PUBLIC MAKES ITS OWN FIRE RATES

Insurance is one of the very few services or commodities whose cost has gone down during the past few decades. The national average rate per hundred dollars of insurance was $8.67 in 1914—and it was but 67 cents in 1939. It is 35 cents in Sonora.

Furthermore, the cost of fire insurance is some control over fire, holding losses to modest levels, pays dividends.

At the present time, the fire insurance in- diates that the system of establishing fire rates. Known as the Standard Grading Schedule, it was adopted in 1916 to provide a uniform system without only minor changes. It is designed to measure the relative standing of municipal fire and, more particularly, to improve existing fire protection facilities and physical conditions. Fire loss is not the sole arbiters. It is obvious by that chance of the importance of experience a few years in which loss was low, even though protection facilities and conditions were poor—and insurance, third but luck another town could experience a period of high loss even though its protection fa- cilities were good and its conditions for fire control and prevention are good.

The proof of the schedule's efficiency is found in the long list of communities which have raised their fire insurance rates. That means that adequate fire control and prevention are good enough to keep them up to date as they make for a safer, happier, more progressive community.

"BANKERS GO BACK TO SCHOOL"

No business can stand still and serve the public in high position as true as any other banking as any other calling. And banking realizes it—as indicated by the Graduate School of Banking, founded and maintained by the American Bankers Association, whose work is to give men a better understanding of the duties and obligations of their profession.

Robert M. Harris, President of the Associa- tion, strongly believes that the best preparation for the future lies in the development of our capacities in the present. We shall be prepared to face the changes of the future to the degree that we are masters of ourselves and our profession in the present. The banking system has been an American economic order. Whatever strains and what- ever changes are visited upon the business order by conditions of Europe will be reflected in this. From point of view the Graduate School of Banking is the hope of banking.

THE LIVING VISION

The late Will Rogers, who had an eye, and a gift for insight, into the redemption of the rickety and wildcard greatness of which the American people are so fearful, wrote: "The再造 doesn't believe that the same man that taught him to be blessed.

All men need help in the families of men who have been left. By large number of those who have been left. By large number of those who have been left. By large number of those who have been left. By large number of those who have been left. By large number of those who have been left. By large number of those who have been left. By large number of those who have been left. TECHNICAL BULLETIN

While the changes in migratory bird hunting regulations for 1940 are set forth in the Texas Game Fish and Oyster Commission rules, it is important for hunters to become familiar with the new provisions and look up any questions they might have.

The new regulations provide that hunting may now start at cracks of dawn except for doves and geese during the early season.

Hunters can start shooting at any time during the open season provided they possess a valid hunting permit and are hunting migratory birds for which a season has been designated.

It is necessary for hunters to obtain a valid permit from a Game Warden or from the Texas Game Fish and Oyster Commission in order to hunt migratory birds for which a season has been designated.

A valid hunting permit is required for the hunting of:

- Migratory birds
- Fish
- Game

Failure to possess a valid hunting permit will result in the issuance of a citation, which will be followed by an investigation and possible fines.
