Texas & Pacific Northern Ry. May Build Through Bailey County As A Compromise with Interstate C. C.

That Bailey county may have an other railroad running north and south through the entire length of the county is a possibility being freely discussed on the streets of Muleshoe this week.

Last week it was announced that the Interstate Commerce Commission had set for hearing the proposal of the Texas & Pacific Northern Ry. Co., which is asking for a permit to build a line from Big Spring to Vega. The hearing to begin Monday, December 8, at Lubbock.

The Proposed Routing
The proposed road will run from Big Spring to Leveland, thence through Littlefield, Dimock and Vega. Before the new road can be built, however, the Interstate Commerce Commission must be convinced of the need of such a road, and that such need exists in the territory through which it is supposed to pass. It is understood that intervention will be made by the Santa Fe system, the Denver and the Frisco systems at the Lubbock hearing, seeking to defeat the ambitions of the T. & P. N. Co. Not until after the hearing at Lubbock and the passing upon introduced evidence by the Commission at Washington, D. C., will the railroad officials and the public generally know the results of the T. & P. N. Co. application.

Officials Get Data
For several weeks past officials of the T. & P. N. Co., assisted by appointed committees from the various towns through which the proposed road will pass, have been gathering every kind of information available that is that would be of use to the company in pressing its claims for the proposed railroad to a successful conclusion. Not only have they been gathering data in the counties through which the proposed road will pass, but also all other relevant and material information and data possible from adjoining counties that would have a bearing upon their side of the case. More than a month ago county Judge J. E. Adams, of Bailey county, furnished the officials of the T. & P. N. Co. railroad with a large amount of data asked by them from this county.

May Change Route
At this time it was stated such data, where needed, might be used to bolster their case with the Commission, but since that time it has been indicated by some citizens that perhaps the railroad company had some doubts existing as to their proposed new routing being accepted in its entirety by the Commission and were fortifying themselves with additional information. It is believed that the routing, in part by the Washington body. For instance, it is given as one of the reasons for building the proposed Big Spring-Vega line, the opening and deepening of new territory not now being adequately served by any railroad. It is, therefore, a mooted possibility that the Commission is reviewing the evidence together with the conditions as shown by a map of this area, will admit that from Big Spring to Leveland there is a vast area of undeveloped country which the proposed railroad would materially assist in development, is now more adequately served by railroads, and the suggestion may be offered that the T. & P. N. Co. leave their proposed line at Leveland, swinging slightly west and coming directly through Bailey county, crossing Farmer and Deal Smith counties and going on north to Vega, the company's proposed point of present destination. Such a route would immediately open a new section of the

From American Bankers Magazine
No business in any town should allow an issue of a newspaper to be published in his town without his name and business being mentioned in its columns.

This applies to all kinds of business and professional men. It does not mean that you should have a whole half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name should be mentioned, and in large enough space to indicate that your business is a going concern.

A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what businesses are represented in the town by looking at the town page. This is the best possible town advertisement.

The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and his town. The life of a town depends upon the live, wide awake and liberal advertising business men.

Rev. Hicks Closes Successful Year At Sweetwater Meet

Rev. W. B. Hicks, popular pastor of the Methodist church, this city, left Monday morning for Sweetwater to attend the annual meeting of the Northwest Texas conference, presided over by Bishop H. A. Boaz. He was accompanied by A. C. Gaede, delegate from this district.

Rev. Hicks has served three very successful years as pastor of the Methodist here. This year the congregation through his ministry, raised the total sum of $5,209.87 for all church purposes. There have been 25 additions to the church, the total membership now being 169, and all departments of church work are well organized and active.

Give Birthday Dinner
Sunday noon, following the morning physical enjoyment. Of course, there was plenty of chicken, but there was a wide variety of other good things to eat on the menu, attesting to the skilled culinary art of the women members of the congregation.

It was rumored that the pastor just the day before had passed his thirty-eighth milestone in the journey of life, and in keeping with the occasion, the piano stool was decorated with a massive birthday cake on which gleamed thirty-eight candles. The ceremony of blowing them out was observed while a group of young people sang a specially prepared sonnet wishing the beloved pastor's return for another year.

It is also reported that before leaving for Sweetwater, Rev. Hicks was presented with two petitions, one signed by members of the Epworth League and another by members of the Board of Stewards asking for his return, yet expressing their appreciation in his ability and willingness to release him should the bishop and his cabinet see fit to send him to higher activity would be accorded him.

During the three years Rev. Hicks and family have been here they have won a distinctive place in the hearts of Muleshoe people, both within and without the realms of church activity, it being practically a unanimous wish that he may be permitted to serve the church for another year.

M. F. KESLER VICTIM OF A HEART ATTACK AT PORTALES
M. F. Kesler, well known in Muleshoe, and who for some time was employed in the Journal office, died suddenly Thursday last week while working in the News office, at Portales, N. M. For some time he had been afflicted with a heart ailment.

He leaves a wife, also a sister, Mrs. Pearl Moss, of Clifton, N. M.

All the gold mined in the world since the discovery of America could be cast in a 35-foot cube.

Texas Utilities Co. Makes 9th Reduction In October Rates

A substantial reduction in the rate cost of electricity for power purposes, both commercial or domestic use, is this week announced in Muleshoe by F. W. McElroy, manager for the Texas Utilities Co.

This is the ninth reduction which has been made by this utilities company during the five years service has been rendered by them in Muleshoe. The new rate became effective on all October power bills. Full details of the new rates will be found in the company's advertisement appearing elsewhere in this issue of the Journal.

W. T. C. C. Wants A Ban Put On Bad Texas Text Books

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has been asked by its publicity committee to bring mandamus proceedings against the state board of education to prevent further distribution among the school children of the state of geographies adopted for study in the schools of Texas and containing "scandalous and damaging untrue" statements concerning the West Texas territory.

The committee action, taken on an overnight convention on the R. V. Colbert ranch east of Stamford, was endorsed by a group of editors and managing editors of West Texas newspapers meeting with the committee. The resolution said: "The chairman of this committee, together with the president and manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, appearing before the state board of education in Austin October 12 to protest these inaccurate and misleading descriptions in the geographies, was assured that the state textbook commissioner would at once communicate with textbook publishers with a view of having the Texas sections revised, and, if necessary, re-written by Texans."

If the state board has taken any action to that end this committee has not been so informed, and we recommend to the executive board of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce that mandamus proceedings be brought, or in any case, that a referendum on the subject be taken among the directors.

S. E. CONE COMPANY BUYS ELEVATOR AT AMHERST

The S. E. Cone Grain & Seed Co., with headquarters at Lubbock, also owning and operating an elevator at Muleshoe, has purchased an elevator at Amherst.

J. U. Cone, junior member of the firm will be in charge of the new business.

The city of New York has purchased $297,000 worth of radium for hospital use.

Drouth Conditions Cause Farmers To Study Irrigation; Crop Failure Unknown in the Blackwater Valley

Nature has some peculiar, yet very effective ways of making her children do what is best for them. There is an old saying, "Necessity is the mother of invention," but frequently this is only another way of saying that Mother Nature has again forced her children to look after their best interests in a more serious manner than heretofore they have been entirely too lax and careless.

The year of 1930 will be long remembered over many sections of the United States because of the unprecedented and widespread drouth conditions which existed in many areas. The scant rainfall failed to produce the necessary crops, and "hard times" naturally followed.

For some reason, not ascertained by scientists, there has been a gradual diminishing of rainfall throughout the United States, and in some areas the decrease is quite marked. True, there were a few sections where the rainfall was normal or above, but especially throughout the Mississippi valley and reaching far out on its east and west borders, the rainfall this year was much below normal.

As a result of this decrease in rainfall, farmers everywhere are now studying how to raise crops on less precipitation. The farmers know as "dry land" type in the western area are giving still more serious contemplation toward the retaining and conservation of moisture. Terracing has proven invaluable, indeed, numerous instances being on record where terraced land has produced double that lying alongside it which was not terraced. Skip planting will be popular next year. There will be more farmers doing winter plowing this year who will keep the harrow or drag busy on their land, thus breaking up the capillary attraction and conserving the seed bed moisture for spring plowing.

But perhaps the greatest effect the drouth has had in the Blackwater valley is to turn the farmers to irrigation. Heretofore many farmers, having good irrigation wells used them merely as an adjunct to the rainfall, thus supplying the extra moisture needed when it failed to rain. This was helpful all right, but these farmers are now coming to realize that if "a little was good, more should be better," and the coming year instead of using their wells to assist nature in supplying needed moisture for crop production, they will depend entirely on the wells, merely letting them remain idle only when there is rainfall necessary to supply the needed moisture. Also, many other farmers who heretofore have depended entirely upon rainfall, yet having this abundant supply of water lying beneath them, are now endeavoring to put down wells of their own, ordering irrigation outfits, and will next year be entirely independent of the fickle and fluctuating clouds which do not always weep when they want them to.

The cause of drouth, like various other phenomenon of nature, has never been explained. Even Uncle Sam's most highly trained meteorologists admit they do not know all they are talking about. They have happened from time to time since the beginning of the world, and in former years, have doubtless brought greater suffering to mankind than they are ever likely to cause again. In 1891 there was a drouth in the United States, again in 1894, 1895 and 1911 there were other drouths. Now 1930 is also to be renumbered, and there will probably be other future years of a similar nature. Just when they will come no one seems to know, for they are erratic and uncertain in their movements.

But as a result of these unstable and uncertain weather conditions, farmers are turning more and more to the supplying of their own rainfall through irrigation. Factory managers and manufacturers of different kinds are seeking locations in sections where there is an abundant underground supply of water for their purposes. Consequently, the Southwest area of the nation is now coming into the limelight as never before, and the Blackwater valley is just beginning to come into its own. People are learning more of its natural virtues and assets, and the new knowledge is all favorable.

It is only a matter of time until the public generally knows of the rich alluvial soil, inexhaustible supply of water and ideal climatic conditions of this valley, that they will be flocking here in great numbers for home-steading purposes. For the farmers of the Blackwater valley are their own rain-makers. With a pumping plant installed they have control of their own moisture problem and can supply their growing crops at will.

Kiwanians Sponsor Band and Canning Factory For Town

Members of the local Boy Scout troops furnished an interesting program at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club held Friday noon of last week. Representatives of the Art Names Co., showing here also gave several interesting selections.

A report was turned in from members of the Canning Factory committee stating that the project was progressing nicely, considerable valuable data was being secured and other correspondence was being carried on.

The Band committee also reported the completion of the organization and that citizens generally were giving hearty response to the financial side of the organization which will be of great community benefit.

Armistic Day Is Observed Here In A Fitting Program

Armistic day was fittingly and appropriately observed in Muleshoe last Tuesday with a program sponsored by the American Legion and local public schools.

Members of the local Legion marched through the streets to the high school building, where salute to the colors was given and the program under the direction of Superintendent W. C. Cox was rendered. All members of the school acquitted themselves with credit in the parts performed.

A feature of the program was the music rendered by the Muleshoe band, under the direction of Prof. Monte Brown. The band, numbering 26 pieces, is composed mostly of new members who are just learning their instruments, and most of them have had only two or three weeks instruction, but the melody they produced would have done credit to an organization of much longer training and experience.

Following the program, members of the Legion and their families adjourned to the Legion hall where an excellent and well prepared dinner had been prepared and greatly enjoyed by all participating members of the band being guests of the Legionnaires.

In the afternoon the customary salutes were given. The program throughout was one of an intense patriotic nature, well worthy of such an occasion and tending toward the higher development of citizenship in this section. The address given by Judge J. E. Adams, wherein he recounted the activities of the American Legion, spoke volumes for the constructive virtues of the organization, and the accomplishments of the local post are worthy of the highest commendations.

Rev. C. A. Joiner Attends The State Meet of Baptists

Rev. C. A. Joiner, pastor, Muleshoe Baptist church, accompanied by Mrs. Joiner, left Tuesday for Amarillo where they will attend the annual meeting of the Texas General Convention of Baptist, at which gathering more than 5,000 Baptists from all over the state are expected to be present. The meeting will be held in the new million dollar First Baptist church of that city.

Rev. Joiner has been pastor of the Baptist church in Muleshoe for nearly a year, enjoying a very successful work during that period, and will carry with him a report of which himself and church may well be proud.

At the same time the pastors and laymen are meeting there will also be held a meeting of the Women's Missionary Union of Texas. It is understood that several members of the church, both men and women will also attend the double meeting in Amarillo this week.

Dr. R. L. Scarborough, of Ft. Worth, is president, and Dr. W. R. White, of Dallas, is secretary of the convention. Robert Jolly, of Houston, will have charge of the music during the convention, and special addresses will be made by Rev. George W. Truitt and wife, of Dallas, relative to their recent evangelistic tour in South American Baptist missions.

The University of Mexico football team will play four games in the United States with American college teams this season.

W. M. U. MEETING

The W. M. U. met at the church Monday afternoon, at 3:00 o'clock, having seven members present with one new member, Mrs. Shaw, whom we are very glad to have.

The president read the 91st Psalm for devotional. It was very good, especially the fourth verse.

Mrs. A. W. Coker had charges for the lesson study lesson. Topics for the lesson were discussed by Mrs. L. S. Barron, Mrs. Byron Griffiths, and Mrs. J. B. Roberts. The lesson was very interesting, and we wish more ladies had been there.

After transacting our business we adjourned to meet again next Monday at the church for our Royal Service program, with Mrs. Ray Griffiths as leader. Attention is called to the Bazaar to take place on December 13th.—Rep.

BAND APPRECIATIVE

Members of the band, through their director, Prof. Monte Bowron, wish to express their appreciation to the citizens who have so splendidly responded to the financial support making the organization possible. Also, to the local Legion post and the Kiwanis club for the leading interest, they have manifested in the organization.

Every member of the band is putting forth his best effort toward giving the city a musical organization of which it may well be proud.

IS NATURAL GAS DANGEROUS?

The above question is very prevalent in Muleshoe at this time, when people are ruminating as to the desirability of installing natural gas in their homes, or still sticking to that old reliable coal.

Natural gas, like all other fuels, may be a source of danger, or it may be just as safe as the older fuels we have been accustomed to during these many years.

It all depends upon the care with which the gaseous fuel from the gas files is used. In other words, if common horse sense is used in the application of natural gas, it is no more dangerous than other fuels with which we are more familiar.

Within the memory of some of us, common every day coal oil was viewed with suspicion. In the early days of the use of coal oil many people were just as much afraid of this common source of light as people are of gas in this day and time.

Artificial gas, which has been common in the larger cities for half a century, was equally a bugaboo to the man who didn't see this mysterious illuminating agent that was not visible to the human eye, and which was so uncommon.

Not very many years ago gasoline, one of the commonest materials in every day life today, was a source of terror to the uninitiated. Today, gasoline is all but indispensable to the average man, and the danger involved in its use is about forgotten—far too much in many cases.

Whenever hydro-carbon, of which coal, coal oil, gasoline, natural gas, and other fuels are burned in the presence of air, there are produced water vapor, and either carbon monoxide or carbon dioxide. These are the natural products of combustion under such circumstances.

Should the consumption of any of the above fuels be in the presence of sufficient air for complete combustion, the carbonaceous product will be carbon dioxide. If on the other hand, air is not present in sufficient quantity to insure perfect combustion, carbon monoxide will be produced, in greater or less amount. Water vapor will always be present.

Carbon dioxide, while not destructive to animal life, cannot really be classed as poisonous, but if sufficient quantity of carbon dioxide is present the human may be suffocated and dies for the lack of oxygen.

On the other hand, carbon monoxide may be classed among the brilliant poisons, and many deaths have resulted from this gas being taken into the lungs of mankind.

In the days when hard coal and baseburners were common, there were many deaths from inhaling this poisonous carbon monoxide. It was common custom when retiring for the night to close all dampers as nearly as safety would permit—and sometimes the limit of safety was exceeded, and when morning broke, one or more persons were beyond recall.

Carbon monoxide had been leaking from the stove, and the newspapers came out in big headlines.

Of the water vapor present as a result of combustion of hydro-carbons in the air, little may be said. It is simply water vapor, and is more a cause of discomfort than a menace to human life.

Every winter that has passed since Muleshoe has been on the map, large amounts of water vapor have been carried into the atmosphere through the various chimneys in the town, and no one has been discommoded, because the water has been carried into the outer atmosphere.

We hear much talk of "wet gas" and "sweating" in the homes, as a result of natural gas; but if proper connections are made from the stove to the chimney, there will be no trouble from this source.

Whenever natural gas is burned in closed rooms, with no provision made for taking the noxious gasses out of the room, either carbon monoxide or carbon dioxide will be present, and also, water vapor.

To what extent these products of combustion may be injurious to the human family depends altogether on how tight the room may be, and the amount of gas consumed.

A small amount, in which a large amount of gas is consumed, is certainly dangerous, and many people suffered severely from such conditions. On the other hand, where sufficient outlet for the escape of the products of combustion is provided, there is practically no danger from this source.

The writer became accustomed to the use of gas (artificial gas however) in early childhood, and he is very much sold on artificial gas as fuel. Provided it is used with a reasonable amount of common sense, it is no more dangerous than any other fuel that is in use today—but, don't play with it. Don't take liberties. Don't act under the supposition that nothing can happen. The fellow who looked down the barrel of a loaded shotgun did that, and you know what happened to him!

A few words of caution might not be out of order:

Never—no, never—turn on the gas and then go hunting all over the house for a match! Always—without fail—have a light ready to apply before you turn on the gas cock. This is one of the first requisites for longevity when using liquid or gaseous fuel. And, never leave any gas appliances making you certain everything is as it should be.

TURKEY PRICES RAISED SLIGHTLY FIRST OF WEEK; MANY FARMERS TO HOLD BIRDS FOR CHRISTMAS MARKET

The turkey market opened last week in Muleshoe with local buyers paying 12 cents per pound for number one birds. Monday there was an increase of two cents per pound for toms, but it is not known what prices later on in the week may be.

Sales to date have been few and scattering, many raisers not liking present quotations declare they are holding their birds for later markets, as they believe the price will be better for Christmas selling.

Apparently turkeys in this section have a habit of waiting until real cold weather to put on fat and mature their feathers, which makes it difficult to mature high grade birds for the Thanksgiving market. Lack of finish and excessive pin feathers often cause the early season product to sell at a disadvantage many times. It is also pointed out that seven out of 10 times the Christmas market is also higher than that of Thanksgiving time.

Systematic feeding and watering during several weeks of cool weather prior to selling is recommended to produce as a means of making turkeys take the prime or choice grades which top the market.

Other important factors lowering the grade of Texas turkeys are careless handling, poor breeding, and late feeding. Tying wings or feet leading in shallow coops, or any kind of rough handling from farm to market or in the dressing plant will produce bruises which materially reduce the grade. Feet left in the crop quickly sour, and unless they are carefully removed at the dressing plant, the grade may be lowered as much as two or three cents per pound. Even if removed, such turkeys cannot make the highest grade, prime. Other U. S. grades are choice, medium and common, all four grades being further qualified by age and sex.

JUNIOR LEAGUE PARTY

Members of the Junior Epworth League met Friday night of last week with their superintendent, Mrs. Clay Beavers, for business and social enjoyment, the following officers being elected:

Irma Willis, president; Tidwell Douglas, vice-president; Mildred Burkhead, secretary; James Knight, treasurer.

After business, some time was spent in playing games of the children's own choosing, and partners were chosen for the candy match that followed. The candy quickly disappeared.

Plans were made to have a business and social meeting each month.

Said cause of action being for the benefit of Higginbotham-Bartlett Co. owners and holders of said Deed of Trust and the debt therein described in which cause of action the said D. T. Knight is Plaintiff and M. B. Brown is co-defendant herein, J. M. Gay and Thos. W. Newsome are defendants.

Plaintiff in said cause of action praying for judgment for his debt, interest and attorney's fees and costs of suit and further praying that it be decreed that Plaintiff have a valid and subsisting lien on said land that his said Deed of Trust be foreclosed as a matter provided by law for the enforcement thereof as such decree and plaintiff praying for all such other further and additional relief special and general at law and in equity to which he may be justly entitled to, and for all costs and disbursements in that behalf expended.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR
By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

ALWAYS GOOD

In these hurry-scurry days, when Mr. Everyman keeps his eye on the clock while he is bolting his skimpy breakfast, so as not to be a second late at his next performance—it is not strange that the same "hit-and-run" expert clean overlooks the cause of disease, as well as the best means of its prevention and cure.

Beyond any question of doubt, the factor of REST is the physician's most dependable asset in correcting human ills. Many ailments of very severe character are really cured by enforced rest, while poor, unscientific, undependable drugging takes the credit; I can ascribe a hidden virtue to my dose of pills, if they make my patient so infernally sick that he has to go to bed and get well! For, your sick man generally does the thing last that he should have done first.

To cure a fractured bone, we place the fragments in proper position and keep them there till REST does the repairing. Carry it further: Shattered nerves, for instance; rest is the absolutely imperative thing. Nerves are shattered by over-activity; remove the cause of the trouble—get away from it. Rest is the cure.

Many medicines are employed—to enforce rest, to compel peace and quiet in patients that are so far along that they are clean out of sight of hand, naughtily speaking; then the physician drags them ashore with his bromides or worse. No other alternative left him. The lesson for you, dear reader,—steer wisely; there is plenty of time allotted you for rest; don't trifle with inexorable laws!

O, the stomachs that are abused shamelessly—never permitted to rest. The average hound pup knows how to care for his stomach better than the average business man does—it's a fact. Ballast is a good thing, but too much of it will sink the ship; to overload is to overwork. To be temperate in all things is the price of immunity.

Herein Fall Not but have before said Court, at its next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Muleshoe, Texas, on this 27th day of October, A. D. 1930.

No More "Beef and Beer",
As Athletic Records Fall

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Lawson Robertson is without question one of the greatest trainers known to the American track. He not only has coached many famous runners and weight men, but he also was a notable athlete himself, competing in the Olympics at St. Louis in 1904 at Athens in 1906, and at London in 1908. He was trainer and coach of the American Olympic teams in 1912, '20, '24, and '28. In view of the new records constantly being being established, we have asked Mr. Robertson to explain the improvement in speed and stamina of the present day athlete. Surely no one better qualified to speak authoritatively.

—EDITOR.

By Lawson Robertson
(Famous coach of the University of Pennsylvania, and trainer of American Olympic teams)

THE balanced diet now is so common in the training of the American athlete, that I doubt if many of the present day track enthusiasts ever stop to consider how comparatively new this present system really is. We take it more or less for granted that runners, jumpers and weight men naturally balance their meat and other protein foods with certain cereals and fibrous or leafy vegetables to provide the bulk so necessary for proper elimination. Whole rice, which is nearly ideal because of its smoothness and volume of bulk—spinach, lettuce, carrots and peas—all are found regularly on college training tables these days. But let's see how this differs from the way things were done only a few brief years ago.

Beef and beer—believe it or not—were the mainstays of many an athlete whose late now is just beginning to show signs of gray. The poisons from such a diet were worked off with plenty of physics and innumerable sweats. Today, of course, we know that this is neither a normal nor a healthy way of providing the body with elimination. We now promote intestinal hygiene as nature planned that we should—through eating bulky foods such as rice (the cereal form of which has been found to be most palatable and efficacious), and quantities of the coarser vegetables. With the indigestible matter furnished by such foods, sweats and physics are unnecessary for carrying off the residue and the poisons.

Only a few years ago, too, I remember that milk was banned entirely from the training table. It really is hard to imagine such a thing, isn't it? But then even the best training was sort of a hit or miss affair. We didn't realize then, as we do now, that a man really runs on his stomach.

I remember a conversation I had with Pat MacDonald some 10 or 11 years ago, when he was at his peak and was heaving the hammer and putting the shot farther than any other mortal. Pat was 44 years old then. As a kid in County Claire, Ireland, he had lived on buttermilk and potatoes. At the time he was breaking weight records right and left he was 6 feet five inches, and weighed 320 pounds. Did he eat what he liked? He did.

"Pat," I said to him the day the N.A.A.U. meet opened in Philadelphia, "I suppose you are in good shape for this meet?"

"Sure," said Pat, "I had a shave and a haircut last night."

That the intake just equals the output. Balancing our meat with plenty of fruit and cereal or vegetable cellulose—bulk, in other words—will do it, and at the same time help keep the weight normal for those whose lives are sedentary.

Don't misunderstand me, however. I don't advocate putting a lot of tobacco on certain foods. A matter of fact, I let my men eat pretty much what they like, so long as they keep a proper balance of roughage in their diet.

When we consider the almost complete revolution in the dietary habits of our present day athletes, it is not hard to understand why competitors go right on breaking records. The men of today aren't the super-beings that some authorities would have us believe. They simply are keeping their running, jumping and throwing machinery in better shape through "some stoking," and they maintain their bodies in fairly good condition the year round, all of which naturally makes the trainer's task much simpler.

Everything considered, it's my belief that a sane, balanced diet is mainly responsible for sweeping in to the discard those records of the "beef and beer" days. After all, most athletes are made—not born. They win with their stomachs, and not in spite of them!

Power Rates Further Reduced
Realizing the further need of power in a new and rapidly developing country, the Texas Utilities Company last month made a further reduction in Power rates, as explained by the following letter to plant managers from President I. R. Kelso:
St. Louis Mo.
October 25, 1930.
To the Managers of Texas Utilities Company:
With reference to the following schedules: (1) SCHEDULE CP-1 Commercial Power (Secondary Voltage) 1 Meter (No Lighting); (2) SCHEDULE CLP-1 Commercial Lighting and Power (Secondary Voltage) 1 or 2 meters as required (contract), and (3) SCHEDULE ILP-1 Industrial Light and Power (Primary Voltage) 1 meter (contract).
The purpose of this letter is to call to your attention the facts hereinafter set out in respect to the new or revised schedules above referred to:
That the above mentioned schedules, applicable to the classes of service therein referred to, are effective as to power bills covering October service.
That under schedule CP-1, the demand charge of $1.00 per month per K. W. connected (figured from manufacturers' name plate rating of all motors installed), entities customer to 10 Kilowatt Hours use of energy per month per each K. W. connected.
That under Schedule CLP-1 the demand charge of $2.50 per month for each K. W. of demand, as measured by demand meter, entities the customer to the use of 25 Kilowatt Hours of energy per month per K. W. of demand.
That Schedule CP-1 being a lower rate applicable to the class of service covered by Schedule OCP-1, automatically cancels said Schedule OCP-1 and entities customers heretofore billed on Schedule OCP-1 to hereafter be billed on Schedule CP-1.
That the effect of the readjustment of rates in the above mentioned schedules is a material reduction to all consumers now being supplied power service covered by said schedules.
Yours truly,
I. R. Kelso,
President, Texas Utilities Co.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

I am going my way, so let us go hand in hand. You help me and I'll help you. We shall not be here long, for soon Death, the kind old nurse, will come and rock us all to sleep. Let us help one another while we may. William Morris.

BEAUTY IS A TOWN ASSET

In spite of the apparent commercialism of the age in which we live, it is evident to any observer that the American people are rapidly developing a greater appreciation of the beautiful.

New towns, and new sections of the older ones are being laid out with wider streets, with provisions for larger lawns, more trees, shrubbery and flowers, and a more attractive setting generally.

Recently built homes show better architecture and greater harmony with their surroundings, while unsightly yard fences have largely disappeared.

Beautiful cities, towns and villages attract people. They attract permanent residents, they attract tourists, and they attract trade.

No citizen nor property owner loses anything when they assist in making Muleshoe a cleaner and more attractive town. They are aiding in a valuable work that pays big dividends.

Edison says we will soon be making tires out of weeds. Well, that will be making cigars out of them.

DANGEROUS DAYS

The season of shifting temperatures is with us again, and for the next several weeks to come you'll probably encounter more "sniffing and sneezing" in and around Muleshoe than you'll notice at any other time of the year.

Doctors call it the most dangerous season of the year, and they never cease to warn us to be careful of sudden changes in atmospheric conditions that bring colds and lung ailments, and these often develop into an illness that results fatally.

Get plenty of fresh air—but avoid drafts. Drink plenty of fresh water and sleep with a window open. Avoid over-heated rooms. Keep your feet dry and if you should get wet, don't wear the garments while they are drying out, but change clothing immediately.

Simple hints, every one of them, yet sufficient to save a life. Fresh air never yet killed anyone, and neither did anyone ever get too much of it at this season of the year. Keep them in mind. See that the children get their share, too, and we'll have both happier and a healthier community, with little to fear from this season of sudden and abrupt changes.

Russia says she has "pronounced ideas of freedom." But the trouble is the other nations can't pronounce them.

THERE'S A MORAL HERE

Did you ever stop to think that hard times mean nothing to a hen? She just keeps on digging worms and laying eggs regardless of what is said about conditions. If the ground is hard, she scratches harder. If it's dry she digs deeper. If she strikes a rock she works around it. But always she digs up worms and turns them into hard-shelled profits as well as tender broilers.

hear one cackle because times were hard? Not on your life. She saves her breath for digging and her cackles for eggs.

We're not mentioning any names—but we are wondering how many of our readers can find any moral in this.

It's a funny world. A crook loses his freedom by bad behavior, but that's the way a married man gains his.

MIDGET MESSAGES

The Muleshoe man who knows all about women should forget it if he values his own peace of mind.

Some Muleshoe men would be better off if they asked their neighbors to forgive them, instead of the Lord.

They say it is "better to have loved and lost" and there are probably some Muleshoe fellows who can testify that it is cheaper.

Hereditly is something the average Muleshoe father can believe in until his son gets to acting the darned fool.

To a hungry Muleshoe husband coming home after a hard day's work a lettuce sandwich looks as much like something to eat as the hole in a doughnut does.

It's a hard, hard world, and many a Muleshoe lad is considered dumb simply because Dad has forgotten all about arithmetic.

Most Muleshoe husbands don't object to having their wives use a little powder on their faces, but any of them will object to going out with her when her pulchritude looks like a marshmallow ready for toasting.

If the next war is conducted by machines we suppose some fellow will invent one to be used in scratching cooties.

Windmills' Drawbacks Windmills can be used to develop electric power. The drawbacks to them as electric generators are the small power for their size and the extreme variability of power and speed. Special devices are needed to compensate for these factors.

"Safety" Put First in New York Model City

Some day it may occur to the powers that approve subdivision projects to ask the seemingly obvious question: "What has been provided to make for the safety of the people who are to live here?"

These are some of the safety features: A series of courts with about 20 houses each grouped about them. Dead-end streets giving the only access for motor cars to the courts.

Finds Relief; Gives Konjola All The Credit

San Antonio Man Searched For Five Years For Relief—New Medicine Does the Work.

MR. J. B. WICKS

"I was troubled with stomach ailments for five years," said Mr. J. B. Wicks, 913 Avenue B, San Antonio.

"My appetite began to improve almost from the beginning of the Konjola treatment— I ate heartily without the drugged gas pains and back pains were leaving. My nervous condition, also, was greatly relieved. Now after a two weeks treatment, I feel better than I have in years. I have gained three pounds in the last eight days and I give Konjola all the credit."

Konjola is sold in Muleshoe at Collins Pharmacy, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

Miss Verna Pew, of Lubbock, visited Mr. Townsend's folks Sunday, also visiting the Watson Sunday school, after which she returned home to Lubbock Sunday afternoon.

Watson school was dismissed Oct. 3 for the gathering of the crops. It will reopen as soon as the bulk of the crops have been gathered, which will be in about a month.

C. L. Harrison and family returned home Friday from a three weeks visit to their former home. They enjoyed themselves very much, spending their time with friends and relatives in Roscoe, Lorraine and Westbrook.

Mr. Muller has completed his new home in Watson community. It is a large stucco home with a nice concrete foundation and basement. His barn is also built on a concrete foundation. It seems that he is building a substantial home and is preparing to remain in the community.

A. E. Anderson and family visited the Harrisons at the home Sunday. The Watson and Bula boys basketball team played ball Sunday evening at the Watson school house. The Bula boys beat Watsons boys 25 to 7. We will have to excuse the Watson boys, though, for they haven't practiced in a month or so.

We had a good attendance at Sunday school Sunday.

A very interesting program was rendered at League Sunday night. After league we had some fine singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartley and girls from Muleshoe visited at the McDorman home Sunday.

Mrs. Dave Stovall visited with her mother at Circleback, Thursday.

Mrs. C. C. Stovall returned home from Lubbock Saturday after visiting with her daughters for two weeks.

Remember the preaching services next Sunday. We will have our new pastor with us.

P. T. A. met and rendered a very good program last Thursday night. The next meeting will be the 20th of November. The parents will render the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lindsley and family and Julia Belle Morgan spent Sunday in the Allen Fenton home.

School Notes Johnnie Tucker was absent from school Monday.

Ellen McCluning was absent from school Thursday and Friday.

Bryant Daley and Edward Gross were absent from school Monday.

Plainview Community We had a large crowd at Sunday school Sunday, but the only objection was that we could not get in the school house. We wish the teachers would please let the Sunday school continue. If the teachers will not come they do not have to but if they will think of the children in the community that have no other place to go on Sunday, I think they will change their minds.

Mr. and Mrs. John Crim and children, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson and Bessie Collins took dinner with Joe Coffman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McKillip, of Friona, spent Sunday with Mr. L. T. McKillip and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jarman and Orby took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Collins.

You are all cordially invited to come to Sunday school at Plainview school house, Sunday, November 16.—Rep. Buy it in Muleshoe.

Miss Lyndell Gaddy had as her guests last weekend, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Towery, of Muleshoe, Mr. and Mrs. Joe McCung, Mr. S. E. McClung, and Mrs. Ralph Gilmer, of Frederick, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Stegall entertained friends in their home near Goodland last Sunday night, serving hot chocolate, cake and home made candy. Card games were played, Keith Stegall scoring high point in the game of "hearts." Those enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Stegall were: Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Towery, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Stegall and Misses Toby Sluman and Lyndell Gaddy.

H. A. Towery had a very distinguished guest to call on him after he reached the Gaddy home Saturday night. Those who are curious can learn all particulars from Mr. Towery.

BRUCE BARTON

ASH TRAYS AND BUZZERS

Years ago I had an appointment with a corporation president. The secretary, door men, and general factotums in the great man's outer office made it clear that his boss was Some Pumpkins and that I was assuming a great deal in asking to see him.

When I finally worked my way through the last of them and stood in the president's private office, I saw in the corner a red-faced, bald-headed man seated at a plain wooden desk. His coat was off and his sleeves were rolled up to reveal a pair of solid, hairy arms.

"Ah, Mr. Barton," he said, "would you mind standing on guard beside that door? My tailor has just sent me over a pair of cooler pants, and I want to put them on."

So I stood guard while he stepped out of one pair of pants and into another, chatting sociably all the time. I was reminded of this incident by the remark of a friend who was recently transferred from the branch office to the New York headquarters of a certain business.

Some of the men in the organization were jealous of his promotion, and he has carefully watched his step. "The president gave me my choice of two offices," he told me. "One was a grand room on the executive floor. The other was a queer little dump two floors below. I took the little office. It will be perfectly all right until I show that I need something better. I have enough problems at the beginning without the additional handicap of a luxurious office."

An office manager who has watched men come and go in a big corporation tells me that he can predict just about how long a new man will last. "If his first requisition is for a lead pencil and a blotter and some ink, I put him down as permanent. But when a man sends me an initial requisition for an ash tray and an electric buzzer I notice he never stays over a year."

Napoleon was quite a trial to his courtiers because he did not pay more attention to the trappings of his office. When Bourienne was telling him that he must do so and so or the older reigning families in Europe would not recognize him, he had the sure answer of a man who knows his strength.

"If it comes to that I will destroy them all," he exclaimed. "Then I shall be the oldest sovereign among them."

Generally speaking, those who like lots of fuss are light weights. The surer a man is of his own capacity, the less he cares for externals—including all fancy trappings and the criticism of the uninformed.

GLAZED APPLE RINGS WITH COLD PORK

Cold Roast Pork With Glazed Apples and Candied Cherries.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Cold sliced meat is often better liked if accompanied by something that adds piquancy to the flavor—jelly, pickle, preserves of different kinds, or slightly tart cooked fruits, such as fried pineapple or apple in some form. One of the most attractive looking of the accompaniments to cold pork cuts is glazed apple rings served either hot or chilled. The bureau of home economics gives these directions for glazed apples.

Cook together one cupful of water, one cupful of sugar and one-eighth teaspoonful of salt for about ten minutes and add two tablespoonfuls of butter. Wash, core and pare four large, tart, firm apples, and cut them crosswise into three or four thick slices. Place the apple rings in a single layer in a buttered shallow pan. Pour the hot sirup over the apple rings, cover and cook slowly in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until the apples are tender. Remove the cover from the pan, continue to cook the apples until the sirup becomes thick and slightly browned, and turn the slices occasionally. If the rings are cooled and served with cold cuts, a candied cherry in the center of each ring makes the dish a very attractive one.

NUTTY NATURAL HISTORY

BY HUGH HUTTON

THE OOPS MOOPIS

THE above is the scientific terminology for the ordinary Bald-headed Wokk that inhabits the frozen pampas of Patagonia. The chilly temperature of this region keeps the oops moopis in a very brittle condition, a point which is his chief protection. They are easily rounded up in the Wokk hunts, but when the hunter grabs the tail, the member breaks off. If a leg is seized, that, too, snaps; then another and another, until the creature has nothing left on his body but his head. It then runs off to its den, where in the course of a couple of months it grows a new set of appendages.

The one shown here coming out of its cave with a brand new set of legs and tail has an almond head with popcorn ears attached. The body is a fibrous, thin, and is covered with many bean feet, and the tail is a striped toothpick. The hopeless expression is easily done with pen and ink.

"When we lose heart we should remember that when we are in good fortune never diminishes or disappears and that source forever remains within in easy reach of every man."

REASONABLE FOOD

A GOOD salad is always a welcome dish at any time or season. Fruit salads especially appeal to the appetite in warm weather.

Chilled Fruit Salad.

Cover salad plates with fresh crisp lettuce and arrange rounds of sliced fruit, such as oranges, grapefruit, peaches, pears and berries. In the center place a mound of cottage cheese, then surround with such fruit and berries as are in season. Serve with a fruit mayonnaise—add orange juice to mayonnaise, chill and beat well before serving.

One of the valuable food adjuncts (vitamin C) is found most liberally in the citrus fruits. It is an unstable element and cannot be stored in the body for any length of time, hence a daily intake of such fruit makes for bodily health.

Fruit Cup Dessert.

Cut one orange, add one cupful of pineapple diced, one cupful of halved strawberries or white grapes, one-half cupful of powdered sugar. Serve very cold in sherbet glasses with a marshmallow cherry for a garnish.

Lemon Fruit Sherbet.

Add to one quart of rich milk two and one-half cupfuls of lemon juice and one cupful of any of the following fruits: Crushed strawberries, raspberries, apricot pulp, mashed peaches, bananas or apple sauce. Freeze as usual.

Orange Ice Cream.

Mix three cupfuls of orange juice with one cupful of sugar. When well dissolved add two cupfuls of thin cream or the same of milk and one cupful of thick cream. If the thick cream is used whip it before adding. Freeze to a mush, then add the whipped cream and finish freezing.

Deviled Crab.

Take one can of crab meat, mix with one cupful of bread crumbs softened with one-half cupful of milk, add two egg yolks hard cooked and put through a sieve; add one tablespoonful of salt, a dash of mustard, one-fourth of a cupful of melted butter. Fill timbales or small ramekins, sift buttered crumbs over the top and brown lightly in a moderate oven.

A Man's Salad.

Take one head of lettuce, one-half dozen young green onions, chopped fine, including the tops; one hard-cooked egg, also chopped. Combine, add salt and pepper and serve with a good french dressing.

We need plenty of fruits and vegetables to supply vitamins and keep the body healthful.

THINGS CHARACTERISTIC OF INFANTS

"I'M ALWAYS wishing I were like somebody else."
"I want things badly, and when I get them I don't want them any more."
"I get very annoyed when people interfere with my plans."
"I like to be begged and coaxed into things."
"Sometimes I do things just because somebody doesn't want me to."
Those are a few contributions which a college professor received from his students when he asked them to name their prevailing "infantilities"—in other words to point out things that we do that would more appropriately be characteristic of infants!

Read them again and then let me add a few:

"Wanting everything that everybody else has."
"Being dissatisfied when some one you know has more than you."
"Wanting or liking things because people you know want or like them."
"Doing things not because you want to, but to 'keep up with the Jones'."
"Being impressed by what people have rather than what they are."
"Living only for the day—and leaving the rest to luck."
"Putting our attention, our effort, and therefore our hope of happiness into things instead of people—and so, as the poet said, dropping buckets into empty wells and growing old in drawing nothing up."

Honor Paid Unknown

It is believed that the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington cemetery has been decorated more often than any monument or memorial, taking into consideration the length of time that it has been built. Scarcely a day passes that a wreath is not placed upon the tomb in tribute, and often two or three are laid there upon the same day.

THE BELIEVING CENTURION—A GENTLE WHOSE FAITH JESUS COMMENDED
Matthew 8:5-13

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.
He is a wise man indeed who is able to give a true estimate of values. All kinds of ideas were in the minds of people while Jesus was in the midst of His ministry. The Teacher had a right to expect the best results from His disciples and was amazed one day when, in truth, He had to commend the faith of a Roman Centurion above that seen in any of His own school or race.
This man was a gentile, and Jesus might have the same attitude toward him as did other Jews. So the elders of the synagogue were sought to plead the case in their joint behalf. Later the Centurion makes personal approach to Jesus, for he had truly identified himself with the sick man. It is still true that in proportion as we are conscious of being in the presence of Holiness we are the more aware of our own worthlessness in comparison. The very home of the Centurion is too humble for Jesus to even enter it. Then quick thinking and increasing belief help to solve the problem.
As a man of authority over others this Roman commander gives his orders and they are obeyed, whether he fellows through with his eyes or not, Jesus must have still greater authority in the realm of the spirit. Therefore in boldness of faith request is made that healing be effected through the word of His power. Such faith is rewarded and the servant becomes well forthwith.
This act of sublime faith was prophetic and gave evidence that Jesus was to become the redeemer of mankind regardless of the race or condition of the individual.

NEW HATS CONVEY THE MESSAGE OF FLATTERING BRIMS TO MILADY

Hear the glad tidings, ye who have long suffered the unbecomingness of the brimless chapeau—brims are "in" again! To be sure, southern resort millinery has already conveyed the message of brims to the world of fashion, but the news bears repeating—brims are "in" again!
The illustration might well be captioned "a study in brims," for it presents diverse types which are significant of that which now is and is to be in way of brimmed chapeau. A theme which will be played "with variations" by the milliner for spring and summer is the ever youthful and flattering cloche. An outstanding type is the cloche with the ripple brim, two versions of which are shown at the top of this group to the left. There is another little cloche in this collection to which we would like to call your attention. It is sketched to the left in the third row below. Note its plaited sides and observe also that it tilts up just enough to reveal the forehead, which is a characteristic of the majority of 1930 cloches—to be brow-revealing.
A flower posed under the brim, next to the face (see the sketch to the right at the top), is one of the "sweetly feminine" touches in promise for the near future.
The frilled brim, a suggestion of which is given by the hat to the left in the second row, is down on the list of the new silhouettes. Belting ribbon, taffeta falls and handkerchief felt are worked in this way.
Next to the frilled brim is a dashing off-the-face type, often reproduced in satin, and just as often in some one or other of the voguish linenlike straws.
Brim of lace straw are a smart new item, the hat to the right of the off-the-face model just described, being a charming exponent.
Semitransparent brims, worked with mauline or sheer crin, together with felt, fabric, or straw as per the cunning poke bonnet centered below, offer new and novel treatments.
Simple linenlike straw bodies manipulated like felt are especially attractive in all millinery collections. The model to the right, next to the last sketch, illustrates the idea.
The dual brim displays a unique shirred effect, for both shirring and pin tucks play an important part in fabric or felt manipulation.

Eugene Ivey Badly Injured In Gin Saw Arm Is Amputated

While cleaning from under the gin saws at the Farmers Gin last Thursday night at 9:30 o'clock, Eugene Ivey, 21, of this city, was seriously injured, when a glove on his right hand became entangled in the gin saws, pulling him over on his back and badly lacerating his right arm, right hip and back. Rushed to a Lubbock Sanitarium where surgeons amputated his right arm, Eugene was resting well as we go to press. Probably the breaking of a shaft holding the saws in place, saved young Ivey's life, men at the gin stated. Over 200 stitches were taken in sewing up the lacerations on his back, hip and shoulder. His right arm was so badly torn and cut that amputation was necessary. His clothes were torn to shreds wherever the saws came in contact with them—Amherst Argus.

TEXAS & PACIFIC NORTHERN RAILWAY MAY BUILD THRU BAILEY CO. AS COMPROMISE

(Continued from page 1) Panhandle which is not now being adequately served by railroads, and an area of as good agriculture land as exists anywhere in this part of the state.

Other Systems May Contest It is also thought that such a diverted route would be more acceptable to the railroads appearing against the application of the T. & P. N. Co. It is a well known fact that some years ago when the Denver system built into Plainview and on to Dimmit they were very much interested in a line running southwest out of Plainview. At that time considerable data was prepared and submitted to the Denver system by towns west of Plainview, proposed routes were suggested by some of these towns, one or more horseback surveys made across the country west into New Mexico and a meeting held at Lovington, N. M., attended by delegations from Artesia, Roswell and other interested towns of that section. But to date nothing has ever been definitely done by that system.

Recently it has been rumored that the Frisco system is contemplating the lengthening of the Quanah, Acme & Pacific railroad to Littlefield, thence west into New Mexico, with El Paso as a point of destination, and which proposed line, it is said, would give this company the shortest possible route from St. Louis, Mo., to El Paso. It is also conceded that the Santa Fe system, which for several years past has been strenuously fighting the encroachments of any other system into the territory it now serves, and at least a part of the proposed new T. & P. N. road is being served by the Santa Fe—it has been suggested that the swinging of this new road from Lelaland, in Hockley county, causing it to pass up through Bailey, Farmer and Deaf Smith counties, will meet with less opposition from the Santa Fe system than the building of it entirely as proposed by the T. & P. N. Co.

A Possible Compromise In event this angle of the situation meets the favor of the Interstate Commerce Commission and this proposed road comes through Bailey county, it will, in all probabilities, mean the building of good towns at Enoch and Baileyboro, both of which are now inadequately served, and the passing of the new line through Muleshoe, the capital of this county.

Commenting upon the possibility, County Judge J. E. Adams stated there had been neither individual nor concerted effort made by any of the citizens of this county to swing the proposed railroad through Bailey county, but an unbiased scanning of the map and even a casual survey of the vast fertile agricultural domain of this area would be entirely convincing of the need of such a railroad for development purposes and the superior value to the company itself from a business standpoint if the line was run through the counties of Bailey, Farmer and Deaf Smith.

Muleshoe Leaguers Win Honors At The Olton District Meet

The Muleshoe delegation carried away the bulk of honors at the banquet and Western Union meeting of the Epworth League, Plainview district, held at Olton Friday night of last week.

There were 28 delegates from Muleshoe attending the event, making a grade of 99 1-5 for attendance and 100 per cent on the secretary's book. Of the total present Muleshoe had the honor of fourth place, Good Hardin, of this city, discussed "Feelin' for You," as a part of the program.

The next meeting will be held the fourth Sunday in January at Muleshoe. Those attending from this point were: Rev. W. B. Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Good Hardin, Alvin Farrell, Betty Nelson, Hazel Nelson, Lovine McKiesky, Clymena Peters, Marguerite Hicks, Mary F. Willis, Leon Morris, Woodrow Gaede, Woodrow Glascock, Edna Farrell, Alice DeBord, Florence Koons, Inez Peters, Jimmy Cox, Iris Harden, Buford Butts, Nina Mae Bruce, Coy Burkhead, Beth Mardis, Jeff White, E. Boone and Leonard West.

Fire Department Is Organized, Marshal, Will Reduce Rates

At a meeting of the members of the Muleshoe Fire department held last week it was decided to, in the near future, put on a play for the benefit of the department that it may purchase some needed paraphernalia. The department is now completely organized, in accordance with request and direction of the State Fire department, with the following officials and members:

Dr. H. W. Duke, fire marshal.
C. C. Brooks, fire chief.
Jack Cox and Buford Butt, captains.
Theo. Collins, Harley Davis, Vance Wagon, Roy Skaggs, Courtland Rock, Jimmy Cox, Herschel Aloup, J. C. Buchanan, Leonard West, Neal Keeley, Jr., Mill Barfield and D. L. Kendrick.

The appointment of a fire marshal and the organization of the fire department, it is stated, will call for a reduction in insurance rates within the city.

Muleshoe Beats The Witharral Lads In Hard Game Friday

Muleshoe and Witharral football teams met in a fierce combat here Friday of last week, the score being 20 to 0 in favor of the local squad.

The playing throughout was strenuous, the teams being quite well matched. Muleshoe made 11 first downs, while Witharral made five. The Yellow Jackets had three complete and two incomplete passes, while their opponents had five incomplete ones. In the fourth quarter the Witharral lads made a strong effort to score, but were unsuccessful.

The next game will be played with Levelland.

RAINS THIS WEEK
Cloudy weather has prevailed in the Muleshoe section this week. Monday night there were light showers, also Tuesday noon.
The precipitation will be of value to growing wheat.

BAILEY COUNTY FARM LADS ARE NOW FEEDING OUT CALVES AND GETTING READY FOR LUBBOCK SHOW IN SPRING

Six Bailey county boys and girls are now feeding out eight calves which are to be entered in the 4-H club show at Lubbock, March 26-27. There are several hundred dollars in prizes to be given away to winners in this show. It is to be strictly a club show for boys and girls feeding out pigs and calves. Christine Dennis, of West Camp, is feeding two calves; Jack and Charlie Haley, of West Camp, are feeding, one calf each; Charles and John Cardwell, of Wilson school district, in extreme southern part of the county, are feeding one calf each, and Dick Willman, of the YL community, is feeding two calves.

Within a few days an effort will be made to enroll those who may be interested, in pig clubs to fatten out pigs for the same show.

In the calf show there will be 14 placings for calves born between September 1 and December 31, 1929, which is called Senior class. Either a steer or a heifer may be shown. The highest prize in this class is $30 for 1st, $27 for 2nd, $25 for 3rd, and so on until the 14th calf will get $5.

For calves born after January 1, 1930, another class called Junior, in which either a steer or heifer may be entered, the same prizes are offered as for the Seniors. One boy or girl may enter a calf in each of the classes. In addition there are very liberal money prizes for champion steer or heifer of the show, another prize for best group of five calves from one county, and still another group of 15 calves from one county. This last group will get six places with prizes of $75, $50, $25, $15, $10, and $5.

The individual pig classes are limited to two, those under 250 pounds and those over 250 pounds. Age will not be a factor here. The placings for each class are as follows: $15, $10, $9, $8, $7, $6, $5, $3, $2.

In addition to the individual entries described above there will be two classes for litters of pigs fed out by one boy or girl. One litter class will be for 5 to 8 pigs. Another will be for nine pigs and over. The placings for each of the litter classes will be $25, $15, $10, and $5. The champion pig of the show will get $10, in addition to the prize that it will get for the particular class it belongs to.

There will also be county group entries of 25 pigs for each county which has that many pigs in the show. The placings for the groups of 21 will be: $50, $40, $30, $20, and $10.
All together there will be more than $1,000 in prizes given to club boys and girls in this show.

Bailey County Chix Raisers Are Keeping An Accurate Record

Bailey county, has seven poultry demonstrators, who have been given complete records for a year. These demonstrators will keep an accurate record of their flocks and manage them according to instructions, as they can be followed, from the A. & M. College.

The flocks of this list of demonstrators belong to J. R. Sherif, West Camp, of about 400 White Leghorns; Duane Danielson, West Camp, 500 White Leghorns; V. C. Weaver, Bula, who has 300 White Leghorns; Mrs. W. M. Jant, of Circleback, 200 White Leghorns; Lloyd Quesberry of YL, who has 160 Rhode Island Reds; Joe Paul, of Ladbudde, who has 300 White Minorcas; D. Waller, West Camp, who has 500 White Leghorns.

All these flocks will be visited by the county agent once each month to assist in filling out the monthly record and to get a report of the financial statement for the month.
Any others who would like to become demonstrators are requested to get in touch with Fred S. Reynolds, county agent, whose office is in the court house, Muleshoe. Saturday is his office day. Usually he is out in the country during the other week days. Anyone wishing to communicate with him may either write him or leave word with any of the offices at the court house.
