LUBBOCK'S GROWTH IS MARVELOUS

VISITORS WHO COME HERE ARE DELIGHTED WITH CONDITIONS AND THE ACTIVITY OF TOWN BUILDING

BUT FEW TOWNS PRESENT SUCH GROWTH AT PRESENT

Prospectors Are Encouraged by the Magnificent Buildings That are Constantly Under Course of Construction. Over Four Years Constant Building

"Lubbock's growth is marvelous" were the words that expressed the feelings of one of the many visitors and prospectors to the town this week. He had been here before several years ago, and had he not been a constant reader of the Avalanche he would never have recognized in this town, Lubbock, and he was free to admit that though the Avalanche has held out a magnificent picture of the development of the country and the building up of Lubbock, it had not in the least overdrawn the real conditions, and the improvements were even greater than he had expected to find.

Visitors are delighted to see this thrifty south Plains town and the activity that prevails in town building is an inspiration to the progressive citizen wherever he is from and it does them good to come here and see with what enthusiasm the people of this town enter into the improvement of the town.

Fact of the business Lubbock is just about the liveliest proposition in the South Plains. We overheard a citizen of this town remark only a few days ago that we cannot properly appreciate the splendid conditions that exist here until we get away from here for a few days and visit some of the other towns. He said that few towns can present such a steady and substantial growth that Lubbock does at this time. It is not only now, but the growth has been continuous. Had the average citizen ever stopped to think that for four solid years there has not been a day that there was not under course of construction a substantial brick, cement or concrete building. Its true—the work continues through hot or cold weather wet or dry, and that is what has planted the confidence of the people in Lubbock so firmly that nothing but success can follow.

Even through the dull season of summer months there has been great activity in building circles. You will catch while reading through this issue that there are a number of new buildings to be commenced next week, and still others will follow in the course of the next thirty to sixty days. There is always something doing in Lubbock, our streets are never clear of building material, and our people march to the music of the carpenters saw and hammer and the brick mason's trowel every day of the week. Come to Lubbock.

COURTING AT POST CITY

Holbrook Trial For Killing of Crosser Set For Today in Garza County District Court

Wednesday south bound train bore a large number of Lubbock citizens as well as a big bunch from Crosby county who were going to Post City to attend court, being witnesses in the Holbrook case. Many went merely as friends of the defendant and for various reasons. This case was transferred to Garza county by a change of venue and when the court convened last week the case was set for the 19th.

The defendant will be represented by J. W. Burton of Crosbyton, W. H. Bledsoe of Lubbock and L. W. Dalton of Plainview. We did not learn whether the case will have additional counts against it. This case will consume several days and will likely be a hard fought legal battle.

Cutting Weeds

The weed cutters have been busy this week, and as a result several blocks have already been cleared of the unsightly growth of weeds and it is making a great improvement too. Much of the territory assigned to certain foremen for clearing off the weeds beginning July 18th will have been cleared off ere that date. Keep the good work going. It is a splendid move and the person should allow the weeds to grow along his yard fence or the alleys adjoining his property. Cut weeds.

COUNTY S. S. CONVENTION

Will be Held in Lubbock August 7th, 8th and 9th Noted S. S. Workers Will Attend

Last Sunday afternoon there was held a Sunday School rally at the tabernacle, conducted by Mr. J. M. Adams, of Fort Worth, who is one of the field men for the State Interdenominational Sunday School Association, and it was decided that the County Sunday School Convention be held here beginning August 7th and continue for three days.

There will be a number of noted Sunday School workers here on these dates and will talk about the great Sunday School work, and the hearty co-operation of the Sunday Schools of every denomination in the county is earnestly solicited.

P. D. Haney, who has been visiting ever since last fall in California, Tennessee, Georgia, and Arkansas, returned home Sunday. He was accompanied by his three brothers-in-law, John Campbell, Clint Carl and Macks Rollins, all of Arkansas, who will visit here for a time and are looking at the country with a view to locating in Texas. Mr. Haney has had a long trip, and visited many different places since he left Lubbock and reports a splendid time. He is back to make Lubbock home again.

T. A. Morrison, one of the well known ranchers of West Texas, who has been looking after cattle interests in Floyd county, passed through our city enroute to his home in Colorado last Saturday.

THE LUBBOCK CEMETERY

Grounds Need Attention. Conditions Anything but Favorable. Immediate Action Necessary

A number of times the Avalanche has called attention to the condition of the cemetery, that Lubbock calls her city of the dead, and urged that some action be taken to improve the general appearance of this plot of land, and make it look like it was in a civilized country.

We, in company with two other men visited the cemetery last Monday, and found that there is much work to be done in order to put the grounds in anything like decent condition.

Mr. Ed Robinson was authorized about a year ago to go ahead and make such improvements as he saw fit, and at the time had a wire fence put around the ten acres, sufficient to keep cattle out, but this is not sufficient. The cemetery is the nesting place for rabbits and prairie dogs, and they keep the graves in bad condition by scratching holes in the mound, and scattering the dirt so that when it rains the water runs into the grave and caves them in, some of them sinking during the last rain to almost half the depth of the vault.

Mr. Robinson does not care to take further steps upon the authority vested in him, and desires that a public meeting be held and decide what is the proper thing to do, and get later instructions.

Saturday evening at 3:30 is the time for the meeting of the Civic league, and it was decided to ask the Cemetery association to meet at the same time, and have a joint session of the two bodies. Let everyone who is interested in the Cemetery attend this meeting and talk the matter over and let us get to work and have some improvements made right away.

Putting in New Crane

The Santa Fe people are putting in a new water crane between the two main tracks just opposite where the old one is. This one will be used in addition to the one already there, and is an indication that there will be considerable increase in train service installed soon over this road. By the use of this crane engines can receive water on the main tracks, and it is likely that this will be one of the main watering places on the line, as there is an unlimited amount of it here, and of a quality that the railroad people are proud to have. Lubbock is recognized by the railroad people as some importance and there will be big things placed here some day. Dreams that some of our most optimistic people have had, and the prediction that the Avalanche has been brave enough to put in print will come to pass. Come to Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wheelock left Monday for St. Louis, where they will spend several months. Mr. Wheelock will take treatment under a specialist where he hopes to get relief from his recent afflictions. His many friends here wish for him the greatest of success.

L. A. Tittle wife and baby and Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford all of Mt. Vernon made the trip through to this country, arriving in an auto Sunday and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Rouse. Mrs. Rutherford is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rouse.

Mrs. W. B. Rushing and two children of Plainview are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Atkins. Mrs. Rushing is a niece of Mrs. Atkins.

STERETT HIGHLY PLEASED

Says Resolution of Sheriffs Association is Great Aid to His Office

Austin, Tex., July 10.—Col. G. Sterrett, Game, Fish and Oyster Commissioner, said tonight: "The resolution of the Sheriffs Association, pledging its membership to a hearty co-operation with the Game, Fish and Oyster Commissioner in enforcing the game and fish and oyster laws of the state, means more for the protection of the fish and game of our state than anything I have ever done or the legislature has ever done in that direction. Heretofore the sheriffs and constables of the state appear to have believed that as the law provided for a commissioner to look after the enforcement of the game and fish laws, he and his deputies were alone to be held responsible for their enforcement. The sheriffs in their meeting here today, never more emphatically stated their loyalty to duty, and testified their interest in their state than when they resolved to assist the Game, Fish and Oyster Commissioner in protecting the building up to its old-time richness the State's great material and sentimental wealth which it possesses in its birds, its game and its fish. Actually, I would rather have this resolution of the sheriffs behind me in endeavoring to protect our game and fish than $50,000 in cash for that purpose. For with the sheriffs zealous in the work which they promise the day of the man who violates the game and fish laws with impunity is gone."

Will Build Residence

Mrs. A. S. Dees and daughter, Mrs. Deil King have purchased lots on North First Street four blocks west of the square and have let the contract for the building of a nice residence. John W. Agnew we understand has the contract for the building and will begin work next week. These people moved here a few weeks ago from Loraine, and came with the intention of making Lubbock their home, and they have made a splendid start in that direction. They came to Lubbock for they desired to locate in a town that had a bright future and after investigating a number of other places decided upon this as the place to locate.

Go Look

The new cement walks at the school house are complete. Please go and see what you think of them. We mothers of the Mothers Club are perfectly pleased. We think Mr. Pryor has given us a fine piece of work. We owe a little more than $200.00 on those walks. If any man or woman can help the "Mothers Club," pay this debt we will be very grateful; but if not, we will feed you on First Mondays until we get that amount or we will hustle it some other way. Our debt must be paid.

A Member

The first bale of the 1913 crop, was sold at auction on the New York cotton exchange Monday for 20 cents a pound. This money goes to charity. The bale, weighing 505 pounds, was raised at Lyford in Cameron county, Texas, and was shipped through Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Glaze and daughter, Mrs. Black, of Barstow, Ward county, who have been visiting the family of Ed. W. Green for several days returned home Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Green is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glaze.

Miss Lillie Barclay is visiting in Plainview this week.

SOUTH PLAINS PROSPECTS GOOD

CONDITIONS WERE NEVER BETTER AT THIS SEASON OF THE YEAR THAN AT PRESENT

CROPS AND RANGE OFFER MUCH ENCOURAGEMENT

Farmers Expect to Harvest Good Crop This Year and are Making Preparations for Saving it—Ranchmen are Pleased With Range Conditions and Prospects for Good Prices

Probably not in the history of the Lubbock country have the prospects at this season of the year been more favorable than this year. The general conditions being most satisfactory. From the farmer's standpoint he is well pleased with the prospects for a good crop, and he is expecting a bountiful harvest. So confident does he feel that he will have abundance that he is making preparations for the handling of same. He is putting in his silos and putting up new barns, and otherwise preparing himself for the harvest season.

The ranchman is well pleased with the condition of his range, and his cattle are pictures of beauty. He too is looking ahead for the cold days this winter and is preparing to put up much feed for winter consumption, assuring a safe landing of his stock in good condition next spring. He is also optimistic as to prices and believes that there will be some good money made out of his herds this fall and next spring.

The South Plains country is in the midst of a year of prosperity and her people are feeling good. Improvements are found in the country homes and farms and ranches such as has never been seen before.

The only probable hinderance will be the scarcity of labor, and this may become a serious handicap when crop gathering time comes, but with the late improved machinery that most all the farmers have in this country, one man can do a great deal toward putting up an immense amount of crop.

If you are seeking work, and want it in an ideal climate, where the people are congenial, and in a white man's country, we would advise you to come to Lubbock.

ROADS MUST REFUND MONEY

Would Demand Amount Collected Above Two Cent Fare Since Law Became Effective

Jefferson City, Mo., July 12.—If the railroads do not show an inclination to make prompt refund to those proving their claims for overcharges account of the 2c passenger rate law decision the state may take a hand in adjusting those claims and if it does, the railroads would be called upon to refund all the money in excess of the 2c per mile they have collected since the 2c law became effective.

The Attorney General's Department is looking into the question to determine what action may be taken.

Assistant Attorney General Fitch said today:

"According to the decision of Judge Hughes, the railroads have had no right to collect the extra 1c or 1-2 c they charged above the 2c rate and having no right to collect, they have no right to keep it, and if the people of the state who have paid this money do not make proper proof of claim for it, then the money necessarily must revert to the state and will go into the State Treasury."

What is true of the 2c rate law is also true of the maximum freight rate law.

The state has figured that the money collected by the railroads in violation of these laws since they were enacted amounts to more than $17,000,000.

L. A. Robinson reports the sale of the Lee Tubbs place in the northwest part of the city to W. D. Kincannon. Frank Bowles is now residing on the Dillard old place where Mr. Kincannon vacated.

Waiter W. Davis traffic agent for the Snyder, Roscoe and Pacific Railway was here Monday.

LEGISLATURE ASKED TO HELP

Governor and Superintendent of Public Buildings Would Oust Daughters

Austin, Tex., July 12.—In support of their fight to retain the large rooms in the capitol building now used by them for a chapter room and historical museum, the Daughters of the Confederacy have prepared a memorial to the Legislature setting forth their position. A copy of the memorial will be sent to each of the house and Senate.

The Governor and State Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds sought to oust the Daughters and place them in a smaller room, but they secured an injunction and won a second time in the appellate court. The case is to be appealed to the Supreme Court. The large room is needed for the Insurance Commission.

In their memorial the Daughters give a history of the controversy and say: "Will not the Legislature set aside permanently and forever this one room in the State Capitol in sacred memory of the 90,000 men that Texas furnished to the Confederacy, there to preserve the hallowed relics of those men as object lessons which no page in history can adequately portray? We earnestly hope that the Legislature will rise up and say that these relics shall rest where they are and not be destroyed, even to make room for a little more business."

T. K. Brazell, of Post is working in the Commercial Barber Shop for a few days in the place of his son who attended the trial of the state vs H. M. Holbrook now in progress at Post City.

J. C. Savini, Texas' champion wrestler was here from Dallas Monday.

Albert Taylor went to Amarillo Tuesday.

BOND ISSUANCE NOT SAFE

Legislature Should Not be Given Unlimited Power to Increase Debt Says A. B. Wood

Readers of the News have now had opportunity to acquaint themselves with the argument advanced in support of the constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to issue bonds without limit to erect state buildings. This argument is fully set out in the letters of Gov. Colquitt and speeches of President Mezes of the State University and State Superintendent Bralley, who advocate the amendment because of the many meritorious purposes for which the money thus raised through bond issues by the State is to be applied, and especially the great need of it for improving the several state educational institutions, including the great university at Austin.

I heartily indorse and would gladly encourage every movement toward the improvement and development of each educational institution, and particularly the university. I believe too much money cannot be expended for education, and that the state is exceedingly backward in not long since providing a sufficient fund to fully equip these institutions of learning and in making the State University at Austin indeed a "university of the first class," second to none in the entire country. Our young men are entitled to the highest development in education; they are the equals of any in native ingenuity; they should also be as finished scholars when graduated from our institutions of higher learning. But we are told by those competent to speak that other young men of other States have superior educational advantages. This is an intolerable condition and should be remedied. If the legislature will stipulate the amount of bonds desired for the university at Austin, and the other institutions, be it large or small, I believe that 90 per cent of the voters will authorize the necessary issues. This is quite different from leaving the matter entirely with the legislature.

Some say a bond issue is necessary to rebuild our penitentiaries. Perhaps so. But if the bonds are necessary, for this or any other purpose, the people should be told the exact amount of money needed and the exact purposes to which it will be applied.

proportions; for it is a safe prediction that while the power exists the legislature will continually exercise it.

The matter is squarely before the people.

The state is now under a heavy bond debt, created during the E. J. Davis administration of antebellum days, and as far as I can learn, not a dollar of the principal has been paid, but twice the amount of the debt has been paid out in interest. With the continual increase of state debt that will follow the grant to the legislature of unrestrained power to issue bonds, the state may soon find itself hopelessly involved. The subject justifies very serious consideration before one decides to vote for this amendment.

There can be no harm in delay until another constitutional amendment can be submitted to the voters, specifically authorizing a bond issue of a fixed sum and for a specified purpose.—A. B. Wood, in Dallas News.

THE POSSIBILITIES OF LUBBOCK

When one begins to think and talk of the possibilities of this county, he might close his eyes and dream dreams of roseate hue. When we read some of the literature which is sent out from some cities, we are tempted to think that this is what the writers of the literature did. But extravagant dreams are not only useless, but extremely harmful. We should not get into the habit of dreaming, its bad for moral digestion, and bad for Lubbock. What we want is the facts. And while it is more difficult to get the facts than it is to dream them yet they are the best for us.

There are many possibilities before Lubbock. Lubbock can either go forward or backward. There is no such thing as standing still. He who stands still is lost. We are going forward! When this new line, the "cut-off" is complete, Lubbock will have through train service, with a number of additional trains. This means hundreds more people seeing our country. Thousands of passengers will travel to and from California. This isn't much, but it will open the eyes of many who think that this country is a desert wilderness, fit only for the range.

We have the soil, as fertile as we could wish. It is being proven this year that we can raise the crops when the land is properly tilled—even without irrigation. One only has to visit some of the farms around here, to know that. Despite the dry years just past many of these farmers are prosperous.

We have the water, that is easily seen by a visit to the Wortham well. We know that we have the climate. Thus we have three elements which should contribute to the success of Lubbock. There is just one other element necessary for that success—the human element, for the Divine element, will always be back of the human. Thus the only danger of failure is in the human element. We need farmers who will farm, men who will take this land, utilize the climate and the water to its best advantage. When we get plenty of such, the success of Lubbock is assured.

Another asset, is a live up-to-date city, with a good number of live business men. These men are willing and anxious to develop this country.

These advantages ought to bring our country to the front, and they will.

We have the possibility of a new railroad from the east, which will give us still better connections. There are other roads aiming our way. So we have the possibility of being the largest distributing point on the plains.

With the increase of cotton acreage, we will need an oil mill. This is another possibility.

There are many other possibilities for Lubbock, and they will become realities, but only through work, and hard work at that. We may grow without much effort, like a boy without a home, or a parent to guide him. But we will grow, if the proper effort is made, that is a certainty.

Another valuable asset to our community is the women, as exemplified in the Civic League and Mothers' Club, with their progressive spirit. And the work that they are doing in cleaning up the city, in beautifying the schoolhouse and grounds is an evidence of the right spirit, and a prophesy of better things for Lubbock. GEO. W. BRIGGS, Secretary.

CUT THE WEEDS NOW

Those Appointed Foremen For the Weed Cutting Campaign Should Have Their Forces Organized

Two weeks ago there appeared a list of names that the City Council had selected to oversee the cutting of weeds in the city, designating the 18th of July as the time that a mighty army of people with hoe and rake is to slay the weeds, and thereby clean up the town.

This is the week announced for the attack, and already many have cut the weeds off of their own premises, and we believe that when the date has rolled around for the big battle that there will be but few weeds left standing.

The foremen should have their forces organized however, and be ready for the hour to begin, which has been named at four o'clock Friday, July 18. It is expected that the work begin at this time, but it is hoped that it will not cease till all the weeds have been cut. Get the issue of the Avalanche, published on July 3rd, and you will find the work set out for you.

THE PIT SILO

Agricultural Commissioner with the Rock Island Tells how to Make In-expensive and Valuable Silos

(H. M. Cottrell, Agricultural Commissioner of Rock Island Lines.)

Every dry land farmer should get a silo this year. If he cannot afford to buy one, he should make a pit silo and cement the earth walls. If he cannot afford the cement, he can dig a round, deep hole and fill it without plastering. The silage will keep just as well, though the hole will cave in after the silage has been taken out.

A. C. Tinsley, Seibert, Colorado, dug a round hole 7 feet across and 18 feet deep. Nine sacks of cement costing $5.05 were used in plastering the walls. He got $100 more for the cream from his cows than when he fed dry feed. M. E. Roberts, Seibert, made a pit silo 8 feet across and 28 feet deep. Fifteen sacks of cement were used, costing $8.25. The silage fed 16 cows, that were giving milk through the winter. A 11-inch cutter cost $25 and was run with a 4-1-2 horse power gasoline engine. He charged his neighbors 30 cents a ton for cutting. E. Wray, of Norton, Kansas, made two pit silos 7 feet across and 25 feet deep. He used 20 sacks of cement that cost $8.00. It took 17 days' labor for one man to dig and plaster both silos. The silage fed 7 head of cattle and two horses 10 months.

The man with beef cattle needs a silo tully as much as the man milking cows. A herd of beef cattle roughed through will average a loss in weight of 200 pounds per head through the winter. The same herd fed silage will make an average gain of 100 pounds a head between fall and spring. The pit silo can be built in any soil that is dry and not sand. It takes about three tons of silage for each animal for the winter and one and a quarter tons per head for fattening steers.

The capacity is as follows:

Diameter feet	Depth feet	Capacity tons
12	25	38
14	25	71
14	32	166

Drive a rod in the ground exactly where the center of the silo is to be. Take a string and a spike and with the rod as a center scratch a circle on the exact size you want the inside of the silo to be. Mark another circle using a string one foot longer. Dig out the dirt between these two circles to a depth of two feet, taking care to make the inside line smooth and perpendicular. Fill this with concrete, using one part of cement to six parts of sharp, clean sand. This makes a collar for the silo.

After the collar sets, start on the inside of it, dig down, keeping the walls smooth and perpendicular. Any bulge or hollow make an air space that causes spoiled silage.

Dig down six feet at a time and then plaster the walls. This saves all expense for scaffolding. Plaster the earth walls one half to three-fourths of an inch thick with a mixture made of one part cement to two parts sharp, clean sand. Wet the earth before putting on the plaster and dampen the plaster every day for a week. Plaster that dries slowly is tough.

The Kansas Agricultural College has shown that pound for pound for either beef or dairy cattle, silage from corn, kaffir and cane have the same feeding value, provided each is cut at the right stage. Corn should be cut when the ears are denting. Kaffir and cane should be cut when the seeds are ripe but the stalk still full of sap.

THIS IS SILO MONTH

This is a good month to begin building that silo, and we will be pleased to furnish you estimates on any size that you wish to build. You will be sure to want one to save that big feed crop that you have such fine prospects for.

THE COMMON SENSE SILO IS THE TESTED AND TRIED KIND

You will find them in this county, and where you find them you find a satisfied owner. We have literature that will give you all the information you desire about this silo, and will be pleased to mail you a copy of our Common Sense Silo book, or call at our office and we will explain everything you do not understand about it.

ALFALFA LUMBER COMPANY

OUR SCHOOL GROUNDS

Improvements Have Been Made, But There Remains Much Work Yet to Do

The new cement walks on the school ground makes a great improvement and the building has been overhauled, and is looking fine, now the next thing to do is to get busy and clean off the grounds. Get the rocks off the surface of the earth and haul them away. There is considerable work to be done to make things attractive and should by all means be done before the school opens, and that date is only about six weeks off now.

We notice too that there are two roads being made angling across the grounds by wagons being driven across and we believe this should be stopped at once as it will result in two great ugly ditches being washed out by the rains.

As there can be nothing done without someone to take the lead, we suggest that the Mother's Club continue their

the Pecos country have been anxious to have out of the way for several years. For doing so he received a cash reward of $400.

The animal was so large and vicious that he could pull down a horse with the ease other lobos pulled down steer yearlings. His hunger caused him to kill at least three large animals a week.

Popular Talks on Law

By Walter K. Towers, A. B., J. D., of the Mich. Bar

THE RIGHT OF SELF DEFENSE

John Rice fell into a dispute with Loren Devlin which rose to a point where Rice rushed upon Devlin and struck at him, though he failed to touch him. Thus assaulted Devlin took vigorous action and proceeded to pound Rice into a state of insensibility. The public prosecutor proceeded against Devlin in a criminal action for assault and battery, and he was found guilty and fined. Rice also sued Devlin in a civil action for assault and battery and recovered damages. Devlin claimed that he had acted only in self defense.

While there is a right of self defense recognized by law it is not broad enough to cover an action such as Devlin's. One whose person is assaulted may defend himself; but in defending you don't want to take any chances with untried building materials when you come to building a home. There's no use of experimenting. Lumber is the one building material that has stood the test of years. Its durability is known and the cost of a frame structure can be figured almost to a cent. We do it every day for people who have a specified amount of money to put into a home; and for beauty, long wear and a satisfactory sanitary abode, it's mighty hard to get anything to beat a frame house. With the lumber we handle these days—smoothly finished and cut to suitable lengths—a lot of the carpenter's hand labor is saved—and all this must be figured in when it comes to building. Maybe we can help you—let's talk it over.

himself he may not use more force than is reasonably necessary under the circumstances. If you are assaulted you may strike back, but you may not strike back more vigorously than is necessary to defend your person from the threatened attack. In this case Devlin was justified in resisting Rice. Rice having been resisted, and having ceased to attack, however, Devlin was not justified in continuing further. In doing so he became the assailant, and his further action was a new assault and battery for which he was liable both in a civil suit for damages and in a criminal action. The law does not require that the vigor of the defense be absolutely adjusted to the vigor of the attack, since it recognizes that this is not always possible of accurate determination. It is required, however, that the defender do not step beyond the bounds of reason in his acts of defense.

As the New York Court has remarked:
 "Self defense is a primary law of nature, and it is an excuse for breaches of the peace, and even for homicide itself. But care must be taken that the resistance does not exceed the bounds of mere defense, prevention, or recovery, so as to become vindictive; for then the defender would himself become the aggressor. The force used must not exceed the necessity of the case."

To justify the use of force on the ground that it was in self defense there must have been an actual attempt to offer bodily harm. The attack resisted must be apparently real. Self defense may not be claimed when the force was exerted after the danger of attack had passed. The threatened assault having passed, there is no longer any need for self defense.

The means that a person may take in his own defense must depend, of course, upon the particular danger which threatens. A degree of force may be used in self defense equal to the degree of force with which the defender is attacked. Killing an assailant may even become justifiable by way of self defense, especially where he attacks with a deadly weapon.

O'Malley and Grady had had many quarrels and finally one arose which was particularly bitter. Grady vigorously threatened to kill his adversary on sight. Later in the day they met and Grady at once assaulted O'Malley with a large club dealing him several serious blows about the head. Unable to ward off these blows O'Malley drew his pistol and fired, killing Grady. He was tried on a charge of manslaughter, but held not guilty, the jury finding that he had acted in reasonable self defense.

As a general rule one may kill an assailant when it is apparently necessary in order to save himself from death or great bodily harm, while in the midst of a sudden combat which he has not himself provoked. Generally speaking, the law requires that the person attacked retreat, if possible, before he may kill an assailant and claim self defense as a jurisdiction. The person attacked need not retreat if to do so would place him in a more precarious position, but he must retreat even though to do so would not apparently improve his position. There are some states in which the courts hold that a person attacked may stand his ground under practically all circumstances, but such a rule is rather exceptional.

It is probably a familiar rule that a person attacked need not retreat farther than his own premises. One attacked in his own home, or in his own office is under no obligation to retreat, but may stand his ground, no matter how threatening the attack, and while so standing his ground may kill his assailant if necessary to save his own life or to avoid great bodily harm, or the commission of a felon within his premises.

One may not only defend his own person with the degree of force necessary to resist the attack, but he may defend the persons of the members of his family as well. Thus a father may defend a son, and a son his father. A master may also defend his servant, and vice versa the servant his master.

The right of defense extends to property as well. One may defend the property which he lawfully has in his possession. The property need not be his own it is enough that he has it rightfully within his custody. Jenkins rented a horse from Dale's livery. While riding on the horse Jewett stopped him and demanded the horse. Jewett was a creditor of Dale's and said that the debt being long overdue he intended to enforce his rights. He endeavored to take the horse away from Jenkins by force. Jenkins resisted with force and succeeded in retaining possession of the horse. Jewett sued Jenkins for assault and battery for his use of force in resisting the effort to secure the horse. The court ruled that Jenkins was justified in defending the property rightfully within his possession and having used no greater force than necessary in its defense was not liable to Jewett, whom he had in no way wronged.

In defending ones own premises from invasion there are certain requirements if the right of self defense is to be exercised. One may not forcibly eject another from his premises merely because he is a trespasser. The trespasser must first be ordered to depart, and only in the event that he refuses may force be used to eject him. The trespasser must first be given the opportunity to depart peaceably. If the trespasser has come upon the premises violently or contrary to express command of the owner he may be resisted and ejected without a demand that he depart. In neither case, however, may more force than is necessary be used for the removal of the trespasser, else the right of defense will be exceeded.

There are certain other legal justifications for the application of force in a manner that would otherwise amount to assault and battery. Certain individuals have authority over others of a nature which permits the use of force as a means of punishment or correction. The parents has the right to give moderate chastisement to a minor child without being guilty of assault and battery. So, too, a guardian standing in the place of a parent may punish a child in his care. An officer in charge of a public institution usually has the right to enforce his authority by moderate chastisement. Generally a master has no right to chastise his servant, but the master of a ship, being in an unusual position, may enforce his authority by the use of force on the persons of his subordinates.

One is justified in applying force to one who is engaged in criminal conduct, for the purpose of deterring him. One who notices another who is unconsciously in an exposed or dangerous position, and who applies force to that person to rescue him is justified. The collisions and conflicts which occur between participants in the course of various games are not generally viewed as assaults and batteries. If a player goes beyond the rules of the game and checks or strikes another, violently and in a manner not permitted by the rules, it amounts to an assault and battery. Prize fights are viewed as somewhat exceptional and participants are held guilty of assault and battery though both consented. Some peculiar defenses have been raised in assault and battery cases. One is disclosed by the following quotation from the opinion of a California judge: "If a strong man has a weak one in his power, and gives his victim the choice of being kicked or cuffed, he cannot defend the battery on the ground that the injured man consented." The average person, of peaceable inclinations, will not go far wrong in the daily affairs of life if he remembers that force is not to be exerted against another even by way of defense except in circumstances of obvious necessity. ### POST CITY LADY KILLED

Dead Body is Found in an Alley in Angleton Was Stabbed to Death

Angleton, July 10.—The murdered body of Mrs. John Seitz of Post, Texas, was found in an alleyway this morning after an all night search for her. There were four stab wounds in her chest, any one of which, it is said, would have proved fatal. Her hat, shoes and handbag were missing.

Unmistakable evidence points to the commission of the murder elsewhere and the depositing of the body where it was found.

Mrs. Seitz arrived here a month ago for her health and secured lodging with a Mrs. Turner.

WAS REFINED WOMAN

Yesterday afternoon at five o'clock she left her boarding place to go for the mail and later she was seen about the street doing some shopping. Failing to return shortly after dark, search was begun, but without avail until this morning.

Mrs. Seitz' husband arrived by train at 10 o'clock last night, some hours after she disappeared, and joined in the search.

Physicians announced this morning that evidence exists showing she also had been attacked.

Mrs. Seitz was about 30 years of age, a woman of refinement, retiring in disposition and had but few visitors. She was unusually cheerful yesterday, it is said, over the expected coming of her husband, who had wired her en route.

HUSBAND IS PROSTRATED. Mr. Seitz is prostrated and utterly unable to throw any light upon the tragic fate of his wife.

Physicians also announce the finding of many bruises on Mrs. Seitz' body in addition to the fatal stabs, which, they say, were made apparently with a dirk or a stiletto. Her clothing was torn, giving evidence of a struggle.

The alleyway in which the body was found is within a block of Mrs. Seitz' boarding house. It is grown up with trifoliata hedge and is not in the pathway it is said she would naturally have taken on returning from her visit to the business section.

METHODIST REVIVAL CLOSED

Sunday Night Service Ended the Series of Sermons by Rev. Meador

After two weeks, which included three Sundays the revival meeting conducted by the Methodist church closed with the service Sunday night. Rev. C. B. Meador, conference evangelist, of Stamford did the preaching and he put forth much effort in the meeting and preached magnificently. There were good crowds at nearly every service and a number of conversions resulted from the meeting. The Methodist church was strengthened by seventeen joining the last service of the meeting. The other denominations will receive additions also. It was a good meeting. The several churches co-operated nicely and this fact is greatly appreciated by the members of the Methodist church and the pastor.

The east side Christian people are now in the midst of a revival meeting and the Nazarene church will begin their 10 days meeting Saturday night while the Baptist will begin their meeting the second Sunday in August.

Sheriffs to Corpus in 1914

The annual convention of the Sheriffs Association of Texas came to an end Thursday afternoon with the selection of Corpus Christi as the next meeting place and the election of officers for the ensuing term. Burk bought next to the corner on the northeast side of the square, while Julian M. Bassett bought the corner lot of Barney Johnson. Prof Burk informs us that he expects to build a brick on his lot as soon as he can arrange some other interest and make the proper arrangement. Julian Bassett states that he will build a brick on the corner while the C B Live Stock Company will build on south of Burk's lot and then Bill Lamar will build adjoining that.

Architect, B. W. Kieran, of Lubbock, and Contractor S. Goodrum, of the same city were in Crosbyton the first of the week and they gave out the information that work would be commenced soon on the new court house and, would be pushed as fast as possible. The building they say will be one of the most beautiful on the Plains and will be fire proof throughout and will be a credit to Crosby county. The information was given out by Mr. Goodrum that he expects to work something like sixty men on this job and the work will run through several months and in the meantime it is expected that Crosbyton will do wonderful developing.

YOAKUM COUNTY

Yoakum County News:

Walter Potts was in town Wednesday for the first time since last December. He has been working for T. C. Ivey since last fall and is still in his employ. Walter had charge of a large bunch of cattle on feed near Tahoka during the winter, and he is now looking after 1200 head which Mr. Ivey has in a pasture near Tatum, in New Mexico.

Messrs. Cunningham, of Terry county, passed through Plains Thursday with their herd of sheep, numbering about 1500, which they were moving from their New Mexico range to their home ranch.

GROWTH OF THE LANGUAGE

Names of Prominent Persons Are Now Commonly Used as Verbs and Nouns.

The growth and change which are inseparable from all living languages cannot fail to interest the student, and a special interest attaches to the incorporation of the names of famous men, the New York Sun observes.

Thus Wellington has come to mean a sort of book; Brougham, a carriage, and Gladstone, appropriately enough, a traveler's bag, as that great man advocated the "bag and baggage" policy which seems likely at length to be adopted.

Other names have been turned into verbs as well as nouns. For instance, the murderer Burke's name is perpetuated in the verb burked; burking and burkism, while in quite recent times Captain Boycott's experiences resulted in the language being enriched by the phrases boycott, boycotter, boycotting, etc.

The most notable case was probably that of the great and good man Rev. T. Bowdler, D. D., who, by publishing a "family" edition of Shakespeare in 1818, added the words "bowdlerize" and "bowdlerism" to our language.

SURE

Stinks—it would be funny if we could see ourselves as others see us. Blinks—it would be much funnier if we knew ourselves as our neighbors know us.

Wrong Diagnosis. "His wife keeps him in hot water all the time." "I noticed he seemed parboiled, but I thought it came from illuminating his system."

The Ross Ensilage Cutter

Much has been said recently about silos and ensilage, and there has been created quite a sentiment in favor of the silo, which is one of the greatest things for this country that has ever been introduced. It is necessary for the owner of the silo to also be the owner of an ensilage cutting machine, and with this knowledge at hand I have sought to secure a machine for this purpose that is recognized as the best, which is the cutters manufactured and guaranteed by the E. W. Ross Company, Springfield, Ohio.

NO. 40 WITH BLOWER AND TRAVELING FEED TABLE

The knife on fly wheel type of Ross Silo Filling Machine with Blower have made a home for themselves with all their users. This is due to the fact that they possess the required strength and features to enable them to accomplish the work of filling silos in a way that brings comment from all. Realizing the fact that users of this class of goods expect more and more each year in the line of quality and quantity of work, we have added, for 1913, important features as described in the following, namely: Four sided reversible steel cutting plate, positive tension to the feeding rolls, special knife adjustment, self-aligning and adjustable main shaft bearings and roller shaft bearings, extra bearings for main shaft, special balanced main frame, etc.

We ask buyers to read the description of this line of Ross Machines very carefully and make any comparison they care to, and the result will be "I want a Ross."

We claim large capacity, excessive strength, simplicity and modern construction, ease in feeding, light running and in general, the BEST Ensilage Cutter on the market today of this type.

We are desirous of proving to the users of ensilage cutters that the Ross No. 40 machine is in a class by itself. We do not ask or want settlement until we prove the correctness of every claim made by us for the Ross Machines.

Main Frame

The principal part of a machine of any kind is the main frame to which all parts are attached. The Ross Frame is angle steel (not cast iron). We do not use cast angle iron to join at corners, but we make joints with the angle steel pieces themselves. No parts to work or shake loose. Hot rivets are used which guarantee perfect and rigid connection. Take the time to study this construction and be convinced of its mechanical worth. We have tested the use of wood and cast iron Main Frames with disastrous results to the buyer, and while it costs more to make it the Ross Way, we are able, by furnishing the steel frame, to maintain our reputation as practical and original manufacturers of Silo Filling Machinery.

Main Shaft and Bearings

As this is also one of the important points of a good machine, extra care has been devoted to getting the STEEL main shafts more than amply large to stand the work. Please notice that we use three main bearings. These bearings are self-aligning and adjustable, which means no friction to overcome, and main shaft easily and practically lined up. Well babbitted with frictionless metal.

Four Sided Steel Shear Plate With Comb Bar Attachment

The secret of doing good work is to have the proper shear plate. We use a steel plate with four cutting edges, which is readily changed. The Ross Shear Plate will last as long as four of the other kind, and you do not have to take the machine apart to make the change. In connection with the Shear Plate we use the Comb bar, which keeps the feeding rolls clear from wrapping of stalks or leaves and in that way larger capacity and ease in feeding is maintained.

Arrangement for Starting, Stopping and Reversing Feed Rolls

Notice its simplicity, which means no wear-out to it and no breakage. Positive and quick acting.

Feed Rollers

The capacity of a Silo Filling Machine is not obtained by the size of the opening, but by having Feed Rollers that will take hold of the material without slipping. The

Special Claims for the Ross No. 40 Silo Filling Machine

When comparing this line of Ross machines, don't forget the following: Simple in construction, equipped with every feature of importance, strongly built, require less power per ton of capacity than all others. Capacity guaranteed to be larger than others operated by same amount of power. Positive feeding device with reverse mechanism. Extra heavy re-enforced steel blower casing, indestructible Blowing and Cutting apparatus. Four sided steel cutting plate. Detachable traveling feed table with extra side feed table. STEEL MAIN FRAME instead of cast iron frame, self-aligning bearings, heavy main shafts, leather covered pulleys, combination toothed and fluted feed rollers with comb bar. Furnished with two or four knives as ordered. Patented shredder blades can be furnished and above all we guarantee these machines to be free from defects.

"Never Had Silage Cut Better"

The Ross Ensilage Cutter No. 40, which we purchased of you last September works very fine. Never had silage cut better. It is all right in every way. It is light running, easily adjusted, quickly set up, and easy to feed. No hard work feeding the Ross Cutter. March 26th, 1913. JOS. N. WARD, Wolcott, N. Y.

"Surprised With Its Capacity"

The Cutter just did get here in time for me to fill silo. Like it fine. I was afraid the No. 40 would be slow, but it kept one man busy to put corn to it as fast as it would take it. Please find enclosed check. S. R. HEAD, R. F. D. No. 2, Hannibal, Mo.

How to Build Up or Tear Down This Community.

By J. O. Lewis

THE MENACE OF THE MAIL ORDER HOUSES

That the mail order houses in the large cities have become a menace to the smaller cities, towns and communities is proved by the large patronage they enjoy from all over the entire country and further substantiated by the number of packages carried by transportation companies, which under the law must bear the name or some mark of identification by which the shipper is known.

The mail order business got its inception from men who made a habit of buying up secondhand goods, stocks from bankrupt firms and fire damaged or salvage goods from fire losses. To these were added goods that were culled by manufacturers and graded seconds and thirds, etc.

These were shrewd business men, men who believed in advertising, and, realizing the possibilities of advertising, commenced their business entirely along these lines, and to prove the success of advertising no better evidence could possibly be offered than the fact that every weekly paper—farm, industrial, social or religious—carries their advertisements and also that they send out catalogues of enormous sizes, beautifully illustrated and embellished, costing hundreds of thousands of dollars to publish. Today they have grown to such enormous size that they own and control factories, while they contract to sell the entire output of other factories.

However, the plants they control and operate manufacture what is termed in commercial parlance as competitive goods—something that every merchant can sell at a low price to meet the demands for cheap merchandise.

But as a standard and high class goods made by large and reliable firms you never see these goods advertised by mail order houses, or if you do the price is just the same as fixed by the manufacturers for all dealers.

Therefore when one orders articles of the low priced and cheaper kinds he is sure to get just what he buys—cheaply made goods and seconds and no cheaper than he can buy right at home when freight charges, money order fees and postage are added.

Thousands of dollars annually are being sent to these mail order houses from this vicinity, thus depriving the home merchant of his rightful patronage.

And yet, no matter how much the merchant may be dependent on the patronage of members of his community, he is supposed to give and to aid in every work undertaken for the material betterment of his town, and he does, being often coerced into giving by the demands of his customers, fearing to offend them because of fear of loss of patronage.

There can be no question but that all of our people are in duty bound to patronize home merchants. To them you owe allegiance and support, and I now ask you candidly, are you giving it to them?

If you are buying goods out of your home town—more particularly from mail order houses and merchants in other cities—I say to you that you are undermining the home merchant and likewise the very foundation of your own well being. Every dime that you send to a mail order house makes that much harder the success of your home merchant and likewise retards the growth of your town. The money you send to mail order houses is taken entirely out of local circulation—is gone forever.

Whereas, if you spend it with a home merchant he in turn will spend it with some one else—perhaps pay it back to your father, your son or brother, sister or daughter as salary, and thus it comes back into the family, doing a universal good.

That many of our home people are ordering goods from mail order houses is a well known fact. One has but to visit the depots and express office to find therein daily many packages addressed to them and likewise bearing the name or address of certain mail order houses. These people are known to our merchants and that's a fact. These packages consist of clothing, dry goods, groceries, drugs, toilet articles, furniture, hardware, carpenters' tools, farm implements and what not. All of which could be purchased from your own home merchants, quality considered, freight charges added and time in transportation, just as cheaply as from any mail order house in the country.

Supposing the merchants should band themselves together and refuse credit to those who patronize these mail order houses and further refuse to employ members of families who do this or refuse to buy the wares of these people? Wouldn't they find living mighty hard?

McCarty Coming

A. J. McCarty, one of the best known Christian preachers in Texas, began a protracted meeting at Plainview last Friday night. Bro. McCarty is an able man, and is doing some splendid preaching. He is well known in Lockney, having held meetings here in the past. Those of the Christian faith would be amply paid in going to Plainview and hearing him. —Lockney Beacon.

Mr. McCarty is scheduled to be in Lubbock by the end of this week to assist in the meeting now in progress.

Baptist Women Meet

The annual meeting of the Baptist women of the Northwest Texas District is in session at Plainview today and we notice Mesdames L. T. Grumbles and S. A. Richmond, of Lubbock, are each assigned a part on the program.

Judge John P. Slaton, of Hereford, a brother of O. L. Slaton president of the Lubbock State Bank of this city was here Monday looking after business matters and was the guest of his brother's family, Mrs. O. L. Slaton and children returned home with him by auto and will visit in Hereford for a few days.

Resolutions of Sympathy

Whereas, it has pleased the divine Father to call to his eternal home our beloved former pastor and co-laborer, Rev. John A. Arbuckle, therefore be it resolved by the Baptist Ladies' Aid Society, of Lubbock, that we express our deepest sympathy for the bereaved wife and children. They have lost a true and devoted husband and a tender and affectionate father. May the God of all grace sustain and comfort them and help them to realize that the separation is just for a while. We feel personally a sad loss, yet his life and noble deeds linger with us. He was ever ready with his kind words of counsel and cheer to help us on to nobler service. He was a loving, faithful pastor and he lived such a life as shall ever call us on to greater faithfulness and devotion to our Master whom he loved and served so well. Let us submit to Him that presides over all and labor on till He bids us join the redeemed host gone on before. Then we shall see those with whom we have labored and loved and lost but for a while. Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, recorded in our minutes and sent to the Baptist Standard and county paper for publication.

Littlefield Mail Service

Littlefield, Lamb county, Texas, July 15, 1913. The supply office of the Littlefield postoffice is being changed with today from Bartonsite to Abernathy. Bartonsite has been the supply office since the establishment of this office but on account of a recent change of the star route between there and Hale Center it is necessary to make the change to Abernathy, which route is to be a star route as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made by the department. This gives Littlefield daily mail, the mail carrier making connection with the north and south bound trains each day at Abernathy. George M. Plummer is the carrier.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY AUXILIARY NOTES

While business was dispatched systematically and rapidly we found it necessary to extend our time beyond the usual hour last Monday.

Most interesting reports were given by Mesdames Ratliff and Boerner of the Annual Meeting. The enthusiasm and inspiration brought back by these ladies will be a blessing to us through all the year.

Mesdames Settle and King were most cordially welcomed to our ranks.

A calling contest with Mesdames Lane and O'Neal as captains is to be one of the interesting features of this quarter. Visits to sick and strangers are the only ones to be counted in the contest.

A committee interested in the social life of our young people is to be appointed next Monday afternoon at the devotional meeting.

The following is the program for Monday, July 21, at 4 p. m.: Study of the Council Meeting.

Watch word.

IT IS TIME WE SHOULD KNOW

That our obligation abroad is five times as great as at home in point of numbers, and a thousand times as great in point of need. Yet we invest in Church work at home fourteen times as much money and twenty times as many men as we send abroad. Our Savior said: "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

That nine physicians and three trained nurses comprise our entire medical force in our six great mission fields. This is one medical missionary to each 3,300,000 people. In the same ratio Texas would have only one physician or nurse, and the entire United States less than thirty.—Selected.

Closing remarks.

NOTICE

The annual protracted meeting of the Pentacostal church of the Nazarene will begin July the 19th and continue for 10 days. The Rev. H. B. Lewis, of Oklahoma, will do most of the preaching—good preacher come and hear him. Everybody invited. Let all Christians come praying for a good revival on bible lines. We want the Holy Ghost to lead all the services.

THE NEW SCHOOL WALKS

Mothers Club is Greatly Pleased With Them—a Great Improvement

The Mothers Club met last Monday afternoon in the high school building and along other lines of work they talked of the new cement walks recently completed around the school building and they are delighted with them. The Mothers Club is doing a splendid work and they deserve the hearty co-operation of all the people of our town. When they first organized and began to suggest this and that as a means of improvements, they met with many discouragements but they had "set their heads" to do something and they have indeed accomplished a great deal in the way of improvements on the grounds. The new walks are finished and are excellent. The trees set out last fall are all living and doing nicely and they are now considering how they can get the rocks and sandburrs off the play grounds before the next term of school begins.

Everybody interested in the school should see that they do something toward helping in the matter. It might be a good idea to name a day for the parents and children to meet at the school building and do this work. It could all be done in less than a day if every family who patronizes the school would take an active part in the work.

We hope the Mothers Club will not let us rest till this work is properly taken care of.

You can see a nice bath in the Richmond tank south of town for 25c. J. E. McPherson 1-1t.

Sam Goodrum made a business trip to Crosbyton Wednesday to look after matters pertaining to the construction of the new court house.

Dr. H. K. Riddle of Rockdale, was here Monday looking after business affairs.

NEW BROADWAY HOME

Fred Spikes has let Contract for New Residence. A. M. Hensley Successful Bidder

Henry Mount the local architect, informs us that the contract was let Wednesday afternoon for the residence of Fred Spikes.

This modern residence will be built on Broadway just across the east line of the Overton addition. A. M. Hensley was the successful bidder for the carpenter work and will begin on this building right soon.

It is to be a two story building with eight rooms bath rooms halls and closets, etc., making it in every way a strictly modern building, and when completed will be one of the neatest and nicest homes in the city.

Mr. Mount when seen by the Avalanche man stated that this building was in every respect in keeping with a greater Lubbock.

Notice of Disolution

We take this method of notifying our friends and customers that the Dickinson & Russell Com. Co. was dissolved on the 1st day of July 1913, W. K. Dickinson, Sr., retiring from the business and Wm. G. Russell continuing the business and we heartily thank our friends and customers for the patronage we have enjoyed while together in the commission business and will say that Wm. G. Russell is now located in the First National Bank where he is prepared to answer inquiries and look after the needs and wants of our old customers and as many of the new ones as might call on him.

Very respectfully,
W. K. DICKINSON, SR.
