassenheimer is immersed in the work she was aiming toward all along. "I've known for years that I wanted to combine both legal and rehabilitative aspects in working with offenders," said the dark-haired attorney. "I feel that a lawyer's job does not stop with getting a client acquitted. If you keep a man out of jail, yet put him back into a crime-producing situation, where neither his needs nor society's are being met, then you've only done half a job. I think this is particularly true in the case of juvenile offenders," she said.

"I don't believe in pampering criminals," she continued, "but I do believe in effective rehabilitation. It is obvious by now that crime is a problem that touches everyone—it's no longer on the other side of town. Society has tried for years to reduce crime, yet the crime rate continues to increase. Our old methods of dealing with the situation are not working, and I think it's time we tried something new."

A slender woman with dark, friendly eyes and a warm, open manner, Mrs. Gassenheimer has a deep interest in her fellow man. Her many years of volunteer work with various community services include serving on both the State Mental Board and on the board of the local Mental Health Assn.

Mrs. Gassenheimer is currently involved in working with the Community Council, the social planning division of United Appeal. The Criminal Justice Committee of the Council, of which she is a member, has recently completed a year of research.

"We have visited the city and county courts, the jails, juvenile court, the Department of Pensions and Security, the Family Guidance Center, the Youth Facility—all these related services, in an effort to determine which services may be overlapping and where the gaps are," she said. "We have also made studies of what cities in other parts of the country are doing in these areas, what programs have been implemented elsewhere."

The 30-member Criminal Justice Committee, according to Mrs. Gassenheimer, is now concerning itself chiefly with three issues: juvenile offenders, bail bond reform and adult offenders. Mrs. Gassenheimer is a member of the subcommittee on Services to Youth in Trouble, and shares the view that the rights of the juvenile offender are many times overlooked. "How can we teach our young people respect for the law when so often it is obvious that the law has no respect for them?" she said. "The problem of juvenile crime touches everyone today. As with crime in general, it's no longer kids on the other side of town who are getting into trouble."

"The committee members feel that the juvenile age should be raised to 18. As it is now, 16- and 17-year-olds are tried as adults, in adult courts in many places. We feel there should be a uniform juvenile court system established," she said.

"I also feel society has a responsibility to rehabilitate juvenile offenders. You know, the first offense is really a warning to society that this person is off on the wrong track, and that is when we need to start rehabilitation."

Pan Am, Iran On Verge Of Agreement To Keep Airline From Failing

NEW YORK (AP) — Pan American World Airways is on the verge of reaching an agreement with the Iranian government, airline and banking interests on a plan designed to keep the financially troubled U.S. airline from collapsing, the Wall Street Journal said today. If the arrangement is completed, it would make Iran one of the biggest transportation powers in the world, the newspaper said.

The newspaper quoted sources as saying that Pan Am had kept the U.S. government advised of the negotiations with Iran and that the government's reaction was receptive. The Journal said the proposed transaction has not reached its final form. The route swaps between Pan Am and TWA were announced in Washington after receiving the approval of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Under the agreement, Pan Am will drop service to Paris, Vienna, Madrid and all flights to Lisbon except via Puerto Rico across the South Atlantic. It meanwhile receives authority to fly to Oshawa, Taipei and Bombay.

Guam, Hong Kong and Bangkok. In return, it will serve Barcelona, Nice, Casablanca and Vienna. Both carriers will continue to fly to London from New York. But Pan Am will no longer serve London from Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Chicago, while TWA loses its authority to fly from Washington. The CAB said the agreement would benefit Pan Am by $17 million to $23 million and TWA by $15 million to $24 million in the first year.

Allegation That Eastland Accepted Payoff Appears To Have Evaporated

WASHINGTON (AP) — An allegation that Sen. James O. Eastland accepted a $50,000 payoff appears to have evaporated. The man quoted as accusing Eastland, John W. Curington, denies through his lawyer that he made the charge and denies having any knowledge of a payoff.

Patchen swore that Curington told him that wealthy Dallas oilman Nelson Bunker Hunt had paid Eastland $50,000 or $60,000 to get the Justice Department to head off a federal indictment of Hunt on a wire-tapping charge. Eastland, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and Hunt denied any payoff.

Odum, denied that his client had accused Eastland or Hunt. "He didn't make any statement that outlandish at all," Odum said. "He didn't have any knowledge of that at all."

Cut In Highway Trust Fund Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration will ask Congress to reduce sharply the size of the highway trust fund and to designate its revenues exclusively for construction and maintenance of interstate highways, sources say. The legislation, which already has been drafted, would represent a sharp break in highway financing. Not only would all noninterstate roads be financed directly from general treasury funds but the federal government would agree for the first time to maintain and upgrade the 42,500-mile interstate system.

The Department of Transportation confirmed that the legislation would be submitted to Congress within the next two weeks. Sources outside the department said some details of the proposal would be made public by President Ford Monday in his budget message. Congress already has authorized $3.25 billion for interstate work in 1977. The Ford legislation would increase that authorization to about $3.4 billion in 1977 and to $3.7 billion in 1980.

Jack Anderson's colleague, Les Whitten, told of Curington's disavowal, said, "We accurately reported the testimony in the case." The effect of Curington's denial is that nobody now appears to be left to accuse Eastland or Hunt of a payoff.

States now have that responsibility.

Under the administration proposal, the excise and user taxes and part of the fuel taxes would go into the trust fund while the remainder would flow into general revenues.

Other activities scheduled for the three-day meeting include discussions with legislators and a hearing before the Senate Finance Committee.

QUARTERMAN — Jerry Cox has received the Quarterman award from the Midland Jaycees for his work with that group.

Big Horn Sheep Re-Study Slated

AUSTIN — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will undertake a re-evaluation of its Desert Big Horn sheep program in the Black Gap area. Ted Clark, director of wildlife programs, says the program is "going along fine." He believes one day the sheep can be hunted on a very limited basis, like they now are in New Mexico.

Odessan Kruse's Sentence Upheld

AUSTIN — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals has upheld the three year sentence of Jack Alvin Kruse on charges of theft by bailer. Kruse received the sentence after allegedly stealing a motor vehicle from Broncho Chevrolet in 1971. The trial was held in 161st District Court of Ector County.

China To Purchase Australian Wheat

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — China is going to buy 36 million bushels of wheat from Australia, the Australian Wheat Board announced today. On Monday, Cook Industries Inc. of Memphis, Tenn., announced that China had canceled orders with it for 22 million bushels of wheat. This is about two-thirds of the American wheat Peking sought for shipment through mid-1976.

Rift Surfaces Between PLO And Its Fighting Arm In Syria

A rift surfaced today between Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization and its official fighting arm based in Syria, the 7,000-man Palestine Liberation Army. "The rift has become really deep," Brig. Gen. Mustah Budeiri, the PLA commander-in-chief, said in an interview with the Daily Star newspaper. Budeiri's English-language newspaper, He accused Arafat of refusing to buy modern Soviet equipment for the PLA and said this created a serious arms shortage for "the biggest but poorest Palestinian force."

Budeiri admitted the PLA "is present in some strength" in South Lebanon but refused to say how many troops he had there. However, he said his troops were giving "limited" help to the Palestine guerrillas there. He made clear he had little regard for the military skill of the guerrillas.

Most of the report was classified for 30 years. A preliminary report last April led to the dismissal of army chief of staff David Elazar and the transfer from their commands of several other senior officers. Israeli military sources said Egypt is developing a naval base on the Gulf of Suez 75 miles from the Abu Rudayh oil fields, which Israel captured in the 1967 war.

SALT II Talks Start At Geneva

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Amid expressions of optimism from both sides, the United States and the Soviet Union opened negotiations today for a treaty incorporating the nuclear arms limits President Ford and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev agreed on at Vladivostok.

U.S. delegate U. Alexis Johnson and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir Semonov met at the Soviet Mission, shook hands and waved and smiled to reporters and photographers outside the building.

Woman, 103, Dies After 99 Years As Mental Patient

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Martha Nelson, who was committed to a state mental hospital for unknown reasons in 1875 and spent the next 99 years in state institutions, is dead at 103.

The Ohio Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation announced that she died Thursday. The department also made funeral arrangements. She had no known family.

Miss Nelson received national attention last year when her plight became known. Her name became a rallying cry for persons seeking to reform treatment of the mentally retarded.

She was committed more than 99 years ago, at the age of 4, to the Columbus State School for the Feeble Minded. Records on her commitment were destroyed in a fire in 1881.

"We've never been able to find out why she was committed," said Dr. Albert Z. Soforenko, superintendent of Orient State Institute and a reform advocate who brought Miss Nelson to public attention.

"In the early 1900s, people were admitted to institutions for all sorts of things, like yelling at ministers, for instance, or acting up at picnics. They had no place else to send them," he said.

Los Angeles Presses Manhunt For Deadly Skid Row Slasher

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The most intense manhunt since the Charles Manson murders has been mounted here for the skid row slasher, who one detective terms "a sexually impotent coward... who hides in the dark and preys on weaklings and cripples."

"This guy's a jackal... venting his own feeling of worthlessness on hapless derelicts and down-and-outers," Deputy Chief George N. Beck said Thursday.

Eight slayings have been attributed to the slasher since Dec. 1. The first seven victims were killed in the skid row area; most were derelicts, winos. But the eighth man, who was murdered Wednesday, was not a derelict and was killed 5 miles from skid row — raising fears that the killer could strike anywhere.

Beck said a profile compiled by psychiatrists shows the slasher as "a loner, some guy who probably lives like a hermit and only creeps out of his hole to commit these horrible crimes."

The psychiatrists who developed the profile said the slasher might be deformed or crippled, though police have said he is stronger than average because of his efficiency in cutting the throats of his eight victims.

Police issued a composite drawing of a 6-foot, 190-pound man with stringy blond hair. They said he could be a homosexual.

Johnson told newsmen on Thursday that the Ford-Brezhnev accord last November "is so clear and specific I believe it should be readily possible to translate it into a formal agreement."

Semonov said he would take a "practical, constructive and concrete approach" in the talks.

Summer Target
Both sides in this second round of strategic arms limitation talks hope to have a SALT II treaty ready for signing when Brezhnev visits Washington next summer. Some American officials in Washington said the final draft might be ready by May.

The treaty would run for 10 years, until 1985. Meanwhile, the United States and the Soviet Union would open a third SALT round, seeking agreement on more arms reductions.

American experts anticipate that SALT II will produce no change in the arms limits Ford and Brezhnev agreed on: 2,400 long-range bombers and missiles with multiple warheads allowed on 1,320 missiles.

Other Issues Involved
But the experts say other issues to be negotiated include:—Verification checks to insure compliance. The Americans will insist on what Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger calls "national means of verification," including spy satellites.

—Just what falls into the categories to be covered by the treaty and what does not.

The first nuclear arms treaty, SALT I, was signed in 1972 and set limits on defense missile systems. It also set temporary limits, running until 1977, on offensive nuclear weapons, including 2,568 land-based and submarine-launched missiles for the Soviet Union and 1,710 for the United States.

Two Midland-Based Grant Applications Win PBRPC Review Committee Approval

Two Midland-based grant applications of $3.8 million and $33,000 were unanimously approved by the government application review committee of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission during its regular meeting Thursday.

The committee gave a nod to a $3.8 million application to the Federal Aviation Administration from the City of Midland as well as the $33,000 application to the Office of Economic Opportunity from the Midland Community Action Agency.

Midland Girl Among Entrants In Competition

Lisa Covington of Midland is one of 15 college and university students entered in the college vocal division of the National Young Artist Competition being held at Odessa this weekend under auspices of the Midland-Odessa Symphony and Choral.

She is a student at Texas Christian University, Fort Worth.

The vocal preliminaries will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday in the fine arts auditorium of Odessa College.

Area Highway Contracts Let

AUSTIN — Highway construction contracts let in January by the Texas Highway Commission will include work in Midland, Ector and Winkler counties.

A contract was awarded to Border Road Construction Co. of Monahan with a low bid of $355,297.

The contract is for hot mix asphaltic concrete pavement on U.S. 80 from near Interstate Highway 20, west of Odessa to near FM 2227 in Odessa; on Spur 268 from U.S. 80 to Texas 188 in Midland, and on SH 115 to south city limits of Kermit, a distance of 4.6 miles.

Mahon Will Run Again In 1976

WASHINGTON — U.S. Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock said late Thursday he intends to be a candidate in 1976 for re-election to the 19th Congressional District seat.

Earlier this week Mahon said he had no intention of retiring but at that time did not say he would run again.

Bayh Still Eyeing Possible 1976 Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Birch E. Bayh of Indiana, a 1972 Democratic presidential dropout, is sounding out potential backers about a possible 1976 bid and is being advised to make an initial decision within 60 days.

"It's something he has talked about and given some consideration to," a top Bayh aide said. "But he has not made up his mind."

Accidental Gunshot Hospitalizes Man

Wesley Ray Settler, 21, of 3103-A W. Kansas St. was accidentally wounded early this morning when a rifle in his pickup discharged, hitting him in the hip.

Settler was reported in serious condition in the intensive care unit of Midland Memorial Hospital.

Woman Robbed In Parking Lot

Midland police continued a search today for a man who grabbed a purse containing $150 in cash and several items of jewelry from Fayalea Steele as she left a grocery store Thursday.

The woman told police she had finished shopping at the grocery located at Scharbauer and A streets and had walked onto the parking lot when the assailant grabbed her purse and ran.

A clerk at the store chased the man for several blocks.

Fire Damages Midland Home

Midland firemen extinguished a fire at the home of Joseph and Rose Bence, 1303 W. Illinois St., late Thursday, but not before the living room and its contents suffered heavy damage from the blaze.

Firemen said the blaze apparently ignited when lighter fluid was used to start a fire in the fireplace of the brick home.

VA Insurance Dividends To Be Distributed Early

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 25 million holders of Veterans Administration life insurance policies will get their 1975 dividend checks within 45 days in a government effort to pump cash quickly into the recession-plagued economy.

Announcing this Thursday, White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said participants in the three affected insurance plans customarily have received their dividends on the anniversary dates of their policies.

Democrats Shape Own Energy Plan

By PEGGY SIMPSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Democrats, responding to President Ford's chiding that they shouldn't criticize his energy conservation plan until they have an alternative, are moving to develop their own energy program.

Speaker Carl Albert has directed a task force to devise a single energy plan which the Democratic majority can push quickly.

Albert earlier this week won

Albert's steps represent the Democrats' recognition that Ford could keep the initiative in fighting the energy-economic crisis unless the Democrats take steps to adopt their own program.

Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., chairman of the task force, said the action also represents an awareness that Congress has to become more effective and that there should be a curb on the proliferation of proposals that are never acted on and efforts that are duplicated.

Woman Robbed In Parking Lot

Midland police continued a search today for a man who grabbed a purse containing $150 in cash and several items of jewelry from Fayalea Steele as she left a grocery store Thursday.

The woman told police she had finished shopping at the grocery located at Scharbauer and A streets and had walked onto the parking lot when the assailant grabbed her purse and ran.

A clerk at the store chased the man for several blocks.

Wallace Already Has Force Of One Million Volunteers

By REX THOMAS
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — George C. Wallace may run for president again in 1976, and then again he may not. But he already has a task force of more than one million volunteers pledged to help him raise funds and line up delegates for the Democratic convention.

And, says his national campaign director, Charles S. Snider, hundreds of others are signing up each week in response to the third in a series of direct mail campaigns soliciting their support.

From their letters and responses to questionnaires sent out by Snider's office, they are sorted out by a computer and classified as contributors willing to donate their own money, volunteer workers waiting for jobs to perform, or both.

Long Mailing List
Also on the mailing list are the names of some 12 million other voters who may or may not lend their help.

Snider says it's the most sophisticated mailing list put together by any prospective candidate. He says it has already brought in enough contributions from enough states to qualify the Alabama governor for federal matching funds under the new campaign law.

The 55-year-old Wallace, who was inaugurated Jan. 20 for an unprecedented third term as governor, says he is very interested in the upcoming presidential race but still undecided.

However, his promise in his recent inaugural address to "continue to speak out on national affairs" was interpreted by his close friends as an almost certain indication that he will be a candidate.

Snider says "my personal opinion is I think he will run." But he insists Wallace hasn't told him that.

Whatever his intentions, Wallace, who put aside the racial image he once wore and actively sought the support of black voters in his re-election campaign last year, will journey to other states in the next few weeks on a new speaking tour.

One question which frequently arises when the partially paralyzed governor is mentioned as a potential candidate for president is his health — whether he is physically able to withstand a rigorous campaign.

Wallace, paralyzed in both legs from an assassination attempt during the 1972 presidential race, recently underwent a routine checkup at University Hospital in Birmingham.

Dr. Sheridan Shirley pronounced the governor "in the pink of condition," and added: "I've said it before. In my judgment, there's no political job he couldn't perform that the people chose to elect him to."

Wallace said he feels fine, but has some discomfort from sitting for hours at a time in a wheelchair. "I'm as good as ever," he says, "except that I can't walk."

But he can, and does, stand upright when making public appearances, supported from behind by leather straps built into a specially constructed lectern. And he has learned to "brace walk" on crutches, leaning forward and pulling his legs along.

In his speeches, Wallace no longer dwells on racial issues as he did at his first inauguration when he defiantly vowed "segregation forever."

When he began his third term, he made only an indirect reference to racial matters. He said Alabama has shown the nation its people can live together "in peace and tranquility" and probably could teach some other parts of the country how to get along.

Nearby, during the inaugural ceremonies, sat black newspaper publisher Jesse J. Lewis of Birmingham, who was chosen by Wallace to serve in his new official cabinet as coordinator for highway and traffic safety.

Lewis, the first black cabinet member in Alabama, at least since Reconstruction days following the Civil War, said other blacks will be appointed to the governor's staff. A spokesman for Wallace confirmed that. Meanwhile, Wallace's national campaign headquarters, which has never ceased to function since the 1972 election, has doubled its office space and increased its full-time staff to 25.

To find out how voters across the nation feel about the Alabama governor and how many are willing to work in his behalf, the campaign headquarters mailed 6 million letters between August 1973 and August 1974. They went to voters who had not previously indicated a willingness to help.

Snider said 96,000 replies came back with contributions totaling some $334,000.

The money helped, of course, says the campaign director, but more importantly "it gave us the names of 96,000 new contributors we didn't know about before."

Letters also were sent to 787,000 other voters who had given money to the Wallace campaign earlier. On that list, 76,000 responded with another $1.6 million.

Wallace hasn't ruled out the possibility of another third-party race like the one in 1968 in which he carried five states. But Snider says the campaign efforts now "are directed 100 per cent toward winning the Democratic nomination."

Navy Man Builds Gas Mask Collection

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — In a small confined corner of his South Sacramento home, stacked to the ceiling, are five or six dozen foam heads James Sheldon uses to display his collection of gas masks, some dating back to World War I.

"I got my first gas mask at California State University at Chico," explains Sheldon, a Navy medical corpsman. In checking out the equipment he became interested in further in 'Baker's Dozen' Origin.

When heavy penalties were inflicted for short weight of breads, bakers added a 13th loaf to the dozen to avoid the risk of incurring a fine. Thus started the custom of a "baker's dozen."

investigation and collection. Before long he was owner of tactical remnants of nearly all the war-torn countries of the world — survival masks from Germany, Japan, Italy, Vietnam, Russia and the United States.

He scrounged in flea markets for his masks. He said some of the older masks were made of leather. He has a Viet Cong one made out of a shower curtain. His latest fancy U.S. Army mask has a hook-up for drinking and even for giving artificial respiration.

His mask hobby, he says, is only beginning.

"There are more than 50 models produced in the U.S. alone and many countries have a dozen models."

'Paradise Lost'; Suburban Living Has It's Problems

MURPHY, Tex. (AP) — Lynn Cunningham can't flush his toilet when it rains. The Minter family down the street worries about raw sewage bubbling up into the shower and overflowing onto the floor. The Arions won't let their 4-year-old son out to play in their sewage saturated lawn.

The Cunninghams, Minters and Arions live in 650,000 homes in a subdivision of Murphy, a town of 1,130 about 25 miles north of Dallas.

Their septic tank problem is so serious the Texas Department of Health has declared it a hazard.

One Of Money Problems
The sewage problem is just one of many confronting Murphy and dozens of other towns of only a few hundred people in the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area. The small towns are being inundated by commuters who work in the city but go home to the "farm" at night.

Before Tom Clevenger became Murphy mayor in 1971, there were no building codes. Developers built subdivisions with poorly laid roads, not enough fire hydrants, and septic tanks that have since coughed up their contents onto lawns and back up into houses.

Clevenger, 37, who moved from a Dallas apartment to Murphy in 1970, believes tensions in the town are caused in part by the disillusionment of recent arrivals.

Yearn For Simple Life
"There's been a growing desire to return to the simple life, to own your own victory garden," he said. "So people come out to what they think is the country. They see the hay in the fields and the farmers gathering cotton. They just don't realize that the land is in its 12th level of speculative ownership."

And that the farmer is only leasing the land until someone starts building.

"So they say, 'Wouldn't it be great to live out here on a hill overlooking these cattle.' And then they see a subdivision with one-acre lots at better prices than they could ever find in the city and they're hooked," Clevenger said.

"They don't think about the drainage or how soon the asphalt will buckle. They don't check the zoning laws to see if those fields will turn into factories. And it all sets the stage for the problems that follow."

A real growth crisis came when some septic tanks failed, causing sewage to back up into homes and onto lawns.

Murphy had only one solution — build a municipal sewer system. But enough residents were able to flush their toilets to twice vote down the project.

"Part of it was the cost," Clevenger said, "some people see the sewer system as laying the groundwork for future growth. They moved out here to escape and they'll fight it tooth and toenail."

Door-To-Door Campaign
The mayor and council resorted to a door-to-door campaign which generated support for a sewer system which will be built soon.

The Texas Municipal Water District has helped communities with septic tank problems install sewer systems.

Its executive director, Carl W. Riehn, sees the problem as symptomatic of a pampered society.

"An old frame house with lots of land, one bathroom, no disposals and enough distance from other houses to run the wash water out on the lawn can probably get by with a septic tank," he said.

"But people move out to the country to get away from it all, thinking they can still have three bathrooms, a dishwasher, garbage disposal and washing machine. Septic tanks just can't take that kind of a load, particularly if the houses are close together."

In For Shock
"People who expect to find all the conveniences of the city out in the country are in for a shock. They're not going to find it."

And as Mayor Clevenger put it: "Little towns elect you into office if you look like an honest guy. But you don't know anything worth a damn about running a city. So you end up with a bunch of homeowners making complex decisions and they just don't have the experience to do it."

Twice As Many Families In Money Trouble Now

NEW YORK (AP) — Loan delinquencies and defaults are up in almost every area of the credit markets, causing lenders to write off millions of dollars in bad debts.

At the same time, almost every type of lending institution from local credit unions to the Chase Manhattan Bank is accused of poor management for having permitted bad loans to be made.

"We're cursed if we do, damned if we don't," said the president of a large New York City bank.

The National Foundation for Consumer Credit, which counsels families caught in a financial pinch, estimates five or six of every 100 families in the nation have money troubles, double the estimate of a year ago.

Problems To Rise
A spokesman for the foundation was quoted during 1974 as saying that with recession and inflation clawing at the pocketbook from different directions, the rate could rise to 10 of every 100 families.

Bankruptcies are expected to set a record of more than 230,000 in the fiscal year to end June 30, and one reason for it in fact, if viewed from a special perspective, the only reason — is the misuse of credit.

The amount of consumer debt, including mortgage loans, rose 42 per cent between the end of 1970 and the middle of 1974, according to a study by the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. During the same period, after-tax income rose only 37 per cent.

The rate of delinquencies on installment loans averages between 2.5 and 3 per cent, the highest since 1950. Mortgage foreclosures have been running at a rate of 136,000 a year.

In all, American households owe roughly $600 billion, compared with less than $25 billion in 1945, and slightly more than $400 billion as recently as 1970.

Does this mean lenders are too lenient in judging the credit-worthiness of their customers? Are they interpreting their responsibility to customers too liberally? You'll probably not get agreement on the questions from customers, and certainly not from the lending fraternity.

For the moment, at least, the public seems to have arrived at an answer. Despite the hawking of credit like peanuts at the ballpark, consumers are showing marked resistance and, in fact, are paying off those old loans.

Over the longer term, however, the use of credit is rising steeply.

Choose Uplift, Grimness

By JAY SHARBUTT
NEW YORK (AP) — If you're in the mood for some fairly uplifting viewing tonight, catch a one-hour Smithsonian special called "Flight: The Sky's the Limit," which is on CBS-TV.

If you're up to pondering a grimmer subject — the spread of nuclear energy and its potential for disasters large and small — watch a Sunday NBC special cheerfully entitled, "The Nuclear Threat to You."

CBS' flying show uses the passion for aviation of four Washington, D.C., high school students as a peg on which to hang a once-over-briskly look at the history, fun and tragedy of manned flight.

Explores Past
The kids spend their Saturdays helping restore historic old military and civilian planes at the Smithsonian's restoration works in Silver Hill, Md., the point from which the show takes off.

Much of it explores aviation's past by frequently switching from the youths' staged fantasies about the good old days of flight to newsreels and film footage of the era when planes had funny things called propellers.

Broadbrush Study
NDC's nuclear inspection Sunday is a broadbrush study primarily concerned with three things:

—The possibility that terrorist groups could steal a tactical nuclear warhead and figure out how to trigger it.

—The possibility that terrorist groups or small countries could now acquire enough plutonium, a basic ingredient in atomic weaponry, to make their own small bombs and commence nuclear blackmail.

—The possibility of catastrophic failure of nuclear power and research facilities in the U.S. and abroad.

It reaches no definite conclusions on possibilities one and three, but for my dough gets a chilling "highly probable" on count two.

Billy Wilder: Director Actors Love To Work For

By ELLIE GROSSMAN
NEW YORK (NEA) — Billy Wilder crosses the living room of his suite at the Sherry Netherland Hotel, hand outstretched.

He leans forward a bit from the waist, "Nice to meet you. Is it cold outside?" He has a Viennese accent and an old-world manner quickly undone by a comic turn with his guest's coat.

No place to put it. On the couch, then. Papers shuffled aside to make room to sit.

Wilder settles into a chair with legs crossed, happily chomping on chewing gum, eyes magnified through his glasses and a constant questioning look on his face because of his wrinkled forehead.

Actors love to work for this pug-nosed cavalier. "I'm adorable," jokes the producer-director-writer who has won six Academy Awards during his 40 years in Hollywood (in various categories for "The Lost Weekend," "Sunset Boulevard" and "The Apartment").

"I'm happy when I work and I like everybody to feel comfortable. We joke together, we discuss things. I don't order actors around."

In addition to being easy going, Wilder is gifted and hard-working — a professional. That's why Jack Lemmon and Walter Matthau, stars of "The Front Page," insisted that Wilder be signed to direct Universal's adaptation of the crackling Ben Hecht-Charles MacArthur play. "I said I would be delighted," he says. "I was working on another screenplay at the time which wasn't going well. Stuck in some place, staring at the walls."

The Hecht-MacArthur play, about Chicago newspapermen in 1929, is crammed with cynicism, something critics keep attributing to Wilder's work. That must have been an attraction. He is cynical, isn't he?

It's enough to make him stop chewing. "No," he says, eyes wider than ever. "I'm not a cynic, I'm an optimist. The cynicism in 'The Front Page' is Hecht's and MacArthur's. It was the ambience of the newspapermen."

"If I write a character like the slyster lawyer in 'The Fortune Cookie,' it doesn't mean I'm like that. I don't go out to depress people."

He throws his arms out. "Besides, when I do sentimental pictures, they fall flat on their can and nobody comes to see them."

No matter what he does, "everybody kibbitzes." It doesn't pay to listen to them. If he had listened to his father, who owned a chain of Harvey hotels throughout the Austro-Hungarian Empire, he'd be a lawyer today. "I could have been an Erlichman," he jokes. "It's a going profession now."

But Wilder wanted the movies. "The German film industry was very big then and we were all interested in films." He went to law school for a year to please his father, then worked as a cub reporter in Vienna and Berlin.

"I covered everything," he says. "Sports, crime — just like in 'The Front Page,' I went in the middle of the night to get pictures of mothers whose daughters had been raped in the park."

Craddick Offers Airport Measure
AUSTIN — Rep. Tom Craddick of Midland today introduced House Bill 367 that would give all incorporated cities including home rule cities having a population of 55,000 or more, the same authority for the issuance of airport revenue bonds that is enjoyed by cities of 500,000 or more population.

"This permissive legislation will enable Midland to issue its own airport revenue bonds if the city so chooses," Craddick added.

Actor Peppard Takes Third Bride
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor George Peppard and advertising woman Sherry Boucher were married in the middle of the desert.

A spokesman for Peppard said the actor chose the remote spot near Las Vegas for the Thursday ceremony because "George wanted to have his first on the land." It was the first marriage for the 29-year-old bride, the third for Peppard, 45.

"One time I interviewed Cornelius Vanderbilt. I asked him how much money he had in his pocket. Seven marks," Wilder shakes his head. "Some Vanderbilt!"

Finally, he began writing screenplays in Berlin and France, when Hitler took power, and finally, in Hollywood.

For two years, knowing little English, he managed by "doing a little ghost writing in German for some people. I borrowed or sold a few things I'd saved from Germany. Finally, I got a job writing at Paramount and stayed with them for 18 years."

He deposits his gum in an ashtray and there's no sign now of the personal energy that rushes through his films and which accounts, partially, for his survival at 68 in a business that consumes people.

He's matter-to-fact about it. "Quite a few directors who are older than I am have endured," he says. "I don't think I've lost any of my enthusiasm or strength, and making pictures you need a great deal of strength."

"You're on your feet for 17 or 18 hours a day. It's a marathon," he says. A time when "you walk up and down in your bed," and often it lasts for six months.

Aside from the physical demands, there are the emotional. "You have everyone's problems on your shoulder," Wilder explains. "You have to be a travel agent and hotel manager when you're on location. You need a little basic knowledge of psychology because no two actors are alike, and sometimes you need a little knowledge of Alcoholics Anonymous."

But he thrives on it and will keep at it as long as he can. As he says, "You don't pension people off in pictures."

Mary's Still Busy

By JAY SHARBUTT
NEW YORK (AP) — What ever happened to Mary of Peter, Paul and Mary? The answer, my friend, is not blowing in the wind. She's still singing, but now also hosts her own nationally syndicated radio show each week.

Called "Mary Travers and Friends," the one-hour show features chats with prominent music groups or solo performers, as well as samples of their old and new recordings and those of other artists they admire.

She says one future guest is reclusive folk millionaire Bob Dylan, a friend of hers since the early 1960s when, as she puts it, "we hung out in the same coffee houses and starved together."

A tall, friendly woman of 38, she's worked solo since 1970, when the trio she and Paul McCartney broke up after nine years of fame for both its music and its involvement in the civil rights and antiwar movements.

Although she says she'd still be with the trio today had no decision been made by fellow singer Paul McCartney to leave the group and become more involved in religion than song, she likes the change.

"One of the fun things about being on your own is that you can take enormous chances and enormous stretchings and do all kinds of outrageous things you can't do when you're in a group," she says.

This includes four albums of her own, six British Broadcasting Corp. variety specials she wrote and hosted in 1972, and an estimated 30 concert dates and occasional club work each year.

She's also finishing an autobiography dealing mainly "with growing up left in New York" in addition to her new show, which began last weekend in 83 cities, according to its producer, Twenty First Communications Corp.

She's married to Jerry Taylor, publisher of National Lampoon magazine. The magazine is owned by Twenty First Communications, but she says he played no part in setting up her radio show.

GM Recalls 1974 Model Cadillacs For Safety Check

DETROIT (AP) — A possible defect, which could allow the hood to come open and obscure a driver's vision has prompted Cadillac Motor Car Division to recall 234,000 of its 1974-model cars.

The General Motors division said some of the secondary latches may have been improperly aligned during assembly and may not engage properly. The recall affects the entire model run.

Cadillac said the cars have two hood latches. If the primary latch is engaged, there would be no safety hazard, spokesmen said.

Gaunt To Lead Special Services

The Rev. Arthur M. Gaunt will be the guest speaker for a series of special services next week in the First Alliance Church of Midland, 1606 W. Wall St.

Mr. Gaunt, a licensed evangelist in the Christian and Missionary Alliance, is the founder and organizer of Evangelistic Endeavors Inc., headquartered at Kokomo, Ind. Before entering the evangelistic ministry he served as pastor of churches in Indiana and Illinois.

Evangelistic Endeavors Inc. is an organization interested in a Bible-oriented outreach to the spiritual needs and potential of local churches, said the Rev. Curtis Pace, pastor of the Midland First Alliance Church. Music director for the series of special services will be James Stabile, also of Kokomo, Ind. The evangelistic emphasis will begin with a service at 7:30 p.m. Sunday and continue with meetings nightly through the following Sunday, Mr. Pace said. All will be open to the public.

Rev. Arthur M. Gaunt

Pipkin Resigns Methodist Post

B. Nathan Pipkin has submitted his resignation as director of Christian education at Midland's First United Methodist Church, a post he has held since 1967.

Pipkin will become program director and director of Christian education for St. Paul's United Methodist Church at Amarillo on March 1.

He will be honored with an "Adios But Not Goodbye" party at 6:30 p.m. Sunday in the First UMC fellowship hall. A covered dish meal will be followed by a special program. Members and friends of the church and friends of the Pipkin family have been invited to attend the event. The church nursery will be open.

Canadian Group Will Perform Here

Gardens Assembly of God, 2901 W. Kansas St., will host to a Canadian group, the Blakley Singers, at its Sunday morning and evening worship hours.

The ensemble currently is visiting the Midland church for a special youth emphasis under way there. The public is invited to hear the singers at the 10:50 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday services.

First Black Arrivals

The first blacks to arrive in English America were 20 bound servants landed from a Dutch warship at Jamestown in 1619.

Caleb Hildebrand Installed As Church Group Head

The Rev. Caleb Hildebrand was installed as president of the Midland Association of Churches at the organization's annual business meeting and dinner Tuesday night in First United Methodist Church.

He succeeds Dr. Ray Bristol, director of Midland's Pastoral Counseling Center, in the presidency. Mr. Hildebrand is pastor of St. Mark's United Methodist Church.

Also installed at the dinner meeting by District Judge Perry D. Pickett were the following officers: The Rev. John Long, minister of Memorial Christian Church, first vice president; Mrs. George (Evelyn) Dye, second vice president; Mrs. B. H. (Laverta) Kouns, secretary, and Paul Laverty Sr., treasurer.

Chairmen of standing committees for the coming year were announced as follows: Dr. John Alexander of Covenant Presbyterian Church, special action; the Rev. Steve Edwards of First Christian Church, public meetings; Mrs. C.E.S. (Helen) Bellows III, public relations, and Leon Fonteno, finance.

Family Services Selects Officers

New board members and officers of Family Services of Midland were named recently. James Alsop will head the organization during the coming year. Serving with him will be Felipe Morales, vice president; Mrs. Jack Jordan, secretary, and Robert Myers, treasurer.

New board members include Gerald Helm, Don Clay, Mrs. James Huddleston Jr., Bob Watkins and Bill Hill. Family Services of Midland, formerly known as Family Counseling Service, is a United Way agency providing professional counseling in all areas of family problems. One of its continuing projects is the presentation annually of one in the "Plays for Living" series. This year's play, "Lady on the Rocks," deals with the problem of alcoholism. A group of Midland Community Theatre actors, directed by Mary Anne Gardiner, make up the cast of "Lady on the Rocks," and performances are now being given before church and civic groups. Arrangements for scheduling a performance may be made through the Family Services office.

Midland Nurse To Teach At OC

ODESSA — Betty Ruth Jackson, former head nurse at Midland Memorial Hospital, has been hired to teach in Odessa College's associate degree nursing program.

Mrs. Jackson, who holds a bachelor's degree in nursing from West Texas State University, has more than 20 years professional experience as a nurse.

Is Law Becoming 'Substitute Religion'?

By GEORGE CORNELL, NEW YORK (AP) — Uneasiness has developed among some legal scholars at a modern approach to "the law" that cuts jurisprudence off from its moral-religious roots.

The effect as they see it is a kind of cut-flower legalism, deprived of its nurturing sources and philosophical depth, yet exalted in present times as a substitute "religion" itself.

As a result, education in the law in this country has suffered the loss of a vital dimension, two noted legal scholars told a meeting in San Francisco of the Association of American Law Schools.

Harold J. Berman, a Harvard University professor of law, said the scope of scholarship in the field has been reduced by "the neglect of the sources of the law in the canon and transcendent beliefs of religion."

The resultant shallowness tends toward "studying cases without relevance to ethical considerations at all."

At the same time, he said, "secularization of legal education has led to idolizing of the law itself." Berman, who is Jewish, added: "Pursuit of the law's objective of social justice, without any sense of dependence upon God, has produced a kind of utopianism which has also become a religion."

John T. Noonan Jr., a Catholic of the University of California's Law School, cited the same sort of idolatry, saying: "There is a virtual search for salvation in the law by people coming to law schools today."

In a similar vein but in another setting, U.S. Supreme Court Justice Harry Blackmun declared: "The balance has been missing. The compass has been askew. It seems the old guideposts are no longer there, or at least no longer looked to or relied upon."

At a lecture at Emory University Law School in Atlanta, Justice Blackmun, a United Methodist layman, called for a restoration of basic moral and ethical principles in the nation, particularly in the legal profession.

Citing recent Watergate-related scandals and other cases in which lawyers compromised ethical principles, he said the legal profession must be committed to "what is just and moral as well as barely legal."

Rodriguez Assumes El Calvario Pastorate

The Rev. Frank Rodriguez assumed the pastorate of Midland's El Calvario United Methodist Church earlier this month. He succeeds the late Rev. Gurnaro A. Verver in the post.

Mr. Rodriguez came to Midland from the Asbury UMC at Ballinger. A native of Abilene, he attended Fort Lewis Junior College at Durango, Colo., and Texas Tech University at Lubbock. He is a graduate of Colorado State University at Greeley and has had pastorates at Sweetwater, Snyder and Brownfield as well as Ballinger.

Mr. Rodriguez has had extensive experience in evangelistic campaign work and has presented religious programs on radio. He has been active as a leader in Boy Scout work.

A get-acquainted gathering is being planned to introduce Mr. Rodriguez and his family here. The event will be at 7 p.m. Thursday in the fellowship hall of El Calvario Church, 1209 Garden Lane. The come-and-go event will be open to members and friends of the church.

Mr. Rodriguez has announced that the El Calvario Kindergarten will continue to be under the direction of Mrs. Gurnaro A. Verver, wife of the late pastor of the church.

Dr. Boyd Hunt Named Interim Pastor At FBC

Dr. Boyd Hunt of Fort Worth has been named interim pastor of Midland's First Baptist Church and will preach at Sunday's services there.

Dr. Hunt will serve the congregation pending selection of a successor to Dr. L. L. Morris who leaves the pastorate this week after more than 20 years. Dr. Morris recently was named

Special Emphases Set For February

Westside Free Will Baptist Church has planned a special emphasis for each Sunday in February.

The coming Sunday will be "Rally Day," to initiate a Sunday school enlargement campaign scheduled to continue for the next several weeks.

Sunday, Feb. 9 has been designated "Loyalty Sunday," and Feb. 16 will be "Surprise Sunday." Finally, on Feb. 23, the congregation will observe "Over the Top Sunday" to climax the month-long membership and Sunday school attendance emphasis.

The Rev. Glen Hood, pastor of Westside Free Will Baptist Church, has invited the public to attend the 9:45 a.m. Sunday school as well as the 11 a.m. worship service each week. The church is at 4031 W. Illinois St.

Unitarians Plan Special Program

The Unitarian Church, 3400 North A St., will have a special program at 7 p.m. Sunday, in addition to its regular morning meeting. Both will be open to the public.

The 10:45 a.m. Sunday service will feature a program on the Midland Human Relations Council's annual "Christmas in April" project, with a presentation by a speaker from the council on the goals and needs of the project.

Inquirers' Class Beginning Sunday

An inquirers' class for adults and teen-agers will have weekly sessions at the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity, beginning Sunday.

The class is intended primarily to prepare persons for confirmation in the Episcopal Church and also is open to those who simply wish to know more about Episcopal doctrine and teachings. Persons already confirmed who would like to learn more about their church also are invited to attend the classes during the next eight weeks. Sessions will be at 4 p.m. each Sunday.

Choir To Present Program Sunday

The Antioch Baptist Church, 1440 E. Golf Course Road, will present its senior choir in a special program Sunday afternoon. It will be open to the public.

The 3 p.m. event also will feature a message by the Rev. Wilson Baldwin, said Antioch's pastor, the Rev. G. T. Curry.

Bills Would Tighten Religious Safeguards

Austin Bureau AUSTIN — Safeguards against disclosure of communications between clergyman and penitent would be strengthened in two bills introduced in the current session of the legislature.

They are SB 109 by Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston and HB 82 by Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale.

Both seek to amend present law, which provides that a clergyman may not be required to disclose information confidentially communicated to him in his professional capacity, except that a judge in any trial may compel disclosure if in his opinion it is necessary for the proper administration of justice.

Kubiak's bill would eliminate the exception and make the privilege absolute. Schwartz would modify the exception to permit a court to compel disclosure in a criminal case.

Craddick Named Speaker For DE Banquet Monday

State Representative Tom Craddick will be guest speaker Monday for the annual employer appreciation banquet of the Midland and Lee high school distributive education programs.

The banquet is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the National Guard Armory.

According to Lee instructor James Presley, it is an opportunity to honor the employers "for giving young people a chance to work and learn on the job."

Two hundred and fifty students are enrolled citywide in the distributed education program.

ceeding, or an action between the parties to the communication in question, or an action to contest the will of a communicant, or an action to declare the communicant mentally incompetent.

Schwartz' bill has been referred to the Senate Jurisprudence Committee for hearing. Kubiak's bill was heard by the House Judiciary Committee and sent to a subcommittee for further study.

Gospel Singer To Appear At Church Here Next Week

Gospel singer Archie Dennis featured soloist at conventions of the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International, the World Pentecostal Conference and the World Evangelism Conference. He also has been featured soloist in

War Footing Measures Are Changing British Pubs, Perhaps For Good

By MIL CHIPP
Copley News Service
LONDON — Since the recent terrorist bomb attacks in Birmingham, Guildford and London, Britain's pubs are going discreetly on to a war footing. The measures now being taken to beat the bombers are changing the atmosphere of many bars, possibly for good. The days, and nights, of the intimate, dimly lit snug oasis are numbered.

Some bars are being equipped with window grills to defeat bomb throwers and officers in one town near a military base have been advised not to use their usual haunt just outside the barracks gates.

What is more significant, however, is that at least one major brewery, Watney Mann, has hired the services of an elite security organization run by explosives experts.

The firm concerned is EPA International Security whose managing director, Jim Bell, won a Maltese Cross for blowing up railway lines behind German lines on behalf of British intelligence during World War II. He retired from the Defense Ministry last June having made a special study of international terrorism.

Another of the team is Ronald Hall, technical director for a fireworks firm. He is described by the company as "an expert on small arms and improvised firearms who has conducted an extensive private study into the technical aspects of sabotage and terrorism for the last 18 years. Bell and Hall conducted a series of security seminars for Watney's licensees. Their advice is down to earth: "There is no such thing as complete security, but you will increase the odds against the terrorist through two security watchwords—quiet, ceaseless vigilance by everyone employed; and safety—dead heroes have a limited usefulness." The licensee is not only given advice. He takes part in practical exercises in his own bar, searching for realistic dummy bombs planted by Bell and his friends. The publican is briefed on how to run a security-conscious house, one which is well lit and free from clutter "to give the clearest possible sightlines from the bar," as distinct from one which is discreetly lit and costly furnished with souvenirs. The staff is told to use the routine collection of glasses as an opportunity to look behind curtains, jukeboxes, inside pianos, bowl lampshades and flower pots. Suspicion also attaches to customers who stay too long in the lavatory. The staff is looking for two types of bomb: explosive devices, usually concealed in plastic or paper bags, handbags, briefcases, cardboard boxes, cassette players and even searchlights ("never switch them on"); and incendiaries, normally left in heavier-than-usual cigarette cartons, bottles hidden in abandoned jackets or in the crevices of upholstery.

In the yard outside, if he has learned his lesson properly, the publican will have empty beer containers stacked neatly and marked with an inconspicuous chalk line "to tell you if there has been any tampering or additions."

What happens when the publican does spot a suspicious object? EPA's primer for learners in the business of security says: "Remember that any examination of a suspicious object incurs risk. It can only be an individual's personal decision how far to go." A call to the police has high priority. "Beyond that, the 'Don'ts' include pulling string, wire or switch attached to an object; moving a suspicious suitcase or other flat-bottomed container; if this has been left on a solid hard surface; leaving fingerprints on a possible bomb

Aspirin-Sensitivity: A Sometimes Fatal Condition

By DR. IRWIN J. POLK
Copley News Service
Does your nose run after you take an aspirin? Do great quantities of fluid almost spurt from your nose within minutes of taking a headache remedy or a cold tablet? Are there days when your nose drips steadily for a few minutes? Stop for awhile and begins to drip again a few hours later? If so, you may be having early difficulties with aspirin-sensitivity, a condition which can sometimes be fatal.

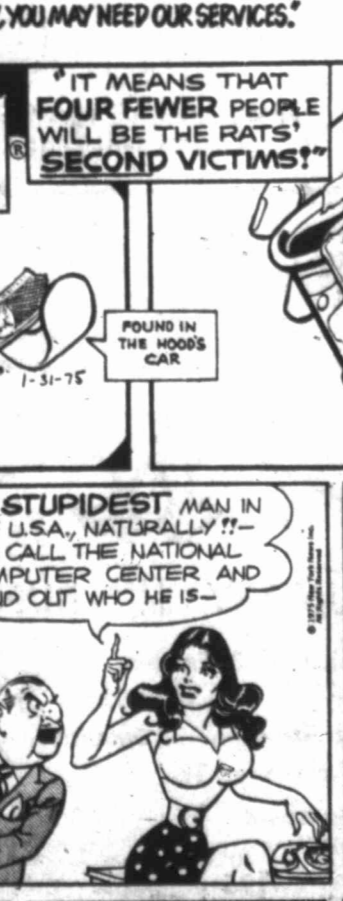

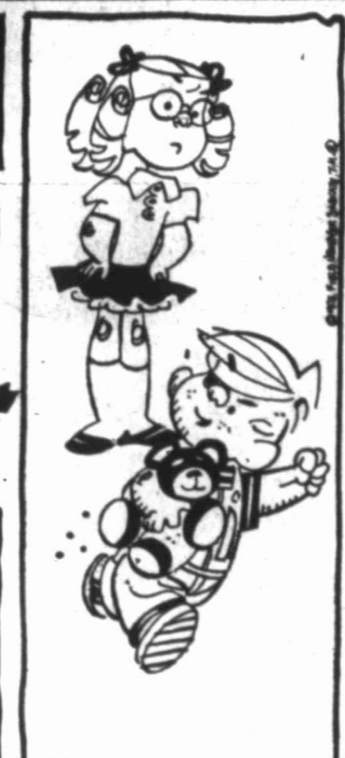

How safe is aspirin? That is an important question since there are 15,000 tons of aspirin made each year in the United States alone. Aspirin is included in more than 400 medicines sold with and without prescription. For the most part, aspirin is a safe and effective drug, but there are some special side effects and conditions which must be considered.

Aspirin must be called one of the safest drugs. It has been used since the early 1800s when an aspirin-type medicine was prepared from the bark of the willow tree. By 1853, a method was found to prepare aspirin in the laboratory, after which its availability and usage increased. The most popular use of aspirin is in lowering body temperature as treatment for fever. Aspirin seems to reset the body's thermostat, a center located in the brain, so that fever is reduced. The drug is also helpful in relieving pain, especially headache and muscle aches and pains. Aspirin is only helpful for moderate pain, not severe pain but it does have the advantage over stronger medicines in that tolerance to aspirin does not develop.

If a dose of aspirin works for a time, it will continue to work without the patient needing ever-increasing dosages. So for most people, aspirin is a cheap, readily available, convenient and helpful drug for relief of fever and mild pain. Aspirin is not without side effects, however. Bleeding from the stomach is the most common and most serious common side effect. Taken in doses of two to six tablets a day, aspirin will cause mild bleeding from the mucus membranes of the stomach in 70 per cent of the people who use it. This results in loss of about a teaspoonful of blood a day, which is not very much yet is five times the normal. Aspirin is especially dangerous in patients who have peptic ulcer or stomach irritation such as occurs from intake of too much alcohol, and in patients with liver disease or varicose veins of the esophagus. But bleeding from the stomach after use of aspirin occurs sometimes in otherwise healthy people also. Besides causing stomach bleeding, aspirin can upset the blood clotting mechanism in healthy people, too. So studies are now under way to see if aspirin can be used to prevent or lessen the problems of blood clotting in such conditions as stroke and heart attack where the clotting of blood plays an important role in causing the damage.

Asthma is the most serious problem caused by aspirin. In a small group of patients, probably less than 1 per cent of the population, taking even small doses of aspirin can cause severe asthma which may lead to death. In such people, death can occur within minutes of taking the medicine. There is at present no reliable test for aspirin-sensitivity of this type.

U.S. Government Studying Ways To Cut Oil Profits

By HOWARD BENEDICT
WASHINGTON (AP) — As oil exporting countries such as Saudi Arabia and Iran search for ways to spend their excess petrodollars, American critics charge the U.S. government isn't getting its fair share of money from the international oil companies.

The critics say the oil companies are reaping unreasonably large, windfall profits. Several plans have been proposed to cut those profits and bring the government more revenues from oil. The oil companies are fighting back, arguing their profits are shrinking as the price of exploration rises and more and more of their foreign investments are nationalized.

Since the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, or OPEC, quadrupled its oil prices a year ago, American oil companies have nearly matched the increase through hikes in the price of domestic oil which has been freed of price controls. That brought them $4.2 billion in unearned, before-tax profits.

Would Rise More
President Ford announced Jan. 15 he would end federal price controls on the remaining 75 per cent of U.S. oil on April 1, unless Congress stops him.

Without a windfall profits tax, the companies' unearned benefits then could rise to about $17.4 billion before taxes. But Ford asked Congress to impose a windfall tax that would return about 80 per cent of the companies' sudden revenue to the U.S. Treasury. They would be permitted to keep the remaining 12 per cent to cover rising costs and to invest in exploration and development of new supplies.

Administration officials estimated this would add about $12 billion a year to the Treasury.

Another plan that would increase government's revenue from oil is President Ford's proposal to impose a $3-a-barrel special import tariff by April 1 as a means of driving up prices to make people use less oil. The money would be pumped back into the economy through federal income tax cuts. The plan has met serious opposition in Congress.

In still another area, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., has introduced legislation which he said would bring the government an extra $100 billion over many years from oil taken from the outer continental shelf.

Royalty System
Under the present system, an oil company operating on federal offshore areas pays the government a royalty of 16.6 per cent of the oil and gas produced. The government's principal compensation comes from the large cash bonuses which the companies pay in bids for the right to drill on these tracts.

Offshore oil has become extremely important to the U.S. drive to achieve self-sufficiency in energy, and the Interior Department is accelerating the leasing of tracts. The 10 million acres to be leased in 1975 compares with a grand total of just 12 million acres leased since the program began 21 years ago.

Unlike much of the onshore domestic drilling areas, the offshore lands are totally the property of the federal government. This makes the offshore sites comparable to oil lands in countries such as Saudi Arabia and Iran where the government leases the land to the companies.

Bentsen has chosen the so-called Indonesian plan as his model. It is a production-sharing concept first adopted in Indonesia and now used in various forms in 11 countries, including Nigeria, Tanzania, Malaysia, Burma and the Philippines. Most deal with U.S. companies.

Increase Royalties
The Bentsen bill provides an increase from 16.6 per cent to 30 per cent in the amount an oil company would pay the government from production revenues until exploration costs are recovered. After that, payment to the government would rise to 60 per cent, minus operating costs.

"The present outdated procedure for selling these leases deprives the American people of revenues from public lands," Bentsen said. "My bill requires the oil companies to give the American taxpayer the same deal they are giving foreign governments."

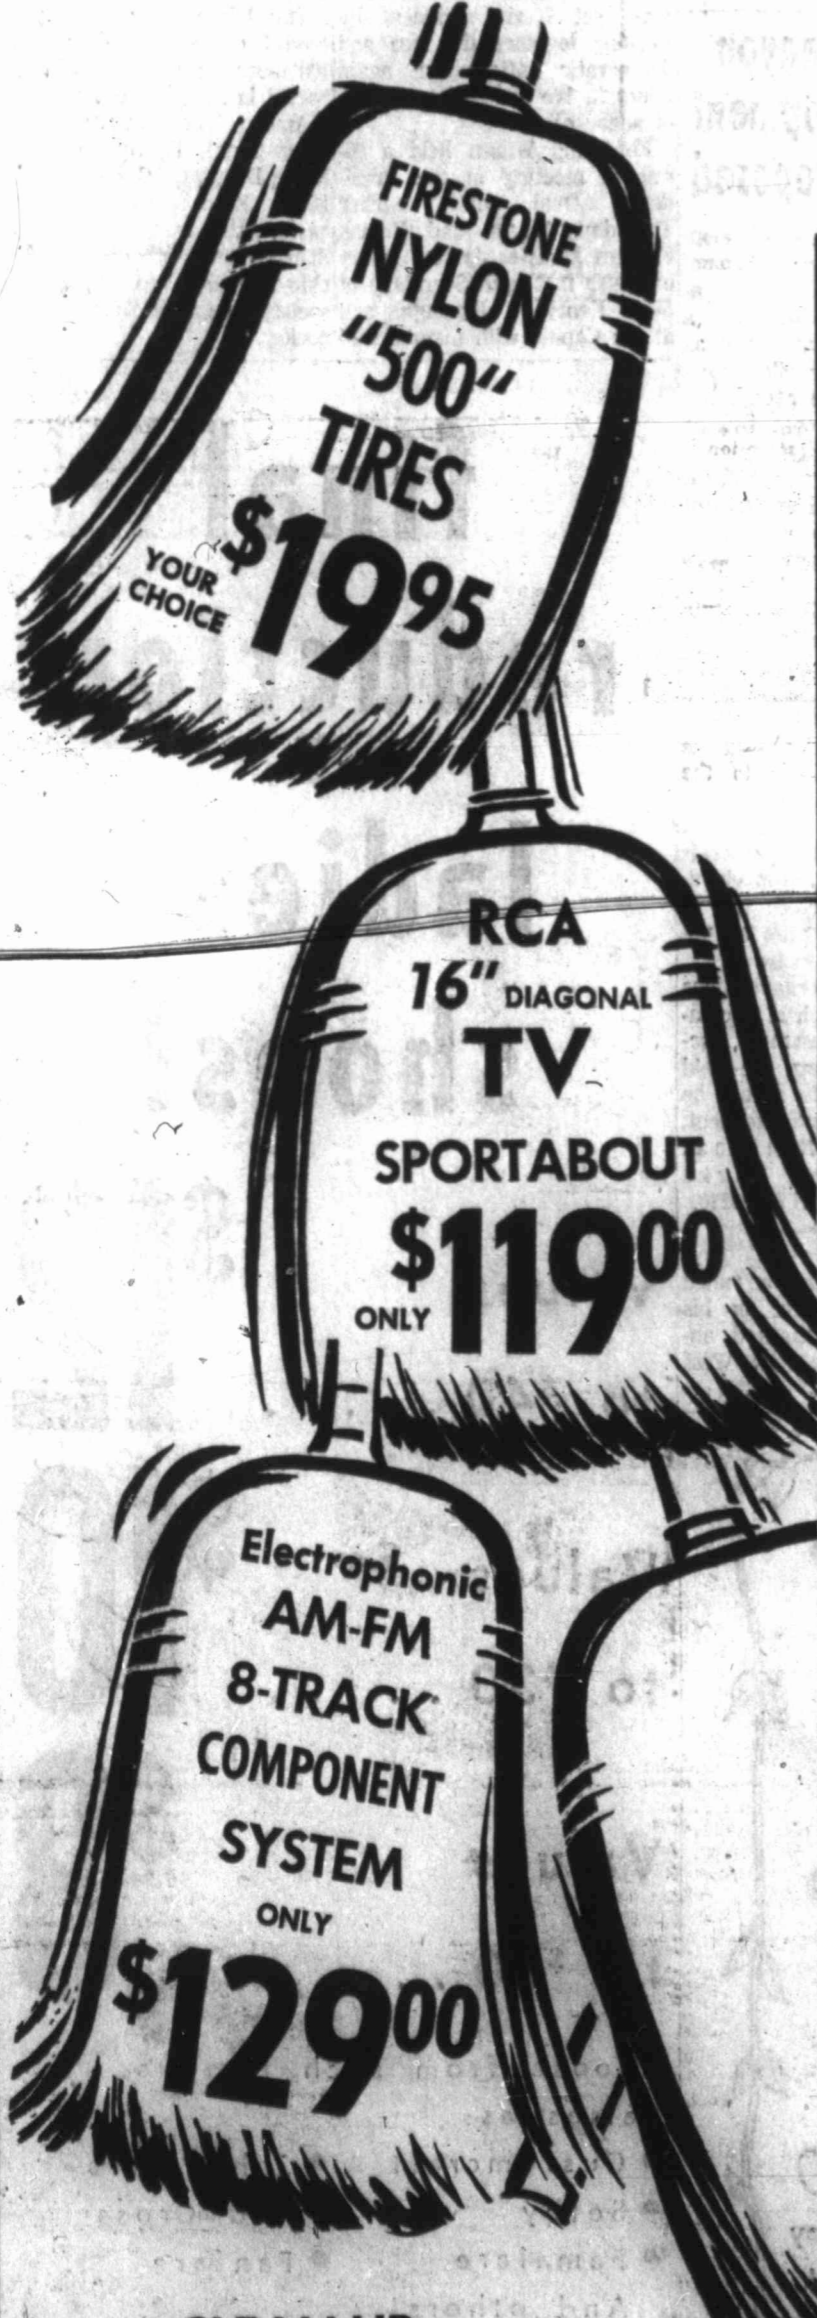

Critics question Bentsen's claim that his plan would bring the government $100 billion, noting the present world energy situation prevents an accurate forecast.

Thief Takes MS Victim's Wheelchair

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Wilbert Stenzel thought he had troubles enough when he came to Miami last fall to try to rebuild a life shattered by multiple sclerosis and the loss of his job, home, wife and children.

Then someone stole his $500 wheelchair.

"What kind of person would steal someone's wheelchair?" asked Stenzel, 37. "Some people, I guess, will do anything."

Stenzel moved from Buffalo, N.Y., to Miami's Independence House for handicapped people last September. He has been loaned a wheelchair by the Miami chapter of the National Sclerosis Society.

But he said he will be hard-pressed to buy a replacement for the one stolen last week.

"I went down to look at some used wheelchairs and they wanted $379 for one like I had," he said. "They wanted $150 for an old one very much less than the one I had."

He said he gets $367 a month in social security and pays $400 a month to Independence House, which provides him with a private room, three meals daily and the services of maids, nurses' aides and round-the-clock attendants.

He said he has been able to make up the difference through money from his parents in Buffalo and what savings he has left.

Stenzel, who has spent the past 10 years in and out of wheelchairs, moved to Miami for the climate after his divorce.

"I owned a home and everything there," he said of his life in Buffalo. "But I lost all that when my wife divorced me and took the children (aged 10, 14 and 16)."

The former television repairman said at times his disease abates enough for him to work but will suddenly leave him helpless again. No cure has been found for the disease of the central nervous system which results in a loss of control over the arms and legs.

Stenzel is one of 26 persons living in Independence House, a converted motel opened a year ago for handicapped persons.

"We are very disturbed about this (theft)," said house manager Leo Berner, a retired physical therapist who opened

Anniversary Of Patty's Kidnaping Nears

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "The hardest thing Mrs. Hearst and I have to bear is not knowing whether Patty is alive and well," Randolph A. Hearst said as the first anniversary of his daughter's kidnaping approached.

Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, issued a statement Thursday asserting his belief that his daughter Patricia is living in the United States. He also said he doubts she would be given a jail term if she came out of hiding.

"We believe she is alive and in this country," he said, but he added it is still "a sad anniversary."

Miss Hearst, 20, was kidnaped Feb. 4 by members of the Symbionese Liberation Army, a small band of terrorists. She later renounced her family and said she had decided to join her SLA captors.

In a tape recording sent to a radio station last June 7 after six SLA members died during a shootout with Los Angeles police, Miss Hearst vowed she would never return to her family.

"I don't believe she would be sentenced to a jail term although she might have to face more than one trial, and the experience would undoubtedly be unpleasant," Hearst said in his statement.

Miss Hearst is charged in warrants with bank robbery and violation of federal firearms laws.

Hearst said, "If she doesn't want to return to her past life, we can understand that.

"If she refuses to let us help in her defense, she has a modest trust fund of her own which could be used.

"In any event the only thing we want is that she be able to live her own life as a free woman and not go on indefinitely hunted by the police."

Hearst said that although he and his wife, Catherine, had not heard from Miss Hearst since the June 7 tape, "we do have hope — hope she is well and hope that she will eventually decide to come in voluntarily and stop being a fugitive."

Two State Solons Introduce HMO Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans may be able to join health maintenance organizations after Sept. 1 if a bill introduced by the co-chairmen of the Joint Subcommittee on Public Health is passed.

Legislation introduced Thursday by Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad, and Sen. Bob Gammage, D-Houston, permits establishment of HMOs and places them under the supervision of the state insurance commissioner.

Von Dohlen told a news conference however, the HMOs would not be subject to the state's insurance laws.

An HMO is an organization that provides health care to persons and families in a geographical area for a predetermined amount each month.

Features of the bill include: —HMO's may be established by any group of citizens and the governing body of the organization may consist of enrollees, consumers or physicians or any combination of those groups.

—An HMO is required to furnish yearly reports both to the insurance commissioner and its members.

—An HMO may be created either for profit or non-profit and it will be allowed to market or advertise its services.

—Participation of physicians in the HMOs will be by contract—not salary—and there will be no conflict with any current state laws governing the activities of physicians.

Rep. Mickey Leland, D-Houston, who campaigned for HMOs in the last session of the legislature, said, "There are still a lot of problems in this bill, but we think we can work it out to something reasonable and acceptable to all of us."

Gammage said the bill, which represents the joint subcommittee's recommendations in the HMO area, is "a priority item for this session of the legislature."

Referring to an HMO bill introduced by Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, Von Dohlen said, "Schwartz' bill has some differences but the two bills are not incompatible."

Von Dohlen added that the HMO's will have to have rates that will be competitive with health insurance rates in order to survive.

Ford Predicts Victory Over Economic Problems And International Tensions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recalling the triumphs over World War II adversaries, President Ford predicts similar victory over today's economic ills and international tensions because "we are still not made of sugar candy."

In a toast at Thursday night's White House dinner honoring British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, Ford said he thought it was appropriate now to remember the courage and optimism of Winston Churchill and his words in December 1941: "We have not journeyed all this way across the centuries, across the oceans, across the mountains, across the prairies, because we are made of sugar candy."

Ford added: "The challenges we face are serious, they are different and in many ways much more complex than those confronted in the Second World War, yet I am confident by working together the free and democratic nations can again triumph. We are still not made of sugar candy."

the Senate and House Foreign Affairs committees.

Wilson said the congressional discussion covered such topics as Cyprus, Northern Ireland and world energy and economic problems.

Ford and Wilson, who were concluding their meetings today, relaxed at the black-tie party, where opera star Beverly Sills got a standing ovation for her after-dinner entertainment.

The White House had gathered 120 guests for dinner and 100 more for the entertainment period in honor of Wilson.

Among them were actors Cary Grant, Danny Kaye and Kirk Douglas, Olympic skier Billy Kidd, journalist-broadcaster Alistair Cooke, novelist Saul Bellow, author Peter Benchley, pianist Van Cliburn and society columnist Suzy Knickerbocker.

Slaughter Canyon Area Development Program Proposed

CARLSBAD, N.M. — Development of Slaughter Canyon, within Carlsbad Caverns National Park, for use as a primitive camping area and as a starting point for hikers and equestrians into the back country has been proposed by the National Park Service.

The proposals are contained in an environmental assessment on a development concept plan for Slaughter Canyon, a deep gorge cut into the eastern border of the Capitan Reef in southeastern New Mexico.

Joseph C. Rumburg, Jr., southwest regional director of the Department of the Interior's National Park Service, said the document is available to the public upon request.

The assessment lists six alternate development proposals for the Slaughter Canyon vicinity to facilitate further use of primitive New Cave as a supplementary visitor focus.

Individuals and organizations will have until March 14 to comment on the assessment, according to Rumburg. He said that such comments should be addressed to the Superintendent, Carlsbad Caverns National Park, 3225 National Parks Highway, Carlsbad, N.M. 88220.

Indiana Banker's Wife Abducted, Freed For Ransom

MISHAWAKA, Ind. (AP) — A woman kidnapped from her Mishawaka home by two men was found unharmed locked in a delivery van early today after her husband paid a $300,000 ransom, police said.

Police found Mary Lou Schwartz, 34, bound in the van parked behind a bank in nearby Elkhart after her husband, Dennis, received a telephone call telling him she was there. Her ordeal lasted 18 hours.

Police reported the ransom was $300,000. James Martin, the FBI's special agent in charge for Indiana, said only that it was "a lot of money."

Martin said, "There were at least two men involved."

FBI Boss Defends Files On Persons

KANSAS CITY (AP) — FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley says the agency's collection of information about private citizens is not a serious threat, unless the data is misused.

"Record keeping is not in itself an ominous thing, but it depends on the manner in which they are used," Kelley told the annual dinner of the Salvation Army Thursday night.

The former Kansas City police chief said the FBI has a good record of protecting the rights of persons named in its 2.5 million files.

Bulldogs Host Permian, Lee At Odessa Tonight

Midland Lee and Midland High shared the first-half basketball title in District 5-4A, but when second-half action resumes tonight, the Bulldogs and Rebels will be starting off from scratch like everybody else.

Of course, it's comforting to have that piece of the title stuffed safely away in the vault in the event of a depression.

Both the Rebels' Paul Stueckler and Bulldogs' James Cagle will be trying to bring their teams back to earth after Tuesday's emotion-draining intra-city experience.

The Bulldogs drew a real toughie in Odessa Permian, 23-4, and a team the Purple Pack had trouble beating the first time around despite the 62-32 margin. One thing about it, Midland does catch Permian at the MHS gym.

Midland Lee, 22-2, hosts Odessa High, which has managed just one district victory and only three all season long, but the Bronchos catch the Rebels at a time when Lee could be looking back instead of ahead.

In other action tonight, Abilene Cooper and San Angelo tangle while Abilene plays Big Spring and the Warbirds could be the darkhorse threat of the second half.

The Eagles catch both Midland and Lee at Abilene and, in fact, did beat Midland, 64-61, to hand the Pack its lone first-half 5-4A defeat.

Midland, 18-6, takes a four-game winning streak into tonight's action against a team that plays a very similar style of ball to that of the Bulldogs. Coach Ron Mayberry's Panthers move well without the ball, play good defense and good position.

Six-foot James Hunter is the Panthers' big man so Permian's hopes will depend greatly on the outside shooting of 5-11 Brad Van Cleave and 6-0 Craig Johnson.

Both were in double figures in the first game. It was the outside marksmanship of Bobby Chinn and Bill Kerr that proved the undoing of Permian in the first game, which was close down until the final 3:30.

Lee hung a 63-46 defeat on Odessa the first time around and will be out to start another winning streak after the 17-game string was snapped by Midland, 71-66, Tuesday night, a loss that cost the Maroon an outright first-half title.

OFF THE BACKBOARD—To give you an idea of the kind of night Bobby Chinn had with his 14 of 19 from the field against Midland Lee Tuesday, in his previous six district games the Bulldog senior was 14 of 44. Michael Cobby's 32 points for Midland against Abilene Cooper last Friday represents a single game high for a 5-4A player with Chinn's 30 next.

Arlington was zipping along undefeated and state-ranked in 7-AAAA when Highland Park pulled a 73-65 upset.

Despite the loss, Arlington remains in first at 8-1 and while the Scotties are 7-3 and 2-7.

Over in District 6-4A, Wichita Falls Rider, the defending champion, cooled off Wichita Falls Hirsch, which had won 14 out of 15 to take over the lead in the North Zone. The death of Mike Cook during practice one day left the Raiders shaken, but the team has come back to win 10 of its last 12. In the South Zone, Richland, 15-0, leads and six of those losses came during a flu seige.

Corpus Christi Carroll and CC Moody tied for the first half in 27-AAAA, but Miller knocked off Carroll in the final game of the first half and Moody in the opening game of the second half.

Cards Survive Aggie Freeze

Permian Basin Fans Missed A Good Show

Battle Scene

By Ted Battles

A lot of folks who decided to forego standing in line for tickets to watch the Midland-Midland Lee basketball game on tv Tuesday night were disappointed when only the first few minutes of play reached their living rooms... something to do with mechanical difficulties prevented the rest of the video.

The Mrs. jumped on us as soon as we walked in the door after the game.

"I knew you should have stood in line for my ticket," she fumed, "I missed the whole thing."

"You think you had troubles," I snorted back, "I didn't know it wasn't on tv until it was over. That red light that indicates you are on camera was pointed at me all night and I got a cramp in my cheek from grinning at it."

Everybody had troubles. Midland Schools Athletic Director Thurman "Tugboat" Jones was disturbed because fans in the Permian Basin, "Missed the opportunity to see the kind of basketball our teams are playing and the sportsmanship displayed by both teams after the game."

Tug added, "It's a shame we don't have a decent place to play a game like this one."

Tug is right on both counts, particularly since the Bulldog-Rebel series has developed into West Texas basketball answer to UCLA-Notre Dame. It deserves a better display case, but there is little likelihood for one in the foreseeable future.

Numerous avenues have been explored without success. One can only wonder what will happen if the Midland schools consolidate. It will eliminate the city series, but it still would leave a student body of 3,800 or so and there just isn't any place to handle even half that many.

As for sportsmanship, after the crowd had left and the teams had showered and crossed, players stopped on the way out to exchange best wishes for the second half, which is as it should be. Both teams played hard and well and no one had any reason to leave the gym with a feeling of guilt.

A glance at the standings shows that both teams left the gym winners.

After scoring 25 and 18 points as UT-El Paso beat Brigham Young and Utah over the weekend, Gary Brewster, the former all-star from Midland High, was named Western Athletic Conference Player of the Week Monday.

Against BYU, the 6-8 junior had 13 rebounds and five assists and followed that up with a strong defensive job on Utah's Luther "Ticky" Burden and still found time to score 18 points, grab 11 rebounds and contribute five assists to the Minor victory.

Gary's 15.8 average puts him fifth in WAC season scoring. He is second in free throw shooting with an .805 percentage, third in rebounding and in the top 10 in field goal percentage.

Coach Don Haskins entices, "If somebody can show me a better defensive player in the country night in and night out — I'm talking about a guy who can keep the ball away from you — I want to see him."

He kinda goes at it like an old plowhorse — he doesn't know when to quit. He might do some things bad, but it's never from lack of effort."

West Texas, North Texas Drop Tilts

By KEN RAPPOPORT

AP Sports Writer

They played it again for Denny Crum... but he didn't like the tempo.

"You get sick of seeing that stuff," said the Louisville basketball coach after watching another team stall against his third-ranked Cardinals.

Freezing the ball has become commonplace against Louisville's tough birds this season, but it didn't help New Mexico State Thursday night. The Cardinals put some heat on the Aggies with a zone defense and endured, 51-42.

"We've had the 3-2 zone all year long," said Crum. "It's just that we've seen so many stalls in the last few weeks that we decided to use it. I thought it created a lot of problems for them."

It did, said New Mexico State Coach Lou Henson.

"I didn't feel we were sharp in our ball-handling," he said, "but you need to give their defense some credit for that. They did a good job of denying the ball to our inside men."

Elsewhere, Memphis State beat Wichita State 78-76; Bradley nipped Tulsa 91-89; Drake rolled past West Texas State 75-63; St. Louis University stopped

North Texas State 80-62. Penn State whipped Southern Mississippi 100-81; Arkansas State blasted Lamar 84-67; Cleveland State tripped Long Island University 80-73; Pikeville stunned Kentucky State 109-88; Seton Hall trounced Fairfield 89-87 and Holy Cross nipped Manhattan 76-74.

Allen Murphy scored 14 points as Louisville overcame New Mexico State's stall-ball technique. The tactics enabled the Aggies, now 13-5 overall and 5-3 in the conference, to tie Louisville 15-15 midway through the first half.

But Louisville took a 25-19 halftime lead as reserve Danny Brown came in and hit all three of his field goal attempts, and was never headed thereafter.

New Mexico State cut the lead to nine on two quick baskets from Richard Robinson, who led the Aggies with 14 points. New Mexico State managed to get within seven points in the last minute but no closer.

Murphy scored in double figures for the 57th consecutive game as he led the Cardinals, and Junior Bridgeman tossed in 13 for the home team.

Comeback Win
Alvin Wright hit a layup off a steal and then dropped in a free throw in the final minute of play to give Memphis State a comeback victory over Wichita State.

Tulsa missed two easy baskets and Greg Smith hit a 15-foot jump shot at the buzzer to give Bradley its victory. Larry Haralson led a balanced Drake attack, with 19 points as the Bulldogs beat West Texas State.

St. Louis charged to a 24-point lead midway in the final half and coasted past North Texas State in a ragged game. Acrobatic junior forward Lewis McKinney fired in 31 points for the Billikens, who shot 59 percent in racing to a 44-32 lead at halftime.

Fred Walker's 25 points led Pikeville past Kentucky State, the nation's No. 1-ranked small college team.

HONOLULU (AP) — Al Geiberger has the lead, but the soft-spoken veteran could be excused for looking over his shoulder going into today's second round in the 1975 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament.

Just two shots away is the menacing figure of Jack Nicklaus, his game rounding into shape and his confidence building.

"It's my first round of the year in the 60s," an obviously pleased Nicklaus said. "At least I've got it going in the right direction."

"Actually, I'm reasonably happy with the round. I enjoy shooting a 68 in the first round. I could have played it a little lower — I let three of the par fives get away — but I guess I could have been a little higher."

Geiberger, a former PGA national champion who broke an eight-year victory drought last fall, had to birdie his final hole to break out of a massive jam at the top. Five men were in with 67s when his wedge shot to four feet set up the birdie that gave him a 66, six-under-par on the rain-soaked, 7,154-yard Waialeale Country Club course.

"The rain was just kind of bothersome," Geiberger said of the day-long drizzle that left pools and puddles of casual water scattered over the tropically lush layout in the shadow of Diamondhead.

Every hole had its own puddle, the water would run off the bill of my cap and I'd have to stop and let it all drain off."

Allen Miller, former Masters Champion Charles Coody, Bob Murphy, Buddy Allin and Eddie Pearce, the runner-up in this tournament a year ago, had their 67s on the scoreboard when Geiberger broke the tie for the top. Bob E. Smith later joined them at the five-under-par figure.

Tied with Nicklaus at 68 were Jumbo Ozaki of Japan, George Arceba and Gary Groh, whose wildly erratic round included an eagle three and a double bogey six.

Arnold Palmer had a 69, U.S. Open Champion Hale Irwin a 73 and Lee Trevino a 75 that left him in danger of missing the cut when the field is trimmed to the low 70 scorers after today's round.

Johnny Miller, who won the first two tournaments of the year, is not competing, nor is Gary Player.

Connors balks
Jimmy protests Pancho as ref, Rod Laver just waits

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — televised live on CBS starting at noon CST. Laver, 36, two-time winner of the Grand Slam, has seen every tactic in 12 years as a pro and calls Connors' wisecracks and gestures on the court gamesmanship.

"I don't worry too much about it," Laver said. "He's trying to get his opponent to lose concentration. I find it doesn't affect me."

Laver has complained that the court to be used is too fast, and asked the promoters to take the tennis balls out of their cans several days ago to slow things down.

HONOLULU (AP) — Al Geiberger has the lead, but the soft-spoken veteran could be excused for looking over his shoulder going into today's second round in the 1975 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament.

Tied with Nicklaus at 68 were Jumbo Ozaki of Japan, George Arceba and Gary Groh, whose wildly erratic round included an eagle three and a double bogey six.

Arnold Palmer had a 69, U.S. Open Champion Hale Irwin a 73 and Lee Trevino a 75 that left him in danger of missing the cut when the field is trimmed to the low 70 scorers after today's round.

Johnny Miller, who won the first two tournaments of the year, is not competing, nor is Gary Player.

Connors balks
Jimmy protests Pancho as ref, Rod Laver just waits

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — televised live on CBS starting at noon CST. Laver, 36, two-time winner of the Grand Slam, has seen every tactic in 12 years as a pro and calls Connors' wisecracks and gestures on the court gamesmanship.

"I don't worry too much about it," Laver said. "He's trying to get his opponent to lose concentration. I find it doesn't affect me."

Laver has complained that the court to be used is too fast, and asked the promoters to take the tennis balls out of their cans several days ago to slow things down.

Walton's critics and it comes quite naturally for the big rookie center of the Portland Trail Blazers.

He's simply playing basketball again and starting to live up to preseason expectations.

Walton refused comment on most of the recent published reports critical of the 6-foot-11

Walton's stock answer to most questions about the negative stories about him was that he loved basketball and wanted to play. "I'm not asking people to understand me," he said after a game in Detroit last week. "I'm just trying to be myself."

"I think he's definitely silencing them," Player-coach Lenny Wilkens says of Walton's critics, "but I still think he is an individual. He has his own personality. He's entitled to his own beliefs and entitled to live his life the way he wants to live it."

Nine games ago, after receiving acupuncture treatments for the bone spur ailment, Walton rejoined the Blazers for an Eastern road trip. In his last five games he has averaged 38.2 minutes of playing time, 15.8 points, 13.8 rebounds, 7.6 assists and 3.6 blocked shots a game.

He also shot 57 per cent from the floor during that time.

For the season Walton has played in 26 of the Blazers' 48 games. He is averaging 13.7 points, 13.3 rebounds, 4.6 assists and 2.9 blocked shots per game.

NATION'S TOP REBOUNDER SUSPENDED—

Seton Hall Hit

NEW YORK (AP) — Disappointment and frustration gnawed at sophomore Glenn Mosley as he watched Seton Hall University's basketball team — his basketball team — go up against Fairfield at Madison Square Garden Thursday night.

Mosley, the nation's leading college rebounder, had been declared ineligible earlier in the day by the University's president, Msgr. Thomas G. Fahy, who also announced suspension and fines against athletic director Richie Regan, head coach Bill Rafferty and assistant coach Hoddy Mahon for recruitment violations concerning Mosley.

"They dug so hard, but they couldn't find any real dirt," said Mosley, forced to watch from the sidelines as Seton Hall beat Fairfield 89-87 in the opening round of the Madison Square Garden Basketball Classic. "I never thought it would end like this.

"I guess I kind of figured the suspension would come about," said the sophomore from Newark, N.J., said, "but I was prepared for anything and I was hoping to play tonight. Yes, I'm bitter about the decision, but I have faith things will work out.

"I don't think I was taken advantage of, at least I hope not," added Mosley.

The sweeping decision by Msgr. Fahy comes on the heels of an investigation conducted by the NCAA into whether or not Mosley should have been eligible for the 21 games in which he played last year.

Rafferty, who is in the last year of his contract at Seton Hall, was suspended for one month and fined $650. Regan was suspended for three weeks and fined $500, and Mahon was suspended for two weeks and fined $100.

Freshman Coach Chris Kikum guided Seton Hall in its emotion-packed victory over Fairfield Thursday night, a game which was decided on Tom Flaherty's stwo free throws with three seconds to play. Later, everyone involved — Rafferty, Regan, Mahon, Mosley, Kikum, the Seton Hall players — exchanged hugs outside the Pirates' dressing room.

Msgr. Fahy said he was left no alternative but to take affirmative action under NCAA regulations, but added the university would appeal to the NCAA and said he hoped Mosley could be reactivated soon.

NCAA rules say a student whose high school grades do not predict a 2.0 (C) average in college must sit out his entire freshman year if he was recruited. Last year Mosley sat out one term but played in 21 games during the spring semester. The school contended that Mosley had not been recruited, and earned the right to play in the second semester by his first semester grades.

The two were signed Thursday and may have been the first collegians to do so since the two-day draft ended the day before.

McGriff led the Southeastern Conference in pass receptions the past two years and was an all-SEC choice both seasons. Most scouts expressed concern, however, that at 5-foot-9 and 165 pounds he wasn't big enough for the NFL.

WITH THREAT OF ALL UNFROCKING—

Boxing Group Risks Rep

By The Associated Press
The World Boxing Council seems bent on destroying whatever credibility it may still have.

The WBC, which calls itself the authority on which of the world's fighters deserve to be champions and contenders, announced early this week that it would strip Muhammad Ali of his heavyweight title if he went ahead with his March 24 fight against Chuck Wepner.

It must have occurred to the WBC that almost everyone and everything would still consider Ali the champion if he defeated Wepner, so on Thursday the group changed its mind.

It announced that it would sanction the Ali-Wepner fight if the winner agreed to then meet Britain's Joe Bugner for the title. If not, then presumably the WBC will name its own champion.

It does not appear likely that Ali will lose to the little-known Wepner, or that he will accept a dictate from the WBC, which has taken the heavyweight championship from him once before. That was back in the 1960s when Ali refused induction into the U.S. Army.

Now Ali has won the title back. He lost to Joe Frazier, but beat him in a rematch. He lost to Ken Norton, but again won a rematch. And he soundly beat George Foreman.

All three of those men seem to be more valid contenders than does Bugner, whom Ali has also beaten. Also more valid as a contender is Ron Lyle, the number-three ranked contender behind Foreman and Frazier.

Assuming that Ali beats Wepner — there are few outside of Wepner who assume otherwise — it is expected that his next title fight will be against Lyle. Then there are tentative plans to fight Frazier and Foreman.

If all goes according to schedule, those fights would be held in the next year to 18 months, provided Ali does not lose. It is also entirely possible that he would fight other lesser ranked boxers.

But his history has been to fight often and to fight the best available, even if there are a few Chuck Wepners mixed in.

According to the World Boxing Council, that is not enough. It will only be enough if Ali declares whoever it wants as the heavyweight champion.

Why Bugner was chosen by the WBC over Foreman, Frazier, Lyle and Norton is not clear. It is true, however, that some British officials were upset over Ali's decision to fight Wepner, and it is also true that Bugner is British.

Whatever the reason, the WBC certainly has the power to declare whoever it wants as the heavyweight champion.

But as long as Ali keeps fighting and keeps winning — and provided that he does not ignore the most valid challengers for too long — the WBC's declaration of another champion will probably be worth the paper it's printed on. And no more.

Norton, Bonavena Ink For Fight

By The Associated Press

Oscar Bonavena and Ken Norton have signed to fight as the first half of a closed circuit TV boxing show on March 24 that will culminate with Muhammad Ali's defense of his heavyweight crown against little-known and lightly-regarded Chuck Wepner.

The electronic doubleheader was announced on Thursday by Promoter Don King and Video Techniques, the closed circuit group which was involved with the Ali-George Foreman fight last fall in Zaire.

They said the Ali-Wepner title bout was firm for the Cleveland Coliseum. They said Norton, who has split with Ali in two matches, and Bonavena, an Argentinian, had signed for a preliminary fight which probably would be held in New York's Madison Square Garden.

What the two promoters did not announce was their failure to line up Foreman for the doubleheader. It had been rumored that the former champion would meet Bonavena, but he backed out on Wednesday night and Norton was substituted.

Both fights would be viewed on closed-circuit TV. The paragon at the 10-round Norton-Bonavena fight will get the Ali-Wepner bout as an added attraction on a huge screen. The spectators in Cleveland will view the Norton-Bonavena clash on the screen as a warm-up to the 10-round Ali-Wepner fight.

The first fight would probably start at 8 p.m. CST, the championship bout at 9:30 p.m.

MARINERS SOCKED AFTER FIGHT—

Four Games, But Five Losers

By The Associated Press

There were four games in the World Hockey Association Thursday, but there were five losers.

The biggest loser was Ron Ingram, general manager of the San Diego Mariners, whose team didn't even play.

Bud Poile, WHA executive director, suspended Ingram for one game and fined him $200 in the aftermath of the San Diego-Winnipeg game of Jan. 28 that saw 85 minutes in penalties.

Poile said Ingram's attitude toward referee Brent Casselman and other game officials following the San Diego-Winnipeg game ... was not in the best interest of hockey in general and the WHA in particular."

In games played Thursday night, Quebec defeated Chicago 5-2, Minnesota downed Vancouver 6-3, Winnipeg stopped Phoenix 5-3 and Toronto edged Indianapolis 3-2.

Nordiques 5, Cougars 2
Three goals by Michel Parizeau led Quebec past the Chicago Cougars, who took an early lead on Larry Mavety's power play.

But 16 seconds after Mavety's goal, Serge Bernier tied it up for the Nordiques with a short-handed goal.

Parizeau's first score of the night was matched by Chicago's Rosaire Paiement.

Orr Scores Three

Bobby Paces Bruins To 6-0 Romp

By The Associated Press

Win or lose, super star Bobby Orr tries to duck post-game interviews in the Boston Bruins' dressing room — even when he turns in a spectacular performance.

Things were no different Thursday night after Orr scored three goals in a game for the third time this season and powered the Bruins to a 6-0 National Hockey League victory over the hapless California Seals.

As usual, the 26-year-old Orr, who has won virtually every available NHL award since he broke in with Boston in 1966, let others do the talking.

"The kid did all right," Boston Coach Don Cherry said with a grin. "After a while, it's old hat. I can't be amazed any more. He's done everything since I've been here, a half season. If he'd learn to skate and shoot, he'd be okay."

Johnny Bucyk, the Bruins' 39-year-old captain, gave his mates a 1-0 first period lead with his 21st goal of the season and 48th of his career. The goal marked his 1,200th point in the NHL.

In the second period, Orr cut across the middle, took a pass from Bobby Schmautz and scored his 28th goal on a screened 15-footer. A couple of minutes later, on a power play, he took a pass from Bucyk and scored again.

Schmautz, back in the lineup after missing nine games with injuries, made it 4-0 before the second period ended.

In the third period, the Bruins pressed a two-man advantage and Orr connected for his 30th goal of the campaign on a shot from the point. Walt McKechnie completed the scoring late in the game.

Boston goalie Gilles Gilbert had an easy night, making only 15 saves for his second shutout as the Bruins defeated the Seals for their 10th consecutive time since October, 1971. California goalie Gilles Meloche had 33 saves.

In other NHL games Thursday, Buffalo stopped the New York Rangers 6-3, Philadelphia defeated Toronto 5-1, Detroit clipped Pittsburgh 5-2 and Los Angeles topped Washington 6-4.

Flyers 3, Maple Leafs 1
Reggie Leach's 25th goal of the season snapped a 1-1 tie and lifted Philadelphia to its victory over Toronto. The win extended the Flyers' unbeaten string to seven games.

Buffalo 6, Rangers 2
Craig Ramsay broke out of a scoring slump to rally Buffalo over the New York Rangers.

Ramsay, who had gone scoreless through 14 straight games, tallied twice as the Rangers lost their third contest in their last four outings.

Red Wings 5, Penguins 2
Danny Grant scored two goals and assisted on a third to lead Detroit past the Pittsburgh Penguins. Grant's second goal of the game and his 29th of the season, came at 2:11 of the final period, snapping a 2-2 deadlock.

Kings 6, Capitals 4
Los Angeles took over sole possession of first place in Division 3 with its victory over Washington. With the Capitals leading 2-1, the Kings erupted for four goals in a span of 6:28 of the second period.

Gene Returns

By JACK MURPHY
Copley News Service

A friend of mine, a Catholic clergyman with a puckish sense of humor, has heard so many gloomy forecasts for 1975 he has decided to ignore it and think only cheerful thoughts. "Happy 1975," he says by way of greeting.

But the new year isn't all bad. It might turn out as the year of the good guys.

Already in '75 the Pittsburgh Steelers have won the Super Bowl for Art Rooney, that gentle soul. Now that good and gracious man, Gene Littler, has momentarily obscured Johnny Miller, Jack Nicklaus and other glamorous folk with his triumph in the Bing Crosby National Professional Amateur golf competition at Pebble Beach, Calif.

It was a sweet moment for Gene Alec Littler. Now he's answered all the questions which followed his cancer surgery in April of 1972. Sixteen months after that ordeal he won the Children's Hospital Golf Classic in St. Louis, and all rejoiced. But Gene knew this wasn't conclusive.

"I won," he recalled, "but it wasn't a good course. I knew some might think it was a fluke."

But there was no doubting his mastery as he shot 280, eight under par, to win the Crosby by four strokes on three splendid Monterey Peninsula courses—Spyglass Hill, Cypress Point and Pebble Beach.

"He's one of the all-time nice guys of golf," applauded Davy Marr. And that may be an understatement.

My thoughts went back to the spring of 1972 when Littler lay abed in Mercy Hospital in San Diego, Calif., recuperating from surgery under his left arm. A malignant tumor had been removed, then followed surgery of the lymph glands. Playing golf again wasn't a major concern to Littler.

He did his level best. Soon he went home to nearby La Jolla where he began a therapy program. Laboriously, he sanded and buffed his classic antique cars.

And he swam, as best he could, in the family pool. At first, he couldn't get his arm out of the water. But he was patient and uncomplaining. As he grew in strength, he dared to dream. Perhaps he might even play golf again.

Makes Pledge

Gene made a pledge. If he returned to tournament competition, he'd either play quality golf or he wouldn't play at all. He's a quiet man with rare humility, but his standards are high.

There are well-meaning people in San Diego who were so pleased by Littler's recovery they proposed to honor him with a testimonial banquet. He demurred.

"I don't want to be honored because I got sick," he said. "Wait until I do something to earn it."

Littler has played lots of golf since 1959, and he has done some things right.

His earnings have passed $1 million, he has won 26 tournaments in his career.

But he wasn't casual about this latest achievement. "This is a tournament I really wanted to win; I've played in it so long. It means I'm eligible for the Tournament of Champions and the Masters, it's a good start on the Ryder Cup, it's a good check ($37,000), it's money in the bank."

Gene is thrifty. He began the last round with a four-stroke margin and saved all of it.

"I didn't think anybody had a chance to catch him," said Habie Green. "He's such an experienced player, he never gets excited."

Well, almost never.

Fight

Wednesday was substituted to be viewed on TV. The paucity of the All-American added to the screen. The Cleveland will be on Bonavenna as a warm-up for the All-Wepner ould probably be at 7:30 p.m.

Then came the thrilling news from the laboratory: the tests were negative. Gene was great with hope, sunshine streaming through the window had the grace note of laughter.

Across from the hospital wing where Gene mended, workmen were constructing an annex to the building, and their thoughts were with him. The hard hats hung up a greeting: "Get Well Gene."

SWC Scoring Drops

Offenses Display More Care

DALLAS — In a development that might stun Wall Street, Southwest Conference basketball stock is rising while the points are falling.

The demise of last year's 30 second clock and the installation of more deliberate offenses have combined to bring down the average game score of every SWC team between the end of non-conference play two weeks ago and the fourth round of loop play.

Texas Tech's three conference games have produced 23.1 fewer points per outing than did the Raider's non-league games, while undefeated A&M is down 22.9 points a game and SMU 21.7. The pace at TCU's games has fallen by 18.6, Texas is down 18.3, Baylor 14.2 and Rice 14.0. Only Arkansas remains relatively the same, but the Porkers combined scores have slipped by 6.2 points per outing.

And while the scoring is generally down this year, the eight championship contenders are hitting the basket at a solid 45.8 per cent on 3,454 field goals in 7,608 attempts through games of Tuesday night.

In every instance both the team's score and the opponent's score is lower than it was in non-conference play. Unbeaten Texas A&M is averaging 9.3 points less per game, allowing 13.6 fewer points. SMU is down 8.5, its opponents 13.2 — and so it goes through the conference.

The trend away from high-scoring games has left the SWC with only one 20-point scorer, but with a batch of sharpshooters ranking among the nation's field-goal leaders.

Tech's Rick Bullock is averaging 21.8 points per game, more than five points a game ahead of runner-up Charles Daniels of Rice.

But Bullock's gaudy 60.8 field-goal percentage leaves him only in fourth place among the regulars who have taken enough shots to qualify. TCU's Thomas Bledsoe is the pace-setter at 67.3 per cent, followed by Arkansas teammates Kent Allison at 64.3 and Darryl Sausberry at 61.2.

Gianelli's Buzzer Bucket Beats Hawks For Knicks

By The Associated Press

In the night's other NBA games, the Houston Rockets stopped the Detroit Pistons 108-88 and the Buffalo Braves whipped the Cleveland Cavaliers 97-91. In the American Basketball Association, the Denver Nuggets beat the Spirits of St. Louis 123-111 and the San Antonio Spurs ripped the Utah Stars 118-102.

Gianelli's winning basket erased a brilliant Atlanta comeback that had seen the Hawks overcome an 18-point deficit with 9:25 left in the third quarter. Atlanta went ahead late in the game before the Knicks reeled off six straight points on two free throws, a basket by Phil Jackson and a 20-foot jumper by Walt Frazier.

The Hawks came back with a six-point flurry by Mike Sojourner and Tom Henderson.

"It was perfect," said Red Holtzman of the New York Knicks.

"It was awful," noted Cotton Fitzsimmons of the Atlanta Hawks.

The coaches expressed obvious reactions after watching what happened in their National Basketball Association game Thursday night.

The Knicks executed a play to perfection at the last second, setting up a basket by John Gianelli that beat the stunned Hawks 117-115 in an exquisitely close contest.

"With time running out, Gianelli slipped behind a screen and tossed in a layup at the buzzer."

"It went perfectly," said Gianelli. "We have used the play before, but it never developed that well before tonight."

'It's A Sad Day...'

The resignation of C. Wallace Craig as president of the board of education of the Midland Independent School District is an unfortunate occurrence for all concerned.

It is unfortunate in the first place because Craig is a good citizen who always has been ready and willing to serve his community in various ways and to the very best of his ability.

But more than this even, is the unfortunate condition and situation responsible for his resignation as board president.

Yes, as Wally Craig said, it is a "sad day" when an individual is "penalized for doing what you think's right."

It is a sad day when pressure is applied to the extent that it affects a public official's livelihood, particularly when that official is serving without pay or other remuneration other than the satisfaction of a job well done.

Such pressure isn't the way to go about expressing an opposition viewpoint. It is fine to stand up and be heard publicly in a controversial matter. But when it comes to threatening a person's livelihood through pressure, this is something else again.

Craig's resignation evolves from a long-standing controversy over high school boundary revision.

Craig said in his resignation statement that he did not wish, when instigating the controversial vote last Oct. 8, "to become an instrument of division on the board

Bible Verse

Stench Of Dead Fish Pervades Washington

WASHINGTON — There's nothing more foul to human senses than a fish long dead and deserving of burial. In this town, during the Watergate period, charges of wiretapping, snooping and electronic surveillance took on the pungent odor of such a dead fish.

Nick Thimmesch

The stinking pisci lay on Richard M. Nixon's door so long that he fled to California for relief. For a brief moment the carcass exuded its odors in the vicinity of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, but he knew what to do with it: He threw it as far as he could.

Then, just before Christmas, the hero of My Lai reporting, Seymour Hersh of The New York Times, became the bumper of the month at the CIA when he broke a sensational story telling how that well-gentlemaned agency did indulge in spying on American citizens at home.

Really, the more one contemplates the instances of sin and dead fish in this town, the more one concludes that the Watergate episode was more of a power struggle, a bloody battle between Nixon's California-New York axis and the Establishment folk in this town who spit his name out.

There is also the fact of life that the The New York Times was originally and in the community." He explained further that the controversy was affecting his livelihood.

Certainly, every person in the school district does not and could not be expected to agree with Craig, or other members of the board for that matter, in the red-hot controversy of redistricting, or other school matters.

But the existing controversy has gone beyond reason, insofar as some individuals and groups are concerned.

It is time to call a halt... a cooling-off period, if you please, in order that the overall matter can be re-evaluated by both school officials and the general public.

Vice President James E. Winget Jr. undoubtedly expressed the feeling of the entire board in stating that Craig had acted in "good conscience" in the redistricting matter.

The community owes C. Wallace Craig a vote of thanks for his devoted service as school board president. The fact that he is continuing as a member of the board undoubtedly is pleasing to most Midlanders.

'Want Some Bread?'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By JACK ANDERSON With LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — H. L. Hunt, the eccentric oil billionaire, kept a tight lock during his life on a Pandora's box. When he died a few weeks ago at age 85, the lid was lifted for us.

The charges were brought by two of the old tycoon's closest associates — his former personal assistant, John Curington, and trusted corporate aide John Brown.

Both now have been indicted for allegedly siphoning off funds from the Hunt empire. But their charges, made jointly under oath, shouldn't be dismissed without an investigation.

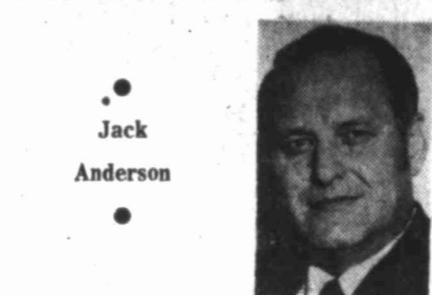

Haroldors Lafayette Hunt was a crusty curmudgeon, who liked to boast he was "the richest man in the world" but who had a reputation as a skintight. He packed his lunch to his office in a brown paper sack and spread whole wheat sandwiches and dried prunes on his desk, using the Wall Street Journal for a tablecloth.

But the secret life of the oil billionaire, according to Curington and Brown, was a different story. They portray him as a big-stakes gambler who squandered money to gratify his hates. Among his victims were some of the biggest names in American politics.

The story was buried in the legal filings of a 1970 lawsuit. After Curington and Brown made their charges, the suit was settled and the sworn statements were withdrawn. But we have obtained copies of the suppressed material.

Among the allegations are these:

- That Hunt "spent huge sums of cash" to mail out "an attack on John F. Kennedy and the Roman Catholic Church."
- That Hunt furnished cash to "a leading anti-Semitic propagandist... with instructions for the funds to be used to create an unfavorable image for Jews."
- That the oilman "spent large sums of cash" to defeat the late Lyndon Johnson, Sens. Hubert Humphrey, D-

Minna, William Fulbright, D-Ark., and Alan Cranston, D-Calif. The document charges Hunt's corporate funds and employees were used for political purposes.

- That Hunt cash went to Richard Nixon. This secret financing, it has been reported elsewhere, helped to put Nixon into the vice presidency in 1952.

- That Hunt money was behind the George Wallace-Curtis LeMay third-party ticket in 1968. One estimate puts the Hunt contribution at $1 million.

- That Hunt had a "confidential and clandestine transaction" with Federal Communications Commissioner Robert E. Lee. In other testimony, a lawyer quotes Curington as saying Hunt rewarded the commissioner for helping with his right-wing Life Line broadcasts. Lee acknowledged that he and Hunt were "pretty good friends" and that Hunt frequently called him, once about employees for Life Line. But Lee said all he ever got from Hunt was a quart of pecans one Christmas. "There were no business dealings," said the FCC commissioner.

- That Hunt once admitted he had "stolen in excess of $8 million from himself," using Swiss bank accounts. He allegedly told the tax collectors he lost it gambling.

- That the billionaire used his employees to try to collect an $800,000 gambling debt from a Nevada casino owner, then used employees to protect him "from notorious gambler Frank Erickson, who claimed H. L. Hunt owed him $430,000." Hunt once claimed he bet $125,000 with Erickson on a single football game.

- That Hunt's employees were required to recruit women to travel with him to explain away his infidelities and to straighten out a scandal involving a relative and a prominent Texas matron.

KEVIN P. PHILLIPS

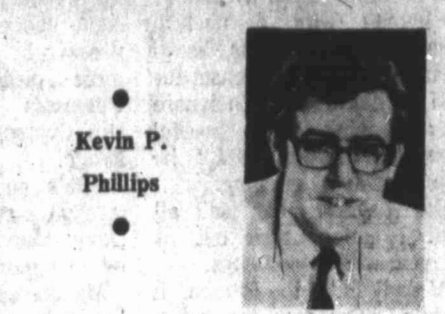

New Tariff Politics: Reversed Situation

WASHINGTON (KFS) — Those unfamiliar with previous U.S. tariff struggles may not appreciate the political irony that now sees New England leading the fight to block or invalidate the Ford Administration's oil tariffs.

The purpose of the levy is to raise imported oil prices, decrease U.S. consumption, encourage increased domestic petroleum production, and make the U.S. more self-sufficient in energy.

No one can blame the New Englanders for complaining about tariffs that will increase Northeastern oil costs while comforting the petroleum industries of Ohio, Wyoming, Mississippi, Texas, California, Alaska et al. But the administration's rationale rests on the national interest — the goal of increased petroleum self-sufficiency — and not on favoring or penalizing any particular region.

Ironically, New England should know the logic of tariffs much better than other sections. For more than a century, from the rise of Alexander Hamilton to the decline of Herbert Hoover, the tariff issue was one of the great inflammations of U.S. politics. As late as the early 1900's, tariffs on foreign goods averaged 40 per cent and the federal government derived a major part of its revenues from these import duties. Politicians everywhere agreed that some tariffs were necessary to raise revenue, but legislators from the South and West complained bitterly that tariffs were set far above treasury needs in order to provide artificial protection for Northeastern (especially New England) manufacturers.

Students of history will recall the early prominence of the issue in 1828 when John C. Calhoun of South Carolina raised the doctrine of "nullification," arguing the controversial state power to void the "Tariff of Abominations." To Calhoun, high prices were being foisted on farmers, tradesmen and shipbuilders in order to promote "the single great interest" of Northern manufacturing. And during the century that went by until the last major tariff — the Smoot-Hawley Act — was passed in 1930, the fight for protective duties was typically led by Northeasterners who claimed that the national interest required Texas, Mississippi, Wyoming and California to forgo cheaper foreign goods and pay higher prices so that the U.S. could build up a strong manufacturing industry.

Moreover, a hundred years ago, Northeastern interests looked quite benignly on tariffs against foreign fuels. Coal tariff arguments made in the 1880's prompted Congressman S. S. Cox of Ohio to launch a satiric attack by describing the sun in the heavens as a "foreigner," and to demand that the blinds be drawn because the free heat provided by sunshine was diminishing the profits of the Pennsylvania coal industry! But even industrial Pennsylvania was less tariff-happy than New England, and the chief U.S. tariff strategist of the early 20th Century was Senator Nelson Aldrich of Rhode Island (whose name lives on in the Payne-Aldrich Tariff Act of 1909).

Today, the situation is reversed. New England politicians allege that the oil tariff would be unfair, a transfer of money to the petroleum interests. But even this is not clear. Late in 1974, Walter Peirson, president of Amoco Oil, made a speech in Washington charging that the regulations governing the production of petroleum have subsidized New England at the expense of consumers in other parts of the country, and he attributed some of the responsibility to the power of the New England congressional delegation! Apparently, there are two sides to every story.

Nevertheless, New England feels especially put upon. Massachusetts Sen. Edward Kennedy is leading the Senate fight to postpone the new import duties and several New England governors are filing suit in the federal district court to try to invalidate the tariff — shades of South Carolina nullification threats! I cannot help but think these gentlemen might profit from reading some of Daniel Webster's and Nelson Aldrich's old speeches on putting aside sectionalism in order to promote strong industry and the national interest.

- That Hunt used illegal Mexican labor at his "Indian Hot Springs Resort in Hudspeth County, Texas" and diverted company funds to the private use of his family.

- That Hunt made "gifts to public officials in return for favors." He allegedly also charged off as company expenses favor-carrying gifts to both Arab and Jewish groups.

- That Hunt compelled a bank and other business firms "which did business with Hunt Oil Co. to make certain kickbacks." In some cases, Hunt required them to contribute to his right-wing foundation and his Life Line broadcasts, his former associates allege.

- That the billionaire paid off "certain key food buyers for chain stores... to induce them to buy HLH products."

- That Hunt diverted $70 million from his oil firm to pay for his food company, which then advertised in his rightwing publications.

- That Hunt operated a bookie joint and chiseled the Internal Revenue Service for $11 million in taxes. Once he allegedly helped a former employe dodge a subpoena for a grand jury, which was investigating Hunt's gambling.

A Hunt spokesman pointed to Curington and Brown's current indictment as argument that they couldn't be trusted to tell the truth about the Hunts. The spokesman contended their accusations were untrue and should be classified as "smut."

But the detailed charges are part of the Texas Watergate scandal that has entangled many of Hunt's survivors.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Recently, oceanographers revealed that life proceeds at a much slower pace at great depths in the oceans. This study also revealed that garbage dumped in the ocean may readily be consumed by the more active shallow water organisms but much of these wastes may accumulate on the deep ocean floor because deep sea creatures have lower consumption levels, The World Almanac notes.

WHICH THREE TOES?
THE LITTLE ONE THAT WENT TO THE MARKET, AND THE ONE THAT STAYED HOME AND THE ONE THAT HAD ROAST BEEF

DRENCHED BY A PASSING MOTORIST, MIKE REACTS IN TYPICAL NOMAD FASHION - MY ONE STOP-LIGHT, JOKER - JUST ONE, AN' I'LL WALK. YOU OUTA THAT HEAP AN' GIVE YA A HARD-KNICKLE LESSON IN DRIVIN' MANNERS!
THE DOT IS GON AT LEAST SIXTY! - THAT'S WAY TOO FAST WHEN THE STREETS ARE COVERED WITH...

WHAT THIS WORLD NEEDS IS MORE PEOPLE WITH LOVE AND UNDERSTANDING IN THEIR HEARTS. PEOPLE WITH KINDNESS AND...
YEP, I'LL GO ALONG WITH THAT, AN' ALSO...
SHUT UP TILL I'M FINISHED!
PEOPLE WITH KINDNESS AND CONSIDERATION... PEOPLE WITH BROTHERLY LOVE... PEOPLE WITH...

STEVE, I HAVE A REPORT ABOUT YOUR FRIENDS IN MAHNEY... SO THE STAFF WILL NOT THINK I AM MAKING UP FICTION!

Monday Deadline Set For Textbook Hearing Notices

Monday is the deadline for individuals submitting written notice of intent to appear at a hearing of the public schools' textbook committee regarding texts up for adoption by the Midland Independent School District.

Books to be considered have been on display since Jan. 10 at the district's central office, 702 N. N St.

Persons submitting notice of intent to appear should state whether they may comment or protest adoption of a specific textbook.

If a protest will be made, the individual is asked to submit a written description of the objectionable book sections as well as the page number and paragraph.

Persons appearing before the committee to protest adoption of a book are requested to confine their discussion to the particular book segments contained in the written descriptions which they presented to the superintendent of schools.

Spread Planned In Midland Field

I. W. Lovelady of Midland has filed application to re-enter and plug back to around 3,800 feet at No. 2-AC-TKL, former Spraberry producer in the Trend Area, for recompletion attempt as a third current producer and 5/8-mile northeast extension to the Driver (San Andres) field.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 11, block 37, T-4-S, T&P survey, 15 miles southeast of Midland.

Spraberry production formerly assigned to the Driver field, has been transferred to the Trend Area.

House Panel Votes Food Stamp Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sponsors of a measure to freeze food stamp prices for the rest of this year hope to put it to a House vote next week.

The House is scheduled to begin a 10-day recess next Thursday, but Agriculture Chairman Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., said he intended to see floor action on the measure before that.

Court Upholds Seniority System

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Companies will be allowed to continue the practice of "last hired, first fired" in laying off employees, a federal appeals court has ruled.

The 3rd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said Thursday laying off workers in reverse seniority does not violate the rights of minority groups and women.

The unanimous decision by the three-judge panel involved the Jersey Central Power & Light Co.

Stock Market Shrugs Off Some Early Profit-Taking

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market shrugged off some early profit taking and began gaining again today with a lift from the continuing downturn in the bank prime lending rate.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 3.28 at 607.70. Gainers held a 6-5 edge on losers in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

A short while before the opening, New York's Morgan Guaranty Trust, fifth largest bank in the nation, cut its prime rate from 9 1/2 to 9 percent. That matched a reduction in the key rate on corporate loans posted Thursday by Chase Manhattan of New York, third in size in the industry.

Wet-weather Electric was the most active issue on the NYSE, rebounding 1/2 to 1 1/4 after a loss of 1 Thursday. On Wednesday the company reported a 60 per cent decline in earnings from continuing operations for the fourth quarter of last year.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was up .13 at 73.55. The early selling, which pushed the Dow down more than three points for a brief period, was widely seen as a carryover of profit taking from Thursday afternoon.

International Minerals & Chemicals lost 2 to 3 1/4; Beker Industries lost 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, and Terra Chemicals International slipped 1/4 to 1 1/4 at the top of the American Stock Exchange's most-active list.

A Wall Street Journal article quoted an analyst as saying fertilizer product prices might have peaked, and talked of the possibility of a period of overcapacity.

The NYSE's composite index rose .17 to 40.69.

'SCOOP' TO SEEK PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATION—

On Feb. 6, Sen. Jackson To Give Nation Unsurprising Announcement

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — On the night of Feb. 6, following the CBS Thursday Night Movie, Sen. Henry M. "Scoop" Jackson of Washington will give the nation the unsurprising news he is a candidate for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination.

For Jackson, his formal announcement will make little difference in a campaign that has been going on ever since the 1972 Democratic nominating convention.

No Question About It
There has been no question for months that the 62-year-old Jackson, long a Senate power, would try again for the presidency despite a 1972 bid that flopped.

Many party leaders consider him the front-runner, although his 10 per cent rating in the latest Gallup Poll puts him in fourth spot behind Gov. George C. Wallace, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. George McGovern, the latter two non-candidates.

Because of that status, and the fact that he is deeply involved in the congressional work, Jackson's activities after Feb. 6 won't be much different than they have been for the past year.

Senate Best Platform
"His best platform is the Senate. He's going to operate from that position," said Robert G. Keefe, the former executive director of the Democratic National Committee who became political director of the Jackson Planning Committee on Dec. 1. Keefe worked in 1972 for Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and for the AFL-CIO effort to stop McGovern.

Jackson, meanwhile, will continue to challenge the oil companies and the Ford administration as chairman of the Interior Committee and the Permanent Investigations subcommittee.

He'll continue his efforts for increased Jewish emigration from Russia despite the Soviet blast at his amendment in the trade act that tied concessions to Russia to the easing of restrictions against emigration.

On the Armed Services Committee, meanwhile, Jackson will be busy challenging the new U.S.-Soviet arms limitation understanding on grounds it sets proposed missile limits too high.

These activities will assure continued appearances by Jackson on the nation's television

Virginia Tries Out Exclusive Bus Lanes

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Federal Highway Administrator Norbert T. Tiemann told the annual highway conference recently that Virginia was the first state to experiment with exclusive bus lanes. This was recently expanded to allow use of the lanes by private cars carrying four or more persons — the idea being to promote car pools.

Tiemann also said that a "significant research project" is under way on Afton Mountain, Va., with airport runway-type lights installed along the road edge to facilitate safe driving in fog. These were so beneficial that an additional five and a half miles of the lights will be put in place.

screens, after his Feb. 6 announcement.

With a higher "recognition factor" already than his most active 1976 rivals, Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia and Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen of Texas, he won't have to spend the year trying to get known.

"We hope to use this year largely for raising money," Keefe said, noting that the Jackson Planning Committee already has raised some $1.25 million from 28 states, the broadest financial base of any presidential hopeful besides Wallace.

Beyond that, Keefe said, Jackson will compete in a number of presidential primaries — which ones depends on the schedule — and he acknowledged their importance.

"It's important that Henry Jackson show well in early primaries," Keefe said. "Based on the fact of the 1972 experience, that's something we're now forced to demonstrate."

state of Washington, Jackson has always been a big vote-getter, winning 87 per cent in the primary and 82 per cent in the general election in 1970.

In 1972, however, Jackson managed only 13 per cent of the vote in a third-place finish in the Florida primary after a heavy effort. He did even more poorly in Wisconsin and Ohio and dropped out of the race, only to wind up second at the nominating convention when the anti-McGovern faction united behind him.

"Conditions in 1976 appear to be much different than in 1972," Keefe said, noting that Jackson was under-financed in 1972 and was competing with the better-known Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and Humphrey for the support of party regulars, old-line labor leaders and the influential Jewish contributors in New York, California and Florida who mainly backed Humphrey.

This time, Jackson likely will have considerable labor support. And he will have the backing of many of the Jewish contributors, the result of his long efforts for funds and arms for Israel and increased Jewish emigration from Communist countries.

Jackson will be opposed, however, by many party liberals, largely because of his long support of major Pentagon projects and the Vietnam war.

Jackson has been trying to change that, however. He campaigned last fall for three prominent antiwar "doves," Reps. Abner Mikva of Illinois and Andrew Jacobs Jr. of Indiana, and former Rep. Alard Lowerstein of New York.

The most recent Gallup Poll shows Jackson running a close race with President Ford, trailing 47 per cent to 42 per cent. That's a good position to be in more than two years before the 1976 election.

First, though, Jackson has to get nominated. Many Democrats say privately they think he could beat Ford — if only he could win the nomination.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, Jan. 31, the 31st day of 1975. There are 334 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: In 1958, the first U.S. earth satellite, Explorer 1, was launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

On this date — In 1606, a conspirator against the government of England, Guy Fawkes, was executed.

In 1801, John Marshall was appointed chief justice of the United States.

In 1865, Gen. Robert E. Lee was named commander-in-chief of the Confederate armies.

In 1917, Germany announced that it was beginning a policy of unrestricted submarine warfare in World War I.

In 1943, in World War II, the Soviet Union announced victory over the Germans at Stalingrad.

In 1950, President Harry

Truman announced he had ordered the development of a hydrogen bomb.

Ten years ago: It was disclosed that the Johnson administration had secretly given West Germany permission to send to Israel U.S. M48 tanks which had been sold to the Germans.

Five years ago: The Pentagon announced that 34 old F100 fighter bombers would be given to Nationalist China.

One year ago: A Pan American Airways jetliner crashed on American Samoa, killing 95 of the 101 persons aboard.

Today's birthdays: Writer Norman Mailer is 52. Actress Carol Channing is 54. Former heavyweight boxing champion "Jersey" Joe Walcott is 61.

Thought for today: A good storyteller is a person who has a good memory and hopes other people haven't. — Irvin S. Cobb, American humorist, 1876-1944.

Penny-Wise Play Proves Costly

"That's your trick, isn't it, partner?" East asked. West nodded, and East decided not to waste a high card. This economy proved very costly.

Declarer had begun by taking three rounds of trumps. Then he had cashed the ace of spades and led a small spade.

East asked his question when West played the queen of spades; and he allowed West to win the trick.

West now had to switch to a diamond or a club. Unwisely, he led a low diamond, and South got a free finesse.

West In Trouble
Declarer took two diamonds and got out with his last diamond. West was forced to win this trick, and was once more in trouble. He returned the jack of clubs, hoping to mislead South.

Declarer won with the king of clubs and led his last spade. This caught East in an end-play. If she led a spade, dummy could ruff while South discarded a club. East therefore led a club, trapping West's queen.

All of these end-plays could have been avoided if East had overtaken the queen of spades with the king. He could cash the jack of spades and then lead a diamond up to dummy's weakness. South would be lucky to wind up with nine tricks against this defense.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner deals and bids one no-trump, and the next player passes. You hold: S—9 5 3 H—A 7 4 D—8 6 2 C—A Q 4 2. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three no-trump. Partner's bid shows 16 to 18 points, and you have 10 points. The combined total must be 26 to 28 points, which should provide a good play for game. Since you have no long major suit, you bid the game in no-trump.
