It Was Ever Thus.

A correspondent of a French newspaper who spent considerable time with the Russian and Japanese forces during the recent war, writes some interesting articles to his paper regarding the personnel of the opposing armies, analyzing the causes for the victories of the one and the defeats of the other. Among other causes for Japanese victory this writer asserts that the abstinence from strong drink of the Jap soldiers told wonderfully in their favor when it came to actual warfare. The Russians were lazy, illiterate, intemperate and licentious, while the Japs were practically free from all these vices. In consequence thereof the former went into battle unprepared for a long and exacting siege, while the latter were in prime condition for any sort of conflict. When night came in the Russian camp there were drinking orgies and other shameless indulgences, especially in the officers' quarters, so that when morning came, there was general incapacity and unfitness for duty. In striking contrast to these scenes were those in the Jap camps, where absolute obedience to all rules of decorous conduct was not only required but cheerfully given. In commenting upon these conditions, this French writer declares that the Russian soldiers owe their repeated defeats as much to their own conduct as to the marvelous efficiency of their foes. And it was ever thus. We have yet to hear of a single calling or profession, of a single age or location, in which the indulgence in intoxicants, riotous and licentious living, ever operated to advance the interests of a man or a nation. As the Russian soldiers who indulged such habits came to grief, so has and so will every other man, in whatever calling, who undertakes a like task. Intemperance of habit, in whatever line, is not conducive to success in any legitimate business or profession. Some army officers, who have learned this fact, have enforced a ban against it in every form. Business firms and corporations in all portions of the country insist that their employes cut out all forms of excess in the use of intoxicants or the indulgence of other equally vicious habits. The French newspaper writer has simply discovered new conditions, which every intelligent man recognized for years, and uses the continued and pronounced victories of the Japanese army to enforce an old, old lesson.—Thomas (Okla.) Tribune.

Man is King.

Man is the king of animals.

Even the lion crows and the cows lie at his bidding.

He has built splendid cities and extracted the lightning from heaven to turn the wheels of industry and run automobiles over his fellows.

He has appropriated the seas to his service and weighed the stars for future reference.

He has dug a shining metal from the earth and made it a talisman that will buy anything under the sun.

He has established vast empires and used continents for his private purposes.

To him the map of the world is as a mere billboard poster, to revise at will, and he makes a new edition necessary about every ten years.

Verily, as hereinbefore announced, man is the king of animals.

But, alas, he has his limitations.

He cannot shave the back of his neck.

Kind Words.

As the breath of dew on the tender plant, they fall gently upon the drooping heart refreshing its withered tendrils and soothes its burning woes. Bright roses they are in life's greatest desert. Who can estimate the pangs they have alleviated, or the good works they have accomplished?

Long after they are uttered do they reverberate in the soul's inner chambers and low, sweet, liquid strains, that quiet all the raging storms that may have existed. And, oh, when the heart is sad, and like a broken harp, sweetest chords of pleasure cease to vibrate, who can tell the power of one kind word? One little word of tenderness gushing in upon the soul will sweep the long neglected chords, and awaken the most pleasant strains.—Selected.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1905.

We have heard nothing more about incorporating for school purposes.

Lubbock merchants have enjoyed a splendid holiday trade, so far, and as the eventful day approaches sales increase.

Christmas is almost here, and our people are preparing for the occasion in a way that speaks volumes for the general prosperity of the plains country.

We have recently had occasion to examine the details of the automobile line from Roswell to Torrence, N. M., and it is conceded to be a success. We believe a line of this kind would be a paying investment between this place and Big Springs.

We notice with regret the careless way in which the two nice church buildings are cared for. When the wind blows its strongest gale the north door of the Baptist church is often open, and when a damp, misty wind blows from the east the east door of the Methodist church is open.

C. E. Gilbert, the present Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds, is a candidate for Land Commissioner. He is an old newspaper man and has been identified with the press of Texas for many years, and has been active in politics for some years. He is an able, earnest, conscientious man, worthy and well qualified for the duties of the office.

We are informed that there is a move on foot to form a Traction Company in Lubbock for the purpose of securing a gasoline traction engine to put on the road between here and Big Springs or Canyon. In our opinion, this is a good scheme and one that should be carried out, as we understand that the engine can be bought under a strict guarantee, subject to examination and a thorough trial. It seems that a proposition of this kind is our only show, the demand for freight is great that the wagons and ams can no longer be depended upon. Let the surprising citizens of our town get together at once, investigate the proposition and take immediate action.

How we all watch
The clock and climb
Into our coats

At dinner time,
And hike it out
For home, we do,
When it comes time
To go and chew.

We like to see Our wives and joys—
Our little girls
And little boys—
Their kisses are Surpassing sweet;
But what we're there for
Is to eat.

To eat and eat,
And chank and chank;
Men of all ages,
Men of all rank;
Life's love and joy
Are good to take,
But we live for Our stomach's sake

A Business Proposition: If you have patented land, you can borrow from $800 to $1500 per section on it. If stocked with cattle, a dozen calves per year will pay the interest—even at the present low prices—and the remainder of the profit is yours. If you have school land, you can patent it for $1 per acre. Loans can be made only on land of Clear Record Title.

Have You Thought Just what is meant by a Complete Abstract of the County Records?
It means that we have carefully read every instrument recorded in the county, and, giving a separate page to each tract of land, have entered a memorandum of each of these instruments on our books, and can see at a glance a list of all the deeds, mortgages, etc., affecting any piece of land in the county or any town lot in the town of Lubbock. Since opening up business the past summer, we have furnished abstracts of the title to 65 tracts of land and 96 town lots, which goes to show that a great many people realize our advantages in this line, though some continue to buy real estate with no other assurance than a warranty deed. It will pay you to be careful for very few have an idea of the many tangles disclosed by our county records.

Ranch Land Abstracts: By means of our complete Abstract Books we can prepare abstracts of any of the big pastures on short notice and with much greater accuracy than they can be made from the index, in the usual way. The leading loan company of the state, with business running into hundreds of thousands of dollars, pronounces our abstracts the best handled by them. Some of the largest land owners are having their lands abstracted for their own convenience.
We are prepared to do this promptly and accurately.

MARLIN

THE Marlin RIFLE, Model 1892, .32 calibre, is the best rifle made for exterminating pests and torments about a place, as rats, weazels, woodchucks, etc., also for a companion on your vacation trip, combining the good points of the old muzzle-loading squirrel rifle with the convenience and rapid fire of the most improved repeater. It is so constructed that the same rifle uses the following cartridges: .32 short and long rim-fire, .32 short and long center-fire, and is the only repeater made using rim-fire cartridges larger than .22 calibre.

The short cartridges are just the thing for small game while the long ones kill animals of fair size easily. On the first 2000 cartridges used you have saved the cost of a Marlin.
