MENACING FOREST FIRES ON INCREASE

Nation-Wide Movement For Farm Relief Is Opened

ORGANIZATION COMPLETED WHICH SEEKS TO UNITE ALL FARM BODIES IN CONCENTRATED RELIEF EFFORT

ST. PAUL, July 12. (UP)—The American Council of Agriculture, designed to unite all agricultural organizations in a great movement for farmer relief, was launched here today.

The organization with respect to politics will adopt the Samuel Gompers policy to "reward our friends and fight our enemies."

No candidates for office will be openly endorsed, but the organization will support congressmen and senators who are pledged to support their program and work against those who oppose it.

Geo. M. Peck, Moline, Ill., was named president of the council.

Carl Gunderson, candidate for Governor of South Dakota, was named vice president and R. A. Cowles, Bloomington, Ill., was chosen secretary.

John R. Mitchell, St. Paul banker and former member of the federal reserve board, was elected treasurer.

A national executive committee of fifteen will conduct the affairs of the organization until the first annual meeting is held.

The body adopted resolutions reciting the plight of the farmers and making an appeal for equality with labor and industry.

When the first annual meeting is called in Washington several other farm organizations will be in session there and a determined fight will be made to have the congress put the principles of the McNary-Haugen bill into law.

The following pledge will be exacted from all candidates for congress, regardless of party affiliation.

"In the event of my nomination and election, I hereby pledge myself to vote for and faithfully support legislation that will give agricultural equality with industry and labor and in line with the spirit of the McNary-Haugen bill.

BUILDERS' STRIKE IS LOOMING IN CITY OF HOUSTON

HOUSTON, Texas, July 12.—Twenty-four steel window frames caused a building trades strike here Saturday.

Bricklayers, plasterers, plumbers, metal lathers, sheet metal workers, iron workers, hoisting engineers, cement finishers, and painters have announced that beginning Monday not a single union man who belongs in and of the trades mentioned will work on any construction job under Russell Brown's company.

Included in the prescribed buildings are the new Jefferson Davis hospital the Texas Packing company plant, and scores of dwellings now under construction.

Contractors predicted that the strike may spread to the entire building program of Houston, involving $5,000,000 at the present time.

The question at issue is who shall install 24 steel window frames in the hospital.

Four days of heated argument, conferences and arbitration attempts failed to solve the problem.

The Mayor of Houston, all the county officers within call, several learned judges, and representatives of ten labor unions wrangled over it.

Finally the contractors offered to place the frames personally, but the carpenters union objected.

CUMBERLANDS OPEN REVIVAL

SERIES OF MEETINGS TO BEGIN HERE TODAY UNDER PASTOR

A revival meeting that is to be conducted over a period of two weeks will be started at the Cumberland Presbyterian church this afternoon, with Rev. Rodgers, the pastor in charge of the services.

T. Q. Dwyer, assisted by the sixty members of the church choir, will have charge of the song services.

The services will be conducted at ten o'clock in the morning and eight o'clock in the evening of each day during the two weeks excepting Saturdays.

Just before each preaching service a thirty minutes devotional prayer and song service will be conducted by the leadership of the church.

Everything will be done to keep the building just as cool and comfortable throughout the period of the meeting as it is at all possible, and the entire membership of the church as well as all Lubbock people are urged to exert their efforts in making this meeting a great success.

The pastor will preach his convictions and each service will be made interesting and just as instructive to those in attendance as all possible and a great effort will be made by the preacher to create a revival of christianity in Lubbock that will mean something to every church in the city.

Regular Sunday school services will be conducted this morning and the first sermon in the revival meeting will be delivered by the pastor at the eleven o'clock service.

You are invited to attend all services during this meeting, and assured that a hearty welcome awaits you.

TRIPLE "K" BRANDED INTO SHOULDER OF PASTOR

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., July.—Police tonight awaited a word from the lips of Rev. Orrin Van Loon that may lead to the arrest of the person or persons who branded a triple "K" on his right shoulder.

The Berkeley community church pastor lies in a semi-conscious condition at Nichols Hospital, suffering from shock caused by the burns and lack of nourishment.

He is unable to recall the event of 12 days ago following his disappearance from home at Berkeley, Michigan, on the morning of June 30. Police are working on the theory that the minister was branded with a regular branding iron rather than some sharp, hot instrument.

The three "K's" on his back are black letter in form and about two inches in height. They are burned deeply into the flesh and hospital attendants say the pastor will carry the scars the rest of his life.

TEXAN CHARGED WITH MURDER IN DETROIT

DETROIT, July 12.—Louis Rose, age fifty, of San Antonio, today stands charged with murder in connection with the shooting of Carolina Sanchez, thirty, whom he trailed from San Antonio, Texas. She was shot three times while asleep in a rooming house. Rose is said to have confessed after he surrendered.

ACTRESS DECLARES SHE WILL MAKE POLICE PAY

CHICAGO, July 12.—Rosetta Duncan, weighing 103 pounds in her stage costume of "Topsy" tonight declared for a fight against some 700 pounds of Chicago Police.

Rosetta is determined to jail the four policemen who broke her nose, but a couple of ribs out of shape, and lacerated her face and feelings.

It was all recalled for Rosetta, one of the famous Duncan sisters of "Topsy and Eva" fame, declared.

While driving through Cicero, Chicago suburb, with her brother, Police took the party to headquarters because they failed to heed a boulevard sign.

"All I did was to say that it was a shame to arrest brother," Rosetta declared. "And then what they did to me—oh boy, what they did to me."

On the other hand, the Cicero police charge that Rosetta attacked them because they arrested her.

"We acted in self-defense," they claim.

Today Rosetta signed warrants charging the four policemen, including Chief Svoboda, with assault and battery, assault with a deadly weapon, assault with intent to kill, she signed other charges and is planning to sue Cicero for personal damages and damages to her show.

SPLAWN REFUSES TO WITHDRAW NAME FROM BALLOT

AUSTIN, Texas, July 12.—Dr. Walter W. M. Splawn, recently appointed president of Texas University, has refused to withdraw his name as candidate for the office of state railroad commissioner, which post he now holds, and will therefore become the nominee of July 26.

Following the July primaries, Dr. Splawn will withdraw and the nominee for railroad commissioner will be named by the state democratic committee, it was learned.

The question now arises whether the nominee will be named by the present committee or by the new committee to be selected here by the state convention early in September.

In a statement issued today, Dr. Splawn explained that although he "wished from the beginning there was some way" by which his name could be kept off the ballot, and the name of other candidates for the place printed thereon, he was convinced, after an opinion from the attorney general's department that it was too late to prevent his name going on the ballot in many counties.

"The opinion also points out that certain complications might arise if I formally withdrew before July 26. These might lead to litigation, to uncertainty, and perhaps place in serious question the claims to the office of my successor," Dr. Splawn's statement declared.

"It would therefore seem to be my duty to do nothing to change the situation until after the primary. This course appears to be in the interest of simplicity, economy and of order procedure and to be in harmony with the spirit of the statutes.

TYLER MAN PAYS $35 FOR 10c ORDER OF BREAKFAST

HOUSTON, Texas, July 12.—Thirty-five dollars for a nickel is the ratio W. A. Bert, of Tyler, Texas, received here Saturday. Bert ordered cakes and coffee in a small cafe here Friday. The total bill was ten cents. Bert produced a worn nickel as payment.

When the storm of words subsided, Bert found himself in police court, explaining that the smallness of the deficit, the comparative unimportance of things, and his own good intentions when he ordered the food should serve as mitigating circumstances.

"I thought I had a dime, your honor," he went on, but the judge stopped him.

FORMER FRENCH PREMIER VOTED RESTORATION

CAILLEUX, DEPRIVED OF HIS POLITICAL RIGHTS IN WAR, VOTED AMNESTY

PARIS, July 12.—Joseph Cailleux, a war time premier of France, central figure in the famous Cicero case, who served three years in prison while awaiting trial for treason, and who was deprived of his political rights by a vote of the high court was voted amnesty and restoration of those rights by the French chamber of deputies tonight.

The vote was 339 to 217 and foreshadows the return of the famous statesman to political power, probably as minister of finance.

Tremendous popular rejoicing particularly among the parties and followers of the left, with whom the debarred ex-premier was always a power, followed announcement of the chamber's action.

For seven years—Cailleux already had served the three years term to which he was sentenced before he finally was found guilty of "intelligence with the enemy" and attempt against the exterior safety of the state—the former premier was tempted to resign for treason.

The chamber's action was not a surprise, it having been forecast, that when the radical socialists and parties of the left were successful at the last election they would seek that which they considered justice was done to the man whom many regarded as France's greatest leader.

Formal charges against Cailleux of intelligence with the enemy, involved the death penalty had he been found guilty, and the high court had sought to condemn him to death.

When the victory of the Herriot party was achieved friends of Cailleux immediately began a campaign for his rehabilitation.

The ex-premier is admittedly one of the foremost financiers of the age.

Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro was the man who made alleged revelation of the politician's dealings with Germany, and Calmette was shot to death in his newspaper office by Mme. Cailleux.

She was acquitted after a sensational trial which dragged into the limelight much of the alleged secret history of her husband's political life during hostilities, Cailleux was sent on a government mission to South America. It was alleged later that he was in communication with the German military attaché at Buenos Aires, the man it will be remembered who sent the famous "Sperr Versenk" telegrams.

On his return to Europe Cailleux went to Italy and there he talked of ending the war by agreement with Germany.

When he returned to France he was arrested and charged with treason.

Cailleux was lodged in prison where he was arrested and charged with treason, and waited for a trial a little more than three years so that the high court finally found him guilty and sentenced to three years imprisonment, he was released. For five years he was barred from entering certain large cities of France, Paris, frontier towns, and naval stations. Of his civil rights he was deprived for ten years.

Since his sentence Cailleux has delivered addresses at many political meetings. He and his wife have at many times been subjected to hostile demonstrations which often have resulted in pitched battles between his supporters and his enemies. He published a book—a review of his trial and a restatement of his political beliefs, which had a tremendous sale. In this book, he expressed disgust of England, Cailleux played a prominent part in the recent elections. He was associated with the radical socialists of which Premier Herriot was the head. His long record as a statesman began when he represented the department of the Sarthe as his father had done in the chamber, in 1898. He was minister of finance in the Waldeck Rousseau cabinet.

For many years he was in the government finance department.

THOUSANDS THROG LONDON HALL FOR RECEPTION BALL

LONDON, July 12.—More than 12,000 persons jammed Royal Albert Hall tonight at the reception ball, the first of seven days functions in which 5,000 delegates and their wives from all parts of the world who are attending the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, will be entertained.

Southampton and Liverpool have been crowded with welcoming committees from London and two ship loads—of delegates—which arrived early in each port. Official business of the convention will get under way Monday at Wembley when Premier MacDonald representing Great Britain and Ambassador Kellogg will be the principal speakers.

One of the most surprising discoveries about the convention is that more than half of the guests from foreign countries are women.

Recognizing this, English women today, placed bouquets or roses in each and every hotel room reserved for delegates.

Four special trains disgorged two thousand American delegates at Waterloo, where Sir Herbert Morgan, chairman of the convention reception committee met them.

FINAL DECISION IS HANDED DOWN IN RALLS CASE

RALLS, Texas, July 12.—The famous Ralls case was finally settled here today when District Judge Clark M. Dalton entered a decree in the District Court of Crosby County which partitioned the property of the Ralls estate among the litigants in accordance with an agreement which had pervasively been made by them.

Under its provisions the estate is divided in certain proportions between Mrs. Dolle M. Ralls and the children of E. M. Ralls of Comanche, Okla., and P. B. Ralls of Ralls.

This litigation which has been pending for some two years arose out of a contest of the will of the late John R. Ralls who died in October, 1921, and excited much interest all over Northwest Texas.

The city of Ralls has become widely known as one of the most progressive towns in West Texas and with the settlement of this suit the city is predicted to have all obstacles to its future growth have been removed. A considerable increase in building activity is now manifest, and with the present prospects of a bumper crop this year it is predicted that there will be a large movement of people to Ralls and its trade territory this fall.

Among the well known lawyers engaged in this case were: Gore, Odell & Allen, and Ernest Mays, all of Fort Worth, Bean & Klett of Lubbock, P. B. Randolph of Plainview, Gibson & Dalton of Crosbyton, and L. A. Wicks, of Ralls.

The only trial had in the case was before Judge W. R. Spencer now deceased, and lasted three weeks.

KLAN MEET OUSTED FROM CAPITOL IN MISSOURI

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 12.—Governor Arthur M. Hyde ousted a Ku Klux Klan meeting from the state capitol building today and subsequently issued a statement denouncing the Klan.

The meeting was held in representative's hall, supposedly on authority of the commissioner of the capitol building.

After adoption of a resolution expressing mild protest the klansmen adjourned to the Jefferson City hall.

Governor Hyde in his statement declared: "I do not agree with the Klan. I favor law enforcement but law enforcement is a matter of good citizenship, not private organization. I favor 100 per cent Americanism, but Americanism is a matter of ideal and not a matter of race, creed or color. No 100 per cent American needs a secret order to prove his right to that title."

WIND REKINDLES MANY FLAMES WHICH WERE UNDER CONTROL; SITUATION MOST SERIOUS IN YEARS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12. (UP)—With a score of fires burning in California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana, the Pacific coast—especially California—tonight faced the most serious fire situation in years.

Already the loss from the forest fires is close to the million dollar mark. The most serious development of the day came in the Forest Hills divide region of the Tahoe National Forest. There a fire burning in high grade timber, was nearly checked last night, but at daybreak a whirlwind swept through the fire zone and carried flaming brands through the forest with the result that this afternoon the fire was beyond control.

The fire in Elizabeth Lake region of the Santa Barbara forest was checked this morning but during the afternoon a 40 mile gale swept through causing a renewed outbreak.

In the "Bull Run Basin" section of Sequoia National Forest tonight the fire was checked and will be under control by daylight.

The fire in Uba Pass, Tahoe National Forest, has been controlled, and is under patrol. All fire fighters have been dispatched to the Forest Hills divide zone.

Two fires on state land in the Borney Creek section were being combatted by more than a hundred men. Sudden gusts of dry wind have rendered the work of rangers and volunteer fire fighters in Santa Barbara and Tahoe National Forests extremely difficult.

Water and volunteer fire fighters are scarce.

Airplanes were used to spot flames in the Santa Barbara Forest. Several mountain resorts threatened are believed out of danger.

BRAZIL TROOPS DEPOSE REBELS

HEAVY ARTILLERY FIRE DIRECTED ON REBEL STRONGHOLD AT LUZ

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 12.—Brazilian federal troops tonight were throwing an iron ring around rebel troops who have held the interior city of Sao Paulo, for more than a week, and deposited temporarily the state government headed by Carlos De Campos.

The famous mountain highway between Sao Paulo and Santos, its seaport, has been cleared of rebels and federal reinforcements are proceeding along the roads to the great interior plateau on which the famous capital is situated.

Artillery of the government forces continued to pound away the rebels stronghold in great Luz Military barracks, near the center of Sao Paulo city and the Santa Ana Barracks, which overlook the fashionable Avenida Paulista, Sao Paulo's show street along which are situated the homes of many of its coffee millionaires and many Americans who have made fortunes in Brazil.

With the situation apparently well in hand and the movement confined to Sao Paulo city, the federal forces are proceeding slowly, preferring to force surrender of the rebels rather than make another attempt to take their positions by storm—an action, which it is feared, would cause an artillery battle that would ruin scores of big buildings within range of the rebel cannons.

Travelers reaching Rio and Santos report seeing scores of dead and wounded in the streets. It is also known that the federal forces consisting largely of marine units, suffered heavy losses in fighting their way to the long forest covered mountain slopes along the Santos-Sao Paulo highways.

TRAFFIC IS DELAYED BY WRECK NEAR SNYDER SAT.

The west bound passenger train which is scheduled to arrive in Lubbock at 1:45 o'clock p. m., was more than six hours late Saturday due to the fact that three freight cars which flew the track in a deep curve below Snyder had not been cleared away.

After the track had been cleared and when the train was making good time as the engineer tried to make back some of the time that had been lost when the engine struck the front wheels of a Ford coupe at a crossing near Snyder, demolishing the front of the car. The car was occupied by a woman and a small boy, but fortunately they were not hurt.

AMERICAN AIR MEN ARRIVE AT BUCHAREST SAT.

VIENNA, July 12.—Flying from Constantinople in seven hours, America's flyers arrived safely at Bucharest at 5 p. m. today. The Roumanian capital, once one of the great cities of Europe, extended an enthusiastic welcome to Les Smith, Wade and Nelson who will push on tomorrow in an effort to reach Paris for the "Bastille Day" celebrations July 14.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. BELLAH HELD SATURDAY

Mrs. H. J. Bellah, age 63 years, one month and two days, who died at the family home, at 1622 17th street, Friday evening at 7:35 o'clock was buried here Saturday afternoon.

Funeral services, which were attended by many friends of the family and all but one of the ten children of the deceased, were conducted at the First Methodist Church at 2:30 o'clock by Rev. W. P. Micklen, pastor of the church.

A number of business houses of the city, closed during the funeral.

M'ADOO OFFERS AID TO DAVIS IN CAMPAIGN

NEW YORK, July 12.—John W. Davis, nominee for president tonight sent the following radio to Wm. G. McAdoo aboard the steamship Homeric, who before sailing today for Europe issued a statement in which he said he would take the stump for the democratic ticket when he returned in the fall.

"Let me thank you for the more than generous statement which you gave on sailing. I am greatly cheered by the assurance that I shall have the benefit of your aid and counsel in the campaign. That it will result in the advancement of democratic reforms and democratic ideals, I am confident. Mrs. Davis joins me in wishing Mrs. McAdoo and yourself pleasant voyage and safe return."

J. H. Beard and family of this city accompanied by Joe Wych, wife and sister, will leave this morning via automobile for Colorado, where they will spend several weeks on a camping and fishing trip.

This summer seems to be going crazy with the heat.

WEATHER

WEST TEXAS—Sunday and Monday partly cloudy, showers in Panhandle Sunday night or Monday.

TAHOKA VOTERS GIVE MULLICAN GREAT OVATION

HUNDREDS THROUG HALL TO HEAR JUDGE PLEDGING SUPPORT TO HIM

(Special to The Avalanche.)
 TAHOKA, July 12.—Judge Clark M. Mullican of Lubbock, candidate for District Judge of the 72nd Judicial district spoke at Tahoka Saturday afternoon to a crowd that filled every seat in the large District Court room, occupied all available standing room and crowded the doorways and corridors, estimated at from five hundred to seven hundred and fifty people, one half of which was women. Judge Mullican spoke for about an hour to a most attentive and appreciative audience; at the conclusion of which, he was given such an ovation as was never rendered any other public speaker in this part of the State. Fully 90 per cent of that vast audience waited in line forty-five minutes to shake the Judge's two out stretched hands and to pledge to him their support and vote. People were present from practically every voting box in Lynn county who had learned that the Judge was going to speak.

Life Story Told.
 Judge Mullican told the story of his life from his boyhood days on a farm in Ellis County, Texas, to the position he now occupies as District Judge. He stated that his opponent was making his religion an issue in his campaign; that he, himself, has been a member of the Christian Church for eighteen years and during that time he has kept faith with his religion and with his conscience; that he had accumulated a moderate share of the world's goods and has reached distinctions in military and civil life rarely ever attained by a man of his age; that if he had not kept faith with his religion and with his God, surely his career would have been checked many years ago. Judge Mullican deplored the tactics used by his political enemies in seizing upon various extracts and disjointed statements in his ideal speech with which to manufacture political propaganda.

Opponent Making Fight.
 Judge Mullican stated that he has raised no issues in this campaign; that he is seeking no man's job; that his opponent—none in making this fight; that every issue raised has been raised by his opponent. He then touched upon the Klan question stating his position in unqualified terms as being neither a Klansman nor anti-Klansman. He discussed his own qualifications for the office he seeks and cited his hearers to his official record.

Judge Mullican stated that many good men are backing his opponent in this campaign, many of whom, like his opponent himself, have lived on these plains for thirty years or more; but he stated that whether his opponent knew it, or not, that the criminal element of this District has solidly lined itself up for his opponent; that this element, in the name of his opponent has waged a most bitter campaign of slander and scandal, reflecting, not alone upon himself, but to the shame and disgrace of American manhood has brought into their foul scheme the good name of another, a reflection upon whom is now rapidly meeting with the just condemnation of an outraged citizenship. Each of these slanderous statements are utterly without foundation in fact, were false when stated, and they know they were false, and now, as is usual in such tactics, rebounding to the utter ruin and consternation of his political enemies, the Judge said. He stated that this is the last desperate stand of the criminal element of this district against law and order; that like drowning men they are grasping at every straw that floats; and that falling in this attempt to ride their opponent into office over the political grave of himself, they have now turned as a last resort to an issue of religion. He stated that he felt he is fully as religious as his opponent, but that his religion has never placed him in a position where he could not be an ordinary human being; that it was always his conception of religion that God Almighty is the Judge of Human Conduct.

Citizenship Lecture Given.
 Judge Mullican concluded his address with a timely and beautifully worded lecture on the duties of citizenship, citing his hearers with those fundamental principles of American Government, of freedom, equality and justice to all; and called upon his hearers to lay aside their prejudices and hatreds engendered by factional strife and unite for a better and cooperative citizenship for the uplifting of humanity.

SON OF SAN JACINTO SURVIVOR VISITS IN LUBBOCK

"Sure, I'm at home in Lubbock, I'm at home wherever I may be in Texas," declared Hampton Steele, of Thornton, Limestone county, Tex., while visiting at the Avalanche office Saturday afternoon.
 Mr. Steele visited Lubbock five years ago and stated that while he knew the town well at that time, it has made such growth that it isn't a little like he same place.
 Mr. Steele claims to be the oldest native Texan now in the state, having reached the age of eighty-five years. He is a distinguished pioneer who has lived under four flags in the Lone Star State. He was born in 1839, and lived under the Lone Star flag which was in existence from 1836 to 1845. While the Stars and Stripes waved over Texas from 1845 to 1861 he retained his citizenship in the state and lived to see that flag displaced by the Stars and Bars from 1861 to 1862, when again the Stars and Stripes composed the states flag.
 Mr. Steele served the forces of the South as a soldier in the Confederate army.
 Mr. Steele is the oldest son of Alphonso Steele, the last survivor of the Battle of San Jacinto, who died in 1911 at the age of 94 years and three months.
 "I am still a young man, and my greatest ambition is to live to attend the Texas Centennial Celebration which will be appropriately conducted in 1936," Mr. Steele said, pointing out that if this desire is fulfilled and he is in attendance at the celebration he will at that time be 97 years of age.

 The pioneer Texan is in the best of health at this time and is one of the most optimistic men of anything like his age to be found anywhere.
 Mr. Steele has figured conspicuously in the life of Texas since young manhood and his name is not unfamiliar to the students in Texas history. He was here Saturday from Mainview in company with his daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rogers, of Plainview, to visit another daughter, Miss Ethel Steele, whose home is in Lubbock.

The pioneer is said to be the only man in Texas who had a great grandson in the World War, Walter West, who served with the A. E. F. in France with the famous Rainbow Division, is the grandson and his participation in the engagements overseas proved that he is a worthy descendant of the historic Steele family.
 Mr. Steele has 120 members in his family, as follows: 14 children, 53 grandchildren, 50 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.
 He will spend the summer on the plains, dividing his time in visiting his daughters in Lubbock and Plainview.

BUSY BEE HAS A NEW ELECTRIC SIGN

The Busy Bee, Sled Allen's place is putting on a good deal of city airs these days, the latest contribution to his dignity being a new electric sign, which will let the hungry wayfarers know where he is by night as well as by day. The Busy Bee is one of the progressive institutions of the city, and is continually adding new features and new attractions to the trade, but the best of all, is the feed that Sled puts out to the people.
 The Busy Bee is to be congratulated in putting up this nice sign, and is setting an example that will no doubt be followed by many more progressive enterprises of the city, at an early date.

SEC. HUGHES TO ATTEND BAR MEETING

By United News.
WASHINGTON, July 12.—Secretary of State Hughes, leaving the state of problems before the senate cleaner than it has been for many years, departed from Washington today and later sailed for Europe to attend the annual meeting of the international bar association.
Hughes will be absent from Washington during which time he will visit London and Paris.
Upon Hughes return, the next movement of the United States in the field of foreign affairs, so far as can be seen now, is expected to be an effort to bring about another disarmament conference. Such a step by this administration, however, would depend on the election of President Coolidge in November, as it is believed doubtful that any action along that line would be taken before the elections.
While Hughes' European trip is for the announced purposes of attending the meeting of the bar association in London, and taking a vacation, it is believed here that he will take advantage of the opportunity to judge when the European nations would be prepared to join in another disarmament movement.
A note was dispatched to Great Britain, France and Spain replying to the invitation of those governments that the United States approve the Tangier consigned in Paris to provide a new administration for that international zone in Morocco. Hughes in his reply made two main conditions to approval of the pact by this government:
"One, the guarantees for protection of American rights under the convention must be specified more clearly, especially in regard to the maintenance of the 'open door' at Tangier; and second, this government must decline for the present, he said, to accept the role proposed for the United States in the legislation of Tangier as American representation under the present form of the convention would be too slight in comparison with the other powers."

CAMPAIGN FOR LA FOLLETTE UNDER WAY

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, July 12.—The presidential campaign of Senator Robert M. LaFollette got up steam here tonight.
Ways and means of bringing victory to the LaFollette ticket were discussed by the executive heads of the progressive national committee, gathered from all parts of the country. The executive committee of the national committee met all day behind closed doors.
The review of the old progressive parties difficulties convinced LaFollette strategists that 75 per cent of the Roosevelt energies were expended in safe local squabbles.
By concentrating exclusively on the offices of president vice president this year, they believed that they will make a more impressive showing than they could under the "new party" system.
A few independent candidates will be endorsed in localities where particular developments have made victory seem probable, but they will not be allowed to tie up with the LaFollette race without investigation.
Survey was also being made of the election laws of the various states. In a few the progressives will be forced to organize a make shift party in order to get the names of their electors printed upon ballots.
While Senator LaFollette today declared that he had as yet selected no candidate as his running mate and that he still has an open mind on the subject the executive committee began canvassing the field of acceptable possibilities.
No publicity will be given their selections but during the coming week the committee members "will sound out" number of those of whom they approve preliminary to the meeting of the full national committee here July 16 to get down to an actual decision.
Among those who were most frequently mentioned today were justice Brandeis of the supreme court; Chairman Huston Thompson, of the federal trade commission and Senator Wheeler, of Montana.
All three are democrats and men of impressive, progressive records. Some doubt was expressed, however as to whether any of the trio could be induced to desert his party.
Two men were arrested for sleeping in a Los Angeles theatre and we think we have seen that show.

MASCULINE "FLAPPER" PAYS FINE OF $100

By United News.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 12.—Frederick Carran, the "masculine flapper" left here for New York City Friday night after paying a $100 fine in municipal court for impersonating a woman.
Carran, sans his chic flapper attire, and with a healthy growth of beard, told Judge I. S. Gardner, it was sheer "instinct" which impelled him to dress like the fair sex.
"And I believe I have as much right to wear women's clothes as these bobbed haired girls have to appear in overalls and hiking trousers," he pouted.
Four trunks of feminine apparel were uncovered in Carran's boudoir. His wardrobe included evening gowns, sport sweaters, and negligees.

LIBRARY AT CANYON IS SCENE MUCH ACTIVITY

(Special to The Avalanche.)
CANYON, Texas, July 12.—The library of the West Texas State Teachers College is a scene of great activity this summer. The three librarians and their student assistants are frequently helped during rush hours by members of the faculty and student body who come in and volunteer the services. Miss Mary Hill, one of the librarians, estimated that 800 books were used daily in the library and that 400 books were checked out of the library each night. Many students go away disappointed because the supply of books is so limited that everyone cannot be served. It is hoped that the College will soon be enabled to build a new library building for the use of its 1300 students.

A Washington man who went in swimming just after eating a big picnic lunch was revived in only 45 minutes.

THE CARELESSNESS OF CHURCH MEMBERS

Just why it is, no one knows, but there is a universal carelessness regarding church membership that the preachers, the bishops or anyone else has not been able to figure out yet.

Is it because they think more highly of the other organizations than of the church? We hardly think so, but just why it is, we are not able to say, but it is a condition that should cease to exist, to say the least of it.

The church should be the first place that a person moving to a new place should attend. There you will become acquainted with the leaders in the town. The leading business and professional men, usually are affiliated with some of the churches of the city.

Yet there are thousands of people in Lubbock today that should be affiliated with some of the churches in the city who are not, and possibly never will, for they are waiting for some one to accidentally find them and learn that they were members of a certain church organization back where they came from.

LABOR AND THE THIRD PARTY.

Samuel Gompers knows a good thing when he sees it and is not disposed to swap it for a more than doubtful investment. In response to the hopeful invitation of the third party headed by LaFollette, Mr. Gompers promptly declines it in behalf of the American Federation of Labor and sagaciously announces that labor can achieve greater results by keeping out of this separatist movement for which he sees no very bright prospects.

He might have added that, with each of the two great parties bidding for the support of labor and hastening to grant its demands as occasion offers, there would seem to be but little more than labor could reasonably desire and no better way in which labor could be as sure of gaining its ends. Labor's appeal to any dominant party in Congress never fails of a respectful hearing, and in the States progressive labor legislation has been secured from the legislative majorities of both parties.

OLD MEN IN POLITICS.

This has been called an age of young men, but without reason where the field of politics is concerned. To find such an era in American politics it is necessary to go back to the beginning, when Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence at the age of 33, when Patrick Henry declared he preferred death to political slavery at age of 29, when Hamilton, Madison, Monroe, Marshall and Randolph helped to form or stabilize this government in their thirties.

a man much older, and his keynote speaker, Mr. Burton, is well advanced in the seventies. It is true that the Democratic "keynote," Mr. Harrison, is only 42, and that Governor Smith is only 50, but Mr. McAdoo is 61, LaFollette is 69, as also is Debs, while the perennial Bryan is 64.

Relatively younger men have come forward in the Democratic convention, such as Franklin D. Roosevelt (42) and ex-Secretary Baker (52), but with the exception of Governor Smith the older men have been in control. May this not help to explain the stubbornness and immobility displayed? May it not also have been at the back of the cut-and-dried function at Cleveland, decided in advance, with a remarkable lack of ambition to enter the lists against the candidate so chosen? There would seem to be great need of younger blood in American politics, of minds that have not yet reached the static stage or succumbed to the intellectual ossification usually inseparable from advanced years.

CHURCH GOING AND MOTORING.

Attendance at the Protestant churches in the rural districts of this country has declined about 50 per cent during the past generation, according to the reports of the Institute of Social and Religious Research, an interdenominational body whose governing board is composed of prominent clergymen and college presidents. This finding was based on attendance records. As to Windsor county, Vt., which was found to be in general typical of rural communities throughout the country, it is reported: "The proportion of Protestant church members to the entire population is found to have remained constant since 1888, while in the same period attendance at Sunday services dropped 47 per cent. Allowing for an increase in the Protestant population of 11 per cent during the period, the drop is equivalent to about 52 per cent."

Why has attendance fallen off so greatly while membership has remained about the same? The answer given is the increased facilities for amusement and recreation, without mention of the chief of these, the automobile. "The church—as the dominant element in the social life of the community," we read, "has naturally suffered by this development. And it is natural that interest in the church as an institution should decline with the decline of attendance upon its services. Under the circumstances the fact that church membership and church treasuries are more than holding their own has a reassuring aspect. Evidently the country people, if they don't go to church as much as they did, approve of it just as much."

ARIZONA BOLL WEEVIL MAY MENACE WEST TEXAS SOON.

West Texas has been feeling reasonably safe from infestation of the boll weevil, since the entomologists have told us repeatedly that the boll weevil could not withstand the high altitude of the plains country. Now comes the direful report that a type of boll weevil has been discovered in Arizona, that threatens this section with a new cotton weevil according to the state entomologist of that state.

The new weevil has been discovered in the mountains about Tucson and is able to withstand high altitudes, making it especially dangerous to some parts of West Texas.

The new pest is said to be ravaging the cotton fields near the mountains, having come down from the wild cotton of the higher altitudes. The state of Arizona has attempted to stop its spread by creating a non cotton area near the mountains. This section has caused an injunction suit by property owner McDonald, who has been summoned as a witness for the state of Arizona.

Unless the pest is checked it will spread and soon be in West Texas McDonald said. The new weevil is said to be a very hardy creature with power to withstand both cold and heat. McDonald departed for Prescott, where the injunction proceedings are in progress.

BRIGHT SPOTS.

All along the pathway of life there are rough spots, but if we will observe a little, we will find also the smooth places. In the storm clouds, the black, there is also silver linings, and the editor of this paper though he receives some jolts, is really brought to realize now and then that some one really cares. One of these times came this week when our good friend Thomas, who takes care of the Methodist church and grounds, and raises a great bunch of pretty flowers, presented the editor of this paper with a bouquet of flowers that brightened the editorial department with their beauty and fragrance for many hours.

Now some fellows will say: "Oh, I could have done better than that. I could have filled your office with flowers." But, bud, did you do it? That is the question. Good deeds not done, are of no avail. Good intentions never get a fellow anywhere, but the things that are actually done are the things that count.

This was not all of the bright-spots, however, but our friend, H. L. Simpson, brought down a nice treat of delicious peaches from his favorite tree in the back yard, and this too brought a keen realization that this is not a really cruel world after all, and that the bright spots still show up, that there is a silver lining, and if we but cast about, we will find it; and then again, a little further down the line we were again remembered in all kindness with a basket full of fruit—peaches and apricots from the orchard of our good friend, O. G. Kershner. The Avalanche editor appreciates friendship, and we are glad to count these fellows among those who "really care."

A LITTLE MORE REPUBLICAN PROSPERITY (?)

The New York State Industrial Commission reports a decline in factory employment in April and May amounting to 7 per cent. About 100,000 workers were dropped from factory payrolls during the two months. The greatest decline has been in the apparel and textile trades with some slackening in the metal industry.

BAND TO PLAY THE OLD GAME OF "SUCKERS" IS REVIVED SUNDAY P. M.

R. Borden, director of the Lubbock Band, has announced that the band will play a concert on the courthouse lawn Sunday afternoon at five o'clock to which the public is invited. Mr. Borden and the members of the band have spared no efforts in making of it one of the best band organizations in the country and the membership being composed of experienced musicians enables them to render a class of music not achieved by the average band, most especially is it impossible for a band of such short existence to anything like approach the artfulness of this organization.

PUBLIC OPINION

THE LABORER The newspapers and politicians have for a long time been telling the people how sincere they are about the enforcement of all laws. Pardon me if I should try to expose the hypocrisy that has been deluding the poor laborer. We have here among us a sample of this high-handed hypocrisy. The laborer is made to serve his master for ten long hours for less than what he should get for eight hours. You find a class of people high up in authority preaching to the rest of the world truth and honesty. Many of this belshazzar crowd intimidate the hard pressed laborer by telling him that he can work long hours, although the compensation is small he can get by in the end. Now dear reader and fellow laborer, let us see how the line we have a labor law on the statute books to protect us from this Pharonic crowd. Why not exercise your mental and moral powers as well as your physical powers? All work for the state and county municipal government is eight hours. The price per hour is the current price in the locality. The current price is forty cents per hour. So you can readily see that instead of working for ten hours for three dollars you ought to have $3.20 for eight hours work. I need not say anything about the penalty attached to this law because this will not help the worker to pay his house rent, and grocery bill but would like to impress the worker that eight hours would come nearer getting him by than ten hours. Labor is not a commodity like cattle and hogs.

I would suggest that any person or set of men who claimed to be enlightened, and who violate the law day by day, ought to be made to realize "The way of the transgressor is hard." —A Reader.

PRESS COMMENT

About the only thing the modern girl is shy of, according to the Hale, Mo., Leader, is shyness.

A careful investigation of the subject by the Erie, Kas., Record, shows that no woman can talk for more than fifty seconds over the telephone and not start giggling and talking foolishness.

A teacher took this note to mean that the parent disapproved of corporal punishment: "Dear Miss: Don't hit our boy. We never do it at home, except in self-defense." —Altoona, Kas., Tribune.

Some men display their bravery by going to war—others declare the McPherson, Kas., Republican, by operating filling stations.

There is one thing that Mount Everest, says the Great Bend, Kas., Tribune, the man who reaches the top is surely assured of a chataquus future.

The Eldorado, Kas., Times, declares no homely girl ever got a job at an orange stand or a popcorn machine.

"Ever notice," asks the Altoona, Kas., Tribune, "that the fellow who says he already takes more papers than he has time to read hardly ever looks it?"

THE OLD GAME OF "SUCKERS" IS REVIVED

McPHERSON, Kas., July 12—An old game was revived in this district this week, with two traveling men, playing the role of "suckers." The two traveling men, and another man described as young, well dressed and to all appearance an easterner, were sole occupants of the smoking compartment on a mixed passenger train.

The conversation drifted to the late democratic convention and ultimately to Mr. Volstead. The discussion revealed that neither of the three men were in favor of Volstead's restrictions. With this information at hand the young man, casually remarked he had a few quarts of "cold tea," in his grip, and would sell two of them for just what they cost. He seemed sorry for the westerners who could get nothing but "rotten bootleg stuff," he said.

The deal was consummated, the price being $8 per quart for two. "But I would rather you wouldn't open it until I get off the train as the officers in this state, I understand are rather belligerent towards the 'wet hip,' he remarked. Of course they would respect his wishes, so long as he was so accommodating.

The young fellow got off, the traveling men lost no time in opening their new purchase. A close or rather casual investigation showed the young man had not lied about the "cold tea" for it really was rather cold, and just as pure as the wives of the traveling men could make for much less than $8 a quart.

JUST A WORD

Friend Dow: As a life long Democrat and one who believes in good government, I want to congratulate you upon your editorial appearing in the Avalanche of July 11th: "Why Make a Political Campaign a Cesspool?"

If those running for office and their supporters would follow the gratis, and sound advice given in said editorial it would not only be beneficial to them, but it would prove to the people of this section that our citizenship does not believe in "mud slinging" campaigns. Let every voter study the various candidates as to their qualifications for the office to which they apply, then ask the question: "Is he honest, is he competent?" No man should be elected to any office, if he is not honest and competent to fill said office. It has been too often the case that people are put into office simply because they were good mixers among the public, and instead of being a credit to the office and the people, have proven a detriment to the office, as well as a burden to the tax payers.

There is entirely too much "anti-sling" and "anti-that" being injected into the various campaigns. If a candidate is not competent, he or she, should not be placed into any city, county, district or state office.

Off times many competent men are beaten for office, by the lawless element and Jim Crow criminal lawyers, throwing all their support to some good moral man, who they think will be easier to "get by" than some competent, yet firm officer who stands 100 per cent for the enforcement of all laws.

Don't think for one second that the lawless element is going to support a fearless, competent, advocate of law enforcement. They never have and they never will do so. I have made it a rule to study the qualifications of all candidates and have, on several occasions voted against men, of whom I had the highest esteem, yet believed them incompetent to fill the office to which they aspired. Not because we did not esteem their friendship—but because we believed the other man better qualified to fill the office.

No candidate, or his supporters can gain the vote of any worthy citizen by "mud slinging" or defaming the character of his opponent. No man is worthy of a public trust who cannot be elected upon his record as a citizen or former office holder.

We are glad that the Avalanche has come out against the present mode of campaigning, and in conclusion ask that those responsible for "mud slinging" and defaming of characters, reports stop such tactics. Hurrah for Davis and Bryan! —A DEMOCRAT.

ONLY ONE AMERICAN PLACED IN FIRST SATURDAY ON FIELD STREWN WITH UNCONSCIOUS MEN OVERCOME BY HEAT

By HENRY L. FARRELL (UP Staff Correspondent)

COLOMBES STADIUM, Paris, July 12.—In a sweltering heat that caused the black cinders and the green field of the Colombes stadium to be dotted with the white limp forms of unconscious athletes, American track and field teams rose to new heights of Olympic glory today, and the end of a torturing day found our flag still there at the top of the Standard of Victory.

To Harold F. Osborne, Illinois A. C. all around star, the United States is indebted for our only first place of the day. The rangy spectacle athlete triumphed in the decathlon—ten events in one, in which he beat the world's best including the record holder, Klumberg of Estonia, and set a new record.

So intense was the heat that many athletes collapsed. Four Swedes, including their star distance runner, Wide are in the hospital tonight, one of them, Turreson, at the point of death.

Runners collapsed right and left as they entered the oven like stadium for the final lap at the end of the 10,000 meters cross country course. The straight away was strewn with bodies at one time. Ambulances clanged across the center field, hurrying to hospital with casualties. All the American runners escaped prostration and were able to walk or stagger to the dressing rooms without assistance.

Treason of Sweden's cross country team, has just a chance to recover, Dr. Maric, trainer of Scandinavians announced, the athletes pulse was falling and he was given two hypodermics to which he failed to respond. The Marathon run scheduled for tomorrow will be run early in the evening instead of the afternoon, because of the heat. The reason for the numerous prostrations today was given by the coaches as follows:

The runners in the 10,000 meters cross country event, after toiling over hill and dale under the blazing sky for more than six miles, were required to enter the stadium and run once around the 500 meter track.

Exhausted by their efforts, and with their lungs crying for air, they plunged stiffly under the temperature nearly 100 degrees.

One after another, the runners dropped in their tracks. Some lay on the cinders where they fell.

Mrs. N. E. McKay and three children arrived this week for a visit with Mrs. McKay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Slagle, at 1625, 16th st.

CROSBYTON MEETS LOCAL AMATEURS HERE TODAY

According to the dope sheet, which has been in the course of formation for the past week, the local amateurs are slated for another win over Crosbyton, when they meet these East Plains lads at the Merrill park at 3:30 this afternoon.
Skipper Allen, of the local nine dryly remarked last night that he is due for a hit, provided this writer does not appear on the scene, and went on to explain that someone apparently was a "jonus", but said he would call no names. The result remains an uncertain quantity.
Anyway, Crosbyton is believed to be coming strong in an effort at retaliation for the drubbing given them on July 4th on their home grounds before an Independence Day crowd. Terry, the "terror" is slated for mound duty. Admission will be 50c.

FIRST ANNUAL GOLF MEET TO OPEN TUES.

Beginning Tuesday, July 15th at three o'clock Mayor Friend is to drive the first ball for the Municipal Golf Club's formal opening of the first annual golf tournament played on this course.
The first flights as qualifying rounds will consist of eighteen holes and to be played by pairs, each player to turn in his opponent's score.

Players will then be classed according to their qualifying score in groups of eight, pairs drawn for elimination flights until the champion of each class is determined.
It doesn't make any difference if you haven't ever played golf or do not know a tee-box from a bunker, there will be room for you in the beginners class where you will feel equal to your opponent, so get in with the rest of the bunch where you won't feel like the "timid soul" for you may be a "Rabe Ruth" or "Hagen" in the rough, for who can tell until you try.
Much gratitude is felt toward the members of the Lubbock Country Club in the promotion and building of Lubbock's municipal

MUNICIPAL GOLF COURSE ONE OF BEST IN STATE, SAYS OFFICIAL WHO URGES MORE INTEREST BE TAKEN BY GENERAL PUBLIC

Things are beginning to hum around the municipal golf links, said J. O. Smith, president of the Association, Saturday, in commenting on the status of the club, but the thing needed now, according to Smith, is a little more interest and enthusiasm toward the game on the part of the general public.

By constant effort, and some personal expense on the part of Smith and a few others, the course has been made "into one of the best" in this part of the state, and further improvements will be made from time to time as funds will permit. In fact, some of the Country Club enthusiasts who went to a great deal of expense in improving the course there, have been around the municipal links for several games, and pronounce it equally as good as the other. And some admit that it is better so far as developing real golf play in the individual is concerned.
Many are taking advantage of the municipal links, according to Smith, and are deriving much benefit from it at a very small cost, but others could and should be doing the same thing. Golf formerly was considered a game for the aristocrats only, and was engaged in principally by them but in modern times is very different. "The game is not a rich man's game," Smith said, "but one that is within easy reach of the moderate wage-earner."

A fee of $15.00 annually or $7.50 semi-annually gives one full benefit of the course at all times if he wishes to use it. Or better yet, if a person doesn't want to take out an annual membership card, and just wants to occasionally drop by for a game, a green fee of 25c is collected each game.
Much comment has been heard from the traveling public as to the merits of the course, many of whom have put the course to use while they spent a few hours in the city. They pronounce it one of the best that can be found in the state considering the size of the city. In fact very few cities the size of this attempt to maintain a links of any kind.
"Considering the nominal fee necessary for membership, the course should be a veritable hive of athletes," said Smith, who urges that more take advantage of the opportunity offered.

HULL SAYS DAVIS PROPER MAN FOR PLACE

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, July 12.—J. W. Davis, the nominee for president, "is pre-eminently the man to lead the fight against the wholesale corruption and public immorality existing at Washington during the Harding-Coolidge administrations," Cordell Hull, chairman of the democratic national committee declared in a statement tonight.

It would be idle and futile to consider the bedrock of sound public morals and official honesty," Hull said.

This statement was regarded as the key to what the democrats will make the issue of the presidential campaign—honesty in government.

"The democrats held an unbossed, free for all convention that will go down in history and nominated an outstanding ticket," Hull continued.

"In character, initiative, courage, and constructive statesmanship, Jno. W. Davis has not a superior in this generation, clean efficient and liberal government for the people of the United States will be guaranteed by the election of John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan."

"This righteous undertaking would be impossible under a continuation which is responsible for the shameful conditions of official graft and corruption, dominated the recent republican convention and would still be in control of another republican administration. And further because the present administration has done nothing and shown no inclination to remedy the conditions complained of. Therefore, there is no ground for belief that it would do anything different if continued in power."

"I have known John W. Davis intimately for many years. His views and his character are as broad as the continent and no person more accurately typifies the sound, liberal and progressive ideas and doctrines best calculated to promote every phase of our business, economic and social affairs than Mr. Davis."

"Governor Charles W. Bryan is a thoroughly aggressive and practical governor of a western state, who has given his people an exceptional progressive administration. No more capable and deserving candidate for vice president could have ever been selected."

"The ticket of Davis and Bryan will strongly appeal to the intellectual honesty of every lover of good government and every detester of the extremely low standards of public service which have been set up by the republican administration of the past three and a half years."

"I am sanguine in the belief that an overwhelming victory for honest and clean government in November."

By Charles Dupre, son of Prof. M. M. Dupre.

An impersonation of Boyard Valier's famous book, "Within The Law" was then presented by Mrs. Hamilton. This great book has been read by many and those who attended Friday's program were impressed with Mrs. Hamilton's ability as a reader.

Miss Leene Carlisle contributed much to the program with two beautiful vocal numbers, "Thank God for a Garden" and "Wake Up."

Miss Marguerite Huff played the piano in accompaniment with all the singers who appeared on this program.

Many of them have spent considerable time and money to furnish a place of recreation for the people of Lubbock who for various reasons are not members of the Country Club, while others have agreed to take memberships in order to help in the maintenance of the club. This is surely an act of unselfishness and is in keeping with the teachings of the greatest of all games—courtesy and fair play to your opponent.

All memberships received up to six o'clock Monday evening will entitle the holders to places in the tournament.

Simmons Working Out Foot Ball Schedule

ABILENE, July 12.—Though two months remain before the opening of the football training season, Coach P. E. Shotwell, former Abilene high school athletic director, and Victor Payne of the Simmons College are turning all their attention to completing final arrangements for the early season training of what is believed will be the greatest galaxy of high school stars ever gathered at Simmons.

Coach Shotwell will begin his first season with Simmons in September. The championship Abilene high team of last season was made up almost altogether of seniors and as a result of the high school coach's transfer to Simmons every indication is that the greater part of that group will follow him there.

A heavy schedule confronts the two coaches, who replaced A. B. Hays, resigned. However, local football fans are confident that Shotwell will attack the stiff schedule with the same pep and enthusiasm with which he sent Abilene high school teams into the semi-final game of the state championship race for four successive years.

The Cowboys open with Baylor University at the West Texas Fair here on Saturday, September 27. This is the second year the Bears have met the Cowboys in the feature contest of the Fair, having won out last year, 14 to 0. An effort will be made to arrange a game with some lighter team the Saturday preceding Baylor game, though it is possible the Cowboys may be forced to go into the contest without the benefit of a lighter engagement before hand.

A hard tussle confronts the Simmons aggregation the Saturday following the Bear clash. The Aus-

"WITHIN THE LAW" PRESENTED BY HAMILTON

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Methodist Church presented Mrs. Minnie Proctor Hamilton in a miscellaneous program at the High School auditorium Friday evening.

The attendance taxed the seating capacity of the auditorium.

Mrs. Hamilton was introduced by Mrs. George Wolffarth president of the Woman's Missionary Society.

"Berceus" by Stoddard was sung by Mrs. E. B. Porter, who is one of the leading entertainers of the city.

Mrs. Hamilton gave several readings, some of which were in negro dialect, one of which was a negro sermon which gave her opportunity to exhibit her skill as an interpreter of that dialect. Her poems readings also featured Mrs. Hamilton's appearance.

"Why Don't My Dreams Come True" was a touching solo rendered.

GREAT WELCOME IS PREPARED FOR BRYAN

By United Press.
LINCOLN, Neb., July 12.—The executive mansion was in order and the last minute touch made today for the home coming welcome of Governor Charles W. Bryan, democratic nominee for vice president.

Monday.

After Lincoln people have acclaimed the first citizen of their state in a mass meeting at the depot and parade through the business section, Governor Bryan will be escorted to the executive mansion.

Every table delicacy that delights the governor has been chosen by Mrs. Bryan for the Monday luncheon. Fried chicken and "Baptist" gravy, new potatoes, tomato, string beans, and ice cream covered with red raspberries will be on the table for "Governor Charley". Only one of the favorite dishes of the governor has been left out, hot biscuits.

"It's too warm for the servants" and besides I don't wish to humiliate the governor too much," Mrs. Bryan smilingly explained in an interview with the United Press.

The Bryan family lives plainly. Even in the governor's mansion there is no pomp or formality.

A few colored servants, old retainers of the family, keep the tall ceilings and old fashioned rooms of the home immaculate. No speck of dust glinted from the gilt woodwork on the tapestry furniture.

Mrs. Bryan is a home lover. She spoke affectionately of her two children, Silas, an attorney in Minneapolis, and Mary Louise, June bride of this year.

Asked regarding the governor's church affiliations, she said: "Governor Bryan was raised in a very religious family of Baptists. Although he never became a member of the church, he is thoroughly a Baptist at heart."

"After all, most men leave church work to their wives."

The trouble with being a musician is you usually look the part.

DOUBLE WIN BOOSTS PIRATES INTO 3RD PLACE

NEW YORK, July 12.—The Pittsburgh Pirates climbed into third place in the National League tonight, by taking the ends of a double header from Philadelphia. Brooklyn idle on account of rain, dropped to fourth place. The Giants strengthened their already secure hold on first place by overwhelming the Chicago Cubs 14 to 3.

Rain postponed the other two games.

The Washington Senators dropped back to third by splitting even with the Cleveland Indians, and Detroit by defeating Philadelphia are now next to the leading New York Yankees. The Chicago White Sox moved into the first division by winning a sand lot game from Boston 17 to 8, while the St. Louis Browns dropped into fifth place by losing their game to the Yankees.

The King of Swat is now leading in the American League for batting honors with percentage of .375. Clats on Ruth's heels is Falk of the White Sox with .373.

Jamieson of the Indians and Ty Cobb are third and fourth places respectively.

Rogers Hornsby, of the St. Louis Cardinals continues to lead the swatters in the National League, trailed by Wheat and Wilson.

SEMINOLE BOY IS SENTENCED TO REFORMATORY RECENTLY

Sheriff F. L. Britton, of Gaines County, passed through Lubbock Saturday enroute home from Gatesville, where he had been to take Jim Covatt, eleven year old, Gaines County boy to the state reformatory.

The boy was sentenced to serve five years in the reformatory for the murder of his father near Seminole early this month. The boy together with his thirteen year old brother were said to have been playing about their home when their step-father went to sleep after which the eleven year old boy is alleged to have shot him to death with a pistol.

The boys told their mother and authorities that their step-father had been killed by a man who rode up to the house on a black horse, went into the house, shot their father and left on the horse. They made their story all the more effective by describing the man they claimed visited the place as being light complexioned. It was not until after two days after the shooting that the older boy finally told how the eleven year old boy had done the shooting.

The boys were given a speedy trial which resulted in Jim's five year sentence to the reformatory while his brother was placed under probation with his mother as guardian.

COLLEGE BOYS ARE DOING CAMPUS WORK AT T. C. U.

By SAM PACE
FORT WORTH, July 12.—College men afraid to get their hands dirty! Folks who think the rah-rah boys wear white collars and boiled shirts from their first month in the university until they get mused up in the struggle of real life should take a look at the campus at Texas Christian University some afternoon.

Preachers, athletes, literary leaders, blossoming intellectuals of every stamp are doing the campus labor this summer.

When Business Manager Butler S. Smiser decided last spring that the big Clark Hall for men would have to be renovated for an overflow crowd next fall he didn't worry about the labor problem but simply thought of the "back to the farm" contagion that strikes the university each year and set about at once to see what his boys could do besides playing football and passing exams.

College boys can work with the rest of them according to Smiser. And when the city boys get used to the "best he works right" along with his country cousin he says. He is inclined to favor the country lad for steadiness at the real farm-like jobs such as shoveling dirt and trimming the shrubbery.

He has students doing everything from stenographic work to picking hay. Painting, carpentering, digging, cement-mixing, and gardening are all included in the gamut of work that Smiser is putting them through.

They get paid by the hour in most cases and are working this summer to pay their way through school next year. Most of them find some kind of work to do throughout the year.

Smiser has little trouble in getting the athletes to work. They are looking so earnestly forward to the hard September grind on the gridiron that they will do anything that will harden their muscles. The preachers are also hard workers.

Erwin Montgomery of McKinney, who preaches every Sunday at some outlying church and is captain-elect of the track team, is one of the stars on the dirt-truck crew. Jim Cantrell, letter man in football basketball, and track, is also on the truck. He has been working for the university now two summers.

Jim Slayter, of Dallas, one of the most promising scholars in the university, president of the Student Forum, and a literary leader is shoveler of the bunch that shovels dirt and pitches the hay. This is the first try at a sweat-job and he says he likes it. Big Isaac George, all-Southwest Conference basketball center, wields the shovel as well as the rest of the crew. He is getting in shape to try his fortune at football this fall.

Bill Honey, of Lubbock, football halfback and baseball outfielder, helped Kellus Turner of baseball fame from Amarillo, in painting beds in Clark Hall. "Jew" Forrest Levy, of Killeen, sits in Athletic Director Pete Wright's office, carries on the office's correspondence, looks after the big swimming pool, and occasionally looks out the window and asks the dirt-shovelers how they like it. He does not claim to be overworked. Levy is a letter man in baseball and football.

Bedford Smith, J. C. Phillips, Marshall Crawford, Pierce and Albert Burns, and Tremon Starr, all of them preachers, are at work at the grass and shrubbery on the big campus. They preach on Sundays and do their refecting and sermon preparing while they work.

Adam Ross of Pecos, president of the freshman class during the past year, carpenters in Clark Hall. And when they all finish the day's work they come into the university cafeteria where Froggie Lovvorn of Stamford, basketball and baseball star, serves them their supper.

NEARLY 3000 STUDENTS REGISTER IN TEXAS U. SUMMER SCHOOL

AUSTIN, July 12.—Records in the office of the auditor, W. R. Long of the University of Texas show that 2,775 students have registered during the first term of the summer session. The enrollment in the regular summer school is larger than that of last year, and especially there is a gain in advanced work and in the graduate school. There are approximately three hundred graduate students in the University at the present time, and about 75 of them are candidates for masters degrees to be conferred at the summer commencement exercises on August 30.

The second term of the summer school will open on July 19, and preparations are being made for the reception of new students at that time. A large proportion of old students will remain for both terms, said Dr. Frederick Iby, director of the summer school, and there will be many new registrations, especially of students who expect to take degrees in August.

AN UNUSUAL ACCIDENT

By United Press.
SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., July 12.—John Ormsby, local carpenter in the General Hospital here as the result of what physicians assert was one of the most unusual injuries on record. While working in a mill the injured man was struck in the throat by a piece of lumber hurled across the room from a hand saw. The throat was torn open and the wind-pipe smashed flat. Ormsby was slowly choking to death until a hydropneumatic relaxed the muscles of the air passage enough to permit limited breathing.

PUBLISHER HERE ON TOUR OF THE PLAINS

Lewis J. Wortham, of the Carter-Wortham Publishing Company, publishers of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, accompanied by L. A. Wells, of Amarillo and R. Nelson, of Fort Worth, were here Saturday on a tour of the plains. The publisher and Senator W. H. Bledsoe, both of whom have figured conspicuously in state politics in Texas for a number of years, spent more than an hour together Saturday morning discussing the present situation and other topics in which they have a common interest.

The publisher left early Saturday morning for Levelland, Hockley county, to look over seal estate holdings in which he is interested.

Ku Klux And Anti-Ku Klux Is Okla. Issue

International News Service.
TULSA, Okla., July 12.—Political observers in Oklahoma are quietly watching the political strategy being played by eight Oklahomans who believe they have a fighting chance to win the nomination for United States senator.

Ku Klux Klan and Anti-Ku Klux Klan is the big issue in every circle. On the republican side, Eugene Lorton, publisher of the Tulsa World is outspokenly opposed to the Klan. Through his newspaper and on the platform he expounds his opinion seemingly without thinking of the political consequences. While W. B. Pine, Lorton's chief opponent for the republican nomination is said to have taken another method; he is ignoring the Klan issue. Dr. Hugh Scott, of Muskogee, third republican candidate, so far as is known has not taken any uncompromising stand either way.

On the democratic side, Jack Walton is bitterly assailing the Klan, while Charles J. Wrightman, Tulsa Oil Millionaire, and former Senator T. P. Gore, the other leading democratic aspirants, diplomatically refuse to commit themselves. In Enid Wrightman has enlisted both Klansmen and anti-Klansmen, the same novel situation also prevailing among Gore supporters.

If Lorton should win the republican nomination and Walton is the democratic candidate, there will be two pronounced anti-Klansmen aspirants opposing each other. In this event it is expected the Klan vote will go to Campbell Russell, former corporation commissioner, who filed for the senate as an independent. At least this solution has been advanced by some observers. Just how near they are correct is difficult. Surely the Klan vote will not go to Walton, Lorton does not care for it, and it must go someplace, for it is a measurably large enough to do something if organized. Organizing it however, seems rather a difficult task.

On the other hand if Pine and Wrightman face each other in the fall campaign each one will probably draw both Klan and anti Klan support.

George Wilson and W. J. Loe, candidates for the third party nomination, both have announced themselves opposed to the Klan.

An opinion in some circles is that Prince Freeling and E. B. Howard, remaining aspirants for the democratic nomination are out of the race. These royalties come at different intervals, and it has been estimated that the total amount of royalties for oil produced up to the end of July

Retiring President Of Texas University Oil Land Report

AUSTIN, Texas, July 12.—At the request of Acting President W. S. Sutton of the University of Texas the following statement pertaining to the University of Texas oil lands has just been made by Dr. J. A. Unned of the bureau of economic geology: "According to an authentic report from the proper sources in the State Capitol there has been deposited by the Land Commissioner of Texas the sum of $7,398, representing royalties on oil produced on the University lands in the Reagan County field. These royalties come at different intervals, and it has been estimated that the total amount of royalties for oil produced up to the end of July in this field may amount to as much as $8,000.

This would indicate that the total production of the field up to the present time has been something like 32,000 barrels. The development has been slow on account of oil occurring at the considerable depth of about 3,000 feet below the surface. As geologists look at this field it is not impossible that it may grow far beyond its present development. The geological conditions are said to be such that it is impossible to foretell beforehand either the possible size of the field or its outline. They say there is some reason to believe that the field will extend in a northeast-southwest direction, but again it is possible that it may not show much development on this trend.

"What seems to be the most trustworthy opinion is that the field will have to be worked out by drilling and that conjectures ahead of the drill are apt to be unreliable. Under the present conditions it is certainly premature, and in the opinion of many unwise to formulate any policies for financing the university from such an uncertain source. It cannot fail to be harmful to spread the opinion that even the taxes in the state of Texas will be lightened by oil royalties from this field.

It is even possible that such royalties, coming for a few years during the production on this field, might prove to do harm to the University which should have a steady income, independent of the production of oil of cotton, or of beef. Such was evidently the intention of the wise men who set aside lands for the building of a great University in this State. No great University can ever be built upon a less certain foundation than a steady income that can be figured on for many years ahead."

As the guests entered they were served to delicious fruit punch and after the guests had gathered, Mrs. G. N. Atkins appeared with telegram blanks, on which each one was given the privilege of writing a message of congratulations to Mr. James R. Self, of Crowell, to whom Miss Wilhelm will be married on Tuesday, July 22nd. Each sentence beginning with the initial letter of their name, then each read their message aloud.

Mrs. D. J. Wilhelm, the mother of the honoree, was given a spool and requested to wind, which led her thru several rooms, then finally to the place where a dainty pair of pillow cases were placed. Then another was given to the bride-elect, who like wise followed a string to where a suit case was hidden which was labelled with the following words: "I am old and rusted, and if you don't soon open me, I will be busted," and upon opening, the brief jingle proved to be right by the quantity of gifts disclosed, which consisted of the daintiest linens, and cut glass to kitchen articles, which were unwrapped and adored by the honoree.

A pretty and quiet home wedding was solemnized Saturday morning at nine o'clock, when Miss Ruby Cook and Steve Edsall were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Cook, 2005 Broadway.

Before an improvised altar of fern mingled with sweet peas and Shasta Dahlias, with stately palms and gladioli on either side, stood the couple while the impressive ring ceremony was said by Rev. E. E. Robinson, presiding elder of the Lubbock District of the Methodist church, in the presence of the immediate family and friends.

The bride was charming in a gown of powder blue canteen crepe and georgette, and wore a picture hat to match, the carried a bouquet of white rose buds and was attended by her sister, Miss Sue Cook, as bridesmaid, while Overton Neal, of Quanah, acted as best man.

After the nuptial ceremony the bridal party and guests repaired to the dining room, where a large wedding cake, which was placed in the center of the table and banked around with a profusion of sweet peas, was cut and served with saintly pink and white ices. A miniature hand painted bride was used for favors and placed on each plate.

The bride is a charming young lady and has resided in Lubbock for several months, during which time her sweet personality has won for her many admirers.

Mr. Edsall is the son of H. V. Edsall and was reared in Lubbock, but for the past year he has resided in San Diego, California, where he has been in the employ of the Dodge Sales Agency. He has a host of friends in Lubbock and is a promising young business man.

so many models are using it. Sometimes the tunic is achieved merely by attaching a pleated apron to the front of a simple frock, the tunic reaching just below the knees. Again, there may be both a front and back apron, with a double sash joining them together at the sides. The three-tiered front tunic is also noticeable, with three flounces of the material forming the front of the skirt beginning at a low waistline.

A Lovely Silk Frock.
Among the lovely silk frocks one sees the colorful printed material shadowed by a complete overdress of chiffon of a dark shade. Several such gowns used huge white polka dots on a blue background with an overdress of navy blue chiffon. This is effective on matronly figures. Rose figured crepe with a brown chiffon over-dress is very lovely as one has the pretty vivid rose tints modified by the sheer over-dress.

SPLENDID BOOKS JUST RECEIVED AT LIBRARY

Among the new books received at the Lubbock Public Library Saturday, one of unusual interest is "The Story of a Great Schoolmaster," written by H. G. Wells, well known author, giving a plain account of the life of his friend, P. W. Sanderson, head master of the Durdale School, and his new idea in education. Mr. Wells writes in this book: "I think him beyond the greatest man I have ever known with any degree of intimacy. He was in himself a very delightful mixture of subtlety and simplicity, generosity, adventurous imagination and steadfast purpose, and he approached the general life of our time at such an angle as to reflect the most curious and profitable lights upon it. To tell his story is to reflect upon all the main educational ideas of the last half century and to revise our conception of the process and purpose of education."

Another of special notice is the small book of poems, "The Home Road," written by Martha Haskell Clark.

Other books among the list are: "Buddence's Daughter," by Ethel Hughes; "A Wilderness Dog," by Clarence Hawkes; "Roses for All American Climaxes," by George C. Thomas, Jr.; "Shaggycoat," by Clarence Hawkes; "Monsieur Beaucaire," by Booth Tarkington and "The Book of Building and Interior Decorating," edited by Reginald T. Townsend.

SUMMER HINTS FOR THE HOME DRESSMAKER

By HEDDA HOYT
Fashion Editor of United Press
(Written for United Press)

NEW YORK, July 12—Skirts are much shorter in Paris than in America, many of them extending just below the knees. The Parisian influence is already noticed in New York, where many of the younger women are wearing skirts 14 to 18 inches from the floor. Just now the Parisians are wearing a couple of inches shorter in front than in the rear. Lines of frocks remain simple and straight, and trimming is a minor affair, except on evening gowns, which are conspicuously glittering with beads and rhinestones.

Short sleeves are worn everywhere in Paris, on the streets, at the races and for all daytime as well as evening occasions. A few women, wishing to get away from the short sleeve vogue, are wearing full bell-shaped sleeves, which are gathered in at the wrist. Where such sleeves are used, the remainder of the frock is extremely simple, and all trimming is applied to the sleeves.

The colorful kerchief, which is worn about the neck of the sports frock, tying on one shoulder, is still worn abroad.

Five-piece matched lingerie sets are popular with the Parisian woman who prefers her vest, bloomers, brassiere, costume slip and nightgown to match in fabric and color. These are lovely sets for the bride who chooses several sets of white and a few sets of pastel shades.

Felt hats continue to be popular for day occasions and the straw cloche is seldom seen. Where straw hats are used they are usually of the large horse-hair type with the single flower trim.

Short, wrist-length gloves are being worn with the sleeveless frocks. Natural colored chamois is the popular kid and these fasten tightly about the wrist when they are not of the short, slip-on variety. Few white gloves are being worn.

Plaid frocks, with wide, patent leather belts, placed at low waistline are popular. Often these are made with the tunic skirt posed over a light underslip.

Lace frocks, with three-quarter length lace capes, are sponsored for dressy wear. These are invariably worn with large lace hats and the lace cape or capelet is of fine colored, in contrast of the shade of the frock. Pale gray and nude-dyed laces are popular for such frocks in drape combinations.

The Parisian often wears her scarf about her waist instead of about her neck. The latest scarf idea is to wind the colorful scarf about the low waistline with ends falling at one side-front.

Very large envelope bags are preferred to other types this season. Often they match the trimming of the frock or the hat.

Plain pumps are quite as popular in Paris as they are in America. Over-dressy types of footwear are put into the discard.

heavy crepe, which is finished at the bottom with a lace flounce. These tie about the waist with ribbon sashes and may be worn under any sheer slip or worn with the heavier frock which does not demand a slip to insure sun-proofness.

FORTUNE SMILES ON THE HARVEY FAMILY ONCE MORE

International News Service.
CLEBURNE, Texas, July 12—Once more lady fortune smiled kindly on the Harvey family here, and the second son was returned home after a harrowing experience not as extensive as his brother's Alva, who was lost in the wilds of Alaska, but undoubtedly crowded with as many thrills in its comparative limited endurance. Lester Harvey, the brother, one of three men employed on a scaffold seventy feet in the air, at Fort Worth collapsed, killing two, leaving Harvey suspended in mid-air, when after falling ten feet his clothing caught on a protruding piece of iron, and held him till he could be rescued and he was unharmed.

The only natural agent producing glare was the sun, but with the introduction of gas and electricity as illuminating agents, the eye has been forced to contend with new perils.

BERLING GOES IN FOR BULL FIGHTS FOR TAXES

By United Press
BERLIN, July 12.—The Spanish-German consortium, promoting the plan for bullfights in the Berlin Stadium are trying to wheedle permission for the same from the city with the lure of gold.

They have carefully pointed out that the city's partly empty coffers could be replenished handsomely with "pleasure taxes" amounting to 500,000 Renten marks which would accrue from the fights. Considerable opposition, however, has developed, particularly on the part of laboring men, who contend this would be not only brutal sport but wasteful extravagance.

POPULAR SCIENCE

How Was Tut's Mummy Preserved?

King Tut-Ankh-Amen was buried some 3,400 years ago. An English lord, an American scientist and some others two years ago discovered his tomb. Under the jealous guard of the Egyptian government they unsealed it and found among other marvelous and priceless relics the mummy of the great Reformer-King, and it was perfectly preserved.

How? What material did the ancient undertaker use to preserve the monarch's body for tens of centuries—until Judgment Day, as they thought, when the spirit would return to inhabit the clay?

First of all, the ancient embalmer made a plaster mask of the dead king's face and bust, and this was painted so as to present a portrait of him. Next, the embalmer removed the internal organs, and, by use of asphalt and other simple chemicals, completely dried the remains. Then he wrapped the body in fine linen, binding the portrait-mask to the body with the wrappings. So the mummy was made ready for its case. This usually was of wood, covered in part with a thin coat of plaster which was painted, often with an other portrait of the dead person and with hieroglyphics (picture-writings) relating the life of the dead.

The hieroglyphics are what enabled archaeologists to reconstruct the history of Egypt—one of the most glorious of ancient civilizations. So from the scientist's point of view, the preservation of these hieroglyphics is of first importance. And that depends on the material they were painted on.

That material is gypsum. The plaster cast of the mummy's head, on which the portrait was painted, and the plaster coating of the mummy-case on which hieroglyphics were painted—both are of gypsum.

Lord Carnarvon's party also found in Tut's tomb vase and other finely carved articles of alabaster—a soft, rock-crystal form of gypsum. In the Pyramid of Cheops and other famous Egyptian graves are gypsum-plastered walls. They have stood up for thousands of years. They are covered with the same kind of plaster used today as the best interior finish for modern buildings.

The Asiatics, too, knew gypsum. The great Field Museum in Chicago contains statues and other works of the Chinese and East Indians made of gypsum. Pliney, the Roman writer on natural history, described its use during the first century A. D. Walls of gypsum plaster were found in the ruins of lava-buried Pompeii. All the great carved masterpieces of the Italian Renaissance are frescoes painted on gypsum-plaster. Michael Angelo insisted on it; he demanded three-coat plaster work as a basis for his paintings—a rule that holds good in building construction today.

Paris, France, is located over a gypsum deposit; that is how plaster of Paris got its name. Many of the cathedral-statues throughout Flanders are carved wood carved covered with plaster. In gypsum, warfare has destroyed many of these French and Belgian works of art.

Others still are in perfect condition, for gypsum endures through ages—as the findings in King Tut's tomb testify.

So much for the ancient history of gypsum. The second story in this series, "How Ben Franklin Wrote His Name in Clover," will give the modern American history of this interesting and extremely useful material.

THAW OBTAINS CONTROL OF HIS ESTATE

By United Press
PHILADELPHIA, July 12—Harry K. Thaw once more has full control of his estate, estimated to be approximately a million and a half dollars.

Dr. Walter Riddle, Pittsburgh, and Howard Irish, Philadelphia, who constituted the committee of the estate of Harry K. Thaw while the millionaire was incarcerated in Kirkbride's asylum here, filed an account of their administration in common pleas court here and turned over the assets to Thaw.

The trustees of the estate in their accounting to the court did not show the real amount of Thaw's estate, which is made up of several trusts funds. His fortune, however, is about $1,500,000.

Expenditures of the trustees during their control of the estate totaled about $200,000.

The account indicates that a sum of $25,000 was paid in settlement of the claim of the Gump boy against Thaw. Counsel in this case received $7,500, the estate paid $10,000, and Mrs. Thaw, aged mother of Harry, stated herself that she contributed $15,000 to make the settlement.

Nothing for Evelyn
The 2-year-old, if any paid to Evelyn Nesbit, or her son, whom she claims is the child of her former husband, are not shown by the trustees' accounts.

Thaw's weekly board bill, while he was an inmate of the Pennsylvania Hospital for Mental and Nervous Diseases, was $200, a

Spain Wages War Against The Grape Fly

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The Spanish grape-growers are mobilizing for a war to the finish on the Mediterranean fly, the grape pest that has caused the United States government to exclude all grapes from the Almeria vineyards from importation into this country.

The Spanish government has decided to rid the Almeria vineyards of the pest and protect an export trade amounting to 40,000,000 pesetas annually, according to a report to the Department of Commerce from Assistant Trade Commissioner Burke at Madrid.

The organization of a plant sanitation service will be effected in advance of the government's general plan for agricultural reforms. It is expected that the complete extinction of the Mediterranean fly in the Almeria district will eliminate the pest from the Provinces generally.

Local defense juntas are being established in all the Provinces where they do not already exist and special attention is being given to the Almeria section. The chiefs of the agronomic service all over Spain have been ordered to report by telegraph to the government the appearance of the fruit fly, so that drastic measures may be taken at once for the extinction of the pest. An important plant sanitation service station is to be established at once in Almeria, the district whose grapes are reported by the United States Government to be most infested with the fly. Whenever the fly is discovered in any district the grapes from that district will be excluded from exportation to America.

A recent royal order announces that the government is contemplating nationwide agricultural reforms. One important reform which is contemplated is the establishment of a modern inspection service for the extermination of plant pests in general.

Childhood Murder

BERLIN, July 12.—Because she had always teased him, ten year-old Karl, son of a farm laborer, cold-bloodedly murdered an eight-year-old girl of his home village, Rosenhof, near Whittenberge on the Elbe.

The boy, exceptionally strong for his age, waited for the girl in ambush not far from the village, beat her up and strangled her to death with the string of her knapsack. Then he dragged the corpse to the river and put it among reeds.

The corpse was found the same afternoon by the mother who was looking for her girl whom she had sent out in the morning on an errand. The juvenile murderer when cross examined, because the feud between him and the girl was known, made a full confession.

J. T. Diamond, District Manager for LaSalle Extension University, Railroad and Traffic Department, with headquarters at Wichita Falls, is in Lubbock for a few days on business for his institution.

"WAITER, ONE REINDEER STEAK, WELL DONE"

By United Press
WASHINGTON, July 12.—Reindeer steak will be as easy to get in the cafes during the coming winter as corn beef and cabbage.

Alaskan and Seattle firms have set about making the favorite meat of the cold country the favorite dish of the whole United States. Commercial development of the reindeer industry now has organized for the first time, and arrangements made by wholesale packers for shipments during the fall and winter.

The plans, announced by the Department of the Interior, provide for slaughtering of deer at Kokrines on the Yukon river, where the meat also will be dressed and frozen. The product then will be shipped by barge to Nenana, a terminal of the Alaskan Railroad and there placed in cold storage for distribution locally as well as for exportation by way of Seward and steamer lines.

There are now 3,000 head of reindeer feeding on moss near Cantwell Station on the Alaskan Railroad, and the cold storage there is nearing completion. The number of reindeer in Alaska is estimated at 250,000 with a valuation approximately $6,250,000. Their meat, broiled, fried or roasted, Alaskans say, is the most delectable in the world.

Early Days on The Plains

By J. J. DILLARD

Referring to the hardships among the early settlers of this country I remember that one evening about sundown in the month of February, 1898, that J. B. LeGette asked me to go to Plainview and get Dr. J. H. Wayland to come and see his brother-in-law, Bolin Hall, who was seriously sick.

I left on horseback, riding a large racing stallion that had had a record of racing a mile in two minutes and thirty seconds. Before leaving I secured my heavy winter overcoat, and then mounted and left for Plainview fifty miles distance, traveling at the rate of about fifteen miles an hour, which was reduced perhaps to five or six miles by the time I reached Plainview which was about two A. M. the next morning. I called at the doctor's home and learned that he was out on another call, and was due to return about ten o'clock.

After ascertaining that I would have to wait some eight or ten hours for his return, I placed my horse in the stable and went to the hotel and secured a bed and slept until the hour the doctor was due to return. However the doctor was delayed and returned about twelve o'clock and after eating, we left Plainview for Lubbock about one o'clock p. m. with a fresh team hitched to a large buggy, reaching Lubbock about sundown, it taking about twenty-four hours to make the round trip. Upon reaching Lubbock we at once called upon the sick man and found him much improved.

At one time since I have lived in Lubbock I sold life insurance as a side line, which was in 1898, and the nearest physician was Plainview and I remember that I had five applications and I arranged with Doctor Wayland to come to Lubbock on Saturday and return to Plainview on Sunday.

He arrived on this occasion about dark and registered at the Hotel Nicolet and immediately repaired to the dining room for his supper.

After he came from the dining room to the lobby of the hotel, I informed him that the oil lamp that he could see burning through the window in the court house was my office, and to walk over a few minutes, and that I would go to the postoffice and round up my prospects and bring them over. I left for the post office where several of my applicants were and he left for my office in the court house. Shortly I returned and to my surprise the doctor was not present, but upon investigation, we heard quite a commotion in the basement where the winters supply of coal was stored. The doctor had left the hotel and gone to the court house as instructed, but on entering the south door he had walked westward in the hallway and walked directly under the stairway, and fell into the basement as some one had thoughtlessly left the basement door open. It was inky dark and he could not find his way perhaps ten of fifteen minutes before we found him and was slightly bruised. The shock from the sudden fall of some ten feet had rendered him partially unconscious for a portion of the time, but aside from the bruises and the stunning fall he was soon composed and proceeded with his examinations. He returned the next day. The doctor at this time resides in Plainview. He was the founder of the Wayland college at that place, and was one of the largest contributors in money and time to its building.

We have many persons that live on the plains, and several in Lubbock that have contributed much of their time and resources in the development of Lubbock and surrounding counties.

One man I have in mind came to Lubbock county thirty three years ago. This man was born in Grayson county in December 1845, in the Republic of Texas. At the date of his birth Anson Jones was president of Texas. James K. Polk was the president of the United States, the President Jones convened an extra session of the Congress of Texas on the sixteenth day of June, 1845. This body promptly passed a bill assenting to annexation to the United States.

A convention of delegates convened at Austin, Texas on July 4th 1845 and ratified the annexation bill. The ratification bill and the new constitution of Texas was submitted to a vote of the people in October of the same year. The annexation measure was ratified by the people of Texas almost unanimously. On the third Monday in December, of 1845, Texas held a general election for state officers. The first Texas Legislature met in Austin on the 19 day of February 1846, and Anson Jones the last president of the republic of Texas handed over the executive authority to J. Pinckney Henderson, the first Governor of Texas.

The subject of this sketch has been on the frontier practically all of his life. He was for many years a stock man and in his young days assisted in driving many large herds of cattle from Texas to Kansas, over what was known as the Chisholm trails.

When Lubbock was struggling with her hand full of citizens in combatting our strongest competitors, efforts to secure the main line or cut-off of the Santa Fe, he, with Barrett Penney, were selected to make an overland tour of inspection on horse-back northwest from Lubbock, through the northeast portion of Hoekley, and diagonally through Lamb, through the northeastern portion of Bailey county to Farwell and Texico, and to recommend this route for the Santa Fe railway cut-off. This they did successfully and made their report, which was favorable for railroad construction and the report was later submitted to the Santa Fe railway officials by another special committee in their general offices in Chicago. This committee was composed of Doctor M. C. Overton, C. E. Parks, B. O. McWhorter, W. A. Carlisle and "the writer." This report was complete and the result was that the Santa Fe railway immediately suspended work on construction eastward and sent a corps of engineers to make a preliminary survey from Coleman, Texas, via Sweetwater, Snyder and through the present site of Post City, to Lubbock and thence northwest to Farwell-Texico, which was later adopted and the road eventually constructed.

This man has retired from active life and now devotes all of his time and gives liberally of his money to church work. He was responsible for the building of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church house many years ago. At the time of its construction, it was quite small and the membership was much smaller, only seven members in the organization, but under his leadership it has increased to two hundred or more. He has now reached a ripe age and he insists that since he has consecrated his efforts for God, that his pleasure and enjoyment of life has been greater during the past fifteen years than during the remainder of his past life. He says that the remainder of his days will be consecrated and given in restitution for that portion which he has in days past neglected.

This man—the familiar personage often seen on the streets, walking with cane in hand, straight as a soldier, chivalrous and liberal in all things; generous and benevolent to a fault, is none other than Uncle Eliphale P. Earheart.

There is an Eye that never sleeps
Beneath the wing of night;
There is an Ear that never shuts

When sink the beams of light,
There is an Arm that never tires
When human strength gives way;
There is a Love that never fails
When earthly loves decay,
That Eye fixed on seraph throngs,
That Ear is filled with angel's songs;
That Arm upholds the worlds on high;
That Love is throned beyond the sky.

COMMUNISTS TO FIGHT THIRD PARTY

By United News.
CHICAGO, July 11.—American communists took the opening of national LaFollette headquarters here as the time to launch a bitter attack on the militant United States senator from Wisconsin who has been nominated for the presidency on a third party ticket.

The new LaFollette headquarters opened Friday in the Morrison Hotel. The desks had been moved in, clerks, managers, publicity agents, and all the accoutrements of a political campaign installed just one hour when communist leaders issued an announcement that they would oppose "fighting Bob" and his cohorts to the last ditch.

Wm. Z. Foster, Chicago radical is a leader in the fight to keep LaFollette from the white house. In fact, he has become the candidate of the communists for president—in a new movement launched by Communist leaders.

There is more or less secrecy attached to the movement so far, but eventually the radical leaders intend to come out with an announcement that Foster and Ben Gitlow are their candidates for president and vice-president respectively.

In a secret and acrimonious conference which lasted all night Thursday, the communist faction of the farmer-labor movement decided to withdraw Duncan MacDonald and Wm. Bostick, named as presidential and vice-presidential candidates at the third party conventions recently held in St. Paul and Chicago. The communist elements were responsible for the nomination of these men and it is the same faction that decided to withdraw them from the presidential campaign during the third night conference.

The communists still stand for a united farmer labor group, according to an announcement issued here late Friday, but they are determined to put a permanent crimp in Senator LaFollette's presidential ambitions, the same announcement said.

"The workers party of America raised the banner of independent working class action looking towards the establishment of a workers and farmers government and the overthrow of the capitalist system," Secretary Charles E. Ruthenberg declared in announcing the candidacy of Foster and Gitlow, "in the face of the complete surrender of the labor unions and many of the elements on record for the establishment of a farmer labor party, who at Cleveland on July 4, turned over their movement to middle class politicians, bankers, merchants, etc., and accepted without protest the most reactionary platform yet laid before the workers, there is only one course left for the communist movement of America to carry out a clean cut campaign against LaFolletteism and against the capitalist system and to rally upon the workers everywhere to rally to the workers party as the only center of resistance."

RADIO BROADCASTING IS MORE DIFFICULT IN SUMMER THAN IN OTHER SEASONS, EXPERT CLAIMS

By DR. ALFRED N. GOLDSMITH
Broadcast Engineer of Radio Corporation of America
(Written for International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 12.—While excellent radio reception is frequently possible during summer months, the best long-distance records come in the winter. Signals are not quite so loud in the summer, electrical disturbances, such as lightning storms, are naturally more common and they interfere occasionally with concerts, particularly those received from distant points.

The listener should become acquainted with his local stations and enjoy them during the summer. If the listener lives rather far away from all radio broadcasting stations which he wants to hear, there are several things he can do. He can lengthen his aerial wires and increase their height from the ground. Both of these measures make the signals louder as a general rule. He can add an audio frequency amplifier, unless, of course, he already has this instrument. He can also increase the voltage of his "B" battery or plate battery up to 90 or even 112 volts (that is, to four or five of the usual 22 1/2-volt units or blocks). He can use a more sensitive loud speaker.

er, or content himself with headset operation. He should also tune more carefully so as to get the very loudest signal which his set is capable of giving. If there is a tickler adjustment on his set, he should learn how to use it so as to get full volume of signals.

To Overcome Nearby Radio
If the listener is very near a powerful broadcasting station, he may get excessively loud signals from the station and have difficulty in picking up other stations when the nearby station is in operation.

To overcome this the listener can cut down the size of his antenna or use a small indoor antenna having a length of say 30 feet. A few trials may be necessary to find the best length of indoor antenna in such cases. When an antenna less than 30 feet in length is used, a small fixed condenser of five ten-thousandths of a microfarad (.0005 mfd) should be connected between the aerial and the ground binding posts or terminals of his set. This will permit the reception of waves of the same length possible with an outdoor antenna. The listener should experiment until he gets the best signals and the greatest ease of choice of one station or another. A little patience is required.

Since the longer waves have been opened to broadcasting by the Government, it is desirable to be able to receive them. It may be that the receiver on its present aerial is not capable of tuning in these longer wave lengths from about 450 meters to 545 meters, which have been in use since May 15, 1923. Generally the same condenser placed between the aerial and ground binding posts or terminals which has already been mentioned, will serve also to enable picking up the longer waves. The larger the value of the condenser the higher the wave length which can be picked up.

Summer Rules for Radio

1. Don't try to hear Australia in midsummer. Be satisfied to enjoy the nearer stations most of the time.
2. Don't be disappointed if an occasional storm interferes with your summer radio evening.
3. If you want louder signals, use a longer aerial, more sensitive higher plate voltage, more sensitive loud speakers and more careful tickler and receiver adjustment.
4. A pleasant signal filling a moderate size room should be enough to give satisfaction. It is not worth while producing signals which deafen the neighbors. It is wasteful to insist on tremendous signals which are generally less pleasant than moderate signals.
5. If your local station comes in too loudly and drowns others out, a smaller aerial will help in tuning him out, with a smaller condenser connected between aerial and ground. And if all measures to get rid of the local station fail, why not enjoy his concerts?
6. Condenser is Great Aid
For the new longer waves above 40 meters, use a condenser connected between the aerial and ground terminals of your set.
7. A little patience in learning to handle your receiver yields rich returns in satisfaction from fine signals.
8. It is a good idea to read the radio column of a newspaper or a good radio magazine or two. It helps you to know how your set works and keeps you up-to-date in radio.
9. Ask your radio dealer for advice; he can probably tell you what you want to know and will be glad to do so. The manufacturer of your set is also willing to help you get the desired results from its use.
10. Do not throw away the discussion sheets or booklets that come with your set and with the tubes. Read all such material carefully now and then.

LAMESA LUBBOCK BIG SPRING

FLAPPER OF 14 SLAYS BROTHER.

ANNA BOBAR.

John Bobar, a 15-year-old Yonkers, N. Y. boy, was deeply religious. He stripped life of fun. When his daily task ended he sat down with his Bible to find that salvation held up to him by the priest of the little Russian Orthodox Church he attended. His sister Anna is only 14. When the boy saw her in cheap silk dresses, with silk stockings and with her lips deeply carmised, he thought it the brand of damnation. She even spent 15 cents for a magazine that displayed on its cover a bare-necked girl. He tore it from her as "an instrument of the devil." The poor Russian mother could not patch up the quarrel. The girl was cutting a loaf of bread when the brother repeated she was "bad" and that some day he would have to kill her. She thrust the bread knife through his heart.

SANTO DOMINGO SOON BE FREE AGAIN

BY STEWART JACKSON.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, July 12.—After six years under the Stars and Stripes, the little island republic of Santo Domingo on July 12 will once more fly its own little flag, drill its own little army, collect its own taxes, build its own roads and gather its own bananas.
For Uncle Sam, after administering a right sound spanking followed by six years of right sound advice, has gathered up his marines, hauled down his starry banner from among the palms and has skipped off with the parting shot, "Be Yourself, Kid."
It remains to be seen whether Santo Domingo can be itself for good, but the State Department at Washington believes it can. It believes that the lessons learned by the Dominicans in constitutional government, administration of taxes customs, the military and police, good roads building, sanitation, telegraph and telephone communications, and what not under the political guidance of the department and the military rule of the "Leathernecks" of the Marine Corps will have a lasting impression. It believes that another little brown brother has seen the light and is "up the pole" for good so far as revolutionary mischief is concerned.

The little green isle of the West Indies that faces the broad Atlantic on the north and the green Caribbean on the south and contains the sister republics of Haiti and Santo Domingo has been, perhaps, the most turbulent of all of our Latin American cousins, the eternal protection of which we vouched for when the Monroe Doctrine was hurled in the teeth of the world in 1823.
Republics Differ:
Haiti was settled by the French and its natives are French; negro and Indian and are very dark; the Dominican Republic was settled by the Spaniards, and its inhabitants are Spanish, negro and Indian and are much lighter than the Haitians. French is spoken in Haiti, Spanish in Santo Domingo.
Haiti is still under the United States military rule. There are now eighty-four commissioned officers, thirteen warrant officers and 1,340 enlisted men of the Marine Corps handling the affairs of the republic, in addition to twenty-eight American officers in charge of the Haitian gendarmerie. Brigadier-General J. H. Russell, Marine Corps, is High Commissioner of the country, and Brigadier-General H. H. Fuller is in command of the First Brigade of Marines stationed there.

In Haiti between 1888 and 1915 every President, with the exception of one, was overthrown by revolution before his term of office was ended, and most of them were assassinated. So acute was the situation in 1915 that France, England, Germany, Spain and other European countries registered stern protests against the threatened safety of foreigners and the foreign relations of the Republic in general. Then the United States stepped in, landed its first force of Marines on July 28 and has been there ever since.

Haiti Slower.
Haiti has not progressed as far in the lessons of self-government as has Santo Domingo, but the State Department is optimistic that within six months we can pull out of there, also, and thus leave the entire island to its own devices, content that these devices will be safe and sane.

The Marines in Santo Domingo before the evacuation began last week numbered 104 commissioned officers, fourteen warrant officers and 1,863 enlisted men, in addition to thirteen officers and nineteen enlisted men with the Policio Nacional (corresponding to the Haitian gendarmerie) and 100 men of the Aviation Corps, with fifteen airplanes—a total of 2,013 officers and men.

Four navy transports were assigned to move the men, the airplanes, twenty-two portable buildings to be taken to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and 4,000 tons of freight. The job being the only one capable of taking on airplanes, transported the aviation section to San Diego, California. The Kitterly and the Beaufort, being the only vessels of low enough draft to go alongside the docks at Puerto Plata and Santo Domingo, loaded the freight, while the big transport Henderson took most of the officers and men and their families on two trips, embarking the Marines for Guantanamo, Panama, Quantico and Virginia.

Pledge Broken.
The story of the American occupation of the Dominican Republic is the story of a broken pledge and thus the spanking. During forty years prior to 1907 there had been sixteen revolutions in the little western Republic. Civil war being the daily order of things and official bloodletting an hourly occurrence, there was no time left to collect taxes or customs, or raise or market crops, and at the end of the forty years of bloodshed the national debt and claims against the Republic amounting to $50,000,000, was growing apace, and there seemed no way to fund it or even pay interest on it.

So Santo Domingo had her little reparations problem, and she looked about for a Daxos to solve it. Then came Uncle Sam, in 1907, and signed a convention with the Dominicans providing for the bonding of the debt to be paid off as follows from revenue, customs and other governmental collections:

- First—To paying expenses of the receivership.
  - Second—To the payment of interest on the bonds.
  - Third—To the payment of the annual sums provided for amortization of the bonds.
  - Fourth—To the purchase and retirement of the bonds themselves.
  - Fifth—The remainder to be paid to the Dominican Government.
- It was further provided that the public debt would not be increased or the imposts duties changed until all of the bonds had been paid for.

Debts Crew.
This latter provision is what Santo Domingo violated, for constant revolutions and constant political turmoil still kept the taxes and revenues from being promptly collected, and the public debt was increased year by year. From 1911 to 1914 numerous revolutions occurred, and the United States sent numerous commissions to the island to effect agreements between the opposing factions.

Between late 1914 and April, 1916, all was quiet under the Government of President Jimenez; but in April, 1916, the Secretary of War Armas, deposed Jimenez and assumed power, and in May, with the consent of Jimenez, the United States landed its first Marines and notified Armas that he would not be supported by President. After a failure of negotiations, the United States directed its naval force to take charge, and on November 29, 1916, the Military Government of Santo Domingo was established by a proclamation issued by Captain H. S. Knapp, acting on authority from Washington.

The proclamation cited the broken pledge of 1907 due to the prevalence of revolutions which the Government could not stop; stated that the United States, with a friendly desire to enable the Dominican Republic to maintain tranquility and observe the convention of 1907, had urged necessary measures which the Republic had been unwilling to adopt, and that therefore the time had come to take measures to insure observance and so forth, with the spanking.

U. S. Took Charge.
The terms of the proclamation provided that the Dominican statutes would continue in effect in so far as they did not conflict with the objects of the occupation, but their administration would be by Dominicans, under the oversight and control of the American forces; that the ordinary administration of justice would continue as before, except where it concerned the American forces in the way of contempt, disobedience or sabotage against our rule, when the offenders would be tried by our military tribunals; that the funds for all legal disbursements necessary to the administration of the government and the purpose of the occupation would come from funds held by us in trust for the Republic.

The Second Brigade of Marines became the instrument of the occupation, and the work was soon organized. Officers of the Military Governor's Staff were detailed in charge of departments as follows: Department of the Interior and Police; Department of Justice, Public Instruction and Foreign Relations; Department of Sanitation and Beneficence; Department of Development, Public Works, Communications, Agriculture and Immigration, and the Department of Finance and Commerce. New roads were built, new schools established and public works of all kinds installed, and the occupation was a peaceful and highly successful one. And so now, on July 12, when President Elect Horatio Vasquez, who has just returned from a personally conducted tour of the State Department and the White House is inaugurated, Uncle Sam can safely say, "Be yourself, kid."

WAR BETWEEN THE JAPANESE AND U. S. FORECAST BY A VENEZUELAN FIRE-EATER

BERLIN. (By Mail). July 11.—Gen. Raphaelo de Nogales, Venezuelan, who served on the German-Turkish general staff in the World War, foresees a Japanese-American war fought largely on Mexican and Panamanian soil.

Writing in the "Lokalansieger," he says:
"The policy of Secretary Hughes will be Mexico, Central America, Santo Domingo, Cuba, Haiti, and Japan, and will convert these countries also into hotbeds of radicalism and bolshevism and thus create a constant menace to the United States."

The war of the future between the United States and Japan, Nogales claims, will be waged on Mexican and Panamanian soil. The American fleet will be disabled after the locks of the Panama canal are blown up from airplanes—an easy matter, according to the general. Thereafter Japanese shock-troops, aided by Mexicans, will penetrate into the very heart of the United States, which he thinks are already now "rotten to the core."
Nogales, however, knows how to avoid this disaster and advises the United States Government to lay off with its "Wall Street policy" and to withdraw the American troops from Central American soil.

FISH HAD FULL STOMACH

By United Press.
SARANAC LAKE, N. Y.,—There was recently caught in the rapids at the outlet of Meacham Lake a trout that carried in its stomach a hook with double-gut, small-section of line and four shot-sinkers. Guides who viewed the trout, which was of good size, are at loss to understand how the fish lived with such a collection in its stomach. Despite the load it carried, the trout seemed in perfect condition and put up a vigorous battle in the swift waters of the rapids before coming to the landing net.

DAVIS BEGINS CAST FOR CHAIRMAN DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE ON REFUSAL OF CORDELL HULL TO REMAIN SAME

By LYLE C. WILSON (UN Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, July 12.—John W. Davis has begun to shop around for a chairman of the democratic national committee. Cordell Hull, who presided over the committee for the last three years, has advised the party nominee that for business reasons, but more particularly because of impaired health, he will not be able to accept Davis invitation to continue in the capacity of chairman.

On the selection of the committee leader, Davis will stake a large part of his presidential hopes. The somewhat frayed fabric of party harmony must be re-knit and upon the chairman will fall the duty of achieving the invisible mending. In a committee conference before which he appeared, the nominee declared that he would depend upon that organization for the campaign strategy between now and November.

Among more than a dozen possible choices, Clem L. Shaver, of Clarkburg, W. Va., Davis' home town; Homer S. Cummings, of Connecticut; George White, of Ohio, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York are most prominently mentioned.

Shaver is the man who engineered the Davis for president boom from the vicinity of the town pump in Clarksburg through the trying pre-convention days and to succeed on the 103rd ballot. Party leaders say that the custom of permitting the party nominee to select the national chairman will be observed. From a purely personal angle, Shaver has the call on any other aspirant but the men who are most anxious to harmonize the party do not look upon the West Virginian with favor.

"The party will want a bigger man than I" was Shaver's own comment when the subject of the chairmanship was broached to him. Cummings has been urged as a capable executive, who ably discharged the duties of the office when he held the job during the Wilson regime. But Cummings may trip over the harmony hurdle. The Underwood committee it is understood might not be happy under Cummings leadership. Franklin D. Roosevelt might recall bitter memories to McAdoo backers, and Frank L. Polk, one of Davis' law partners, snarls too strongly of Wall street to guide the campaign of a candidate whose chief object will be to disprove the allegation that he is a tool of the interests.

The ghost of opposition from McAdoo forces had no more than appeared when a more substantial specter appeared in the form of a possible combination of W. B. Hearst and his publications with the LaFollette third party movement. Gossip of such an amalgamation first grew around editorial denunciations of both the republican and democratic tickets which appeared in Hearst's newspaper.

Friday the editor suddenly left for California accompanied by Mayor John F. Hylan, of New York, his political protegee. Early in the day Hylan had dodged a point blank question as to his attitude toward the national ticket. "I am still a progressive democrat" was all the mayor would say. A popular, but unconfirmed theory was that Hylan and Hearst intended to see LaFollette on their trip west and tickle for third party vice-presidential recognition for the mayor. A new rift in the loads of party discord appeared when Wm. G. McAdoo drove up to Davis temporary headquarters in the home of Frank L. Polk, and spent an hour closeted with the democratic nominee. McAdoo refused to talk to newspaper men regarding his chat with Davis but David Ladd Rockwell, McAdoo's manager, in his unsuccessful battle for the democratic nomination announced that the only inference he could draw from the incident was that the defeated Californian would support Davis. Rockwell already had written Davis assuring him of his enthusiastic support.

Following a conference between Davis and Norman E. Mack, New York national committeeman, at the Polk home, it was understood that the fight to make Davis president would be conducted from two bases. The principal headquarters will be in New York and Mack probably will be in charge of the eastern campaign. Another headquarters will be established in Chicago from where the campaign to carry the questionable western states will be directed. George Brennan, Illinois national committeeman spent some time with Davis Friday in connection with this phase of the campaign.

Davis will confer with the army of democratic luminaries which remains in New York and it is expected that at least a week will pass before the selection of a chairman is announced.

LUMBER MAN IS ELATED OVER PROSPECTS

Sam W. Ragland, of Wichita Falls, representing the C. D. Shamburger Lumber Company, was here Thursday, Friday and Saturday visiting L. H. McLary, manager of the local yard of the Shamburger Company, and Otis J. Peity, also identified with the Shamburger interests in Lubbock. Mr. Ragland expressed himself as being highly elated over the building that has been done here lately, and is generally optimistic concerning future prospects for Lubbock. He left Saturday for Brownfield to look after the company's interests there. The Shamburger Company is one of the progressive institutions of the Plains and has done much toward developing this country.

AMERICANS FILL LONDON FOR RECREATION

By United News. LONDON, July 12.—While tens of thousands of ordinary Americans are packing London hotels and boarding houses, a handful of the Americans are affecting the high society equivalent of locking social London off its plush and gilt chair. Never have there been so many Americans here. Thousands have arrived for the meetings of the International Bar Association and the International Advertising convention alone. Midshipmen from Annapolis, Blue Jackets from the Atlantic fleet and ordinary sightseers are jostling each other in the Strand and withdrawing where the English keep themselves. But London accepts the many as cousins from across the sea, and is getting its real kick out of the few. Every day or so, the newspapers announce that another of the great houses in fashionable Mayfair, closed since the war because its owner is unable to maintain it, has been leased by an American.

Mrs. So and So's pearls; Mrs. Whozis' diamonds are read about and talked about. Not that most of the hostess are looking for publicity. Mrs. Kellogg, wife of the American ambassador, is setting the social pace. She has leased the stately Croft House and she and her husband Wales attended a recent ball there. Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt at Spencer House, countered with another ball which the Prince also attended. Mrs. James Corrigan has still another famous house and she is according to the newspapers will give shortly one of the "cabaret" parties for which, it is said, she is famous. The end of the London social season next month will take Americans, like Englishmen north for the shooting.

LOCAL BAND WILL BE ON PROGRAM AT SHALLOWATER

E. Borden, manager of the Lubbock Band, stated Saturday that suits for the band members will be ordered in the near future. The band has been engaged to furnish music for the elaborate program that will feature the celebration of the completion of the Shallowater community building that is now under construction and which is to be completed within a short time. The people of Lubbock have responded liberally to the call for funds for the maintenance of the band and have contributed more than $200 monthly payments to it. H. L. Morgan, prominent citizen of Sulphur Springs, is here visiting his son, Paul Morgan.

RAILROAD WEST DISCUSSED AT LEVELLAND

J. A. Wilson and T. B. Duggan, prominent local men and prime movers in planning the construction of a rail road west from Lubbock went to Levelland Saturday morning to discuss the project with the county officials of Hockley county and the businessmen of that little city, which will be reached by the railroad when it has been built. No statements concerning the definite action taken Saturday morning would be made for publication, but Mr. Wilson intimated that a fine spirit of cooperation was exhibited by the people of Levelland and he pointed out that they are signing contracts with land owners who will lend their support to the project. It looks now as though the railroad west from Lubbock will be built within a short time, at least all indications point in this direction. The importance of securing this railroad is realized by the business men of Lubbock as well as the owners of the large bodies of land that will be traversed by it, and keen interest is being shown in it by all concerned which will perhaps make its construction easy to achieve.

A Page of Special Interest to the Farmers

Articles and Local News About South Plains Farmers; Prepared by Welton Winn, a Practical Farmer

Why Sit Here Till We Die?

It is not customary for a writer to take a text to write from but the importance of the subject under consideration will fully justify the text. It will be remembered that this was the question that the Editors asked when they were banished out of the city as they remained not there they could only die. The questions in their mind was what to do. Now as we go on with the investigation of the present wheat crop we are lost in wonder and astonishment at the Farmers in this county not growing some wheat. We learned to day to our delight that in our neighboring town of Lorenzo there was a small Flouring Mill a custom mill at which the farmers can exchange their wheat at a fair exchange for flour made right at home in their own town not having to pay any freight to any railroad.

There was a mill of this character in Coleman county and farmers in all parts of the county carried their wheat to that mill, which was owned by the farmers and exchanged their wheat for flour for all their needs. This was even while there was a large flouring plant in Coleman City. This small Mill was out 14 miles from the R. R. but the farmers got their flour from the small mill and many of them said it was in every way as good as the flour made by the larger mill.

Now the point we want to make is, that the farmers should raise at least enough wheat to make their own bread, instead of buying flour made in Kansas or Missouri or even in some other part of Texas. It is a self evident fact that the R. R. has to have a profit for hauling the flour here from any other place and the merchants have to have pay for their handling and all these items put together makes high priced bread. We must learn to over come these expenses or we can not expect to succeed as farmers. We must learn to protect ourselves against such folly or we will never attain to the place of independence that the farmer deserves. It would be a fine thing for the Farmers of his county to plant a reasonably good crop of wheat this year when it was known that a fair crop would be made to organize a company and put in one of these mills. There are many things the farmers should do to make their business more successful. There is entirely too many engaged in handling the farmers produce from the time it leaves his hands until the time it reaches the consumer.

The Corn and Wheat should be made into fine meal and flour and then sold to the consumers by the lished agency of the farmers. We farmers or thru some well established and have for thirty years the farmer is the most important man in any line of business and for the world to now look on the farmer with pity (and he needs the pity and sympathy of all) it is a travesty on his intelligence. We admit it has been a hard thing to get the farmer himself to co-operate with his fellow farmers, but we are glad to see the dawn of a better day. We want to see the time come when the Farmer will be able to occupy the important place in the world's affairs his occupation so fully justifies.

FIFTY-THREE CISCO DOGS ARE KILLED FOR VAGRANCY

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, July 12.—Fifty-three cisco dogs were unable to establish any definite family connections, have departed from their worldly trials and tribulations at the instigation of Martin Farmer, special officer, who is engaged in the vocation of riding Cisco dogs off the mean. Farmer has eliminated 23 to date. He estimates that there are exactly 2,614 stray dogs yet to be massacred.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES ON RAILROAD CLAIMS

AUSTIN, July 12.—The four-year Texas statute of limitations applies on claims by shippers for overcharges and by railroads for undercharges, the attorney general's department has ruled. The federal laws apply in all claims growing out of interstate commerce, however, the ruling said. Assistant Attorney General Seager added in the opinion "that it is very doubtful in our opinion as to whether the railroad commission has jurisdiction over limitation questions."

NEW TYPE ENGINE FOR THE NEW YORK CENTRAL

NEW YORK, July 12.—A new type electric locomotive, using oil for fuel, the first of its kind ever built, has been built jointly by the General Electric Co., U. S. A., and the Ingersoll-Rand Co. It has been especially designed for switching service and will be given its first practical test by the New York Central in its local freight yards. The power plant equipment consists of 360 horsepower oil engine manufactured by the Ingersoll-Rand Co., directly connected to a 500-horsepower General Electric generator. The motive power consists of four H-44 motors, one of which is geared to each of the four axles.

Music In The Rural School

By PHEBE K. WARNER

is where it must be taught. Not every child has a home to provide it. And men of America, who handle most of our school funds, music must be admitted into our schools as free as latin and algebra. As free as ancient history and war and murder and strife. If all the time and money that has been spent on teaching dead languages and war in our public schools had been spent on public school music we would have better Sunday schools throughout our land. We would have more boys and girls at church singing in the choirs and fewer out on the public highways wasting their lives and their fathers money chasing after the wrong kind of amusement. We would have more choir leaders in the rural church and in the little town church. We would have more glee clubs and not so many bootleg clubs. We would have more orchestras in the city and not so many in the public dance hall. We would have more good boy bands in our towns and counties and not so many bands of bad boys. We would have more girls leading lives of useful service in the community and the church and fewer leading lives of sin and immorality. For there is no greater natural moral force in the lives of boys and girls than good music.

And another thing that ought to be done is universal musical training. It is credit in school for music. Why give a child credit on his public school or high school report card for something he will forget as soon as the day is over and never use again in all his life and then deny a child credit for the knowledge that he will use every day he lives morning, noon and night, week day and Sunday, at home, in the field, alone, or in society. For example how often have you had occasion to use the music you learned in your youth compared to the calls for your knowledge of algebra? We are not fighting algebra. We love algebra and to this day enjoy playing with it. In fact they stand for most things in life—unknown quantities. We are fighting for every child's inalienable right to have his voice trained as well as his mind or his body because it is a God given part of his nature and was given for a definite purpose that no other gift will supply.

By their concentrated efforts the National Federation of Music Clubs is trying to put musical training within the reach of every child in the nation. They are doing it in many ways. They are working for more public school music teachers, more music clubs in town and country, more home talent on every program in the city sponsored by a music club, more glee clubs among the men and boys, more bands among the boys, more music weeks everywhere. Every county musical organization everywhere and more interest taken in church music throughout the nation. It is a big job. It is one of the most important pieces of work in the hands and hearts of one of the most enthusiastic and untiring groups of workers in all the world. It will not be many years until every child in America will have the same chance to study music as reading, spelling and algebra.

SANTA FE IS GOING TO REBUILD LINE IN KANSAS

TOPEKA, Kas., July 12.—The Santa Fe railroad notified the Kansas public utilities commission today it would proceed at once rebuilding the line between Kiowa and Gerlane.

This is a part of the line running from Kiowa to Medicine Lodge. It was washed out in October, 1923. The company wanted to abandon the line entirely. The commission held several hearings and the company finally agreed to continue operations of the line between Kiowa and Gerlane and abandon the ten miles from Gerlane to Medicine Lodge.

MAY OBTAIN ELECTRICITY FROM STEAM IN FUTURE

SALEM, Ore., July 12.—A new method of harnessing natural power is under consideration in remote areas of Lake County. Live steam issuing from geysers and deep hot wells may be the source of electric power which may mean the development of lumber and other industries through the availability of cheap power. According to William L. Teutsch Lake County property owner, steam issuing from one of the wells in question is capable of producing 2,000 horsepower when harnessed to a turbine. The supply of steam is sufficiently constant to make the proposition feasible, he said.

CONKLING EMPLOYED BY RICE INSTITUTE

AUSTIN, Texas, July 11.—H. B. Conkling, previously instructor in English in Rice Institute and a member of the summer school English faculty at the University of Texas, has been appointed instructor in English in the University for the coming long session. Mr. Conkling holds a master's degree from Cornell University.

Louis Landis of Eagle Lake, who is a graduate of the University of Texas and is completing work on his M. A. degree, has been appointed tutor in English for the second term of the University summer school. It is announced by Dr. W. A. Law, chairman of the English department.

By Phebe K. Warner. One of the greatest organizations in America is the National Federation of Music Clubs. It is great for many reasons, chief of which is because it is teaching the lesson of concentration of effort to the whole nation. The National Federation of Music Clubs is just what it says it is. It is made up of musicians. Its work is the development of musical interest in every community in the nation. Its motto is "A music club in every city, in every county, in every state in the Union." Its goal is "Make America the Musical Center of the World." Its anthem is "America, the Beautiful." And its national objective is to reach and arouse the musical talent in every human being in our nation and kindle it into a flame of life and love that will bring joy and new hope and new peace to every human heart.

Music is a universal something. Music is a divine something. It is one of those gifts bequeathed by the Creator to every human being. Nor did the Creator stop with the human family. He filled the little birds full of music and sent them soaring thru the air to carry cheer to the uppermost parts of the earth. What would this world be without the birds? Well, I guess it would be like the most of our homes where the children's musical talent has never been touched or trained; a dreary, stupid, grouchy place.

Our Work Fraught With the Greatest Opportunity for Good.

Summing up the work of the Rural Editors those who try to serve the people of the rural districts and all the writers who contribute their wits for the upbuilding of the farmers and all other rural dwellers we want to say their work is fraught with the greatest opportunity for good of any people in any other vocation of life. If the men and women boys and girls who live in the rural districts, suggested by reading a just and adequate compensation for their work, have the opportunity at school, they are entitled to and are helped by the splendid effort from the A. & M. College as they take courage and enter this important service by taking these wonderful helps to those people each week or twice a week, or thru monthly or semi-monthly papers, we will have accomplished the greatest work possible in the country while in Texas as three-fourths of our children go to school in the country where there never has been a sign of a music teacher of any kind. Isn't that a pathetic fact? More than 15,000,000 of our nation's children receive no musical training at all. All they know is what they "pick up."

But the day is coming when the "Mission of Music" on earth will be better understood and the music lovers of the time will be more generous with their time and talent, for who knows how many artists the world has never known because of the millions of little Americans whose musical talent was never discovered. And the organization and group of people who is doing more to bring this day to pass is the national Federation of Women's Clubs.

It is the National Federation of Music Clubs that understands better what the nation is losing by not training the musical talent in every child regardless of where he lives or what his condition may be. It is the music clubs of the nation that are taking the place of the birds and trying to carry the message of music and the opportunity to study music to every school in the land. There

CONTROVERSY OVER SAM HOUSTON'S EXECUTIVES OFFICE

HOUSTON, July 12.—Tradition has long named a log shack on the old Andrews place, now Prairie and Austin streets, where President Sam Houston first did his official business. An inquiry conducted by the chamber of commerce revealed, however, that the best authenticated "original executive mansion" of the republic was a store building on the corner of Main and Preston Avenue, present site of the Scanlon building.

The investigation was in response to a request for a picture to be used in an American history to be published by Brown Brothers, New York. A picture was finally found in the possession of George Beach, photographer. It was a story and a half clapboard building, bearing the sign "H. H. Dooley and Co., Hatters." It was in this building that Sam Houston had his official residence during 1836 and 1837.

Denied Privilege of Making Prices. The key to the trouble is he has been denied the privilege of making the price on things he has created and contributed to the World's wealth.

Now we think if the Agricultural Editors and writers will give their best efforts to bring about this just and righteous reform and to join in not merely helping the farmer to produce more but sell what he does produce at a profitable price. If this can be done and there is not the least shadow of a doubt in our mind that it can, then we will have solved our of the greatest problems of the age.

Is There Any Former Decision or Case to Justify Such a Conclusion?

When the higher courts of the country are investigating a cause of great importance they have previous decisions from great Jurists to guide them in arriving at a correct judgment.

In the case of the farmer and his right to make a price on his products we have two very important cases to which we can point with pride for the amounts involved are of such magnitude that the proper decision was a very greater importance to all the people of this country.

We will briefly cite the two cases in point.

The First One Was in the Year 1903.

The wheat growers in the western states or rather in all the wheat growing states, were selling or rather were offered for their wheat that year 65c per bushel and the gamblers on the boards with their chalk marks were pricing Sept. wheat 55c; these men outraged at the low price then offered and at which thousands of bushels of wheat was forced to sell for 10c per bushel, they were ready to should bring $1.00 per bushel if they were to remain in business and they formed what was named the American Society of Equity.

This signified that they would demand an equitable price for their wheat or they would refuse to sell for any less. It was their property and they had a legal right to hold it until they were offered the price they thought their wheat was worth. They all or nearly all, joined in this earnest move to secure the price agreed on as a fair one and one that would permit them to remain in business and continue to produce wheat.

The facts were that on September of that memorable year, when the gamblers had assured the country that wheat would sell for 55c per bushel, it was really selling readily at 85c and before the first of January of the next year wheat was selling readily at the price of $1.00 these farmers had justly put on it. We cite this as proof of the position we take on price making by the farmers.

Cotton Should Be Priced By The Farmers.

Cotton should be priced by the growers with aid of all the business interests of the south. This was done in 1905.

The next case we will cite is the price made on the 1900 cotton crop by the southern people at New Orleans in January, 1905. When the December government report was issued about the 3rd of December in 1904, we think it was selling at 3c for middling cotton in the country. That report of a million bales crop sent the price down to 6c in three days which left the country almost in a panic which was to be done with the great question in all minds. A meeting of the cotton growers was held directly or indirectly in cotton to have representatives in New Orleans on the date mentioned January 25th, 1905.

A 10c price for middling cotton at the point where growth was made. The convention after three days of faithful conference and deliberation decided that that crop should bring 10c for middling and all agreed to return home and some of the best bankers in the south also the best merchants and every other legitimate interest was well represented in that great meeting. All agreed that they would turn home and do their best to secure the result and price the country needed. All did not perform their duty. Some thru fear, returned to their tents and gave up the fight but there was found a "Gideon" bunch that kept the faith and fought a good fight and won the victory of modern times.

The saving through that great cooperative move saved the south conservatively estimated at from $555,000,000 to $600,000,000. Do we need any further proof of the benefits of true co-operation.

Suggest Editors Assist Farmers.

Now with this history before us, what shall we do? We suggest every agricultural editor and writer in Texas join in one united effort to assist the farmers to secure a just price for his products. This done, he will be in better shape to buy a home and have more of the necessities and a few of the luxuries of life. There can be no greater work for any people to engage in hardy, second to preaching the Gospel especially the kind of Gospel we sometimes hear.

Transportation Another Thing Needing Attention.

That our transportation system needs revision and that severely downward, we think no one will deny. After more than 50 years of successful and profitable railroad operation in Texas with a passenger rate of 10c per mile we are now paying a 20c per cent increase. Has this the world's history. Then why the increase? Then we take the freight and express rates higher than ever before and also with the greatest tonnage increase has ever had—why this increase in rates?

It is a fact known to most Texas people, especially the older set that that grand and noble patriot the late John H. Beegar who spent much of his long useful life in Congress and the United States Senate, working for the establishment of the Interstate Commerce Commission, for the protection of the people of these United States. That august body now seems to stand for the protection of the railroads and express companies instead of the people.

We claim that the present rates are entirely too high and are out of line with every other line of business and that there can not be any real prosperity as long as the farmers have to pay such exorbitant prices. By a state-wide cooperation we must work for lower freight rates.

Work of A. & M. Appreciated.

It is not the premiums that the A. & M. is putting on this work that is appreciated so much as the spirit of the work undertaken. In entering the work of what we think agricultural papers of Texas should report to the farmers, we must be fair and discuss their important subjects in all their bearings in reference to the farmers. Our observation is that there is a tendency among our Agricultural writers to find a few farmers in the different parts of the state and give them a "boost" we really do not like the word "boost" and that boost is taken for granted to be a criterion for the balance of the country. We are not opposed to giving good writeups to those whom we find doing well but—

Now if an oil well had been found somewhere in the broad domain of Texas, which would have produced oil to that vast amount, which would the newspaper reports of such a supply of wealth ever have given it would have been sent around the world. But when the farmers of Texas produce such a vast amount of new wealth it is taken as a matter of course.

When we look back over the year that have come and gone during the last 40 years, we can but how our heads in shame, to see what has happened. This land has been squandered in every conceivable way that the ingenuity of blind and selfish men could devise. Ignorance made men place at the head of affairs thought that the quickest way this land could be squandered was the best and after 40 years time some men in Texas do not still know the reason for the loss of Texas land.

Lamenting over the past will not solve the intricate problems of the future so we will pass from these reminiscences of the past and give our thoughts to the future and try to render our best efforts to all those who now want homes.

Large Holdings Not The Best System Of Ownership.

We do not think and have never thought that the best interest of the people of Texas or any other state is in the hands of a few large land holdings. The homestead law of Texas or any other state was best served while its land was being held in large bodies. The homestead law of Texas allowing 200 acres for homestead was a good law and suggested the size holdings best for the average family, but the conditions of the past has in a measure justified the larger holdings. The stock growing interest has secured larger holdings but now even the stock men of the state are selling their large holdings to actual settlers for homes and on very attractive terms in most cases.

Notwithstanding, the very favorable prices and terms the State of Texas has offered its land there has been a gradual increase in the number of tenant farmers in this state. Think of over 60 per cent of the farmers now being tenants on other men's farms. And the very worst of all in they do not know if they will be allowed to remain longer than one year. This is one of the contributing causes of a rapid decrease in the acre production in even the best counties in the state.

The United States The Light Of The World.

This United States is the light of the world in many respects and the farmers the mainstay of every other business; and now to hear the cry from all parts of the country that the farmers are needing help from the government to enable them to longer continue in business is shocking. What is the trouble with the farmer anyway? Has he been a drone, or a failure? Has he failed to perform his part of the business of which has kept this country in the progressive column it has occupied for the last half century? "No." A thousand times no, we answer. Then what has been the real trouble? We have had no failures on account of a lack of proper effort in the way of the proper cultivation of the crops of this country there has never been a time when any one doubted the effort and industry of the farmer to supply our daily bread or to furnish cotton and wool wherewithal to be clothed. And, notwithstanding these facts, we find the farmers of today all in poor financial plight. Can we

The latest and perhaps the most important undertaking of our A. & M. College is the one in which the college is offering $50 in premiums to the weekly and semi-weekly farm papers that go out to the farm folks each week, that are supposed to carry items of helpfulness and encouragement to those people who have assumed the task of feeding and clothing the balance of the world.

In undertaking to improve the papers that are engaged in this grand work the A. & M. College is taking one of the most advanced steps yet taken. We are proud to know that our A. & M. has stood among the foremost colleges in the United States and now that it has gone to the very foundation, with the spirit of usefulness and service, we think all right minded people especially the farmers of Texas will have more faith and confidence in this noble institution than ever before.

The Agricultural Writers of Texas, are asking the question? Are the newspapers of Texas rendering an adequate service to the producers of Texas for the service these producers not only render to the papers, but to the entire state as well.

This is truly a great and pertinent question at this time and a right and correct answer to this question we think will mark a turning point in the affairs of the producers of Texas and the balance of the whole country as well. It is estimated that the farmers and stockmen of Texas last year produced in round numbers more than one billion dollars. An amount almost inconceivable to the human mind. This contribution of new wealth never in existence before was added to the worlds bounty by Texas alone.

Now if an oil well had been found somewhere in the broad domain of Texas, which would have produced oil to that vast amount, which would the newspaper reports of such a supply of wealth ever have given it would have been sent around the world. But when the farmers of Texas produce such a vast amount of new wealth it is taken as a matter of course.

Work of A. & M. Appreciated.

It is not the premiums that the A. & M. is putting on this work that is appreciated so much as the spirit of the work undertaken.

In entering the work of what we think agricultural papers of Texas should report to the farmers, we must be fair and discuss their important subjects in all their bearings in reference to the farmers. Our observation is that there is a tendency among our Agricultural writers to find a few farmers in the different parts of the state and give them a "boost" we really do not like the word "boost" and that boost is taken for granted to be a criterion for the balance of the country. We are not opposed to giving good writeups to those whom we find doing well but—

Get Out Among The Farmers.

To be true to the best interests of the farmers of the country, we must meet and get in close contact with those less successful and try to encourage them as well. Just how to do this is the great problem that confronts those who really want to be helpful to all.

The idea of this paper is to have a representative go out among the farmers in their fields and discuss those important points with them on their farms not as one possessing a great light, but as one who is really interested in them and who is doing work they are doing for the world of mankind.

We do not think the world really appreciates the great and important work the farmers are doing for the rest of the world. Like the new wealth they produce from year to year, it is taken as a matter of fact so is the service they are rendering to the nation as a matter of course.

Consider The Farmer's Part In Providing Daily Bread.

We are commanded to pray, "Give us this day our daily bread." We do this often without thinking how this bread is prepared and sent to us.

We often return thanks for the blessings we have in the way of fine things to eat, but at the same time do not consider how and from whom those good things come. Now that the college has asked us to consider these important points what shall we consider first.

First of all we shall show our appreciation of the ones who are responsible for the bounties we all enjoy; first we must ever keep in mind the Great One from whom all blessings come. But at the same time we must ever remember that the Giver of all good things we have has a way by which these bounties are given; and we fear sometimes we are too busy in our affairs to rightly consider those thru whose efforts our supply comes.

Farmers and Families Deserve Better Home Convenience.

The home in which these benefactors live should be ideal homes, with all the conveniences of our homes in the city. How many real up to date homes we find in the rural districts of this state. Truly there are many but the number is entirely too small, compared to the whole number on the farms.

In this part of Texas we are proud to say, and to know that we have possibly the largest number of really good farm homes of any part of the state. This is indeed a good place to live and we need more good farms in this part. One might say that if the section you represent is all right why worry about the other parts of the state? We have heard this before and want to say in an-
