AT THE BOTTOM

The Journal lays no claims toward exceptional farsightedness nor skilled prognostications. Yet, for several months past it has continued to stabilize itself...

True, there was less business transacted during the month of June, but wholesale prices of commodities, with the exception of farm products, remained pretty well on the new level...

Now comes a farmer from San Jose, California, B. R. Steffman by name, and declares that an old cow that has no sense of danger from an approaching automobile traveling at the rate of 40 miles per hour...

THE FIRST BALE OF COTTON HAS BEEN GINNED!

—And this store has a fine assortment of Groceries and Provisions needed for the growers and cotton pickers of the hundreds of other bales of cotton to be picked and ginned in Bailey county this fall.

DON'T PAY RENT! HAVE A FARM OF YOUR OWN!

As cheap as good land is in Bailey county, and as reasonable as the terms of purchase are, there is scarcely any reason for anyone going without a farm home of their own, if they want one.

soothing influence of melody, contentedly chewing his cud, while the quantity of milk given is considerably increased. Incidentally, the music has a favorable impression upon the milking men, who also do their work more quickly and more quietly.

LET'S CUT WEEDS

Along with the super-fine crops grown by the farmers around Muleshoe, the town has also demonstrated its ability in the growing of an immense crop of weeds. They are the edible, not ornamental, so why not let's get rid of them!

Jaunty Journalettes

One reason it takes some Muleshoe women longer to dress than others is because they have to slow down for the curves.

It appears that for some drivers around Muleshoe, not even four wheel brakes are sufficient.

Our advice to every married man in Muleshoe is to give his wife her own way. Then you'll have saved her the trouble of taking it.

It's a pretty safe bet that when a Muleshoe woman winds up by saying, "Now, don't tell anybody," that she hasn't been complimenting anyone.

Radio dealers never intended for a few machines to serve an entire town, yet there are a few Muleshoe owners who have not yet realized that their outfits are about as bad as the toothache for keeping some of their neighbors up late at night...

State Man To Attend Field Meet At Pool Farm, Thurs. Sep. 25

A Field Day is to be held at the Pool Seed farm, south of Muleshoe, Thursday September 25, according to announcement made by Fred S. Reynolds, county farm agent. E. A. Miller, agronomist from A. & M. college, will have charge of the demonstrations during the day. One of the features will be the discussing of breeding and producing pure bred seed, also the advantages gained by treating seed of various kinds against incurring diseases. Several fields will be examined during the course of the day, and demonstrations clearly explained. All farmers throughout the county are urged to attend, and will find the instructions given by Prof. Miller of great value to them, Reynolds said. NO DUCKS WANTED The editor of a poultry journal received a letter from a woman reader. It read: "How long should a hen remain on the eggs?" The editor replied: "Three weeks for chickens and four weeks for ducks." Three weeks passed and the editor again received a letter from the reader "Thank you very much for your kind advice," it read. "The hen remained on the eggs for three weeks and there were no chickens hatched, and as I did not care for ducks, I took her off the nest and sold the eggs."—Exchange. Old Vegetation The yew trees located in the historic region Loch Rannoch and Loch Tay in Scotland are said to be the oldest authentic specimens of vegetation in Scotland.

Old Dobbin Is Among The Former Champs Who Will Make An Attempt At A Come-Back

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Among the come-back attempts of former champions list that of old Dobbin. The agriculture department believes it will be partially successful, basing its opinion upon reports from widely scattered sources which indicate an increasing farm demand for horses and mules. The development adds one more to the hundreds laid upon the littered threshold of the economic depression. Horses and mules eat foodstuffs grown upon the farm. The tractor consumes oil and gasoline and these, however, low in price, ordinarily must be paid for in cash. The farm is over-burdened with a lot of things but cash isn't one of them. The surplus in many crops has soured agriculturists on mass production and they are seeking cheaper, if less efficient, methods of farming. At least, these are the views of the department experts in touch with the situation.

MANY AUTOMOBILE DRIVERS HAVE NOT YET LEARNED THAT THE PEDESTRIAN ALWAYS HAS RIGHT-OF-WAY ON STREET

Any auto driver in Muleshoe who gets an idea he has any legal right to make a pedestrian hurry to the side of a street, is liable to get another idea strongly enforced upon his mind and pocketbook, according to representatives of the State Highway department, who paid a visit to this little city one day last week. The pedestrian always has the right-of-way over automobiles, and a government mail auto, which is generally supposed to have priority, is sometimes superseded by other autos. Fire apparatus has the right-of-way over all other cars, police cars and motor cycles coming next, ambulances third, emergency repair cars of needed utilities such as gas or electric, generally come fourth, with the government mail cars fifth. Outside of city limits the legal standing of mail-carrying autos is rather vague, and probably governed more or less by conditions. It is generally conceded that a parade, and especially a funeral procession can not be broken into by either pedestrians or privately operated automobiles. It is not generally known, yet it is a fact, that jay-walkers have the law against them, the same as anyone driving on the wrong side of the street, while people approaching in cars from the right always have the right-of-way. A person on foot crossing a street in the middle of a block surrenders all his rights of security to the motorist in case of accident, provided the motorist is not exceeding the speed limit and is not intoxicated. In towns where signal lights are used, the pedestrian crossing a street with a red light against him, also loses his ordinary legal protection. In this connection, it is worthy to note that the last Texas legislature passed a law providing a heavy penalty for anyone driving a motor vehicle past a school bus while in the act of loading or unloading school children. The penalty for failure to observe this law is a fine of from $10 to $200, also a jail sentence up to 90 days, may be imposed.

BANK CRITICISM

The daily press is full of communication from people condemning the banks for taking so much precaution in making loans, and demanding that obligations be met. It is the unthoughtful person who makes such criticism. It is true that bank deposits show a healthy situation; but this money does not belong to the banks—it is the property of those customers who trust its safe-keeping to the banks. The state and federal government attempt in every way to see to it that banks are conducted in a safe and sane manner so that those who have money in the banks may get it at any time they need it. It is a compliment to bankers of Northwest Texas that there has been hardly a single bank failure during these trying times when in other states and other sections of Texas there have been many failures. Officers of banks which fail are severely criticised and rightfully so in many instances, for making excessive and unsafe loans. Banks which are safe and remain open to look after the people's business should be complimented rather than criticised for demanding that the money they loan be properly secured and will be repaid when due.—Canyon News.

NOW YOU TELL ONE!

BALTIMORE, Md. The catching of an oyster wearing an upper set of false teeth was reported today to Swepson Earle, state conservation commissioner.

There was nothing wrong with the oyster's natural teeth. The set of artificial ones had been lost a year ago by an oyster tonger. The catch was in the Chester river, near Hell's Point.

Earle said young oysters have a weakness for taking up with anything solid with which they may come in contact while developing under the water's surface. He was told that a year ago an unidentified fisherman had dropped his artificial teeth overboard near Hell's Point and apparently the oyster had attached himself to them.

NO GARDEN—NO JOB

Family men employed by the Ford Motor Company must either become home gardeners or forfeit their positions.

This edict was promulgated by Ford during an inspection trip, as a measure to alleviate temporary business depression.

"Next year," said Ford, "every man with a family who is employed at the plant, will be required to have a garden of sufficient size to supply his family with at least a part of its winter vegetables, or he will find himself out of a job."

Workers who have no available space for gardens will be supplied with land by the company, he said. Ford said that during his two weeks stay with E. C. Kingsford, his Michigan peninsular representative, he had studied the problem considerably and had decided there was no use trying to help a man who did not attempt to help himself by raising foodstuffs.

Ford said the company would provide expert advice on gardening for those employees not familiar with the hoe and weed puller. An investigation will be started soon, he said, to determine which employees needed instruction.

"When the people of our country learn to help themselves, they will be benefited far greater than they would be by unemployment insurance, as is being suggested in Congress to avoid the dole system need never be thought of."

He said he believed if the plan proved successful here, other companies would follow his lead.

Charm in Colored Mortar

Many world-famous brick buildings owe the charm of their exteriors to the color harmony between brick and mortar. This same harmony can be had in the smallest residential buildings.

With the older buildings this was sometimes due to the sand used, and in other cases to the mellowing influence of age. However, either effect may be produced today through the coloring matter in the mortar. Mortar colors cost but little, yet they often contribute as much to the fine appearance of a brick home as any other single item. They are available in a wide range of colors.

Attractive Highways

The rapid building of highways in America for several years was allowed to remain what seemed to be a virtual invitation to a kind of cheap commercialism to make these thoroughfares lanes of ugliness. Indifference and neglect of property owners along the highways contributed to the unsightliness. But the tide, here and there if not generally, is turning in the other direction. Through organized and individual effort, through official and citizen enterprise, a movement for attractiveness is being pushed forward.

Lure of Modernizing

One of the most attractive features of home modernization is that owners can do as little or as much as they desire, never losing sight of the fact that modernizing on either a large or a small scale adds much to the comfort, convenience and value of the house.

Beautifying Roadside

Prizes worth more than $1,000 have been offered for the best five examples of roadside beautification in a contest conducted by the Missouri highway department.

Trusted White Brother

At least one Indian still has faith in the honesty of the potter. A collection of Indian pottery, unattended by a salesman, was spread before the doors of a downtown department store in Phoenix, Ariz., recently. A sign above the collection attested that it was genuine Hopi pottery. And on the sign was the pencilled notation: "Gone to lunch. Will be back."

Female Uniformity

After much measuring and many calculations a European scientist has announced that while women may vary greatly in their individual heights there is a surprising uniformity in the distance between their elbows and the ground.

Here's Opportunity for Highway Associations

Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, in his annual report, reminds the country of a recent amendment to the Federal highway act, which provides that the federal government may pay half the cost of planting trees along the highways. No state yet has taken advantage of this provision, although there is an increasing sentiment in favor of highway shelter and beautification from trees.

Official state co-operation in this plan necessarily will be slow, for the reason the state legislatures will need to act. While the cost is relatively small, there will be states with large obligations and limited revenues that may hesitate to meet at once the federal government's offer. Yet there are few expenditures, aside from those that are imperative, that would go so far in making the states attractive to their own people and to those who go on tour.

Regardless of what states may do, there is an immediate opportunity for the numerous highway associations. Such an association as that formed by the cities, towns and communities along highway 71, which already is committed to putting this highway in order, has on its program, at least tentatively, the planting of trees. Such an association, with comparatively small funds and with the allowance and co-operation of the government, could in a short time plant miles of intelligently selected shade trees. Once the owners of lands along the roads appreciate the importance of scenic attractiveness, there should be a considerable planting on their own account.—Kansas City Star.

Conditions That Make Small Town Desirable

The small city does not lack devotees, but they seldom come from the ranks of big business. When a railroad president declares that it is not size that counts, but livableness, he deserves to be listened to.

President Thomas Powell of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois, in an article in the Nation's Business, lists these community requirements: Pure water, a complete sewer system, well-paved streets, good school, fair taxes, a good public library system, parks, and an "artistic spirit strong enough to keep them clean," a sensible building code, good churches.

"All these advantages," he thinks, "can be obtained more effectively in a small city than in a large one, mainly because there can be greater personal contact between the individual members of the community."

Beauty in Colored Shingles

In addition to the beautiful natural effects which can be obtained with shingles for the walls of a house, there are innumerable opportunities for rich color which create a stain produce. These colors, unlike paint, allow the grain of the wood to show, and they give a surface which is almost ruglike in softness.

A combination of harmonious browns, tans, reddish browns and yellowish browns may be used on the same wall by using shingles which have been dipped into these different tones. This mixing of various shades, if done in moderation, but when good taste is used in the selection many beautiful results are possible.

Roadside Trees

Suitable tree planting along public highways, which greatly enhances their appearance and comfort, is most satisfactorily done by the community as a whole rather than by individuals, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Interest in country highways in the United States has increased rapidly during the last few years. The greater interest in rural roads is due largely to the growing automobile traffic, a large part of which is pleasure driving in which the most beautiful routes are naturally sought.

Saving the Trees

The contractor is usually made responsible for trees and shrubs on the property that it is desired to preserve. This is done by entering appropriate clauses into the general conditions of the contract, by which the contractor is required to box all trees, to avoid piling building materials and rubbish against them, and to preserve shrubs in any suitable manner.

Hail City Planner

We can see limitless possibilities for the city planner. We can see him, or her, bringing order out of chaos, making two beauty spots grow where not even one would grow before.—Exchange.

Money for Home Owners

Life insurance companies are a big factor now for the furnishing of money for home ownership. So are trust companies and mortgage companies.

Parasites Abound

Parasite plants often destroy trees by sucking the sap or tree life from the trunks. Parasite people also ruin communities by receiving its benefits and giving nothing in return.—New Albany Tribune.

Cotton Picking Time

Swinging North Now Reaches This County

Cotton picking gradually grows northward as the staple ripens, and beginning in Bailey county last week, found several in their fields this week and demand for pickers beginning to rapidly grow.

Texas estimated 5,000,000-hale cotton crop this year, will demand a total of 20,000 pickers, costing in round numbers the sum of $18,000,000, including ginning, compressing, railroad hauling and storage labor charges, at the prevailing price of 40 cents per hundred pounds of seed cotton. Five months is the specific time set down as required for gathering the major portion of the crop from the time it begins in the extreme southern part of the state until it ends somewhere in the Panhandle section north of Muleshoe, though there will be some scattering picking a few months after that time.

Just how much imported labor will be needed in this county for gathering the crop is not yet known. However, it is freely stated that much of it will be gathered by the growers themselves, and their families, and there will be considerable swapping of work in various neighborhoods. Suffice it to say, the crop will be harvested as cheaply as possible.

PLANS FOR A ROLL CALL

Mrs. Myrtle Montgomery, field agent for the Red Cross society, from St. Louis, was here Tuesday and, in company with Mrs. C. C. Mardis, chairman for Bailey county, was making arrangements for the roll call membership drive this fall.

The annual roll call for the Red Cross beginning November 11 and has in the past been liberally patronized by citizens of this county. Bailey county people have indeed a kindly feeling for this organization because of past assistance, and it is now being freely predicted that the roll call this year will be larger than heretofore.

Membership consists of the sum of $1.00 as a minimum, 50 cents of which goes to the national fund, while all over that amount is kept for use locally. Memberships may be any sum over $1.00 as desired by the contributor.

SOMEONE IS PRAYING FOR ME

(Dedicated to that "Someone")
By O. W. CURRY
Someone has made intercession,
By sending to Heaven their plea,
I know it by my intuition,
That someone is praying for me.

Chorus
Someone is praying for me,
I know not who it may be;
But oh I do know that someone,
Someone is praying for me.

Someone in great supplication,
While upon their own bended knee;
Someone in their meditation,
Is offering a prayer too for me.

In agonizing aggression
I shall remember your plea,
God grant that such a concession
May truly be giv'n unto me.

Chevrolet connecting rods are matched in sets of six to within one-quarter ounce, and are individually fitted by hand to the crankshaft. Bearings are of babbit metal cast into the rods under heavy air pressure and at 800 degrees Fahrenheit.

Possessing the basic goodness of sound design and fine manufacture

CHEVROLET From the selection of raw materials to the completion of the finished Chevrolet product, each process of building, assembling and checking the Chevrolet Six is marked by extreme care and precision. An exhaustive system of test and inspection makes certain that every part meets specified dimensions exactly. Many of these parts are held to limits of one ten-thousandth of an inch. No manufacturer in the industry uses more care or precision in building and testing than Chevrolet.

Just as every part of the car is soundly built, every feature is soundly designed.

In planning the motor, Chevrolet engineers were not content to offer the public anything less than tried and proved design. They knew that the only satisfactory way to get smooth, flexible power in a car is to use at least six cylinders. So they adopted the six-cylinder engine without compromise. And this is what you get in today's Chevrolet Six.

As a result of this sound designing and sound manufacturing, you can buy a Chevrolet and know you are getting a genuinely good automobile—soundly designed, soundly built, basically and technically right.

FOR THE BEST ANSWERS EXPLAINING THE MYSTERY OF THE "HIDDEN QUART" AND TELLING HOW THIS QUART BENEFITS MOTORISTS

THE QUESTION

"What becomes of the 'hidden quart' and how does this quart benefit the motorist?"

Ask at any Conoco Station or Conoco Dealer for free entry blank, which contains information about Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil that may help you win. Conoco Station and Dealer employees will gladly answer your questions. Remember, you do not have to buy anything to enter this contest. . . Any Conoco Station or Conoco Dealer will give you, free of charge, a convenient Official Contest Entry Blank for writing your answer.

Answers written on one side only of any plain white paper will be accepted as accredited entries in the contest. But we recommend that you secure an Official Contest Entry Blank, which gives valuable information about Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and its operation in motors—facts about the "hidden quart" that may help you write an answer that will win a prize.

Fact No. 1—Thousands of motorists and service station men have observed that after a car has been given its full fill of Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and is driven 200 to 350 miles, a look at the crankcase gauge shows that about one quart of oil is apparently missing . . . but

Fact No. 2—These same people have noticed that on the second and later fillings with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, scarcely a drop of oil will disappear during the first 350 miles and practically none at 500 and up to 1,000 miles!

The above facts have been checked by actual tests with cars that use six quarts of oil for the crankcase, cars in good mechanical condition and driven at ordinary rates of speed. These facts will also prove true for your car, in proportion to the amount of oil your crankcase usually holds, your car's mechanical condition and the speeds at which you drive.

What becomes of the "hidden quart"? The answer is easy if you study the Facts given above and keep in mind the fact that only Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil can do. The explanation of the whereabouts of the "hidden quart" is simple—no technical knowledge of motors or oil is necessary.

Remember—The "hidden quart" of Germ Processed Oil does not escape through leakage . . . does not burn up, wear out or evaporate. It is present but unaccounted for." Fact No. 2, given above, proves all this.

After you've found where the "hidden quart" goes, you can easily see the special benefits it gives the motorist—advantages that no other oil can give.
