Johnson Demands Clean-up in Organized Baseball

STARTS MOVE TO OUST LANDIS AND GIANT OWNERS

WILL INSIST ON PROBE OF SCANDAL BY COMPETENT PARTY, HE SAYS

BY H. H. ROBERTSON CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Whole-sale head hunting in the world of baseball with Commissioner Landis, Chas. A. Stoneham, principal owner of the New York Giants, and Manager John McGraw, as the principal victims, will be sought by Ban Johnson, president of the American League in his effort to rid baseball of its corruption.

President Johnson told the United News late Friday night that he had conferred with his counsel in Washington and had decided to take the following steps:

- 1 The driving out of baseball of Commissioner Landis.
2 The driving out of baseball of Chas. Stoneham, owner of the New York Giants.
3 The elimination from any further connection with baseball of Arnold Rothstein, friend of Stoneham.
4 The dismissal from baseball of all players who have loaned themselves to any scheme of corruption with the game.

Firm in Probe Demand

President Johnson Friday night reiterated his previous statement that he would insist on an investigation by a competent and unbiased party, preferably a federal group, of the circumstances under which the New York Giants won the National League pennant this year, and the circumstances under which arrangements were made for the world series.

Johnson also declared that he will demand an investigation of the 1922 world series about which he said "unfavorable rumors have been in circulation."

President Johnson returned to his home after scurrying about all day conferring with friends and attorneys over his decision to lift the lid off the latest baseball scandal and to clean up the game once and for all.

In the presence of Mrs. Johnson, who had urged him to divulge to the public what his reasons were for demanding an investigation of the whole baseball muddle and the rumors about it, Johnson commended:

"I am going to be popping in a few days. I will stand for more nonsense and I know that the public is sick of me in my demand that this whole nasty mess be aired and that the guilty ones and the criminals be punished. My reasons for demanding the retirement of Commissioner Landis from organized baseball are simply these:
"Landis in the face of this scandal attending the winning of the National League pennant by the New York Giants, and the reports concerning arrangements for the world series, is deliberately seeking to hush things up. That is no way to deal with this situation.
"The facts concerning this scandal must be brought out. And this is the time to clean up baseball. I am going to see that it is done. We must rid ourselves of these men, who will wreck our national sport if they are allowed to get away with what they are doing.
"Landis to me, looks like an irresponsible character. He hasn't the judgment in organized baseball of a ten year old child.
"We've got to do something to protect baseball against crooks who seek to corrupt the game. Landis by his failure to go through into this scandal charge and punish all the crooks and for this reason if for no other, he is no good to baseball.
"God knows the American League don't have to depend on

BROOKHART BREAK WITH COOLIDGE MAY SWING OTHERS FROM REPUBLICAN RANKS IN MIDWEST IS FEAR OF PARTY HEADS

By United News. WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Worried fears of republican managers have been reinforced by Senator Smith, W. Brookhart has broken loose and started after President Coolidge. The fear that he let up over the Iowa prairie Friday sends chills down the spines of republican leaders who are now prepared, regardless of their brave attempt to keep up a front, to lose Iowa's 13 electoral votes. LaFollette Brookhart in his Emmetsburg address Friday did not specifically refer to LaFollette, but he broke with Coolidge and said much complimentary things about LaFollette, that his friends in large numbers may be expected to take the tip, Brookhart made it emphatically clear that Coolidge is not his kind of a republican and from now on it will be a rough fight. To make the situation worse, the republican national committee claims to have good evidence that Iowa democrats are combining with LaFollette's forces. Altogether, Brookhart's break with Coolidge following an assault on Dawes a few days ago, not only makes it exceedingly doubtful if the republicans will get Iowa, but it correspondingly increases LaFollette's chances of being able to throw the election into congress. There is a genuine fear among regular republicans that a similar situation, as happened in Nebraska, Senator Geo. Norris, who has been called a LaFollette republican, has like

FAIR PROGRAM TODAY OFFERS MANY THRILLS

PAGEANT BE REPEATED AS PART OF CONSTRUCTIVE PROGRAM

Today's program which will officially close the eleventh annual session of the South Plains Fair here brings to a climax one of the most successful regional fairs ever to be held in the classic day replete with entertainment and educational features—every hour of the day bringing something tangible for the benefit of spectators.

Immediately following the opening of the gates at 9 o'clock today, the modern farmers will discuss problems of interest to the farmer. These lectures, which have been a great feature throughout the four days, and which have been received in rural communities by those seeking scientific methods for carrying on the work of the farm, have been given, work hearings, and have been of untold benefit to those taking advantage of this feature.

Throughout the morning the Lorenzo band, under the direction of Monte Brown, will entertain the crowds.

Afternoon Program Fall. Immediately following the novel stunt of the Lub-Tex Motor Co. which opened the afternoon program at 2 o'clock with a climb up the steep steps erected on the grounds by an Overland, the Ralls Jackrabbits will present a football game on the fourth and last football game on the four-day program. This game, as has been the case with the games both Thursday and Friday, promises to be a thriller from beginning to end, and although it will not be considered an official in the standing of the International League, the teams promise a fight to the finish, with a class B school under League classification battling for supremacy over a class A segregation. During halves Brown Davidson, daredevil rider will again lean the 20-foot gap in an Overland stock car. The football game will start at 2:30.

At 4:00 o'clock the fourth and last automobile given by the merchants of Lubbock will be awarded to the holder of the lucky number. Pageant to be Repeated. For the benefit of those who failed to see the pageant "King Cotton" the Pageant of the "Magic Flutes" in its first showing the night of the opening day of the Fair, the show will be repeated this afternoon at 4 o'clock, or immediately following the football game, and those who have not seen this stupendous show are urged to take advantage of this opportunity. According to statements of those who are in position to judge a performance of this kind, this is one of the best programs ever offered in this part of the state. The story itself, a history of the introduction and rise of cotton in this country, is one that will be not only interesting and entertaining, but will be of much educational value to its hearers.

Evening Program. This evening, beginning at about 8:30, Gordon's Fireworks Display will be given, and according to Lloyd Knowles, an expert in this line, who was sent here with the display from the factory, this will be one of the most gorgeous and dazzling displays ever shown in this part of the state. Apparently Mr. Knowles has saved his best show for the last night, for he has been working on preparations for this showing for the past two days. Much of the display that will be used tonight has been assembled under the direction of Mr. Knowles on the grounds for this occasion, and he promises not less than a thirty minute show with something bursting in the air at all times.

Dancing will be continued under the auspices of the local Elks lodge on the platform west of the industrial building for the benefit of those who wish to see the time fly by in this manner.

Earthquake Shock Felt. By United News. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 3.—The town of Livermore, about 40 miles east of here, was shaken by earth tremors at 6:30 p. m. Friday, according to long distance telephone reports here. Buildings were shaken severely by the tremors but no one was injured and little damage was done.

PROGRAM FOR CLOSING DAY SOUTH PLAINS FAIR. Morning—Short Course lectures. Band concert: Lorenzo, Crosbyton, and Petersburg bands. Afternoon—Automobile Star climbing, 2 p. m. Football: Ralls vs. Plainview. "King Cotton," a Pageant of the Magic Flutes, 4 p. m. Evening—Dancing under auspices of Elks Lodge, Gordon's Fireworks.

900 CATTLE ARE SLAUGHTERED FOREST FIRES RAGING ANEW

500 MEN FIGHT BLAZE IN CASTRO VALLEY WHICH MENACES FARM HOMES

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 3.—Approximately 900 head of dead cattle tonight lay in eight foot deep trenches near Webster as the first toll taken by an outbreak of foot and mouth disease in herds near there. Early this morning a sickened squad of riflemen started at the deep grave and waited for the cattle to be driven into the huge "4" at the beginning of the chute. Sixty oxen and bulls, picked of a herd of costly Brahmas owned by Dr. Wm. States Jacobs of Houston, came first. The gate was lowered and they milled about uneasily, sensing danger.

Dr. C. F. Drake, federal expert, stood beside a stack of "30-30" rifles and cartridges. "Shoot that one," Drake commanded. "Crack! A cow fell, drilled between the eyes. Crack! Another lay at his side. All day long, with Drake calling the shots like a billiard player, the slaughter was kept up until midnight, with around 900 in the huge pit. But few needed more than one shot. The marksman picked vital spots near the heart and eyes. One of the cattle that went down was Syrius, prize Brahms bull of the Jacobs' herd. It was valued at $5,000. Dr. Jacobs will lose about $15,000 worth of cattle, but will be recompensed by the government.

FAMILY HOME OF 24 IS CONDEMNED AS UNSANITARY

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 3.—Twenty-four children had come to Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Tombs. But the latest of them, little June May, was buried Friday at almost the exact moment when city authorities told the parents they must seek a new home Saturday. The dingy shack back of the pool hall had held the Tombs and eleven of their youngest children, but it had been condemned as unsanitary. With the minds dulled by despair the Tombs are casting about feebly for some way out. Their problem had not been settled Friday night. "We have always been poor," said Mrs. Tombs, between intervals in which she wept. "But we've always been able to feed our babies and I've had one every year for the last nine years. My husband has not been able to work, because of inflammatory rheumatism. They have said we had an income of $160 a month from our older children, but this is not so; we don't get a cent from them." Mrs. Tombs is not bitter. Her grief at the loss of the new baby makes her unable to comprehend just what evocation will mean for her husband and the 11 young children who now live with them. The Tombs are said to be the largest family in California.

TEXAS NOW HAS TWENTY-TWO COTTON MILLS

FORT WORTH, Texas.—Texas now has 22 cotton mills with an aggregate of 201,876 spindles, according to Rudy Copeland, vice-president of the Fort Worth Mills nearing completion here. North Carolina still leads the South with 241 mills and 5,654,834 spindles with South Carolina second with 159 mills. There is a total of 952 mills south of the Mason-Dixon Line operating 16,720,529 spindles, Copeland said.

LORENZO AND LOCKNEY WITH BANDS LEAD DELEGATIONS FOR THIRD DAY'S PROGRAM HERE

Closing its third day's program here last night, the South Plains Fair is each day attracting more people to its gates from all sections of West Texas. Friday was pronounced by officials to be the best day for attendance during the three days, and it is expected that today's attendance will far eclipse any yet seen. Between 15,000 and 20,000 people are expected to take advantage of the program today and tonight, which will officially close the eleventh annual exposition.

The weather was favorable, and the attendance reached possibly the highest point of the three days, according to officials, who have been attending the fair since the past two days. Early in the day large numbers of automobiles were parked in the parking section of the grounds, and long before the noon hour the park was a milling mass of people, and they must have stayed all day for the afternoon brought thousands more, and it was a veritable bee hive all the afternoon, and last night at ten o'clock they were still swarming around the various places of entertainment, through the industrial building, the woman's building and other places of attraction. The Cotton Belt shows were doing a hand office business all day.

LORENZO BAND GAVE CONCERT

In the forenoon the Lorenzo band gave an open air concert and attracted the attention of many people. This band is under the leadership of the Monte Brown, and is considered one of the best bands on the Plains. The concert lasted for more than an hour and was one of the most pleasing features of the morning program. The Lorenzo band always contributes an important part in the program of the South Plains Fair, and their work is greatly appreciated by the management of the Fair, and the people of this section of the country. Good music is one of the necessities of a fair, and with such hands as this to give their support there need be no fear of the people's being entertained when they come to the South Plains fair, from year to year.

FLORIDA DELEGATION COMES ALONG

The delegation from Florida breezed in just before noon, and after making their presence known in town by a whirl around the public square, they went to the fair grounds, and helped to swell the crowd there by several hundred. They were greeted by their High School football team which segregation contested the Lubbock show in the afternoon. Before one of the largest and most enthusiastic crowd of fans that have ever witnessed a game of ball between school teams in this city, there was a good backing for both teams, and a good backing was manifested by the victors to the fair, for it was a good clean game, fought out to a finish with a determination to win on both sides.

LOCKNEY BAND HEADS DELEGATION

Lockney was here too, and she was here with her band, which added much to the entertainment of the throng of people who witnessed the football game. The Lockney band furnishing the music for the occasion. They arrived in our city about noon, and after playing several numbers on the square they went to the fair grounds, and there augmented the third day attendance. The management is very grateful to the Lockney people for the splendid program they have given them during the day, and the people of Lubbock certainly have a warm spot in their heart for the Lockney people, and will be glad to have them come any time and join in our merry-making and fair building plan. Lockney furnished several hundred visitors to the fair yesterday.

NIGHT PROGRAM UNIQUE

The night program was unique and thrilling. The chief entertainment being the Chief entertainers' stunt flying, which was something entirely new to thousands of people and the first exhibition of the kind ever given in Lubbock. The

By THOMAS L. STOKES.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Out of the recent informal opening of the French debt question, a definite plan of settlement has materialized with official sanction, through which France will refund her debt in the near future, in exchange for an eight to twelve year moratorium before payments begin. This plan has grown out of discussions between French and American officials who are seeking to find some way to proceed to refunding arrangements without embarrassing France at a time when she needs the money. It is understood to have the approval of both the Herriot ministry and the Poincare opposition group. Approval of congress must be obtained before the plan is binding.

The plan was revealed here Thursday by an unquestioned authority who is close touch with both ends and bears out the prediction of an early settlement made several weeks ago by the United States Secretary Hughes declined either to affirm or deny the existence of an agreement.

The French debt, amounting to approximately $4,200,000,000, is the largest of the war obligations still unfunded. It is increasing about $23,000,000 a month through interest. The only direct payment that France has made since the war was one of over $34,000,000 which was arranged by the balancing of French claims resulting from the occupation of the American army against the French balance due this country.

Negotiations for a settlement were carried on here in the summer of 1921 by Jean Parmentier, under the Briand ministry, but they fell through. As a result of the stimulation to economic conditions in Europe through the Dawes plan, the whole question was recently reopened in an informal way. Secretary of State Hughes and Edward N. Hurley, a member of the debt funding commission were abroad during the period when the question was revived.

Hope of an early settlement was given its greatest boost with publication of a definite plan of settlement some weeks ago, which had been drawn up by Hurley. He had shown it to officials of the French government and on his return here presented it to Secretary Mellon.

It provides for payment over a period of 62 years with interest graduating from 2 percent up to 4, but with average interest of 2.12 percent lower than that accorded the British. Hurley's plan calls for a moratorium of five years. It also provides that half of each year's payments shall be reinvested in French industrial bonds, so that France may use the money for rehabilitation.

Some officials found fault with the plan of reinvesting in French bonds, on the ground that a commission would have to be appointed to supervise this work, and decide just what projects should receive the benefits, and that selection of a personal which would suit all parties would be almost impossible. With the French debt, there are still eighteen war debts which have not been funded, amounting to slightly over $7,000,000,000 of which the debt of France is over half. Only Great Britain, Finland, Hungary and Lithuania have funded. Two other countries, Poland and Czechoslovakia have begun negotiations.

Arkansas bankers and business men attending a special program at the College of Agriculture, University of Arkansas here, Edgewater proposed the banker's pledge: "I will not, in the future lend a farmer a dollar unless he agrees and does raise feed and food. I will encourage and help him in raising three to five cows, or one to three acres of strawberries or tomatoes, radishes, cabbage or fruit. In other words, I will stand ready to help those that help themselves and withhold credit from doubtful."

EAST PLAINS CITIES AND FAIR PROGRAM

gorgeous fireworks display given by the fair was beautiful and was seen for miles around the city and from every part of Lubbock, furnishing entertainment for more people than any other entertainment during the fair, as the display was easily seen by everyone in the city who cared to step out of the house to see it, and most of us did.

Automobile Drawing Continues to Held Interest of The People.

The daily automobile drawing, at which time a Ford touring car is given away each day, continues to hold the interest of the people at three o'clock each afternoon. Yesterday the drawing lasted a little longer than on previous days. It required three draws to get the right number yesterday, and the lucky man was Mr. Barton, who lives about 72 miles northwest of Lubbock. It was stated by the announcer that Mr. Barton did not have a car, and therefore was in need of this splendid gift, and we are sure the management of the fair and the people of Lubbock are glad that he was the lucky man, and extend congratulations to him. One more car will be given away today, which completes the drawing.

Plainview and Ralls Will Battle Today in Football.

Plainview and Ralls will bring large delegations to the fair today as the football teams of these two cities are scheduled to battle for honors this afternoon, and this promises to be one of the hardest fought games of the season. These are both good teams, and they will put up a royal scrap for the winning score, and thousands of people will want to see the game. Probably five hundred people will come from those two towns to root for their teams, and this promises to be the real big day of the fair. You will enjoy the entertainments of the day, and a program will be found of the events in this morning's paper.

After Stoneham and McGraw, asked his specific reasons for demanding that Stoneham and McGraw retire from baseball, Johnson replied:

"Stoneham and McGraw—those are the names we hear every time there are reports of a scandalous nature cropping up in the game. The New York Giants should be forbidden to play in the world series. Here we have this team, Stoneham and McGraw, putting coming into the world series tainted and meeting one of our American League teams."

"We must know the truth about the circumstances attending the signing of that pennant by the Giants. I believe the stories told by the men who have been caught. Of course they are the facts. It stands to reason that one or two men can't throw a baseball game. As a rule, to throw a game you have got to get at least four or five men to be crooked, including the pitcher. I want to know just who was approached and just how many players were involved."

"I also want to know who was back of these players. They did not do it themselves. Suppose, for instance, that it would be worth $150,000 to the Giants to get into the world series. Suppose some gamblers, or men associated with them, wanted them to make sure they would win the pennant and get into the series."

"It seems probable that the game that wanted the Giants to win the pennant by crooked means would seek to corrupt the series itself. That's what we want to find out about, and you may rest assured that the men assisting me in this investigation are not going to be fooled, intimidated or cajoled off."

"I believe Charles Stoneham is the worst influence we have in organized baseball. He and John McGraw must be driven from the game. They must never be allowed to get into the game again."

"And there is Arnold Rothstein the big New York gambler. During our investigation we propose to show just what his friendship with baseball men has meant for baseball. We are not going to spare anybody."

investigation should be made. "Repeated reports have come to me that a disgraceful situation attended these games," Johnson declared.

"We do not want to go off half cocked on anything. When I talk about this new scandal I know what I am talking about. I am having these matters investigated and I expect that they will be taken up later in a more thorough fashion."

The initial conference between Johnson, R. S. Minor, of Washington, D. S. Minor, of Milwaukee, attorneys, he has retained to assist him in his investigation, will take place within 48 hours. He at first decided to hold this conference in Washington Sunday. But he explained Friday night that some unexpected circumstances might make it necessary to have the conference elsewhere.

M.M. DUPRE RECEIVES WORD NEW GRAND SON IN CHINA

Superintendent M. M. Dupre is in receipt of a message from Shanghai, China, bearing the information of the arrival of a new grandson, who arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Dupre, Jr. in far off China on the 19th of September. The information was brought across the water by radio, from ship to ship and then making its way to the naval headquarters at Washington and thence to the proud grandfather in Lubbock.

M. M. Jr. is now in Chinese waters having been stationed there for the past year, and is now near the war zone, there being much fighting around Shanghai in the revolution that has recently broken out. This is the second son in this family, the first one being born in Providence, Rhode Island, three years ago, and there is only two days difference in the date of the birth of the two children, being born in the same month.

OVERLAND STUNTS THRILL CROWDS AT FAIR HERE

Every day at the South Plains Fair the crowds have been getting real sensational thrills as entertainment.

Last spring when the Lub-Tex Motor Company staged a demonstration on the vacant lot where the Lindsey building is now under construction, Mr. F. N. Payne, promised that he would bring to the fair this fall the most sensational automobile demonstration ever staged here. He has kept his word as he always does.

In bringing to the South Plains Fair Brownie Davidson to pilot one of the stock touring cars, Mr. Payne has made good his promise to the Fair Association.

It was announced earlier in the week that Chief of Police B. A. Carter had been asked to select the car from the stock of touring cars, so that no one could say that the car used was a specially built car for this remarkable performance. Mr. Carter complied with their wishes and suggested his initials with Davidson who has waited patiently to see if he selected so that he and others might know the car at any time.

Every day a regular part of the program is the Overland Death Defying 20 foot jump, and it has brought thousands to the grounds who have waited patiently to see it. This demonstration has justified their patience.

A crowd so large that it was unbelievable gather to see this hair raising demonstration.

After calling attention to the fact that B. A. Carter had picked this car from the stock of the Lub-Tex Motor Company, Mr. F. W. Koch, who has charge of the Overland demonstrations, proceeded to tell the crowds about the construction of the Overland car. He then gave the signal and Brownie Davidson came down the short stretch and jumped the 20 foot gap between the two platforms as gracefully as a deer. The crowd, breathless a moment before, gave him a rousing cheer, for it was certainly a deserving tribute to Davidson's nerve and the construction of the Overland car.

Then Mr. Koch announced that the Overland would climb the steps to the top of the high platform where they have been giving two demonstrations every day.

The "Death Hurdle Car" leading the way, it looked like the "Pied Piper of Hamelin," the crowd following and witnessing one of the most remarkable automobile demonstrations ever given here.

After explaining various points of construction on the car, it was loaded down with 44 men and boys, placed in high gear by a disinterested party and moved off from a standing start. This demonstrated the Overland clutch which runs in oil. Then the Overland was driven easily up the steep steps to the top of the platform.

However, the test was shown with the Big Overland brakes, letting the car down top by step, half way down the incline, the car was stopped, the engine killed and held in this position. Again the engine was started, gears changed, brakes released and the sturdy car climbed easily back to the top.

It was a wonderful demonstration furnishing thrilling entertainment for the crowds and they received it with loud voiced approval.

Brookhart, hitherto kept silent regarding Coolidge, Republicans will be content now if he will only remain silent. If he should attack Coolidge as Brookhart has done, Nebraska could be regarded as definitely lost.

Aside from the actual electoral votes involved, these situations hold a psychological effect which will extend far beyond the confines of the two states in question. In a way the Brookhart development was inevitable. Coolidge's contrary to the policy adopted by Harding, has never sought to placate the insurgents. He fought them to the bitter end in congress and in the Cleveland convention. They are to all practical purposes excommunicated from the campaign activities. They expect to get no favors. They get no cash. Coolidge is conservative and he is trying to make the republican party the vehicle of conservative policy. He does not believe in a hybrid party. White at one end and red at the other. Those who cannot get along with his brand of republicanism have an open invitation to go somewhere else. Brookhart has accepted the institution. There should be no surprise about it.

To realize what is taking place in the republican party, one only need look at the contrast in the democratic party, where an obvious effort is being made to hook up two irreconcilable schools of political enemies. Republicans attack this as insincere, and politically dishonest.

"The republican party stands for certain things," Coolidge says in effect. "It cannot compromise on principles. Those who disagree must go elsewhere."

The Brookhart incident is one logical result.

SPORT WORLD IN CAPITAL NEAR HYSTERIA

By WESTBROOK PELGER
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Hysteria was the sport of the evening in Washington as the world series inched nearer and nearer and a good time was had by all.

The latest outburst of Ban Johnson, president of the American league in Chicago, were resented by putting copies to Judge K. M. Landis in his apartment at the New Willard Hotel, and were received with picturesque loathing by the judge, who refused to comment.

Hank Gowdy, the Giants catcher, a very stalwart character in baseball with his war record and the fact that an army athletic field has been named in his honor called at the Willard to see Landis on behalf of the Giant players to demand a show down on the honor of the men, individually and collectively. He was accompanied by Emil Muesel, the right fielder, and it was reported that a numerous delegation of other players were lingering in the office to hear what the judge might say to Hank and Emil.

However, the judge is a three hour diner, and Gowdy and Muesel apparently got tired of waiting for him to return. Besides, the Giant are under rather strict training rules regarding all hands, to be checked in to their headquarters by a certain early hour of the evening and the boys may have gone back to their headquarters at the suburban Wardman Park hotel in order to avoid being reported as lads. At any rate,

BROOKHART BREAK MAY SWING OTHER STATES

Brookhart, hitherto kept silent regarding Coolidge, Republicans will be content now if he will only remain silent. If he should attack Coolidge as Brookhart has done, Nebraska could be regarded as definitely lost.

Aside from the actual electoral votes involved, these situations hold a psychological effect which will extend far beyond the confines of the two states in question. In a way the Brookhart development was inevitable. Coolidge's contrary to the policy adopted by Harding, has never sought to placate the insurgents. He fought them to the bitter end in congress and in the Cleveland convention. They are to all practical purposes excommunicated from the campaign activities. They expect to get no favors. They get no cash. Coolidge is conservative and he is trying to make the republican party the vehicle of conservative policy. He does not believe in a hybrid party. White at one end and red at the other. Those who cannot get along with his brand of republicanism have an open invitation to go somewhere else. Brookhart has accepted the institution. There should be no surprise about it.

To realize what is taking place in the republican party, one only need look at the contrast in the democratic party, where an obvious effort is being made to hook up two irreconcilable schools of political enemies. Republicans attack this as insincere, and politically dishonest.

"The republican party stands for certain things," Coolidge says in effect. "It cannot compromise on principles. Those who disagree must go elsewhere."

the judge said at 10:30 that he had not seen any of the players.

"Will you receive them if they come?" he was asked.

"Sure I will," the judge said, working his mouth so that the cinder of his long pencil cigar traced a pin wheel design in the shadows of the hotel corridor.

"Sure, I will. Anybody with business here can come in."

Johnson's threat to drive Landis out of baseball was outlined to Laddis. He said he just didn't want to talk about it, but he said it in such a way as to imply that he thought Johnson a very base character, indeed.

Johnson's statement said he wanted to drive Landis, Charles Stoneham and Arnold Rothstein out of baseball. Stoneham is the majority owner of the Giants and is under indictment in New York in connection with the Bucketshop clean up there. Stoneham having been a broker. Rothstein is the rich Broadway gambler whose name was among those mentioned in the investigation of the White Sox fakery in 1922. Rothstein has no official connection with baseball but Stoneham could hardly avoid knowing him as Charlie has owned racing strings and once owned a track in Havana. If they have any close relations it will be up to Johnson to prove it.

The judge is not convinced that he got everyone connected with the attempt to bribe Henie Sand of Philadelphia League club when he abolished former "victims" and set dollar on his back to do no further evidence to work on and that as he that all the other players and managers are innocent till further investigation gives more evidence which to work upon.

HEREFORD BUSINESS MEN HERE TO ATTEND THE SOUTHPLAINS FAIR

G. F. McCury and J. R. Elliston, of Hereford, were here Friday to attend the South Plains Fair and visiting R. A. Hughes, former resident of Hereford who is now in the insurance business here.

These gentlemen stated that they are elated over the development of this place, and Mr. Elliston especially emphasized surprise at the rapidity with which Lubbock is growing.

"You fellows will have to bring your town to Deaf Smith county for more growing room if this rate is maintained," he told members of the Avalanche force while visiting the office Friday.

IF WE ONLY KNEW SOME THINGS IN ADVANCE—IT WOULD NOT BE GOOD FOR US.

If I had only known. This is a common expression, yet in all probability it would not be best for us if we did not know some of the things that we think we should or would like to know. One man has suggested that it would be great if we only knew which way the town was going to grow. It might be for some folks, but then it would never do. It must be that the growth of a town is controlled by a power not of itself. No one can tell how it is going to grow. We make good guesses sometimes, but we sometimes miss it a mile, and sometimes we make terrible blunders in what we are trying to do.

It seems that most of the repairs in the roads of a city appear to take place at the time when they are being used the most. In London, for instance, during the summer when the city should have been at its best for thousands of visitors, and just at the time when travel was at its highest peak of the year, street work seems to have been feverishly active. Going along its main streets from the Marble Arch to Ludgate's Circus, one is confronted by a continuous series of holdups where workmen, indifferent to the traffic about them, are digging up the road.

One relates a good story which has been heard lately. A young man was entertaining his mother-in-law at the height of the summer season. In order to impress her deeply with the wonders of London he hired a motor car for an afternoon drive. They went to all the interesting parts of the city and wherever they drove they were met by the usual red barriers which held them up for several minutes. Finally on the way home, along Regent street they discovered that every other building was covered with scaffolding for remodeling. When they arrived home the young man said: "Well, mother, what do you think of London?" After thinking for a moment the old lady replied: "Well, my boy, I think it will be nice when it is done."

It is a curious thing that the underworld, or the tenderloin or whatever you call it, meaning the disreputable portion of the city, is usually to be found between the business and the residence districts.

The reason for this is that the people of this kind are usually very transient, do not like long leases, and are very temporary in their stays.

More and more the residence portion of any city is being thrust out into the suburbs.

There is so much activity that we cannot get around all of them, and there must be a certain amount of obstructions, and barriers to the progress of the traffic. For instance, in Lubbock at this time, while the biggest fair in the west is going on, there are many places torn up, and there are a great many hindrances in getting through the streets, but the average American realizes and recognizes this as being an indication of progress, and the town is given the credit for being a hustling, bustling, and wide awake place.

It is well enough that we do not know too much about what is going to happen, but you can put this much down for certain. Lubbock has one of the biggest fairs in the west, and she is growing faster than any other town of its size in the state, and she is destined to be the real city of the Southwest, and you can pin your investments to her star and win every time.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT YOUR HOME TOWN?

Many people who have lived in their home town almost ever since it was a wide place in the road get it into their system that they are familiar with everything that is going on around there, but if you get to looking around and really thinking what is going on you will find many attractions that you had never thought of in Lubbock. We give as an example of what a minister wrote about his home town to back up our argument, as what is true of him in all probability is largely true of yourself and your home town. This man said:

"Going down town in my home city, I passed a sight seeing bus for city visitors. Now, I had never ridden a sight-seeing bus in my home town, so I paid my money and got on. There was a good-voiced man with a megaphone which pointed toward us. At regular intervals he would tell us of things along the drive. For an hour and a half I rode and learned more about the historic and the beauty spots of my home town than I have learned, living here for six years. It was a new experience, this seeing your home place boomed in glowing terms for the eyes and ears of strangers.

"I recommend it to every one. It would make a different world to live in if we had the gumption to go sight-seeing in our own communities. Take another drive down your road. It is the best road in all the earth if it runs past your love and work.

Stop long enough to admire the beauties that run riot right where your neighbors live. We are farsighted when looking for pleasures, and nearsighted with our trials. Some of the best people on this dear old planet live in your neighborhood. Go sight-seeing and learn about them. Suppose we could take a close look about our own farms. The same sun that glints and gleams on the Alps, I am told, shines on your flowers and mine. The beauty of the stars is bright over our own heads. No foreign country has bottled up the sunsets. They belong to us. Last week I stopped at a roadside to gather some goldenrod, wild asters, and golden glow. An old resident climbed up to the fence. I said, "The fall flowers are very beautiful this year." He spat, and replied, "Yes, this is the derndest neighborhood for weeds I ever saw." He spat again, and I drove on. That man had never gone sight-seeing at home. Let's take a sight-seeing tour in our own houses. There are, unfortunately, a few kings and queens left in the earth, but they do not compare with the kings and queens who perform the daily tasks in the average American home. Look at your wife. If she were dead, no cutter could, with a diamond tool, engrave her virtues on marble. Go sight-seeing and tell her what you would wish to say to her, if she were not. Look at your husband. He is not so chipper as when he first called on you, but his love is as real in the themes of poets. Go sight-seeing and your heart will play the wedding march when he comes in from the field. The Master of Men found his sermons in the flowers at his feet. They have never been improved, nor never will. True greatness is the power to see in the Near at Hand the Glory that shines in the Far Away. So—Go Sight-seeing!

LET ALL TEXAS GO TO CHURCH

Sunday may well be made "Go to Church Sunday" in the entire State of Texas instead of being confined to the city of Fort Worth. It is the time of year when church activities are commencing following the vacation season when many families are away from their usual haunts.

Fort Worth pastors have banded together to make Sunday a real rally day in the churches, to welcome into the houses of religious service men and women who make them their Sunday homes and men and women who have drifted away or who have never been under the influence of the church.

Other pastors throughout Texas may well take this first Sunday in October as an occasion for rallying the religious forces for the coming year and for emphasizing the things which the church contributes to individual and community life and because of which it deserves the loyalty and service of the people.

The church year really begins with the Fall and the spirit that is created at the very beginning will determine, to a large extent, the success of the year's work and efforts.

The calls upon the church from the community are growing more exacting with the passing of the years. Besides the ministry of religion in its more technical sense, the church is bearing an increasing burden in emphasizing the religious character of good citizenship and in promoting social justice and welfare.

There is scarcely an activity of human life that is not reached in some way, or which should not be reached, by the influence of religion. The church has a mightier task ahead and it needs the support and service of the men and women who look forward and want to lift the world.

And it should have the wholehearted support of the people, not just the sympathy and the money they can give "in absentia." Be in church next Sunday yourself and bring your family—don't send them to substitute for you. Go ready to give something of yourself to the service of the church and you will return with its benediction.—Fort Worth Record.

While no special effort is being put forth in Lubbock to put more people in church Sunday, the fact that this is the glorious fall of the year, and many people are in Lubbock for the school, the churches of this city should be crowded. Lubbock people are not attending church as they should, and while we are told that more people attend church in Lubbock than at many other places, population considered, still it is far from what it should be. The Sunday School attendance should be much greater than it is. A close check-up on the number of people who attended the Sunday Schools at the various churches last Sunday indicated that there were about 2,100 and as there are 2,800 children in the Lubbock public schools we can readily see that there are a great number of people in Lubbock who are not going to Sunday School. Lubbock people should get the habit of attending Sunday School and church.

Astronomers are studying a new comet that has made its appearance moving southwest at a considerable speed in the Western sky shortly after sunset. Should the comet prove a new one and not an old-timer on its periodic visit to the sun, it will no doubt take the name of the man who discovered it—Finlay, as is the usual custom. No one seems to know just what a comet is—where it comes from or whether it goes. It seems to be a tramp in the universe.

According to government figures the United States sent 30,000,000 pounds of dried, raisins and 1,700,000 pounds of dried currents into Canada last year, under a tariff duty of about 1-2 of 1 per cent. Canada now proposes to increase this tariff to 3 cents per pound and admit Australian raisins and currents duty free. The Australian reciprocal trade agreement will no doubt be ratified by the Canadian parliament.

PIONEER TEXAN SAYS FAIR IS A WINNER

W. D. Crump, of Shallowater, who came to Texas in 1876 and who has been a resident of Lubbock county for the past thirty-four years, is one of the exhibitors at the South Plains Fair this year, having some winning specimens in both the livestock and poultry departments.

Judge Crump declared Thursday that there are all kinds of possibilities ahead for the South Plains Fair and emphasized his faith in the future of the fair. He said that the first time he attended the state fair at Dallas it was by far a smaller institution than the South Plains Fair now is.

LOCAL BANK MOVES INTO REMODELED BUILDING

The Lubbock State Bank has been moved from its temporary quarters in the rear of the home building at the corner of Main and Avenue 1 into the new building at the corner of Main and Avenue 1. The building has just been remodeled and refurnished at a cost of more than thirty-five thousand dollars.

Italian marble and sheet steel constitute the fixtures and interior decorations of the new home, which is without doubt one of the most attractive bank homes to be found anywhere in West Texas.

The officers and directors of the Lubbock State Bank have expressed in a very material way their confidence in the future of Lubbock by the investment that was made in adding so much to the appearance and convenience of their new home.

EL PASO TENEMENTS HAVE A FEAST OF CHICKENS

By United Press. EL PASO, Oct. 3.—City Sanitary Inspectors Grosvenor and Raiter recently presented South El Paso tenement dwellers with a week of the Fair Association, by declaring which forced them to eat.

Inspections of 123 tenement houses provoked the results. In every house where they found chickens chained to a bedstead or otherwise detained in sleeping quarters with the rest of the family, they ordered the chickens out.

Peeping looses if they claimed their levels in community yards, the owners were ordered to make the present way out of the situation. Even turkeys figured in the week of feasting, inspectors say.

Two eider ducks mounted by a Greenland Eskimo were pronounced the best mounted birds in the academy collection by Dr. Winter Stone, curator of the Academy of Natural Sciences of Washington.

WESTERNERS BEAT FLOYDADA 7 TO 6 IN HARD BATTLE

THRILLING LINE PLUNGES AND PRETTY PASSES FEATURE EXHIBITION WITH THE WESTERNERS MOST STEADY LINE GAINERS

The fair visitors had occasion to see one of the most inspiring games of the season yesterday between the Lubbock Westerners and the Floydada Whirlwinds, when the Westerners nosed out a win 7 to 6. The game was a hard fought one on the part of both sides during the entire time. The game was full of thrilling plunges and aerial attacks from start to finish. Both teams being evenly matched gave the game a more forceful attendance. Many times the Lubbock line slashed the Floydada line for long gains; but on the other hand Floydada evened the matter up by displaying some of the most sensational aerial attacks that have ever been shown in football on the South Plains.

In the first part of the game it seemed that Lubbock was doing all of the playing. The Westerners pushed down the field making their first and only touchdown with straight line plunges. Immediately after the third quarter began Floydada opened up one of the swiftest passing machines that the West critics will have to contend with for the remainder of the season. A pass Henry to Daily netted the Floydada team their touchdown. The pass was for about thirty yards over the prettiest passes ever seen on the local gridiron.

Lubbock boys surprised by showing just what fight, push power could do. The coaches Davis, Lowrey, and Sorenson deserve a most cordial congratulation for the spirit that has been given the boys during the past season. As most of the fans will remember Lubbock was defeated by the Slaton team on the local grid last week; but the team Lubbock used yesterday was entirely new one compared with the fighting spirit that was shown. The Lubbock boys have shown that they can fight and are fighting for Lubbock.

Floydada team was heard of before reaching the grid yesterday as having one of the fastest backfields that has been developed this season in any part of the West Texas region. They showed that fact yesterday. Henry and Bosley deserve much credit for the spirit of the Floydada team. They fought hard and netted the team many long gains. Henry's tackling ability was the outstanding playing done on the field. Bosley's long gains were very spectacular. With the Lubbock team Dunlap, Carley, Wisdom, Ater, Wilson, and Kelly were the most spectacular. However the team constantly fighting displayed good football play throughout the entire contest.

These two teams for the past few years have been bitter enemies on the gridiron; but they are the friends of the field. Good sportsmanship always shown by Floydada boys and the Lubbock people are very glad to have these games played.

PRINCIPALS IN WORLD SERIES OPENER TODAY

In the center is shown Stanley (Bucky) Harris, manager of the Washington Senators, champions of the American League, and John McGraw, known as the "Master Mind" of baseball, two widely divergent characters who today match wits in the opening game of the world series. Harris, the youngest manager in the major leagues, has gained fame by making champions out of the Senators in one year, while McGraw is known the world over for his strategy on the ball field. On the right is Walter Johnson, mainstay of the Senators' pitching staff, who is slated to open the game for the Senators today.

Friday was a "freak day" at the air races and pilgrims and monsters of the air "did their stuff" before a crowd of 30,000. A huge dirigible anchored a steamship, Sperry messenger plane to its side and like an eagle with some small bird in its claws soared to an altitude of 1,500 feet. There it suddenly released the little messenger plane which dropped like a shot for several hundred feet but caught air its motor was started by the resistance of the wind and it went sailing off to a safe landing.

While a fleet of small craft equipped with motorcycle engines was competing in the 259 mile Dayton News Trophy, Lt. John A. MacReady brought out the original Wright plane from its hangar, and with great difficulty maneuvered it over the grandstand.

The first was a tribute to Orville Wright, and the aviation that was accorded him brought tears to his eyes. "I can only think," he said, "of the many who have perished bringing aviation to this high point of development."

The Dayton News trophy was won by J. M. Johnson, of Dayton, in a miniature craft which he built himself. It was the first race of its kind in the history of the international contests. Friday night, the most recent aviation achievement was described by the American round the world flyers, who arrived in time for a banquet given in their honor by the National Aeronautic Association.

that a world series is not what it seems to be from a distance. Ticket scalpers have obtained their usual supply of best seats and are peddling them rather openly in the hotel lobby and along the streets. For as much as $35 a ticket making price of $100 for a strip of containing three tickets. Revenue agents will get on their trail as soon as congress passes an appropriation to buy them false whippers. The scalpers aren't selling many tickets at the asking price, but if they start getting away with murder in the matter, they certainly are getting away with first degree manslaughter, for Washington wants to see the game.

GIANTS ARRIVE IN CAPITAL MINUS TWO PLAYERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The New York Giants landed in Washington Thursday night after a swift dash down from New York, believing themselves to be officially pure. Their greeting by an idling crowd just outside the gates of the "palace" was not a little slightly edged with the aroma of fear. The Giants thought nothing of this at the moment, however, as they did not expect to be kissed or pelted with fresh plucked roses from the white house gardens. But when they reached their hotel they began to realize that Jimmy O'Connell and Cozy Dolan who had been left behind in a state bordering on mortal disgrace, were not the only members of the troupe to be tarred with the smear of suspicion. Of course

LANDIS KEEPS LID ON BASEBALL'S OWN TEAPOT DOME TIL AFTER WORLD SERIES; ROW BEYOND FEDERAL COURTS, IS OPINION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Judge K. M. Landis is trying to keep the lid on baseball's own Teapot Dome until after the world series and it begins to look as though he would get away with it. All the official hot air machines were switched on Friday to blow away the fumes from within the mysterious vessel and the judge, himself, spent the last day before the series waggling his mane for publication and sticking out his chin in a manner indicative of great firmness.

After the fall shearing of the customers, the lid and the judge may be blown up simultaneously. The judge must have noticed a sharp change in the attitude toward him since he asked the customers to take his word that everything was satisfactory in baseball and refused to say what reason he had for thinking so. Some of the people who used to salom so low before him that they bared their shins when they foreheads have refused to take their hats off to him when passing him in the hotel lobby and when the subjects refuse to salute the Cox it is time for uneasiness along the Nevsky Prospekt.

In former times, the customers did not need to be convinced that baseball was sweet and pure. But nowadays, in view of the White Sox p. low party, the Hot Chase episodes and the affairs of the New York Giants there is a tendency to assume that baseball is rotten until proof is offered to the contrary. Case Beyond Federal Court. Ban Johnson will make a loud noise when he comes here in his official trappings as president of the American League to forbid the series but Landis has outwitted him several times in the past. He has in good yelling voice, Ban has no chance. They had a show down once in a Chicago meeting and, after giving Johnson first bowl, the judge let out a roar that almost burst her seams. One of the assistants of the United States attorney's office has expressed an opinion that the baseball row has no more standing in federal courts than a crap game has in the Lord's Day Alliance, so Johnson will have to start and finish his fight within the baseball organization. The country will be hearing of this scandal all through the session of the hot stove league.

Around Washington, which now contains the best minds of baseball the idea prevails that Judge Landis muffed one when he tried to make people believe that baseball must be honest because he said the judge is in good yelling voice, Ban has no chance. They had a show down once in a Chicago meeting and, after giving Johnson first bowl, the judge let out a roar that almost burst her seams. It was no secret that O'Connell had named Frankie Frisch, the field captain, and second baseman of the team, Ross Young, the best outfielder in the National League and Geo. Kelly the first baseman. 22 members of a band of corruption which was to procure the losing of a ball by Heine Sand, of the Phillies. But the men thought that Judge Landis, the great "1 am" of organized ball had washed away the stain and were almost hilarious with relief to think that they all stood before the country again as men whose honor had been certified by the infallible one.

Landing in Washington, however the Giants learned that Dan Johnson, president of the American League was sounding his old familiar war bugle out in Chicago, in another attack against the architect judge. Ever since Landis was appointed high commissioner of the entire organization game, a job which outranked Johnson's Ban had been trying to sew a crop of boll weevils in the judge's picturesque cotton patch. This time he was demanding a review of Land's judgment in the scandal of the Giants to take the form of a general investigation in baseball matters in the federal courts. If there are any more glibly scheming in the personnel of the ball club, they should be able to make a living at play-acting after they have been fired out of the game for they are a pretty merry band of tourists as the congressional limited checked down the line from New York. Half dozen of them hid their wives with them an attractive, well dressed group of young women, who were worn diamonds in the aggregate to testify that baseball

DO YOU PLAY GOLF, ARE YOU NERVOUS?

If So, You Will Be Interested In What Dr. Lieb, Specialist, Says About The Game.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The ravages of golf on sub-normal neuro-circulatory mechanism of many valuable citizens may induce invalidism or untimely death, according to Dr. Clarence W. Lieb of New York City, writing in the September issue of the New York State Medical Journal. Dr. Lieb is a heart and internal specialist of note.

He points out that sudden death while playing golf is not unusual and bases his article upon a study made of 27 persons who dropped dead on golf courses.

Declaring that he has on brief against the game, Dr. Lieb says: "Someone has said that we begin dying the moment we are born, and perhaps he was right, for the rate of dying certainly rises in proportion to our years, and after 30 we are all dying rapidly."

"There are two general types of golfers in whom medical experts are interested, namely, the neurotic and the cardio-logical type.

"If a vote were taken among neurologists as to whether or not golf is beneficial to nervous people, the majority would say it is providing it does not make the patient more nervous," Dr. Lieb writes.

would do such a thing, must be an awful imbecile.

The Giants are ruled with a code of discipline that makes the rigid routine of the marines look positively slothy. Even Hughie Jennings, the assistant manager, would not think of expressing an opinion on the way the world series would go when this harmless query was put to him in the buffet car.

The scandals which now resound around the leagues, picking up new voices in Chicago, and Pittsburgh, where Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pirates, is undulating by night, recalls the case of shuffling Phil Douglas, who was fired from the Giants, a couple of years ago for offering to quit and thereby hamper his club.

And the Douglas case recalls the fact that the club management had a sort of spy system in operation then where by Douglas was chaperoned on one of his forays among the speakeries of New York, Cozy Dolan, in fact, was both a snooper, and a Coach, and it is ironic, indeed, to find Cozy himself, one of the pair whom Judge Landis judged to be unfit for further association with the game.

It is a matter of baseball gossip around New York that no member of the Giants even knows when his actions are being watched. Whether or not this is so, it is a fact that McGraw is always very well informed of the conduct of his men in their hours off the field and that the honest players have to be very careful about their choice of associates lest they be seen some time one of the Broadway gamblers.

Business men, as a general rule, are slovenly golfers, and inasmuch as they hate slovenliness, they are beset with trials and tribulations from the first tee to the clubhouse green, the article states.

M'GRAW SUPREME IN TEAM MANAGEMENT GOWDY SAYS

Catcher for the New York Giants Copyright 1924 By United News

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Let's concede that the manager of a ball club has a lot to do with the winning of a game or a series or a pennant if he doesn't then the country has gone wrong, says Hank Gowdy, who has been with the Washington team since he was a young fellow as you'll meet in baseball or business anywhere. But it stands to reason that the manager that John McGraw is.

Not yet, he hasn't had the experience, John McGraw has won ten pennants, and you can't realize unless you have played under his command just how much his head works to do with the winning. So, with all due respect to Bucky, I must concede ourselves all the best of it in the matter of strategy, which is a large part of the battle.

Johnson was born in Humboldt, Kansas, Nov. 6, 1887. He was possessed of a powerful physique and he developed phenomenal speed in the delivery of the ball. He was wild when he started out in the minors but by diligent practice he overcame that handicap until he had almost perfect control. He has been said that his control added a hand-cap, as batters crowded the plate knowing that he wasn't wild enough to hit them and that he was too fine a sportsman to bean them.

Johnson joined the Senators eighteen years ago and he had been with them ever since. He always has been a willing pitcher and a hard worker. He had his best season in 1919, when he won thirty-five games and lost only seven. He was ranked that year as the greatest pitcher of all times.

He was overlooked in 1913 and he began to slip, but he recovered his form and his pitched some of the best work of his career. As he depended almost entirely on speed in his younger days, it has been considered amazing that his arm lasted through such a long career. He has always taken good care of himself, however, and he had such an easy motion that he never pulled out his arm.

JOHNSON'S OLD HOME ALL EXCITED ON EVE OF OPENER

COFFEYVILLE, Oct. 3.—I have watched many years for the chance I will have, tomorrow and will try hard to win.

That is the message Walter Johnson, premier pitcher and mainstay of the Washington Senators, sent to fans here in his old home town on the eve of the world series opener. The message was in response to a long congratulatory telegram dispatched to Walter the day after they won the American League pennant by nearly 200 of his friends here.

Coffeyville is agog with excitement. The name of Walter Johnson is on every tongue. Men and women, boys and girls take an interest in the series and of their old friend and neighbor who will play a stellar role in the great diamond classic.

Several hundred radio sets in homes and business houses here will be turned in for the game Saturday afternoon. Several downtown shops have been fitted up to take care of considerable radio audiences.

And Coffeyville is so certain that the Senators will win the championship that arrangements already are being made by civic and commercial organizations to give Walter the greatest reception of the old home town has ever seen when he returns to his home here after the close of the series.

O'CONNELL BEMOANS SUSPENSION FOR OBEYING ORDERS

By United News

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Jimmy O'Connell, who was once so popular in baseball that the Giants paid $75,000 for him, now thinks he is the loneliest man in the world. Jimmy, thrown out of baseball for his attempt to bribe Henie Sande of the Phillies, spent Friday looking around town for friends and not finding any.

Still insisting that he was the "goat" of the transaction, he plans to start back to California early next week.

"Where I am adrift with the only big thing in my life taken away from me," he means.

"All because I was carrying out the orders officially."

is not one of the starving professions. The men larked about the pullmans or chatted amiably, all except Henie Groh, Jr. injured third baseman, who sat nursing his tender leg, and had to use a cane when he went to the diner.

The effect of Johnson's blast against the judge was to create a murky atmosphere around the entire Giants team as Ban implied that Landis had not gone to the bottom of the thing in his investigation in New York. The innocent grouped with the guilty, if any, and no man was absolutely certain that his room mate's record would wash out stainless in the end.

Unless some guilty conspirator should throw up, it would be just about impossible to get any member of the team to talk, for the Giants are a very timid group of athletes regardless of how dashing they may appear on the ball field. They are afraid to have opinions of their own and would be afraid to state them if they had any because John J. McGraw does the thinking and talking for all hands. If a waitress asks a noble athlete whether he wants his eggs fried on both sides or only on the southern side, the Giant says: "I don't know, ask Mr. McGraw."

Naturally then there was no loss gabbing about the crookedness as the players came to Washington, and the nearest thing to an expression of opinion that could be obtained from the most daring member of the club was a hypothetical venture that any one who would try to defame a ball game in this day, and especially by any member of the Giants who for the Senators and it was thought that he veteran might consider it an effort that a baby should be placed in a position over him.

Johnson is not made of that stuff, however. He was in a position to help make or to break the kid manager. He was the leader of the squad, the one to whom all the others looked up for advice and inspiration. If Johnson did not tell them actually, he let them know that Buck Harris was all right and that he was for him, arm, heart and soul.

The grand old veteran went out and proceeded to pitch some of the best ball of his career. His support of his young manager was not passive. It was positive support. He assumed the role of an assistant manager and he was always ready to give a suggestion or a tip to the young manager. The rest of the team caught his enthusiasm and his loyalty and it became possessed of a spirit that swept through to the pennant for one of the biggest surprises in years.

HOLLYWOOD CIVIL WAR BREAKS INTO NEW OFFENSIVE

By United Press. HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 4.—Laurel Canyon's civil warfare went into a new offensive recently. Lined up with the attackers are nine of the so-called "barrying element" who insist that a night spent in the city jail early in September was the result of plotting and conniving on the part of the Laurel Canyon Improvement Association, composed of their more sane and dignified neighbors. Jack Sherrell, former film director, was throwing what he described as a "birthday party" at his home in the more or less quiet streets which a few days before had seen another affair of Lloyd Hamilton's broken up by the arrest of the screen comedian. Police said Hamilton was drunk. Sherrell's festivities also were closed abruptly and some 20 studio attaches trooped along to the city jail on charges of disturbing the peace. No liquor was found except what officers said was in Sherrell's refrigerator at the curb, and the following day the city prosecutors of fact decided there could be no grounds for criminal action. Westmoreland C. Conlin, attorney for Julius Leitzel, one of those who became acquainted with the city jail last month, announced that he had nine clients who wish in a few days would bring damage suits against members of the Laurel Canyon Improvement Association, charging them with causing false imprisonment. "We're going to win this fight and clear the names of those innocent persons who were held up here," he said. "When all they did was spend a quiet evening at Sherrell's home," Conlin said. "We're going to show that folks can't be thrown in jail just because some one gets a wrong idea about them."

LAWBREAKERS WERE INACTIVE DURING FAIR HERE

The people of the South Plains have proven beyond exception, according to statements made by showmen here with their outfits at the South Plains Fair during the last four days of last week. "We have witnessed less drinking, gambling and rowdiness here than at any place we have ever pitched our tents," one of the showmen told an Avalanche reporter. Sheriff H. L. Johnson and Chief of Police Carter reported late Saturday afternoon that up to that time three violators of the gambling laws and seven violators of the prohibition laws had been arrested since Wednesday morning, making a total of only ten arrests during the four days that more than forty thousand visitors were in the city.

PLAINVIEW HAS 5,487 POPULATION

PLAINVIEW, Oct. 4.—Plainview has a population of 5,487, according to census taken of the town early in August by Messrs. E. Q. Perry and Franklin Blackson, who have compiled and issued a new city directory, which is now being distributed. This is an increase of 1,511 people over the federal census of 1920, which showed the town had at that time 3,976 people. This indicates an increase of 38 per cent, a showing the town should be proud of considering the conditions that have prevailed part of this time. The census shows an actual white population of 5,147 and it is estimated that there are 250 negroes and Mexicans in the town, which is a low estimate as to negroes. Messrs. Perry and Blackson made a very careful count of the population in compiling the directory, and the number can be relied upon as quite accurate. Since the census completed early in August quite a number of families have moved into town, which are not included in the number listed above. Possibly 50 new residences have been erected or are under construction since the census was closed up.

Paving Project is Well Under Way At Crosbyton

A. J. Murphy, prominent business man of Crosbyton who is well known throughout the Plains country, was here Saturday on business and to attend the South Plains Fair. Mr. Murphy stated that Crosbyton is in the way of making some very material growth during the remainder of this year, an' coupled with the paving project in which ten city blocks including parts of both residential and business sections, are being paved, plans are made for the erection of several brick business houses in the very near future. Crosbyton is one of the fast growing little cities of the Plains, and is located in what is generally known to be one of the best farming sections to be found in the southwest. The business men of that city never miss an opportunity to boost their home town, and the rapid development being made there is a result of their good work.

Mr. C. L. Pursely returned home from Farwell, Texas, where he has been visiting relatives. Mr. Pursely is in search of a buyer for his place as he is thinking of moving to Farwell. We regret very much to lose these good people from our midst.

Clon Petty happened to an accident Monday night. Several boys were on a truck and were scuffling when he accidentally fell off and the truck ran over his foot, crushing some of the bones. He was rushed to the Lubbock Sanitarium and examined. His injuries were not as bad as they thought. We hope it will not be long before he will be alright again.

The members of the Chamber of Commerce met Monday night and appointed committees to get the exhibits for the fair at Lubbock. Some real nice products were brought in to represent Levelland for the first time at the fair.

EVEN PROFESSORS IN BIG INSTITUTIONS HAVE SUPPRESSED DESIRES

By United Press. DENTON, Oct. 4.—College professors have suppressed desires, says Dr. John William Slaughter, professor of sociology at Rice Institute spilled the beans recently in a lecture which he interspersed with some reflections. "If I followed my own inclination," Slaughter said, "I'd leave for a South Sea Island, lie on the beach and have them brought to me."

BIG LOT ROADBUILDING MACHINERY HAS BEEN RECEIVED BY HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT, WILL WORK LUBBOCK COUNTY HIGHWAYS

R. W. Baker, division engineer of the 5th Division of the State Highway Department, has received a shipment of three twelve foot Adams graders and four ten-ton Holt tractors, which have been unloaded.

All this equipment will be placed on the designated highways in Lubbock county where the grades will be put in shape for maintenance work following the usual heavy fall rains.

Mr. Baker pointed out that unless the highways are worked before the rains in order to get advantage of them, it would be late next spring before any headway could be made toward putting them in good condition, and that it will be inconvenient for the cotton farmers, having to haul cotton to the gin over some of the highways; this is an inconvenience that cannot be abolished and at the same time carry on the work of putting the highways in good condition, and the patience of all is asked to the end that the Lubbock county highways might be put in as good condition as those found in adjacent counties.

ROPES C. OF C EMPLOYEES PAID SECRETARY

ROPESVILLE, TEXAS, Oct. 4. Floyd Coffman is expert at work. Ropesville has qualified to go after bigger things. The board of directors of the local Chamber of Commerce felt that the work of the Chamber of Commerce was of sufficient importance to their city to warrant the employment of a man specially qualified to carry on the work and given the financial support of the organization sufficiently to warrant his doing it.

Floyd Coffman, who has had considerable experience in this line of work as well as being an enthusiastic booster for Ropesville was employed as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and will hereafter devote much of his time to the interest of Ropesville and trade territory in that capacity.

M. L. Williams, local manager of the Higginbotham-Bartlett Company and former secretary of the Ropesville Chamber of Commerce states that the Chamber of Commerce has justified its organization many times over.

The great work that is to be done in the coming months will make it most necessary to have a man in charge, who can afford to give uninterruptedly of his time to the work.

Now that they have invented a way to make people tell the truth, by injecting a serum into them the antivaccination movement ought to get several million recruits.

DAVIS' DAUGHTER TO CAMPAIGN FOR FATHER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4. The daughter of John W. Davis, an attractive, soft spoken young woman is here to open a nationwide drive in her father's behalf for the "freshman" vote of the country, comprising some 8,000,000 youngsters, who are privileged to vote in a presidential election for the first time this year.

Mrs. Wm. McMillan Adams—the used to be just Julia Davis—is a freshman voter herself. She's only 24.

Her husband is in Denmark, as representative of an American business concern. Mrs. Adams came back to this country to take charge of the campaign to enlist the young people's vote in the democratic column.

After a conference with leaders here at headquarters Friday, she announced that the drive would be two-fold.

1. A letter campaign to heads of various young people organizations in the country urging an active campaign for Davis.

2. A country wide appeal to the young people by a barrage of speakers who will visit schools and colleges.

Mailing of letters to club heads began here Friday. They carried Mrs. Adams' signature.

Mrs. Adams will not speak herself. This had been a part of earlier plans but was called off.

Another Wholesale House at Slaton Is to Open Soon

Slaton is coming in possession of an additional wholesale enterprise. The Panhandle Lumber Company are the promoters. The location for the new enterprise is the old W. H. Wilson Lumber Yard buildings, situated on the Santa Fe right-of-way. The Panhandle people will carry large stocks for wholesale purposes, consisting of windmills, pipe and pipe fittings, nails, wire, corrugated iron doors, sashes, etc. They are installing this business primarily for the purpose of serving their own yards located at Slaton, Southland, Lamson, Seagraves, Seminole, Sudan, and Mul. Shoe, however, they will serve the public at large in a wholesale way in the line above mentioned.

This progressive firm has added another wholesale enterprise to Slaton. Slaton is ideally located for wholesale trade and it is only a question of a very short time until it will have numerous enterprises in a wholesale way. We are better located than any town on the plains for the wholesale business. Being the division point of the Santa Fe, carload shipping is practical and economical at this point. Other wholesale enterprises will doubtless follow the Panhandle people's announcement. —Slaton Times.

WHEAT CROP ESTIMATE

WINNIPEG, Man., Canada's wheat crop this year is estimated at 282,042,000 bushels by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This estimate is based on definite estimates of the field of fall wheat, and the latest report of condition of spring wheat throughout Canada. Yields of grain other than wheat are estimated by the Bureau as follows: Oats, 978,995,000 bushels; barley, 71,204,000 bushels; rye, 12,358,000 bushels; and flaxseed, 9,626,400 bushels. The potato yield is estimated at 49,182,000 hundredweight.

GAME BUREAU BE REORGANIZED SAYS BOYD

AUSTIN, Oct. 4. Reorganization of the State Game Fish and Oyster department by the legislature to provide for a board of five commissioners and a manager to be appointed by the commissioners is recommended in the annual report of Commissioner W. W. Boyd just made public. The method is suggested to replace the present system of rotating heads and training inexperienced men with each administration. Mr. Boyd said.

"The commission can never function properly unless some such system is adopted," he continued. "Each member of the commission should be selected from a different section of the state, and would serve without pay except for expenses incurred when attending meetings. Two years are at present required to outline a policy and get it going, due to the vast area of the state and the time needed to familiarize one with the intricate work of conserving the wild life of Texas."

Game Sanctuary System

An epoch in game conservation is claimed in the report. After more than sixty years of game and fish legislation last fall saw the beginning of the first real enforcement, due to the full use of the special game fund granted by the Thirty-Eighth legislature. Mr. Boyd said. Some fifty game wardens were placed in the most important game fields, and as a result of their activities, much game has been saved and the revenues from all sources greatly increased.

While last year marked the end of the time when the hunter could openly violate the law, there is said to be considerable room for improvement, as a deputy is needed in each county of the state. The department will not have sufficient funds for this purpose until the legislature amends the license law, requiring every hunter to possess a license. Mr. Boyd said. Such additional funds would also permit of the establishment of game sanctuaries and public hunting grounds.

"The system of game sanctuaries, surrounded by public hunting grounds, so successful in the state of Pennsylvania, is the most practical way of preserving and even increasing the game supply," said Commissioner Boyd. "The leasing of the best hunting grounds by wealthy sportsmen increasing yearly, means that this system must

Fishing License Advocated

There was the usual complaint last summer of the use of dynamite, poison, illegal nets in the taking of fish and several hundred of the violators were apprehended.

Sentiment is strong among sport fishermen that we should have a law requiring every person who fishes in a regular running stream or in any of the public waters of the state to have a fishing license, the revenue derived from such source to be devoted to the enforcement of the fishing laws and for the establishing of additional fish hatcheries for restocking lakes and streams.

The belief among the sport fishermen that commercial fishing is depleting the supply of fish on the Texas coast is not borne out by the records of the State Game Fish and Oyster department, according to Mr. Boyd's report. The production of this year surpassed that of last year by 172,724 pounds. The total production for the year, 4,288,627 pounds, is 1,000,000 pounds more than for the year 1912, which was a representative year for that period. Mr. Boyd said.

The oyster output for this year, 88,514 barrels, is a little below the figure of 1912 but it is well ahead of most of the intervening years, and is said to be a 24 per cent increase over last year's production.

The report of Commissioner Boyd

IDEALOU SHOW HOUSE WILL SOON BE COMPLETED

G. C. Gray, the contractor is pushing the work with all speed which will give the people of the town a piece of amusement second to none on the Plains.

Mr. O. B. Daniel, the proprietor, will spare neither pains nor expense in making it the very best. The furnishings of the building will be of the very best. He has two motion picture machines, which will avoid any waiting.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK.

Oct 5th to 11th, 1924.
Observing Fire Prevention Week has become a part of the civic life of every wide-awake community in this country. It is a concerted action of a citizenship in meeting what has become America's greatest crime.

The United States may boast of her vast possibilities and great wealth, but no nation can prosper as it ought with a fire loss and attendant expense of over a billion dollars a year.

There are few leakages in national resources without some compensation. Fire waste is one where there is absolutely no return.

Therefore, no greater public service can be rendered than a whole-hearted entry by everyone into the spirit of Fire Prevention Week.

The time to begin is now. Organize a Conservation and Fire Prevention Committee. Include as its members the city government, fire insurance agents, the press, women's clubs, the chamber of commerce, school officials and teachers, the ministerial association, boy scouts, merchants' associations, civic organizations, and all others having an interest in the advancement of the community.

Select its officers from those who are conversant with fire losses and their particular causes, and appoint sub-committees for every phase of the work as follows:

PUBLICITY. The Publicity Committee should secure the interest and support of the newspapers, so that the daily features of the campaign will be given publicity. A series of articles on fire losses and fire hazards in homes, schools, stores and factories, and pointing out need for local improvements, will be excellent publicity. This committee should also provide for posters, handbills, stickers, and other matter of that nature.

SCHOOLS. The use of Home Inspection Blanks, addresses by firemen speakers, provision for regular Fire Prevention instruction throughout the year and a survey, with proper publicity, of the safety in life features of school buildings, are the important activities of the School Committee.

Essays by school children with suitable prizes, and publication of winning essays in newspapers, are a valuable feature of the Fire Prevention Campaign.

MEETINGS AND SPEAKERS. This committee should arrange special meetings and encourage reference to fire prevention at all public gatherings of the Week; arrange with radio broadcasting stations for fire prevention talks during the Week; solicit the support of the clergy, supplying fire prevention material for use on the Sunday of Fire Prevention Week; provide four-minute speakers for motion picture houses and public entertainments; suggest speakers for meetings of clubs, fraternal bodies and civic organizations, and encourage employers to hold meetings of their employees for instruction in fire prevention.

CLEAN-UP AND INSPECTION. This committee should provide for a general cleanup and removal of rubbish in all homes, stores, factories and public buildings, under the supervision of the chief of the fire department and the city fire marshal. The work should take place the first days of the campaign and be followed up by inspections to see that all hazards have been eliminated.

ORDINANCES. In the rapid development of this country too little consideration has been given to safe construction, and a large majority of our cities and towns are today without adequate regulations in that regard. A committee should survey the conflagration hazard as well as study the causes of fire, and work for the enactment and enforcement of adequate building laws and other fire protection and fire prevention ordinances.

PARADE. The committee should arrange for an extensive parade, including all possible organizations. School children and fire departments are usually important features of such parades, but the Fire Chief should see to it that the department is not weakened during the parade.

RETAIL MERCHANTS. This committee should obtain the co-operation of the merchants through window displays and advertising. Small stickers for parcels are useful in conveying the Fire Prevention message to the public.

THEATRES. This committee should try to obtain Fire Prevention films for showing in local motion picture theatres. Lantern slides should be prepared and provided for all theatres.

Fires disturb and retard our civic, commercial and industrial well-being. Their prevention involves only common sense and watchfulness.

Every citizen owes it to himself and to his neighbor to permit no condition to exist upon his premises that will invite fire.

Let us take the fire waste problem in hand during Fire Prevention Week for continuous warfare upon its causes.

PRINCE OF WALES TO SPEND TWO DAYS IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—The Prince of Wales is coming to Boston. H. R. H. has agreed to spend two whole days in this part of the United States before he goes sailing home.

News of H. R. H.'s coming was confirmed by the British embassy, but no one seems to know exactly when he is to arrive. It is said he probably will put into Boston about October 26. While in Massachusetts and not following the bounds in the Hyannis hunting country, his highness will be taken to points of historic interest, including Bunker Hill, Lexington, and Concord.

VATICAN WINS FIGHT FOR MORE CLOTHES

By THOMAS B. MORGAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Oct. 4.—The campaign for modest dress in religious functions and on the street has finished in a great victory for the promoters.

Italian fair-ones are today within the requirements laid down by the church and the feminist Catholic societies. The necks are seldom too low nor the arms too bare. The skirts hang a nice distance from the ground.

Though Italy has still another month of summer coming, the bare arms and exposures of neck and throat are gone long before the season, so that any attempt to blame it on the weather is doomed to failure.

The priests and bishops, aided by Catholic societies, have banished the filmy transparent garments from the figures of tender maidens. Many were refused admission into the churches. Little riots occurred before the big bronze doors of many an Italian cathedral, when sturdy male escorts tried to pass their thin-skirted charges into the edifice when their apparel was not in conformity to the church's decree.

At Bologna, while the archpriest of St. Petronius was reciting mass before the main altar, boy scouts, clad in mercy and priests prevented the passage of numerous ladies.

modest dress. The diocese which will be judged the most proficient will be awarded the medal recently offered by Pope Pius XI.

The carabinieri were called in and the little groups of naked arms and necks withdrew to the front steps of the cathedral restituting over their rights. The little affair did not disturb the service, as the cathedral is immense, the little argument about the bronze doors not being heard in the far recesses of the high altar.

The finesse of the Italian language was used to describe the excesses in nudity to which some of the daily signorine had gone. Here is a translation of some pointed words in protesting the fashion:

"Slencas seemed to have been completely abolished. Even the material used in making dresses seems to conspire against modesty by being as transparent as possible and then so filmy that the slightest gyphyr or a lengthened step leaves far the admiration of the public not alone the exhibition of the finest silk stockings, but also a great part of the transparentissimo intimate linen."

American coming over for Holy Year during next summer will find by that time a model will be given them to guide them in their dress before they make an appearance in the papal anti-chambers or for functions held in the major basilicas.

Now that the present season is rapidly passing, the Vatican authorities will likely hold over their models until the spring, but certain it is there will be a strict surveillance on dress, even to the point of asking the improperly garbed to withdraw.

Soon, the committee of the Italian Young Women's Catholic union will meet to decide which diocese has made the best campaign against im-modest dress. The diocese which will be judged the most proficient will be awarded the medal recently offered by Pope Pius XI.

PLANS 50,000 MILE TOUR IN 8-TON CRAFT

VICTORIA, B.C., Oct. 3.—Wanderlust has once more taken a grip on Captain Thomas Drake, "the lone sea rover," who has set out to do about 50,000 miles in an 8-ton craft.

Captain Drake arrived here from Vancouver in his little vessel, an auxiliary schooner which he calls "Pilgrim." He declared he wanted to beat Captain Slocum's record cruise of 47,000 miles in a small boat.

DIFFERENT-INTERESTING-VERY LIVEABLE

HINTS in proof that a picturesque exterior and a splendidly thought-out plan are quite compatible.

The design shows five good-sized, light rooms: a breakfast nook, and of porch opening from the living room, dining room, and overlooking the garden...

The tile roof completes the design in the most satisfactory way...

Materials used: Brick walls, stucco exterior, tile roof.

Dimensions: Width 28 ft. 1 in. Depth 41 ft. 10 in.

Approximate size of lot: 28 ft. Designed to face west or south. Can be reversed for other facings.

Basement: Under the dining room, kitchen and back bedroom. Contains laundry, storage room, heater and coal room.

The entire basement might be excavated, giving a large recreation room under the living room and a basement sleeping room in places where this is permissible.

Among the features are the following: The protected entrance; built-in bookcase opening on three sides in living room; private hall for bedrooms and bath.

The well-lighted breakfast nook will save many steps.

The cost will depend upon what the house is made of and what you put into it. The cost also will be affected by the locality in which it is built.

In certain cities bids are much higher than in others. Simple equipment will decrease the cost. Expensive equipment and materials will increase the cost.

DAVIS AND LA FOLLETTE CUT INTO PRESIDENT'S LEAD IN "LITERARY DIGEST" POLL

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Davis and La Follette have decreased the proportional lead of Coolidge in three times as many, a very considerable reduction in his proportional lead.

The Literary Digest poll published today shows that Davis has 15,000,000 votes, La Follette 16,000,000, and Coolidge 16,000,000. This is a percentage gain for both the Democratic and Progressive candidates from the earlier returns of The Digest's poll.

Returns from eighteen States are recorded in the present count show Davis is ahead, and Wisconsin, where La Follette polls a plurality. The Progressive candidate is running second in eleven of the eighteen States and Davis is second in five.

"The first returns," states The Digest, "when the votes stood at 35,900, gave Coolidge 16,071, Davis 3,792, and La Follette, 5,396. It will readily be seen that Mr. Davis's present vote is a much improved ratio."

In the earliest returns, Mr. Coolidge had between four and five times as many as his Democratic opponent. In the present poll of 1,561 for La Follette, the Wisconsin candidate's apparent strength continues to surprise those political prophets who had confided California to the Republican fold.

An interesting feature of this poll of The Literary Digest is a detailed record of how the present voters in this straw polloting voted at the last official presidential election, which is also recorded State by State.

To take the critical State of Minnesota, The Digest offers as an example of the comprehensive nature of its returns. Our records show that of the 13,334 voters who vote for La Follette, 6,010 voted the Republican ticket in 1920 while 1,888 voted Democratic, and 4,452 either did not vote or did not register their previous vote on The Digest card.

In that State, 1,124 previous Democrats are voting for Coolidge, with 18,698 former Republicans, to make up the large total of more than 24,000 registered for the President. The comparatively small Democratic vote in this State, 17,717, is constituted chiefly by 884 former Democrats and 1,054 former Republicans.

"However," The Digest cautions, "though twenty-five times 25,000 votes have now been collected, it must be kept in mind that only 18 of the 48 States contribute to the present total. The poll is young, yet, the more strongly Democratic States are still to be heard from, and many thousands of ballots are going out in the mails daily."

LEAGUE IS FIGHTING FOR EXISTENCE MAY WIN

By J. W. T. MASON
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The League of Nations is making its culminating effort to establish its right to live by preparing to summon a conference of disarmament and guarantee of security. If the conference fails to accomplish any results, the League will fall to a second rate position in Europe and may flounder to its death.

But if the conference succeeds the League will become the dominant center of world peace and will acquire a prestige probably unprecedented in modern internationalism.

The League's conference on disarmament, to meet next year, represents a major effort on the part of France and her European allies to prevent a German war of revenge by means of limiting the other powers into a pact guaranteeing peace. This fact is fundamental of the League's purpose. Premier Herriot is engaging in the stupendous task of trying to succeed in protecting France by means of the League and his predecessors in the French Premiership have all failed to secure adequate diplomatic negotiations.

Saving in Taxation.
Herriot has approached the problem by finding something to offer the world's principal powers in exchange for their guarantee of security to Europe. This offering is a reduction of their own armaments and its consequent saving in taxation.

The device is simple and logical, but nobody in France thought of it before. The great powers, America, Great Britain, Italy and Japan, and the lesser powers too, would like to save the money now being expended on costly armaments. They believe that if they all agree to a proportionate reduction of war preparations, each would have relatively the same strength as now, and there would be no chance in the balance of power.

So, reduction of armament would be a logical and inevitable development of the near future. If France were to take the same viewpoint as the other nations.

But there would be no adequate benefit to France if nothing were changed in the international situation except a proportionate saving of army and navy estimates. France would be relatively no more at risk in the future as now. Therefore, France is blocking the way to a reduction of war preparations by itself alone. And as other powers must maintain their military preparations at the present expensive level.

To Win for France
Premier Herriot has asked up on this situation to try to win for France the certainty of security against Germany in the future, when Germany has recovered her strength. Herriot declares that it is impos-ible to dislocate disarmament from guarantees of peace. In reality, there is no possibility about the dislocation at all. But France is using the argument as her main device for self-protection. Herriot demands that accompanying any reductions of armament, the powers shall agree to prevent future war if either dissonants desires arbitration, and even if neither side wants to arbitrate. War is to be outlawed; and the powers are to agree in advance to use combined forces, if necessary to prevent against any outlawed nation which disregards arbitration and opens hostilities.

By such an agreement Germany would be barred from declaring a war of revenge, unless she were prepared to fight the world and more. France would have security, and Europe's boundaries would remain as they now are, except for changes due to arbitral awards. France would at last have won the peace she has been striving for ever since the Versailles failure.

The League of Nations is a legislative center to sound out world opinion in this matter. If the world has reached the evolutionary stage where it realizes peace can be assured only by guarantees, France and the League will have won. If not, it may be that Germany will have won.

CONGRESS WOULD ELECT DAVIS SAYS CHAIRMAN BUTLER

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—"Congress will elect John W. Davis if there is no choice in the electoral college. His face fit with a smile from chairman of the Democratic national committee made this announcement Friday at campaign headquarters. The charge by Chairman Wm. M. Butler that there is a Davis-La Follette combination in the west is all pure bunk," Shaver declared.

AUTO REGISTRATION TOTAL HEARING 800,000 MARK

ALBANY, Oct. 4.—Registration of 72,000 motor vehicles continues to climb skyward and toward the 800,000 mark for the year, as the totals of this week bring the State Highway Department's figures to the following:

Passenger cars 673,000, commercial cars 5,800, motor buses 3,317, trailers 2,035, tractors 110, chauffeurs 11,298, motorcycles 2,484, duplicate 28,770 and State vehicles 337.
