MONDAY, MARCH 20, IS "BARTER" DAY IN MULESHOE

SWAPPING WHAT YOU HAVE FOR THINGS YOU WANT, ORDER OF DAY FREE AUCTIONEER SERVICE GIVEN

Hundreds of Rural and Urban Citizens To Be Given Opportunity of Disposing Of Articles They Don't Need.

That a "Barter" day will be established in Muleshoe, was the consensus of opinion expressed by a committee action from the Kiwanis club last Friday afternoon. The first Swap and Barter day will be held here Monday, March 20, on the vacant lot just south of the Muleshoe hotel.

On that day folks from all over Bailey and adjoining counties are invited and urged to be the guests of the City of Muleshoe, bringing with them anything they have for disposal. Numerous town and country people have suggested such a day of exchange, and it is believed it will be well patronized and prove of benefit to practically all attending.

It is a known fact that many people of this section have numerous articles for which they have no immediate need and would be glad to swap them for something they can use or else convert them into cash for the purpose of something else. Hogs, cows, horses, mules and other livestock, farming implements, harness, cream separators furniture of various kinds, all kinds of household goods, used clothing, grain of different kinds, canned goods, any kind of country produce, etc.—all such items come in the catalog of things that may be brought in for barter and exchange.

Arrangements have been made for two experienced auctioneers to be on the grounds throughout the day, and auctions will be held at stated periods. Those having articles they want to sell will be given this service without any cost to them.

It is understood that merchants and other business men of Muleshoe are also planning special merchandise offerings of money-saving nature, which will furnish added inducements for those who desire to buy needed commodities.

Everyone for miles around is invited to come, partake of and enjoy the day. Bring the entire family, is the invitation, making it a community day of financial value and social interest.

Kiwanians Give Chinese Elms To Muleshoe Citizens

At the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club last Friday noon, the principal subject of discussion was the closing of all banks until Thursday night of this week. Practically all business men present expressed themselves on the matter, being the consensus of opinion that such closing was a wise move on the part of state and federal officials, for the benefit of the nation generally, and that there would be no disastrous results attending such action, and that one of a helpful nature. It was conceded that business might be slowed down temporarily; but eventually the movement would be for commercial improvement.

K. K. Smith reported on the junket to Morton taken a week ago, where the Commissioners court of Cochran county agreed to work in connection with Bailey county officials toward surveying and securing right-of-way for the proposed state highway between Muleshoe and Morton.

The matter of a gift from B. Sherrord of 1,000 Chinese elm trees to the club to be used in the Santa Fe municipal park was discussed, and it was stated there would be several of these trees not needed for park planting. They may be secured in any quantity from the committee without cost, and delivered in Muleshoe for planting around individual homes. The only cost attending receiving them will be that of their planting, since they will be taken up in Lubbock and hauled here without charge. Citizens desiring trees should make prompt request of either Mrs. Clay Beavers, Mrs. J. C. Weaver or R. L. Brown. The trees will be moved here the latter part of this week, Brown said.

JOURNAL OFFERS FREE SWAP PLAN NO COST WHATEVER TO YOU PEOPLE

Since the business men of Muleshoe have decided upon and are advertising a "Swap and Barter" day to be held here Monday, March 20, the Journal, always in the forefront to assist any and every worthy enterprise, will run a FREE SWAP COLUMN in its issue of next week.

Anyone living in Muleshoe, or anywhere in Bailey county or near the borders in adjoining counties who has anything to swap, such as livestock, farm implements, furniture, household goods, clothing, grain labor, etc., may run such an advertisement FREE of charge in the next issue of this newspaper.

Just fill out the blank printed below and mail in so it will reach this office not later than Tuesday of next week, or come into the office personally and fill out a blank listing the articles you wish to dispose of and what you would like for them in return. This free service next week is for both country and town folks; just understand this service is confined to articles for trade.

Articles listed for sale will be charged for at our regular rates and printed in another column of the paper. Remember our free swap service is absolutely free; has no strings on it at all. Use it and tell your neighbors about it, getting your copy into this office as early as possible.

MAJOR LOANS BEING MADE

Up to Monday night there had been applications made for 90 government seed loans according to M. G. Miller, in charge of the local federal loan office here, with two assistants, is making out all applications for loans. Satisfaction of last week there were two government loan inspectors here supervising the work of Mr. Miller in this matter, complimenting him very highly for the excellence and correctness of the papers he was filling out and for his efficiency in Bailey county farming.

There was a total of 232 loans made in Bailey county last year, and present indications, said Mr. Miller, are to affect the number of loans granted this year would exceed those of last year. The average loan applied for is about $500.

All the world loves a good loser.

A MUSIC AND FEED FEST

Thursday evening, March 2, Mrs. Fred Reynolds was hostess to members of the Methodist choir at her country home east of town.

A lively large group of young people and married ones as well, were there on time for practice, anticipating the after-practice fun. At the conclusion of the singing the group was invited outside where a big bonfire was burning. As the flames leaped into the air the faces reflected happiness and joy as the group sang old favorite songs. They later partook of the beautiful picnic lunch served. Tea was poured from a bright tea kettle.

At a late hour the guests departed, voting Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds thank for the evening's pleasure.

Counterfeiters have been busy of late perhaps correctly believing people will take anything that resembles money.

Roosevelt and Garner Took Oaths Of Office Saturday Before 10:00 Witnesses; Banking Orders Issued

Franklin D. Roosevelt, his vice-president John N. Garner and all his selected cabinet members were duly sworn in at Washington, D. C., Saturday of last week as per arranged and customary schedule, and hardly had the echo of their oaths died out before the new president set out to conquer the great challenge that confronts the country in the banking emergency.

Stepped for immediate action, in his inaugural address he avowed determination to lead the "army of our people" as though to vanquish enemies of war; returned to the White House from the Capitol, at once submitted his cabinet nominations to the Senate and called that cabinet together for counsel late in the day.

From the busy White House went out a call by the new secretary of the treasury, William H. Woodin, to the officers of the Federal Reserve system and national business leaders to meet with him Monday morning.

Aroused to Realities
Aroused and alive to "the dark realities of the moment," President Roosevelt summoned congressional leaders to meet with him Monday to decide definitely upon a date for meeting of the new Congress. A call went forward Sunday night for this extraordinary meeting expected to begin by mid-week.

Various and many proposals are in the hands of the group advisors who have been consulting the last week with the incoming President on the economic crisis.

There is all kinds of talk privately about remedies, including a gold embargo; resort to clearing house certificates to restore currency circulation; a limitation upon withdrawals, and a guarantee of a percentage of deposits.

Cabinet Confirmed
Matching his will for no delay, the Senate in special meeting lost no time in confirming all Roosevelt's cabinet choices.

Judging from the comments, there was no doubt the legislators had been impressed by the Democratic Roosevelt's forthright declaration the times must be considered like times of war, and that he intended to seek any drastic executive powers necessary to handle what comes.

This swift succession of events overshadowed all else in the significance of the historical day.

Outwardly, all the traditional pageantry of inaugurations held sway.

Never Such a Day
Never was there such a day, for beneath the panoply of parade was waiting and wanting new to inaugurate.

The sense of momentous, and perhaps dramatic, decisions impending appeared to permeate all ranks.

Legislators and diplomats, jurists and business executives, unemployed and vendors on the streets—through them all, and the columns in the parade, too, a sort of common sentiment of thoughtfulness seemed to be evident.

It was in that atmosphere, while the tremendous crowds of parade watchers were breaking up at twilight, that the new cabinet held its first meeting with Mr. Roosevelt as President.

It was not a time for words, he said but a few hours before in his capitol address, but "We must act and act quickly."

The framework was all ready, for days past the word had been that he was prepared when the responsibility was his.

Members of that Congress were on hand in full force for the inaugural festivities. They heard their leaders speak unimpaired, at times as though to the nation and more than that, too as though to the world. His words went everywhere.

Some of Aims
While reserving details in the main for his message to the special session and thereafter, he plainly showed his mind. In snapshot form, he set his aims to include:

Stricter supervision of banking credits and investments; ending speculation "with other people's money"; Assurance of "an adequate but sound currency"; Balancing the federal budget; drastic reduction in governmental expenditures, national, state and local; International economic readjustment; Unification of relief activities; National planning for and supervision of transportation and communication and other public utilities; Projects to make the most of natural resources; and Adjustment of population between industrial and rural sections.

Quiet Hopefulness
On lifting his eyes, he looked out upon more than 100,000 Americans who hung on to his every expression cheering for an instant now and again but more often in a mood of restraint—or perhaps quiet hopefulness.

Behind him rose the majestic capitol, with flags fluttering in cool breezes on its ramparts, and with hundreds (Continued on last page)

State Engineers Ready For Survey When Cash Arrives

Following the favorable action of Cochran County Commissioners' court, State Highway Engineer H. N. Roberts states his crew of surveyors is ready to begin surveying of the route for location and right-of-way purposes just as soon as the local committee receives definite information regarding the R. F. C. finance allotment to Bailey county, which information was supposed to have been available the first of this month. It is anticipated by Chairman R. L. Brown that not less than $2,000 will be the allotment for Bailey county for the coming two months.

Mr. Roberts has already made a preliminary survey of the proposed highway from Muleshoe to Morton, and states that in all probabilities it will follow the present highway most of the distance.

As soon as location is ascertained and necessary maps made of same so that required fractional acreages necessary to bring the right-of-way out to the 100 foot width ordered by State Highway Commission may be known, the Commissioners Court of these two counties will begin securing the extra right-of-way. Many farmers through whose land the proposed road will pass have already signified their interest and willingness to give the extra footage through their land for right-of-way purposes.

DRILLING RESUMED IN N. M. TEST WELLS GOING IN LINE

Landowners company resumed work Thursday of last week on its McAdoo well, 23 miles southeast of Fort Sumner, with the bottom of the hole at 5,623 feet.

The well was shut down several days ago to have the engine clutch overhauled at Amarillo and to have the engine itself overhauled at the well. After the engine was torn down zero weather stopped all work for a few days. All engine repairs are now completed and the crew will be making new hole from today on.

Casing has also been received for the Garcia well, being drilled near Clovis, N. M., and which now has about 1,100 feet of hole and going good.

MAYOR CERMAK IS DEAD

Anton Cermak, mayor of Chicago, who was shot by Giuseppe Zangara, supposed to have been firing at President Roosevelt while delivering a speech at Miami, Florida about two weeks ago, died in a hospital at Jackson, Fla., last Monday morning. A charge of murder will be filed against Zangara.

METEORITE SCIENTIST HERE SATURDAY WITH DISPLAY

H. H. Niminger, representing the Nininger Laboratory, Denver, Colo., was here last Saturday. Interesting local citizens in meteorites which have come through the stratosphere and landed on earth.

He had several samples of these meteorites in his car, and stated there were doubtless many others of various sizes that could be obtained in this vicinity and were worth from $5 to $50 each, according to size and content.

The scientist explained meteorites were of two different types, the rock meteorite and one of nickel steel. Some of those he displayed were very black from the burning effect of the atmosphere as it passed through. Some were highly polished revealing a wonderful and exact structure on contents.

LEGISLATURE PASSES BILL FOR REDISTRICTING STATE

AUSTIN, March 6.—The Texas senate Monday passed a bill by Senator Julian P. Greer of Elkhart, to provide for congressional redistricting.

The bill aroused little discussion since senators realized that the house probably would substitute its bill at the final act would be written by free conference committee.

The Greer bill would give the three new districts needed to provide for the many new seats allotted to Texas under the reapportionment based on the 1930 federal census, to Bexar county, the South Plains area of West Texas and the oil section of East Texas.

MULESHOE FROM BULLA IN PRELIMINARY BASE BALL

Preliminary base ball games were played Friday of last week between boys and girls teams of Muleshoe and Bulla, at Bulla, Muleshoe teams winning in both events. Scores for the girls were 22 to 3 favoring Muleshoe, while scores for the boys was 3 to 0 favoring Muleshoe. The boys game was reported to have been one of "big league" style, each score having been won on errors of opponents. Prof. Truman Roberts accompanied the teams for playing.

Friday of this week boys and girls baseball games are to be played between Muleshoe and Progress teams, at Muleshoe.

Tips on Taxes

AUSTIN—As a tax measure of major interest, the sales tax which was the subject of a great deal of discussion during the early days of the session, has given way to other tax proposals.

The proposal embodies a repeal of the gasoline tax and the gross production tax on oil as its major revenue features. By a sharply graduated tax on oil production, beginning in some bills carrying the idea into effect, with one cent per barrel on production from wells with maximum daily output of five barrels and scaling up to much higher rates as the per well production increases. The top bracket calls for $1 per barrel tax on production of well in excess of 1000 barrels per day. The bills on this subject carry into effect suggestions made by Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Railroad Commission, who claims that problems of both oil conservation and taxation would be solved by its adoption. The graduated tax on oil production would automatically regulate oil production to the market demand, supporters of the bill claim, and at the same time provide an easy and equitable means of obtaining revenue.

The Winding Trail patrol met in the home of Irma Willis last Saturday. We finished the making of one booklet for trees, and reviewed tenderfoot work. Mrs. Weaver was with us and gave us some extra flag drill. At the close we gave the Scout promise and sang taps.

The hostess served lovely refreshment.

Two of our members were absent. Come on, girls, make it a 100 per cent next Saturday.

The North Star patrol met last Tuesday night in the home of Bettie Ruth Moeller.

The meeting was opened by singing our National Anthem.

The leader, Loraine Danner, then reviewed the tenderfoot work with the Scouts for the benefit of some present.

Following this, each Scout told some one thing she had found out about trees, in the lesson as given by Mrs. J. C. Weaver, at the DeBord orchard where the girls had picked that afternoon for a general lesson.

In extending the invitation to her guests for this St. Patrick party, Bettie had requested each to come in grotesque costume. Mr. Moeller was selected to judge and all girls passed in line before his critical eye, so he might give them the "once over" with the following decision:

First prize was won by Geraldine Skeeters as kid sister; second, by Naomi Harper, representing a Colonial maiden; third, by Ethel Claire Roney as our own dear western cowboy girl.

"Orphan Girl," a playlet of three short acts with eight characters was then presented as an unexpected amusement. This proved to be quite interesting.

Jo Ann Aldridge told why we celebrate St. Patrick's day.

There were funny songs and short poems by other Scout girls.

To complete the program Bettie Ruth gave a dance in wooden shoes.

Delicious refreshments of cake and fruit salad were served by Mr. and Mrs. Moeller. Each plate also contained a favor, a shamrock, made by the North Star patrol.

Those present to enjoy this pleasant occasion with Bettie Ruth were:

Loraine Danner, Ethel Claire Roney, Wanda Farrell, Hattie Ray, Geraldine Skeeters, Lovelle Ginn, Geraldine Skeeters, Weta Mae Danner, Jo Ann Aldridge, June McCoy, Naomi Harper, Margaret Ann Cook, Bettie McAdams, Patsy Danner, Fernel Ginn, Garland Kennedy, Mrs. J. C. Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Moeller.

AMHERST YOUTH IS CHARGED IN RAID

A. A. "Buster" Hutton, who said he was 17 years old and lived at Amherst, was charged with possession and transportation of whiskey before Victor H. Lindsey, United States commissioner Monday.

Hutton was arrested Saturday night by police at a hotel at Lubbock. Police reported they confiscated nearly two gallons of whiskey, after two half-gallon containers had been broken. An automobile Hutton had was taken into custody.

DRILLING HOLES IN DIAMONDS

Perhaps the most tedious job in the world, especially if measured by visible results, is the drilling of holes in diamonds. A hole .004 of an inch in diameter takes two weeks of continuous drilling 24 hours a day. During the drilling fresh diamond dust and oil are dropped upon the spot where the steel needle is attempting to bite into the gem.

No machine being delicate enough, the work is all done by hand or foot power. The steel needle remains stationary, while the diamond to be drilled is mounted on a spindle and rotated rapidly.

These drilled diamonds are used as dies for drawing the tungsten wire filaments used in incandescent light bulbs. No hole has ever been bored fine enough for the filament of a three-watt lamp, so these must be etched in acid to reduce their diameter. The town of Trevoix, France, has practically a monopoly on diamond-drilling.

BAPTIST CIRCLE ONE MEETS

The women of Circle No. 1, Baptist church met Monday afternoon with Mrs. G. C. Danner, nine members being present.

Mrs. Byron Griffith led devotional, taking for her lesson the 6th chapter of St. John.

We had our Bible study lesson in "Women of the New Testament."

After the business session the hostess served lovely refreshments, consisting of cake and pears with whipped cream.

SPLIT HONORS IN GAMES

Tenacious town teams, feminine and masculine, indulged in two hotly contested basketball games at the High school gymnasium Tuesday night, a good crowd of fans witnessing the captivating combats.

The girls of Muleshoe won from the visiting cakers of Farwell in a score of 20 to 19, while the Farwell ladies beat the local whistlers growers to the tune of 20 to 23.

Girl Scout News

The Girl Scouts met Tuesday afternoon at Mrs. J. C. Weaver's home. From there they went out to the DeBord home where they were given a lesson on trees. They learned the high points about five fruit and four shade trees. It is their intention to study them from time to time as leaves blossom and fruit develop.

The Winding Trail patrol met in the home of Irma Willis last Saturday. We finished the making of one booklet for trees, and reviewed tenderfoot work. Mrs. Weaver was with us and gave us some extra flag drill. At the close we gave the Scout promise and sang taps.

STREET CARS AND MEN

Surely no one will consider us lacking in reverence if we say that every one of the "principles of modern salesmanship" on which business men so much pride themselves have brilliantly exemplified in Jesus, talk and work. The first of these and perhaps the most important is the necessity for "putting yourself in step with your prospect." A great sales manager used to illustrate it in this way:

"When you want to get aboard a street car which is already in motion, you don't run at it from right angles and try to make the platform in one jump. You wait until the car has slowed down and you are likely to find yourself on the floor. No, you run along beside the car, increasing your pace until you are moving just as rapidly as it is moving and in the same direction. Then you step aboard easily, without danger or jolt.

"The minds of busy men are in motion," he would continue. "They are engaged with something very different from the thoughts of men who are present. You can't jump directly at them and expect to make an effective landing. You must put yourself in the other man's place; try to imagine what he is thinking; let your first remark be in line with his thoughts; follow it by another with which you know he will easily agree.

"Thus gradually, your two minds reach a point where they can join on one conflict. You encourage him to say 'yes' and 'yes' and 'that's right' and I've noticed that myself' until he says the final 'yes' which is your favorable decision."

Jesus taught all this without ever teaching it. Every one of his conversations, every contact between his mind and others, is worthy of the attentive study of any sales manager. Passing along the shores of a lake one day, he saw two men whom he wanted as disciples. Their minds were in motion; their hands were busy with their nets; their conversation was about conditions in the fishing trade, and the prospects of a good market for the day's catch. To the man whom he wanted thinking with the offer of employment as preachers of a new religion would have been to confuse them and invite a certain rebuff. What was Jesus' approach?

"Come with me," he said, "and I will make you fishers of men."

Fishers . . . that was a word they could understand. . . fishers of men . . . sounded interesting. . . well, what is it, anyway? They listened. They were convinced. They said yes—and they went with him.

National Commander American Legion In Amarillo March 17

Indianapolis, Ind. March 9.—One of the most important and largest meetings on the itinerary of Louis A. Johnson, national commander of the American Legion, is scheduled for Amarillo, March 17. It was announced at national headquarters here today following the definite acceptance by the national commander of the invitation to speak in Amarillo that night. Legionnaires will attend the meeting from Kansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, as well as from a large section of Texas adjacent to Amarillo.

Tentative arrangements are for the National Commander to arrive in Amarillo possibly by airplane which he uses extensively in his travels. It also is the plan for him to be met on his arrival by the Amarillo School Cadet Corps and two drum and bugle corps. The arrival will probably be in the forenoon.

The Commander will attend as guest of honor and address a large Legion meeting at the Municipal auditorium where his speech will be broadcast by radio station WDAG, between 8:30 and 9:00 p. m. with the possibility that the entire evening's program will go on the air, if it is possible to obtain the time.

THE SKY RIDE. "BIG THRILL" OF 1933 WORLD'S FAIR

Two great steel towers each 625 feet high are already mounting to the skies as work progresses on the spectacular feature of Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition, the Sky Ride. As this drawing shows, the towers, 1,850 feet apart, will be connected by cables at the 200-foot level. Over these cables rocket cars will carry passengers. From observation platforms atop the towers the visitor will be able to see Chicago and its surrounding area in all directions, south to the dunes of Indiana, and east across the blue lake to Michigan. High speed elevators will lift visitors to the rocket cars and to the observation platforms. One tower is being erected on the mainland north of the Hall of Science, the other on Northerly Island north of Social Science Hall.

WORLD FAIR INSPIRES NEW STYLES

Will Chicago's 1933 World Fair inspire a new style of dress inspired by the exposition's modern architecture? Recently seven of Chicago's most prominent architects sat down and designed a dozen women's costumes, calculated to express the spirit of the exposition and its daring and dynamic architecture. The results, first worn at the fashionable Red, White and Blue club's supper dance in the Hotel Sherman, made such an impression that no one will be greatly surprised if next spring fads shop windows blossoming forth with Century of Progress designs, featuring metal cloths, bright colors, and geometrically simple lines. Five of these costumes are shown above. Left to right, are: Miss Sue Willman wearing a brilliant green creation trimmed with black patent leather and set off by black patent leather hat and shoes; Miss Jane Harris, in white crepe-evening gown trimmed with sequins, short black velvet jacket faced with red satin and black velvet hat to match; Miss Kay Ross, in two-piece tomato-red and black-ribbed woolen suit and hat of same material; Miss Connie Domarus, in yellow and white satin afternoon dress, black patent leather coat and hat; and Miss Bea Reynolds, in silver-gray woaden dress, set off by two shades of brilliant blue and panel of white, and hat to match. The architects who designed the dozen costumes which may set a style revolution are: John Root, Alfred Shaw, Ernest Gruening, Samuel Marx, Abel Fatty, Louis Skidmore and Walter Prazier.

American Business Men Lured by Music To Vacations

ANDRE QUEDEC

The S.S. FRANCE

Men of Affairs Growing Continental in Travel Tastes, French Line Officer Finds

New York City.—American men are beginning to play, beginning to let business take only a part of their time. This is the belief of Andre Quedec, commissaire of the S.S. France who takes many pleasure-seeking Americans abroad each year. "I've found more American business men are taking vacations," he declares. "They take them in winter and in summer, even in spring and fall. After a man has a sufficient competence, and I note that each year younger men must get it for they are traveling in row streets to take life easy and see the world. In the past, few men went voyaging for pleasure. That was only for women and children. "I think the fact that music has become such an integral part of American life is largely responsible for the new power of men to relax. Music has a 'doce far niente' effect on any nation. Constantly singing and dancing to happy, joyous music with tune and lyric help of Arab, Zanzibar, Hawaii, Suez and what not, one really develops a yen to start on the magic carpet. "It happened in Monterey; the waltz I called I hear everyone humming, is a good example of what I mean. This place has all the glamour of the old world and in modern bloom." Monsieur Quedec is largely responsible for the success of the famous Mediterranean cruises of the S.S. France of the French Line each winter. This fairland cruise takes in all the wonderful ports of the Mediterranean, which America has pictured so often in song. Quedec is holder of the cross de merite and a son of a former vice-in-chief of the French Navy. He is a large cotton plantation owner in both Martinique and Porto Rico.

Annual Musical Output Greatest In the World

YVONNE GALL

Five Times That of France, Says Singer

New York City.—Whenever American popular composers turn away from their passion for quantity and begin to stress quality, they will be acknowledged as prophets, even in their own skeptical country. This is the opinion of Yvonne Gall, French singer who each year spends her vacation from the Paris Opera in singing with the Chicago Opera Company and in giving concerts throughout the United States. "Five years ago, I came to stay for six weeks in this charming country," Miss Gall recounts, "and so delighted was I that for five years I have come back again as soon as my Paris engagement has ended. America is a thing as vital as I go back to be charged with it. "We in France take your music as a thing as vital as I go back to be charged with it. It seems to be the music. That is why I would respect from their music. "All that you no establish new music to start paying more quality and let you realize that you start more music in than France does I believe as that sound thus true!"

112 BOYS WILL SEE CHICAGO'S FAIR AS GUESTS OF GUILD

Some 112 lucky boys of the United States and Canada will spend four days at Chicago's 1933 World's Fair as guests of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild. In addition to the Century of Progress trip, the six who rank first in the competition to decide the cleverest coach molders will receive university scholarships worth $5,000 each. There also will be 1,100 cash awards of from $15 to $100 each for the finest miniature reproductions of Napoleon's royal carriage. The Guild includes 900,000 boys of high school age. It was established in 1930 by the Fisher Body corporation to stimulate interest in craftsmanship.

Tempo of American Life Is Told In Our Dance Tunes

RAY O'HARA

THE FINISH

Famous Orchestra Leader Finds We Express Ourselves in Our Music

New York City.—"Music, more than any other expression, reveals the tempo of the people. No wonder the music of America is more barbaric, vital and far-flung than any the world has known before," says Ray O'Hara, famous musical conductor at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

"Our music is really the melting pot of all human emotion, since every civilized nation has contributed its bit to the thing called jazz. But the speed at which our machines run is the tempo to which the world dances."

It is true, as Mr. O'Hara points out, that most of our musicians are men who have sampled this tempo and lived as part of the great mechanical age. Paul Whiteman operated a taxi and it is probably this experience, more than any other, that gave him the understanding of the American public's tastes, and another well-known leader was once a stoker on a great ocean liner. Ray O'Hara himself was an automobile salesman and mechanic before he took to music.

"Lyrics as well as music are now typically American," says Ray O'Hara. "America's picturesque language is reflected in its lyrics. We have a very pictorial manner of saying commonplace and our popular songs more than any other medium are responsible for this."

"An Armchair With an Armful of You," a fox trot ballad that I get many calls for nightly, has a marvelous dance tune but its lyric is what makes it in demand. "An Armchair With an Armful of You" calls up a pleasant picture to most of us and with good music that picture looks grand."

1933 WORLD FAIR ON SOUND BASIS

Ahead of Schedule, Opening on June 1 Is Certain.

Chicago's 1933 World's Fair, "A Century of Progress," will open on June 1, next, exactly as scheduled. Every building within the exposition grounds will be completed and ready for visitors on opening day.

Every major item of every exhibit will be in place.

These are not vague promises.

On January 1, five months before the opening date, the Fair's construction program was 80 per cent completed. Already vast buildings covering many acres have risen on the site. Already nearly a million visitors have enjoyed a preview of the Fair, coming at the rate of more than 5,000 a day. These multitudes have gone their way to broadcast the marvels already achieved, and yet to come.

Building Ahead of Schedule

Favorable weather through the fall made it possible to place every major exposition building under construction. Eighteen buildings are completed or nearing completion. Thirteen other major structures are under way. On January 1 nine more were on the schedule for immediate construction, with contracts signed, sites chosen, architects' plans completed and approved, and costs of construction appropriated. There is an absolute assurance that the program of these exhibitors will be completed in ample time.

Besides all these projects, about which there is no shadow of a doubt, there are seven more buildings planned that seem assured. These are the Chinese, Japanese, Netherlands, India, French and Italian buildings and the Belgian village.

Lineup of the Building Program

These are the buildings already completed or nearly completion: Administration, Hall of Science, Children's Lullaby Temple, Fort Dearborn group, Lincoln group, General Motors, Chrysler, Travel and Transport, Blue Ribbon Inn, Masonite house, Agriculture, Dairy, Electrical group, Social Sciences hall, Communications building, and three pavilions of general exhibits.

Building construction already under way before January 1, 1933, included: Sky Ride, Illinois Hotel, Sears Roebuck, Maya temple, Old Heidelberg, Enchanted Island, Horticultural, Federal, and Hall of States buildings, and the Twenty-third street bridge, the north entrance and pavilions of the General Exhibits building.

The nine buildings for which contracts have been let are the individual structures of the American Radiator and Sanitary corporation, Christian Science Publishing company, Firestone Tire & Rubber company, Johns-Manville corporations, National Poultry council, National Terrazzo and Mosaic association, Religious Exhibit committee, Southern Cypress Manufacturers' association, and Thomas A. Edison, Inc.

On Sound Financial Basis

The World's Fair of 1933 is solvent. Not only solvent to date, but on January 1 there was a cash balance of more than $1,000,000 after all obligations had been met. There is also a continual flow of receipts from exhibitors and other sources to insure full financial responsibility for the whole comprehensive program.

More than 230 of the greatest corporations and associations in the Eight States have signed contracts aggregating close to $5,000,000 for the purchase of exhibit space in Exposition buildings, or for the erection of special buildings of their own.

Concession contracts exceeding $4,000,000 already have been signed to provide for amusement devices, transportation facilities within the grounds, restaurants, and other features for the comfort and convenience of visitors.

United States Currency

The circulation of foreign money was so general throughout the United States for 25 years approximately after the adoption of the dollar as our unit of exchange that it was a vital element in the circulation. Congress recognized this great need by enacting a number of laws regulating coins of foreign countries and making them legal tender. Finally, congress, on February 21, 1859, enacted a law repealing former acts which had made foreign money a currency or legal tender.

Over 50,000,000 to See World Fair

That's Most Conservative of the Estimates.

Accepting the minimum estimates of the most conservative experts in such matters, the 1933 World's Fair in Chicago will attract 50,000,000 visitors every day of the five months the gates are open, from June 1 to November 1. That would mean a total of 52,500,000 during the A Century of Progress Exposition.

These experts refer to attendance at former world's fairs for statistics on which to base their estimates. Those statistics indicate an average daily attendance equaling about 10 per cent of the local population.

Basis for Estimates

Ten per cent of the population of Chicago alone—the city proper, without its far-reaching suburbs and the cities and towns included as the Chicago metropolitan area—would insure 500,000 visitors daily at the Fair. Include merely the suburbs that are so close to Chicago that they are part of the city in all but their local governments, and the population total of 4,000,000 would give an estimate of 400,000 guests daily for the Fair.

Extend the areas to include what officials of Chicago, its newspapers and commerce chiefs call the metropolitan area, and the population jumps to around 5,000,000. That would mean 500,000 visitors every day at the World's Fair. It would mean that 75,000,000 persons will view the exposition between June 1 and November 1.

Culinary Jingles

Savings gone; interest due. What's the country coming to? Yet hard times are not in vain—Mother's learned to bake again!

It's an actual fact that in many homes throughout the country home-made pies, cakes, cookies and biscuits are appearing for the first time in years, if ever before, in order to economize. Home baking has been computed, is about forty per cent cheaper than buying bakery goods, to say nothing of the improved flavor and quality, and they bring so much satisfaction to a woman.

Those who have never learned to bake or who have to get the knack of it again, will find their task much simplified by getting flour with the leavening already in it. No woman can possibly blend the flour and baking-powder together as well as it is done at the mill with self-rising flour, and of course the proper raising of the product depends on equal distribution of the leavening. The salt, too, has already been added to self-rising flour.

Some idea of the time saved by not having to measure baking-powder and salt and to sift them with the flour four or five times, may be had by learning that delicious muffins may be made in only six minutes after you have the materials assembled. Try these next Sunday morning:

Jiffy Muffins
2 cups self-rising flour
1 cup milk
1 lb. shortening
1 lb. sugar

Mix flour and sugar. To these add all at once, the unbeaten eggs, milk, and shortening, melted and cooled. Stir quickly and only just enough to mix (10 to 20 seconds). Bake in muffin tins for about 20 minutes at 400° F. Serve immediately. Makes 14 muffins.

STONES MADE FROM WATER

Nature is manufacturing stones from water, says Marcellus H. Stow of the National Research Council. The phenomenon is observed in small Virginia brooks.

The rippling waters absorb oxygen, mixing it with the lime carried in solution. The lime thus liberated is deposited on any article close at hand. These new stones, when broken open, show that sandstone pebbles, twigs, clam shells and other objects, from the nuclei for the lime deposit from which they are created.

JAMES T. LAMBERT EXPIRES

James T. Lambert, 57 years past, died last Saturday from a lingering case of Bright's disease, and was buried Sunday afternoon in the local cemetery northwest of Muleshoe. Rev. C. A. Joiner, Baptist minister, officiating.

Mr. Lambert was born August 26, 1875 in the State of Mississippi. He is survived by his wife and 10 children, all of whom were present at his death and burial, except one daughter, who lives at Dainersfield, this state.

Boy Scout News

The Boy Scouts met last Thursday night with the Court of Honor. The patrols were called together in separate rooms and a study period held. After the study we assembled in the main room and a good joke was pulled on our assistant scoutmaster.

Four of the boys met in an adjoining room and passed most of their first class test, before the Court of Honor.

While the Court of Honor was in session the remainder of the boys played several games.

When the Court of Honor adjourned we all said the Scout oath and dismissed.

Patrols remember that next meeting is the night for new membership drive.

Wandering Buffalo Patrol
We opened by checking the roll which showed that there were seven present. We discussed plans for taking a hike. After business was discussed, we studied the first act of our future play entitled "Two Days to Get Married," to be put on March 17. It is a three-act comedy. After a little fun we dismissed with the Scout oath. Come on, Buffaloes, let's go!

Cobra Patrol

The Cobra patrol met at L. E. Arnold's house at 7:30 p. m. This will be our regular meeting place and hour. After the business was discussed the patrol practiced a stunt. Then we went out into the pasture west of town and told some very scary ghost stories. Then we played numerous games. As visitors we had Richard and John Smith.

Patrol members, don't forget to come to the next meeting. Important business will be brought up.

Fox Patrol
The Fox patrol met at the regular hour last Wednesday night with all members present. Business was brought up and discussed.

We held several contests. We guessed at time. Some guessed within a few seconds of a minute. We also took some tests that are given to pilots when they take first lessons in aircraft. We studied the stars and moon through a telescope. We could plainly see the craters on the moon.

The Scout oath is: "On my honor I will do my best— To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout laws. To help other people at all times. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

The members of the Fox patrol wish to live this oath and also receive the fun that they may get out of their Scout hikes, camps, games, and other activities.

The meeting was closed with the Scout-oath.—Reporter.

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. The pastor will preach at 11:00 a. m. Since some things have come up the pastor feels now that it will be useful for us to have a meeting of the official members next Sunday. Last Sunday was the date to meet but we did not call the meeting as it was overlooked until after the congregation was gone.

The group meetings of the church will meet at 7:15 and preaching at 8:00 p. m. The ladies will meet Monday. This last Monday a number met at the church for a business meeting, and then put out a quilt for one of the ladies of the church.

The mid week meeting comes on Wednesday night at eight o'clock in a study of 1st Corinthians. You are invited, if you are at all interested, and feel that you would like to be with us.

The choir meets Thursday night at the home of Miss Adella Beavers. We had to miss all of our special music last Sunday; to the regret of all.

There will be a district meeting at Olton Tuesday 14th at 10:00 a. m., of all the workers and people of the Parkway district. This is brought nearer us and we hope to have a good attendance. Take a covered dish with you for lunch. If you have a car get ready to go and ask some one to go with you.—E. C. BUNNEY, Pastor.

NEW DRY GOODS STORE OPENS HERE THIS WEEK

The M. D. Jones goods store having rented the McCarty building formerly occupied by R. A. Thompson, last Tuesday and Wednesday began moving in a $15,000 stock of merchandise, consisting of dry goods, ready-to-wear, shoes, clothing, notions, etc. and expect to be open and ready for business the latter part of this week.

Mr. Jones, who also owns another store at Idalou, is moving here from Floydada and will have personal supervision of the new business in Muleshoe. He will be assisted by his daughter, Miss Evelyn Jones and Fred Jenkins, also from Floydada.

BANK AT KRESS ROBBED BURGLARS REMOVE SAFE

KRESS, March 7.—A group of burglars early Sunday removed a one-ton steel safe from the Farmers State Bank here and escaped with it.

The safe contained approximately $1,000 in currency and silver. Tom Bagley, president of the bank, estimated. Bagley discovered the burglary at 9 o'clock Sunday morning when he noticed several power line wires dangling from the bank building. An inspection revealed the burglars had forced entrance through the front door, had battered the vault open, and removed the heavy safe.

Many men ought to be taken into a dry dock and have all the barnacles scraped off.

Watson News Items

T. M. Carson, representative of the Muleshoe Journal, was in our community last week. He took dinner at Mr. George Henderson's Wednesday, and is making his headquarters at Mr. Hanover's ranch, the Figure Four. He says that he will take eggs, chickens, pigs, etc., on subscription, and reports he took 80 subscriptions in and near our community.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Smith died Friday night. The remains were interred in the Balleboro cemetery.

A very large crowd attended and enjoyed our play, "The Average Man," staged by the High school at Watson, Friday night. Visitors were present from Enochs, Wilson, Buia, Balleboro and Newland, also Judge J. E. Adams and County Clerk, J. B. Burkhead, et al, of Muleshoe.

J. F. McGennis and family have moved into the residence occupied by Mr. Thomas last year. Mr. McGennis will farm here this year. We are glad to have this good family located in our midst.

A mighty contest was staged here Friday afternoon when the girls' and boys' indoor baseball teams of Wilson met our respective teams, on our outside court. Our boys took the Wilsonites to a defeat, but our girls lost to the Wilson girls.

Our young people chartered Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Tucker, Tuesday night. They report a good time, with refreshments galore.

Misses Zola and Viola McGinnis spent Sunday with Miss Lorna Sullivan. They report a happy time.

Mrs. Clara Mueller and children took Sunday dinner with Mrs. Hollister. Miss Lucille Harris visited Miss Mildred Linn, Sunday.

Miss Linnie Hulse was seen in church on Friday night. She has been attending the Canyon State Teachers' college.

There was a good attendance at church and Sunday school Sunday, despite bad weather. Pastor Kirk brought two messages. He will be back on the third Sunday. The pastor and Sunday school superintendent urge all to come to our services. Be on time. Sunday school starts at 10:30. Be here and start with us.—Reporter.

CLASS MEMBERS MAKE QUILT FOR AN ORPHAN HOME GIRL

The Homemakers Bible class, Baptist church, held an all day meeting Thursday of last week in the Educational building of the church, a majority of the members and several visitors being present.

One quilt was quilted, and is to be given to a 12 year old, Darris Murphy, in the Portales, N. M., orphan home. A covered dish luncheon was served at the noon hour.

An hour was reserved for business discussions, the president, Mrs. W. L. Shaw, bringing forward some very interesting matters to be considered.

The devotional was conducted by Mrs. Will Harper, Mesdames Birdie Paul, and J. C. Weaver leading in prayer, and there was a song, "Blest Be The Tie that Binds," given by the entire class membership present. One new group captain was appointed.

Those present to enjoy the occasion were: Mesdames R. B. Dennis, Ray Griffiths, W. L. Shaw, Mrs. Eva Shirley, J. E. Adams, Birdie Paul, T. L. Eason, J. G. Riddle, L. L. Purves, John Benson, D. W. Winn, G. C. Danner, Will Harper, Lois Robinson, H. N. Garland, A. C. Payne, J. C. Weaver, and Allen Feunton. The visitors were Mesdames A. W. Coker, Chas. Elmore, Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Joiner Ray Griffiths and Judge J. E. Adams.

O. E. S. INITIATION

A meeting of the Eastern Star organization was held Tuesday night in the Masonic hall, a good attendance being present.

The feature of the evening was the initiation into the authorized mysteries of Mrs. Gladys Lewis, a school teacher from Oklahoma Lane school.

At the close of the esoteric work refreshments of sandwiches, cake and cocoa were served those present.

THE FACT FINDER

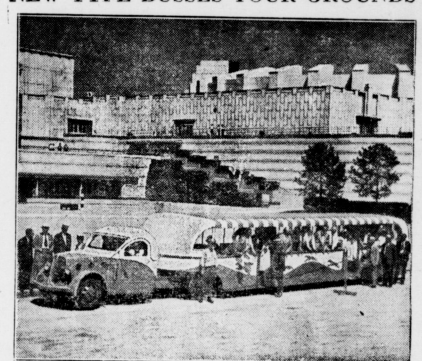

Origin of Panic

Although the word, "panic," is now applied to a period of severe financial distress, it originated on the battlefield of Marathon. It will be remembered in that famed encounter, that a mere handful of Greeks put a vast multitude of Persians to flight, and the honor of the victory was all given to the God Pan who smote the Persians with sudden and unaccountable fright. They lost all sense or reason and this condition of affairs took its name from the god who was supposed to have caused it.

Women worked in uniform—in unison and neighborly fashion throughout Texas last fall, assisting each other in canning fruit, vegetables and meats for the winter consumption—they will probably can even more this year.

NEW TYPE BUSES TOUR GROUNDS

Modernistic buses will carry millions of visitors through Chicago's 1933 World's Fair this summer. The Greyhound corporation's first buses of the fleet of sixty already have carried thousands of pre-Fair tourists through the grounds. Each bus seats fifty-two passengers. The two lengthwise seats face outward so all can view the passing wonders. The picture shows one of the blue and silver semi-trailer buses, with a load of pre-Fair guests, in the great courtyard of the Hall of Science.

JUNIOR B. P. U. PROGRAM

Subjects to be discussed, March 12, are as follows:

- "A Great Life Nears the End," Betty Jo Holand.
- "Moses' Sin," Hattie Ray Griffiths.
- "Moses Farewell," Juanita Coker.
- "Joshua Takes Moses' Place," Frances Coker.
- "Moses Sees Canaan," Bobby Sam Dutton.
- "God Buries Moses," Mrs. Shook.
- "The Israelites Mourn for Moses," Jimmie Adams.
- "The Hidden Grave of Moses," Margaret Ann Cook.

BEARDEN-COX

Henry Cox claimed Miss Helen Bearden as his bride Friday afternoon of last week in a ceremony performed at Clovis, N. M.

The bride is well known in Muleshoe where she has resided for several years past, at one time occupying the position as clerk in the local post office, and has many friends here who extend best wishes for future years of happiness.

The newly weds will make their home at Quemado, N. M.

PRESIDENT F. D. ROOSEVELT SCORES MONNEY CHANGERS PROMISING PROMPT ACTION IN HIS INAUGURAL ADDRESS

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The text of President Roosevelt's inaugural address follows:

"I am certain that my fellow Americans expect that on my induction into the presidency I will address them with a candor and a decision which the present situation of our nation impels.

"This is pre-eminently the time to speak the truth, the whole truth, frankly and boldly. Nor need we shrink from honestly facing conditions in our country today. This great nation will endure as it has endured, will revive and will prosper. So first of all let me assert my firm belief that the only thing we have to fear is fear itself—nameless, unreasoning, unjustified terror which paralyzes needed efforts to convert retreat into advance.

"Only Material Things

"In every dark hour of our national life a leadership of frankness and vigor has met with that understanding and support of the people themselves which is essential to victory. I am convinced that you will again give that support to leadership in these critical days.

"In such a spirit on my part and on yours we face our common difficulties. They concern the future of our only material things. Values have shrunk to fantastic levels; taxes have risen; our ability to pay has fallen; government of all kinds is faced by serious curtailment of income; the means of exchange are frozen in the currents of trade; the withered leaves of industrial enterprise lie on every side. Farmers find no market for their produce; the savings of many years in thousands of families are gone.

"No Failure of Substance

"More important, a host of unemployed citizens face the grim problem of existence, and an equally great number toil with little return. Only a foolish optimist can deny the dark realities of the moment.

"Yet our distress comes from no failure of substance. We are stricken by no plague of locusts. Compared with the perils of the past, our troubles are no greater because they are believed and are not afraid, we have still much to be thankful for. Nature still offers her bounty and human efforts have multiplied it. Plenty is at our doorstep, but a generous use of it languishes in the very sight of the supply.

"Primarily, this is because the rulers of the exchange of mankind's goods have failed to attend to their own duties—duties of their own incompetence. They have admitted their failure and abdicated. Practices of the unscrupulous money changers stand indicted in the court of public opinion, rejected by the hearts and minds of men.

"Have No Vision

"True, they have tried, but their efforts have been cast in the pattern of an outward vision. Faced by failure of credit they have proposed only the lending of more money. Stripped of the lure of profit by which to induce our people to follow their false leadership they have resorted to exhortations, pleading tearfully for restored confidence. They are only the dupes of a generation of self-seekers. They have no vision, and when there is no vision the people perish.

"The money changers have fled from their high seats in the temple of our civilization. We may now restore that temple to the ancient truths. The measure of the restoration lies in the extent to which we apply social values more noble than those of mere profit.

"Happiness lies not in the mere possession of money; it lies in the joy of achievement, in the thrill of creative effort. The joy and moral stimulation of work no longer must be forgotten in the mad chase of evanescent profits. These dark days will be worth all they cost us if they teach us that our true destiny is not to be ministered unto but to minister to ourselves and to our fellowmen.

"Calls For Action

"Recognition of the falsity of material wealth as the standard of success goes hand in hand with the abandonment of the false belief that public office and high political positions are to be valued only by the standards of pride of place and personal profit; and there must be an end to a conduct in banking and in business which too often has given to a sacred trust the likeness of callous and selfish wrongdoing. Small wonder that confidence languishes, for it thrives only on honesty, on honor, on the sacredness of obligations, on faithful protection, on unselfish performance; without them it cannot live.

"Restoration calls, however, not for changes in ethics alone. This nation asks for action, and action now.

"Our greatest primary task is to put people to work. This is no insoluble problem if we face it wisely and courageously. It can be accomplished in part by direct recruiting by the government itself, treating the task as we would treat the emergency of a war, but at the same time through this employment accomplishing greatly needed projects to stimulate and reorganize the use of our natural resources.

"Must Unify Activities

"Hand in hand with this we must recognize the over-balance of population in our industrial centers and, by engaging on a national scale in a redistribution, endeavor to provide better use of the land for those best fitted for the land. The task can be helped by definite efforts to raise the values of agricultural products and with this the power to purchase the output of our cities. It can be helped by preventing realistically the tragedy of the growing loss, through foreclosure, of our small homes and our farms. It can be helped by insistence that the federal, state and local governments act forthwith on the demand that their cost be drastically reduced. It can be helped by the unifying of relief activities which today are often scattered uneconomical and unequal. It can be helped by national planning for and supervision of all communications and public utilities which have a definitely public character. There are many ways in which it can be helped, but it can never be helped merely by talking about it. We must act and act quickly.

"Finally, in our progress toward a resumption of work we require two safeguards against the recurrence of the evils of the old order; there must be a strict supervision of all banking and credits and investments; there must be an end to speculation with other people's money, and there must be provision for an adequate but sound currency.

"There are the lines of attack. I shall presently urge upon a new Congress in special session detailed measures for their fulfillment, and I shall seek the immediate assistance of the several states.

"First Things First

"Through this program of action we address ourselves to putting our own national house in order and making income balance outgo. Our international trade relations, though vastly important, are in point of time and necessity secondary to the establishment of a sound national economy. I favor as a practical policy the putting of first things first. I shall spare no effort to restore world trade by international economic readjustment, but the emergency at home can not wait on that accomplishment.

"The basic thought that guides these specific means of national recovery is not narrowly nationalistic. It is the insistence, as a first consideration, upon the interdependence of the various elements in and parts of the United States; the recovery of the old and permanently important manifestation of the American spirit of the pioneer. It is the way to recovery. It is the immediate way. It is the strongest assurance that the recovery will endure.

"In the field of world policy I would dedicate this nation to the policy of the good neighbor—the neighbor who resolutely respects himself and because he does so, respects the rights of others—the neighbor who respects his obligations, and respects the sanctity of his agreements in and with a world of neighbors.

"New Leadership Possible

"If I am to lead you as people correctly we now realize as we have never realized before our interdependence on each other; that we cannot merely take but we must give as well, that if we are to go forward we must move as a team and our armies must be ready to sacrifice for the good of a common discipline, because without such discipline no progress is made, no leadership becomes effective. We are, I know, ready and willing to submit our lives and property to such discipline because it makes possible a leadership which aims at a larger good. This I propose to offer, pledging that the larger purposes will bind upon us all as a sacred obligation with a duty of duty hitherto evoked only in time of armed strife.

"With this pledge taken I assume unhesitatingly the leadership of this great army of our people dedicated to a disciplined attack upon our common problems.

"Extraordinary Power

"Action in this image and to this end is feasible under the form of government which we have inherited from our ancestors. Our Constitution is so simple and practical that it is possible always to meet extraordinary needs by changes in emphasis and arrangement without loss of essential form. That is why our constitutional system has proved itself the most superbly enduring political mechanism the modern world has produced. It has met every stress of vast expansion of territory, of foreign wars, of bitter internal strife, of world relations.

"It is to be hoped that the normal balance of executive and legislative authority may be wholly adequate to meet the unprecedented task before us. But it may be that an unprecedented demand and need for undelayed action may call for temporary departure from that normal balance of public procedure.

"I am prepared under my constitutional duty to recommend the measures that a stricken nation in the midst of crisis may require. These measures, or such other measures as the Congress may build out of its experience and wisdom, I shall seek, within my constitutional authority, to bring to speedy adoption.

"With Reason the Courage

"But in the event that the Congress shall fail to take one of these two courses, and in the event that the national emergency is still critical, I shall not evade the clear course of duty that will then confront me. I shall ask the Congress for the one remaining instrument to meet the crisis—broad executive power to wage a war against the emergency, as great as the power that would be given to me if we were in fact invaded by a foreign foe.

"For the trust reposed in me I will return the courage and the devotion that befit the time. I can do no less.

"We face the arduous days that lie before us in the warm courage of national unity; with the clear consciousness of seeking old and precious moral values; with the clean satisfaction that comes from the stern performance of duty by old and young alike. We aim at the assurance of a rounded and permanent national life.

"We do not distrust the future of essential democracy. The people of the United States have not failed. In their need they have registered a mandate that they want direct vigorous action. They have asked for discipline and direction under leadership. They have made me the present instrument of their wishes. In the spirit of the gift I take it.

"In this dedication of a nation we humbly ask the blessing of God. May He protect each and every one of us. May He guide me in the days to come."

Chevrolet Puts Out Light Six At A Low Price On Saturday

Directly on the heels of the most successful new car program since 1929, the State Motor Company announced today that a companion car to the present series, to be called the "Standard Six" Chevrolet and priced considerably below the present range, will be built and dispatched to Chevrolet dealers for a simultaneous national showing, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, stated.

The new "Standard Six" is built for business use and for that group of private owners who want a car without the deluxe features and extra long wheelbase of the present Chevrolet Master Six, he stated. He emphasized that the new line would offer the lowest-priced, full-size, six-cylinder enclosed models the industry has yet seen—and would be ideal for severe utility use. It will be a quality line throughout, machined to the same close limits as the present Chevrolet and of the same raw materials, although it will have a slightly shorter wheelbase and will lack some of the features and improvements of the present Master Six line.

"Automobiles," said Mr. Knudsen, "like most everything else, are worth just about so much a pound. Naturally, with a shorter and lighter car, we can reduce the first cost as well as the cost of operation."

"We feel that with the 'Standard Six' we will greatly expand our market among people who buy transportation primarily. Undoubtedly many private users will select the 'Standard' for personal use, but we expect the bulk of our business from the large fleet user and the commercial traveler."

"The 'Standard Six,'" Mr. Knudsen said, "would follow very much the lines of the present car," he said, "but would not be disclosed until Saturday."

more watching him from stands on its peaks.

He had just come from there, from the ceremony in which John N. Garner of Texas had succeeded Charles Curtis, of Kansas as vice president and 15 members of his party had been sworn as new Senators.

A Private Citizen

On the right side, in the somber robe of his station, sat Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes, who a moment before had administered to him the oath of office.

On his left, his lips taut, sat Herbert Hoover, a private citizen, ready to leave within a matter of minutes for New York.

And all around, in that pillared and beflagged stand reminiscent of the one on which he sat when Woodrow Wilson took the presidential oath 20 years ago to the day, were the national leaders of the Congress and the judiciary joined with him in the tasks of four years to come.

The climax, brief but pronounced, broke as he said he would ask Congress for emergency powers, should the need arise, to do what needs be done as though "we were in fact invaded by a foreign foe."

The first to congratulate him when he completed his address was Mr. Hoover, who rose, took off his high silk hat and proffered a hand.

Then Mrs. Roosevelt, smiling broadly, left the side of Vice President and Mrs. Garner to greet her husband.

Garner Took Oath

The State of Texas received its greatest national recognition during the day when John Nance Garner, one-time country lawyer with a flair for poker playing, took oath as vice-president of the United States.

The Texan was sworn in in the state chamber of the United States Senate before a distinguished company including President Hoover and the incoming President Roosevelt, Charles Curtis, retiring vice-president, administering the oath of office.

As Garner took the oath he finished 30 years of uninterrupted service in the House which led to his election as speaker in 1931.

It was estimated that more than 10,000 American citizens witnessed the inaugural ceremonies, 300,000 taking part in the parade.
